Washington, March 31—The subcommittee on foreign affairs has agreed to favorably report on Representative Towne's resolution for a commission to locate the boundary between Minnesota and Canada. The full committee will probably accept the report. The state department is now working on the matter and making estimates as to the probable expense of the commission. It has been completely demonstrated that the Webster-Ashman treaty is erroneous, for it established a line which cut Hunter's island in two. Either one country or the other must possess this territory in the end, and everything is in favor of the United States.

A Boy Terribly Bitten.

Minneapolis, March 31.—Little Leslie Norton, aged five, was bitten by a large and ferocious dog yesterday, and his medical attendants think the wounds the worst they ever dressed. The little fellow was about to pat the animal on the head, when the brute jumped at him, caught him on the cheek and then in the throat, lacerating both badly. Pedestrians drove the dog away.

School Lands Sell Well.

Pierre, S. D., March 31. — Deputy Land Commissioner Eastman, who has been selling school lands in the eastern portion of the state, reports his sales at an average of $15 per acre, $5 per acre down, the constitutional minimum. In Coddington the price was $20 per acre; in Dowell a fraction over $12, and in Brookings $13. This is a good showing for the state.

Winter Wheat.

Chicago, March 31.—The April crop report of the Orange Judd Farmer, based on the estimates of country correspondents, makes the average condition of winter wheat 87 against 85.3 last year and 87.04 in 1894. The averages in principal states are: Pennsylvania, 89; Ohio, 72; Illinois, 86; Kansas, 91; California, 96. The improvement since Dec. 1, amounts to 2 points.

Did Not Heed the Warning.

Kansas City, March 31.—Harry Hill, aged twenty-eight, a hotel porter, shot and killed his wife, aged twenty-one, and then committed suicide. Hill had warned his wife against keeping company with a certain woman. He met the two together. Taking his wife home, he shot her in the jaw, causing instant death. He then shot himself in the temple and died in twenty minutes.

On a Peaceful Mission.

Bozeman, Mont., March 31.—Gen. L. S. Wilson of Bozeman has been appointed to act as one of the Montana delegates to the conference to be held in Washington April 22-23 to establish a permanent system of arbitration between Great Britain and the United States.

Scalded to Death.

Anoka, Minn., March 31. — Irving Milliman, the three-year-old son of James Milliman of Stanford, Isanti county, fell into a pail of hot water Saturday and died yesterday in terrible agony. Another child in the neighborhood died from burns a week ago.

Died Without Explaining.

Mitchell, S. D., March 31.—W. H. Knowles, who attempted suicide two weeks ago by shooting himself through the head, died at 2 o'clock this morning. He was conscious to the last, but refused to give any reason for the act.

Governor of Arizona.

Washington, March 31.—The president has sent to the senate the following nominations: Benjamin J. Franklin of Arizona, to be governor of Arizona.

AFTER THE LANDS

BOOMERS ARE FLOCKING TO RED LAKE RESERVATION.

Two Hundred Men Locate on Fifty Claims, and a Conflict Between Them and the Indian Police Is Imminent—The State Will Make a Determined Fight for the Swamp Lands.

Fosston, Minn., March 31.—Considerable interest is being shown here in the settlement that has taken place on what is known as the Little Fraction, or the south boundary of the Red Lake reservation in Beltrami county. About 200 men are reported located on fifty claims lying between what are known as the Merrill survey and the Darlington survey of the reservation boundary line. The Merrill survey, as found marked on the ground, runs the line in accordance with the Indian treaty of cession, while the Darlington survey lies a mile or two further south. The latter is the line reported to have been approved by the interior department. Each claim is said to be worth from $2,000 to $4,000, and the settlers from this part of the country are evidently determined to hold the fort at whatever cost. A conflict between them and the Indian police is imminent.

St. Paul, March 31.—State Auditor Dunn and Attorney General Childs spent most of to-day in close conference regarding the next steps to be taken to establish the claims of the State of Minnesota to swamp lands in the Red Lake Indian reservation. Some days ago, in sustaining an opinion from Commissioner Lamoreux, of the general land office, Secretary Smith denied the claim made by the State of Minnesota. In the decision in question only the Red Lake lands were mentioned, but the state swamp land claims in all of its Indian reservations are affected, as the general conditions are the same. The total area of swamp land shown in the government surveys of these reservations is 975,899 acres, and their total value is from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000. The case will certainly be taken into the courts, and to the United States supreme court if necessary.

CAPITAL REVERTED.

The Charge Upon Which a South Dakota Suit Is Based.

Hot Springs, S. D., March 31.—A law suit of great importance is on trial before Referee J. F. Schrader of Rapid City, who was appointed by District Judge Gardner to preside over the case. It is E. G. Dudley et al. vs. E. T. Evans, the Hot Springs company et al., in which plaintiffs desire an accounting of the property of the Dakota Hot Springs company and the appointment of a receiver. They allege gross mismanagement in the affairs of the company by Fred T. Evans, president, and a wholesale conversion of the company's money for private uses. The company's books are in evidence. They are said to plainly show poor bookkeeping and trickery. It is claimed that the amount found to have been used of the company's money by Evans will approximate $300,000. Great interest is manifested in the case, which will doubtless continue for weeks. Each side is represented by able council.

Water Power Combine.

Oshkosh, Wis., March 31.—The organization of the Neenah & Menasha Water Power company, the great combine that is to control the water power all along the Fox river, has been completed. The capital stock is $500,000. The company takes title to all the water power and will lease and regulate it. The formation of the company will have an important bearing on the pending purchase of the Neenah dam by the United States government. As this is now accomplished the supposition is that negotiations for the purchase of the dam will be resumed.

That Remedial Bill.

Winnipeg, March 31. — The conference on the school question is still going on. There was to have been a session this morning, but it is said something turned up to prevent discussion. The latest rumor is that Manitoba has refused to do anything unless the remedial bill is withdrawn. Whether or not this is true cannot be stated, but such rumors have obtained considerable credence around the city. Another rumor has it that the conference has practically ended, the representatives of Manitoba coming to the sessions whenever they feel like it.

Mining Fever Runs High.

Hot Springs, S. D., March 31.—Geo. Turner, an owner and prospector of the Gilt Edge Mining company's property, whose owners are Hot Springs parties, has struck a rich vein which will assay $125 to the ton. This is an exceedingly large assay, and the owners are joyful. The mining fever is running high here. The Red Hill Mining company has just been incorporated with Fred H. Cole president, W. Wheeler secretary and E. B. Warren treasurer. The Red Hill mine is situated in a rich section and is a paying property.

Burglars at Hurley.

Hurley, S. D., March 31.—The stores of Williams & Co. and Julna Sargent were entered by burglars. Money was taken out of the drawers in both places, and considerable clothing was taken at Sargent's.

Fire in Chicago.

Chicago, March 31.—A fire to-day destroyed the interior of the four-story and basement brick building at 338 to 344 Wabash avenue. The loss is estimated at about $72,000.

St. Peter, Not Stillwater.

Minneapolis, March 31.—William J. Kerchival, who was indicted for embezzlement, was this morning committed to St. Peter, having been found to be insane by the probate court. His being under indictment necessitated a committal through the district court.

A Morris Suspension.

Morris, Minn., March 31.—The First National bank of this place suspended payment this morning. The examiner is in charge. Depositors will be paid in full.

CONGRESS.

Prospective Revival of the Financial Discussion.

Washington, March 31.—The senate is to have a revival of financial and bond discussion as a result of an animated debate shortly before the session closed to-day. Mr. Peffer's resolution for the appointment of a special committee of five senators to investigate recent bond issues has been relegated to the calendar owing to the opposition of Mr. Hill, but it was reached in the regular order to-day. Again Mr. Hill sought to have the resolution go over, but he was met by energetic protests, not only by Mr. Peffer, but also by Mr. Wolsott and Mr. Teller. The latter gave notice that further delays would not be resisted, and Mr. Peffer followed with notice that he would move to-morrow to proceed with this bond inquiry resolution as soon as Mr. George concludes a speech on the Dupont case. This promises to bring a test vote unless dilatory tactics postpone the measure. Among the bills passed were those appropriating $2,000,000 for a public building at Indianapolis, Ind., and settling the long pending accounts between the United States and Arkansas.

The house took up the consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill and disposed of fifteen of the 100 pages before adjournment. During the general debate Mr. Cannon, the present head of the appropriation committee, and his predecessor, Mr. Sayers of Texas, interchanged opinions as to present and past appropriations.

UNKNOWN PERSECUTOR.

He Makes Life a Constant Burden for Mrs. Hiram Smith.

Portland, Or., March 31.—Mrs. Hiram Smith and family of Coburg are the innocent victims of an unknown person's hatred, and live in daily fear of death. Repeated attempts have been made to poison the woman and her children, and of late the would-be poisoner has grown bold in his attempts. It is believed he is crazy or has a mania for murder. This person visited the Smith home last Thursday and left some kind of powder on the top of the jars of milk. Mrs. Smith does not know what the powder was, but believes it was the kind of poison used to destroy rats and squirrels. On this visit the poisoner left two notes of threatening character. On the afternoon of the next day he again visited the premises, and put another kind of poison on the cream in the pantry. This substance was of a whitish color, looked like soda and tasted like concentrated lye. Yesterday the family persecutor again gained admission to the premises, unseen by any one, and scattered poison about the well and in watering troughs and in the grain bin. Thwarted thus far in his efforts to take the lives of the family, the mysterious individual now seems determined to poison the stock on the ranch. The family lives in constant terror, not knowing what minute the property may be destroyed or the lives of the family may be taken.

CALLED DOWN.

Important Notice Given to Assessment Insurance Companies.

Madison, Wis., March 31.—Insurance Commissioner Fricke has issued an order which means far more than the general public seem to suppose. It provides that in the future no assessment insurance company should do business in Wisconsin on a premium plan unless it carried the same reserve which is demanded from the old line companies doing a similar business. The real meaning of this is very far reaching. Several of the large assessment companies in order to increase their business have, during the last few years, issued in addition to their regular assessment policies an endowment policy on the premium plan, that is to say that a person who did not desire to take assessment insurance with the company which is payable on a sliding scale can, under the premium policy, pay a fixed rate and obtain an insurance very similar to that given by the old companies.

American Vessel Fired Upon.

New York, March 31.—A dispatch to the World from Kingston, Jamaica, says: The American schooner William Todd lay becalmed twenty-seven miles south of the Isle of Pines, and her captain reports that she was fired on by Spanish gunboats. Capt. Campbell did not at first realize the importance of the incident, and only reported the outrage when the consul drew the facts out of him. Then he states that on March 16 a blank cartridge was fired at his vessel. Soon after three solid shot came, while the American flag was being hoisted. The schooner was searched by the men of the warship, being held two hours for the purpose.

Hudson Bay Scheme.

Winnipeg, March 31.—A bill to incorporate the Manitoba & Nelson Valley railroad was reported in Ottawa recently, but powers and privileges which were asked outside of railroad construction were struck out of the bill. It was confined to the railway proper. The railway is chartered to run from Portage la Prairie through the Dauphin district, across the Saskatchewan river and down the Nelson valley to a point on Nelson river near its entrance into Hudson's bay. The road is being projected by English people.

High Water Mark.

Washington, March 31.—The gold reserve, as officially reported, is $128,711,956, the highest point yet reached during the present administration. The total amount of gold so far received on account of the last bond sale is $106,150,071, of which $95,523,450 is for principal, $10,616,064 for premiums and $148,177 for interest, which leaves approximately $5,000,000 yet to be paid under the conditions of Secretary Carlisle's circular.

Favorably Reported.

Washington, March 31. — Senator Davis, from the judiciary committee, to-day reported favorably to the senate the bill making it unlawful to shoot at, or throw any missile into a railway locomotive or car, or to shoot at any person therein. The bill has particular application to the Indian Territory, and imposes severe penalties on those who violate its provisions. There is now on the statute books a general law on this subject applicable to the other portions of the Union.

HIT THE GOVERNOR

A NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENT IS PUGNACIOUS.

He Assaults the Governor of Arizona, Breaks His Specs and Inflicts Several Face Wounds—A Kansas City Man Skips After Losing Several Thousand Dollars of Other People's Money.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 31.—Gov. L. C. Hughes was assaulted on the street this morning by P. J. Clark, correspondent at Phoenix for the Denver Times. Clark struck the governor in the face, the blow breaking Gov. Hughes' spectacles and causing several face wounds of small importance. Clark is now in jail awaiting trial. He was formerly agent here of the Rocky Mountain News, and was dismissed by the paper, so Clark says, at the governor's instigation, for sending telegrams reflecting upon the executive.

Kansas City, March 31.—Warren B. Sexton, general manager of the defunct Sexton Security company, has disappeared. He left a letter addressed to his brother, Edward P. Sexton vice president of the company, stating that he had lost several thousand dollars of the company's funds in wheat gambling. He took with him a large sum of money that he had collected for different persons for whom he acted as rental agent. The actual amount of his defalcation is not known.

EVERHARDT WINS.

He Defeats Leeds in the Fifteenth Round.

Maspeth, L. I., March 31.—Jack Everhardt and Horace Leeds, lightweights, met last night at the Empire Athletic club. They were scheduled for a twenty-five-round contest and devotees of the ring came from all points in the country, crowding the arena till more than 3,000 spectators were watching the contest. Everhardt was somewhat the favorite in the betting, though Leeds had lots of friends. The fight was a scientific one, and was about even until the fifteenth round, when Leeds was given his quietus. Leeds was carried to his corner in a state of collapse, and after his seconds had worked over him for ten minutes they had to carry him to his dressing room without his having regained consciousness. He soon recovered, however.

Judge Edgerton Failing.

Sioux Falls, S. D., March 31.—News has been received here from Florida to the effect that Judge Edgerton's condition is very serious. His son, E. G. Edgerton, has been wired to go to the bedside of his father, and he left yesterday. Information of a most discouraging nature has been received here, and it is believed that the judge's condition is most critical.

Only $7,050,000.

Washington, March 31.—The secretary of war to-day sent to the house the report of a survey for a canal connecting Lake Superior with the Mississippi river. The cost of such a canal, the report says, will range from $7,050,000 to $30,000,000, according to the different routes and the size proposed. The route costing the least is decided to be the most feasible.

The Arms Landed.

Washington, March 31.—The treasury department has evidence tending to show that the steamship Commodore, which recently cleared from the port of Charleston, S. C., with arms and ammunition, did not lose her cargo in a storm at sea as reported by her captain, but landed it on the coast of Cuba.

One Killed, Five Injured.

Chicago, March 31.—By the collision of a street car on the Evans line and a heavy laden wagon one man was instantly killed and five seriously injured. James Gengler was the one killed and the injured were James E. Michaels, Miss Bertha March, C. A. Pritchard, George Siegel and Horace Marlow.

Many Immigrants.

New York, March 31.—Four steamers arrived in port to-day, having on board 3,484 immigrants. The Massilia, from Marseilles and Naples, brought 1,183; the Patria, from Hamburg, 961; La Bretagne, from Havre, 690, and the Bonn, from Bremen, 650.

Big Catch of Seals.

St. John's, N. F., March 31.—The steamer Labrador arrived to-day from the sealing grounds with a full cargo of 17,000 seals. She reports that the Neptune has taken 20,000, the Walrus 9,000, the Kite 9,000 and the Leopold 1,000.

Pardridge Will Retire.

Chicago, March 31.—Ed Pardridge, the board of trade plunger, bought 4,000,000 bushels of wheat to-day and says he will now retire from the market, having no further interest in it.

W. D. Griswold Dead.

St. Louis, March 31. — William D. Griswold, ex-president of the Ohio & Mississippi railroad, and well known all over the country, died here to-day, aged eighty-one.

Wholesalers Assign.

Louisville, March 31. — Newberger, Frankel & Co., wholesale furnishing and notion dealers, assigned to-day. Liabilities, $60,000; assets about the same.

Howard Law Good.

St. Paul, March 31.—Attorney General Childs to-day rendered an opinion to Mayor Smith, holding the Howard charter bill constitutional.

Put It Off.

Paris, March 31.—The chamber has unanimously decided to postpone discussion of the interpellations regarding Egypt and the foreign policy of the government until later in the week.

Deaths in Wisconsin.

Berlin, Wis., March 31.—Ex-Senator George Fitch died this morning of appendicitis.

Manitowoc, Wis., March 31. — Nick Ley, an old resident, committed suicide by drowning in the river to-day.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $8 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

Price per Acre

WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.

Lot 3 of 19	$1.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.0
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 21	3.75
Lot 1 of 3	5.0

RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.

9 forties in Sec. 1 at from	$5.50 to 5
4 " 2	4.50 to 5.0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.0
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.0
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.0
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.0 to 4.5
4 forties in 24 at from	5.0 to 6.0
11 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
8 " 26	5.5
9 " 27	5.0
NE SE of 28	6.0
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.0
6 " 35	5.00

ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.

2 forties in 13	3.50 4.0
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 31	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.5
SW SW of 35	5.00

SANDERS TOWNSHIP.

NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.0
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.0
4 " 8	2.50 to 4.0
NE of SE 19	5.0
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	4.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.0
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.00 to 4.5
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00

BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.

5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00

BRAY TOWNSHIP.

5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.25
4 " 22	3.50 to 5.00
2 " 23	6.00
4 " 29	5.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to

H. E. IVES

St. Hilaire Minn.

Subscribe
for the SPECTATOR
and keep posted on the affairs of the day.

MINNESOTA

STATE NORMAL

AT

WINONA, MANKATO, ST. CLOUD AND MOORHEAD.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:

(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.

(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.

(d) A kindergarden training course [at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.]

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents' first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

All others are required to pass an entrance examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $1 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week. The new dormitory at Moorhead, and the ladies' Home at Winona furnish similar accommodations at a slightly higher rate. Winona accommodation $3.50 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

BARBER SHOP
—AND—
BATH ROOMS.
—0—
Hair Cutting Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

DR. H. GRUNDY

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

☞ Messages from the surrounding towns and country promptly attended to.

Office in Drug Store.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA.

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

AUG. PETERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates : : : : : : : :

☞ Special attention given to those looking for home on the Red Lake Reservation. Give me a call, or leave orders at E. M. Hoff's Store.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

THE FAMOUS
SUMARITAN
Rye Whisky

Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.

FOR SALE BY

BRINK BROS.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:29 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex	7:25 am
7:25 am	To and from Winnipeg St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex	7:31 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co. an American line.

For information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets call on or write

CHAS A. SHARKEY.
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE.
Gen. Pass and Ticket Agent.
St. Paul. Minn.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the post office at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday, at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 1, 1896.

INAPT STATE NICKNAMES.

Appellations Which Once Fitted Losing Their Force With Advancing Civilization.

State nicknames in this country have begun to lose their aptness. New Hampshire's name, the Granite State, fits almost as well some other mountainous states, and she never really deserved to be called the Switzerland of America, since her mountains are but hills compared with the mountains of Switzerland. Several of the Rocky mountain states more nearly deserve this title. Colorado, for example, has 41 mountains more than 14,000 feet high, and, in all, 130 mountains more than 13,500 feet high. Colorado's own name of the Centennial State is one that no other can ever dispute with her, though it looks as if Colorado might dispute the name of "Golden" with California.

Maine's forests are disappearing so rapidly that some of the northwestern states may soon have a better title to the name Pine Tree State. There are more famous bays than that of Massachusetts, and certainly Chesapeake bay, if considered only as a body of water, has more distinction than Massachusetts, and, historically, the Chesapeake is quite as famous, so that the name Bay State might, with aptness, be given to Maryland.

There are quite as characteristic green mountains elsewhere in the United States as those that gave Vermont her French name. The Empire State seems inappropriate to any democratic community, but it is appropriate to New York if to any state of the Union, and it is likely to be a long while before even Texas can lay claim to the title. The name that Texas takes pride in, the Lone Star State, is certainly hers by right, as she is the only state to have come to be an independent republic, totally unconfederated with any other state. Pennsylvania is no longer the keystone of the Union's arch, just as it is no longer politically true that as Pennsylvania goes so goes the Union. If Delaware ever deserved her name of the Diamond State, she certainly cannot claim it against Rhode Island, since the latter is not only much smaller, but, as well, much richer.

No state disputes Virginia's picturesque name, the Old Dominion, though few people realize that it dates back to a time when our Atlantic coast knew only two ill defined political divisions—New England and Virginia. Ohio's buckeyes are no longer a distinguishing feature of her rapidly disappearing woodlands. Indiana is being civilized out of her Hoosierdom, and the wolverene must be pretty scarce in the state to which the beast has given a nickname.

Connecticut has learned so many smart tricks since the days of the traditional wooden nutmegs that her neighbors could easily discover an apter name of reproach. Louisiana doubtless has as many pelicans as Florida or any other state, and so may well hold to her nickname, while North Carolinians are properly enough called tar heels, since their state is still famous for tar and kindred products.—New York Herald.

He Had Him.

I heard a gentleman while discussing the subject of coon hunting relate the following incident in his experience:

The party, consisting of hunters, dogs, axes and torches galore, had been hunting for a good part of the night without any luck whatever. Finally, however, the dogs treed a coon up a very large tree. While discussing the subject of cutting down such a large tree, one of the many negroes in attendance volunteered to climb the tree and investigate the whereabouts of his coonship.

All agreed to this and sat around to await developments. Soon after the negro had disappeared among the branches the attention of all was drawn to a very peculiar sound emanating from the top of the tree. It was a kind of a mixture of negro and coon dialect. Some one ventured the remark:

"Bill, have you got that coon?"

"Yas, sah," was the reply, "I'se got dis 'ber' coon, but I wish you 'u'd send some o' dem darkies up her' to help me turn him loose."—Forest and Stream.

Alas, Poor Brooklyn!

The children had gathered around the hotel piano and were singing a hymn descriptive of a flock of little pilgrims arriving in the New Jerusalem, and announcing the various places from which they had come. Little Johnny looked at his mother sadly. "Mamma," he said, "when I go to heaven, I hope God won't ask me where I came from." "Why not?" inquired mamma. "Because, mamma, when I say 'Brooklyn,' I know he'll laugh!"—New York Journal.

Millais' First Picture.

Sir John [illegible] picture was purchased [illegible] the English [illegible] said that it was not [illegible] and kicked a hole in the picture.

SERENADE.

Dearest, look up! If only I might speak
In ardent words like poets long ago,
A deeper flush would tint your glowing cheek,
For love is strong, though human speech be weak.
So lean and listen while I tell it low;
I am no minstrel, but one song I know—
Dearest, I love you! Oh, I love you so!

I love your hair—your golden wealth of hair—
The tender brow of innocence and youth;
I love your eyes, that know not guile nor care;
The smiling lips, that breathe content and truth.
Draw near and listen while I tell it low;
I am no minstrel, but one song I know—
Dearest, I love you! Oh, I love you so!

I love the jests you toss along the way,
The ready laughter that lights up the eyes,
For well I know it is but surface play,
And you can feel, and you can sympathize.
So lean and listen while I tell it low;
I am no minstrel; but one song I know—
Dearest, I love you! Oh, I love you so!

Laugh on, my glad one, for the laugh rings true;
Drink in the fragrance of your youth's bright morn.
This little posy I have plucked for you
From my heart's garden will not wake your scorn.
For lean and listen while I tell it low;
I am no minstrel, but one song I know—
Dearest, I love you! Oh, I love you so!

—Josephine H. Nichols in Detroit Free Press.

LOOKING FOR BURGLARS.

Experience of a Man With a Loaded Revolver In a Coalhouse.

A prominent north sider some time ago read an article about the thrilling midnight adventures of a well known south sider with a burglar in the coalhouse.

It often happened that it became necessary for this gentleman to go out in the coalhouse in the middle of the night. He decided that if he ran across a burglar he would not be caught unarmed, so he purchased a nice, shiny revolver.

The night after making the purchase he came home very late and found that there was no coal in the house. This was the very chance he wanted; he would go out and get some coal, and if there was a coal thief in the coalhouse he would show him how he could shoot.

Arming himself with the revolver and a coal scuttle, he started for the coalhouse. Before descending the back steps he was particular to cock the pistol. Holding it carefully out at arm's length, he started across the yard and arrived safely at the coalhouse. When within a few feet of the door, he dropped the scuttle and coughed loudly in order to give the thief, if there was one, a chance to run for his life, not wishing to murder a man in cold blood.

He was rather disappointed not to see a large man rush from the coalhouse; but, nevertheless, he went in and began to feel around for the shovel with his foot. Not finding it, he made some remarks that would not look well in print, laid the pistol on the ground and began to pick up lumps of coal.

In his efforts to find pieces of the desired size he entirely forgot the pistol and accidentally stepped on it. There was a loud report. The daring hero gave one wild yell and made a rush for the door. But he was not destined to escape so easily. His foot became entangled in an old bedspring that the good housewife had discarded. He imagined that he had run over a burglar and that the burglar had caught him by the foot. The noise made by the spring was to his excited mind the burglar gritting his teeth.

When by desperate efforts he had navigated to the middle of the yard, he tripped and fell. Then began a fight for life. The man rolled over and over, but the spring always came on top.

Finally he became so tangled up that it was impossible to move.

During the battle two small fruit trees were torn up, a chicken coop was completely demolished and the well curb loosened. It is said that it took a policeman, two plumbers and the entire fire department to get them untangled.—Atlanta Constitution.

Crime and Its Punishment.

Crimes of violence there will ever be while human nature lasts, and crimes against property are inevitable in densely populated cities, but professional crime is a disgrace to the community and to the age. And the present system of dealing with professional criminals is about as sensible and as satisfactory as if, in the case supposed, the old foxes when trapped should be kept for a measured interval, and then let loose again among the covers. Moreover, the general diminution of crime only seems to make the fact more significant that crimes of the kind attributable to professional criminals seem to increase rather than to diminish.

These men are leniently dealt with on account of the ignorant use made of the judicial statistics, and they are taking advantage of it. To set a professional housebreaker at large because there are fewer criminals than formerly is about as rational as it would be to allow "infectious cases" to mix with their neighbors because there are no longer epidemics of fever such as used to prevail.—Blackwood's Magazine.

The Souvenir of Gratitude.

An instructive and pathetic custom still prevails in Munich. Every destitute child found begging in the streets is arrested and carried to a charitable institution. On his arrival he is photographed—dirt, rags and all. After being maintained and educated, when he leaves the institution to begin life, the before mentioned photograph is given to him, and he is required to make a solemn declaration that he will keep it as a reminder of the wretched state from which he was saved and of the kindness shown. The charity has received many gifts from its reclaimed waifs.—London Sketch.

The Village Shop.

All the cottages, or nearly all, stand back from the road, their lower windows half hidden from view by the old and well grown currant and gooseberry bushes, lilacs and yews. Some are half timbered and thatched, others are of warm red brick, with tiled, wide eaved roofs; not the staring red brick of the town "villa residence," but the mellow tint which makes such a perfect harmony with its setting of English fields and trees. It is over the door of one of these latter that we read the notice "Post office," the usual adjunct of the village shop. As we go up the path we see the window on the right of the door exhibits a varied assortment of attractions, principally show cards; two or three open boxes of sweets, peppermints and hokey pokey; some penny bottles of ink, sauce and hair oil; a peg top or two and some marbles.

This display is entirely shut off from any but mounted passersby by a large clump of lupins growing a yard from the window. But this is of little importance; every one in the neighborhood knows the shop and what is likely to be obtainable in it, and the only customers who ever pause before entering to inspect the window are children, who, when presented with a halfpenny as a reward for or incentive to especially meritorious behavior, may be seen standing on tiptoe for a prolonged survey, unable to make up their minds between the known virtues of peppermints and the untried qualities of the "latest thing" in sweet stuffs brought from the town last market day.—Chambers' Journal.

St. Valentine.

St. Valentine, presbyter and martyr, unlike many saints who are specially remembered, did nothing which could have suggested the manner in which his day is celebrated. It was his fortune to suffer martyrdom (he was beaten with clubs and then beheaded) at a time when the heathens of southern Europe were accustomed to observe the return of spring. The quick eyes of those dependent upon sunlight for warmth learned to note and welcome every indication of the approaching season. They watched the birds, and when they saw them mating and making love they were minded to do the same, and so strong was the habit that, as with Christmas day, the good fathers did not attempt to root out the custom, but to connect it with some holy name, and St. Valentine's day of martyrdom fitted very nearly to that time.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Not Saved.

Salvation Lass (to young man who has been paying great attention to the speakers)—Are you saved?

Young Man—No; I'm a reporter.

Salvation Lass—Oh, I beg your pardon.—Phil May.

From the Woods.

A popular soprano is said to have a voice of fine timbre, a willowy figure, cherry lips, chestnut hair and hazel eyes. She must have been raised in the lumber region.—Commonwealth.

She Paid the Groschen.

A lovely story is told of the brothers Grimm, the famous fairy tale writers. One day a wee girl rang the bell and asked to see Mr. Grimm. When ushered into his presence, she asked:

"You are the Mr. Grimm who writes the pretty tales?"

"Yes, I and my brother."

"And that of the clever little tailor who married the princess?"

"Yes, certainly."

"Well," said the child, producing the book, "it is said there that every one who doesn't believe it must pay the thaler. Now, I don't believe that a princess ever married a tailor. I haven't so much as a thaler, but here is a groschen, and please say I hope to pay the rest by degrees."

Just then Jacob came in and they tried together to convince the little dame that it was only a tale, but she had the courage of her convictions and nothing could induce her to receive the money back. The two brothers let her go, much amused by the interview.

"Melancholy" McCullom's Oratory.

One of the California pioneers told a story of stump speaking in the Golden State.

A turgid orator, so noted for his verbosity and heaviness that he had been dubbed "Melancholy" McCullom, was assigned to speak at a mining camp in the mountains. There were about 50 miners present when he began. But when at the end of a couple of hours he gave no signs of finishing his listeners dropped away. Some went back to work, but the majority sought wherewith to quench their thirst, which had been immensely aggravated by the dryness of the discourse.

Finally there was but one auditor left, a dilapidated, weary looking old fellow. Fixing his gaze on him, McCullom pulled out a man's size six shooter and laid it on the table. The old fellow rose slowly and drawled out:

"Be you goin to shoot ef I go?"

"You bet I am," responded McCullom. "I'm bound to finish my speech, even if I have to shoot to keep an audience."

The old fellow sighed in a tired manner, edging off slowly, saying as he did so:

"Well, shoot if you wants to. I may just as well be shot as talked to death."—Washington Post.

M. Z. EPPERSON

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire
Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

St. Hilaire Meat Market.

ALL KINDS OF

FRESH AND SALT MEATS.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, Proprietor.

The St. Hilaire
TownsiteCompany
will sell for the next
Sixty Days
Desirable Lots
from $25 to $100

Apply to

H. E. IVES, Agt.

This is Easy Enough!

Any of my customers will be presented with a life like portrait free of charge by presenting their picture at my store. : : : : : : : : :

M. A. HALL. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOHLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota

ATTENTION! LAND OWNERS.

Do you want to Sell Your Farm?

☞ If you do, list it with me, sales will be lively this spring.

H. E. IVES.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

E. M. HOFF

General Merchant

MISS C. S. HOFF,
DEALER IN
Fruits, Confectionery
AND CIGARS.
Post Office Building. St Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE
Collection Agency.
Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

J.S. BREDENBECK
The Watchmaker
AND JEWELER.
Repairing of Watches and Clocks a Specialty
Engraving neatly done.
ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

N. M. WATSON, M. D.
Physician & Surgeon.
Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada,
Office in Bank Block.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,
Merchant - Tailor.
I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.
ALL WORK GUARANTEED.
☞Give me a call and be convinced.
Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.
St. Hilaire, Minn.

Harness.....
☞If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing, call on
C. A. SKEIE,
West Broadway. St. Hilaire, Minn.

Blacksmith!
☞Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, Etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.
J. O. DAHL. St Hilaire, Minn.

M. E. BJERK
DEALER IN
Wines and Liquors
MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.
ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE
DAN PATERSON, Prop.
Dray in Connection.
The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place
BIG RED BARN
Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.
ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., Feb. 25, 1896.

Notice hereby given, that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston Minn. on April 9th 1896 viz: Charley Anderson H. E 13114 for the E ½ N. E ¼ Sec. 23 W ½ NW ¼ Sec 24 Tp 152 N R 42 W He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

Peter E. Engh, Peder Olson, Oscar Heden John P. Linberg all of St Hilaire, Polk Co., Minnesota.

T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

Ask Your Dealer For TRADE MARK.
WHIPS.
FEATHERBONE is made from Enameled Quills—nature's own toughest, and strongest elastic material. Best wearing whips made for 25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50. All styles for Buggy, Cart, Trot, Team and Riding. Be sure and ask for a FEATHERBONE.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

VILLAGE OFFICERS

Chas. G. Rapp	Pres'dent
J. L. Johnson	Recorder
H. J. Freeman W. A. Sorsoleil M. Z. Epperson	Councilmen
Leonard H. Ives	Treasurer
Pete Hall O. H. Peters	Justice of Peace
J. A. Dainard S. M. Dainard	Constable

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	49c	Butter	8@10c
Oats	12c	Eggs	8c
Barley	11c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.5
Flax	72c	Potatoes	12½

LOCAL NEWS.

Easter falls on next Sunday.

Day after tomorrow is Good Friday.

H. E. Ives went to Crookston Monday.

J. A. Dainard returned from St. Paul Monday.

To-day is commonly known as all-fools-day.

Seeding has commenced in the southern part of the state.

Fred Eikhoff arrived on to-days train to remain among us.

C. G. Rapp was at Thief River Fall's Monday between trains.

P. G. Paradise made a flying trip to Thief River Fall's Monday.

J. B. O'Brien leaves to-day for Red Lake Falls to visit relatives and friends.

"Horses for Sale" is the new sign now seen on S. M. Dainard's sale barn.

Samuel Dainard of Canton, N. Dak., is visiting with his uncle, Alfred Dainard.

County Commissioner Jorland returned from Crookston on Monday's train.

In anticipation of the river breaking up the flood gates of the dam were opened Monday.

Henry Jackson, who fractured his leg some time ago, is so far recovered as to be able to be out again.

S. M. Dainard has disposed of his car load of horses and leaves to-day for St. Paul to purchase another lot.

Miss Katie Berglund has contracted to teach the spring term of school in Mr Erickson's district. We wish her success.

Gus Tandberg returned Monday from Northwood, N. Dak., where he was called some time ago on account of the death of his father.

Indications of spring are on hand, that is, if geese, ducks, hawks and crows have anything to do with rushing the season—they are here.

Martin E. Hoff, local agent for The Alfred Peats Wall Paper company of Chicago, furnished Landlord Arthur wall paper to replenish the hotel.

Miss Ida Linquist who has been dangerously ill is now so far recovered as to be out again. Her many friends were glad to see her on our streets Monday.

C. M. Christianson of Erskine was in our village last Saturday interviewing the real estate agents preparatory to buying a farm and moving his family here.

K. H. Sevre, father of Ed. Sevre from Kensett, Iowa, arrived here Monday with a car load of stock and moveables and intends to make St. Hilaire his future home.

Miss Florida Pettingell who has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. W. A. Sorsoleil of this place for the past two months, leaves to-day for her home at Stillwater.

M. Z. Epperson has his saw mill in readiness and is now waiting for the logs that are to be drawn as soon as the river opens. At present his mill is running at full blast sawing hard wood.

Thief River Falls now has three barber shops. J. J. Barnes recently opened up a shop in the Great Northern hotel and asks for a share of the patronage, which of course he will get.

On April 1st, I will have a complete stock of spring and summer millinery. I wish all my old customers to call and inspect same before purchasing elsewhere.

MRS. J. A. DAINARD.

DATE CHANGED

Red Lake Lands to be Opened to Settlement May 15th Instead of May 1st.

From the Crookston Times.

Now we may all breathe easier. All doubts of the opening of the Red Lake reservation are now dispelled. This morning (Monday) the Times, which has been designated as the official paper of the government in which shall be published all proclamations and announcements relating to the Red Lake Reservation.

[The following is the principal part of the official notice.—Ed.]

"Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the provisions of section six of the act of January 14th 1889 (25 Stat 642) that the survey and examination of certain lands in the former Red Lake Indian reservation, in the State of Minnesota, ceded by the Chippewa Indians, under the provisions of said act, have been completed, and that such of said land as have been classed as "agricultural lands" within the meaning of the statute, will be opened to settlement and entry under the provisions of the homestead law, with certain modifications, which are specified in the instructions to the local officers, on and after 9:00 o'clock a. m.; central standard time, Friday, May 15th 1896."

Rube Allen, the humorist, who was here two years ago, will be here Saturday night April 11th.

Wm. Barrage has just finished painting and papering the interior of Sam Dainard's cottage and a finer piece of work never was executed.

We have it from the best of authority that the Farmers railroad will change its course to run south of the Clear Water river and through St. Hilaire.

S. M. Dainard still holds his record as a hustler even in selling horses. Monday he disposed of five fine draft horses—three sold to Black River, and two Wylie parties.

The second meeting of the Local Education Association, No. 1, of Polk county meets in Thief River Falls April 4th 1896, at 9 o'clock a. m. All interested in education are invited to attend.

The newly elected village council will assume their labors next Monday evening. Now look out for curfew and Sunday ordinances such as are always anticipated wherethere is a change in administration.

The need of a daily train on the St. Hilaire branch becomes more apparent each day. The rush in that direction Monday was as great as usual, nearly 200 being out bound on that branch.—Crookston Times.

The well known surveyor and trusty locater W. J. Bassett, left Monday on a tour of inspection to the Red Lake country so he will have everything in readiness when the opening of the Reservation is announced.

We understand that H. E Ives has sold a half interest in the St. Hilaire Spectator and that John Sell is now wielding the "scissors." The last issue looks as if he was going to "cut" his way to fame.—Thief River Falls News.

Jay Nelson, representing the P. F. Collier Publishing Company of New York is canvassing the village selling the works of eminent Authors on the installment plan. Anyone purchasing these books will find it is money well spent.

The many friends of Fred Eikhoff were agreeably surprised Friday, by meeting him on our streets, between trains. Fred is rapidly improving from his recent illness and will soon be among us again, where he will be found at his old stand.

Samuel Scott, who for the past few months was head clerk in the American House, is now fitting up a short order lunch room in the rear of P. G. Paradis' saloon. Sam is a steady industrous man of good business qualities and is deserving of the patronage of the hungry.

The school fund of Polk county is $8 285—head as the result of Judge Ives' law and order reign. This means about one dollar per head for every scholar in the county and less gambling and illegal liquor selling thrown in.—McIntosh Times.

Bro. McKenzie of the Crookston Times is deserving of much credit for his boom edition of last week. It is a master-piece in information and description of the natural advantages of the reservation; and the growth and prosperity of Crookston.

Frank Witt advance agent for the Kickapoo Indian Medicine company was here on Friday making arrangements for the company to appear here about the first part of May. The Kickapoo's are at present showing at Thief River Falls where they are meeting with great success, and from there they go to Fosston and McIntosh before returning to St. Hilaire.

Mr. Lefevor, of the firm of Lefevor & Co., proprietors of the City Meat Market in Red Lake Falls, lately of Saint Thomas, N Dak., made this office a pleasant call Thursday, while on his way to Marshall county, where he intends purchasing beef cattle. Mr. Lefevor is a thorough business man and is deserving of a liberal patronage of the people of Red Lake Falls and vicinity.

A Daily Train.

It is reported upon good authority that we are to have a daily train from to-day on.

The Joint petition sent by St. Hilaire Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls to President Hill some time ago, asking for a daily train was answered by saying he would put on a daily so soon as business would warrant it.

Our business is now getting very extensive; every train bringing in land seekers. Should it keep increasing at the same rate for the next six weeks it is doubtful if one train a day will be sufficient to accommodate the passengers and handle the freight.

People's Meeting.

Saturday evening a large and enthusiastic meeting of the citizens was held at the Council Rooms for the purpose of encouraging immigration to St. Hilaire and vicinity.

H. E. Ives was chosen chairman and J. L. Johnson secretary.

On motion J. L. Johnson, H. E. Ives and S. M. Dainard be appointed a committee to canvass the village and write up a pamphlet, showing the advantages St. Hilaire has to other competative points to being the gateway of the reservation.

On motion meeting adjourned until Wednesday evening April 1st.

Daniel McDonald, who has been attending school here, left for his home near Grand Forks to spend vacation.

Two more applications were received by the Woodmen at their regular meeting last Friday evening. Who says our Camp isn't improving.

Brink Bros., have improved the external appearance of their place of business by the addition of a new beer sign. Let the good work go on.

School closed Friday for a two weeks vacation. Miss Kyle goes to Crookston to visit friends and relatives, while Prof. O'Brien will divide his time between here and Red Lake Falls.

Andrew Holt, formerly in business here, is erecting a store building on Broadway, where according to reports, he intends starting a Farmer's store. Mr. Holt's many friends will be pleased to again see him established in business.

C. G Rapp, the senior member of our pioneer firm, took Wednesdays train for Crookston to attend a wedding. On his return, Friday, he was so elated when relating to his friends where he was, and the time he had that he unintentionally said he was married. He has since tried to explain matters but his batchelor friends are inclined to believe that Mr Rapp would like to quit their company.

The president of the St. Hilaire Boom company came into the office Saturday in a great haste. We looked him over, wondering whether that same form had ever been in to see us before or not. All that was familiar was the voice and after questioning him as to his change in appearance and bespattered condition, he replied. "I was down and opened the dam gates."

The new dress for the SPECTATOR will be here next week, and then we will give our readers a readable paper. The body type in this office has been in use for fourteen (14) years, and is in proper shape—good and ripe—for the "h—l box." We have used more gasoline and lie, and wore out more brushes the past ten days than we have in years.

5 cents will buy two packages of garden seeds at Hall's.

Race For a Fortune.

To the casual observer, Fosston, presented its usual appearance last Wednesday night, but those who had a "tip" of the great race that was being made for the valuable strip of pine on the disputed southern boundary of the reservation, it was an anxious and exciting time. A party from Crookston got the "tip" first, and left here at noon. They were scarcely out of the city before a party of eight determined men were ready to start after them, equipped with two of the fastest teams to be found. They left five hours behind, but confident that the speed and endurance of their blooded horses would land them at the coveted goal, fifty miles away, in advance of their contestants for their rich treasure. As yet no word has been received as to the result of the exciting night's race.—Thirteen towns, Fosston.

Glass wool is one of the best filtering materials. It is quite equal in many respects to filters made of asbestus. As a packing for conduit pipes for hot acidified vapors or liquids, as well as nonconductors of heat, glass wool, worked into thread weaves or felt, serves excellently for packing rings, washers and so forth around high pressure boilers in candle factories. In fact, it is used for almost any purpose where packing is required which will resist the chemical action of acid liquids or vapors, as well as heat. It is made either in straight or curled wool and can be felted or woven. Its chemical constituents can be varied to meet almost any requirement in chemical science.—Philadelphia Record.

She Was Posted.

"Strange," remarked Mrs. Brown. "I have rung at Mrs. Smith's door three times this week, and I didn't succeed in arousing any one. I suppose the family is out of town."

"Possibly," replied Mrs. Jones, "but Mrs. Smith was telling me just now that she could tell your ring among a thousand."—Spare Moments.

EDITORIAL COLUMN.

Wonder how many delegates to the Republican convention held at Crookston on the 19th ult. had the personal checks of one or the other of the intended-wire pullers.

The G. O. P. has held another convention, a grand love feast and party rally. Wheeler says it was the most enthusiastic convention held by that party in many years, seemed to him like old times; yes the "Big Three" as the St. Paul Globe dubs our Polk county citizens are on the war-path with war paint on. Andy and Hugh will cut quite a swath among the G. O. P. voters if they go out for blood. Will they do it? Hugh for free silver, Andy for revenge Hey?

The Minneapolis Journal, a pretty good newspaper generally, but PESTILENT on the money question, is continually harping on the 50-cent dollar of the silverites and asks what will be the condition of the farmer and the laboring people if the Silver craze is successful? And answering its own question says: They will be worse off than at present for when they get a dollar it will only purchase 50 cents worth of the necessaries of life. What's the matter with the Journal man's logic, can't the poor devil use the 50 cent dollar to pay his debts? Hey!

It was amusing last week to watch the strife at the Crookston primaries to elect delegates to the Republican county convention to elect delegates to District and National conventions. McKinley's forces were organized and under the leadership of some of the most disreputable and unscrupulous men of that party; opposed to them and represented by the more respectable men of the party was the unorganized scattered forces of the Davis faction. We looked on and laughed at the defeat of the respectables. What's their loss is our gain, the old party has been on the decending scale for years, but it has now arrived at the point of DESPAIR, and then on the road to perdition which is open, broad and well trodden.

The great dailies of St. Paul and Minneapolis are chastising Carter and Hansborough for their defense of the people's rights;—they forget that these same principles, which they so furiously attack now, were the identical ones which they lauded to the skies four years ago, but—but, then "don't cher know" there wasn't enough game then in the trap to spring it; the Jew bankers didn't then have full control—now they have—and men like Carter, Hansborough and others must take the dose prepared for them, or get out of the G. O. P.—and they won't have courage enough to refuse the poisoned cup; they'll "take 'er straight" and stand by and see the country go to the devil. What a lovely thing partisanism is! The time is coming when the man who proclaims that his allegiance is to his party first, his country next will be disfranchised, and he ought to be;—the sooner the better!

We notice that E. D. Childs, one of the earliest settlers of Crookston is in the hands of the "phillistines." Circumstances have made Mr. Childs a promoter of free silver coinage, and the mortgagees, the blood suckers of the age have concluded to close him out as a proper object lesson to deter other unfortunates in their grasp from doing likewise. We hear frequently of some good man who "has gone wrong" on the silver question and has consequently been closed out by Shylock for his impertinence. Take while you have power, Great Shylock, for the time soon cometh when the power you now possess to wreck human hopes and torture honest trusting men will be taken from you, and you will be as Samson, "like another man." Mr. Childs has been a good republican but that does not save him, he must be a votary of the Jew bankers and howl for a gold standard which he in conscience cannot do. Who will sow the wheat and feed the calves when the farms are all in the hands of the banks? This is a question for republican farmers to answer.

If Saint Paul, when he started out to evangelize the world, instead of the pentateuch had carried in his grip as strong a document as the Ohio republican platform, there would not have been a sinner left to tell the tale. Isn't it barely possible that Levi, the son of Abimelech, the son of Ahab, the son of Abraham may not have inspired the financial plank in that great document? We are informed that "money talks" now-a-days. Levi P has it in great abundance, in barrels, in bags, boxes and in bank, and it was not a difficult matter to so arrange the Ohio platform that Wall Street might have a good reason to reject it, and if rejected by that great and powerful gents, McKinley may as well tie the tail of his kite to the opposed financial plank and be towed up Salt river as soon as navigation is fairly opened, no use to wait till after the convention, the water will be low then and navigation uncertain—ta-ta. Mack; too bad, the situation is "agin" you, but Levi P. if elected (?) will appoint good men to fill the vacant plans. Hurrah for Mc (?) Morton.

Owing to the blizzard night before last which delayed the trains on the main line, our "patent" did not arrive—hence we are one day late this week.

We call especial attention to our line of barb wire and nails, and wish to say we will complete with T. M. Roberts & Co., or and firm in the north-west on prices.

RAPP & POST.

Rapp & Post.

General Merchants.

FRED EIKHOFF
DEALER IN
SHELF AND HEAVY Hardware
HEADQUARTERS FOR
Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,
DEALER IN
Drugs and Stationery
St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

American Hotel
W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.
Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.
Special attention given to traveling men, hunting and fishing parties. St. Hilaire, Minn.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,
NORTH SIDE ROLLER MILLS!
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily
Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of Flour and Feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices. : : :
☞Warehouse on rail road track. : : : : : : : : : : :
W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Shelf and HEAVY hardware
Car load of Barb wire and Nails just arrived. We compete with T. M. Roberts & Co., or any other firm, on prices.
Rapp & Post.

That

Extreme tired feeling afflicts nearly everybody at this season. The hustlers cease to push, the tireless grow weary, the energetic become enervated. You know just what we mean. Some men and women endeavor temporarily to overcome that

Tired

Feeling by great force of will. But this is unsafe, as it pulls powerfully upon the nervous system, which will not long stand such strain. Too many people "work on their nerves," and the result is seen in unfortunate wrecks marked "nervous prostration," in every direction. That tired

Feel-

ing is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is, therefore, apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember that

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. 25 cents.

A Fourteen-Inch Footprint.

Mr. H. E. Huford of Cincinnati, sent to the Ohio State Academy of Science a large stone taken from the hillside four miles north of Parkersburg, on the West Virginia side of the Ohio river, about twenty years ago, in which there was the imprint of a perfect human foot measuring 14½ inches in length. The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette says: "The specimen excited considerable interest, though there was a diversity of opinion as to whether or not there had ever lived in that portion of the country a person with feet of that size. The matter will be thoroughly investigated, and it is believed by some that this specimen will lead to the discovery of the existence of some prehistoric race of giants of which nothing is known at the present time."—Baltimore Sun.

An Idle Scavenger.

The bowels act the part of a scavenger, inasmuch as they remove much of the debris, the waste effete matter of the system. When they grow idle, it is of the utmost importance that they should be impelled to activity. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters effects this desirable object without griping them like a drastic purgative. The Bitters is also efficacious for malaria, bilious, dyspeptic and kidney trouble.

Ought to Have Known It.

Mrs. Wickwire—Dear me! Those awful Abyssinians are not heathen, after all. It turns out that they are Christians.

Mr. Wickwire—Well, you ought to have known that from the dandy fight they put up.—Detroit Free Press.

Bacon entered Cambridge at thirteen; at sixteen he wrote against the Aristotelean logic; at twenty-six he had completed the "Novum Organum."

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors: Andrew Anderson, Hastings, Minn., hot-air stove or furnace; William D. Arnett, Parma, Idaho, grading machine; Olaf Christianson, St. Paul, Min., wheel plow; George W. Cleveland, Little Rock, Wash., fire-escape; Ole C. Goserud, Grant county, S. D., water elevator; Frank Houska, St. Paul, Minn., bottle-washing machine; Daniel K. Howe, Portland, Ore., fly case; John H. Oberg, Two Harbors, Minn., ax and ax handle; Richard W. Seidman, Marysville, Mont., sausage-filling machine; Henry K. Stahl, Minneapolis, Minn., grease cup.

T. D. Merwin, patent lawyer, 909, 911 and 912, Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

Just the Trouble.

Employer—How do you account for the shortage in your account, Mr. Mudhead?

Mudhead—I can't, sir. That's just it, yer know; if I could account for it, sir, it wouldn't be there, yer know, sir. —San Francisco Wave.

The Red Lake Indian Reservation Opens May 1.

This valuable tract of land just east of the Red river valley will be thrown open to settlement May 1. It is reached from Fosston, McIntosh and Thief River Falls, towns on the Great Northern railway, and all close to the reservation. The United States land office is at Crookston, and the towns named are on branch lines running from that place. Persons who intend to locate can stop off there and visit the land office before going to the reservation. By getting tickets via Crookston and the Great Northern railway to any one of the three towns named, the prospector will be near the land, concerning which address F. I. Whitney, G. P. and T. A., Great Northern Railway, St. Paul, Minn.

There Are Others.

The Lady—Now, I hope you won't spend this money for that vile liquor.

The Tramp—Well, mum' I'll do me best; but I'm not a connysoor, an' I generally has to drink it afore I can tell whether it is good or bad.—Milwaukee Citizen.

They Were Both Bad.

Bystander—Doctor, what do youk think of this man's injuries?

Doctor—Humph! Two of them are undoubtedly fatal, but as for the rest of them, time alone can tell.—Media (Pa.) Record.

Avoiding Disgrace.

First Tramp—Why not walk on the railroad track?

Second Tramp—Do you think I want the farmers to take us for actors? Nix!—San Francisco Wave.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, } ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co. doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

{SEAL} A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills, 25c.

Why, of Course.

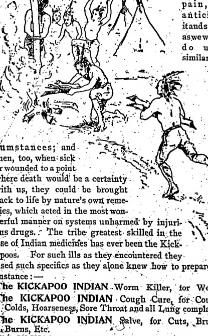
Mrs. Blossom—I don't understand why daughter's company should talk in such a boisterous manner this evening.

Mr. Blossom—Oh, don't worry about 'em; they're probably having a game of whist.—San Francisco Wave.

The commercial value of South Africa as represented by its annual trade is stated to be £35,000,000.

TERRIBLE TORTURE.

The Indian Heartless in Inflicting and Calm in Undergoing Physical Pain.



Reared as they were to a life in which sickness was almost unknown, the Indian did not realize the meaning of pain, or anticipate it and suffer as we would do under similar circumstances; and then, too, when sick or wounded to a point where death would be a certainty with us, they could be brought back to life by nature's own remedies, which acted in the most wonderful manner on systems unharmed by injurious drugs. The tribe greatest skilled in the use of Indian medicines has ever been the Kickapoos. For such ills as they encountered they used such specifics as they alone knew how to prepare, for instance:—

The KICKAPOO INDIAN Worm Killer, for Worms.

The KICKAPOO INDIAN Cough Cure, for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat and all Lung complaints.

The KICKAPOO INDIAN Salve, for Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Etc.

The KICKAPOO INDIAN Oil, quick cure for all pain.

The KICKAPOO INDIAN SAGWA

for all diseases resulting from a deranged condition of the kidneys, liver, stomach and blood. All of these are purely vegetable and are made and sold to-day throughout the civilized world, exactly as they were centuries ago, when they were made by the Indians of roots, barks, herbs, gums and leaves of their own gathering, and each absolutely infallible for the cure of such disorders as they are intended for. All druggists sell them.

LOOK FOR DANGER.

MATTERS INTERESTING TO THE WESTERN FARMER.

Competing Lines of Railways Are Naturally Not Favorable to the Extension of Lake Transportation and Deep Waterways—Some Interesting Information for the Western Farmer.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 24.—The Western farmer and his Eastern customer have a special interest in a contest now going on. It is a case of self-preservation for them, and demands prompt attention from both. The reciprocal interests of the agricultural West and the manufacturing East are well understood, and the demand of the time is for the cheapest possible transport between the two interested sections. The water route by the Great Lakes has been the making and the salvation of the Northwest. Competing lines of railroad are naturally not favorable to the extension of lake transportation. Allied to the railroads are local interests at Detroit and Buffalo. At Detroit an attempt is being made to have a bridge built with two piers in the river, each located 600 feet from the shore. The tonnage passing this point is 30,000,000 tons in seven months. This will be increased about 10 per cent by vessels of the largest class now building. It will keep on increasing, year after year, as the great Northwest goes on filling up and growing. Compare this 30,000,000 tons of to-day with the tonnage of London, which is less than 24,000,000 in twelve months. That of New York is almost the same as London. It is proposed to choke this contracted waterway, so vital to the Northwest and to the East, in order to carry by railroad on a bridge a tonnage of a little more than one-seventh of that of the river. This might be more favorably considered if it were indispensable and at less cost. The facts are that a tunnel can be built for three-fourths of what a bridge will cost, and will interfere with nobody. A few miles up the stream from the point where it is proposed to locate this bridge is the great tunnel of the Grand Trunk railway, standing as a practical demonstration of the real facts in the case.

The congressmen from the East and West can form their own conclusions after securing these facts. A committee of the United States senate has reported favorably on the bridge plan. Can it be advocated on the ground of public welfare?

Near Buffalo an effort is being made to secure a charter for a railroad bridge over the Niagara river between the American shore and Grand Island. It will be a low bridge, and will practically be a stopper with which to close the river and prevent vessels passing to Buffalo. Deep-water agitation between the Great Lakes and salt water has been going on, more and more vigorously, for a long time, and within a few weeks the first general report on the subject will be made. What is wanted is better, not poorer, means of transportation. All low bridges or those having piers in the stream, over the rivers connecting the Great Lakes, are a detriment to present and future navigation. Are the people of the northern part of the United States willing to have the transportation so vital to them destroyed or impaired? If not, the newspapers, the commercial bodies and influential citizens will need to at once vigorously take up the matter with their representatives in congress and convince them that they, the people, want no bridges built over the waterways that shall in any way be a detriment to navigation. The charter of these bridges will be slipped through unnoticed, and at this session of congress, if possible, unless such a denunciation shall be heard from an aroused and financially-interested people as shall effectually stop such pernicious legislation. No one with influence can delegate his responsibility in this matter to another, and the time to act is now. —A. J. Crocker, Chairman Executive Committee Internal Deep Waterways Association.

Shooting From an Elephant.

The elephant's howdah is that bed of Procrustes, in which one can neither sit nor stand with any approach to reasonable ease, and in which a recumbent attitude is impossible. Its advantages are: First, that standing in it a man can shoot on every side of him; second, that it is convenient for the carriage of the occupant's paraphernalia—his guns on racks on either side, his ammunition in a trough in front, his other requisites in leather pockets here and there on the sides of the machine and his bed blanket on the seat; and third, that in a hinder compartment an attendant can stand to hold that monstrous umbrella over his head, or when quick loading is required, take from his hand the gun just fired and recharge it. These are the advantages; otherwise the howdah is an abomination.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Not Too Late to Mend.

"Be mine," he implored.

"Too late," she answered in a trembling voice.

He buried his face in his hands. Hope fled from his bosom.

"Too all-fired late," the woman repeated. "You might have said that three hours ago. The idea of waiting until 1 o'clock in the morning."

Nevertheless they were married.—Detroit Tribune.

The Difference.

Mrs. Suburb—What is this, a tenement house?

Mrs. De Flatte—Indeed it isn't. It's an apartment house.

Mrs. Suburb—What is the difference?

Mrs. De Flatte—All the difference in the world. In a tenement house you rent rooms, and in an apartment house you lease apartments.—New York Weekly.

To Catch Trains and to be in Time for Dinner.

Jasper—So you are living in the suburbs now. I should think you would find the walking bad there in the spring.

Jumpuppe—Walking! Nobody walks in the suburbs. We commuters always have to run.—Truth.

Positive Proof.

Master of the House (with whom a stray parrot has taken refuge)—How do you mean to prove that it is your bird?

Stranger (strokes the parrot, whereupon it calls out: "You stupid!"—There, see, it knows me quite well.—Il Messagero.

The Rarest One.

Small Boy (who has become interested in coin collecting)—Papa, what is the rarest coin that you know of?

Papa (sadly)—The sovereign, my son; the British sovereign.—Tid-Bits.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Cold Day When He Got Left.

"I hear Jack Fortescue is ill. What is the trouble?"

"He was frost-bitten."

"While he was skating?"

"No. He proposed to a Boston girl."—Detroit Free Press.

Cheap Excursion to North Dakota April 8.

On April 8 the Great Northern railway makes a $5 settlers rate one way from St. Paul and Minneapolis to points in Minnesota and North Dakota as far north as the boundary line and west to Minot. This is a large reduction, from one-half to one-third in some cases. Persons who contemplate taking up government land or wish to look over the country should avail themselves of this change. For publications and other information address F. I. Whitney, G. P. and T. A., St. Paul, Minn.

Purely Imaginary.

"Maria," said Boggles to his wife, with an idea of instructing her in political economy, "do you know what civil service is?"

"Jasper," said Mrs. Boggles, with memory of recent contact with the cook, "there isn't any."—Boston Transcript.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

The woolen factories of this country are mostly located in New England, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

For relieving Throat Diseases, Coughs and Hoarseness, use "Brown's Bronchial Troches." Sold only in boxes. Avoid imitations.

The spring and autumn maneuvers of European armies cost over £2,000,000.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Wagner planned a series of German operas by the time he was twenty-three, although his design was not carried out for many years.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

I believe Piso's Cure is the only medicine that will cure consumption.—Anna M. Ross, Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 12, '95.

Expert Opinion.

Gizball—Guzler, what's your opinion of the gold cure?

Guzler—It is simply great. I tried it no less than five times, and I was cured every time.—Boston Gazette.

The Yukon Gold Fields.

The Alaska gold fields are attracting much attention and low rates are in effect from St. Paul and Minneapolis via the Great Northern railway to Seattle and thence by steamer to Sitka and Juneau. Write for publications and rates to F. I. Whitney, G. P. and T. A., G. N. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

There are 1,425 characters in the twenty-four books that Charles Dickens wrote.

The French people make over £65,000,000 in rearing fowls yearly.

There is pleasure and profit and no small satisfaction in abating troublesome and painful ills by using Parker's Ginger Tonic.

Silk is the strongest of all vegetable or animal threads. It is three times as strong as a flaxen thread of the same size.

It is so easy to remove Corns with Hindercorns that we wonder so many will endure them. Get Hindercorns and see how nicely it takes them off.

New Zealand is not only more sober now than at any other period, but it is also one of the most sober countries in the world.

When Traveling,

Whether on pleasure bent, or business, take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver, and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches, and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50 cent and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only.

Burke was twenty-six when the "Essay on the Sublime and Beautiful" was published; it is said that he began it between twenty and twenty-one.

In proportion to its size, a fly walks thirty-five times as fast as a human being.

Bicycles

ELGIN... GORDON... PIERCE... NEWPORT... EL DORADO... LIVINGSTON

AGENTS WANTED

Second-hand Wheels at your own prices. Write for catalogues and particulars to

THISTLE • CYCLE • CO.,
21-23-25 W. 4th St. St. Paul, Minn.

WHAT IS ALABASTINE?

A pure, permanent and artistic wall-coating ready for the brush by mixing in cold water.

FOR SALE BY PAINT DEALERS EVERYWHERE.

FREE { A Tint Card showing 12 desirable tints, also Alabastine Souvenir Rock sent free to any one mentioning this paper.

ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.

$25.00 IN GOLD

Given to party who sends in the largest number of words, using only our firm name, with order for one lot of ten packages of our CHOICE FLOWER SEEDS on receipt of 25c, or five lots for $1.00. This is a special inducement to place our 1896 varieties in every home at less than cost. Send money order or stamps. (Preserve this as it will not appear again.) CHICAGO FLOWER SEED CO., 18 Monroe St., Chicago.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

CUPID THE CHEAT.

An Easter Idyl.

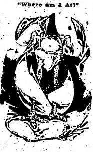
Said Cupid, "Now I'll lay aside
My arrows and my bow;
To play a prank this Easter-tide
Upon the elves I know.

Who'll pick with me to win or lose?
In wheedling tones he begs
Of all he met none could refuse—
And Cupid won their eggs.

Oh, Cupid! Cupid! was it fair
To win them in this way,
And cause the little loves despair
On joyous Easter day?

You are a sad rogue much I fear,
For was it right, I beg,
To win when you had, Cupid, dear,
A china Easter egg? —R. L. M.

"Where am I At?"



The Cause of the Improvement.

Some of the local railways in Scotland, especially in the north, are proverbially balky. Apropos of this a London traveler, writing home, said: "We were bowling along at nearly seven miles an hour and the whole train was shaking terribly. I expected every moment to feel my bones go through my skin. Passengers were rolling about though they seemed fairly sober. I held on firmly to the arms of my seat. Presently we settled down a bit; at least I could keep my hat on and my teeth didn't chatter. A quiet-looking native sat opposite me. I looked up with a ghastly smile, and wishing to appear cheerful said:

"'We are going a trifle more smoothly, I see.'

"'Och, yes, man,' was the reply, and he handed me his snuff-box, 'we're off the line noo.'"

The World Was an Egg.

The Chinese claim that the world was formed of the two parts of an enormous egg. From the yolk of the egg stepped forth the human being whom they call Poon-koo-Wong; then he waved his hand and the upper half of his late castle, the egg shell, went upward and became the convex heavens of blue; the lower half fell reversed, making the convex earth and the white albumen became the seas.

Times Change.

"I tell you the time in which one lives has a great effect on his career. Take Washington, for instance."

"Well, what of him?"

"Do you suppose a man who would persist in telling the truth at all times in these days would ever get further in public life than notary public?"—Harper's Bazar.

The Whole or None.

Jones—Black is a liberal fellow. He never does things by halves.

Smith—That's a fact. He never borrowed less than a dollar from me yet.—Detroit Free Press.

Asbestos for Surgical Dressings.

The uses of asbestos appear to be almost limitless. A physician now recommends it as a practically and specially serviceable material for surgical dressings. These dressings, he says, may be carried in any parcel, paper bag or hand-satchel, may be handled by dirty hands, bespattered by blood or any impurity, and yet can be rendered absolutely aseptic in less than two minutes by being tossed upon the coals or into the blaze of an ordinary kitchen stove. An asbestos pad, made for the protection of the chest in skating, is also favorably spoken of by the medical profession. It is made in the form of an under vest, and while very light and compact, it enables the skater to face the bitterest and strongest wind with impunity.

His Suggestion.

"William," she said, "you need a new hat."

"Do I?"

"Yes. And a new overcoat."

"I have suspected that."

"And your umbrella is shockingly shabby."

"I know it."

"What are you going to do about it?"

"I haven't any idea," he responded, gloomily. And then, with the animation which comes with a happy thought, he added:

"You might give a tea."—Washington Star.

DR. J. G. GRANT, Specialist.
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.
Syndicate Block, Minneapolis.
(Spectacles fitted.)

This is probably a world's record. The Petit Journal of Paris has an enormous circulation, often roughly described as approaching a million.

1,000 Farms for Sale.

Only 10 per cent Cash balance one half Crop each Year or Instalment plan. J. A. Walters, 109 4th St. So. Minneapolis, Minn.

The world every year puts on its victuals £750,000 worth of pepper.

Any System of Investment

That pays a profit of $2.00 per day on $100 is worth investigating. Our $100 Investment System (copyrighted) has paid $2.00 per day for months; will you investigate it? OSBORN, CROSBY & CO., Kasota Bldg., Minneapolis.

Last Syllable Silent.

"How do you pronounce the last syllable of that word, 'butterine?'" asked the customer.

"The last syllable is silent," stiffly replied the grocer's clerk.—New England Homestead.

Poets.
Break Out...

in the Springtime. And a great many who are not poets, pay tribute to the season in the same way. The difference is that the poet breaks out in about the same spot annually, while more prosaic people break out in various parts of the body. It's natural. Spring is the breaking-out season. It is the time when impurities of the blood work to the surface. It is the time, therefore, to take the purest and most powerful blood purifier,

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A "New Law of Acoustics."

A "new law of acoustics" is said to have been discovered by the professor of harmony at the Paris Conservatorium. The discovery is set forth in the following terms: When, in a closed medium, sound is propagated by the solid walls as well as by the air, the walls transmit grave sounds with more force than shrill ones. The consequence is a difference of velocity in the sounds under the altered conditions. The professor was led to this discovery which the transformation which a piece of music played on a piano situated on the ground floor of a house underwent on being heard on the third floor, all the windows of the house being shut and all the interior doors open. The observation is regarded as being of practical importance in connection with the acoustic properties of concert rooms and theaters.

Quite Natural.

Maud—I like George Richers to call on me.

May—I don't.

Maud—Of course not, dear; you'd rather have him call on you.—Truth.

Such ills as SORENESS, STIFFNESS, and the like,

ST. JACOBS OIL
WIPES OUT
Promptly and Effectually.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS

The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.

J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist, ST. PAUL, MINN.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS,

but sell direct to the consumer at wholesale prices, ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Write for catalogue. ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., ELKHART, IND.

W. B. PRATT, Secy.

CRIPPLE CREEK Write for what you want to THE MECHEM INVESTMENT CO., 123 Jackson St. Chic. Ill.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use } Thompson's Eye Water.

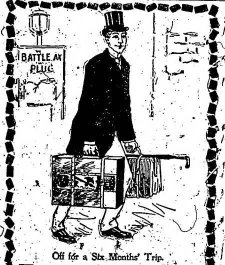
PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c. and $1.00 at Druggists

It's Pure

Walter Baker & Co.'s Cocoa is Pure—it's all Cocoa—no filling—no chemicals.

WALTER BAKER & CO., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.



Off for a Six Months' Trip.

Battle Ax PLUG

When you spend a dime for "Battle Ax" Plug, you get 5½ ounces. When you spend the same amount for any other good tobacco, you get 3½ ounces, or for 5 cents you get almost as much "Battle Ax" as you do of other high grade brands for 10 cents.

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY APRIL 8, 1896. NUMBER 36.

THE NEWS RESUME.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

A Comprehensive Review of the Important Happenings of the Past Week Culled From the Telegraph Reports—The Notable Events at Home and Abroad That Have Attracted Attention.

The Nation's Capital.

William N. Cobb of Athens, Ga., has been appointed private secretary of Secretary Hoke Smith.

Terms of office of thirty-four presidential postmasters will expire during April. Appointments to several of these have already been announced.

The treasury department has evidence tending to show that the steamship Commodore, which recently cleared from the port of Charleston, S. C., with arms and ammunition, did at sea, as reported by her captain, but landed it on the coast of Cuba.

The government is distributing among all the men, women and children of the Sioux nation a cash payment of $3 each as interest on the amount derived from the sale of 7,000,000 acres of the South Dakota reservation.

People Talked About.

A son was born to the wife of Geo. J. Gould. He is the fifth child.

George Forster, managing editor of the German Gazette since 1865, died at New Orleans.

George E. Dowling, aged 56, a wealthy banker and lumberman and past grand master mason of the state, died at Montague, Mich.

Edward King, a well known author and correspondent, died in Brooklyn after an illness of eight days. He was forty-nine years old.

Presiding Elder J. O. Woodruff of the Wyoming conference of the Methodist Episcopal church died at Binghamton, N. Y.

Accidental Happenings.

A destructive fire is raging in Brunswick, Ga.

While pulling stumps at Benton Harbor, Mich, Charles Eber, a young man, was killed by the breaking of the machine.

Easter and Allie Anderson and their three children, together with two horses, were drowned by the freshet in Powell's river, Kentucky.

Charles Holt and child and John Jenkins and two children were drowned in a swollen stream in Russell county, Virginia.

The two massive boilers of the Planters' Oil mill at Greenville, Miss., exploded, wrecking the mill property and causing the death of five men.

James B. Jamieson, forman at an ice-machinery plant in Aurora, Ill., was fatally hurt by an explosion of a cylinder head.

A team of horses driven by Mrs. Horace Bennett ran away at Jefferson, Iowa. The woman died in the buggy of fright.

The elevator and about 20,000 bushels of flaxseed, property of the National Linseed Oil company, burned at Burlington, Iowa.

James and Frank Tillman and Lucy Law were instantly killed by a rock crashing through the house where they were sleeping at Echo, W. Va.

Joseph Kriskofski, an insane patient in the hospital at Kankakee, Ill., swallowed a quantity of phosphorus during the absence of his attendant and died.

John Tunnell, a farmer, living near Milan, Mo., shot and mortally wounded B. Sims, his tenant. Jealousy is the motive assigned.

To save Miss Alberta Chapman, a member of a skating party at Olivet, Mich., Arthur W. Finney of Chicago, a student at Olivet college, gave his own life.

When the remains of Michael Hart, who was killed at Hammond, Ind., by an Erie passenger train, were sent to his home, at Newburg, Ohio, the entire force of the Illinois Steel company followed the body to the station.

Crimes and Criminals.

The 'Frisco train robbers are still at large. The sheriff's posse has returned to Lebanon without finding the slightest clue to work on.

Turbert Keirn, a farmer of Columbia City, Ind., worried over prospects of financial reverses and hanged himself to a tree.

Evidence tending to show that Annie McGrath intended to kill Langden and herself at Philadelphia has been found.

Settlers in the San Simon part of Arizona are wrought up to a high pitch of excitement over the murder by Apaches of Alfred Hands.

William Henry Ballard, aged 25 and unmarried, despondent through sickness, cut his throat at Walkersville, Ill.

Hannah Hatton, aged 23, unmarried, was murdered at Holland, Man., while on her way home. There is no clue to the murderer.

Oswald Ectin, formerly of Mexico, Mo., a gambler, was killed in a fight at Carrollton, Mo. One other man was fatally hurt and two badly injured.

Georgia Burke, colored, has been acquitted of the murder of Ide Miller, an ex-policeman of Terre Haute, Ind., who was killed in a struggle for possession of a pistol.

Ira Gibson, aged 25, a florist of Woodbury, N. J., shot and killed Mrs. [illegible]lle March, a widow, and then com[illegible] suicide. Unrequited love was [illegible] the mo[illegible]ins, the alleged murderer Calvin [illegible], a farmer of Cobden, of J. B. Cou[illegible] Jonesboro. His wife, Ill., is on trial a[illegible] in the crime, indicted for comp[illegible] will have a separate [illegible]

Officer John Graham, [illegible] who killed Jack Worthington while the latter was resisting arrest at Ale[illegible]andria, Ind., has been indicted for murd[illegible] the second degree. Labor unions are pushing the case against him.

James W. De Ormond, the counterfeiter who has just completed a two years' sentence in the Kings county (N. Y.) penitentiary for that crime was handed over to the officers of Paris, Tex. When he reaches there he will be tried on a charge of murder committed in 1891.

Edward Dykes, aged 17, and Joseph Rice, 22, fought a duel for the hand of a fair daughter of a farmer in the Center school house neighborhood, near Colfax, Ind. Dykes, though the younger, came out victorious, to the great joy of the young lady, whose sympathies were with him.

Emanuel Ninger was arrested at New York and is now confined in Ludlow street jail in default of $20,000 bail. Secret service agents believe they have solved the secret of the mysterious man's life and at the same time have a counterfeiter who has baffled all their efforts for seventeen years.

At Buffalo the jury in the Hyde murder case brought in a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree. The penalty for second degree murder under the statutes is life imprisonment. The charge against Hyde was the killing of Capt. Charles Phillips during a riot of canal boatmen at Tonawanda last October.

Foreign Gossip.

Another earthquake shock has been felt in the province of Calabria, Italy, causing panics there.

Austria will oppose the desires of the Balkan states in regard to federation.

Elizabeth Charles, author of many historical novels characterized by a deep religious feeling, is dead in London.

Sir William Stuart, brother of Baron Blantyre, and late British envoy to the King of the Netherlands, is dead in London. He was born in 1824.

The Negus Menelik has ordered the massacre of a number of prisoners and sick persons who have fallen into the hands of his forces during the present campaign in Abyssinia.

The prince of Wales, attended by Seymour Forteque, was James Gordon Bennett's guard on the Riviera on board the latter's steam yacht, the Namouna.

The London Times says: "The rumor that the government has decided upon the gradual release of the dynamiters is unfounded. McUllagh has recently been liberated, but it was only on account of his health."

In an address at New York city, Edward J. Phelps, ex-minister to Great Britain, said he didn't believe a boundary line between Venezuela and British Guiana had ever existed. It was a question for arbitration, he said.

There is much excitement in Irish circles over the election of James Burke Roche, brother of Lord Fermey, to parliament, as the Home rule candidate for Killarney, in East Kerry, the opposition being based on a divorce scandal.

Dr. Montague, the Canadian minister of agriculture, had a protracted conference at London with Walter Long, president of the board of agriculture, in regard to the latter's bill providing for the permanent exclusion of foreign cattle from Great Britain.

The suit of the London Times against the Central News company, a concern which supplies a certain agency in the United States, was opened in the Queen's bench division of the high court of justice. Faked Japanese war dispatches form the basis of the suit.

Otherwise.

A bridge across the bay from San Francisco to Oakland is contemplated.

A Chicago man has perfected a process by which natural colors can be photographed.

The garment workers of Baltimore, who have been out on a strike for the last five weeks, have declared the strike off.

By a decree issued from the superior court of Chicago, the doors of the Richelieu hotel will be closed and the property sold in its entirety, after the expiration of three weeks.

The Washington Republican state central committee has fixed May 15, at Everett, as the time and place of holding a state convention to elect delegates to the St. Louis convention.

William Brewster, secretary and treasurer of the Erie & Pittsburg railway, was stricken with apoplexy while at his office at Erie, Pa. His physician thinks he will not recover.

Probate Judge Robert C. Pike of Stafford county has been appointed associate justice of the New Hampshire supreme court to succeed Judge Carpenter, who has been appointed chief justice.

Mrs. W. D. Sabin, a leading exponent of the doctrine of Christian science, was stricken down with paralysis while addressing a company of ladies at her home in Lansing upon the subject of the cure of ills by faith.

The closing down of the two great Eagle and Phoenix cotton mills for an indefinite period, and the consequent throwing over 1,500 people out of employment, has produced a serious situation at Columbus, Ohio.

The board of directors of the Colorado Mining stock exchange announce that Broker J. J. Royer, having failed to account satisfactorily for his connection with the Blue Jay deal, has been expelled from the exchange.

The American schooner George W. Whitford, Capt. Foote, was seized by the Colombian gunboat Cordova while leaving Porto Bello, department of Panama. The charge against the vessel is not made known, but it is believed she carried contraband goods.

Notwithstanding the statements that but three signatures were needed to the uniform rate agreement to bind 95 per cent of the railroad coal operators of the Pittsburg district to pay the 70-cent rate, the prospects are now that the attempt to secure "true uniformity" will fail.

Passengers who arrived at Port Townsend, Wash., on the steamer City of Topeka, from Alaska, say on the day before the steamer left Juneau, a middle-aged man, who refused to give his name, arrived at Juneau from the Yukon mining region with eighty-two pounds of gold dust.

Capt. Andrew J. Briscoe died at Jeffersonville, Ind., of paralysis, aged 81 years. Sixty years ago he became a licensed pilot on steamboats plying the Ohio, Mississippi, Cumberland, Tenn[illegible] and Wabash rivers. He was ow[illegible] at one time of the Julia Dean, a ne[illegible] river steamer in antebellum days.

CARLISLE WRITES

REGARDING HIS CANDIDACY FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

He Says That He Has Not Decided That He Should Heed the Request of Friends to Become a Candidate and That He Thinks His Duty to His Party Would Best Be Performed by Declining to Become a Candidate.

Washington, April 7.—Secretary Carlisle has written the following letter on the subject of his candidacy for the presidential nomination at the Chicago convention:

"To Charles R. Long, Esq., Chairman Democratic State Central Committee, Louisville: Your favor of March 30, in which you say in substance, that many of my friends in Kentucky and elsewhere desire me to become a candidate before the approaching national Democratic convention for nomination for the office of president, and requesting me to give 'some authoritative or denite expression' upon the subject, was duly received and has been materially considered. Many communications upon the same subject and similar import have been received from friends in different parts of the country, and while very grateful for these numerous expressions of confidence and esteem upon the part of my Democratic fellow citizens, I have not been able to reach the conclusion that the existing conditions require me to comply with their requests by authorizing them to announce me as a candidate for the presidential nomination.

"While I feel a profound interest in the welfare of my party, I am much more concerned about its declaration of principles than in its selection of candidates, because, to my opinion, its failure of success at the election, as well as its capacity for useful service in the country in the future, depend upon the position it takes or omits to take upon the public questions now engaging the attention of the people, and especially the questions affecting the monetary system of the country and the character and amount of taxation to be imposed upon our citizens. Its position upon these and other subjects having been agreed upon and clearly and distinctly announced, the convention ought to have no difficulty in selecting an acceptable candidate who will fairly represent its views; and, in order that its deliberations may be embarrassed as little as possible by the contentions of rival aspirants and their friends, I think my duty to the party will be best performed by declining to participate in a contest for the nomination.

"The obligations assumed when I accepted my present official position require me to devote my entire time and attention to the public interests committed to my charge, and I shall continue to discharge the duties imposed upon me to the best of my ability and in such manner as will, in my judgment, most certainly promote the true interests of the country; and, if, in the opinion of my fellow Democrats in Kentucky, my services entitle me to their commendation and approval, I would regard their endorsement of my public course as an ample reward for the little I have been able to accomplish in behalf of honest administration and a sound financial policy. With many thanks for your kind letter, I am very truly,

—"J. G. Carlisle."

FAIR'S WIFE.

Latest Stirring Incident in the Contest Over the Will.

San Francisco, April 7.—A sensational story in an evening paper states that Mrs. Nettie Craven, a public school principal and witness to the late James G. Fair's so-called "penciled" will, has a marriage contract, in which the dead millionaire acknowledges her as his wife. It is also said that Mrs. Craven has deeds to several valuable pieces of real property, including some of the most valuable property in the Fair estate. Another of Mrs. Craven's valuable possessions is a check for $100,000, signed by J. G. Fair and made payable to Dr. Marc Livingston, executor of the pencil will. Across the check is written the clause, "Not to be presented until after the probate of the will." Mrs. Craven, it is stated, also has a letter in Fair's handwriting, the contents constituting a republication of the penciled will. The marriage contract is in Mrs. Craven's handwriting, all of these alleged developments threaten protracted litigation, and the attorneys of the Fair children are trying to effect a compromise which will satisfy all the opposing interests.

She Taught in Wisconsin.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 6. — The detectives of this city are looking for a tramp cigarmaker named Frank A. Brixins, who is suspected in connection with the murder of the Stone family at Tallmadge. The day before the murder Brixins was seen in the vicinity of Kent, and witnesses have been discovered of whom he made inquiries about the Stone family. Since the murder trace of Brixins has been discovered several times, and it is believed he is in hiding in this city. A special from Kent says that Emma Stone, one of the daughters of the murdered couple, was several years ago a school teacher in Wisconsin. A day or two after the tragedy a telegram was received by a member of the Stone family from one of Emma's friends in Wisconsin. It read: "How is Emma? Have you suspicions of any one? I have." It is said this clue was followed up and as a result of it an arrest may soon be made that will create a sensation.

Durrant Still Confident.

San Francisco, April 7.—A year ago to-day the body of Blanch Lamont was discovered in the belfry of Emanuel church. Theodore Durrant, her convicted murderer, is in jail awaiting patiently the decision of the supreme court in his case. Durrant expresses confidence that he will not hang, and did not seem affected to-day when reminded of the anniversary of the crime.

Vice President Smith, of the Transvaal republic, is dead.

DEATH IN A FLOOD.

Fatal Cloudburst in the Mountains of Kentucky.

Cincinnati, April 5.—A special from Boonville, Ky., says the cloudburst on Little Sexton and Buffalo creeks did more damage than was at first reported. Instead of four, there were probably sixteen drowned. Sexton creek rises near Burning Springs and is one of the feeders of the South fork of the Kentucky river. It flows in some places in deep gorges and surrounded by rocks. Through these gorges the stream rushes when in flood tide with the speed of a race horse, and, striking the bottom lands below, spreads out with wonderful rapidity.

People little thought that the little brook would rise so rapidly or was capable of gathering such a volume of water. The cloudburst occurred up in the gorges, the water gathered in a moment and the wild flood poured down in a solid wall, carrying death and destruction in its path. Five people were drowned by Little Sexton.

Buffalo creek is even more crooked and tortuous than Little Sexton, and by its action after the burst nine people are believed to have lost their lives. A great many logs were buried down with the tide and these speedily knocked the cabins and outbuildings to pieces.

The dead on Buffalo creek are Mrs. George Gepson and three children, Will Burns' two children, Miss Mary Garrett and two unknown. Those fatally injured are Mrs. John Crane. John Crane, a rafter, managed to ride the drift and rescue his family. His house was lost. George Gepson's house was carried away and his wife and two children perished. Will Burns' house went out on the waters and two children were lost. Lige Garrett's daughter, Mary, was drowned, and two unknown people lost their lives.

The drowned on Sexton creek and its tributaries were as follows: Capt. J. S. J. Bull, Mrs. Wade Marders and child and two unknown people. Jackson county suffered heavily, as did Clay and Owsley.

It was the most disastrous flood in years and came so quickly that it is a wonder any of the valley people escaped.

CUBANS BUTCHERED.

Many Innocent People Are Killed by the Spaniards.

New Orleans, April 5. — The Picayune's special Havana letter, dated March 27, gives this summary of events personally investigated by the writer, which is declared to be accurate in every particular:

In Bain, Dr. Vodal Sotolongo made an operation on a poor old man, and when he was convalescent he was one night arrested and taken to the armory of the guardia civil, where they lashed him all over the body. Then they took him on the outside of the town where they compelled him to make a grave, where they buried him after he died from the ill treatment he had received.

On the plantation Calvador of the Count de Barreto, Lieut. Betancourt, a Cuban by birth, belonging to the troop of Gen. Aldecoa, shot to death, after hacking him with his macheta, a defenseless colored resident who was on his way to join his family. On the first machete blow he lost his arm, and the second his head. In the city of Batabano the chief of police and other local authorities arrested three individuals and took them on the outskirts of the town, where they were butchered and left dead on the roadside, the murderers bringing the report to the city that the insurgents had killed the men.

In Guatao alone, I am informed by reliable sources, the number of killed, including women and children, was forty-seven persons.

HAS A WIDE RECORD.

A Notorious Criminal Caught While Attempting House Burglary.

New York, April 5. — George Johnson, who has a notable record as a criminal, and who is alleged to be one of the gang of letter box robbers who have operated in most of the large cities of the United States, is a prisoner here, with a bullet wound in his wrist. Johnson's arrest was somewhat in the nature of an accident. Last night officers discovered three men trying to force an entrance to a house in East Eighth street. The men ran upon seeing that they were observed. The policemen pursued and fired at the fugitives, one of whom was hit in the wrist. This man was Johnson, against whom there are pending numerous complaints. He is 42 years old and has served several terms of imprisonment, one of fifteen years for highway robbery.

THOSE SEEDS

By Which Congressmen Will Stand in With Their Constituents.

Washington, April 5.—The agricultural department has forwarded all senators and representatives notices that the quota of each one in this year's distribution of government seeds will be 15,000 packets of vegetable seeds, in packages containing 15 assorted varieties and 1,400 packets of flower seeds in 280 packages of 5 packets each. The allotments for the Southern senators and members will be distributed first owing to the advanced season. All of these seeds have been purchased and put up ready for mailing in properly printed packets, and will be mailed by congressional franks from the place of purchase.

Again in the Toils.

Detroit, April 5. — A warrant was sworn out this morning for the arrest of Ald. John Jacob, charging him with soliciting a bribe from a firm of architects in connection with the plans for the new county building. Ald. Jacobs was indicted several years ago by the grand jury on a charge of boodling, but escaped conviction.

Grace Williams Acquitted.

West Superior, Wis., April 5.—Grace Williams, a colored woman, who shot and killed William Smith, colored, on the streets of Superior, and who has been in jail seven months under indictment for murder, was acquitted by the jury to-day. The case has been on trial several days. It was the opinion of the jury that the shooting was accidental.

Albert B. Lewis, auditor of the Indianapolis, Decatur & Western railroad, died at Indianapolis to-day.

TORTURE IN CUBA

STORIES OF SPANISH ATROCITIES CONFIRMED.

Captured Insurgents Are Strung Up by Their Thumbs in Moro Castle and Left for Days at a Time—Molasses Smeared Upon Their Faces Attracts Vicious Flies — Many Other Forms of Torture Practiced

Cleveland, April 5.—The stories that have been told concerning the tortures inflicted by the Spaniards in Cuba are more than confirmed by F. H. Taylor, who has just arrived in this city after a residence of three years in Havana. In answer to inquiries regarding the truth of the circulated reports he said: "The worst has not been told. I have known of prisoners being strung up by the thumbs at Moro Castle for days at a time to the mercy of the vicious foes in the shape of flies, which were attracted in swarms by molasses smeared upon the victim's face and chest for that purpose. Many other forms of torture are practiced upon the unfortunate rebels when taken. These outrages against humanity do occur, as any citizen of Havana can testify. In fact, if they would allow some of the persecuted wretches in the Cuban dungeons to testify, stories of fiendish torture could be unearthed which would shock the Christian world."

Tampa, Fla., April 5. — Letters received from Cuba to-day state that last Tuesday seventeen political prisoners were shot in the Fortress Cabanas in Havana, and that twenty-five were to be executed on Wednesday. The plantation Esperanza de Cespades in Santa Clara, has been totally destroyed. It was valued at half a million. It is rumored that a battle occurred in Pinar del Rio Tuesday between the forces of Maceo and Col. Suarez Inslan, in which the latter was seriously wounded.

A TRIPPLE TRAGEDY.

Fatal Family Quarrel in an Illinois Town.

Clinton, Ill., April 5.— To-day this city was thrown into the wildest excitement by a double murder and attempted suicide. Ed Polen, formerly employed at the shops of the Illinois Central railroad in this city, murdered his wife, formerly Miss Myrtle Green, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. McMullen, and then attempted suicide by throwing himself in front of an eastbound freight train. Jealousy is given as his reason for committing the deed. Polen left here a short time ago for Creston, Iowa, and had just returned with the intention of getting his wife to return there. To-day he went to the house of his mother-in-law to talk the matter over with his wife. Family quarrels were frequent, and this interview resulted in a quarrel, Mrs. McMullen interfering. Polen, in his rage, grabbed a double barreled shotgun, when both women fled to a neighbor's yard. Polen emptied one barrel at his wife, striking her just behind the right ear, killing her instantly. As Mrs. Polen fell forward on her face Mrs. McMullen looked around just in time to receive the second barrel in her face. Both women were found dead just as they had fallen.

Polen coolly walked a few steps, stopped, reloaded his gun and ran for the railroad. A freight train was pulling in. The officers and citizens were close behind him. He dropped his gun and threw himself in front of the engine. The pilot struck him on the head, inflicting injuries which are pronounced fatal. He was then lodged in jail. A great crowd of excited citizens assembled in front of the jail, but Mayor McGill addressed them, and said Polen would die of his injuries, and the crowd finally dispersed. It is rumored that Polen was taken to Decatur for safe keeping. The jail is heavily guarded and no reporters are allowed near it.

FORGER CLARK'S ARREST.

The Bankers Whom He Robbed of $50,000 Have Hunted Him Down.

Pierre, S. D., April 5. — George M. Clark, the Grant county forger who fled this state a few months ago, is now on a ranch near Santa Lucrecia, Canton Minattan, Vera Cruz, Mex. He is now under surveillance of a Pinkerton detective and his escape from arrest is impossible. His family, consisting of a wife and one child, is with him, and owing to this fact his detection was easy. Sheriff John Williams of Grant county sailed from New York city the 31st for Vera Cruz and upon his arrival Clark will be turned over to him, the state department at Washington having requested Clark's arrest by wire on the 30th, and the sheriff having requisition papers in his possession. Clark forged county warrants on Day, Roberts, Grant and other counties. While the amount is not definitely known it is presumably in excess of $50,000. These warrants were sold to James N. Brown & Co., bankers of New York city, who have hunted him down.

Men Out of Work.

East Jaffray, N. H., April 5.—White Bros. of Winchendon Springs, Mass., have decided to shut down for an indefinite period the Nelson and Glenallen cotton mills at Winchendon and the Jaffray and Cheshire cotton mill here. The shut-down will go into effect as soon as the present supply of cotton is consumed. They have on hand finished goods valued at $250,000. The mills will not start up until this stock is disposed of. One thousand operatives will be thrown out of employment. This is the first time these mills have shut down in twenty years.

Langdon Is Held.

Philadelphia, April 5. — Upon the finding of the coroner's jury in the case of Anna McGrath, Samuel P. Langdon was to-day held for the action of the grand jury. He and Miss McGrath had been living as man and wife prior to the death of the latter, which was discovered on March 29, the young woman then having apparently been dead more than twenty-four hours. Langdon was present to-day at the inquest, occupying a front seat, but evincing little interest in the proceedings.

ENGLAND WITH US.

Britain and America Acting in Harmony in Turkey.

Constantinople, April 7.—Sir Philip Currie, the British ambassador, and Mr. J. W. Riddle, the United States charge d'affaires, on Saturday renewed their protests to the porte against the expulsion from Bitlis of the American missionary, Rev. S. G. Knapp. Mr. Knapp was accused by the Turkish officials some time since of taking part in the Armenian revolutionary movement and was summoned before the criminal court to answer to a charge of conspiracy. Mr. Hampson, the British consul at Bitlis, reported that the charges were absurd, and did not believe that they were brought for the purpose of compelling Mr. Knapp or his fellow missionary, Rev. R. M. Cole, to leave the country. When he appealed to Mr. Terrell, the United States minister, by telegraph, that gentleman told him not to answer the summons, and if he were threatened with arrest, to stay in his house. Mr. Terrell then informed the porte that he would not consent to Mr. Knapp being tried by the criminal court, and that he must be brought to Constantinople to be tried before the United States minister. Mr. Knapp has complained that he has been blockaded in Bitlis, his servants not being allowed to go to the market and the roads being so bad he could not leave for Constantinople.

New York, April 7.—The Hamburg-American line steamship Fuerst Bismarck arrived to-day from Naples and Genoa. Among the passengers was A. W. Terrell, United States minister to Turkey. Mr. Terrell declined to talk on the Armenian troubles. He said he was anxious to reach Washington, and would leave on the first train. He was feeling well considering the unpleasant and tempestuous voyage.

SEVEN OTHER HUSBANDS.

Montana Mining Man Tells a Story of Matrimonial Plunges.

Butte, Mont., April 7. — John H. Green, a mining man, to-day told an attorney a remarkable story of his matrimonial experience with a handsome woman whom he married last September under the name of Gladys Southward, and who deserted him about three weeks ago, taking $500 of his cash with her.

Before leaving she had dropped frequent remarks which led Green to believe that she had another husband living, and after she left he started an investigation and discovered that he was her eighth husband and that she was divorced from none. The first trace he found of her was back on a farm near Des Moines thirty-two years ago, when she was fourteen years old, where she married a widower named Amerman with a lot of children. In six months she deserted him and went to Des Moines and married one Gossage, with whom she lived a year, and then ran away with a traveling man named Lassell, to whom she was married in Helena, Mont. He left her and she went to Portland and married one Dayton, and subsequently in the same city married a man named Davenport. A few years later she turned up in Albany, Or., as the wife of a man named Ryan, and later as the wife of a sewing machine agent named Nelson at Portland. She next turned up in Butte as a devout attendant at the Baptist church, where Green met her, and after a short acquaintance they were married. Green is seeking to have his marriage annulled.

DEATH AT A FIGHT.

A Friendly Pugilistic Encounter Results Fatally.

Haverhill, Mass., April 7. — Arthur Bradley and Richard Ingram, two factory hands employed in this city, last night engaged in a prize fight, and as the result, the latter died at midnight. The fight was to be a friendly one to settle the title of which was the better man. The men, with about fifteen companions left here for South Lawrence early last night and went to Blair's barn, on South Broadway, where the fight took place. A man named McIntosh was second for Ingram and a friend named Donnovan seconded Bradley, while James Gilligan, a local sport, was timekeeper and Thomas Gibney referee. The knockout blow was landed on the vein under the right jaw after thirty minutes' fighting. All efforts to restore Ingram to consciousness failed and he was carried to his brother's house, where he died at midnight. The police of Haverhill were notified and they arrested Arthur Bradley, James Meserve, Thomas Gibney, Fred Whitney and two men named McIntosh and McIlne. The police are searching for the other spectators and officials and a number of arrests are expected. The medical examiner will hold an autopsy.

Indicted for Bribery.

Chicago, April 7. — The grand jury has indicted County Commissioner T. J. McNichols for bribery. The specific charge against the commissioner is that he received money for placing a man upon a jury in a murder trial. The charge was made first by Judge John Byron Payne, who announced from the bench that he had in his possession the check for $1,000 which was given McNichols for his influence. The commissioner denied that he had received the money for bribery, claiming that the check was given him in the course of an ordinary business transaction. The judge, however, persisted in his charges and the indictment to-day was the result of evidence given by the judge before the grand jury.

Shooting Affair in Chicago.

Chicago, April 7.—Helmer Monahan was shot and killed and Robert Ramsey seriously wounded at Barber and Canal streets by a man named Andrews. The shooting was the result of a dispute over a game of hand ball.

Murdered by His Hired Man.

Fox Lake, Wis., April 7. — Edward Davids, a prominent farmer, was shot and instantly killed last night by Julius Zilke, a farm hand working for Davids. The latter had interfered to prevent Zilke striking a young man in a quarrel, and Zilke waited for Davids to come home when he shot him with scarcely a word of warning in the presence of Davids' wife. He has not yet been captured.

George Gould was injured while fox-hunting.

A Popular Modiste.

SHE AND HER AGED PARENTS ATTACKED BY A DREAD DISEASE.

The Account of Their Suffering—Three Remarkable Cures.

From the Northwestern Farmer, St. Paul, Minn.

A few days ago a reporter called upon a lady living at 661 Hague avenue, St. Paul, Minn., to learn something about a remarkable cure that she was said to have experienced a few years ago. The result of the interview was a story of suffering and almost hopeless prostration, followed by a rapid, complete restoration to health, that made an interesting bit of personal history, the truth of which was beyond question. The lady was very reluctant to give out the facts, but finally consented.

The lady was Mrs. Eleanor M. Chapron, proprietress of a dressmaking establishment at 661 Hague avenue, that is patronized by the wealthiest and most fashionable ladies of St. Anthony Hill—St. Paul's finest residence district. So busy a woman could not well be expected to give much time to an interview, so aside from a few generalities, the conversation was short and to the point. It was about to this effect:

"What was your trouble?"

"Muscular rheumatism."

"How long did you suffer from it?"

"Several weeks."

"Did you try any other remedy?"

"Yes. I consulted a well known physician of this city, who gave me a prescription, but it did not seem to help me."

"Would you tell us your symptoms and other particulars as to your experiment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People?"

"Certainly. I was taken with pain in my arms and limbs so that I could not sit down or stand up with comfort. It would attack me in the chest, side and in my stomach, until I was sure I could not live. I had never suffered so much before or since. My system was completely racked with pain. As I said before, I applied to a well known physician of St. Paul, but what he gave me appeared to do me no good. About this time I read in some paper the account of an old soldier having been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It gave his address, the number of his regiment and everything about him, but as he was some distance away I did not stop to write, but bought a box, and it gave me almost immediate relief."

"How many boxes of these pills did you take before you felt cured?"

"A box and a half."

"Did that completely restore your health?"

"Yes, indeed; and I have not been troubled since."

"How long ago was that?"

"Just three years and a half."

"Do you know of any other cases of cures with these pills?"

"Yes. I have recommended them to a good many people who were cured."

"Name one."

The names of several others were learned who had cause to feel grateful to the discoverer of this famous remedy.

A call was made next day upon the parents of Mrs. Chapron at Rich Valley, a small station sixteen miles south of St. Paul, on the Chicago & Great Western railway. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hole were found to be pleasantly situated on a fine farm of their own a mile east of the station and about four miles east of the Mississippi river. The locality is well named, for a prettier farming country never smiled under a noonday sun.

But even here that dread disease, rheumatism, had found victims, and had well nigh destroyed the happiness of two aged respected citizens. Mr. Hole is eighty-three years of age, and his wife is but four years his junior. They were in the garden gathering cabbages when the writer approached and made known the object of his visit. The old gentleman at once straightened himself and exclaimed in a cheery voice, "Those Pink Pills are a great institution." "Yes, indeed; they've done great things for us both," added his wife with equal good nature, as she invited the interviewer into the house. There a bit of their life's history was learned.

Natives of England, Mr. and Mrs. Hole came over to this country in 1840, settling at first in New York State. Thirty years ago they moved to Minnesota, and have been fairly successful at farming. Fifteen children in all were born to them, most of whom are living. Coming of healthy parents, they enjoyed almost entire immunity from disease of any description until four years ago, when Mr. Hole was attacked by severe rheumatic pains and sciatica. Having noticed an article telling of the merits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a Montreal paper, which they read regularly, a neighbor going to St. Paul was asked to secure a box of them. The effect astonished the old folks. In a very short time Mr. Hole resumed his work about the farm, and has been particularly free from rheumatic pains ever since. He now considers himself completely cured. Other remedies that were tried previously afforded only temporary relief—and not always that.

When several months later Mrs. Hole was taken down with rheumatism, it needed no argument to induce her to secure a liberal supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In spite of the fact that she was strongly urged to try other medicine, her faith in the pills, established by the experience of her husband, remained unshaken. It was but a few days until all pain had disappeared, and Mrs. Hole was well again and able to attend to her household duties. "I carry a box of them around with me all the time," said the genial old lady, producing the package. "Not for the world would I be without them. I don't need them very often, but I want to be prepared."

Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Knew Her Own Intentions.

"Laura," said the fond mother, "what are the intentions of that young man you are permitting to call on you so often?" "Never mind that, mother," answered the maiden, "I know what my intentions are."—Sphinx.

DR. J. G. GRANT, Specialist.
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat,
Syndicate Block, Minneapolis.
(Spectacles fitted.)

More than 80,000 stamps are found loose in the letter boxes of the United Kingdom yearly.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $3 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 3?	5.0
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$4.00 to 5.50
4 " 2	4.50 to 5.0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.0
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.0
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.0
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	4.00 4.5
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.0
10 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.4
9 " 7	5.4
NE SE of 26	6.0
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.0
5 " 35	5.0
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.0
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.0
NE SE of 31	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.5 to 5.5
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.0
8 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	3.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.0
4 " 8	2. to .7
NE of SE 19	5.0
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	4.0 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.0
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3. 0 to 4.5
12 " 35	4.50 to 5. 0
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6. 0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	5.00
4 " 23	5.0 to 6.00

For further information apply to

H. E. IVES

St. Hilaire Minn.

Subscribe
for the SPECTATOR
and keep posted on the affairs of the day.

MINNESOTA

STATE NORMAL

AT

WINONA, MANKATO, St. CLOUD AND MOORHEAD.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:

(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural district, and elementary grades.

(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.

(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.

(d) A kindergarden training course [at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato].

ADMISSION—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents' first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination. All others are required to pass an entrance examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $1 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week. The new dormitory at Moorhead, and the ladies' Home at Winona furnish similar accommodation at a slightly higher rate. Winona accommodation $3.50 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teacher's certificate of the first grade.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscription: will be accepted at this office at the publishers' price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

BARBER-SHOP
—AND—
BATH ROOMS.
—0—
Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing.

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

DR. H. GRUNDY

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

Messages from the surrounding towns and country promptly attended to.

Office in Drug Store.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA.

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

AUG. PETERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : : :

Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give me a call, or leave orders at E M. Hoff's Store.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

THE FAMOUS
SUMARITAN
Rye Whisky

Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.

FOR SALE BY

BRINK BROS.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO
ST PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:30 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:25 am
7:25 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex	7:30 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China, via Tacoma and Northern Pacific steamship Co., an American line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets call on or write

CHAS A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the post office at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 8, 1896.

ILLUSIONS.

Upon a hill there stood a lonely building
(A castle 'twas to childish minds, at least);
Far off it loomed, and when the sun was gilding
The windows with its bright rays from the east
I often looked and longed that I might travel
The intervening space and climb that steep,
The mystery of the castle to unravel—
Its owner, why should he such silence keep?

The hill was rocky, though broad vale and meadow
Lay nearer, ere the rough road we might gain.
I, longing, viewed them; sun and moon and shadow
Each gave a deeper mystery to the plain.
Between us and the hillside's broken terrace,
Down to the river, saw a sluggish stream—
It was the moat—of course an ancient drawbridge
Was on the other side—this was my dream.

Above rose battlements, cold, gray and frowning—
We thought that somberness was strength, no doubt—
Oh, could I pierce the mystery—but drowning
Within that murky moat barred romance out
I dreamed of grand saloons and dim staircases,
And costly old world paintings on the walls,
And proud dames, every day in silks and laces,
Parading up and down the ancient halls.

For here dwelt ladies fair; dark knights in armor
(It was the age of chivalry to me)
Went forth, and fancy show'd an oriel window,
And there a singing troubadour might be.
In after years I roamed the dewy meadows
In the sweet sunshine, gath'ring flowers wild,
But still the castle loomed with taunting shadows,
Still haunted me the visions of the child.

Time robs us all of many dear illusions—
I stand upon the rocky steep today
And find the castle of my childish visions
An old time farmhouse going to decay.
A cavalier? A plain, ungallant farmer,
With sun browned visage, from the town returned,
But in his soul a romance truer, warmer,
Than in the heart of troubadour e'er burned.
—Womankind.

Football Incident.

During the last football season, the Indian school at Carlisle, Pa., sent a team of young red men into the field which competed with credit against some of the strongest playing clubs in the country. Among other engagements they played a match with the Duquesne club in Pittsburg, and came off victorious.

The bearing of the Indian lads was so courteous and manly as to win applause from all of the white spectators. After they returned home they received a cartoon from the defeated club, with a letter stating that it was "from some of the many friends whom you boys have made in Pittsburg by your gentlemanly playing."

The sketch was drawn with spirit, and represented at one side the contest between the red and white men at Fort Duquesne in 1795, the Indians falling beneath the shots of the settler. On the other side was their contest in 1895, the red man standing, football in hand, victorious over his white brother; and lastly a picture of the captain of the Indian club as he was carried, laughing, off the field in triumph by both shouting teams.

Beneath was written the suggestive word, "Revenge."

If the manliness and magnanimous courtesy of these Indian and white clubs were shown by all football players, the prejudice of many thoughtful men and women against the game would be lessened if not removed. When, instead of making men more brutal, it teaches them self control, good temper and the generosity which can applaud a victorious foe, its discipline is wholesome.—Youth's Companion.

Trade Emblems on Tombstones.

In Scotland it was for a long time usual to place on a man's tombstone the symbols of his trade. Especially was this the case at Dunblane, where, in the burial ground of the abbey, it has been found that of those tombstones which are from 100 to 200 years old about one-fourth are thus marked, the symbols being in low relief.

A sugar cane may be seen as showing the grave of a grocer; an ax and saw, with hammer and nails, occur on the grave of a carpenter; an awl and a hammer on that of a shoemaker. There are many other graves similarly marked.—London Answers.

He Got In.

"How's your son, the lawyer, getting on?" "Badly, poor fellow—he's in prison." "Indeed!" "Yes. He was retained by a burglar to defend him, and he made so good a plea in the burglar's behalf that the judge held him as an accessory."—Cleveland Universe.

Nature is the most thrifty thing in the world. She never wastes anything; she undergoes change, but there's no annihilation, the essence remains—matter is eternal.—Binney.

The sundew is an insectivorous flower, attracting its prey by globules of viscous matter and holding fast the captured insect by drawing its petals over the body.

The Mexican sword, in use among the aborigines at the coming of the Spaniards, was modeled after the nose of the sawfish.

The way to fill a large sphere is to glorify a small one. There is no large sphere; you are your sphere. —Edward Braislin.

A beautiful paper is made in Japan from the fibrous bark of the mulberry or paper tree.

THE DRUMMER'S COFFEE.

An Eastern Tenderfoot Taught a Lesson In Western Table Etiquette.

"The character of the typical denizen of the wild and lawless west," remarked Representative Mercer of Nebraska, "is not exactly gentle and childlike, but if you only know how to take it you're apt to escape with your life.

"It comes back to my memory in vivid colors as I sit here and sip this delicious cup of coffee that I witnessed a coffee drinking scene once upon a time under somewhat different and less emollient conditions. I struck a frontier town late one night, intending to do some business there and go on the next day. It was a lone town and a rough town, consisting of one main street, with about 15 scattered houses and a population which, according to report, was not averse to giving shelter to horses whose ownership was a matter of speculation. I asked the agent at the railroad station to direct me to a hotel. He pointed out a frame house in the pale moonlight, and I made for it. Everybody was asleep, but I pounded up the landlord, and he assigned me to a room adjoining the parlor and dining room combined, separated only by a curtain.

"It was frightfully cold, and the cracks in the walls of the hotel were large enough to enable one to enjoy an unobstructed view of the town in the moonlight, but there were plenty of buffalo robes and bearskins on the bed to keep warm, and I piled in among the fur.

"I couldn't go to sleep. Every now and then somebody would fire a six shooter and follow it up with a shrill 'yip-yip-yip!' that raised the goose flesh on my body. About 3 o'clock a. m. the shooting and yelling ceased, and I went to sleep.

"What awoke me was a conversation conducted in the dining room between two men with gruff voices. I parted the curtain of my room and saw two frontiersmen in flannel shirts, broad hats and high boots, with revolvers slung to their belts, discussing their breakfast at one end of the dining room table, while a well dressed stranger, apparently a drummer, who probably drove into town the night before, was sitting at the other end doing likewise. While the two knights of the lariat were talking together I saw the drummer push his cup of coffee away with a very sour face, as though it was poison.

"'What's the matter, stranger?' asked one of the men. 'Don't ye like that coffee?'

"'Naw,' said the drummer curtly. 'Tain't fit to drink.'

"Bang went the crack of a revolver, and the cup was shattered into a dozen pieces. One of the men had pulled his gun and without taking aim had shattered the cup and splashed the coffee every direction.

"The drummer didn't stop to finish his breakfast, but went out of the room in a hurry, and I wondered what sort of a breakfast I would get. I knew something about the ethics of western chivalry, however, and stepped into the room laughing.

"'What's the matter with that fellow?' I said, assuming to speak in my merriest mood. 'Isn't the coffee good enough for him? Pshaw, he doesn't know a good thing when it's set before him.'

"Well, somehow, my style took with them, and we were soon on such good terms that they wanted me to go out and take a drink with them, but I excused myself and escaped with my life."—Washington

Nothing In a Name?

Landlord—I guess I'll have to raise your rent.

Tenant—For what?

Landlord—They've changed the name of this street, and it is now an avenue.—Chicago Record.

In a certain little country town there is a family of the name of Button. It contains five children, who are known among their friends as the Five Button Kids.

A Dangerous Mistake.

Captain Forsyth, while conservator of forests in central India, had four spaniels—Quail, Snipe, Nell and Jess—over which he used to shoot quail and partridge. The spaniels were also famous ratters and on one occasion came near being "wiped out" by indulging their ruling passion.

The captain was shooting quail in a grainfield with his spaniels, when on a sudden they began to jump violently about, snapping at what seemed to be a large rat. But on going nearer the captain made out that it was a huge cobra erect on his coil and striking right and left at the dogs.

Pelting off the dogs with clods of earth, the captain cut off the snake's head with a charge of shot and found that the reptile had been in the act of swallowing a rat. The hind legs and tail were protruding from his jaws, so that his repeated lunges at the dogs had been harmless.—Youth's Companion.

Editorial Perils In China.

A newspaper published in Peking is said to be the oldest in the world. It dates from a period 200 years prior to the Norman conquest of England. Naturally its prolonged existence in an autocratically governed country like China has been marked by many vicissitudes, not the least of which is the fact recently announced in its columns that during the 1,000 years of its existence 1,900 of its editors have been beheaded, or, roughly speaking, two per annum.

IN CLOSE QUARTERS.

A Public Place Where New Yorkers Sometimes Get a Squeeze.

Between the office of the register of deeds and the south side of the city hall in City Hall park, New York, there is an asphaltum walk which takes you into the city hall police station if you keep straight ahead or turns you into Chambers street if you branch off at what is called "the squeeze." It is doubtful if there is another spot in the big town where so much fun can be seen every hour in the day the year round.

Along the right hand side of the path runs a barbed wire fence, and just where it branches off there is a big tree. In making the path the tree was not disturbed, and so it happens that between its trunk and the fence is a space about 18 inches wide. One person can pass through very well, but it occurs every two minutes that two persons, traveling in opposite directions, wish to take this short cut and save going around the tree.

It has never been settled who has the right of way and probably never will be. If the man bound for Park row weighs 200 pounds and the man for Chambers street is a lightweight and has corns to boot, the big fellow carries the day, but if they are pretty evenly matched a "question of privilege" is certain to arise, and one near by will hear:

"Here, you! You git out."

"Git out yourself."

"I was in first."

"No, you wasn't."

"Don't call me a liar."

"And don't you sass me."

"I'll go through here if I have to stay a week."

"And I'll have my rights if I stand here for six months."

If one doesn't give way, there is squeezing and elbowing and cussing, ending perhaps in a regular row and calling for interference of the police. One day when bound for Chambers street I tried the short cut. I saw a man approaching from the other direction, but hoped to get through before he came up. I was too late. We met at the critical point and looked each other in the eye. One glance told me that it was "our Chauncey Depew." I started to surrender the right of way to the great after dinner orator, but he smiled, lifted his hat and crawfished, with the remark:

"Excuse me, sir; come on, come on."

But I didn't. I wasn't going to be outdone in politeness, and I also backed out and started around the tree. Mr. Depew had started around from his side, and as a result we came together with a bump, and our hats rolled to the ground.

"Your hat, sir," said the orator as he picked up my tile.

"And yours, sir," I said as I handed him his.

Then we bowed and smiled and passed on, and a gamin who had witnessed the entire performance called out:

"I expected to see a bloomin ole row, but one's afraid, and t'other dasen't."—Detroit Free Press.

When He Is Civilized.

Apropos of a recent book on America written by an English traveler, a fiercely patriotic lady says: "Fault finding is in the British blood. They come over here, find no end of fault with everything, go back home, find no end of fault with everything there, die and go to heaven and find no end of fault with everything there because it is in their nature. An Englishman by birth and education is a brute, but he usually tries to tell the truth, just as he makes a violent effort to pay his debts of honor. Physically he is the most beautiful specimen in the world. He knows how to put his clothes on, and he never looks conscious of them. Occasionally an Englishman comes over here and lives. An American woman trains him, knocks some of the brutality out of him, and then he is the nearest thing to a gentleman angel I ever met."—Chicago Post.

A Gay Deceiver.

"My dear," said Mrs. Honeymoon to her spouse one day at dinner, "the doctors say that one should not think of business matters at mealtimes, as it impairs the digestion and injures the health. Pray, dear, what do you think about when we sit down to meals?"

"Sweetest," replied the old man, "I only think about chew."

And Mrs. Honeymoon put her arms around his neck and kissed him.—London Answers.

Greeks' Worship of Lightning.

The Greeks were so much afraid of lightning that they worshiped it. They endeavored to avert its malignant influence by hissing and whistling at it. In places which had suffered by it altars were erected and oblations made to avert the anger of the gods, after which no one dared to touch or approach them.

The wettest place in the world is Cherrapunji, in Assam, where the average rainfall for 15 years has been 493 inches. In 1861 it was 905.

Ask Your Dealer For

TRADE MARK.

FEATHERBONE WHIPS.

FEATHERBONE is made from Unseasoned Quills—nature's own toughest, and strongest elastic material. Best wearing whips made, for 50c., 60c., 75c., $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 and $1.— All styles for Buggy, Cart, Track, Team and Riding. Be sure and ask for a FEATHERBONE.

M. Z. EPPERSON

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

St. Hilaire Meat Market.

ALL KINDS OF

FRESH AND SALT MEATS.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, Proprietor.

The St. Hilaire
Townsite Company
will sell for the next
Sixty Days
Desirable Lots
from $25 to $100

Apply to

H. E. IVES, Agt.

This is Easy Enough!

Any of my customers will be presented with a life like portrait free of charge by presenting their picture at my store. : : : : : : : : :

M. A. HALL. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOHLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota

ATTENTION! LAND OWNERS.

Do you want to Sell Your Farm?

☞ If you do, list it with me, sales will be lively this spring.

H. E. IVES.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

E. M. HOFF

General Merchant

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

J. S. BREDENBECK

The Watchmaker

AND JEWELER.

Repairing of Watches and Clocks a Specialty
Engraving neatly done.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada,

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of samples of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

Harness.....

☞If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing, call on

C. A. SKEIE,

West Broadway. St. Hilaire, Minn.

Blacksmith!

☞Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, Etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. O. DAHL. St Hilaire, Minn.

M. E. BJERK

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

U. S. LAND OFFICE,
Crookston, Minn., Feb. 25, 1896.

Notice hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before Register or Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn. on April 9th 1896 viz:

Charley Anderson H. E 13414 for the E ½ N. E ¼ Sec. 23 W ½ NW ¼ Sec 24 Tp 152 N R 42 W

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land viz:

Peter E. Engh, Peder Olson, Oscar Heden John P. Linberg all of St Hilaire, Polk Co., Minnesota.

T. A. DUBLAVA, Register.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., April 1st 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named-settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on May 14th 1896, viz:

Carl Edvin Crown, Hd No. 14121, for the sw¼ sec. 28, tp 152 N. range 45 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Adolph Nelson of Bray, Minn., and Emil Larson, Alfred Lindquist, L. S. Dalird, of Wylie, Minnesota.

36-41 T. A. DUBLAVA, Register.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

VILLAGE OFFICERS

Chas. G. Rapp	President
J. L. Johnson	Recorder
H. J. Freeman	Councilmen
W. A. Sorsoleil
M. Z. Epperson
Leonard Holmes	Treasurer
Pete Hall	Justice of Peace
O. H. Peters
J. A. Dainard	Constable
S. M. Dainard

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	53c	Butter	8@10c
Oats	12c	Eggs	8c
Barley	11c	Beans (per bu)	$1 5
Flax	72c	Potatoes	12½

LOCAL NEWS.

A large herd of "feeders" passed through here last Friday.

Go and hear Rube Allyn Saturday night at the M. E. church.

The draymen were kept busy Monday delivering goods to the different merchants.

Dan Patterson disposed of his fine imported French draft horse to Euclid parties last week.

Rube Allyn will entertain you at the M. E. church Saturday evening. Don't fail to hear him.

Miss Carrie Palmer left on Monday's train for Grand Forks, where she will spend the summer visiting friends.

S. M. Dainard arrived to-day with an extra fine lot of farm horses. Call and see him if you want anything in this line.

Dr. McKaig, presiding elder of the M. E. church in this district, preached to a large congregation last Sunday evening.

M. Z Epperson, of saw mill fame, expects his new eighty horse power engine and boiler here the latter part of this month.

Eli Lasha of Red Lake Falls was a visitor in town a few days last week. He was accompanied by Mr. Willmas of Crystal, N. D.

Johnson & Peterson have completed arrangements whereby they will erect a large livery stable on the lots west of J. O. Dahl's blacksmith shop.

The Farmers railroad is being agitated to the highest pitch all along the proposed route and to a man up a tree it looks as though its a sure go.

Farmers wishing to purchase horses will do well by calling on S. M. Dainard, and get your choice of an extra fine car load which arrived from the east to-day.

E. G. Holm the prosperous farmer living in Rockshury township was a pleasant caller at this office last Saturday. Mr. Holm anticipates seeding to commence in about ten days.

Harry B. Finch, representative of Nash Bros., wholesale fruit dealers of Grand Forks was taking orders one day last week. Now get ready for young radishes, lettuce and onions.

S. M. Dainard arrived to-day with a car load of extra fine farm horses. Any one wishing farm horses will do well by calling at his sale stable and get your choice of the finest draft horses ever shown at St Hilaire.

Grand Rapids and Fosston gangs are having any amount of trouble over disputed lands on the "Little Fraction." It seems the Fosston gang had the best of it when a cruiser stepped in and caused all kinds of trouble and its not over yet.

Saturday April 11th at four o'clock in the afternoon is the time set by the Valhall Society of the Town of Rockshury to dedicate their new hall. A social and grand dance is on the program, so that a good time is assured to all who attend.

Mr. M. Willmas, who has gained quite a reputation as a well driller in the vicinity of Crystal, N. Dak., has been canvassing the country tributary to St. Hilaire with a view of putting in a machine, and we are pleased to state, secured several contracts for putting down wells. There is also a possibility of Mr. Willmas investing in town property and going into business.

A party of four young men from Ardoch, North Dakota, passed through here enroute to the reservation where they will look over the country in view of locating. Should the country prove satisfactory to them for diversified farming, they will return the first part of May with at least sixteen different farmers who are at present renting farms in that neighborhood.

The Syndicate Opera House company organized on Tuesday evening with F. H. Kratka, president; Charles Tedford, vice-president; Carl Hanson, secretary and C. C. Jackson, treasurer. They have already purchased two lots and will proceed at once to the erection of a building.—Thief River Falls News.

5 cents will buy two packages of garden seeds at Hall's.

FOR SALE.

500 bushels of two rows (old country) barley, which grow stiff straw (will not lodge) and large kernels. For sale by P. O. Hagglund, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Regular meeting of the Village Council Monday April 6th 1896.

All members present.

Meeting called to order by the village president.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved. On motion the following bills were allowed.

Andrew Berg, 1 day judge of election	$ 2.00
Daniel Patterson " "	2.00
Leonard Holmes, treasurers salary	24.00
J. L. Johnson, 1 years service as health officer	4.00
J. L. Johnson, 1 day clerk election	2.00
H. E. Ives, 1 year services as health officer	4.00
H. E. Ives, publishing one-half year council proceedings	23.00
S. Harris, street work, etc., as per bill	12.12
C. G. Rapp, 1 year service as health officer	4.00

On motion it was resolved to have the council proceedings published in the St. Hilaire Spectator for the ensuing year, including the treasurers financial statement at the end of the year at the rate of fifty dollars per annum and to print all legal notices of other descriptions at the regular legal rates.

On motion S. Harris was appointed street commissioner for the ensuing year.

On motion O. H. Peters was appointed assessor for the ensuing year at $10.00.

On motion Alfred Dainard was appointed pound master for the ensuing year.

On motion J. L. Johnson was appointed health officer for a term of three years.

On motion H. E. Ives was appointed fire commissioner for the ensuing year

On motion the poll tax was fixed at two days work of eight hours each or in lieu thereof, two dollars cash, to be paid to the street commissioner. On motion the street commissioner was instructed to turn over all money received for poll tax to the village treasurer and take his receipt for the same and turn over said receipt to the village recorder.

On motion the complaint against P. G. Paradis signed by twenty-four citizens of this village was laid on the table on request and promise of said P. G. Paradis to keep a quiet and orderly place and that he would close his place of business at 11 o'clock p. m. and keep it closed on Sundays in the future.

On motion meeting adjourned.

Attest:— C. G. RAPP President.
J. L. JOHNSON, Recorder.

Ole Brink received his first shipment of farm machinery Wednesday.

Rapp & Post received a half a car load of assorted crockery on Mondays train.

Bock beer has been on draught all over the state the last few days—so they say

Jas. Meehan, Jos. Johnson and Charles Knox of the upper Falls were rustling at St. Hilaire, Monday.

The Kickapoo Indian Medicine company closed a two weeks engagement at Thief River Falls last evening.

Sam Lung, the Crookston laundry man run against a pair of brass knuckles while delivering a package the other day. He wont go there any more.

H. Halvorson who has been in the employ of D. Patterson of this place for some time, left for his pine claim on the Black Duck river last week.

W. O. Lawrence has tendered his resignation as Polk county jailor, and Albert Kleven appointed instead. Albert will do the turn key act from now on.

Charlie Anderson of Wyandotte passed through here Wednesday on his road to Crookston where he will make final proof in support of his claim April 9th.

P. G. Paradis and Wm. Barragy made a trip to Red Lake Falls Monday. Mr. Barragy will remain to do some papering and painting at several stores and other places of business.

On April 1st, I will have a complete stock of spring and summer millinery. I wish all my old customers to call and inspect same before purchasing elsewhere. MRS. J. A. DAINARD.

Conductor Jas. O'Neil of Grand Forks has taken charge of the train on this branch, Conductor Runnels having been transferred to the new main line passenger. "Jimmy" is a hustler and we are glad to see him climbing the ladder.

W. H. Lee, attorney at law and editor of the Thief River Falls News, dropped in on us Monday on his way to St. Paul where he will appear before the Supreme Court in behalf of his clients. While absent Mr. Lee will visit his old home in Wisconsin.

Samuel Dainard of Cando, N. D., and Miss Louisa Cornell were united in holy bonds of matrimony last Sunday at Crookston. Mr. Dainard was visiting relatives in this place last week, but nary a word did he utter in regard to this happy event. Congratulations just the same.

The populist county central committee met in this city yesterday and fixed the date for holding their county convention June 18th is the date fixed for the gathering of the clans to nominate county officers, and the basis of representation will be one delegate at large for each voting precinct, and one for each 50 votes or major fraction thereof cast for S. M. Owen for governor two years ago. The meeting was very harmonious.—Crookston Times.

THEY ARE SHREWD.

St. Hilaire After The Hines Rail Road in Earnest.

From the Crookston Tribune.

When Farmer Hines' agents visited Thief River Falls some time ago and solicited subscriptions to stock among its business men, they were disappointed to so little interest manifested, and only a paltry $300 was raised in subscriptions. They went to St. Hilaire, a point the proposed road had not been planned to touch, and a number of the wide awake business men of the village saw an opportunity of getting the road away from their rival village several miles north. They entertained the agents royally, and it is said, proposed to them that if the route of the road were changed so as to take in St. Hilaire instead of Thief River Falls, subscriptions to stock amounting to somewhere in the neighborhood of $20,000 could easily be raised.

At a meeting held yesterday (Thursday) at Grand Forks, St. Hilaire sent H. E. Ives, F. W. Tuttle, Alfred Cooley, R. C. Turner, J. J. McCullum and W. H. Schulze, and they were a jolly crowd returning home this morning. The Tribune asked Harry Ives if there was any truth in the rumor that the line would go through St. Hilaire instead of the village to the north, and he admitted that St. Hilaire was sure of the road. He did not say how much had been subscribed but intimated that it was more than could be raised in Thief River Falls and by the farmers tributary to knock out their plans.

He says that the farmers will give the road a right of way free and grade twenty miles, besides the stock subscriptions.

Important to Reservation Settlers.

The following instructions are very important to those desiring to take up land on the Red Lake Reservation:

Q. Can a man go upon the Red Lake reservation at any time from now on to make a selection? A. He cannot.

Q. How soon after what date can a man go upon the reservation and make settlement and improvement? A. The proclamation of the president will announce the date at which the reservation will be opened and no one will be allowed to go upon the land before that time.

Q. If I make improvement upon a certain piece of land and another person makes entry first, who has the first right to the land? A. Upon this point about which there is much doubt and controversy, we quote the language of Hon. Knute Nelson, who explains this question as follows:—"No one has a right to settle on the land before it is proclaimed open for settlement. A settlement before that time will give no right. If no one has settled or made improvements on the land then the man who first makes a filing of entry at the land office will hold the land. If filing of entry has been made at the land office then he who has made prior settlement on the land, if he continues this settlement and improvement and makes a filing or entry at the land office within thirty days thereafter, will have the best right. A later entry at the land office will override a prior entry, provided the latter entry is supported by a settlement prior to the first entry. It is always a case as to who is first in time. To illustrate: If B goes to the land office on Tuesday and makes a homestead entry, although it may be the first on record at the land office, yet it is liable to be defeated if A had settled on the land and made improvements on it on Monday, and has continued with settlement, and filed on the land in the land office within thirty days thereafter. A's right will commence with the date of his settlement, and at that time B had no right to the land, because his right did not begin until Tuesday!"

Q. Must a man pay the first payment on the land at the time of entry or one year from that date? A. The first payment can be made at the end of the first year.

Q. What is meant by actual settlers, and how will they have a better show than the rest at the time of entry? A. An entry of land for a homestead is a matter of good faith, and the man who makes an entry for the purpose of making it his home, and who occupies, improves and cultivates the land, will have a material advantage, in case of contest.

UNCLE EPHRIAM IN POLITICS.

Uncle Ephriam Price dropped into the Spectator office this morning to inquire about the opening of the reservation and to get the news to carry hum to the old woman, as he expressed it; and knowing that the old gentlemen was considered a political oracle in his neighborhood we embraced the occasion to get his views on the present political situation. After we had related to him at strictly jobbers prices, the latest about the Venezuela unpleasantness, the free silver strike in the U. S. Senate and the failure of the House to perform a plain duty we asked. What is the political condition in your town Uncle Ephriam?

U. E. Solid sir, solid! There was two republicans and one dimercrat up at the head of bushy crik last fall but I'm told the republercans both went to East Grand Forks and started a saloon and the dimercrat was sent to Fergus Falls Asylum cause he hurrahed for Grover Cleveland an' the people tho't he was crazy, so you see there aint eny but poperlists in our town and aint agointer be if we can help it. By the way Harry who is this feller going about the country starten McGinley clubs? I met him a few days ago at Red Lake Falls in a saloon he was,—well a little full, and talked all the time about McGinley and sound money, but I noticed that he paid for his drinks with "put it on the schist." He tried to have me sine a paper for McGinley but I told him I didn't know his man; Donnelly or Debs or some other sound headed man was good enough for me. The feller said he was goin to hold a meetin in our town next week at the half way house, which is rite in our town. 'fe comes Pete will get after him and fil him up with Pete's bug juice and he wont be wuth mutch after that for eny perpose, except starten McGinley clubs. Pete is a republercan for revenue this year but he alus votes the poperlis ticket and says nothin;—there'll be lots of 'em in that fix next fall or I'm a goose.

(Continued next week.)

We call especial attention to our line of barb wire and nails, and wish to say we will compete with T. M. Roberts & Co., or and firm in the north-west on prices. RAPP & POST.

W. A. Arthur, made a flying trip to Red Lake Falls to day.

Prof. O'Brien returned to-day from a weeks visit at Red Lake Falls.

Norway is the best telephoned country in the world, in spite of the fact that 70 per cent of its area is uncultivated, and another 24 per cent is forest. It has one exchange for every 7,812 inhabitants and one telephone to each 200 inhabitants—eight and one half times the number in this country.—Western Review.

Wherein New York Society Is Criticised by a Philadelphian.

It must have been a sad day for our great-grandmothers in Philadelphia when congress no longer assembled there and New York began to dispute the social prestige of the Quaker City.

A celebrated Philadelphia belle of the day, Miss Franks, writes of a visit made in the rival city, and her quaint descriptions of New York society were probably colored by jealousy or home supremacy.

The letter, which is a possession of a Brooklyn woman, a descendant of the observing writer, says, among other things: "By the bye, few ladies here know how to entertain company in their own houses, unless they introduce the card table. Except the Van Hornes, who are remarkable for their good sense and ease, I don't know a woman or girl who can chat above half an hour, and that on the form of a cap, the color of a ribbon, or the set of a hoop, stay or jupon.

"I will do our ladies—that is, the Philadelphians—the justice to say that they have more cleverness in the turn of an eye than those of New York have in their whole composition. With what ease I have seen a Chew, a Penn, an Oswald, an Allen, and a thousand others entertain a large circle of both sexes, the conversation, without the aid of cards, never flagging or seeming in the least strained or stupid. Here—or, more properly speaking, in New York—you enter a room with a formal, set courtesy, and after the howdo's, things are finished. All's a dead calm till the cards are introduced, when you see pleasure dancing in the eyes of all the matrons, and they seem to gain new life. The maidens, if they have favorite swains, frequently decline playing, for the pleasure of making love; for to all appearance it is the ladies, not the gentlemen, who nowadays show a preference. It is here, I fancy, always leap year.

"For my part, who am used to quite another style of behavior, I cannot help showing surprise—perhaps they call it ignorance—when I see a lady single out her pet and lean almost into his arms, at an assembly or a playhouse (which I give my honor I have too often seen, both with the married and single), or hear one confess a partiality for a man, whom, perhaps, she has not seen three times, 'Well, I declare, he is a delightful creature, and I could love him for my husband!' one exclaims; or, 'I could marry such a gentleman.' Indeed, gossip says that in the cases of most who have been married the first advances come from the lady's side, or she got a male friend to introduce the intended victim and pass her off. This is really the case, and with me ladies thus lose half their charms. I suspect there would be more marriages were another mode adopted. They have made the men so saucy that I believe the lowest ensign thinks he has but to ask, and have—that a red coat and smart epaulet are sufficient to secure a female heart."—New York Times.

The present maharajah of Jajpur has had a somewhat romantic career.

For a long time he lived in exile on an allowance of 5 shillings a week, but one day he suddenly found himself raised to the throne and the possessor of an income of £500,000 a year.

According to the usual custom among eastern potentates, who are in constant fear of poison from a rival to the throne, his predecessor only settled the succession three hours before his death, and out of some hundred relatives with equal claims, to the surprise of all, he chose the present one, then only just of age.

In addition to the annual income, there was found in the treasury £500,000 in solid silver, which took 23 days to count over.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Church Bell With a History.

The bell that still rings every Sunday in the belfry of St. John's Episcopal church in Portsmouth, N. H., has a most entertaining history. When Colonel Pepperell led the colonial forces against the frontier at Louisburg, and the English had conquered, they came home triumphant. Among other trophies they brought a bell captured from a French cathedral at Cape Breton. The officers of the New Hampshire company presented the bell to Queen's chapel. In the fire which destroyed the chapel in 1806 the bell was cracked. In 1807 Paul Revere and son recast the bell.—Manchester (N. H.) Union.

The Ant Lion.

The pitfall, much used in Africa and South America as a means of catching large game, is an imitation of the device employed by the ant lion to entrap his prey. This curious insect digs a conical hole in the sand and lies in wait at the bottom. When an incautious ant approaches too near the top, the sand gives way and he slides down into the jaws of his enemy.

Rapp & Post.

General Merchants.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

SHELF AND HEAVY Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to traveling men, hunting and fishing parties. St. Hilaire, Minn.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

NORTH SIDE ROLLER MILLS!

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of Flour and Feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices. : : :
☞Warehouse on rail road track. : : : : : : : : : :

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Shelf and HEAVY hardware

Car load of Barb wire and Nails just arrived. We compete with T. M. Roberts & Co., or any other firm, on prices.

Rapp & Post.

Agony

The wonderful cure related below is by no means unusual with Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has given health to suffering children even when health seemed impossible. The secret of its success is that it purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood.

"I wish to tell of a wonderful cure effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Five years ago my little boy was suddenly seized with a severe lameness, apparently in his right knee, which some physicians said was rheumatism, while others said it was hip disease and that it was

Incurable

During the next winter and spring he became rapidly worse. We took Jimmie to a specialist, who said it was hip disease. At this time the affliction became so severe that we could not move him without causing screams of agony. He became reduced in weight to 30 pounds, and was but a shadow of his former self. We had about given up hope when we read of a cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla of a similar case. We resolved to try this medicine. Jimmie was decidedly improved after taking the first bottle. He was ever after the second. We have since used over a dozen bottles of the medicine, and the change has exceeded our expectations. James is now able to walk without the aid of crutches and goes to school every day. He has been wonderfully cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla." J. O. RUNDELL, Oakley, Michigan.

Better

Druggist C. C. Tubbs says he knows the Rundell boy has been wonderfully by Hood's Sarsaparilla and that Mr. Rundell is thoroughly reliable. He has a good sale of Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills, both of which are giving perfect satisfaction. He says Hood's Pills seem to be the coming family cathartic.

Cured

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other. Insist upon Hood's, because

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. 25 cents.

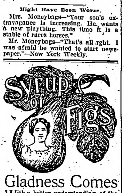
German Women as Farm Hands.

The utilization of women in Germany as farm hands, which so many moralists have considered their duty to censure, apparently meets with approval from Dr. Joseph Krauskopf, the rabbi, for in a letter from Germany to his congregation he says: "Such farm work for women is neither degrading nor too taxing. They have pledged to become helpmates to their husbands, and they regard it their duty to lessen the labors of their fathers, and being physically able to do their share they regard it wrong to permit the stronger sex to slave themselves to death while they are idling their time away at home. Judging from their happy and healthy looks, they seem to be none the worse for taking their places alongside the men folk for the purpose of honestly earning their bread. Had we a little more practical good sense and less sentimentality among our women at home, many a woman's life might be happier and many a man's life would be spared the necessity of slaving himself to death to indulge a wife's or a daughter's idleness and luxuries."—Philadelphia Record.

Might Have Been Worse.

Mrs. Moneybags—"Your son's extravagance is increasing. He wants a new plaything. This time it is a stable of races horses."

Mr. Moneybags—"That's all rght. I was afraid he wanted to start newspaper."—New York Weekly.



Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

W N U   No. 15—1896.

SUCCESSFUL BREEDING.

Some Practical Observations by a Foreigner.

The English correspondent of the Michigan Farmer says:

Men of experience hear such remarks as that stocks are running out in quality, and that they require fresh blood infused through good sires. If a breeder is incapable of improving the stock he possesses, and, in order to prevent deterioration, he has to get periodical infusions of stock bred with more care and intelligence, his system of breeding and treatment must be such as to lower the value of his animals, in place of improving it, so that, no matter how much improved blood he pours into them, he is only wasting it. Undoubtedly, stud herds, judiciously and faithfully managed, are of incalculable benefit to stock breeders, but it cannot be too strongly impressed on those who have the care of breeding animals, how much lies in the power of their own individual actions in improving their stock, however underrated they may be at the start. Surely anyone with a slight knowledge of the principles of breeding ought to be able to prevent deteriorating, even if he cannot improve his stock.

Our system of shows in this country is a great deal to blame for the spurious animals that are often shown as high-class studs for prize-taking, in directing attention more to outward and unimportant appearance and show than to the intrinsic value of an animal for the purpose for which the breed is cultivated. So much is this the case that, on one occasion (where I will not say), when an intelligent exhibitor was asked why he had clipped the hair off his bull's head and thus given him an unnatural, gawky appearance, he replied that one with a clipped head and neck, trimmed horns, etc., got the prize last year, and as he did not get a prize this year, he was very indignant, and considered himself unfairly treated. Stewards should be empowered to allow judges to disqualify animals that have been tampered with in any unnecessary way, and not shown in their natural shape. Certainly all such as are bloated up by unnatural feeding that they are unfitted for the purpose for which they are bred, that is, producing healthy, vigorous offspring, ought to be disqualified from competing.

Spring Care of Cows.

In the olden times it was quite common to see farmers "tailing up" their milk cows, because they had been half starved through the winter, and when the weather became warm the cows were too weak to get up alone. Singularly enough, many of these poor cows would give a fair mess of milk, for the scared farmer would feed warm bran mashes and take special care of them. But this weakening is harmful, and the cow should by all the laws of justice and humanity be well fed when preparing for a period of lactation. But don't feed too much corn. Remember that warm weather is coming, and that the foods suitable for warm weather are not the heating, fattening foods, but the cooler and more laxative foods. Bran is a grand food for spring use, and after the calf is three days old the ration can be gradually increased until the cow has all she can eat. But for a few weeks before the calf is dropped, and for a few days after, feed sparingly of grain. Wait until the cow "comes to her milk" before stimulating to full activity the milk secreting organs. If the udder is inflamed, handle it carefully and tenderly, and fomentations of warm water may be advisable. Be sure that the cows have access to sunshine. There is a tonic in sunshine—it is a microbe killer and an invigorator, but the cold spring rains are very harmful, and shelter must be provided against them. A cold rain will spoil a cow for milk purposes quicker than anything else that is imminent in farm management.—Epitomist.

The Care of Cows Before Calving.

Actual experiment proves although it makes her look rather rough) that the best plan for a few weeks prior to calving is to give the cow the run of the open yard night and day, with a shelter to run under, feeding her from a rack kept supplied with lowland or meadow hay, and some cornstalks, with a bite of good rowen once a day. If you can afford a peck a day of vegetables of any kind, it will be right in the line of good management. Place a lump of mineral salt in the rack. Give a plentiful supply of good, pure, fresh water at all times. I don't believe in grain of any kind after a cow goes dry, unless in exceptional cases, where an animal is very much reduced by overproduction of milk and by hard fare while giving milk. If you will follow the directions given, my word for it, your cow will give you a great deal of satisfaction during the summer.

Do not be in a hurry to give her grain after she calves, for if she is a good one she will return you more without it than with it for two or three weeks. The perfection of summer feed for a cow is good, rich pasture, of a variety of grasses; and for winter, good, early-cut hay and rowen, sweet corn fodder, for variety, run through the fodder-cutter, vegetables, a little grain, and good, pure spring water at will. Also, provide a comfortable, well ventilated, well bedded stable, and the cow will do her best for you.—A. A. Southwick, in Orange Judd Farmer.

The Lamb Creep.

An old man who had kept sheep in his early life, and who was supposed to know all about them, recently asked us what a lamb creep was. We told him and he said that nothing of that kind had ever been used when he managed sheep. For the benefit of those who do not know what it is, nor understand its value, we give the following description:

The genuine lamb creep is a gate in the partition of fences between pastures or between lots through which lamb can creep to better pasture or better feed undisturbed by the ewes, and which at the same time excludes the old sheep. They can be made in any way that will admit the passage of the lamb, and prevent that of the older sheep. A vertical creep in a hurdle about six to nine inches wide will answer the purpose, and it can be adjusted any width to meet the necessities of the case. Some shepherds take the trouble to make the sides of rollers which are adjustable so that the lamb will not lose any wool as it squeezes through. We never had them lose any wool, however. If there is nothing to be gained by going through the creep, there is no need of it. The enclosures to which it admits them should contain feed for the lambs of the most nutritious character.—Homestead.

The Unnatural Mother.

There will occasionally be, in the best managed flocks, a ewe that will give birth to from two to three lambs, and will not be disposed to own them all. If she has three, she may want to suckle but two, and will do her best to prevent the third from getting any milk. Occasionally a "contrary" ewe will not own any of her off-spring. We have had all kinds of experience with such ewes, and our success in finding a remedy has been varied. We were once absolutely whipped out by a scrub ewe bought from a neighbor, which gave birth to two lambs, and in spite of all our efforts, she killed both the lambs and herself. She was tied by the neck with a short rope, with hurdles on either side of her through which the lambs might suck. She would kick as viciously as a mule, and in this way succeeded in killing both the lambs. After the double infanticide, she jumped the hurdle and hung herself. We have been successful with the crate just large enough to hold a sheep and feed trough and rack in the front. It has adjustable sides so that it will do for a large or small sheep. They can lie down or stand up, but can get neither back nor forward of their position. Two slats are taken out of the crate where the lamb is to suck. The time required to break an obstinate ewe into owning her lamb varies from a few hours to a week.—Homestead.

The American Draft Horse.

The export trade has developed a lively interest in our American draft horse, the active, handsome, clean-legged 1,400 to 1,800-pound horses, and heavier when they can find them, but the buyers report them as very scarce, and we cannot hold the trade if we have not the horses. These horses have been tried in Europe, and have proved so satisfactory that more buyers have come for more horses. We do not find the English and Scotch buyers picking up the Clyde and Shire horses, but our high-grades, of the American draft-horse type has won the admiration of the export trade; smart, active, vigorous and powerful horses, with kind, gentle disposition; hardy, honest workers; clean legs and the best of feet.

If our breeders had kept all their grade draft mares and bred on up for larger size and more quality, what a glorious market this export trade would be; if we only had the horses. Our city teamsters, too, have been educated up to the American draft horse, and his field of usefulness is widening on every hand. American farmers, flee to your tents and rally to the breeding of the most useful and profitable horse for the markets of the world.—Western Agriculturist.

Live Stock Notes.

Keep only the calves from your very best cows if you want to improve your dairy stock.

If a good feeder can make anything out of scrub stock, what could he do with pure-bred animals?

Figure a little on the stock you have been keeping, and if it hasn't been paying a profit, get rid of it. Don't throw your feed away another year.

Moderation in grain-feeding must be exercised by the shepherd who is expecting his crop of lambs. A little sheaf oats or linseed-meal may make up the grain ration.

If you have a good mare, look out for a stallion that will suit, and try raising a colt next season. The market will be all right by the time you have your colt ready to sell.

Those who have been reducing the surplus by feeding their potatoes to stock this winter are very much pleased with the results. It hardly pays to sell 10-cent potatoes, if you have stock to eat them.

Much of the ills that domestic animals suffer are due to improper feeding. Avoid sudden changes of rations, and feed an animal according to its capacity to digest what is given it, and not in proportion to size.

It is so handy to feed whole grain that many farmers won't prepare for grinding the feed they use. After the machinery to do the work is procured it costs but little to grind, as the work may be done on rainy, bad days.

If you want to grow some cheap hog-feed, sow early a small field of oats to hog off. This will come in just when you may need something to give the pigs a good start, and the ground will be left in fine condition to plow for wheat.

Most farmers keep poultry on the farm, and a majority of them keep several kinds. Now, how many know which variety brings in the most profits during the year? If you don't know, kind reader, you ought to find it out the coming year and give that variety special attention.

How Edison Learned to Tell Stories.

"It seemed like a waste of time," said a gentleman, who passed an evening with Mr. Edison, in Norwalk, O., recently, "to hear Mr. Edison rolling off story after story, and demanding of all his acquaintances to tell him more, when we knew how much information we might have received from him. I finally asked him how he got to be such a story teller. 'Well,' he replied, 'when I was quite a young man I was a telegraph operator during the war. I was stationed at St. Louis, which was a sort of distributing point for a large district, and when we would get our batch of stuff off, and we still had several hours to put in, I used to get pretty tired. Then we would begin to call up the operator at the other end of the line and gossip with him. I always liked stories, and if Chicago had a good one, he would wire it to me. Then I would send that off to Louisville and New York and Cincinnati, and hear them laugh over it by wiring back, "Ha, ha," over the wire. In this way we would get all the best stories there were going, and we would always write them out for the day men. It got to be a sort of passion after a while, and has stuck to me ever since.'"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Enlisting the Boys.

The Woman's Health Protective Association of a certain city is taking the help of boys to make the city beautiful, healthful and clean. To aid in so great a work appeals to youthful pride, and Children's Aids are becoming valuable not only directly, but also as training-schools for the making of good citizens. The women of Brooklyn have issued a little book that sets forth in simple language the work that children may do looking after their city, which also shows something of what the taxpayers do for the children. The membership fee of the association is 5c, which sum provides for printing the books and buys badges to be worn by each member.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

G. A. R. Encampment.

The Grand Army encampment committee is at work on a plan of bringing the resources of each county of the state before the crowds who will attend the national encampment next September in St. Paul. The object is to give each county opportunity to build an arch, or some other form of display, along Third street, and on other streets where the crowds of visitors from abroad will congregate. This matter has been brought to the attention of one or two counties, and others will be asked to participate in the movement. It will afford the best possible advertisement for the resources and capabilities of each county, and should be the means of starting an immigration movement that would certainly prove beneficial. Mr. W. J. Footner of St. Paul has been chosen by the Grand Army committee to promote county displays, and the officials of any county desiring to participate should apply to him for information, or to J. S. Pinney, general secretary of the G. A. R. committees. If a large number of counties will take hold and make creditable displays in the streets of St. Paul during the encampment, the good effects will be speedy and substantial, while the cost of the displays would be comparatively small for each county. This is a feature of national encampments that will be wholly new and Minnesota should not fail to take hold of it quickly and vigorously.

The Cyclone Did It.

A stranger was about to register in a New York hotel when he took off his hat, disclosing the fact that he was as bald as a watermelon.

"From the West?" asked the clerk.

The man nodded. Then the clerk pointed to the guest's bald head and inquired:

"Indians?"

"No!" replied the stranger.

"Mother-in-law?"

"No!"

"Barber's preventative?"

"No!"

"Cyclone?"

"Yes, by gosh! Pard, yer the first chap what ever struck it right. Let's liquor."—Texas Sifter.

NEW AND QUICK TRAIN SERVICE

To the Pacific Coast.

April 5th the Great Northern Railway shortened running time on its transcontinental route. Train leaves St. Paul at 3:06 p. m., and makes quick time to Fargo, Grand Forks, Helena, Butte, Spokane and Seattle. Through cars to Portland, Oregon, reaching there in two days and nineteen hours. Buffet Library Car Service resumed and meals served in Dining Car on a la carte plan—patrons paying for what they order. These, in connection with Palace Sleeping Cars, Family Tourist Cars, High-Back Seated Coaches, and Smoking Cars, make up the finest train running across the continent. Traverses the scenic portions of the Rocky and Cascade Mountains. Single and round-trip tickets to all points. For printed matter and information about rates, address F. I. Whitney, G. P. and T. A., St. Paul, Minn.

Not a Successful Remedy.

"Doctor, didn't I understand you to say that brandy is a good remedy for dyspepsia?" asked a Dallas society lady of her family physician.

"Yes, Mrs. Yerger, it is an excellent remedy."

"I don't agree with you, doctor. Before I kept brandy in the house my husband had dyspepsia every few weeks, but now he suffers from it every day, and it seems to be getting worse and worse."—Texas Siftings.

About 500 infants are suffocated in bed each year in London, mostly by drunken mothers.

IGNOMINIOUS DEATH.

A Brave Man's Fear. Real Tangible Danger Met Heroically.

The Terror of Doubt Makes Cowards of the Bravest.

The Indian's Methods of Avoiding Pitfalls.—A Lesson for All.

THE insidious foe is the one most feared. He who strikes unseen and without warning.

It's the same with disease. A painful acute malady, one we have become conversant with, by noting its effect on others, has no great terrors. We know after an interval of more or less discomfort the trouble will have "run its course," Nature will repair the damage, and we will be ourselves again. It's Nature's inability to throw off poisons collected in the system, that causes sicknesses that have fatal terminations.

It's when we feel, without apparent cause, tired, despondent, experience sleeplessness, loss of appetite, and dull pains in various parts of the body; notice our faces are blotched, sallow or covered with pimples,—it's then we realize "That of all good gifts, ever hath been health

Counted the first, and loss of it to be
The hardest thing to bear."

Don't delay after Nature's warnings; take her own remedy, Kickapoo Indian Sagwa.

It positively relieves all serious symptoms at once, and quickly dispels the unseen cause, by completely cleansing, stimulating, and restoring to their natural condition the principal life-maintaining organs of the body, the kidneys, liver, stomach and blood. It has cured thousands, and can always be depended on. No harm can follow its use, as it is made from herbs, barks, and contains no minerals or other poisonous ingredients.

Can be procured of any druggist, $1.00 per bottle, 6 bottles for $5.00.

One of our staff of doctors will gladly give you any medical advice you may desire, free, if you will write us describing your symptoms. Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., New Haven, Conn.

Misses' Confirmation Gown.

A more charmingly dainty gown for confirmation can not be found, and for white material it is especially adapted. A simple creamy silk, with lace yoke of the same tint laid over white satin, makes an ideal dress for the solemn event in the church season.

The dainty crepes of silk are beautiful, and though not so cheap as China silk, prove a wise investment, for they wear forever and dye beautifully in light shades.

Lawn, India mull, silk mull and chiffon are exquisite for dancing gowns, and all develop well after this model.

For evening or graduating dresses, the dainty Dresden silks or taffetas are exquisite, with trimmings of lace or chiffon. One of creamy tint with lines of blue, between which are interspersed pink blossoms, might be trimmed with blue or pink chiffon and ribbon.

White challie, with yellow blossoms sprinkled all over the surface, is beautiful with yellow ribbon trimmings.

Pink with black chiffon is exceedingly stylish.

Saved From Destruction.

This is what happens when the kidneys are rescued from inactivity by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. If they continue inactive they are threatened with Bright's disease, diabetes or some other malady which works their destuction. Malarial, bilious and rheumatic ailments and dyspepsia are also conquered by the Bitters, which is thorough and effective.

A Quaint Child.

Father and son were inspecting the museum at a certain town, when the boy's attention was fixed on a stuffed lion in a glass showcase, with blood proceeding from a wound in its side. Suddenly he exclaimed:

"Daddy, how did they shoot the lion without breaking the glass?"

I never used so quick a cure as Piso's Cure for Consumption.—J. B. Palmer, Box 1171, Seattle, Wash., Nov. 25, 1895.

What X-Rays Might Have Shown.

"What are you thinking about, little man?" asked a charming hostess of a small boy visitor.

"Mamma told me," answered the little man, "not to take two oranges, and I was thinking I'd be mighty lucky if I got one."—Detroit Free Press.

Parker's Ginger Tonic is popular for its good work. Suffering, tired, sleepless, nervous women find nothing so soothing and reviving.

Five and a half million pounds of meat are consumed on the P. and O. steamships every year.

What a sense of relief it is to know that you have no more corns. Hindercorns removes them, and very comforting it is 15c. at druggists.

His Hard Luck.

"Talk about there being no such a thing as luck," said Bilkins deprecatingly; "why, everything's luck—life, riches, health and even the choice of parents depends on the merest chance. And I have been the unluckiest dog in Christendom."

"Unlucky?" said Wilkins, sympathetically. "Why, I don't know. Now you have health, a wife—"

"There's an example, my wife—You remember the day we walked down town together? You picked up old Rockleigh's pocket-book. Your acquaintance with him in this way was wholly an accident. Now you are his partner in a money-coining business. I picked up a girl's handkerchief. Now I am her husband. I tell you, old man, I'm a Jonah."—Washington Times.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury,

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists, price, 75c per bottle. Hall's Family Pills, 25c.

Difference of Opinion.

"I heered dat yore ole mudder was dead," said Sam Johnsing to Gabe Snodgrass.

"Jess so. She died las' week."

"Was she sick long?"

"No; she jess tuck sick one day, an' died do nex'."

"Only sick one day? Le Lor! Why, dat was hardly wuff while."

"Huh, niggah! If you had to pay de doctor's bill, you wouldn't talk datter way."—Texas Siftings.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch st., Phila., Pa.

After the Ball Was Over.

Husband—"Here they have brought me an account for a ball costume; how is that?"

Wife—"Oh! don't you remember? It is for the green dress I wore last year at the ball where we first met."

Husband—"S-o-o-o! And now I am expected to pay for the net with which I was caught!"—L'Annunziatore.

Coe's Cough Balsam Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

His Heaven.

"Mamma, can we order our mansions in the sky in advance?"

"Why, no, Willie. What put that into your head?"

"I thought, if we could, I would order one without a bath room."—

Between Poker and a Bonnet.

Mr. Ferry—Greatness is all comparative. For example, an elephant four feet high would be called a cute little thing, while a rat of that size——

Mrs. Ferry—Yes, and $25 for a bonnet is an enormous expense, but it isn't anything at all when you lose it at poker.—Sphinx.

Patriotic.

Mosely Wraggs—You're a nice feller to talk about goin' to war with Spain! What'd you do, I'd like to know, if they wuz a war?

Tuffold Knutt—I'd jine it, b'gosh! I'd go as chaplain of a regiment!—Chicago Tribune.

1,000 Farms for Sale.

Only 10 per cent Cash balance one half Crop each Year or Instalment plan. J. A. Walters, 109 4th St. So. Minneapolis, Minn.

Before and After.

Singleton—So, you can't come, Jack? But a woman's 'no' often means 'yes.'

Mrs. Henpeck—Not after marriage, sir. Never!—Truth.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors: Sarah L. Blaisdell, Winona, Minn., educational chart; William J. Cranford, Spokane, Wash., plate lifter; Fannie E. Denzel, Great Falls, Mont., ribbon retainer; John F. Ennis, Duluth, Minn., builder's scaffold; Oriel M. Graves, North Yakima, Wash., magnetic ore separator; George Nelson, Dillon, Mont., machine for turning swaths; Moses O. Nixon, Omaha, Neb., check rower; Charles Oleson and J. D. Morrison, Roseburg, Ore., signalling apparatus; Charles W. Eccleston, Centralia, Wash., feed water heater.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912, Pioneer Press Bldg., St. Paul, Minn.

He Lacked Tact.

"That boy of yours is not adapted to the undertaking business," explained an undertaker to the boy's father, who inquired why he had been discharged.

"What's the trouble with him?"

"He has not got a realizing sense of what is due the afflicted. Day before yesterday Mrs. B—— buried her fourth husband. I sent your boy up to learn at what time the distressed widow wished the ceremony to take place. Now, what do you suppose he asked her?"

"I've no idea."

"He asked her what her regular time of day was for burying husbands. I expect to lose her trade entirely. He is a bright boy, but he lacks tact."—Texas Siftings.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth,

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

He Was Used to It.

"I am afraid I'm crowding you," said a fat man on a Dallas street car, as he wedged a smaller passenger into a corner.

"Oh, I d—don't m—mind b—being c—crowded," he gasped, "I'm used to it. I l—lived f—for several years in a N—New York flat."—Texas Sifter.

Nobody Knows.

Nobody knows when Dame Fortune is going to grant them the opportunity to become rich; perhaps you have already refused to try three or four different chances which would have made you rich. Investigate our $100 Investment System, it pays $2 a day and may prove the foundation of your fortune. Osborn, Crosby & Co., Kasota Building, Minneapolis.

Bobby's Hearing.

Mother—What are you going to do with that ear of corn?

Bobby—I'm going to eat it, so's I'll be sure to hear you call to-morrow morning.—Harper's Round Table.

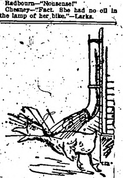
A Foolish Virgin.

Radbourn—"What was that girl arrested for?"

Cheaney—"For being a foolish virgin."

Radbourn—"Nonsense!"

Cheaney—"Fact. She had no oil in the lamp of her bike."—Larks.



Under the Weather.

That is the common Spring complaint. You feel "logy," dull. Your appetite is poor. Nothing tastes good. You don't sleep well. Work drags. You cross every bridge before you come to it. There's lots of people have felt like you until they toned up the system by taking the great spring remedy

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

It's been curing such cases for 50 years. Try it yourself.

Send for the "Curebook." 100 pages free.
J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

CRIPPLE CREEK Write for what you want to THE MECHEM INVESTMENT CO., 132 Jackson St., Chicago, Ill.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

The nervous system is weakened by the Neuralgia Torture.
Every nerve is strengthened in the cure of it by SAINT JACOBS OIL
TRY IT

FIELD AND HOG FENCE WIRE.
26, 33, 42, 50, or 58 inches high. Quality and workmanship the best. Nothing on the market to compare with it. Write for full information.
UNION FENCE COMPANY, DE KALB, ILL.

THE DOCTOR.—"One layer of paper is bad enough, you have three here. Baby may recover but cannot thrive."

ALABASTINE.
IT WON'T RUB OFF.
Wall Paper is Unsanitary. KALSOMINE IS TEMPORARY, ROTS, RUBS OFF AND SCALES.
ALABASTINE is a pure, permanent and artistic wall-coating, ready for the brush by mixing in cold water.
For Sale by Paint Dealers Everywhere.
FREE A Tint Card showing 12 desirable tints, also Alabastine Souvenir Rock sent free to any one mentioning this paper.
ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.

"No wonder poor Dinnie's so tired, carrying all day that great big piece of

Battle Ax PLUG

No matter how much you are charged for a small piece of other brands, the chew is no better than "Battle Ax." For 10 cents you get almost twice as much as of other high grade goods. The 5 cent piece is nearly as large as other 10 cent pieces of equal quality.

HALF PLATFORM WAGON, $38.75. No 7250. Weight, 425 pounds; shipping weight, 450lbs; capacity, 1200lbs. Imitation leather trimmed; Gear, Brewster green; Body painted black; Perfectly made and warranted Body, 7 feet long, 31 inches wide, with drop end gate, 1¼-inch axle; one inch oval edge tire wheels, 3 feet 3 and 3 feet 8 inches. Pole. No. 7250½—Same with 1¼ inch oval Edge Tire, only [illegible] $39.97

BARB WIRE $1.75 per 100 pounds for PAINTED hog or cattle and GALVANIZED, $2.25 per 100 pounds. BUY YOUR BARB WIRE NOW. Fence Staples 2¼ cents per pound.
VANSTRUM'S SUPPLY HOUSE,
231, 233, 235, 237, 239, 241, 243, 245 Third Avenue and [illegible] Washington Avenue So.,
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

SAMPLE BARGAINS. 25 lbs. Granulated Sugar for $1.00; New Road Carts $7.75; New Single Harness, $3.47; 7 dozen Clothes Pins, 5c; 21 packages Vegetable Seed, 25c; 15 packages Flower Seed, 25c; 16-inch Prairie Breaking Plow, $9.49; 11-inch Wood Standard Plow, $7.30; 160-tooth Bone Harrow, $11.85; Duke "1896" Bicycle, $38.15; 12-inch Poultry Netting, 150 ft. roll, per roll, [illegible]; Boys' Knee Pants, per pair, [illegible]; Men's Suits, Irish worsted, each $2.95; Boys' Colonnade Suits, [illegible]

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY APRIL 15, 1896. NUMBER 37.

THE NEWS RESUME.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

A Comprehensive Review of the Important Happenings of the Past Week Culled From the Telegraph Reports—The Notable Events at Home and Abroad That Have Attracted Attention.

The Nation's Capital.

The secretary of the interior will probably concede the claim of the State of Minnesota to school lands on the Red Lake reservation.

The navy department has received a report from Passed Assistant Engineer Arnold to the effect that the black plague has made its appearance in Hong Kong, but that the fact is being concealed for business reasons.

People Talked About.

William O. Budn, editor of the Courier at Geneva, N. Y., is dead.

Twenty-one sculptors competed for the statue of Sarah Siddons, to be erected in London. The model chosen is by a Frenchman, Chevalier.

The crown princess Stephanie of Austria has gained popularity among the people by singing solos to them in churches and halls of entertainment.

Bishop Ryan, of the Roman Catholic diocese of Buffalo, is very low with Bright's disease. The end may be expected at any time.

Secretary Herbert visited the New York at Fort Monroe, Va., and later, went aboard the Raleigh and was taken to Newport News, where he inspected the ship yards.

It is said in Indianapolis that Gen. Harrison has been invited to contribute a series of articles to one of the leading London magazines, with permission to choose his own subjects and name his own price for the work.

The homestead of the poet, Whittier, at Amesbury, Mass., which has been occupied by Hon. George W. Cole for the past twenty years, will be vacated this week, in pursuance of the plan to make it into a memorial building.

When the reins of power were taken from Bismarck he missed his old employment and chafed at inaction. "It was a curious feeling," he said, "to wake up of a morning and find that the only thing he had to do was to wind up his watch."

Ex-Secretary Whitney is said to have remarked to an old college friend the other day, apropos of his refusal to be considered a presidential candidate, that he "would rather be called Bill Whitney than President Whitney." He enjoys his freedom and friends better than fuss and feathers.

Mother Harriett, founder of the High Anglican Order of St. Mary's, died at Peekskill, N. Y., at the mother house of the order, St. Gabriel's. Her death-bed was surrounded by all the sisters superior of the order in the vicinity and many sisters of the order. Mother Harriett was born in Charleston, S. C., in 1822, her name in the world being Harriett Starr Cannon.

The late Mrs. E. Marvin, who recently died at Kirkwood, Mo., was an elder sister of the late President Hayes. When the civil war broke out she was living with a family of Southern sympathizers in Illinois. Rutherford B. Hayes, as is well known, was a strong Union man. His sister did not forgive him for taking the side of the government, and they were never reconciled.

Dr. Marc Livingstone of San Francisco wants $500,000 for the interest which, as one of the executors of the pencilled wills, he and some of his friends possessed in the estate of the late James G. Fair. Two of the children of the late millionaire and some other legatees recognize that the physician has very valuable rights in the matter, but they have thus far offered only $300,000 to compromise.

Accidental Happenings.

A. J. Harwood, a farmer living near Shelbyville, Ill., was fatally burned in attempting to lead a cow from a blazing barn.

Carrol Gay, operating a grindstone in a plow factory at Allegan, Mich., was fatally injured by the bursting of the stone.

The boiler in the Orr linseed oil mill, at Piqua, Ohio, exploded, slightly injuring three men and causing a loss of $75,000.

John McRoberts and wife and their seven-year-old daughter were run over by a switch engine at Topeka, Kan. McRoberts and wife were instantly killed. The daughter was severely injured.

The boiler of the tug Virginia exploded between the villages of Moerseke and Baerrode, on the Scheldt. Four of the crew were killed. The shock of the explosion caused a barge to sink, drowning a family of eight persons.

George Johnson, a special officer, was fatally shot in the southern part of West Virginia, while attempting to arrest a horse thief. The thief made his escape and a posse will go in pursuit.

Alice Whirtlemeyer, fourteen years old, was killed by a train on the Rock Island road at Mokena, Ill. She was crossing the track and stepped out of the way of a freight into the way of a passenger train.

A terrible explosion occurred at the sawmill of Dennis Boyd, situated at the North Mountain, nine miles north of Newville, Pa., which resulted in the death of two men and the injury of four other persons, two of them girls.

At Whetstone, about fifteen miles from Wheeling, W. Va., an entire family was cremated in a fire which destroyed the dwelling house of Johnsin Martin. The dead are: Johnson Martin, wife and child.

Harry and Charles Frizzell, aged eleven and nine, were playing at their home at Fostoria, Ohio, when the latter pushed his brother over and started to run to the house. Harry jumped up and threw a stone at his fleeing brother, which struck him at the base of the brain, causing his death.

The stables of the Buffalo Driving Park were destroyed by fire, and with them were burned some twenty valuable horses which were in training under Alonzo McDonald, for the coming season's trotting. Among them were several valuable animals, especially Ellen S., 2:11 3-4, who was valued at $10,000. The total loss will exceed $50,000.

The rear portion of the Tenth Street Methodist Episcopal church at Omaha dropped a couple of feet while services were in progress. The church was crowded, and for a time a fearful panic seemed imminent, especially as the stoves were on the part of the floor that was sinking. No one was injured, though there was screaming for several minutes.

Crimes and Criminals.

Bandits wrecked an express train on the Canadian Pacific railway near Perah, Ont., in hopes of getting at a heavy shipment of bullion, but they did not get any booty.

William Biggerstaff, colored, was hanged at Helena for the murder of Richard Johnson, champion fighter of Montana. Biggerstaff was perfectly composed. His neck was broken and he was pronounced dead in eight minutes.

The bank at Stillman Valley, Ill., was broken into. An attempt to blow open the safe was a failure, but the vault and a portion of the building was wrecked. The robbers got only a small sum, missing a large amount in the safe.

Chinese Inspector of Customs Richard Williams was indicted by the federal grand jury at San Francisco. The charge upon which the customs official is now being tried is for illegally landing Chinese and permitting them to remain in the city, bribery being the motive.

Helmer Monahan was shot and killed and Robert Ramsey seriously wounded at Barber and Canal streets by a man named Andrews, who is still at large. The men had participated in a game of hand ball during which beer drinking played an important part and a dispute followed.

Diamond thieves have raided the Flagler hotels, on the Florida coast, during the closing days of the season, securing gems valued in the aggregate at nearly $30,000. The heaviest loser is said to be Mrs. Henry M. Cutting of New York, who was robbed of jewelry valued at $13,000.

Mrs. Jane Hutchens, new woman of Pierce, Neb., with an ambition to figure as a "bad man," visited Norfolk a few days ago, became inebriated, purchased a revolver and, returning home, opened fire on pedestrians on the principal street. She was disarmed after a lively tussle with the town marshal.

Miss Ruth Thompson, 19 years old, a domestic in the home of Farmer McWayne, near Bancroft, Iowa, committed suicide by jumping into a stock water tank containing eighteen inches of water. Her home was in Bancroft. She left a note for her parents in which she stated that she had become tired of life.

Foreign Gossip.

There exists in Cairo a strong apprehension that disaster will soon overtake the head of the Dongola expedition.

The governor of Canada cabled to the English secretary of state for the colonies, offering a Canadian militia regiment for services in the Soudan.

The students and members of the National party in Madrid are reported to be organizing demonstrations against the United States, in view of the recent vote in congress on Cuban belligerency.

The king of Servia has arrived in Athens. His majesty was met by the king of Greece and the royal princes and escorted by a detachment of cavalry, was driven through the gaily-decorated streets to the palace.

The abolishment of the Mexican custom houses in the interior of the country, to take effect July 1 next, the beginning of the new fiscal year, is announced in a communication to the postoffice department from the director general of posts in Mexico.

Tino Nava, ex-postmaster of the City of Mexico, accused of embezzlement, died in a hospital. He was awaiting trial, and his expected confession was looked for with apprehension by many people.

Otherwise.

John Pope, vice president of the American Tobacco company, died at Richmond, Va., after a short illness. He was a millionaire.

Rev. C. O. Brown of San Francisco is said to have received a call from his old church in Tacoma, and has virtually accepted the call.

The suspension of Julius A. Kehn has been announced on the New York stock exchange. Kehn is at present in Europe. The sheriff has attached the safe and its contents in his office.

Ralph Dewey, formerly clerk of the district court at Washington, Iowa, and the first auditor of the county, dropped dead while walking in his yard. He was seventy-two years of age.

The engagement is announced of Harry P. Cross, Yale's famous center rush and hammer-thrower, to Miss Lorania C. King, daughter of the late Fred King, one of the prettiest of the recent debutantes at Providence, R. I.

R. C. Patterson, of the Newcastle Wire Nail company, Pittsburg, is authority for the statement that, as a result of the steel billet pool, wire nails will be advanced 25 cents per keg. This will make an advance of 40 cents within the past two weeks.

George Tilles filed suit at Little Rock, Ark., against the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York for $300,000 damages. Tilles was, up to a few months ago, general agent for the Mutual and was discharged. The suit is for malicious trespass.

While Thomas McElroy was quarrying stone in Kay county, O. T., he discovered a human skeleton imbedded in the rock a number of feet from the surface. The skeleton was of unusual proportions, and how it became imbedded in the solid rock is a mystery to all.

While proceeding to sea from New York the steamship Bellarden, bound for South American ports, came into collision near quarantine with the Red Star line steamship Friesland and was so badly injured that she was beached at Staten Island to prevent sinking. No one on board either vessel was injured.

TRAINMEN KILLED

FATAL ACCIDENT ON A RAILROAD IN KENTUCKY.

Engine and Two Cars Go Through a Bridge—Five Trainmen Are Killed and Two Others Are Fatally Injured—The Hope Mine at Basin, Mont., Found to Have Been a Death Trap.

Mitchell, Ky., April 14.—Five men were killed and two others so badly injured that they will die in a bridge accident. It happened a half-mile from Bedford Junction, on the belt railroad, on which the stone from the Bedford quarries is transferred from one road to another, this morning. The train broke through the trestle. The dead are Charles Ogden, conductor; Sherman Carpenter, fireman; Warren Leonard, and two men named Masterson and Bevins. The injured are Charles Davis and Engineer Meuze.

The train, consisting of an engine and two gravel cars, was running at a high rate of speed at the time of the accident. While passing over what is known as the Standard trestle, the last span from the direction of Bedford collapsed. The locomotive was at that time beyond the trestle, and, had it not been pulled from the track by the weight of the cars behind it, the men on the engine would have escaped. As it was the two cars went down with the trestle into a ditch seventy-five feet deep, and the engine, pulled backward in spite of the momentum of the train, rolled over and plunged down an embankment seventy-five feet high.

"It Was a Death Trap.

Butte, Mont., April 14.—A coroner's inquest in the case of the Hope mining disaster at Basin begun this morning, and some most startling evidence is being brought out to show that the seven men who suffered death in the burning mine were most cruelly left to their fate when the fire was discovered. They twice rang for the cage to come to succor them, but the engineer paid no attention to the signals, for reasons which he refused to explain at the inquest. When he later discovered the fire for himself it was too late to assist the men. The evidence also showed that Supt. Fletcher, of the mine, was not an experienced miner, but he said he thought the men under him were experienced. The method of working the Hope was twenty years behind the times and there were no means whatever for men to get out of the death trap without assistance from outside.

The body of the last of the six miners killed by the powder explosion in the St. Lawrence mine was recovered this morning.

State Ditches.

St. Paul, April 14.—The Red river valley drainage commission met at the office of Gov. Clough with the governor, Secretary of State Berg, J. W. Stevens and E. G. Valentine present. It was reported by Mr. Stevens that out of the twelve canals designed for construction this season, seven had been completed and the other five were in process of construction. Mr. Stevens and O. H. Hoffman were appointed to report at the next meeting upon the work which has been accomplished and that which will be accomplished during the next year.

Tin Plate Pool.

Pittsburg, April 14.—A meeting of manufacturers of tin and tin plates will be held here this week to organize a pool. The formation of the steel billet pool to control prices for the next two years, it is claimed, compels the tin plate manufacturers to take action to protect themselves from foreign competition.

For Free Trade.

Brooklyn, April 14.—At a Jefferson banquet last night ex-Congressman Johnson of Ohio denounced the Democratic party and the administration for straddling on the tariff and financial questions. He predicted the election of McKinley. Mr. Johnson made a strong free trade speech.

Lyman Trumbull Is Ill.

Belleville, Ill., April 14.—While delivering the oration at the funeral of ex-Gov. Koerner, ex-Senator Lyman Trumbull was taken ill. Considering his great age the doctors in attendance express fears as to his recovery.

Timely Explosion.

Buluwayo, April 14. — Advices received from Gwelo say that a terrible explosion of dynamite occurred on Friday last at Eagle Reef store, near that place, and that 200 Matabeles were killed.

Killed by a Horse.

Kewaskum, Wis., April 14.—While doing chores about L. Rosenheimer's barns, Peter Metz, the hostler, had his head mashed by a kick from a horse. He leaves a wife and two children.

Wallings Trial.

Cincinnati, April 14.—The attorney for Alonzo Walling, indicted with Scott Jackson for the murder of Pearl Bryan, has been notified to be ready to proceed with the trial May 5.

Montevideo Man Kills Himself.

Montevideo, Minn., April 14. — Andrew Boehmer committed suicide here this morning in a shed back of Mettling's furniture store by shooting himself.

Big Woolen Mill Burned.

Broubalx, April 14. — Albert Mott's woolen mill was to-day burned. The loss is estimated at $600,000.

Buried in a Well.

Glenwood, Wis., April 14. — While John Wietuski, a young man near here, was removing curbing from the bottom of a seventy-six foot well, yesterday, the well caved in, burying him under nineteen feet of earth.

New Man at Havana.

Washington, April 14. — The president to-day sent to the senate the nomination of Fitzhugh Lee of Virginia, to be consul general of the United States at Havana, Cuba, vice Ramon Williams, resigned.

LETTER FROM GARCIA.

The Cuban Patriot Writes to the American People.

New York, April 14.—The following letter has just been received in New York by Estrada Palma from Gen. Calixto Garcia, who lately landed in Cuba from the Bermuda:

"To the People of the United States of America: I am fully aware of the obligation which I have contracted to stand trial for my alleged violation of the laws of your country. I have not remained to face the consequence of my acts simply because I feel that I have a higher duty to perform as a soldier and a Cuban. Having fought for the independence of my country for ten years, and having ever since promulgated the idea of which we then fought, I deem it my highest and holiest duty to fight and bleed, and, if necessary, die to attain the independence of my country. Should I fail, my death will expiate, I hope, in your eyes any possible offense for which I might have to stand trial there. Should I survive, I give you my word as a man and a soldier to return to your country and cheerfully abide by the consequences in which the laws of the country may visit on me. My conscience tells me that in this proceeding I will satisfy the laws of justice, and I am confident that the citizens of the United States will so judge of my conduct."

CRISP MUST QUIT.

Throat Disease and a Weak Heart Stop the Joint Debate.

Atlanta, April 14.—A decided sensation has been created in political circles here by the announcement of ex-Speaker Charles F. Crisp that he would be compelled to call off the date for joint debates between himself and Secretary Hoke Smith at Lexington to-morrow, and also to cancel all the engagements he has made to deliver speeches at other points in the state. Crisp states that he does this on the advice of his physician, who informed him this morning, after a careful examination, that he was threatened with heart failure and warned him against a continuance of his speech-making tour. The ex-speaker says that it is possible that he may resume his free silver campaign later on, but that for the present he has decided to submit his chances to the people on his talk already made.

FARIBAULT MAN INSANE.

A Minnesotan Found Wandering Aimlessly About New York.

New York, April 14.—The police of the Charles street station found a middle-aged and well dressed man wandering aimlessly about the streets. When questioned the man could give no account whatever of himself, but when searched in the station house papers were found in his pockets showing him to be Andrew R. Brake, fifty-six years of age, of Faribault county, Minn. He was taken to Bellevue hospital and placed in the insane pavilion. To-day he was examined by the hospital physicians and the authorities of Faribault have been communicated with.

Want Reciprocity.

Washington, April 14.—Messrs. John C. Crosby and Charles C. Bovee, representatives of the Washburn-Crosby company of Minneapolis, appeared before the subcommittee on reciprocity of the ways and means committee of the house to-day to urge the readoption of the reciprocal features of the tariff act. Their statement was supplemental to that recently made by Mr. Charles Pillsbury. They claimed that the laws of England and European countries discriminate against American flour, and believed that a reciprocal law could restore to the American mill their old business.

Morton's Economy.

Washington, April 14.—It is the expectation of Secretary Morton to have covered back into the treasury at the end of the present administration in the neighborhood of $2,000,000 from the appropriations for the agricultural department for the four years of which he shall have been at its head. To do this he plans to save $500,000 a year, but the aggregate may be smaller than hoped for, owing to the rigid pruning of estimates. Already the amount returned to the treasury from these appropriations has reached $1,014,000.

Fire Damp Explosion.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 14. — Five men were probably fatally injured by an explosion of fire damp, during a fire in the Red Ash vein of the Woodward mine to-day. They are William Powell, fire boss; John Ovans, James Lewis, William D. Morgan and Arthur Golightly, laborer. There is a very slight chance of recovery for the men, all of whom inhaled gas.

Fishing With Seines.

St. Paul, April 14.—Executive Agent Fullerton, of the state game and fish commission, has started down the river to make a round-up of those who are fishing illegally between here and Winona. Mr. Fullerton says that he proposes to put a stop to the practice of fishing in the river with seines, no matter what the expense may be.

Blown Into the Lake.

St. Joseph, Mich., April 14. — The fishing boat Olive E. was blown into the lake by the south gale to-day. She left port early this morning before the wind rose to a gale. Her crew consists of four men. She is a sail boat but has a small steam plant. When last seen she was several miles out in the lake.

Pattison Endorsed.

Ebensburg, Pa., April 14.—The Cambria county Democratic convention to-day elected James A. Gray national delegate and decided against the unit rule. Pattison was indorsed for president.

Box Shop Burned.

Worcester, Mass., April 14.—The box shop of H. I. Gould at Charlton Depot was entirely destroyed by fire late to-day, involving a loss of $80,000. The Boston & Albany station and other buildings were saved by a fortunate change in the direction of the wind.

Dropped Dead.

Milwaukee, April 14.—Thomas Wall of Oshkosh, Wis., a prominent lumberman and politician, dropped dead in the Wisconsin Central railroad offices in the Colby Abbott block to-day.

KILLED BY REDS

AN OUTBREAK OF INDIANS IN A TOWN IN MEXICO.

All the City Councillors and School Teachers and All Those Holding Government Positions Are Massacred — Women Are Shamefully Treated and Many Shops Are Burned After Being Looted.

City of Mexico, April 14. — A telegram from Oaxaca City to-day states that the rebel Indians at the town of Juquela killed all the town councillors, school teachers, local priests, chief of police and the telegraph operator; in fact, every one holding a government place. The people are in terror and troops have been sent for the relief of the town.

The military movement made against the rebel Zimatlans has resulted in driving the Indians into the mountains. They began their plotting in holy week, instigated by Indian lawyers, who informed them that the new state taxes were constitutional, but the authorities paid no attention to the excitement among them, considering they were engaged in their usual drunken celebration of the season. But procuring arms and machetes, they made a rush for the town hall and the prefect hastily closed the doors, which they soaked with petroleum and burned, thus effecting an entrance, sacking the place and penetrating the private apartments of the prefect, grossly maltreated the women of his family, and then turning attention to the officials and armed servants, killed and wounded several. The scene was a horrible one. The assault took place in the early evening and the excitement of the mob was indescribable. The Indians were possessed with fury and it was absolutely impossible for respectable inhabitants to control them as all were drunk and maddened. The mob, after sacking the town hall, went to the federal stamp office and assaulted it, burning down the outside door with petroleum, which also communicated fire to the entire house, placing Collector Graciada, who was on the roof with his clerks, in a condition of the utmost peril, but they managed to escape by the rear. The Indians escaped to the mountains.

THE DREIBUND.

Continued Until 1902 — The African Situation.

Paris, April 14.—A dispatch to the Matin from Venice says that Emperor William and King Humbert, at their conference on Saturday last decided to prolong the dreibund until 1902, the present agreement including an offensive as well as defensive clause. The correspondent of the Matin also says that the African situation was discussed. It was resolved to proceed with the peace negotiations, and, in event of their failure, a fresh expedition, commanded by the duke of Aosta, brother of King Humbert, it to be dispatched against the Abyssinians in September.

"Better Element" Democrats.

St. Paul, April 14. — The so-called "better element" of the Democracy of St. Paul held a convention and nominated the following ticket: For mayor, O. O. Cullen; controller, J. I. Beaumont; treasurer, John Wagener. Assemblymen—East of Wabasha, Louis Betz, H. J. Stronse, Cornelius Guiney, William Dawson, Jr.; west of Wabasha, W. P. Clough, Joseph Haag, John Stryker, J. J. Ryder; Sixth ward, Jas. Melady. Aldermen—First ward, to be filled; Second, Patrick Kelly, Jr.; Third, J. Ehrmanntraut; Fourth, F. G. Brady; Fifth, Edward J. Murnane; Sixth, John F. Krieger; Seventh, Kenneth Clarke; Eighth, to be filled; Ninth, to be filled; Tenth, Ernest L. Allard; Eleventh, to be filled.

Hit by His Step-Daughter.

St. Louis, April 14.—J. Milton Turner, ex-minister to Liberia, is at the city hospital with a fractured skull. A fight with his stepdaughter, Mrs. William Mason, last night is the cause. His wife says that Turner grew quarrelsome over a luncheon which did not suit him, and finally attacked Mrs. Mason, who struck him with a broken pitcher in endeavoring to protect herself. The ex-minister tells a different story, claiming that Mrs. Mason struck him during the excitement of a quarrel. His wounds may prove fatal.

His Death Unexplained.

Marshfield, Wis., April 14.—Henry Bartels, aged twenty-five, a drug clerk of exemplary habits, retired last night as usual after closing his employer's store and was found dead in bed this morning. Nothing is known as to the cause of death. Deceased carried $3,000 life insurance, $2,000 of which was in the Modern Woodmen of America and the remainder in the Knights of Pythias. The stomach was sent to Chicago for analysis.

Exports Increase.

Washington, April 14.—A statement prepared by Mr. Worthington C. Ford, chief of the bureau of statistics, show that the exports of breadstuffs during March were $10,000,557 against $8,710,411 in March, 1895; of cotton, $19,000,570 against $15,271,920 a year ago; of mineral oil, $4,359,244 against $3,036,766 a year ago, and of provisions, $12,823,749 as compared with $13,258,780.

A Co-Operative Plant.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 14.—The locked-out flint glass employes and some capitalists have organized a company to erect a co-operative plant with a capital stock of $300,000.

"Young Griffo" Bested.

New York, April 14.—A fair-sized crowd gathered at the Empire Athletic club, Maspeth, L. I., last night, to witness a twenty-round boxing bout between "Young Griffo" of Australia and Charlie McKeever of Philadelphia. McKeever was declared the winner. There was no knock-out.

Keeping It Up.

Ottawa, April 14.—At a meeting of the cabinet to-day it was decided to go ahead with the remedial bill, continuing the [illegible]

CONGRESS.

The George Bankruptcy Bill Reported to the Senate.

Washington, April 14.—The George bill to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy, was reported to the senate from the judiciary committee. The most important amendment made by the committee was that providing where any debtor who, being a banker, broker, merchant, trader or manufacturer, owing $500, makes an assignment or conveyance of his property, or gives any lien of incumbrance thereon contrived or devised with the actual intent on his part to defraud his creditors, such act shall be deemed bankruptcy. The measure provides for voluntary bankruptcy.

At the instance of Mr. Gorman the senate determined to open the publication of the patent office Gazette to general competition. Reference was made during the discussion to the investigation some months ago into the circumstances by which a friend of the then assistant secretary of state, Mr. Quincy, was awarded the contract. Mr. Gorman carried his amendment for an open competition, although Mr. Platt, chairman of the committee on patents, was in opposition. The rest of the day was given to the Dupont case, Senators Burrows of Michigan and Brown of Utah supporting Mr. Dupont's claim.

The house spent the day transacting business relating to the District of Columbia.

BOMB FOR TEDDY.

Alleged Attempt to Kill the Man of Teeth.

New York, April 14.—A package addressed to "Theodore Roosevelt, Police Headquarters," and marked "medicine," was brought to the general office to-day by one of the collectors from one of the down-town postoffice boxes. It bore no postage stamps, and one of the employes of the postoffice tore off the wrappings at one of the ends. The tear revealed the heads of several matches and bits of fuse. The package was turned over to an inspector. It is about seven inches long, three inches in circumference, and weighs five ounces. Examination showed that by a vigorous tearing apart of brown wrapping paper the matches would have been rubbed and ignited and set off the fuse which entered a large cracker. The tube then cut in two exposed fine powder which flashed up at the touch of a match. Thus, contrary to expectation, the bomb was shown to be genuine, though not so dangerous as to have proved fatal. The brown paper wrapper was closed with sealing wax. Inside was a covering of cloth which held together the combination of cracker and fuse. The contrivance was clumsily made.

UNNATURAL LOVE.

One Young Lady Kills Another and Afterward Commits Suicide.

Elgin, Ill., April 14.—Miss Mary Linnet of Chicago shot and instantly killed Miss Elizabeth Trowbridge, a prominent young woman of this city and then killed herself to-day. The double tragedy took place on South State street, the principal residence street of the city, and when the police reached the spot both girls were found lying dead on the sidewalk in a pool of blood, while in the hand of the murdress was grasped a large revolver. Miss Linnet some two years ago. Miss Linnet some two years ago conceived a singular liking for a young woman in Chicago, a neighbor, and attempted to take her life because she would not live with her. She was sent to the insane hospital here less than a year ago and was discharged from the institution as cured in December last. Miss Trowbridge was an attendant at the hospital and had charge of Miss Linnet, who became passionately attached to her. Her great regret in leaving Elgin was that she must leave her friend behind. She returned to Chicago, where she remained at her home. Her friends believed her entirely cured of her mental troubles.

CULLOM NOT OUT.

Illinois' Candidate Declares He Is in to Stay.

Springfield, Ill., April 14.—Hon. Otis Humphrey, who is a delegate to the national Republican convention from the Seventeenth Illinois district and who is under instructions to vote for McKinley, has received the following telegram from Senator Cullom from Washington, referring to the senator's presidential candidacy: "I have not withdrawn and do not intend to withdraw." Mr. Humphrey states that all the stories about Cullom withdrawing from the presidential race are "fakes, pure and simple." The Cullom club of this city has sent out a circular letter to warn the delegates elected to the state convention, asking them to vote down in the convention any instructions to the delegates to the national convention so that if, after the first ballot in the national convention, there is no choice, Illinois may be in condition to make favorable terms.

Black Eye for Prohibition.

Yankton, S. D., April 14.—The supreme court has given prohibition a severe blow in its decision upholding the Yankton city ordinance licensing saloons. Tom Douglass, a saloon-keeper, was fined by a city justice for selling liquor without a city license. He appealed to the circuit court, where the verdict was sustained. Again he appealed to the supreme court, which tribunal also declares the city has a right to require license.

An Unlucky Pole.

St. Louis, April 14.—Joe Hadezake, a Pole, whose screams for mercy drew a crowd to his home, 1426 O'Fallon street, to-day, was rescued from the hands of his wife and stepson, who were trying to kill him with a hatchet. He cannot live.

Died in Mexico.

Winnipeg, April 14. — Sir John Schultze, ex-lieutenant governor of Manitoba, died to-day at Monterey, Mex., where he had gone in search of renewed health. Deceased was born at Amherstburg, Ont., in 1840, and was one of the fathers of Canadian confederation in the West.

Fatally Burned.

Johnstown, Pa., April 14.—By an explosion at the Cambria blast furnaces to-day Gustave Krenger and Isaac Steele were fatally burned.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

First Lieut. Spear has been elected captain of Company E, of St. Paul.

Duluth has reduced the salaries of some of the city officials.

License was carried at Lanesboro by a majority of sixty.

Farmers all over the state are happy over the recent snow falls.

A large barn at Mabel, belonging to John Wingate, burned.

A. Dunn's saw mill at Morristown, was burned. Loss, complete.

Mrs. O. F. Buck, wife of Winona's postmaster, died of pneumonia.

The store of C. Degen, at Faribault, was broken into, but nothing of value was taken.

A building occupied by Laufenberger & Co., at Faribault, was destroyed by fire.

A. Rosenberg's clothing store, at Alden, was entered by unknown parties and $100 worth of clothing was taken.

The injunction in the Anoka-Hastings fight, for the fourth state insane hospital, has been dissolved.

The St. Paul creditors of P. H. Kelly have agreed to a settlement for 60 per cent.

Ernest Lineburg, a five-year-old boy, fell from a bluff at St. Paul and was killed.

The epidemic of measles at Little Falls is of a malignant form, and has resulted fatally in many cases.

A state teachers' institute for Dodge county was held at Kasson recently, and was largely attended.

James Purcell, whose skull was fractured by a train at Waterville recently, died from his injuries.

The Chicago Great Western has protested as to the payment of a portion of the gross earnings tax in Minnesota.

Public Examiner Kenyon reports the banks in Minnesota as having $8,072,670 in cash.

The thirty-eighth annual convention of the state Sunday schools was held at Northfield. Five hundred delegates were in attendance.

A serious shooting affray occurred near Lamberton between some small boys, two of their number being seriously injured.

The Eastern Lumber company of Tonawanda bought 15,000,000 feet of lumber from the Knox Lumber company.

Nicholas L. Ladner, general storekeeper of Richmond, has sold out to J. J. Ahmann, the wheat buyer, who was his partner a few years ago.

The office of United States Commissioner John O. Hanchett, at Red Lake Falls, was entered by burglars. A typewriter valued at $100 was stolen.

Quite an excitement was caused at Le Sueur Center by the finding of two human skeletons in a box in a basement. There is no available information regarding the bones.

At Staples, Lindsay Slater, a lumber jack, stole an overcoat belonging to Otto Wiol. He escaped, but was caught at Wadena, brough back and bound over to the grand jury at Long Prairie.

The report submitted to the board of prison managers at Stillwater shows miscellaneous receipts for last month of $4,804.20, two-thirds of it for convict labor. The board granted seven paroles.

Chas. Huynerkoch and Adolph Froelich, living nine miles west of Redwood Falls, met with a painful accident by a premature discharge of powder. Froelich lost his left eye, while Huynerkoch had the flesh torn from his face and left hand.

Chas. Huynerkoch and Adolph Froelich Falls, met with a painful accident by a premature discharge of powder. Froelich lost his left eye, while Huynerkoch had the flesh torn from his face and left hand.

Roy Pierce, eleven years old, son of H. R. Pierce of St. Paul, who has, for a number of years, been living with C. E. Huntley of Spring Valley, disappeared, and no trace of him can be found. Fears are entertained of his having been kidnaped.

Brakeman L. E. Walker, on the Great Northern railway, while getting off an engine at Alexandria recently, fell and struck the back of his head on a rail, breaking in part of his skull. It is thought he is seriously hurt. He was taken to his home at Melrose.

A patient at the Tourtelotte hospital, at Mankato, named Oppert, lately from Henderson, and seventy-eight years of age, attempted to commit suicide by driving a pair of rusty scissors into his stomach with a hatchet. He will probably not recover.

A strange disease is prevalent among horses at Long Prairie. The animals suddenly become feverish; dumpish; refuse to eat and almost immediately one or more limbs become swollen, painful and useless. Several valuable animals are afflicted; and there is considerable anxiety among owners.

Martin K. Johnson was arrested at Brainerd on the charge of passing a forged check of $62 at Parson & Swanson's saloon. When taken into custody Johnson had two other checks in his possession, purported to have been signed by Nelson & Tenny. The prisoner is just out of the St. Cloud reformatory.

The body of the ten-year-old adopted son of Charles Schaffers of Johnsonville township, Redwood county, was found half a mile east of the residence. Last Tuesday afternoon, during a blizzard, the boy left the barn to go to the house. Pulling a knit cap over his eyes, he lost his way, wandered off and froze to death. Schaffers took the boy from the state school at Owatonna eighteen months ago.

The Duluth health department has completed statistics of typhoid fever in Duluth for the year ending March 31, as follows: Total cases for the year, 2,020, of which the largest number were in December; deaths, 163, of which the largest number, 51, were in January. In 1895 there were 601 cases, 74 deaths. In 1894 there 502 cases, 62 deaths. In 1893 there were 367 cases, 36 deaths. In 1892 there were 740 cases, 73 deaths.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

DR. H. GRUNDY

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

☞ Messages from the surrounding towns and country promptly attended to.

Office in Drug Store.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA.

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON, Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Easy Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : :

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

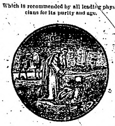
ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

THE FAMOUS

SUMARITAN

Rye Whisky

Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.



FOR SALE BY

BRINK BROS.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

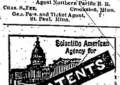
Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:20 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:25 am
7:25 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex	7:30 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via. Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.



Scientific American Agency for PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the post office at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 15, 1896.

EDITORIAL COLUMN.

The gold men are planning to control both the Republican and Democratic utterances on the money question this year and they expect to make both platforms identical in their money planks.—Ex.

That's right, we want 'em to do it. If there's any one thing which the plain people of this country are hankering after more than plenty of money it is a chance to get both the old moss-grown plank rotten parties into a corner where we, the people can punish them to our hearts contend. But they are too foxy to do it;—instead, they will try to spread one dirty blanket over the whole demorep sleeping crowd and keep up their courage until the day of election with fine promises and plenty of trust whiskey.

We have recently heard such expressions as "Blight of Populism," "Decay of Democracy" and "Ungodly Administration," but we have not yet heard any of the great political prophets say anything about the "Putrescence of Republicanism." Treating all parties and all things fairly, giving to each political party of the nation credit for all the good it has done, no impartial critic can review the acts of the republican party durin the last twenty years and form any other conclusion than that its good acts have been largely overbalanced by its acts of perfidy in destroying silver and greenbacks, the money of the people; but never mind the smell, we'll salt it down next November, pickle it so effectually that only its name will be mal-odorous. Wont we boys?

The national committee states that the Populist doctrines have been securing a class of converts within the last few months from unexpected sources. The new converts are financiers, bankers and investors, who are finding out that the gold plan is for the benefit only of a particular line of financiers—for those only who loan money to the great governments. The investment companies who have been investing in railroad securities, farm and business property, find that their profits and securities are shrinking rapidly, and that the little profit they make on one hand is more than balanced by their losses of the other. The great Rothschilds and Morgans have been looked up to by these men as leaders in finance, who have otherwise given less attention to finance outside of the small details of their business than they should. Like the rest of us when squeezed they commence to figure.—Sentinel.

"Jesso! That's what we expected. Three years ago when the first CINCH was taken in the business girt, the farmer was the one who suffered most, he alone did the howling and justly and fairly earned the epithet "Calamity Howler." The BUSINESS MEN of the country took up a hole in the girt every time they tho't it would be profitable, and kept up the operation until the juice was all squeezed out of the poor "Hayseed," and when he could no longer respond in juice, Wall Street applied the cinch to the business man and the little banker. The juice is running from them now finally and the howl that they will soon send up will be like the sound of the lost soul. Rothschild Morgan & Co., must have their "pound of flesh" and they don't object if it is taken from the carcass of the business man or the country banker. Let the howl resound throughout all the land as the girt grows tighter,—its rich juice that runs now, 'twill be theirs before next November.

Mr. G. Barton, of Boyceville, Wis., wants to know how this country is ever going to pay the $5,000,000,000 of gold it owes to European creditors. He quotes The Times as authority that the United States owes this enormous amount of gold to foreign creditors. He is mistaken. The Times quoted his own statement and assumed it to be true for the sake of argument. The truth is this country does not owe $5,000,000,000 of foreign gold, nor one-half that amount. Mr. Barton wants to know how we are to pay our foreign debt. The simple answer is: We must pay that debt as we pay any other debt—by industry and the practice of the closest economy. If it is a fact, as Mr. Barton says, that payment is impossible (which the Times does not at all believe), then the honorable course for us to pursue is to acknowledge our insolvency, call for a receiver and go into liquidation. That is what Mr. Barton would do, in the same circumstances, and it would be the only honorable thing left for him to do. There is one other alternative, and that is repudiation. We are sorry to be compelled to infer from the tenor of Mr. Barton's remarks that he would recommend them.

And that is the underlying spirit and purpose of the free silver movement. Repudiation of the honest debts; scaling down of honest obligations 50 per cent. We borrowed 100 cent gold dollars; let us pay 50 cent silver dollars. All that is necessary is to make the silver dollar the standard of value, and there you are. It is some comfort to believe that much of this talk comes from ignorance and thoughtlessness, and not from deliberate dishonesty. The aggravating feature of it is that there is not the slightest excuse for it. The country owes [illegible] at this time than it did at the close of the civil war, when its wealth and resources were not half what they are now.

The "London News" was clearly within the domain of solid fact when it recently characterized the United States as "potentially and actually the richest country in the world." Our natural resources, agricultural and mineral, are so great that their magnitude when expressed in figures is incomprehensible to the average mind. Economic writers of the highest character assert that the advance of labor saving machinery in this country has made every inhabitant nearly five times as efficient to-day as a producer of wealth as was each unit of the population in 1820. The same authorities state that the average production of Americans is 25 per cent higher than that of the British people, and more than double that of Germany and France. It is true that while the nation is rich beyond comparison, the government is, just now, very far from affluent.

The above from the Minneapolis Daily Times clearly shows why the capitalist does not favor the free and unlimited coinage of silver at sixteen to one. The bankers own the obligations of the people and they mean, if possible, to have them payable in the scarcest of money, which will virtually double their capital. The Times is mistaken, the free silver people are not dishonest, nor are they repudiators; but they do want to pay their obligations with money of the same value as when it was borrowed. If it was not dishonest and a crime to demonetize silver and depreciate the value of the dollar it is not now dishonest or criminal to restore the old standard. We have been paying up the national debt for thirty years and have paid over one-half of it; but to-day it would take more products of the farm, the factory or mines to pay the remaining one-half. At this rate can we ever hope as a nation or as individuals to pay our obligations? Are they forever going to appreciate the value of the dollar and depreciate the value of all kinds of property? Are we to keep on favoring the creditor at the expense of the debtor class? Will not the Times please answer? Is it true our country is the richest in natural resources on this earth and our people the most efficient producers of wealth in the world. But at the same time we are not prosperous, what is the reason?

NOT SO BADLY WINDED.

An Ambitious Wheelman Becomes Aware of His Error.

A kerosene bicycle certainly has its faults, and at present the price is unsatisfactory, but I had sport enough with mine the first afternoon I took the road to balance the account.

It was the first one seen in that part of the country, and as the young fellows call it "the lazy man's wheel" I told none of them about my purchase. Next day, in the afternoon, I filled the little tank with oil, lighted the "ignition lamp" and set off at about 4 o'clock for a trial trip.

On that hot summer evening there was a certain indolent pleasure and comfort in sitting back and allowing the little kerosene engine to furnish the motive power while I steered. The contrivance worked fairly well. Of course there was a little odor, but not more than comes from a kerosene lantern, and it did not puff loud enough to frighten horses.

After about ten miles, south bound, I made a call on an acquaintance and then rode back. It had grown quite dark along the unlighted country highway when I drew near the village where I live, but as I was in no haste I shut the oil off to about the least degree of speed possible and was jogging slowly forward when toot, toot, toot! went a mellow little bugle behind, and a fellow bicyclist trundled up abreast of me on the other side of the road.

It was too dark for me to recognize him, even if he had been an acquaintance and not an entire stranger. He said "Good evening" and passed me rapidly, for he was evidently a "scorcher" who liked to show speed.

"Good evening," I replied, and let on a little more oil, for no one enjoys being left behind in a summary manner. My new machine quickened, and I hung on his quarter.

Observing this, he also quickened, and I let on a little more oil, keeping close in his rear.

My machine now puffed audibly, and I was aware that my fellow traveler turned his head in an effort to scrutinize me more closely. It was quite dark, however, and apparently he concluded that I was doing the puffing and exerting myself injudiciously to race him.

"Your wind seems a little sprung, my friend," he remarked pleasantly.

"I do have the phthisic slightly in hay fever time," I replied, moving up abreast of him and even passing him a little.

Thereupon he put up his racing hump. It was to be a race, I saw. So, not to be outdone in good form, I put up a hump, too, and also opened up the feed pipe of my kerosene works.

In consequence I appeared to puff terribly, but by this time the other fellow was doing a good deal of puffing himself, for we had come to a long stretch of ascending ground, where the road was decidedly heavy.

I maintained my hump and went up the hill in great shape, and I will do my rival the justice to say that he followed my lead in good style.

His pride was evidently touched, and he was exerting himself to the utmost.

I led him by an easy 20 yards, however, and I knew that he must be suffering. Human muscle cannot compete properly on a long, hard hill, with steam or kerosene. He stuck to the race pluckily, however, thinking that a wind sprung man must needs collapse ere long, or else perhaps that he could yet come in on the down hill stretch beyond.

The village lay on the other side of the hill, and, emerging from the shadows of a pine grove, we passed the cemetery and glided swiftly into the main street under the bright glare of an arc light. I now slowed suddenly, preparatory to turning into the cross street, where I live, and my friend of the up hill race glided alongside.

"For a hay fever man you are a good"—he began to say, but stopped short; for now for the first time he got a good view of my wheel and saw that my feet were on the rests. Then many impetuous words, low, but emphatic, burst from his lips.

"Yes, hay fever is very disagreeable, but is not dangerous to life," I said. "Good night."

The muttered response of my new road acquaintance I will not repeat.—Youth's Companion.

Instantaneous Lemonade.

Get two dozen lemons and roll each one separately on a smooth, hard surface until it is quite soft; then cut off the end and with a dull knife scrape out all the juice and pulp. Strain this carefully through a thin cloth; then make the juice almost thick with sugar, bottle in glass, using a cork stopper, and stand in a cool place. It will keep a long time, and to make a glass of fresh lemonade you have only to put in a tumbler of cold water enough of the sugared acid to suit your taste. You might do this when lemons are cheap, and then when lemons are scarce and high in price you will not be deprived of your favorite beverage because it costs too much to indulge.—Washington Star.

In 1300 splinters dipped in oil were used in England and France to furnish light for guests retiring to their rooms.

Socrates was said to remember the faces and names of all who attended his discourses.

A house of four rooms rented in Pompeii for $8 a month. A single room cost $3.

New England's Exalting Influence.

Comparing the oft asserted claims of New York to be "the American literary center" with the literary achievements of Boston, and the influence of the school of literature which grew up and was fostered there, Edward W. Bok writes in The Ladies' Home Journal: "No section has given our country stronger men; no section is yet as marked or as strongly defined in its contribution to American manhood or womanhood of today as New England. She sends her people to the west, and centers of cultivation spring up about them. She sends them to the northwest, to the southwest and to the Pacific coast, and they at once make an impress upon the intellectual life of the community in which they make their new homes. Such is the influence of Boston and of New England that wherever her people go, there reading, a love of the arts, an understanding of the sciences begin."

On Mamma's Account.

A thoughtful little person of 6 remarked suddenly at table the other day, "Mamma, I wish you were not married, but that just you and I and Charlie (her small brother) lived here together." Her father, rather hurt at this proposed suppression of himself, asked reproachfully, "Why, don't you love papa?" "Oh, yes, I love you very much," was the response, "but I was speaking on mamma's account!" Thus is the "Is Marriage a Failure?" spirit of the age pervading even the youthful mind.—New York Journal.

Steve Brodie's Ideals.

Answering a question asked by a Chicago paper, Steve Brodie replied: "If I had $250,000,000, the first thing I would do would be to build a home for the newsboys in every large city in the United States; also a home for working girls, a Keeley cure for drunkards, a workingman's library in every city; have the Chicago river water washed; have the end of South Clark street fenced in, so they could all be by themselves; pay some of your Chicago aldermen money enough to retire, so that they could never be candidates again; give what money is lacking to keep the streets clean; pay an honest man to see that the appropriations are put where they belong, and last, but not least, buy the street I so dearly love, for my own use, the Bowery."

A Piece of News.

A little girl came home from Sunday school not long ago with an air of great importance as she bustled into the room where her parents were sitting. "Mamma," she cried, "did you know the widow of Nain's son was dead?" As her mother stared at her in utter bewilderment she went on importantly: "He is. I heard it in Sunday school this morning."

Jewels That Live.

Beauty, money and fame cannot be carried beyond the horizon line that shuts around this cradle of a world, but love, joy, peace, gentleness, faith, meekness, temperance are jewels which by their very nature will survive the transit of the world invisible.—F. E. Willard.

M. Z. EPPERSON

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

St. Hilaire Meat Market.

ALL KINDS OF

FRESH AND SALT MEATS.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, Proprietor.

The St. Hilaire Townsite Company will sell for the next Sixty Days Desirable Lots from $25 to $100

Apply to

H. E. IVES, Agt.

This is Easy Enough!

Any of my customers will be presented with a life like portrait free of charge by presenting their picture at my store. : : : : : : : : :

M. A. HALL. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOHLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota.

ATTENTION! LAND OWNERS.

Do you want to Sell Your Farm?

☞ If you do, list it with me, sales will be lively this spring.

H. E. IVES.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS,

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $8 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
N½ NE of 25	3.75
Lot 1 of 31	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	6.00
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 31	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
2 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 1.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	4.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 31	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 25	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 11 at from	5.00 to 6.00
2 " 13	6.00
2 " [illegible]	4.50
4 " [illegible]	3.00 to 5.00
2 " [illegible]	6.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

MINNESOTA

STATE NORMAL

AT

WINONA, MANKATO, St. CLOUD AND MOORHEAD.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:

(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.

(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.

(d) A kindergarden training course (at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.)

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents' first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination.

All others are required to pass an entrance examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $1 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week. The new dormitory at Moorhead, and the ladies' Home at Winona furnish similar accommodations at a slightly higher rate. Winona accommodation $3.50 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR and keep posted on the affairs of the day.

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique, unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS

Of the Board of County Commissioners Had at a Special Session March 24th, 1896.

Pursuant to call the commissioners of Polk county met in special session March 24th, 1896, with all members present.

The record of the previous meeting was read and the action allowing the bill of O. McCrillis at $300, was corrected to show that Commissioners, Kirsch, Rhinehart and Norland voted affirmative and Lindem and Oppegaard in the negative. With the correction noted the record was on motion approved.

On motion the auditor was instructed to correct the personal tax assessment against Moses Rill, Sr., Moses Rill, Jr. and Frank Rill, of the town of Fairfax for the year of 1895, making same correspond with original assessment as made by assessor and crediting to each of the parties named the legal exemption of $100 and that refunding order be issued in accordance with this action.

The application of Ophiem and Kankel for a reduction of assessment of machinery in town of Terrebonne, was on motion laid on the table.

The application of H. K. Helvorson for abatement of personal property tax in the village of McIntosh for the year of 1895, was on motion granted and the said tax was reduced from $40.76, to correct an erroneous assessment.

The following resolution was on motion adopted:

Resolved, that the personal assessment of John Biever, for the year 1895 in the town of Belgium, be reduced to $245 the same being excessive and in part a double assessment, and that the auditor be instructed to correct the tax list accordingly.

On motion of application of L. Van Hecke for abatement of tax on block 45, 69, 70, 71, 72, 101, 102, 104, and 133 Sec. 16, T. 151, R. 44 R. R. add. to village of Red Lake Falls for the year 1895, was laid on the table.

The petition of J J Vaalviet et al asking for the formation of a school district to be composed of sections 18, 19, and sw¼ sec 7, sw¼ sec 17 and nw¼ sec 20 T 148 R 41 and the s½ sec 13 all of sec 24 and the ne¼ sec 25, T 148 R 42, was on motion referred to Commissioner Oppegaard for investigation.

Moved that the personal property tax against T Johnson in the town of Tilden for the year 1895, in amount of $143, be abated in full, on the ground that the assessment book of said town for the year named did not show any personal property assessment against the said Thos Johnson. The motion was adopted, Commissioners Kirsch, Lindem and Oppegaard voting in the affirmative and Norland in the negative.

The petition of the supervisors of the town of Garfield asking that Martin Peterson be relieved from the payment of taxes on the e½, nw¼ and n½, sw¼ sec 32, of said town was on motion laid on the table.

The application of F M Brown and H R Lyon as receiver for the N D Milling Association asking for the correction of a personal property assessment and abatement of taxes on the machinery in flouring mill in the city of Crookston for the year 1895 was on motion referred for the favorable consideration of the state auditor.

On motion the following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, it appears from the assessment books of 1894 and 1895 that the mill property of Anna Kretzschmar, in village of Thief River is assessed both as real estate and personal property, therefore be it

Resolved, that said personal assessment be reduced to $759 and the real estate assessment be adjusted at $7,000, and the auditor is hereby instructed to make correction accordingly.

On motion the auditor was instructed to cancel the assessment of wheat against the St Anthony & Dakota Elevator Co for the year 1895 in the village of St Hilaire and the town of Reis, and the county treasurer was authorized to receive the balance of personal property tax against the said Co, in the village and town named, less the penalty, this action being in conformity with a resolution adopted by the county board of equalization at its meeting in June of 1895.

In compliance with their commendation of the finance committee of the city of Crookston the personal assessment of F E Hertz for year 1895, on goods and mdse. was reduced from $2,500 to $1,800 to correct an erroneous assessment.

On motion the bill of D. McKinnon for 26 meals furnished to jurors during the December term of district court, in amount of $13 and which was allowed at a former writing of the county board at $6.50 was re-considered and the claim allowed in full. Commissioners Rhinehart, Lindem and Kirsch voting "yes" and Norland and Oppegaard "no."

On motion the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, that henceforth the county board shall decline to allow the hotels and restaurants in the city of Crookston to exceed 25 cents per meal for meals furnished court officers, jurors or prisoners.

On motion the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, that the county auditor is hereby instructed to correct the personal property assessment of Mrs E Schrader for the year 1895, allowing her as guardian of Ed Schrader, the legal exemption of $100.

A petition was presented by William Thanase asking to be set off with his land the se¼ section 31, T 151, 43 from school district No 27 and attached to district No 47. On motion a hearing was granted upon the petition for the next meeting of county board, the petitioner being required to assume all expense connected with posting notices.

A hearing was had upon the petition of Ole Strande, asking to be detached with his land, lot 12, section 1, T 150, R 49 from district No 222 and attached to district No 117 and on motion the prayer of the petition was granted and order made accordingly.

A hearing was had upon the petition of Ole Strande asking to be set off with his land, lots 9 and 10, Sec 1. T 150, R 49, from school district No 222 and attached to district 117, and on motion the prayer of the petition was granted and order made.

A petition was presented by William Hannah asking to be set off with his land, the ne¼ sec 32, T 151, R 48, from school district No 107 and attached to district 129 and on motion a hearing was granted upon said petition for the next meeting of the county board, all expenses connected with posting notices etc, to be borne by said petitioner.

The petition of Peder M Zahl, asking to be set off with his land, the s½, ne¼ and lots 1 and 2, Sec 4, T 147, R 42, from school district No 22 and attached to district 169 was on motion referred to Commissioner Oppegaard for investigation.

The petition of Ben Sanstrud et al, asking for the formation of a school district was on motion referred back for correction.

On motion the chairman was instructed to appoint a committee of two members of the board to inspect the bridge recently constructed in the town of Higdem. Commissioners Rhinehart and Oppegaard were appointed as such committee.

The following resolution was on motion adopted:

Resolved, that item 18 in the personal property assessment of the Red River Lumber Co for the year 1895 be canceled, it being included in the real estate assessment and therefore a double assessment, and that the taxes against said firm for the year named be correspondingly abated.

On motion it was ordered that the account of $75 be deducted from the personal property assessment of Halvor Halvorson of the village of St Hilaire for the year of 1895, the same having been assessed by John Halvorson, of town of Roxbury.

On motion the application of Theodore Garceau for the cancellation of assessment of $1,000 for bank stock for the year of 1895, in village of Red Lake Falls was granted to correct an erroneous assessment, the same having been included in the assessment of the First State Bank.

On motion the application of J B Merrill for auctioneer's license was granted conditionally, that the applicant pay into the county treasury the sum of $10 and file the necessary bond required by law.

The following resolution was on motion adopted:

Resolved, that the personal property assessment against Geo Earnest under item 18, in town of Keystone for the year of 1895, be cancelled and taxes on same be abated accordingly, to correct an erroneous assessment.

Application of Edward Cavenaugh for cancellation of personal property assessment in the town of Huntsville for the year 1895, said assessment covering a real estate mortgage, was on motion granted, the said mortgage having been satisfied prior to assessment.

The application of the Jacobi Elevator Co for abatement of delinquent road tax in the town of Huntsville was on motion rejected.

The application of H S Hanson for exemption of $100 on personal property in town of Hill River, was on motion rejected, on the ground that the legal exemption of $100 was allowed on personal property assessed in said town to Mrs H S Hanson.

The consideration of all applicants from the road and bridge fund was on motion deferred until next meeting of the county board.

On motion the personal property tax of Mrs Mary Jeffers in the town of Red Lake Falls, for the year 1895, was abated in full.

The petition of Mrs Baptiste Beron, of town of Lambert, asking for aid from county was on motion referred to Commissioner Norland for investigation.

The application of E C Cooke, as trust officer for Minneapolis Trust Co, was on motion granted and the assessed valuation of the nw¼ sec 28, T 147, R 46, for years 1892, 1893, 1894, and 1895, was reduced to the uniform valuation of $1,000 for each of the years named subject to the approval of the state auditor.

On motion the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, that the penalty on taxes for the years 1892, 1893 and 1894, on the e½, nw¼ and e½ sw¼ and se¼ sec 35, T 150 R 49 and nw¼ sw¼, sw¼ se¼ and lot, 6 and 7, sec 3 T 149, R 49, be and the same is hereby abated provided that all tax on land for the year named be paid within thirty days from the date hereof, in compliance with the application of Barney Hagerty.

Moved that the further consideration for abatement of taxes on real estate be deferred until next meeting of the county board. Motion adopted.

Moved that the jailer be instructed to rigidly enforce all rules previously prescribed for the government of the county jail. Motion adopted.

On motion the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, that the use of chairs, and other seats by prisoners in the county jail shall hereafter be prohibited and that seats of all kinds shall at once be removed from the cells of said jail and that prisoners shall be required to fold and hang up their cots during each day.

Moved that the county attorney be requested to submit an opinion as to whether the county jail would be a proper place for the custody of insane patients while waiting the action of the probate court. Motion adopted.

Moved by Commissioner Rhinehart that W S Davis of the town of Angus be appointed as appraiser of state lands. Motion lost. Commissioners Kirsch and Rhinehart voting in the affirmative and Oppegaard, Norland and Lindem in the negative.

Moved by Commissioner Oppegaard that Fred S Sylverson of the town of Bill River be appointed as appraiser of state lands in Polk county. Motion carried. Commissioners Oppegaard, Norland and Lindem voting in the affirmative, and Kirsch and Rhinehart in the negative.

The following resolution offered by Commissioner Norland was on motion adopted:

Whereas, it appears from the bill of C M Benson, judge of probate, now before this board for consideration that the expenses of his office for fuel and light for the years 1892 to 1896 amounts to $96, and it further appearing that said C M Benson has been regularly receiving for the purposes stated and during the period stated the sum of $4 per month. Therefore be resolved, that the present allowance of $14 per month, covering rent, fuel and light for said C M Benson shall be contracted for and paid directly by the county.

The following petition was presented:

Town of Sletten, Polk Co., Minn., Feb. 26 1896
To the board of County Commissioners, Polk Co., Minn.

We the undersigned taxpayers and legal owners of the property set opposite our respective names, petition your honorable body to cause to be surveyed, located and staked out the section and property lines first below mentioned and described, and we further petition that said survey be made before June 1st 1896, and after May 15th 1896, if so can be.

The lines to be surveyed are as follows:

Line between sections 17 and 18 Town 147 Range 41 Polk Co.

Lines between the s½ and n½ of the se¼ sec. 18 T. 147 R. 41 Polk Co.

Lines between the se¼ and sw¼ of section 18 T. 147 R. 41 Polk County.

Lines between nw¼ of the se¼ and the sw¼ ne¼ sec. 18 T. 147 R. 41 Polk County.

Lines between the e½ and w½ of the nw¼ sec 17 T 147 R 41 Polk County.

DESCRIPTION OF PROPERTY.

SIGNATURES. SUB-DIVISION,	SEC.	TP.	R.
Ole W Aakhus w½ nw¼	17	147	41
Andrew Wilson e½ ne¼ and nw½ se¼	18	147	41
Ole A Peterson e½ sw¼ and lots 3 and 4	18	147	41
Grunde Gegland w½ sw¼ se¼ nw¼ ne¼ sw¼ and se¼ se¼	17	147	41
Knut Kanpang e½ nw¼ and lots 1 and 2	7	147	41
Elsie Trovalton e½ se¼ w½ sw¼	7-8	147	41

Owners of land effected by proposed survey in above petition.

Owner, Sub-division,	Sec.	Twp.	R.
Grunde O Hegland w½ sw¼	17	147	41
Ole Aakhus w½ nw¼	17	147	41
Andrew Nelson e½ of ne¼ and nw½ se¼	18	147	41
Jager Sorlien s½ of se½	18	147	41
Peter Carlson ne¼ nw¼	17	147	41
H. H. Ehse ne¼ ne½	7	147	41
Elsie Trovalton e½ ne¼ and w½ sw¼	8	147	41
A Gullikson nw¼	8	147	41

On motion a hearing was granted upon the petition for May 15th, 1896.

In compliance with recommendation of A. P. Frank, assessor of the town of Brislet, the personal property assessment against O. A. Fuller in said town, for the year 1895, was on motion cancelled, the property assessed having been in Marshall County at time of assessment and listed in said county.

The application of Mrs. E. H. Spendley, asking for the abatement of taxes on lot 3 block 3, C. M. Loringe Add. to the city of Crookston, for the years 1886, 1887, 1888, 1889, and 1890, was on motion granted and the total taxes for the years named reduced from $61.21 to $32.89, subject to the approval of the state auditor.

J. E. Oppegaard, A. C. Rhinehart committee appointed to examine the newly constructed bridge in the town of Higdem submitted the following report which was on motion adopted.

To the Honorable Board of Commissioners of Polk County, Minn.

Your committee appointed at a meeting of the board on March 24th, 1896, to examine and receive the bridge across a lake on the section line between sections 33 and 34 town of Higdem, do hereby respectfully report that on the 26th day of March 1896, we examined said bridge and found the bridge completed and built as per contract and agreement entered into by the builder, James McIlrath, and the road and bridge committee; and recommend that an order be issued to the above name builder for the contract price of said bridge, viz: $390.000.

Respectfully submitted,
J. E. Oppegaard } Committee.
A. C. Rhinehart }

A petition was presented by Jens Wallerbek, Ole J. Stallmo, Paul Sorrenson, Christian Peterron, Mary Sorrenson, and Ole O. Knutson, asking to be set off with their lands.

Lots 4 and 5 sec. 27, Lot 5 sec. 21 S. E. ¼ of N W ¼ N E ¼ of S E ¼ and N ½ of S ½ of S W ¼ sec. 21, lots 4 and 5 sec. 16 and N ½ of N W ¼ sec. 21 S part of lot 11, sec. 21 S W ¼ and N W ¼ of sw¼ sec. 21 lot 7 and N part of lot 11 and S ¼ of S ½ of S W ¼ sec. 21, and lot 10 sec. 21 T 150 R 48 from school district 13 and attached to district 161 On motion a hearing was granted upon the petitions for the next meeting of the county board.

A letter from John P. West, deputy public examiner intended to define certain duties of county commissioners was read and ordered placed on file.

The following uncollected personal property taxes were abated, subject to the approval of the state auditor, the commissioners being satisfied that the same could not be collected:

Philip Lee, Black River	$ 67
Patrick Ford, " "	1 48
Jens Jacobs, Bray	47
Anton Ryme, Badger	17
S J Sletten "	82
Ole Higdem "	65
K O Wolden "	54
Hans Sere, Brislet	79
John H Anker, Bygland	11
Christ Christenson "	83
Torgrim Homme "	29
Torger Knutson "	22
Ole O Langid "	96
Mrs Ellen Lerum "	1 62
Christ Lerum "	4 17
Sam Sivertson "	20
K O Saunet "	14
F G Sneidgan "	68
Tor Torkelson "	32
Ole Torkelson "	36
Saine S Omile "	36
Ole Hanson "	45
Melcher Raumbukier, Crookston	88
John Miller, Chester	70
Lartha Malstead, Columbia	72
J M Cooper, City of Crookston	1 81
Mrs S L Dobson City of Crookston	7 20
John Moden, Esther	58
Fred Moeschen, Euclid	2 80
John B Deroche Emmardville	1 27
Chas Brossard do	4 37
Andrew Stenor Farley	1 62
Mary Ann O'Grady village of Fisher	19
H O Stum do of Fertile	49
John Olson Fisher	97
Geo Gill village of Fosston	47
Carrie Hemmelsback Fairfax	75
Ena Rude do	35
H H Clary Fanny	40
Hugh Douglas do	86
G Kent do	48
Chas Kendler do	1 61
Minne Kindler do	69
Robert Shults do	61
A M Shaw do	24
A M Bugner do	65
Chas Mison do	78
T Valier do	55
J J Fuller Grove Park	27
John Sinsell do do	7
Lars Iverson Garden	88
Swen A Rud do	1 27
J G Anderson Gervis	76
Theodore Young Huntsville	45
D H Bates Hammond	74
Anthony St George do	43
Knute Knutson Kertsonville	30
Knute Svennes Hill River	17
Erick Knutson Kertsonville	1 40
Ole K Olson do	23
O Anderson do	76
Mrs Marie Iverson King	24
S H Dale do	28
Ole A Sagen do	27
Mary C Johnson do	38
Torger Anderson do	1 31
P A Haugen Lambert	5 87
Piere Lajambe do	3 67
Osmund Olson do	1 23
Louis Boisvert do	1 03
Eugene Espelliler do	69
F T Day do	54
Iver Bildem Lessor	20
Christ Brathord do	1 00
Jorgen Sunderland Lowell	50
Ole Johnson Village of McIntosh	17
Ole Johnson do do do	34
John Sutherland Nesbit	49
Peter Baker Northland	1 15
John Wynne do	88
Nils S Peterson do	80
Ole Engelbertson Onstad	22
Ole Thoeson do	1 40
O P Helberg Polk Center	44
T Wjuff Queen	98
John Hagen do	3 69
David Cray Reis	1 12
Mrs P Garmager Roome	3 50
N Holmberg River Falls	1 84
Andrew O Wiele Roxbury	3 30
Ludwig Oleson Rosebud	68
John Sylvester do	1 27
Ole O Forgaard do	46
H B Davis Village of Red Lake Falls	17 30
Peter Berstad Sletten	78
J B Nicol Sullivan	3 40
William Wynne do	88
James Adams do	1 20
Chris Erchinger do	60
Nels Tranville do	50
S E Jille do	2 00
Mikkel Pederson Sandsville	90
Clumer Schell do	70
James Novatny Taylor	10 49
Thore Johnson Tilden	1 43
H E Stevens do	2 04
Gjermund Johnson Tynsid	1 19
W Hoope North	40
Jacob Lunas Vineland	2 19
A L Odell Woodside	70
Thomas Thompson do	44
McJohnson do	55
Lars Nelson 3rd assessment Dist	83
E Peterson do do do	56
Ellen Rarass 4th do do	25

The following bills were audited and allowed:

Brown Treacy & Co books and blanks 6 bills	$ 82 93
Pioneer Press Co books and blanks 3 bills	248 10
Grand Forks Herald do do do 5 bills	54 90
Walter S Booth & Son do do do 5 bills	12 90
W E McKenzie Office supplies	61 95
do do do sundry printing	219 18
H E Ives do do	230 03
O C Knappen do do	219 18
C T Lanman do do	219 18
D McKinnon meals to jurors	6 50
Crookston Steam Laundry work for hospital	9 52
A C Cowing cement for Co jail	32 40
Collins Bros mdse to Co hospital	48 85
E D Childs & Co milk to hospital	12 00
S A Wallace mdse to Co hospital	33 30
Geo D Barnard & Co books and blanks	19 75
Crookston Telephone Co rent of telephone for Feb	7 50
Crookston Telephone Co use of phone to Fisher	1 65
Crookston Telephone Co rent of phone for Jan	7 40
S A Wallace office supplies	15 25
J Jorgennson mdse to County jail	1 25
C H Dennison medical services at Co jail	41 00
P & J Meehan lumber	1 75
Crookston Furniture Co repairing chairs	5 25
John A Schlen & Co office supplies	2 80
John Hedlund services as fire warden	9 00
Peter Erickson do do do do	2 00
Halvor J Soli do do do do	2 00
John Peterson do do do do	6 00
Tom J Haugen do do do do	1 00
A F Cronquist constable fees	17 98
Oscar Wick do do	4 10
Geo H Barlow do do 9 bills	45 54
C E Rubst do do 12 do	15 55
T A Campbell do do 8 do	10 50
Hugh Quingley do do 4 do	7 50
A A Glenn do do 2 do	17 27
W D Culver do do do	7 50
C B West do do 2 do	11 34
A F Cronquist do do	5 83
T H Aakhus do do	3 20
Knudt J Haugen do do	1 85
Andrew Elby justice fees	1 50
P Bodine do do	14 90
John McLean do do	8 65
Andrew Monson do do	2 50
G H Holt do do	17 91
W G Hunt do do	4 90
R E English do do	3 45
T H Young witness fees	5 32
Alfred J Dainard do do	6 35
T A Campball do do	1 12
John Sherlock do do	2 24
Frank Yerboneur do do	1 12
Joseph Sadler do do	1 12
John Niverth do do	5 68
E Kloos do do	2 68
Mertie A Young do do	5 82
Herman Leadef do do	5 68
Nellie Ulstad do do	1 12
Minnie Folske do do	5 82
Ida M Proctor do do	5 82
Mrs Kate M Young witness fees	5 82
M F Peterson juror fees	1 12
Edward Bray do do	1 12
Ed Martin do do	1 12
K H Brook do do	1 12
A A Wilson do do	1 12
Ole Narverson do do	1 12
K K Halverson do do	1 12
Geo E Button do do	1 12
A C Knell do do	1 12
S N Morreseth do do	1 12
Steve Sandrig do do	1 12
D McNicol do do	1 12
Martin Haugen do do	1 12
J A Bray do do	1 12
Geo F Peasley do do	1 12
Hans Paulsrud do do	1 12
Hans O Strom do do	1 12
Adolphin La Fave do do	1 12
Joe Simonson do do	1 12
Andrew Lean do do	1 12
R W Southmayde do do	1 12
Frank Tessler do do	1 12
Garret Lasher do do	1 12
Aaron Brown do do	1 12
James Koons do do	2 48
D McNicol do do	1 12
L Shoeanter do do	1 12
Anton O Lystad do do	1 12
Ozeas J Levack do do	1 12
M Zetterberg do do	1 12
C Madson do do	1 12
W S Chambers do do	1 12
H O Haukoe do do	1 12
H H Helgeson do do	1 12
Ingebert Larson do do	1 12
S Solberg do do	1 12
S S Ness do do	1 12
A J Gregerson do do	1 12
L J Dill do do	1 12
C E Pratt do do	1 12
Chas C Keller do do	1 12
W W Jacobs do do	1 12
Albert Swan do do	1 12
Chas Lantz do do	1 12
John W Sparger do do	1 12
Chas E Keller do do	1 12
W R Elliot do do	1 12
Thos Routly do do	1 12
Chas Burr do do	1 12
C C Knappen sund printing 2 bills	62 00
G T Lanman do do	31 80
Espe Bros drilling well at court house	250 00
Wrought Iron Bridge Co cells in Co jail	2233 19
do do extra buckets	10 00
H C Berg services as fire warden	6 00
J S Dwyer justice fees 2 bill	8 90
do services as county coroner	11 55
A McLennan nursing in Co hospital	8 00
Mrs A P Freeman do do	12 00
Halvor Ness wood to county jail	17 50
O J Kalberg do do	17 50
O T Berg do do	20 40
Geo F Stone insurance on court house	23 00
Tom Kelley services as janitor at teachers examination	4 00
Carl Nelson hauling wood to Co jail	3 00
do do sidewalk on court house grounds	1 50
A O Rollstad board to children waiting assignment to state public schools	11 25
James E Morrisey sund castings and work on jail	114 63
Geo Young wood to county jail	49 75
do do	33 00
Hans Sandli do	17 93
Chas Vine meat to county hospital	15 80
Bernard Westover livery to Co Comr's	10 00
Town of Woodside judgment against Co	59 65
H R Nolan work on bridge	13 50
Lars Lian do do	4 00
Ole A Ronning work on bridge	8 00
A O Daniels do	8 50
Aug Schuler work on county jail	115 75
Louis Larson do do	9 25
Josie Skorstad work in county hospital	20 00
A Wickstrom filing official bonds	28 08
do postage	27 00
John Vig do	3 23
John Gleason do and express	24 70
N G Engstrom cash paid for supplies for court house	1 80
O McCrillis express and postage	21 35
Henry Norland cash paid for repairs on bridge	2 86
Henry Norland expense conveying Erickson children to state public school	74 54
Henry Norland services as county Com'r	34 00
M E Kirsch do do do	24 00
Anthon Lindem do do do	26 80
J E Oppegaard do do do	33 40
A C Rhinehart do do do	83 60
James McIllraith building bridge	390 00
H A Brkken services as interpreter	1 12
Westover and Miller meals to jurors	3 00
D McDonald bal for services as undertaker	3 00
Andrew Steenerson boarding prisoners	161 46
do do	00 00

Bills were referred back for correction Meehan Lumber Co., Joseph Saddler, Joseph Beer, Alex Ellespie, Joe Gagnier, G. F. Peterson, Wm. Farrell, C. H. Lessor, A. F. Conquist, H. C. Burdick, Nils Gustafson, John C. Nelson, Gilbert O. Helland Samuel Booker, George E. Gaylor, Frank Scott, Calvin D. Horten C. H. Thomas, Ragnail Stal, A. G., Arneson, Peter Lokken, Andrew Shuler, John E. Gustofson, A. G. Arneson, Calvin D. Horten, Hugh Quigley, Roseau County and town of Godfrey.

Following bills were laid over until next meeting. Wm. M. Procter, G. G. Henault, Andrew Steenerson 6 bill.

Following bills were disallowed: W. M. Proctor, 2 bills and C. B. Benson.

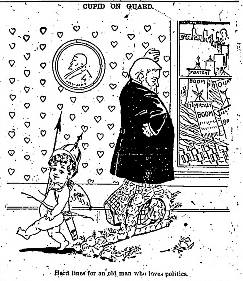
On motion board adjourned.

JOHN GLEASON,
Clerk of Board.

The Modern Woodman.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., April 6.—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Modern Woodmen of America, Head Clerk Harris reported that during the month of March 99 new camps had been chartered, and 8,000 new members secured.

CUPID ON GUARD.



Hard lines for an old man who loves politics.

—New York World.

JAPAN AND RUSSIA.

There Is Apparently Prospect of Trouble Over Korea.

NEW YORK, April 10.—A dispatch to The Herald from St. Petersburg, says: The troubles, of which there have long been rumors, are at last maturing in Korea. According to a cablegram from Vladivostock to the Novoe Vremya, the last news from Seoul says that the Koreans are determined to exterminate the Japanese, holding them responsible for the murder of the queen. Bands of men have been organized to threaten the Japanese factories. Japan has sent warships to Fusan and other points on the coast. The Novosti says that Japan should by this time know Russia's feeling in regard to Korea—that while she does not wish to be there herself, she

Will Not Permit Any Other Power to be predominant in the Hermit kingdom. The king, says The Novosti, is perfectly fit to rule, and when restored to the throne, the Russian troops will retire. Meanwhile great military activity prevails in Japan. The army is being increased. Instead of consisting of 8 divisions, it will, in the near future, be composed of 12, besides another division of guards. The number of regiments has been increased from 28 to 52

CREES TO BE DEPORTED.

Canadian Authorities Agree to Look After Their Indians.

HELENA, Mon., April 10.—Finally Canada has taken official action in regard to Cree Indian matters, and the present outlook is that all Crees in the United States will be deported within the next four weeks. Governor Rickards has received a letter from A. T. Traiget, commissioner of Indian affairs for the Northwest Territories of the Dominion of Canada, to the effect that his government was willing to take charge of all Cree Indians, requesting that the same be delivered to him not later than May 1. As a matter of international affairs, Governor Rickards sent Traiget's communication to Secretary Olney, with the request that he accept the Canadian government's proposition.

This Indian matter has been under consideration since 1885, when Mr. Blaine was secretary of state. He made special efforts to have the Indians deported. The Cree Indians are charges of Canada, having no reservation of their own. They roam over the country dirty and shiftless and have spread smallpox all over Montana several times. The Northwest contains thousands of them.

Killed an Hour After Marriage.

NEW YORK, April 10.—At Elizabeth, N. J. Frank McKinley, employed by the Singer Manufacturing company, was killed by a Pennsylvania railway train. McKinley had been married less than an hour before the accident occurred which caused his death. His bride was with him when he was killed.

Five Known to Be Dead.

OGDEN, Utah, April 10.—The number of men killed in the premature explosion in Ogden river canon, so far as known, is five. There is a rumor that several men are missing, and their bodies may yet be found under the mass of rock which was thrown down by the explosion.

Entire Family Cremated.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 10.—Word has just reached this city from Whetstone, Marshall county, about 15 miles from this city, that Johnson Martin and his wife and child were cremated in a fire which destroyed his dwelling house.

Found Dead in a Sleeping Car.

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., April 10.—A colored porter was found dead in a sleeping car on the arrival of the Eastern Minnesota train. His name is David Smith. He seems to have died from suffocation.

TO ADMIT NEW MEXICO.

House Takes Action on Another Territorial Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The house committee on territories has voted in favor of reporting the bill for the admission of New Mexico as a state. The vote stood six for and four against.

The Arizona statehood bill was laid aside at the request of Mr. Murphy, the delegate from that territory. It will probably be taken up at the next session of the committee.

TOURISTS LEAVE

Spain Is Not Considered an Agreeable Place at Present.

A Feeling That Trouble Might Break Out Almost Any Time.

Two Battalions of Chinese Soldiers Annihilated by a Magazine Explosion.

NEW YORK, April 10.—A dispatch to the Herald from Madrid, says: Affairs look so serious again that American tourists are hurrying away. Places on the Sud express for Paris are taken two days ahead. The passage of the belligerency resolutions has caused excited talk. A guard is still maintained at the American legation, but it has not been increased. The feeling is prevalent that a crisis is near and that trouble might break out at any moment. The captain general of Ferrio reports that the fleet which is being organized there is all ready to go to sea. The ships composing it are the ironclads Pelaco, Infanta Maria Teresa, Viscaya and Obuendo, the torpedo destroyer Destructor and various torpedo boats. They will forthwith be supplied with the necessary war material, and will probably start for the river Arona on Friday week, to go through a course of instruction until the government decides on their ultimate destination. The last three named ironclads are really second class cruisers.

The archbishop of Madrid has sent a very patriotic letter to Senor Canoves, the prime minister, offering the support of the Catholic workingmen's societies.

Campos May Be Sent Back.

A rumor is gaining ground that Marshal Campos is to be sent back to Cuba, but no confirmation of the report can be obtained in official circles, and Marshal Campos declines to be interviewed on the subject. His position just now is a very delicate one. Contrary to general belief, he came back from Cuba a poor man.

Extra Session Probable.

FARGO, N. D., April 10.—It seems certain that when the assessment matter comes before the supreme court, now in session, it will be decided that the present assessor cannot hold over. The new codes failed to provide for assessors and the state can collect no taxes. If the decision is correctly forecasted an extra session of the legislature will be absolutely necessary.

Going Back to the Army.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The World says: Lieutenant Glen, who has been Ballington Booth's right hand man and first recruit in the Volunteer movement, has sent in his resignation together with that of his wife. At the same time they notified Commissioner Booth-Tucker of their action and requested to be reinstated in the Salvation Army in any capacity.

Aided in Killing Their Father.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., April 10.—Young Charles Lamborn and Annie Lamborn, his sister, who are in jail here, charged with complicity in the murder of their father, have confessed having actively assisted Thomas Davenport, the lover of the girl and the friend of the brother, in the commission of the crime.

Found Guilty of Murder.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 10.—Frank Schaeffer, colored, was found guilty of murder in the first degree. Schaeffer was one of a mob of men who blew up a boardinghouse two years ago, killing four Hungarians. Sentence was deferred.

Li Hung Chang Not Coming to America.

LONDON, April 10.—The Times publishes a dispatch from Singapore which says that Li Hung Chang has abandoned his American tour, but that after the czar's coronation at Moscow he will proceed to London to see Lord Salisbury.

BLANK PAGE

E. M. HOFF

General Merchant

MISS C. S. HOFF,
DEALER IN
Fruits, Confectionery
AND CIGARS.
Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE
Collection Agency.
Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

J.S. BREDENBECK
The Watchmaker
AND JEWELER.
Repairing of Watches and Clocks a Specialty
Engraving neatly done.
ST. HILAIRE. - - - - MINNESOTA

N. M. WATSON, M.D.
Physician & Surgeon.
Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada,
Office in Bank Block.
RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,
Merchant - Tailor.
I have a full assortment of samples of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.
ALL WORK GUARANTEED.
☞Give me a call and be convinced.
Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.
St. Hilaire, Minn.

Harness.....
☞If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing, call on
C. A. SKEIE,
West Broadway. St. Hilaire. Minn.

Blacksmith!
☞Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, Etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.
J. C. DAHL. St Hilaire. Minn.

M. E. BJERK
DEALER IN
Wines and Liquors
MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE
DAN PATERSON, Prop.
Dray in Connection.
The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest.☞Safe drivers and furnished at a moment's notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place
BIG RED BARN
Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.
ST. HILAIRE - - - - MINNESOTA

U.S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., April 1st 1896.
Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U.S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on May 14th 1896, viz:
Carl Edvin Crown, Hd No. 14123, for the sw¼ sec. 28, tp 152 N. range 45 W.
He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Adolph Nelson of Bray, Minn., and Emil Larson, Alfred Lunquist, L. S. Dahl, of Wylie, Minnesota.
35-41 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

Ask Your Dealer For
FEATHERBONE
TRADE MARK.
WHIPS.
FEATHERBONE is made from Enameled Quills—nature's own toughest, and strongest elastic material. Best wearing whips made for 25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50. All styles for Buggy, Cart, Track, Team and Riding. Be sure and ask for a FEATHERBONE

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

VILLAGE OFFICERS.

Chas. G. Rapp	President
J. L. Johnson	Recorder
H. J. Freeman W. A. Sorsoleil M. Z. Epperson	Councilmen
Leonard Holmes	Treasurer
Pete Hall O. H. Peters	Justice of Peace
J. A. Dainard S. M. Dainard	Constable

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	51c	Butter	8@10c
Oats	12c	Eggs	8c
Barley	11c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.50
Flax	72c	Potatoes "	12½

LOCAL NEWS.

H. E. Ives returned from Crookston Friday.

Land hunters are coming in thick and fast now days.

Thomas Erwin of Fisher was in the village Friday.

J. A. Dainard will ship five car loads of cattle Friday.

O. W. Brink made a record selling seeders last week.

Sam Dainard is doing a rushing business in the horse line.

The first rain of the season fell last Saturday afternoon.

Cleaning rubbish from the back yards is the order of the day.

The way to help the paper is to have your neighbor to subscribe.

County Commissioner Norland made us a pleasant call Tuesday.

St. Hilaire is the nearest point to the best lands on the reservation.

Jos. Paradis made a short stay while on his way to Crookston to-day.

Miss Carrie M. Hoff left Monday for Park River, N. D., to visit her aunt.

We are informed Red Lake Falls will have another paper after this week.

Martin Hoff, Jr. was visiting friends at Thief River Falls a few days last week.

Bert McDougall of Thief River Falls spent the Sabbath in the village visiting friends.

Postmaster LePage and Alex. McKinnon of Crookston were at St. Hilaire Wednesday.

E. D. Childs of agricultural fame in the vicinity of Crookston was seen upon our streets Friday.

Two coaches and a caboose filled with "drummers" and land seekers passed through here Friday.

C. B. March of the Red River Lumber company of Crookston was in the village the first of the week.

Mr. Frank Dixon, of the firm of Mooney & Co., of Grand Forks was in town between trains to-day.

A foot bridge across the cooley to the school house would be appreciated by the teachers and pupils.

Misses Minnie Olson and Mary Quandy left on Wednesday's train for an extended visit in Crookston.

F. H. Martin shipped two car loads of stock to White Earth Monday. He has two cars on hand yet to ship.

The interior of the American House is now being papered by our local paper hanger and painter, Wm. Barragy.

Owing to the disagreeable weather Saturday evening, Rube Allyn was greeted with a very small audience.

Miss Mary Kyle, our primary teacher, arrived on Friday's train from Crookston where she spent her vacation.

Gov. Clough has designated April 21th as Arbor Day and earnestly request its observance by the people of the state.

Wm. Barregy, the painter and paper hanger, returned from Red Lake Falls Friday where he was working at his profession.

—Choice smoked hams 10 cts. per lb. Smoked shoulders at 8 cents, all other meats in proportion at the St. Hilaire Meat Market.

H. B. Hoff of Walsh county, North Dakota, cousin of S. M. and E. M. Hoff of this place, left on Monday's train after a brief visit.

W. Stranahan, the gentlemanly young clerk of Rapp & Post's store, has been making several trips to Crookston of late. Who said license?

Steps have been taken to have Broadway graveled to the depth of six inches, when this done, St. Hilaire will have a street equal to a paved one.

[illegible] was in town yesterday purchasing lumber.

R. A. Avelson of Black River was in the village the first of the week buying lumber for a new barn.

A. Hoppe of Black River township was in town yesterday after a summer's supply of Johnson & Marshall's flour.

Andrew Nelson of Wyandotte was a SPECTATOR visitor yesterday. Mr. Nelson will commence hauling lumber for his new barn as soon as the roads are in good condition.

School opened Monday, after a two weeks vacation, with a good attendance. Teachers and pupils are now in excellent condition to continue the good work for the remainder of the term.

Prof. J. B. O'Brien, who is down from St. Hilaire spending his vacation, has been written up by the SPECTATOR man who has many good words for him and wants to see him re-engaged as principal.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Martin Williams, who will be remembered as an old St. Hilairite, but now of Wadena, where he is running a saloon, contemplates returning and opening a saloon here. Mr. Williams return will be gladly hailed as our population would be increased by the addition of his seven boys.

The grand opening of the "Valhall Society" last Saturday evening was a success notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. We are authorized to announce that there will be a celebration in the hall on the 17th of May where a good time is assured and all are invited. Announcement later.

D. W. Stephens of West Superior was a pleasant caller last Friday. Mr. Stephens is one of the Red Lake pine estimators and will return to work in July. He expects to be on hand at the opening of the reservation and his knowledge of the country will be useful to those who have his assistance.

A team load of supplies for the Meehan drive on the Black Duck river headed for Red Lake arrived here Tuesday but owing to the impassable condition of the roads, they were obliged to turn back and go through by the way of Red Lake Falls. Owing to the ice in the river, the drive is not expected to start for some time yet.

Friday evening at the regular meeting of our Woodman Camp, J. L. Larson was treated to all the honors of Woodcraft. Applicants are so numerous that a special meeting had to be called Monday evening when Tobias Oidne was initiated. Three applications are pending; and the goat has to be treated very kindly that he may not get exhausted with constant riding.

Saturday, April 11th, was the Thirty-second anniversary of the birth of Mr. H. E. Ives. In the evening after the Rube Allyn show, Mr. Ives entertained a number of his friends with a banquet at his bachelor aparments in the Rapp & Post block. Music and laughter were in order, and the departing guests, one and all expressed themselves as having had a genuine good time. Mr. Ives as an entertainer, has but few equals.

The St. Hilaire locater dropped in by the rear door Saturday, and when confronted by the question of his where-abouts the past few days, implied that he had been out on the Clearwater. Now that wont do I. W., as it is generally known you have a tender spot in your heart for the opposite sex. Reports are somewhat conflicting but he admitted to being in Red Lake Falls and that he missed a ride to St. Hilaire by having to be at the N. P. depot to see the train out.

Tuesday night U. S. Commissioner John O. Hanchett closed his office as usual, securely bolted the door and left everything in proper shape. Wednesday morning he found that his Remington typewriter had been taken out through the window. No trace of it could be found. The burglar or burglars had entered from the roof, which is flat. Tearing off the sash they lowered the under half of the window and this affected an entrance. Up to date no trace of the missing article has been discovered.—R. L. F. Gazette.

The town of Dieter has a young lady holding down a claim that is made of the right kind of material to make a success in this world. Her name is Miss McKenzie and she came from Canton, N. D., with a horse and buggy all alone. When she got to the Red River she hired a boy to row her over in a boat and she swam the horse and carriage across. Her friends tried to persuade her not to attempt it, telling her she would lose both but she preferred to make the venture rather than go away up by Pembina, forty miles out of her way to cross on the bridge.—Roseau Region.

5 cents will buy two packages of garden seeds at Hall's.

Rube Allyn, the man who makes cartoons with his face, was driven out of Crookston by too much friendship and for a little recreation and notoriety found his way to Roseau. The humor of the trip from Stephen was of such a character that the eighty miles of rough roads was releived of the monotony at every postoffice where Rube hired an astonished native to kick him around the stage three times and out. The rising young humorist and elocutionist was accorded a kind reception by the people of Roseau and all who heard him in the evening got their moneys worth. Should Rube Allin ever visit Roseau again he will be received with open arms and a warm reception.—Roseau Times.

FOR SALE.

500 bushels of two rows (old country) barley, which grows stiff straw (will not lodge) and large kernels. For sale by P. O. Hegglund, St. Hilaire, Minn.

NEW STAGE LINE.

The people of St. Hilaire, Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls has repeatedly asked for a daily train, but no attention was given their appeals by Pres. Hill, notwithstanding the fact that his tri-weekly train is never on time—so crowded with passengers that standing room is at a premium, and freight shipped from the cities to these points is held several days in Crookston for the want of proper service to forward it!

Since we have to look to ourselves for daily service with our sister towns, it is almost a settled fact that a stage line will run to make connections with the Northern Pacific at Red Lake Falls to carry passengers and freight and make connections with the steamer at Thief River Falls for all Red Lake points. When the line is established it is the intention of St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls people to petition the U. S. postal authorities and have the stage line carry the daily mail. With this done, the Great Northern may lay off their go-as-you-please, as they seem to discriminate against us to favor other less prosperous districts.

The St. Hilaire Lumber Company's mill, which has been running steadily for the past two months, closed down to-day for repairs. The mill is equiped with a circular saw, but owing to the great press of orders, a gang saw, trimmer and edger will be put in. M. Z. Epperson, the manager informs us that he has just closed the contract with a logging concern for four million feet of pine logs, which he expects to drive inside of a week or two. These with the hardwood logs already on hand will keep the mill busy the whole summer. A large lumber yard will be opened and to facilitate shipping, a four track will be run in from the Great Northern tracks.

After Many Moons.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
Executive Department.
ST. PAUL, March, 30th 1896.

HENRY NORLAND, Esq.
St. Hilaire, Minn.

Dear Sir:—Referring to the report of a committee of the County Commissioners of Polk county in the matter of investigating into the conduct of C. M. Benson, Judge of Probate of Polk county, which was submitted to me for my consideration, I beg to advise you that all the papers in the case were referred to the Attorney General, who, upon examination of the matter, has returned the papers to me, together with his opinion that the evidence, taken as a whole, has but slight probative force and that as no formal charges were made, he recommends that the complaints be requested to formulate specific charges and specifications of the several acts of alleged misconduct of Mr. Benson.

In view of this fact, I am constrained to believe that I can take no official action in the matter and would suggest that if you desire to have same further investigated by me, you formulate charges and specifications as the Attorney General suggests, or submit the matter to the Grand Jury of your county for its consideration.

Yours very respectfully,
D. M. CLOUGH,
Governor.

After five weary money of patient toil, our worthy governor has at least decided that Judge Benson as an official is like Ceasar's wife—above reproach. Why the governor waited so long before making his decision is hard to state and we can only surmise the reason. It has been known for several months that the matter would be whitewashed by the governor in due time. Some are so mean as to state that if Judge Benson had not worked so hard organizing McKinley clubs, and of course work on the side to have the republicans of Polk county send a delegation to the state convention in favor of one David M. Clough for governor; things would have gone different. We feel like congratulating the republican party on their new convert—Judge Benson, and also on their governor, D. M. Clough. Both men should be rewarded by their party, and we sincerely hope they will.

It is settled that the northern division will lose its efficient superintendant, C. H. Jenks, that gentlemen having been promoted to the general superintendency of the Montana Central road. Mr. Jenks' experience and ability in railroading, especially qualify him for the duties of the new position, and his friends will be glad that he has received merited recognition and promotion, although they will regret that this will necessitate the removal of him and his estimable wife to the west. The promotion carries with it a large increase in salary. His successor has not yet been named, and speculation is active among railroad men, as to who will be. No one has hazarded a guess up to date.—Crookston Times.

UNCLE EPHRIAM IN POLITICS.

The fellow told me about the McGinley club in Crookston and how many sound men they got to sine the paper he had; he said that the famous head kommitti of that club was five of the strongest men in the county, two of them bankers and three was leadin saloon keepers.

I told him that I thot it was a strong combinashun, so strong that most of the pepul wood smell it when the wind blue from Crookston; then he sneered and said I was foolish. That riled me and made a trifle hot and I told him that the republercan party was no count enyhow; was not our party, but the party of the rich man and the plunderer and that here in Red River country nobody b'longed to it but bankers, saloon keepers, mashine agents, collection agents and a few of the meanest murchants and there followers and bond servants. I got hotter'n ever when he said, "you'd better leve the popelis, there nothing but a lot of low trash eny how, hay-seeds and buck-wheters" and I told him I'd rather assoshiate with onest farmers and men and wimen that work for a livin than to run with a lot of fellers that never ern a dollar for themselves, but when the farmer erns it, he sets traps to catch him and the dollar, and he said "Yes, take a drink give us two, Matt—on the state." I went out then to see if the old woman was reddy to go hum. Who do think it was,

We said we didn't know.

When I told the fellow we had no use for the republercan party eny longer, that we supported it just as long as it was the party of the perple, but now it had left us to go with the bankers and railroad managers, and we cant go with it, its agin our principuls; he said, "Do you think it would be wise to leave the grand old republican for such a small matter as that?" I didn't answer him I was too hot to do it.

"What a fool you made of yourself Ephriam, the old woman said when I told her. I wouldn't talk with such a thick-headed fools. I've no use for enybody who haint got sense enuf to vote for the best interest of his own folks.

RICH DISCOVERIES OF GOLD.

At Cripple Creek, Colo., and elsewhere, are being made daily, and the production for 1896 will be the largest ever known, estimated at Two Hundred Million Dollars. Cripple Creek alone is producing over One Million Dollars a month, and steadily increasing. Mining Stocks are advancing in price more rapidly than any other Stocks, and many pay dividends of 25 to 50 per cent. They offer the best opportunity to make a large profit on a small investment.

J. E. MORGAN & CO., 45 Broadway, New York, are financial agents for the Prudential Gold Mining Co., and others, in the famous Cripple Creek district. They will send you free, interesting particulars of the Mining Companies they represent, also their book on speculation in Stocks, Grain and Cotton, containing many new and important features.

Send for these books at once if you are interested in any form of speculation or investments. They may prove profitable to you. 37-5

THINGS ONE DOESN'T NOTICE.

Can You Draw a True Representation of Your Watch Dial?

The observing man, whose close and microscopic methods of observation have caused him to note the carelessness of his fellow men and who always sees things which no other man sees or seeing cares about, was holding forth. He was expatiating on the lack of development of the bump of observation in the average man.

"Now, to illustrate," he said. "If you should find your desk in another kind of disorder than the one in which you usually leave it; if everything should be on top instead of on the bottom; if your good natured friend should scowl or your morose friend greet you with a smile; if you should find the pictures in your rooms changed about, or if you found a new face at your favorite newsstand, you would notice it and remark the change and pat yourself on the back and think, 'What a close observer I am!' But how many of you can tell me," he continued, "what words are printed on an elevated railway ticket? Every one of you buys from two to six tickets every day, and how many have looked at them closely enough to say what is printed on them?"

No one knew, although the party was large.

"It isn't a fair test," said one. "One buys a ticket, rushes away with it, throws it in the box and 'steps lively' to get a place in the car. He is glad to get rid of the piece of paper. Not one man in twenty keeps a ticket long enough to look at it closely. It's not a fair test."

"Possibly not," said the observing man, "but how about a watch? No man carries a watch without looking at it carefully several times a day, and yet how many men know how the dials of their watches are marked?"

"Why, everybody does," said one, and then the observing man smiled.

With the aid of a coin and a pencil eight men each made a circle on a piece of paper, and then, with excuses for bad drawing, made what each thought was a copy of his watch dial. Some made Roman and others made Arabic characters. Some had the fourth figure 4, some IV and some IIII. Seven were wrong. One drawing, on which the sixth space was blank, saved the party from the sneers of the observing man.

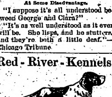
Investigation showed that of the 16 watches in the party the dials of 14 had no six, and that two had a part of the Roman six where the characters were not entirely obliterated by the second dial.—New York Tribune.

At Some Disadvantage.

"I suppose it's all understood between George and Clara?"

"It's as well understood as it ever will be. She lisps, and he stutters, and they're both a little deaf."—Chicago Tribune.

Red - River - Kennels.



☞English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

Rapp & Post.

General Merchants.

FRED EIKHOFF
DEALER IN
SHELF AND HEAVY Hardware
HEADQUARTERS FOR
Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,
DEALER IN
Drugs and Stationery
St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

American Hotel
W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.
Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.
Special attention given to traveling men, hunting and fishing parties. St. Hilaire, Minn.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,
NORTH SIDE ROLLER MILLS!
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily
Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain,
Constant supply of Flour and Feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞Warehouse on rail road track.
W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Shelf and HEAVY
hardware
Car load of Barb wire and Nails just arrived. We compete with T. M. Roberts & Co., or any other firm, on prices.
Rapp & Post.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

Cyrus C. Aldrich, Morristown, Minn., bee hive; Royal L. Boulter, Grand Forks, N. D., bicycle boat; Harry L. Burrill, St. Paul, Minn., car seal; Jas. R. Farnham, Minneapolis, Minn., butter tongs; H. T. J. Gilbert, Royalton, Minn., mail bag fastener; Charles B. Johnson, Virginia, Minn., drill puller; John A. Kirwin, Spring Valley, Minn., cord tension attachment; Nils Nilson, Minneapolis, Minn., steam trap; Willis E. Robinson, Faribault, Minn., shade for electric lights; Herman Steeck, Winona, Minn., wagon; Charles B. Struble and C. S. Turner, Minneapolis, Minn., vegetable slicer; Otto H. L. Wernicke, Minneapolis, Minn., sectional book case; Otto H. L. Wernicke and M. C. Burr, Minneapolis, Minn., separable book case; Danforth Cole, Minneapolis, Minn., toilet tablet for the bath and toilet stand (trade-mark); Foot, Schulze & Co., St. Paul, Minn., (trade mark), boots and shoes.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912, Pioneer Press Bldg., St. Paul, Minn.

A New Danger.

"There are 'new-woman' burglars now," he announced, looking up from his newspaper.

"Oh, dear!" she sighed. "I suppose that means we will have to lock up our fashion plates, patterns, ribbons and bonbons, as well as the silver."—Chicago Evening Post.

BLISS TRIUMPH POTATOES

at $1 a bushel; $2 a bbl. of 11 big pecks; 3 bbls. for $5. No potato is earlier; or one-half barrel of Triumphs and one-half barrel of late for $2.25; 3 bbls. for $6.

To get these low prices

Cut This Out and Send the Money

along to the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., and get Salzer's Pedigree Potatoes at above cheap prices! Good until April 25th, 1896. W. N.

Too Visible.

"Arrested for having visible means of support?" they repeated after her in wonder.

The prisoner at the bar stood with bowed head.

"Yes," she faltered; "my bloomers were not quite as full as the law contemplates, I guess."—Detroit Tribune.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is our only medicine for coughs and colds.—Mrs. C. Beltz, 439 8th ave., Denver, Col., Nov. 8, '95.

During an eight months' tour Jenny Lind netted £50,000.

Mothers

Anxiously watch declining health of their daughters. So many are cut off by consumption in early years that there is real cause for anxiety. In the early stages, when not beyond the reach of medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla will restore the quality and quantity of the blood and thus give good health. Read the following letter:

"It is but just to write about my daughter Cora, aged 19. She was completely run down, declining, had that tired feeling, and friends said she would not live over three months. She had a bad and nothing seemed to do her any good. I happened to read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and had her give it a trial. From the very first dose she began to get better. After taking a few bottles she was completely cured and her health has been the best ever since." Mrs. Addie Peck, 12 Railroad Place, Amsterdam, N. Y.

Cough

"I will say that my mother has not stated my case in as strong words as I would have done. Hood's Sarsaparilla has truly cured me and I am now well." Cora Peck, Amsterdam, N. Y.

Be sure to get Hood's, because

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, reliable and beneficial. 25c.

A Farm for Every Man.

Choice lands, suitable for stock raising, dairying, or grain producing. Timber and mineral resources unsurpassed. Within easy reach of railroads; schools and churches in NORTHERN WISCONSIN along the line of the Wisconsin Central Railroad. We will gladly furnish general information and promptly answer all inquiries concerning them. Address for free pamphlet FREDERICK ABBOT, Land Commissioner, Wisconsin Central R. R., Milwaukee, Wis.

WALL PAPER FREE

Would be dearer than ALABASTINE, which does not require to be taken off to renew, does not harbor germs, but destroys them, and any one can brush it on. Sold by all paint dealers. Write for card with samples.

ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS, but sell direct to the consumer at wholesale prices, ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Write for catalogue. ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., ELKHART, IND. W. B. Pratt, Secy.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS

The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.

J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist, ST. PAUL, MINN.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM

Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

CRIPPLE CREEK Write for what you want to THE MECHEM INVESTMENT CO., 113 Jackson St., Chicago, Ill.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

Who Was The Thief.

"Mrs. Melhurst's compliments, sir, and would you please come down to her stateroom immediately?"

I had just shut myself into my little office on deck, having run through the ship's accounts before turning in that night. It is quite a mistake, by the way, to think that we pursers have no more onerous duties to perform when at sea than to watch over the passengers' comfort read prayers on Sunday, and keep a store of nautical information at our finger-ends for the benefit of every curious voyager. Nowadays the purser of a crack American liner—making perhaps a record passage of six days or so—has his work pretty well cut out for him during the entire voyage.

On the present occasion I had scarcely got my accounts fairly in hand when I was interrupted by a slight tap at the door. I rose at once and opened it, and there stood Mrs. Melhurst's Canadian maid, with flushed face and nervous, agitated manner.

"Is there anything wrong?" I asked, with some surprise, when she had delivered her message.

"There is, sir," she replied, hastily. "All I know"—

She was about to make some eager statement, but pulled herself up suddenly and tripped along the deck without another word.

I switched off the electric light, locked the door and hurried away after her. When I got to Mrs. Melhurst's stateroom, I saw at once that something had occurred to cause her serious anxiety. The berths, the couch, and even the floor were littered with the contents of cabin trunks and handbags. In the midst of the confusion stood the lady herself, looking decidedly perplexed and annoyed.

"This is very singular, Mr. Morse," she said, pointing to an empty jewel case which lay open on the upper berth. "My diamond ornaments are missing."

"You don't say so!" I exclaimed in sheer amazement.

"I do say so," she replied sharply. "You can see for yourself that they are gone."

"How did it happen?"

"I cannot possibly tell you. At dinner this evening I happened to mention to Mrs. Latimer that I had picked up a curious crescent shaped brooch on the continent. She expressed a wish to see it. When the tables were cleared, I came in here, took out the brooch and left the jewel case lying on the berth. I was careful to lock the cabin door, but when I got back the case was empty."

"How long were you absent?"

"Not more than half an hour."

"Not more than half an hour?"

"You are sure you had the key in your possession all the time?"

"Positive. I never let it out of my hand while I was in the saloon."

I was fairly staggered. I examined the lock carefully, but there was absolutely nothing to show that it had been tampered with. I could hit upon no better suggestion than that Mrs. Melhurst might possibly have mislaid the jewels somewhere. This had the sole effect of exasperating the lady to such a degree—for it seems that she had already searched every hole and corner in the cabin—that I was glad to beat a retreat in order to lay the matter before the captain.

I had just got to the head of the saloon stairs when I heard some one bounding up after me, three or four steps at a time. I turned and saw a Mr. Carter—who, by the way, had made several voyages with us on previous occasions.

"I say, Morse," he said, taking me confidently by the arm, "you've got some queer customers on board this ship."

"How so?"

"Why, some one's gone and walked off with my silver cigarette case, a couple of rings and a pair of gold"—

"The deuce!"

"Well, it looks uncommonly like as if the individual you refer to had a hand in the business, for I don't see how any ordinary mortal could get into one's cabin, with the door bolted on the inside, unless he managed to squeeze through the porthole."

"Tell me exactly what has happened?"

"My dear fellow, how can I? It's enough to puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer! You see, I went to my stateroom after dinner, feeling a bit drowsy. I bolted the door—I can swear to that—and I remember flinging the cigarette case, rings and a pair of gold sleeve links on the upper berth. When I put on my dressing gown, stretched myself upon the couch, and had a downright good snooze. When I got up, about five minutes ago, I found my trinkets had vanished."

'Pon my word, things were beginning to look serious, and no mistake! I lost no time in hunting up the captain and made him acquainted with the state of affairs. He was just as much puzzled as I was myself. The first thing next morning he sent a message to Mrs. Melhurst, requesting a private interview in his cabin on deck. He also signified his wish that I should be present. We both questioned the lady closely, but her replies did not tend to throw any light upon the singular occurrence.

Nevertheless we determined to keep a close watch upon the staterooms in future. It was pretty evident we had a "black sheep" on board—probably an old hand at the business. For the next few days we had no further complaints. The thief was evidently "lying low," waiting until tranquility was restored before making a fresh attempt. Meanwhile I kept my eyes open., I observed the little peculiarities of the different passengers and took particular note of the manner in which they occupied their time.

On board ship, when you find a man who shows a marked preference for his own society above that of the loungers on deck or habitues of the smokeroom, one is inclined to jump at the conclusion that he has some solid reasons for his exclusiveness. If, in addition to this, he happens to be of an uncommunicative disposition, with black hair and swarthy complexion, given to wearing a slouched hat and long cloak, rightly or wrongly you put him down as a decidedly suspicious character.

Now we happened to have a passenger on board—a Brazilian named De Castro—who tallied in every way with this description. But for the fact I had conclusive evidence to show he could not have been directly concerned in the robberies—for inquiries proved he had remained on deck the whole evening—he certainly would have been treated to a private interview in the captain's cabin. As it was, I was forced to conclude that black hair, swarthy complexion, slouched hat and cloak were quite compatible with a man's innocence.

Nothing further occurred to excite suspicion until the last day or two of the voyage. Then, one evening after dinner, word was brought to me that three other state rooms had been rifled in the same mysterious manner. Watches, jewelry and even money had disappeared, though in all three cases the passengers stoutly declared they had left their doors locked.

When the alarm reached me I happened to be standing in my deck office. I had in my hand twenty sovereigns which I had just taken in exchange for American money to accommodate one of our passengers. I didn't wait to lock up the gold. I simply placed it on my desk, switched off the light and hurried away. I had no fears for the safety of the sovereigns, my door having a particularly intricate lock, in which I took good care to turn the key before leaving.

I remained below for an hour or so investigating these fresh complaints, but, as in the other cases, I was utterly unable to make head or tail of them. Vexed and bewildered, I went back to my office, unlocked the door, turned on the light, and mechanically stretched out my hand to take the sovereigns from my desk. My hand closed upon nothing more solid than thin air—my little pile of gold had vanished!

For a minute or two I stood there gazing blankly before me, so utterly confused and dismayed that I could scarcely bring my wits to bear upon the mysterious affair. Then I managed to pull myself together and took a look around the little cabin. In the course of my observations my eyes happened to rest upon the port-hole, which stood wide open, the weather being oppressively hot.

I regarded the innocent looking port-hole with the air of a veritable Sherlock Holmes. I went outside and thrust my arm in through the opening, but my hand did not reach within fully two yards of the desk. Still it struck me as being the only way by which the thief could have got at the money, and I determined to put my theory to a practical test.

I hurried down into the saloon, where most of the passengers were congregated. As yet few of them were aware of the robberies, for we had kept the matter as secret as possible. I went straight up to a young American gentleman, who I knew had a great many trinkets in his stateroom, and was rather careless, too, in the way he left them lying about.

"Don't show any surprise," I whispered, glancing round at the occupants of the saloon, "but might I ask whether your state room is locked?"

"It is."

"And is the port hole open?"

"I should think so. I don't want to find the place as stuffy as the engine room when I go to turn in."

"Well, just pass me your key. I want to try a little experiment. Wait till I'm gone and then stroll up on deck. Let yourself be seen—on the lower deck particularly—but don't pay too close attention to any one you may notice loitering there."

He fell in readily with my scheme. I went and shut myself in his stateroom, crouching down so that I could just keep an eye on the port hole over the top of the lower berth. I remained in that cramped position until my limbs fairly ached, and I was half inclined to give it up as a bad job.

But suddenly, as I glanced up at the port hole, my blood ran cold, and in all my life I never had such difficulty to keep down a yell. In the dim light I saw a long, thin, hairy arm thrust in through the opening! The next moment a small black hand had fastened upon a leather case lying close to the window and withdrawn it as quick as thought almost.

I sprang to my feet and bolted out into the passage. I dashed up the saloon stairs and made for the lower deck. There, just above the spot where I judged the state room to be situated, I came fact to face with the Brazilian, De Castro. In spite of the heat he was wearing his long cloak with the deep cape and had his eternal cigarette between his teeth. He looked at me with an air of frank surprise, and I looked at him with an air of profound suspicion.

Suddenly a happy thought flashed through my mind. I turned round and sprang down the saloon stairs, running full tilt against the chief steward, who was standing at the bottom.

"Nuts!" I cried, without giving him time to recover from his surprise.

Really he looked at me with such utter consternation I verily believe he was convinced I had taken leave of my senses.

"Do you hear?" I went on excitedly. "Get me a handful of nuts—quick!"

When he brought them, I hurried back on deck. The Brazilian had moved away a little toward the stern. I went close up, stood right in front of him, and then began deliberately to crack the nuts.

He regarded me with a pitying sort of look, but I paid little attention to him. I was watching that cloak of his. Presently I saw a corner of the cape drawn aside and beheld a pair of small gleaming eyes fixed greedily upon me.

It was enough. My suspicions were confirmed. I flung the rest of the nuts into the sea, and walking straight up to De Castro said:

"I must ask you to accompany me to the captain's cabin?"

"Vot you mean?" he cried, drawing back.

I was determined to stand no nonsense and straightway took him by the shoulders. The moment I laid my hands upon him I heard a vicious snarl under his cape. It was pulled suddenly aside and out flew a monkey.

The little brute went at me tooth and nail. I saw the gleam of a knife, too, in the Brazilian's hand, but I let him have my fist straight between the eyes before he could use it, and he measured his length upon the deck.

The quartermaster came running up and the rascal was dragged off to the captain's cabin. When searched there, Mrs. Melhurst's diamonds, Mr. Carter's cigarette case and rings and a miscellaneous collection of other valuables were found upon him. In his stateroom we discovered a perforated box, apparently intended for the use of the monkey, who was evidently quite as accomplished a thief as his master.—Cassell's Journal.

A Boy's Rapid and Fatal Growth.

Patrick Casey, a young Bridgeport boy, in the middle of August last was five feet high. He then began to shoot upward, and kept at it until the middle of the following October, when he was six feet three inches. This was an average of a quarter of an inch a day, or nearly seven feet a year. His age then was seventeen years. Casey was unable to withstand this enormous strain upon his constitution, and he died the following November. Before his death his hair turned from red to jet black. The physicians accounted for the change on the theory that the tincture of iron that had been given to him as a tonic had entered into his blood and acted upon the hair. His case puzzled the doctors, but no autopsy was held on the remains, owing to the objections of the family.—Boston Post.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Obviously the Proper Head.

Copy Reader—Here's a despatch about a two-headed girl born in Alabama. What shall I do with it?"

Night Editor—Put a double head over it, of course, and mark it small caps.—Chicago Tribune.

CUT PRICES ON PLANET, JR., GOODS.

We are not in the senseless combine to charge two prices for Planet, Jr., tools. It is all nonsense in these hard times to ask for fancy prices for garden cultivators and drills when iron and wages are so cheap. Show our prices to your hardware merchants. Show them to everybody! Planet, Jr., combined drills, other seedsmen's price $9.00, our price $6.75; Planet, Jr., double-wheel hoes $6.00, our price $4.50, and so on! Potatoes, $1.50 a barrel. All prices for seeds low.

Cut This Out and Send Money

Cut this out and send money along with order to the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., to insure getting above low prices. Mammoth catalogue, 5c postage. w.n.

Another Penalty of Greatness.

The gifted but impecunious literary genius wrote an impassioned letter to a personal friend, asking him in the name of sweet charity to lend him $10 to keep him from starving.

"I may not get the $10," he soliloquized bitterly, as he sealed it, "but some day a mercenary grandchild of his will get $100 for this letter."—Chicago Tribune.

"I have tried Parker's Ginger Tonic and believe in it," says a mother, and so will you say when familiar with its vitalizing properties.

Haydn had produced several masses and operas together with a quantity of instrumental music, before he was seventeen.

Just how it does it is not the question. It is enough to know that Hindercorns takes out the corns, and a very pleasing relief it is. 15c. at druggists.

Fuller published his first church history at twenty-three. He often said later in life that he had never exceeded that first work.

DR. J. G. GRANT, Specialist. Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Syndicate Block, Minneapolis. (Spectacles fitted.)

Congreve produced "The Old Bachelor" at twenty-one, and "Love for Love" at twenty-three. Each is esteemed a masterpiece of its kind.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

A Futile Prescription.

Dr. Ebony—Ef yo' ties you sock 'round your froat fer one dey, dat cold will all be gone.

Mr. Black—But, docto', won't I ketch fraish cold by not habbin' de sock on mah foot?—Indianapolis Journal.

HEART FAILURE,

Is as Rapid and Fatal in its Action as a Stroke of Lightning.

THE Daily Press is constantly announcing deaths of people, more or less prominent, from heart-failure; they were well, as they thought, a few hours before; "never felt better" than just previous to the attack, and yet in a few hours are dead. What does it mean? What is the reason? Simply, that from inattention they have allowed their systems to get run-down, have let their blood become weak and impure, and the result is a sudden and fatal illness.

Nature has been at work silently and unfelt, until from some slight exertion the weak parts of the human engine breaks down, and the end overtakes the sufferer almost before he knows he is sick. If a little more care had been taken to keep the system "toned up" and in perfect condition, and above all, the blood pure, these sudden collapses could be avoided. For this purpose there is no remedy on earth so efficient as Kickapoo Indian Sagwa; made as it is from roots, barks, herbs and gums of the forest. This remedy is without a parallel for keeping the body strong, healthy and well. It accomplishes its wonderful results by purifying the blood, and regulating the stomach, liver and kidneys. It should be taken regularly at this season of the year, when all nature is undergoing a change, as it will prevent the blood from becoming vitiated.

The Indians have used it successfully for centuries. Their continual perfect health and longevity, and the fact that sudden strokes, such as heart failure, apoplexy, and kindred ailments are unknown to them is due to the fact that from their birth they have used Kickapoo Indian Sagwa. If you are not feeling just right, and cannot locate the trouble take this wonderful medicine before it is too late. You do not know what minute you may be overtaken by some dire calamity. Health attends its use always. All druggists sell it. $1.00 a bottle, 6 bottles for $5.00.

TALE OF A MONKEY.

Leader Louis Grenner Tells It and It Points a Moral.

Leader Louis Grenner, of the Roscoe Conkling Republican club of the twenty-seventh assembly district, tells this story of a monkey, with a moral to it:

"The wife of a friend had a pet monkey of the name of Pete. Pete was a clever little rascal, who knew all the children in the neighborhood, and was well liked. Whenever a child was sick the parent would come to my friend's wife and get a loan of Pete for a day or two. He would amuse the sick child by his queer antics and do it more good than all the doctors and medicine in New York. But Pete was a thief. He could not help stealing, but he stole only for the sake of eating. He loved sugar, eggs and pastry, and would take all sorts of chances to obtain what he liked. One day, only a short time ago, my friend's wife was about to make a cake. She beat the eggs and sugar into a large china dish and was about to put in the raisins and flour when she had to leave the room. After she left the room Pete seized that dish and emptied it. Then he quickly devoured the raisins. When my friend's wife returned she found the best part of the intended cake gone. She knew who did it, although to look at Pete no one would suspect him, he looked so innocent.

"When Pete did anything wrong he was deprived of his liberty by being tied up to his cage. He was punished in that way on this particular occasion, and was put outside the window on the sill. My friend lived on the second floor. About an hour later Pete's mistress went into the yard and looking up saw Pete. He was mad clean through and kept chatting and showed his teeth. The lady shook her hand at Pete and said: 'You're a naughty monk, Pete. This made Pete wild and the next moment he picked up his cage, forgetting that he picked up his it, and hurled it at my friend's wife. Of course Pete went with the cage and landed head first on the pavement in the yard. He fell fully forty feet and was instantly killed. My friend felt sorry about Pete's death, but it taught him a lesson, never to let his temper control his actions. Pete was buried in the back yard, and over his grave is a tombstone on which is inscribed, 'Sacred to the Memory of Pete, Whose Temper Cost Him His Life. Kind Friends Take Warning.'"

SPEAR AGAINST RIFLE.

The Cold Steel of Savages Not to Be Despised in Battle.

There is trouble ahead for the expedition up the Nile, if the dervishes have become good riflemen, as a cable dispatch from London reports, on the authority of a correspondent of the "Army and Navy Gazette." According to this correspondent, the dervishes can now deliver a deadly rifle fire which will enable them to combine European tactics with formidable onsets of cavalry and spearmen in the old style. He adds that the British tactics of forming squares and waiting the shock of battle will no longer answer against the Mahdists, and, if persisted in, will result in rout and ruin.

In the stubborn fighting between the British and the Mahdists during the expeditions of 1884 and 1885, the square was a favorite formation with the British, who met in this way the fiery charges of the dervishes at Tamai and Abou Klea. Such tactics were sound enough under the military conditions then existing, as the tribes had few rifles and little skill with this weapon. Thus solid formations, which would have crumbled to pieces under fire, offered the best means of meeting the desperate rushes of the Soudanese spearmen. How formidable these charges were was shown at the battle of Tamai, where the Hadendowas crushed in the face of a British square, captured several Gatling guns, and forced the "Black Watch," one of the toughest fighting regiments in the British service, to give ground.

We said at the time that if the Arabs ever attained skill as marksmen, so that their rifle fire would match the excellence of their spear work, the British would have to give up the idea of fighting in squares and face the charges of the tribesmen in open order. If, as the correspondent of the "Army and Navy Gazette" asserts, the dervishes are now able to combine firearms effectively with the cold steel, the Anglo-Egyptian troops have a far more formidable task before them in their present invasion of the Soudan than Sir Gerald Graham and Sir Herbert Stewart had to deal with in the expedition of 1884 and 1885.—Boston Herald.

The Evolution of Revolution.

Mr. D. H. Perry, in writing the story of Waterloo for Cassell's "Battles of the Nineteenth Century," gives an interesting series of quotations from the Moniteur, announcing the escape of Napoleon from his first exile in Elba, and his advance on Paris. The evolution of phrases is amusing from "cannibal" to "usurper," from "usurper" to "his imperial majesty:"

The cannibal has left his den.

The Corsican wolf has landed in the Bay of San Juan.

The tiger has arrived at Gay.

The wretch spent the night at Grenoble,

The tyrant has arrived at Lyons.

The usurper has been seen within fifty miles of Paris.

Buonaparte is advancing with great rapidity, but he will not set his foot inside the walls of Paris.

To-morrow Napoleon will be at our gates!

The emperor has arrived at Fountainebleau.

His Imperial Majesty Napoleon entered Paris yesterday, surrounded by his loyal subjects.

The Decline of Needlework.

The decay of the fine art of needlework is one of the accepted conditions of the moment. As to preserve that which was, but is threatened not to be, is a much-affected pursuit just now, some one of the many women's clubs should turn its attention to this matter. Not long ago a New York periodical published a paper of some length on old-fashioned sewing, in which hemming, running, felling and the various other ways of our grandmothers with the needle were duly set forth. To many readers—to most, probably, of the young women whose eyes fell upon it—it told of strange and unknown tricks with the tiny steel instrument. Even older women who glanced over it doubtless said: "Yes, I learned such sewing when I was a child, but it is years since I have done any of it." Pretty soon to sew will be one of the lost arts, and then we shall be having parlor lectures on it.

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, Ohio.

We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm.

West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Price 75c per bottle. Sold by all Druggists. Testimonials free.

Hall's Family Pills, 25c.

Self-Evidence.

"Mr. Moddlin," said that gentleman's wife, in a horrified tone, "you are drunk."

"Guesh I might be," assented Moddlin, cheerfully, "or else I wouldn't (hic) let you shee me in this (hic) c'ndishun."—Springfield (Mo.) Leader-Democrat.

The Rack, the Thumbscrew and the Boot

Were old-fashioned instruments of torture long since abandoned, but there is a tormentor who still continues to agonize the joints, muscles and nerves of many of us. The rheumatism, that inveterate foe to daily and nightly comfort, may be conquered by the timely and steady use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which likewise eradicates neuralgia, bilious, malarial, bowel, stomach and nerve complaints.

Following Instructions.

Mr. Nuwed—Is all the ice gone?

Mrs. Nuwed—Yes. The cook book said to boil the potatoes in cold water, and I used it all in keeping the water cold while they were boiling, and the horrid things are not soft yet.—Washington Times.

When Traveling

Whether on pleasure bent, or business, take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver, and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches, and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50 cent and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company only.

No Time for Emancipation.

Mr. Newera—I thought your wife was a new woman.

Mr. Muchblest—Well, she was. But she has sort of given it up.

Mr. Newera—What made her give up?

Mr. Muchbest—The new baby.—Puck.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Keeping Track of Them.

Elder Berry—Jobbts offers to subscribe toward the new church bells under certain conditions.

Dr. Thirdly—What?

Elder Berry—He wants to put them on the members.

1,000 Farms for Sale.

Only 10 per cent Cash balance one half Crop each Year or instalment p'a't. J. A. Walters, 109 4th St. So. Minneapolis, Minn.

Sir Humphrey Davy, whose discoveries in science were the admiration of his age, communicated many of them to the public under the name of "An Angler."

Rations for Growing Pigs.

Replying to the question, "What is the best rations for pigs after weaning to insure quick growth and best results?" A. J. Lovejoy says in Breeders' Gazette: "This would depend on circumstances. If for forcing pigs for show purposes, regardless of expense, I would recommend fresh warm milk, just as it comes from the cow, with fine corn meal. But if for other purposes I would say use wheat middlings mixed with ground corn and oats in equal quantities, and then adding one-fifth part oil meal, all made into slop with skim-milk instead of water. This with the run of clover pasture and some extra feed, such as shelled corn soaked or ground oats and corn dry, either fed between meals or kept where the pigs can have access to it, will produce a pig ready for market about as soon as any I have ever tried. If skimmed milk cannot be had use water.

Feed all feed sweet. Charcoal and ashes and salt kept where they can go to it and eat what they want will be of great benefit.

Taylor was the court chaplain at twenty-seven, and said afterward that he preached his best sermon before attaining that age.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

The Remedy with a Record.

50 Years of Cures

Webster's International Dictionary

The One Great Standard Authority, So writes Hon. D. J. Brewer, Justice U. S. Supreme Court.

Send a Postal for Specimen Pages, etc.

Successor of the "Unabridged."

Standard of the U. S. Gov't Printing Office, the U. S. Supreme Court, all the State Supreme Courts, and of nearly all the Schoolbooks.

Warmly Commended by State Superintendents of Schools, and other Educators almost without number.

THE BEST FOR EVERYBODY BECAUSE

It is easy to find the word wanted.
It is easy to ascertain the pronunciation.
It is easy to trace the growth of a word.
It is easy to learn what a word means.

The Chicago Times-Herald says:— Webster's International Dictionary in its present form is absolute authority on everything pertaining to our language in the way of orthography, orthoepy, etymology, and definition. From it there is no appeal. It is as perfect as human effort and scholarship can make it.—Dec. 14, 1895.

G. & C. MERRIAM CO., Publishers, Springfield, Mass., U.S.A.

Pain often concentrates all its Misery in RHEUMATISM. Use at once ST. JACOBS OIL if you want to feel it concentrate its healing in a cure.

A. D. 1780.

Try Walter Baker & Co.'s Cocoa and Chocolate and you will understand why their business established in 1780 has flourished ever since. Look out for imitations.

Walter Baker & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass.

"A very smooth article."

Battle Ax PLUG

Don't compare "Battle Ax" with low grade tobaccos—compare "Battle Ax" with the best on the market, and you will find you get for 5 cents almost as much "Battle Ax" as you do of other high grade brands for 10 cents.

Minn. Hist. Society

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XV. | ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY APRIL 22, 1896. | NUMBER 38.

THE NEWS RESUME.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

A Comprehensive Review of the Important Happenings of the Past Week Culled From the Telegraph Reports—The Notable Events at Home and Abroad That Have Attracted Attention.

The Nation's Capital.

President Cleveland has accepted an invitation to deliver an address at the 150th anniversary of the founding of Princeton college.

A Chicago seed firm has preferred charges against Secretary Morton in connection with the award of contracts. In the same connection Iowa parties have sued him for libel.

United States Consul Hammond, at Budapest, transmitted to the state department an interesting report upon the millenial exhibit at that place to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the foundation of Hungary.

People Talked About.

M. Tricoupis, formerly premier of Greece, is dead, at the age of sixty-four years.

Miss Eva Booth, youngest daughter of Gen. Booth, has been appointed commander of the Salvation Army in Canada and Newfoundland.

Louis Benziger, founder of the American Catholic publishing house of Benziger Brothers, died of pneumonia on Staten Island, N. Y. He was born in Switzerland more than sixty years ago.

Accidental Happenings.

At Detroit, Mich., fire destroyed the entire plant of the Michigan Beef and Provision company. The total loss is placed between $85,000 and $90,000.

The Central school building at Saginaw, Mich., was destroyed by fire recently. It was built in 1866 at a cost of $90,000.

Bertha Dakin, eleven years old, and Alice Grant, two years old, grandchildren of Nelson Bishop, with whom they lived, were burned to death in their bed. Mr. Bishop managed to escape after being seriously burned.

An explosion has taken place in a colliery at Willington, Eng. Eight miners are known to have been killed, and it is believed that eighteen persons in all will lose their lives through the disaster.

By a rear-end collision of two freight trains on the Gasconade bridge of the Missouri Pacific at Sedalia, Mo., at midnight, four tramps were more or less hurt and one span of the bridge torn down.

The steamer Willapa from Alaska brings news of a terrible explosion in the new tunnel between the Treadwell and Mexican mines, which occurred on Friday afternoon, April 3. Four men were badly injured and were so horribly mutilated that they died in agony.

By the explosion of a convertor at the works of the American Glucose company at Peoria, Ill., this morning John Hoey and a man named Burns were instantly killed. John Wilson, Matt Connolly and John Dooley were badly injured.

Crimes and Criminals.

Davies, the Peru bank wrecker, recently captured in New York, broke jail at Winterset, Iowa.

It is reported that the late Paul Schulze of Tacoma robbed a St. Paul syndicate of $600,000.

Charles Lewis, author of "Valentine's Christmas," a curtain-raiser used by Sol Smith Russell, committed suicide at Danville, Ill.

John Tyler Cooper, grandson of ex-President Tyler, was indicted in Atlanta, Ga., by the grand jury for embezzlement of county funds.

L. C. Rissler, a sewing machine agent, who was sandbagged in Ottumwa, Iowa, several months ago, has become insane, and was removed to the asylum at Mount Pleasant.

Romulus Cottrell, alias John Smith, despite his written confession of the murder of the Stone family at Tallmadge, Ohio, has entered a plea of not guilty.

John Rapp, a dog-catcher of St. Louis, who murdered John Hopner, aged sixteen, whom he claims threw a stone at him, has been sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

Charles Morris, the confessed murderer of Mr. and Mrs. Douthetts, committed suicide at Xenia, Ohio, by cutting his throat, when told to get ready to go to Columbus to hang.

Fulton W. Worcester, lumber dealer and leading citizen of Whitehall, Ill., was shot twice with a revolver by a burglar in his bed chamber. The burglar then jumped out of the window and escaped.

At Madisonville, Ky., recently a negro named Henry Edmunds, who had not been living with his wife for some time, slipped into her home and, after beating her in a terrible manner, shot her to death.

Editor Charles Branscomb of the South Haven (Kas.) New Era was mortally wounded in a shooting affray between A. A. Richards, editor of the Wellington Daily Mail, and Robert Simmons, editor of the Caldwell News.

Agris Anderson has been arrested at Glenwood Springs, Col., on a charge of exploding a charge of giant powder under the residence of James W. Ross. The house was totally destroyed, but the family of three escaped death.

Oran Poindexter, a lad twelve years of age, was arrested at his home, four miles north of Coburg, Or., and was brought to Eugene, on a charge of attempting to kill the family of Mrs. Hiram Smith, who lives on a farm farm adjoining that of the Poindexters.

Frederick Merritt shot and killed his wife in her bed room, at their home in Brooklyn. Then, standing before a mirror in an adjoining room, he fired a bullet into his right temple. Death was instantaneous in both instances. Jealousy prompted the crime.

Foreign Gossip.

The Ontario marine department has been advised that the bark Elsie, stranded near Salt Lake, Anticosti, was burned to the water's edge.

Prof. Quidde has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment at Munich, after having been convicted of lese majeste.

Mr. Belley, M. P., is authority for the statement that before entering the next political campaign, Sir Charles Tupper, premier of Canada, will enter the Roman Catholic communion.

Cecil Rhodes, who has been suffering for several days from fever, is now much better. He proposes to march to Buluwayo with the column of troops intended for the relief of that place.

Count Von Lamberg and Princess Dorothea von Hohenlohe, the youngest daughter of Prince Constantine von Hohenlohe-Schillingfurst, were married at Vienna.

The prizes to the winners in the Olympian games will be branches from the olive trees at Olympia (as was the ancient custom.) The intention of bestowing silver wreaths has been abandoned.

A nurse who had been one of the palace attendants since the birth of the crown prince of Greece, in 1868, died in Athens, and the king and the princess attended the funeral. They were deeply affected.

Baron von Eckardstein, military attache of the Germany embassy at London, was married to Miss Grace Maple, daughter of Sir J. Blundell Maple of St. Albans Abbey, at London. The bishop of St. Albans officiated.

A collision occurred at Wilhelmshaven, Germany, between two torpedo boats which were being tried by the government officials in the vicinity of the naval station. One of the torpedo boats sank and five persons were drowned.

The Venezuelan warship Rivas, with troops on board, under the command of Gen. Paredas, has sailed from Guayara, Venezuela. The vessel steered an easterly course. Her commander has sealed orders. The sailing of the warship is regarded as significant.

At Paris, Prince Sagan has challenged M. Hermant, author of the play, "Lamente." It is said that the trouble grows out of personal reflections contained in the play, and that Prince Sagan took exceptions to the comments made in this connection.

The Paris Evenment learns, it says, that, in view of possible events in the Soudan, orders have been issued to increase the supplies and the armaments of the French military posts in South Algeria, Tunis, Senegal and Timbuctoo.

Emperor Francis Joseph has bestowed the Order of the Golden Fleece upon the German imperial chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe, and Emperor William has decorated Count Goluchowski, the Austrian minister of foreign affairs, with the Order of the Black Eagle.

The Dublin correspondent of the London Times says that the new land bill has been received by the anti-Parnellite press there with disfavor, but in a less hostile spirit than might have been expected. The Unionist journals, on the other hand, accord the new measure a friendly reception.

Patrick O'Brien has called the attention of the British postmaster general to the delay and inconvenience which are likely to be caused by the new regulation at the Washington postoffice department that all newspapers shall be forwarded to Great Britain in American ships unless otherwise speciled.

Otherwise.

Judge Joseph H. Blair, of Omaha has accepted an appointment as attorney for the receivers of the Union Pacific for the State of Idaho.

A singular phenomenon was a shower in Lander, Wyo. recently. First, red and then yellow clay fell, followed a little later by almost black mud.

Gov. Drake of Iowa has decided to call an extra session of the legislature for the second Tuesday in January, 1897.

The three special trains bearing the 400 members of the Hotel Men's Mutual Benefit association arrived safely at Los Angeles, Cal.

The national convention of the Alliance of Cooks and Waiters, in session at Cincinnati, devoted its time to a complete change of its constitution.

D. J. Flynn, traveling passenger agent of the Rock Island road for Colorado and Utah, died at Denver of pneumonia. He was thirty-three years of age.

At the African Methodist conference at Richmond, Va., Bishop Gaines served notice on candidates that he would ordain no minister who drank whisky, chewed tobacco or smoked cigars.

Congressman W. S. Linton, who has been urged by certain of the A. P. A. leaders as a possible candidate for president, says that he is not a candidate.

The reorganization committee of the Oregon Short Line railway announce that 90 per cent of the bonds and a majority of the stock have assented to the plan.

The secretary of the national legislative committee of the Jr. O. U. A. M. has been in Washington for several days in the interests of the bills now before congress for the restriction of immigration.

The congressional conference for the Twenty-seventh Pennsylvania congressional district, comprising McKean, Warren, Venango and Cameron counties, met to-day. Charles W. Stone was nominated for congress.

At Max Meadows, Va., the negroes employed at a furnace struck for higher wages. They resorted to riotous conduct during the night and kept it up all day. Considerable property was destroyed. The civil authorities shot and killed one of the strikers and wounded another.

A secret meeting of the steel and rod manufacturers of the country was held at Cleveland for the purpose of effecting a general pooling of interests. The meeting adjourned after an all-day session without having reached an agreement and most of the manufacturers left for home.

While the friends of Clara Heppenstall were gathered in her home at Freehold, N. J., talking of her life and of her death on the day before, they were startled by a shriek coming from the room where the body had been laid out. They found her sitting up in her coffin, and later she partially recovered consciousness.

WAR IN LOUISIANA

OPPOSING POLITICAL FACTIONS MAY ANNIHILATE EACH OTHER.

Two Hundred and Fifty Men, Armed With Winchesters, Surround Opelousas and Expect to Capture the Court House—Their Opponents Also Arm Themselves, and a Conflict Is Momentarily Expected.

Opelousas, La., April 21.—Five hundred men of both parties are on the move and a desperate conflict is expected at any time. Over 250 regulars armed with Winchesters have surrounded the town and their ostensible object is the capture of the court house. On the vote of the Opelousas ward depends their success or defeat in the parish and they are concentrating their efforts here. They realize that if a full vote is polled the combine will win. The report came to Opelousas early this morning that the regulars were assembling at the Bellevue road bridge, three miles south of town. Later arrivals from the country reported that 200 men on horseback and armed with Winchesters, shotguns and pistols were gathered there and planning the invasion of the town. Upon the receipt of this news, the combine people, or anti-regulars began to assemble around the court house square armed to the teeth and prepared to resist the invasion. The sheriff was in town when the news first arrived, but he did not attempt to go and disband the armed body of men. District Judge W. C. Perrault rode out to the camp of the regulars and endeavored by persuasion to get them to disband, but his efforts availed nothing. Dioneds Durie, a leading planter, C. M. Hark, clerk of the district court, and five or six friends were in front of Durie's house. "I was under a tree with my children," said Durie. "Suddenly thirty regulators, led by one Reed, passed my house. They stopped behind a clump of trees and I went out in the field to see what they were doing. When near them they fired six shots at me. My friends came to my assistance and we returned ten or twelve shots. We then laid down and the regulators fired fully fifty shots at us, shooting my horse in two places. Half of them then ran away, the others remaining behind in a group and appeared to be helping some one on a horse. I do not know whether we hit any of them or not. We sent word to town for reinforcements, but, when the boys came the regulators were out of sight."

Mr. Thompson corroborated Mr. Durie's story. It is rumored that two regulators were shot and one killed. Impossible to verify the rumors.

Resting Over Night.

Armed squads are on duty at every road entering the place and the court house is a perfect arsenal. The Washington, La., boys, thirty strong, who came down to fight with citizens against the regulators, have hurried home. A courier brings news that Washington is being surrounded and that the regulators are creating consternation among the inhabitants of Belleaire Save. All day long there has not been a state or parish officer, not even a constable in town. It is impossible for a town to be in a more martial state. It is believed now that the regulators will not come into town until morning. There is 150 armed men waiting for them. The district attorney has sent word that his regulators will enter town to-morrow and that he has twenty Winchesters at his back to say: "No negro shall vote."

If ever a situation demanded the presence of militia the situation in this city demands it. The anti-regulators declare they will hold the court house if it shall run in blood. The regulators have moved back a mile or two in the country from King bridge.

The trouble grew out of the effort on the part of white Democrats to prevent registration of the negroes. A military company was sent there and the negro men were registered. They are in the majority and the movement of the regulators now is intended to prevent the negroes from voting.

WAS 103 YEARS OLD.

The Oldest Man in Minnesota Dies Suddenly at Anoka.

Anoka, Minn., April 21. — Michael Gilligan, the oldest man in Anoka county, and probably the oldest in Minnesota, died suddenly yesterday, aged 103 1-2 years. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gilligan were probably the oldest couple in the Northwest, she being 101 1-2 years of age. Both had complete control of their faculties, were able to be around and lived together in their cozy home happy and contented. Mr. Gilligan was a good story teller and his reminiscences of four-score years ago were interesting and instructive. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gilligan were born in Manor Hamilton, Ireland. They were married seventy-eight years ago, when he was twenty-five and she twenty-three. Seven sons and two daughters blessed the union and four of these children are to-day living in this country.

Warehouse Blaze.

Duluth, Minn., April 21.—The Northern Pacific new warehouse on Rice's Point, 80 feet wide and 600 feet long, was totally destroyed by fire to-day. The building was in process of construction and just ready for tarring the roof. The loss on it is nearly $10,000, and that on the dock on which it stands probably $15,000 more. John A. Jefferey, a laborer, was fatally hurt and one fireman was badly injured in the fire. The docks are still burning.

Foul Play Suspected.

Forman, N. D., April 21.—Joseph Gettel, a farmer living in Highland township, left his home on Sunday, April 12, for Forman, on foot, and has not been seen or heard of by his friends since. He is a one-armed man, about sixty years old, and had considerable money on his person. Foul play is feared by his friends.

Navigation on Lake Champlain opened to-day, the steamer Chateaugay crossing from Burlington to Plattsmouth.

TORNADO IN OHIO.

Two People Are Killed and Others Are Injured.

Fremont, Ohio, April 21.—A tornado accompanied by a heavy rainfall swept over the northwestern part of Sandusky county to-day, killing two persons, injuring a number of others and doing great damage to buildings and other property. The tornado came from the southwest with great fury and every building and tree in its path was swept away. After smashing a road bridge and blowing a big tree across a Wheeling & Lake Erie freight train, which crushed the caboose and came near killing a number of trainmen, the wind began to play havoc with farm buildings. The barns of Jacob Engler, J. Heillinger, Upton Burgoon and Anthony Swint first went down before it. Then the house of James Greene, who was killed outright, his wife fatally hurt and the baby carried across the street in its cradle, the child escaping uninjured. Next the barn of Amos Hetrick, in which Hetrick and John Low were shearing sheep, was crushed. Low was blown across a field against a tree, being instantly killed. Other buildings destroyed were the barns of A. L. Fairchild, William Hensel, Perry Parish, George Waggoner and Charles Tucker. Tucker's child was badly hurt. At Booktown, a hamlet near here, nearly all the buildings were destroyed but there was no loss of life. The storm covered a wide track and it is possible that further damage will be reported.

WAGES OF SIN.

Gov. Clough Is Asked to Fix the Hanging of Duluth Murderers.

St. Paul, April 21.—Gov. Clough was to-day officially notified by Judge S. H. Moer of Duluth that Joseph Soular and William Verrill had been convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be hanged.

Both of the condemned murderers are boys, Soular being but seventeen and Verrill eighteen years of age. The crime of which they are convicted is the murder of Samuel DeMars, who was found lying dead on the road near Biwabik, on the Gogebic range. Separate trials were demanded and had, but on April 10 both were convicted and sentenced. In both cases a plea of extraordinary circumstances was entered, but Judge Moer does not recommend clemency in either. Regarding Soular, he says that the testimony of physicians that the subject is morally degenerate, but still able to distinguish right from wrong. Of Verrill, he says that examination shows the faculties to be ordinarily developed. It now remains for the governor to set the day for the execution of these two youthful criminals.

A FOUR-YEAR OLD ARRESTED.

A Small Girl Given to Relatives After a Night in Jail.

Minneapolis, April 21.—May Laird, who was arrested last night charged with being a vagrant, was released this morning, and Myrtle Smith, aged four years, who was placed under arrest at the same time, and charged at the central station with the same charge, was turned over to her grandmother. The arrest was made by Officer Conroy, and considerable indignation was expressed. In the court room and at the central station this morning when it became known that the little girl had been locked up and such a charge placed opposite to her name on the station register. It is customary in such cases to merely mark "held" opposite the name when the prisoner is to be turned over to parents or friends. It is not known whether the officer expected to try and convict the little girl of vagrancy or not. Miss Laird and the little girl were arrested in Hamilton's saloon, 214 Washington avenue south.

FARMING LAND.

England May Knock Off Half the Taxes.

London, April 21.—Henry Chaplin, president of the local government board, to-day introduced in the house of commons the agricultural rating bill, by which, after March 31, 1897, agricultural land will be assessed for one-half of its present ratable value. This means an annual loss in revenue of $7,550,000. Mr. Chaplin dwelt upon the agricultural distress, and said that the proportion of rates to profits had increased from 7.3 to 42.0 per cent in twenty-five years.

Mr. Henry Fowler, who was secretary of state for India in the last Liberal government, opposed the bill on behalf of the Liberals as being inexpedient and unjust. He said that it handed over seven million and a half to a section of the community and was not a real remedy for the distress. He therefore contended that rates were decreasing with the rents.

Caught in Massachusetts.

Worcester, Mass., April 21.—Charles Holmes, assistant cashier of the Merchants' Bank of Lake City, Minn., is under arrest in this city awaiting the arrival of an officer from Minnesota. He is charged with being a fugitive from justice. It is alleged that he and his uncle, who was cashier of the bank, embezzled about $60,000 of the bank's funds. The uncle was arrested and is now awaiting the decision of the court. Holmes was arrested in Greenwich, Mass., where he was working as a farm hand. He says the money was used in speculation and that he did not profit by it.

For Free Silver.

Montgomery, Ala., April 21. — The silver men of Alabama are in the saddle here. They will control the state Democratic convention, and it is apparent that they will place the Democracy of this state on a 16 to 1 free silver platform. Joseph J. Johnson of Jefferson county will be nominated for governor by a vote of 350 to 149.

Li Carries a Coffin.

San Francisco, April 21.—Edward Evans of Shanghai, China, who was among the passengers on the steamer Gaelic, says that Li Hung Chang, the eminent viceroy, now on his way to Moscow to attend the coronation of the czar, took with him on his trip a casket in which he expects to be buried when he dies.

The greater part of the business portion of the town of Woodruff, S. C., was destroyed by fire yesterday morning.

CUBAN HOME RULE

SPAIN WILL GIVE THE ISLANDERS A LITTLE SOP.

The Law Is Said to Have Been Signed by the Queen Regent and That It Will Be Presented to the Cortes Within a Month—"Military Executions" Nothing Less Than Murders.

Washington, April 21.—The Spanish government, within the next four weeks, will put into execution a comprehensive system of home rule or autonomy for the island of Cuba. There is good reason to believe that the state department has received from Madrid information to this effect. In any event it is beyond question that this important move is assured. This promises to bring to a sudden termination the irritation and friction which has existed for many months between the United States and Spain and to replace this feeling with one of a friendly and amicable nature.

The law, which will be put into effect, was signed by the queen regent of Spain March 15, 1895, and will be followed up by rules and regulations developing the present scheme of reforms. By the time the queen regent of Spain makes her address to the Spanish cortes, which assembles in one month, the law will be promulgated throughout Cuba, and the long expected policy of home rule for Cuba will be realized.

The law is very elaborate in its provisions. The element of home rule is secured by the establishment of two local bodies, drawn largely, if not entirely from residents of Cuba. One of these is to be known as the provincial chamber of deputies, and the other as the council of administration in the internal management of public affairs, but the governor general will continue as the supreme representative of Spain on the island and will have direct charge of military, naval and international questions. The details of the reform projects were published at the time of their adoption by the Spanish cortes in 1895.

Murders by Spain.

New York, April 21.—A dispatch to the World from Havana says: If Gen. Maceo succeeds in crossing the eighteen-mile barrier in spite of the 50,000 Spanish regulars pressing him on all sides, Gen. Weyler must confess as Gen. Campos did, that the campaign is a failure and that Spain cannot end this war by her own unaided forces. The rebel general has sent word to his rebel friends in Havana that he will break through the trocha when he is ready and that with the first shower of rainfall the captain general's plans will crumble. It is certain that Gen. Maceo has some sure means of suddenly assembling his roving bands on this side of the trocha; some say by means of colored paper balloons, and others by messages. There is a growing belief here that if Gen. Weyler is out-maneuvered now Spain will presently welcome the friendly mediation of the United States. Even among the Spaniards here there is this feeling.

Prisoners of war are condemned to death as incendiaries without proof of actual guilt. Evidence that a rebel soldier belonged to a column of the enemy which burned property is sufficient to insure his death. A prisoner's conviction depends on whether he joined an offending band before or after the incendiarism occurred. It is said that nearly a hundred prisoners will be shot as incendiaries within a few days.

Appointments.

Washington, April 21. — The president sent the following nominations to the senate: Postmasters: D. S. Kennington, Newton, Iowa; R. L. Mortland, Montezuma, Iowa; John W. Irwin, New Sharon, Iowa; Lois Martin, Pella, Iowa; Duncan G. Campbell, Rockford, Iowa; Sam J. Flynn, Staples, Minn.; Michael J. Toner, Owatonna, Minn.; Thomas M. Ryan, Anoka, Minn.; John T. Baldwin, Hennessey, Okla.; George T. Ball, Chippewa Falls, Wis.

Canadian Gold.

Winnipeg, April 21. — The Regina and Sultana mines at Rat Portage produced $17,000 in gold during March. These mines operate only ten stamps each. One only worked two weeks on account of a break in machinery. The ore in these mines and in the district averages one ounce of gold to the ton of rock—a much higher average than South Africa, West Australia, British Columbia or Colorado.

Paving the Way.

Brussels, April 21.—The bimetallic conference, called with the view of paving the way for international negotiations on the subject, assembled here to-day. Delegates from Germany, the United States, Great Britain, France, Austria, Russia, Belgium, Denmark, Holland and Roumania are present.

Instructed for McKinley.

Nashville, Tenn., April 21.—The Republican convention of the Fourth congressional district met to-day at Lebanon and selected W. B. Pickering and J. M. Proctor district delegates to St. Louis and instructed them for McKinley.

Charged With Embezzlement.

Minneapolis, April 21. — John D. Buxton, cashier of the postoffice, was arrested to-day on a warrant sworn out by Inspector James D. Wood, charging him with embezzling $2,151.77 from the department on March 31, 1896.

Dams Washed Away.

Marinette, Wis., April 21. — Two dams on the west branch of the Escanaba river were swept away by a flood last night. The Ludington company and Mann Bros. are heavy losers, as 12,000,000 feet of their logs will be hung up in consequence of the disaster.

New South Wales is now returning to a free trade basis as the result of at least two emphatic and unmistakeable demands by the people in the past thirteen months.

PRIZES FOR WOMEN.

Their Department Will Be a State Fair Feature.

St. Paul, April 21.—For a number of years the woman's department at the state fair, consisting of a display of plain and fancy needlework, paintings and embroideries, jellies, preserves and other food products, had an assigned space in the exposition building. Last year the experiment was tried of placing this department in a separate building, of which it occupied one-fourth. This was so successful and attracted such general interest that this year the board of managers has assigned the entire space of one of the largest buildings on the grounds to the woman's department, with the expectation that even this will scarcely be adequate for the display of woman's work, so rapid has been the increase of interest of the women of this state in this department. The building assigned to this display is in the most accessible part of the grounds, between the grand stand and the horticultural department in the exposition building, and the fair management feels confident that the ample provisions made will arouse a still further interest of the women of Minnesota in the display of the resources of the state.

The fine arts department will also be in the same building. This will be in experienced hands, as will also the department of food products and textile fabrics. Last year a great many beautiful paintings and embroideries were on exhibition, but so numerous were the entries that they were unduly crowded into the space assigned to them. This year with four times the space, there will be ample opportunity for displaying them to the utmost advantage.

PIONEERS DEAD.

Three Old Residents of St. Paul Pass Away.

St. Paul, April 21.—Three pioneer of St. Paul passed away yesterday. They were W. F. Dieter, Marshall Sherman and Adam H. Lohlker. All were substantial and respected business men and contributed materially to the advancement of the city. W. F. Dieter was born in Saxony, Germany in 1828. He came to this country in 1848, and settled in Philadelphia, where he resided until he came to St. Paul in 1854. Two years later he opened a shoe store on Bridge square, being one of the first shoe dealers in the city. Marshall Sherman was born in Vermont in 1822, and came to St. Paul in 1849. He was a painter by trade, and he was among the first of that occupation in this city. Mr. Sherman was a veteran of the late war. He enlisted in the First regiment, Minnesota volunteer infantry, for ninety days, and immediately re-enlisted for three years. He served the entire three years with his regiment without receiving a scratch, but after a second re-enlistment he lost a leg in the first engagement in which he took part. Adam H. Lohlker had been in the house furnishing business at 221 East Seventh street for fifteen or twenty years.

Hellpern Suicides.

Winona, Minn., April 21.—Leo Hellpern committed suicide in his room in a business block on East Third street. Hellpern was local manager of the Franklin Benefit Association of Duluth. He is said to have been short in his accounts. Hellpern in 1891 was charged with embezzling $4,000 while employed by the Columbia mill of Minneapolis, and after a long fight in the courts was convicted and sent to Stillwater. Some time ago he was released conditionally.

Wheat Still Burning.

Minneapolis, April 21.—The meeting of insurance adjusters to consider the loss upon the Terminal elevator building burned some weeks ago, has been postponed for one week. Parts of the big pile of burned wheat and timbers are still smoking and steaming quite vigorously, although it has been seven weeks since the fire. Most of the wheat now being taken out is worthless, and is being sent to the dump at the stock yards.

Lumber Drivers Strike.

Royalton, Minn., April 21.—A report reached town to-day that C. H. Buckman's entire crew of drivers on Hillman Brook struck for higher wages this morning. They were getting $1.50 but wanted $2. Buckman has telegraphed to Minneapolis for help. There is a good driving stage of water at present and the men quit at a critical time. The strike is a damage to the lumbermen and is generally denounced here.

Minnesota Veterans.

Winona, Minn., April 21.—The thirty-first annual reunion of the First Minnesota Regiment Volunteer Infantry association will be held at Winona June 3. This meeting will be of unusual interest, as the matter of forming an association of the surviving veterans of all the Minnesota organizations who served in the war will be discussed.

Business Will Continue.

St. Paul, April 21.—Assignee W. B. Jordan, of the P. H. Kelly Mercantile company, applied to Judge Egan today for an order to continue the business of the firm under his personal supervision and for authority to contract debts. The order was granted in special term of the district court.

Robber Confessed.

Appleton, Minn., April 21. — Galen Grout, Jr., was arrested yesterday on the charge of robbing J. A. K. Peterson's hardware store. He tried to dispose of some revolvers and this led to his arrest. When confronted with the facts he confessed.

More Cubans Killed.

Havana, April 21. — The Spanish troops have had an engagement with the numerous forces of the insurgents which have been advancing westward to attempt the relief of Maceo, and the official report shows a severe reverse for the Cubans.

Prizes for Paintings.

Pittsburg, April 21.—Andrew Carnegie has authorized the trustees of Carnegie art gallery to offer $8,000 for the best two oil paintings by American artists.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

A thirteen-year-old boy had his foot cut off by a railroad train at St. Paul.

Winona old settlers will have a reunion June 13.

The jury in the Freund murder case at Fairmont disagreed.

Jack Pierce was struck by a falling tree at Park Rapids and killed.

The presbytery of Mankato has just closed an interesting session at Tracy.

State Auditor Dunn has issued a circular to assessors urging vigilance in discovering taxable property.

The Anoka-Hastings contest over the fourth insane hospital will be carried to the supreme court.

An examination of candidates for West Point was held at Winona recently.

The Cannon Valley G. A. R. encampment will be held at Northfield in June.

Reports from different parts of the state indicate that seeding is in full operation.

Ole Olson was brought to Red Wing from Hay Creek, and given thirty days in jail for stealing grain.

Highwaymen held up Dr. McMahon at Duluth and relieved him of his valuables.

Prof. Thomas Casey has been reelected principal of the Red Lake Falls schools.

Thomas Ryan, a brakeman, was stabbed in the arm at Maiden Rock by a tramp. The tramp was captured and placed in jail.

The Fillmore county poor farm buildings at Amhurst were burned recently. Loss 3,000 insured for $2,000. No one was injured.

Some tramps broke into Osenburgh's clothing store at Alden and helped themselves to three suits of clothes, valued at $50. No clue to the thieves.

John Kreitzer, while duck hunting at Mud Lake, near Waterville, was seriously injured by the bursting of his gun.

Frank A. Seymour of St. Paul purchased the Winona General Electric company's property and also the Winona city railway.

The St. Louis river is on the rampage, and many families living on the low lands near Duluth have been obliged to abandon their homes.

J. Wegler, cigar manufacturer of St. Cloud, charged with attempting to rape Emily Smith, aged twelve years, was held to the grand jury in $1,000 bonds.

The Fillmore county poor house, situated two miles from Lenora, was burned to the ground. No one was injured, but the building was a total loss.

Two passenger trains on the Northern Pacific collided near Winona recently. Both engines were derailed and badly injured, but nobody was hurt.

Andrew Boehmar, a bartender in Tom Stay's saloon, committed suicide at Montevideo by shooting himself through the chest. He leaves a wife and several small children.

A large building in Merritt, owned by Thomas Asbjornson of Minneapolis, and occupied by his brother, Iver Asbjornson, was consumed by fire. John Hedelberg, a boarder, lately from Tower, lost his life.

The Sauk Center city council met and organized. J. W. Ward was elected president and A. E. Irwin vice president. Fred Cooper is clerk. The mayor's appointments were all confirmed.

Elizabeth Trowbridge, who was murdered at Elgin, Ill., by Miss Linnett, who afterwards committed suicide, was the daughter of Seth Trowbridge of Madelia, and a most estimable young lady.

The board of county commissioners of Pine county are examining a petition filed by Hinckley people in regard to moving the county seat from here to Hinckley. Everything so far is in favor of Pine City.

Fifteen subpoenas were served on as many citizens of Spring Valley, to appear before the grand jury at Preston as witnesses in evidence against the drug stores and two of the blind pigs for selling liquor without license.

Reports from Echo says: The grain in this section of the country that was sown before the big snow storm is up about an inch, and is doing fine. The farmers report the grain stooling well and look for a big crop. The farmers have begun seeding in earnest.

The Red Lake Milling company's five-hundred-barrel flour mill plant at Red Lake Falls, was sold to F. A. Gooding of Duluth. It was one of the first plants in the Northwest, with saw mill in connection. Consideration, $50,000.

A disastrous freight wreck occurred on the Northern Pacific, near Sawyer, seventeen miles from Duluth, sending fifteen cars of wheat in a badly-demoralized condition into the ditch. The wreck was caused by a washout, the existence of which was not known. The engine and six cars passed over safely.

Jacob Mowery, a well known resident of Winona for the past forty years and a member of Winona's first city council, committed suicide in an outhouse by shooting himself in the right temple. Mr. Mowery was sixty-eight years of age. Despondency was the cause of the deed.

The new St. Cloud city council met and elected officers for the ensuing year. John A. Wimmer was elected president over George W. Stewart. Frank A. Smith, who has acted as city engineer for years, will be succeeded by Samuel Schute. George A. Junk is city physician and Charles F. Wheeler is chief of police. M. D. Taylor was re-elected city attorney.

The body of an unknown man was found in the river at Le Sueur. From papers in his pockets it appears that he had worked for the St. Paul Barrel company as engineer, and that his name was William Madden. It was learned that a William Madden of Jessenland, Sibley county, had not been heard from for about two months and it is supposed they are the same.

Red Lake Reservation to be opened to Settlement May 15th 1896 at 9 o'clock A. M.

BARBER-SHOP
—AND—
BATH ROOMS.
—0—
Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing.
Razors honed and put in first-class order.
J. PENNO, Prop.
ST. HILAIRE - - - - MINNESOTA

DR. H. GRUNDY
Physician & Surgeon.
Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.
☞ Messages from the surrounding towns and country promptly attended to.
Office in Drug Store.
THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA.

P. G. PARADIS,
DEALER IN
Wines and Liquors
IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS.
FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.
West side Broadway.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE
PETERSON & JOHNSON, Proprietors.
Dray in Connection.
First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : :
☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

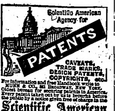
THE FAMOUS
SUMARITAN
Rye Whisky
Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.

FOR SALE BY
BRINK BROS.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.
—RUNS—
THROUGH CARS
TO ☞
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG
To—
HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKAND
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND
PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS
TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
8:30 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:07 am
7:07 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex	8:30 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.
For Information. Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write
CHAS. A. SHARKEY, Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
CHAS. S. FEE, Crookston, Minn.
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent, St. Paul, Minn.



Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the
Scientific American
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.
IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.
Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire Minn., as second-class mail matter.
Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.
TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.
WEDNESDAY, APRIL 22, 1896.

EDITORIAL COLUMN.

THE HAPPY FARMER.

In almost every daily paper one picks up now-a-days he finds an item headed as above; and all on account of the late snow fall. The average city news maker who isn't really sure whether potatoes grow on trees like apples, or perhaps may be the product of the great American eagle, must be given credit for knowing to a certainty that a heavy fall of snow or a dashing shower always makes the farmer happy. It don't matter what his condition is, whether in health, in jail or in debt up to his ears, whether the sheriff is after him with an execution or a chattel mortgage to take his last team and his last bushel of wheat; according to these sages he must, in duty to the public, let loose pent-up buoyancy when he sees a good shower or a snow storm get up and howl "How Happy I am!"

The so called great dailies would be more highly prized by the "Country Josh" if they would send out their callow kids occasionally to learn something of the ordinary affair of farm life. The provident farmer rejoices when nature does her part in full, but his rejoicing turns to lamentations, when in the fall with crops so great that the season is too short to harvest them and the price for his produce so small that the whole return of natures boundless efforts fail to meet the current expenses of the farm;—this experience of the producer, the great dailies fail to mention, 1st, because they are ignorant of it, and 2nd, because they are paid to ignore it.

There never has been a time since the United States became a government that the lot of the farmer was so low in the scale of social or financial standing as the present, and to their condition he has been brought by his city brother who sits up nights to concokt schemes to beat the poor hard worked, poorly clothed and poorly fed farmer out of his rights and property;—and to that end the city schemer has enlisted the services of the great army of so-called business men, known in the country as things, thieves and confidence men, and the unwary, unsuspecting hoosier is easily taken in and fleeced, and it is no wonder that the city news gatherer, when a storm comes, exclaims "Great Storm, the Farmers are Happy."

IMPUDENCE.

The impudence of the machine politician is both refreshing and disgusting. It is not unusual to hear the brass-mouthed republican would-be leaders claim that they are going to carry Polk county next fall and rescue it from the "blight of populism." The truth is, that the G. O. P. has about as much chance to carry Polk or any other Red River county as we have to be elected president at the next general election.

The difficulty with the whole blatant lot is; they are ignorant, and don't know it, but the people know it and will express their knowledge at the next election in such plain terms that none will mistake their intention.

The republican party, after six years outing has at last got onto a fervid heat all on account of the possibility of getting a few votes from the populists. They are too modest to tell us how they expect to win them back, and we are left in the dark except so far as we can see their prospective work in the reflected gleams of their past acts. We have heard of two or three farmers whose actions are a little peculiar, but each of them is a wreck so far as finances are concerned, in debt beyond his ability to pay and to hold the old homestead another year and plant and harvest another crop for Shylock is the highth of his ambition. To this he is willing to promise his banker friend that he will renounce populism and will support the bankers policy of SOUND MONEY and higher taxes.

We hear rumors of an election at the county seat week before last, and that the republicans, with the aid of the Cleveland democrats elected their ticket and are now howling how soundly they drubbed the populists. Suppose we admit that they are right, that they have administered to us a good chastisement, can't we stand that kind of defeats as long as they can the effects of their victory? The populists had no ticket in the field, were not SEALED to support any ticket or any man on either side. This bragging by a few turkey headed politicians shows more clearly than any other indicating straw, which way the political wind will blow next November; and none need be surprised when he learns that the gold-bug dems and gold-bug reps are no longer political enemies, and the best of friends with one, only one purpose and object in view, viz: To whip the impudent pops and serve them Brittanic masters who keep the BARREL open. These fellows claim that all they have to do reclaim the populists who went from the G.O.P. in 1890 and 1892 is to make a few rip-roaring speeches to them, extoling their candidate and his policy and telling them how much they will be benefited by a higher tariff, especially on straw and potatoes, ending with a glooming description of the glorious record of the "Grand Old Party." But we venture the prophecy, that populist birds will not be led into a republican trap with any side chaffy bait. The populist farmer throughout the Seventh congressional district has had all these questions before him and after a careful examination is better fitted to judge of the wants of his class than any of the soft-handed and softer-headed political hawks who will be entrusted with this missionary work.

The Seventh Congressional nomination by the populist party seems to be in demand this year and several good men will contest for the prize. The fight will probably narrow down to E. E. Lommen of Polk, Geo. Lamphere of Clay and Dr. C. Johnson of Kandiohi. All are good men, and it is safe to state that the Peoples party will this fall have a congressional candidate in the field who will be a credit to the party.

The course pursued by the members of the peoples party in conducting an educational campaign is a commendable one and will tend to open the eyes of many to the condition of the countrys financial dilemma and the general distress of the people. It is passing strange that party legislation has made millionairs on the other hand and mortgaged farms on the other. There is something wrong in the affairs of government and the people are going to find out the cause and apply the remedy. The Times will aid the people and d—m the politicians.—Roseau Times.

FOR SALE.

500 bushels of two rows (old country) barley, which grows stiff straw (will not lodge) and large kernels. For sale by P. O. Hegglund, St. Hilaire, Minn.

The Man Who Might Have Traded a Pair of Mules For Chicago's Site.

Major Abe Austin is a type of the old school westerner who retains all the elements peculiar to that school. He has spent more than 30 years beyond the Mississippi, and during that period he has met everything peculiar to a pioneer's life. A reporter for the New York Mercury met him recently at one of the Broadway hotels. The tall, bronzed major leaned back in his chair, blew a cloud of smoke from a fragrant cigar and queried:

"Did you ever hear that Chicago at one period of its existence very narrowly escaped being 'swapped' for a pair of mules? It's worth telling, I think, if you never heard about it. The story sounds like fiction, but it's a fact, I assure you. It all came about in this way: My father pulled up at Chicago along in the forties, toting along with him everything he possessed on earth, and it wasn't much of a load, I can assure you—just an old carpetsack and a chunk of a boy. That boy was myself. Well, as I say, he landed there in Chicago, but at that time a few scattered log cabins was all there was to it. It was only a pioneer settlement, and a shaky one at that. I was a small, bandy legged lad, just big enough to stand guard over our scant worldly possessions when we had pitched our tent, while my father skirmished around for an outfit. He was making grim preparations to begin life over again, this time in the overland freight business.

"He had bought a wagon from a Connecticut Yankee, who had barely landed on the shore of Lake Michigan, a swampy wilderness, when the 'tall Yankee timber' got the ague, and it mighty soon had the western fever shaken out of him. Our outfit was completed when my father traded a small tract of Ohio land for a blocky little team of mules. Well, preparations were at once made to leave with the next overland wagon train.

"I think it was on the very morning that we were breaking camp preparatory to leaving on our first trip over the long trail to the continental divide that a tall, bronzed woodsman came into camp. I well remember that his long, frowsy hair, grizzled beard and formidable display of revolvers gave me a decidedly uncomfortable feeling. I fully expected to be perforated or flayed alive by this rough looking specimen of the woods. He seated himself on a stump and greeted us with:

"'I reckon, stranger, ye must be goin ter take a trip overland?'

"'Yes,' replied my father, and he went on harnessing the mules.

"'Waal, pa'dner, I own this patch of timber land hereabouts and had calc'lated ter stay hyar, but now I've got er notion ter go furder west an try my luck at minin. Now, how would yer like ter 'swamp' that pair o' mules fer this quarter section o' timber?'

"My father considered the proposition for a few minutes and then declined to make the 'swap.' It was the mistake of his life, for that quarter section of timber lies in what is now the hub of the city of Chicago. The land for which my father refused to swap a pair of flea bitten mules is now worth untold millions."

Herr Hager, a wealthy and absentminded banker, frequently had watches picked from his pocket. At first he had recourse to all kinds of safety chains; then one fine morning he took no precaution whatever, and quietly allowed himself to be robbed.

At night, on returning from business, he took up the evening paper, when he uttered an exclamation of delight. A watch had exploded in a man's hands. The hands of the victim were shattered and the left eye gone.

The crafty banker had filled the watch case with dynamite, which exploded during the operation of winding.—Berlin Correspondent.

A ROYAL ROMANCE.

Penwipers and Pincushions Made by a Princess Lead to Marriage.

The Princess Louise of Wales really fell in love with the Duke of Fife, or, rather, the earl, as he was then, when she was a little girl. She was not a pretty child, and her birth had been a disappointment to her parents, who had wished for an heir to the English throne. The earl, who was her senior by some 15 years, was a good natured young fellow, and, feeling sorry for the little girl, used to show her a great deal of amiable attention, smuggling bonbons into the nursery and begging her off from her lessons when there was something pleasanter on the tapis. In return the little princess lavished her childish affection upon him and used to make him presents of impossible pieces of fancy work done by her own fingers.

As they grew older she continued to adore him and to make penwipers and pincushions for his birthday, but which diffidence prevented her from presenting when the time came. The duke, seeing that she no longer treated him in the frank, friendly way that she had done when she was younger, and thinking that she was growing proud and affected lost interest in her for a time. One day somebody discovered among the princess' belongings the accumulation of unpresented gifts bearing the duke's monogram and coat-of-arms and made a point of telling him about it. He was deeply touched and all his old feeling for the princess returned in a moment. The story was told to the prince, to whom the duke very shortly afterward intimated that he would like to marry his daughter. And thus the marriage came about.—New York Journal.

A Solvent For Gold.

One of the most notable processes of its kind is that recently brought forward by a New Zealand inventor, Dr. Gaze, for the use of chloride of bromine as a solvent for gold, the employment of caustic soda to recover the chlorine and bromine for use, and the recovery of the gold from the solution by electrolysis instead of by chemical precipitants. The most important feature is said to be the method adopted for making the solvent used in gold extracting, by means of a containing vessel of about 3 feet diameter and 2 feet deep. In this vessel are placed a number of porous cells filled with plain water, each porous cell having a number of carbon rods placed in it, and the containing vessel itself filled with a strong solution of chloride and bromide of sodium, and more carbon rods are immersed in the solution. The whole is fitted with a lid, one set of carbons being connected with one pole of a powerful dynamo machine and the other set with the other pole. On passing a strong current of electricity through the electrodes the salts are separated, the chlorine and bromine uniting, and the chloride of bromine thus formed is forced into a vessel overhead.

How Sound Waves Move.

The speed with which sound waves are transmitted through the atmosphere depends on several conditions. When the temperature is at 32 degrees F., sounds move with a speed of 1,090 feet per second, the velocity increasing with the temperature at the rate of about one foot of speed per second for each degree above the freezing point. Then, again, in damp air sound moves with a greater velocity than it does in dry air, no odds if the dry air be warm and the damp cold. In water sound moves more than four times as fast as it does in air, or, say, at about the rate of 4,700 feet per second.—St. Louis Republic.

The Archer Fish.

The archer fish has a natural blowgun. This animal possesses the curious property of being able to shoot drops of water from its mouth with extraordinary accuracy to considerable distances. This singular faculty is of use to the animal in securing its food. A fly or small insect passing over the water has very little chance of escape from the deadly aim of the archer fish. The drop of water brings down the insect, which is then incontinently devoured.

Different Times.

Sarasate once found his memory deserting him at a recital, but he discovered the reason of the mishap in time to prevent a failure. A lady was fanning herself in the front row of the stalls. The violinist stopped playing. "Madam," he said, "how can I play in two-four time when you are beating six-eight?" The lady shut up her fan, and the recital was concluded successfully.

Before and After.

"I am going to be married," said Miss Trotter to Miss Kittish.

"You! You going to be married! I thought you were an inveterate man hater, who wouldn't marry the best man in the world."

"Yes, but that was before one of the horrid men had proposed to me."

A prank on the part of a number of students of the high school at Delavan, Wis., led to their expulsion from school. The students purchased cayenne pepper and placed it in the fan that sends air through the ventilators in the schoolrooms. It not only set the whole schoolroom sneezing and coughing, but nearly destroyed the eyesight of the engineer, who was looking for the cause of the trouble.

M. Z. EPPERSON
Proprietor of the
St. Hilaire Saw Mill.
Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

St. Hilaire Meat Market.
ALL KINDS OF
FRESH AND SALT MEATS
FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.
Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.
S. M. DAINARD, Proprietor

The St. Hilaire Townsite Company will sell for the next Sixty Days Desirable Lots from $25 to $100
Apply to
H. E. IVES, Agt.

This is Easy Enough!
Any of my customers will be presented with a life like portrait free of charge by presenting their picture at my store. : : : : : : : : :
M. A. HALL. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Boot and Shoe Store!
L. K. KOHLSTAD, PROP.
DEALER IN
Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.
St. Hilaire, - - - - - Minnesota

ATTENTION! LAND OWNERS.
Do you want to Sell Your Farm?
☞ If you do, list it with me. sales will be lively this spring.
H. E. IVES.

Cigars.
BRINK BROTHERS
DEALERS IN
Wines & Liquors
Minneapolis Beer.
Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
11 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 31	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 31	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW-SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to [illegible]
NE of SE 10	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	[illegible] to 5.00
5 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 30	4.00 to 6.00
8 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " [illegible]	3.00 to 5.00
2 " [illegible]	6.00
4 " [illegible]	[illegible] to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to
H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

MINNESOTA
STATE NORMAL
AT
WINONA, MANKATO, St. CLOUD AND MOORHEAD.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:
(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.
(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.
(c) A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.
(d) A kindergarden training course [at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.]

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents' first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination. All others are required to pass an entrance examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $1 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week. The new dormitory at Moorhead, and the ladies' Home at Winona furnish similar accommodation at a slightly higher rate. Winona accommodation $3.50 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows
IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R. KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR and keep posted on the affairs of the day.

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

St. Hilaire the Nearest point to the Best Agricultural Lands on The Reservation.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS, HATS, CAPS

CLOTHING,

GROCERIES, CROCKERY,

BOOTS, SHOES, ETC.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

J.S. BREDENBECK

The Watchmaker

AND JEWELER.

Repairing of Watches and Clocks a Specialty Engraving neatly done.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade. at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours.

J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

Harness.....

☞If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing, call on

C. A. SKEIE,

West Broadway. St. Hilaire. Minn.

Blacksmith!

☞Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, Etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL. St Hilaire. Minn.

M. E. BJERK

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., April 1st 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on May 11th 1896, viz:

Carl Edvin Crown, Hd No. 14121, for the sw¼ sec. 28, tp 152 N. range 45 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Adolph Nelson of Bray, Minn., and Emil Larson, Alfred Lunquist, L. S. Dillard, of Wylie, Minnesota.

38-41 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

FEATHERBONE
TRADE MARK.

Ask Your Dealer For

WHIPS.

FEATHERBONE is made from Enameled Quills—nature's own toughest, and strongest elastic material. Best wearing whips made for 25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50. All styles for Buggy, Cart, Trot, Team and Riding. Be sure and ask for a FEATHERBONE.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

VILLAGE OFFICERS

Chas. G. Rapp	President
J. L. Johnson	Recorder
H. J. Freeman W. A. Sorsoleil M. Z. Epperson	Councilmen
Leonard Holmes	Treasurer
Pete Hall O. H. Peters	Justice of Peace
J. A. Dainard S. M. Dainard	Constable

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	51c	Butter	8@10c
Oats	12c	Eggs	8c
Barley	11c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.5
Flax	72c	Potatoes "	12½

LOCAL NEWS.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

Now is the time to get your house painted.

Pat Soards was storm bound here last Friday night.

J. D. Marshal of Red Lake Falls is in the city to-day.

Rev. Larson of Grand Forks arrived in the city to-day.

M. Z. Epperson has commenced the building of his barn

Rev. J. Moody conducted services at Black River Sunday.

Job printing of all kinds done at this office after next week.

Sheriff Steenerson was in the village Friday between trains.

Our school was photographed Friday by Photographer Wolf.

P. G. Paradis made a flying trip to Red Lake Falls Monday.

A case of scarlet fever is reported at the residence of J. A. Dainard.

Carl Johnson has been under the weather for the past few days.

Miss Minnie Olson returned Monday from a short visit at Crookston.

Alfred Dainard received two hives of bees from Red Lake Falls Friday.

H. J. Freeman passed around the Havanas Thursday—being his birthday.

Dr. N. M. Watson passed through here Monday on his way to Thief River Falls.

Photographer Wolf has taken some fine views of the dam and surroundings this week.

Jas. G. Brady, the wielder of the birch in Wylie, Sundayed here with his cousin Prof. O'Brien.

Attorney O'Brien of Crookston was in town a few minutes to-day and left for Red Lake Falls.

James Dainard has added to the attractiveness of his home by the purchase of a new organ.

Daring deeds were accomplished by W. I. Bassett and Jack Ryan on the ice jam Sunday afternoon.

The electric lights at Roseau were turned on last week and the newspaper men say they are all right.

Charley Brink put in the largest part of the Sabbath watching the ice break up and go through the race.

Plowing has begun on the ridge west of here, and a few more days of sunshine will start all the plows a going.

Ike Halvorson went to Crookston Friday to transact business and also to try a round with John L. Saturday eve.

A. Thompson, manager of the Minneapolis Brewing Co., branch house at Crookston, was doing business here on Friday.

Prof. J. B. O'Brien, of St. Hilaire, is spoken of as a candidate for county superintendent on the populist ticket. —Gazette.

W. C. Doble of the Wyman, Partridge & Co., dry goods house of Minneapolis, enjoyed his usual large patronage here Friday last.

—Choice smoked hams 10 cts. per lb. Smoked shoulders at 8 cents, all other meats in proportionat the St. Hilaire Meat Market.

St. Hilaire will have a club room just as soon as a few of the "pushers" get together and draft constitution and bylaws—which will be strict.

T. W. Tasher, a Minneapolis real estate man, spent the fore part of the week in town negotiating the purchase of some farm lands east of the city.

J. A. Dainard shipped five-car loads of cattle to Towner, N. D., last Friday. He was accompanied by Pete as far as Crookston where he remained to take in the John L. Sullivan combination.

Mr Jack Stewart of East Grand Forks was in town to-day.

Mr. Jones representing the Minneapolis Paper Co., was doing business along the line the first of the week.

B. D. Smith, the hat and cap man of Milwaukee was showing something new in his line, especially in straw hats.

The Peoples party county convention for the nomination of county officers will be held at Crookston June 25th.

Judging from the amount of building giong up, St. Hilaire is in the swim with other towns bordering the reservation.

J. B. Arey, of St. Paul, was taking orders for dry goods Monday. Look out for a big stock of goods in about ten days.

The subscription price of the SPECTATOR after May the 1st will be $1.00 per year in advance; if not paid in advance $1.50.

Ole and Andrew Larson both bought a fine team of draft horses of S. M. Dainard this week, and Sam has still more of the same kind.

Wm. Harris of New London, Minn., brother of Street Commissioner Harris of this place, arrived last week and will make St. Hilaire his future home.

Uncle E.—Say Bill I see that red dog of yours down at the Spectator office.

Bill.—Say! that's a sporting dog he thought he was in the Police Gazette office.

MARRIED:—K. O. Gigstad to Miss Emma Kolstad Monday April 20th, Rev. I. T. Aastad of Thief River Falls officiating. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Gigstad.

St. Hilaire people turned out in large numbers last Sunday to witness the ice break up and go through the race and over the dam. A prettier sight was hard to behold.

We are in receipt of a copy of the Moorhead Independent under the management of Meeker & Verity. The boys are both good newspaper men and will no doubt get out a lively paper.

Louis Borchers, who for the past six years has been employed as foreman for the East Grand Forks Brewing Co., passed through here Friday on his way to Red Lake Falls where he will reside in the future.

M. P. Saterlee has arrived with his outfit and the Red Lake Falls Hustler will shortly be launched. The editor is from Atwater which field he abandoned. Here's success to the new venture. —Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Joseph Johnson of Thief River Falls was in our village a few hours Friday. Mr. Johnson took the train for Crookston and from there he goes to Lake Park where he will make a short visit with relatives and friends.

George Ossman, representing the Jos. Ullman Fur House of St. Paul, was doing the village Friday and Saturday. Mr. Ossmann is one of the oldest men on the road, having represented this same house steady, for thirty years.

Vov. 1, No. 2, of the Beltrami Eagle published in the booming town of Bermidji was received this week. It is a healthy looking infant as its local and advertising colums shows. Success to the Eagle. By the way, this paper is published in a tent at present.

Miss Mary Quandy has returned from the east with a full line of spring and summer millinery goods and will open up parlors in the Burkee building where she will be pleased to meet her many feminine friends and show them the styles of 1896. Miss Quandy is a progressive young lady and is deserving of patronage.

M. Z. Epperson was in Thief River Falls last Friday between trains. When asked about the prospective boom of that berg replied. "From the depot to the village I had the deepest wade I ever had; all the way down was a pond of water crossed by elevated sidewalks and pontoon bridges, interspersed by mud knee deep."

Thief River Falls must be inviting headquarters for homeseekers.

How near to our hearts is the old silver dollar, when some kind subscriber presents it to view; the liberty head without necktie or collar, and all the strange things that to us seems so new; the wide spreading eagle, the arrows below it, the stars and the words with the strange things they tell; the coin of my fathers, we're glad that we know it, for some time or other 'twill come in right well—the spread eagle dollar, the star spangeled dollar, the old silver dollar that we all so well.—Masonic Journal.

C. B. Hill, representing Theo. Hamm's Brewing Company, St. Paul, was here Friday and completed arrangements with P. G. Paradis to put up a branch house in St. Hilaire. Mr. Paradis will operate the house and has the contract to supply Red Lake Falls and Thief River Falls with Hamm's best, to which places his beer wagon will make semi-weekly trips.

M. Z. Epperson has the contract to furnish the lumber and erect the building which he will proceed to do immediately.

St. Cloud, Minn., April 16.—Flossie Robinson, the dusky half-breed from Crookston, who was sent to the reformatory and could not be received there because there is no female ward at that institution, and who has been serving her time at the Stearns county jail, has been paroled. She is now employed at the county jail as a domestic, where she is in the custody of Mrs. Doty, the matrom. As she has only served a few months, her parole was a surprise, but it was probably due to the fact that it was costing the state a dollar a day to keep her at the county jail.

UNCLE EPHRIAM CALLS AGAIN.

Good mornin Captin; shouted Uncle Ephriam as he threw his corporal existence into the office chair and his boots upon our table.

Good morning, we shouted (the old man's a little deaf and we have to speak with a rising inflection.) What on earth are you down here for at this muddy time?

Karsene ile, Captin, wer out mor'n a a week ago and the old woman 'lowed 'twas better to burn lard with a rag round a button in a sassar, but that makes a dummed poor light, the old woman sed she cood rede the bible by it, but I coodn't rede the SPECTATOR nor any of my papers, by it, so that I'd cum down and get sum ile and find if there's enything new in pollytix.

Did you attend the republican meeting at the half-way-house you spoke of when last here? Naw; did'nt have eny that feller tried to git up a meetin for sum day the latter part of April and offered me an | Hans Reterson 2 dollars apece if we'd cum over and help him organize it, but we wouldn't do it and he giv it up.

Why didn't you take his money and go? This last question was a little too much for Uncle Ephriam's good nature; his eye, (has but one) flashed sparkles out" and the tention of his muscles was at breaking point when he gained tongue and retorted.

Do you think I'm such a fool as that Captin? I'm poor and alus expect to be was born that way, but I wasn't made for no boodler nohow, and when I'm sot on one in pollytix its no use to try and change me, I orter be as good as a wookchuck, and who ever knowed a woodchuck to go into a skunk hole, specially if the skunk was in.

We gave him the current political events of the last month and especially the pretended hopes of the soft handed light headed republicans in restoring the G. O. P. to its original power and greatness in this and in all Red River counties.

Sho, answered Uncle Ephriam, the dummed fools! I'm sprised, do tha think that because tha hav the saloons and the tuffs and a lot of uther fellers who don't never work, that they're cummin out in the country and take us all into their camp whether we want to go or not? Now! ——!——!——! (with a face contorted with disgust and anger) Naw sir! it can't be dun—tha can by them fellers in town for a dollar or 2 or a few drinks, but when tha cum to the country they'll find it takes mor'n that to by the farmer and tha haint muney enuf to do it. Wer fur principuls and free silver and agin free whiskey and boodle. We don't want none of them fellers prechin around Bushy crik, telling us what we want—we kno what we want and it shurely aint a gold basis nor a hier tariff, were taxed nuff now,—if we get a gold basis then the fellers what have all the gold can lone it to us at 25 per sent and get our homes and all weve got in a few years, and if they hich on nother tariff and tax, our clothing still higher, we'll have to go naked and eat pea-straw and corn nubbins. I tell you Captin were in earnest up on Brushy, and I rekon all the uther farmers are in the same fix; and thats why I don't beleve 'twill be any use for them slick town fellers to come up our way.

Going home to-day Ephriam?

Yes, as soon as it stops raining, it'll be worse in a few days when it opens up. So long Captain, will be down agin in a week or two.

Fergus Falls Alliance Advocate: The perpetual motion or endless chain drawing on the United States treasury is in session here this week and the principal business is the prosecution of parties for selling whiskey to Indians. The perpetual motion is, the Indian complains against someone for giving him whiskey and then the case is prosecuted and he gets witness fees to go home and buy whiskey and keep on repeating the prosecuting geting fees and buying whiskey while marshals, prosecuting atorneys and a lot of special agents all aid in keeping the endless chain in motion. The only thing the Indian complains about is that United States courts are not established at enough places so but what it is sometimes a long time between drinks.

John L. Sullivan succeeded in getting a jag on after the close of the show on Saturday night. He had company, too, several of the local sports taking occasion to get tanked. The big fellow behaved himself fully as well as did the resident boozers, one of whom John L. led from the room by the nape of the neck and dismissed with a kick, while Parson Davies quieted another who was incensed at the ex-champion because he didn't wish to fight Peter Jackson, the negro. Beyond getting a trifle noisy and spending the later hours of the night quarreling with his wife, the celebrated slugger differed very little from an ordinary deaf mute when drunk.—Crookston Times.

The morning papers lay on the seat beside him in the elevated train. He was reading with eagerness an awkward crumpled little sheet. The printing of the paper was uncouth, for it looked as though half the letters were smashed. The impression of the type was dull and blurred. It was the weekly paper printed in the little town where this prosperous, well dressed New Yorker has been born and bred. Many a man who has carved his fortune in this city hails the little country paper every week as a welcome messenger. It tells how the crops are flourishing, how the fences are being whitewashed every spring, and perhaps, once in a while there is a paragraph about the dear old mother, who has got into print by entertaining the sewing circle. And the prosperous New Yorker reads it entire, while the metropolitan sheet lies beside him unheaded.—New York Herald.

The annual pilgrimage of frogs commenced going west into the muskegs and sloughs to-day. It was a comical sight to see the frogs, as they are still in a kind of a torpid state and their progress is slow. The streets from the river west as far as the railroad track was literally covered. The music in the ponds will commence on schedule time and continue for the season. Old inhabitants say its a sign of a wet spring.

W. S. Morse, an old timer St. Hilaireite but now of Los Angeles, Cal., sends in his cash subscription for the SPECTATOR and notes a big change and improvement in the paper.

WYLIE ITEMS.

Good barley flour for sale at Smitzsangs.

Peter Hansel, our popular blacksmith is kept busy this spring sharpening plows.

Andrew Letvig and Mrs. Wm. Wylie drove over to Crookston Friday, returning Sunday.

Miss Kate Powers of Thief River Falls will teach in the "Red school house" the coming spring term.

Miss Sophia Ericson left on the Great Northern for Grand Forks where she will visit her sister Miss Anna Ericson.

Parents must take interest in sending their children to school, notwithstanding the bad roads, the school house has been crowded the past five weeks.

Mr. John Powers who has been hauling water the past years, struck a flow on the north side of his farm, where he will put up a frame house as soon as the weather proves favorable.

FLAX SEED.

First-class flax seed for sale, absolutely clean, price reasonable at

28-tf E. J. HOLMES.

The Perham Bulletin springs the following surprise, now that the village elections are over.

"Very few of citizens are aware of the fact that the village council as elected at the annual elections this spring were elected for a term of two years. But such is the fact. The law passed by the last legislature applies to all cities or municipalities having a population of less than 100,000 inhabitants, and is No. 596,212 of the suppliments or H. F. No. 596, and entitled "An Act to limit the term of office of all alderman or councilmen, or cities or municipalities within the state to two years." The law only applies to councilmen, so it will be necessary to hold annual elections to fill the offices of treasurer, assessor, justices and constables. In other localities, as here there will be considerable surprise when the existence of this law becomes known."

This law does not apply to village incorporated under special act.

5 cents will buy two packages of garden seeds at Hall's.

Yesterday (Monday) the river rose to a height of five feet above the winter stage, caused by the down pour of Friday night. The result was that the ice below the boom piers swept over the dam causing considerable damage. The water backed up and forced the gorge which had formed just above the dam, to break. As the mass weighing thousands of tons swept over the dam it carried away the sluiceway and otherwise injured the structure. The water rose so that the gear floor at the pumping station was submerged to the depth of three feet. The damage made it impossible to maintain a sufficient area to furnish power for pumping and the steam pump had to be brought into requisition. The estimated damage will reach $1,000, and this will be added to, by the cost of operating by steam until the water subsides and the dam can be repaired. It does not in any manner weaken the dam and the repairs will begin as soon as the stage of water will permit.—Crookston Times.

RICH DISCOVERIES OF GOLD.

At Cripple Creek, Colo., and elsewhere, are being made daily, and the production for 1896 will be the largest ever known, estimated at Two Hundred Million Dollars. Cripple Creek alone is producing over One Million Dollars a month, and steadily increasing. Mining Stocks are advancing in price more rapidly than any other Stocks, and many pay dividends of 35 to 50 per cent. They offer the best opportunity to make a large profit on a small investment.

J. E. MORGAN & CO., 45 Broadway, New York, are financial agents for the Prudential Gold Mining Co., and others in the famous Cripple Creek district. They will send you free interesting particulars of the Mining Companies they represent also their book on speculation in Stocks, Grain and Cotton, containing many new and important features.

Send for these books at once if you are interested in any form of speculation or investments. They may prove profitable to you. 37-5

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that all manure and rubbish must be cleaned up and hauled away from all lots within the village limits before the tenth (10th) day of May 1896, or the same will be removed at the expense of the lot owner.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 17th day of April 1896.

By order of the Board of Health,

J. L. JOHNSON,

38-40 Acting Health Officer.

Red - River - Kennels.

☞English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.

Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

Rapp & Post.

THE

General Merchants.

OF ST. HILAIRE.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

SHELF AND HEAVY Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to traveling men, hunting and fishing parties. St. Hilaire, Minn.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

NORTH SIDE ROLLER MILLS!

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

Bank

President Isaac Lewis of Sabina, Ohio, is highly respected all through that section. He has lived in Clinton Co. 75 years, and has been president of the Sabina Bank 20 years. He gladly testifies to the merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and what he says is worthy attention. All brain workers find Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiarly adapted to their needs. It makes pure, rich, red blood, and from this comes nerve, mental, bodily and digestive strength.

"I am glad to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a very good medicine, especially as a blood purifier. It has done me good many times. For several years I suffered greatly with pains of in one eye and about my temples, especially at night when I had been having a hard day of physical and mental labor. I took many remedies, but found help only in Hood's Sarsaparilla which cured me of rheumatism, neuralgia and headache. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved itself a true friend. I also take Hood's Pills to keep my bowels regular, and like the pills very much." ISAAC LEWIS, Sabina, Ohio.

Neuralgia

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are prompt, efficient and easy in effect. 25 cents.

One Way Out.

Mrs. Bowers—I do wish you would go to church with me occasionally. How, are people to know that I am married, if they never see you with me?

Mr. Bowers—Easy! Take the children with you.—Lewiston Journal.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth. Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

A new form of insanity has been discovered. This is caused by rising from bed too early in the morning.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

The English breath is scented with 10,000,000 bushels of onions each year.

Shakespeare's ring, or at least a ring supposed to be his, was found a few days ago in a meadow near the Avon.

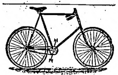
Hothouse strawberries fetch 5 shillings per basket in London West End shops at present.

Syrup of Figs

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.



Send Your Name and Address,

Mention where you saw this ad. and receive FREE our NEW BICYCLE AND BICYCLE SUNDRY CATALOGUE. The largest, most complete Bicycle Guide ever issued. 64 pages, over 200 illustrations.

A. D. SMITH CYCLE HOUSE

Leading Bicycle Dealers,

184 East Sixth St., Opp. Hotel Ryan. ST. PAUL, MINN.

Seeds--FLOWER--Seeds

And now Mendenhall comes to the front with the finest and freshest collection of Flower Seeds ever offered to the flower-loving public of the Northwest, such as Sweet Peas, Nasturtium, Pansies, Balsams, Asters, Phlox, Verbenas, Common and California Poppies, Mignonette, Candytuft, Alyssum, Corn Flowers (Bachelor Buttons), Petunias, Marigold, Stocks and all other favorite flower seeds. Also the finest and cleanest Lawn Grass Seed. Mail orders promptly filled by

MENDENHALL,

412 Nicollet Avenue, - - - Minneapolis.
Catalogue sent free on application.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM Cleanses and beautifies the hair. Promotes a luxuriant growth. Never Fails to Restore Gray Hair to its Youthful Color. Cures scalp diseases & hair falling. 50c, and $1.00 at Druggists

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

A ROYAL MARRIAGE.

There was a bridal in the palace—the bridal of the eldest and most lovely princess—a girl in the bud of life—the springtime of existence, a beautiful creature, radiant in smiles, exquisitely graceful; and a powerful alliance had been formed, worthy of a princess so lovely.

Her dress was richly decorated with jewels, her long silk veil hung to her feet, and a crown of gold, surmounted by a chaplet of orange flowers, rested on her brow. At the altar stood the priest, surrounded by the emperor and empress, the ambassador and court, waiting with eagerness the coming of the bride.

"Ah, my daughter," said the emperor, as the princess approached, "thou hast delayed coming?" and he led her forward.

The ambassador slowly knelt down, averting his head from the guests, and the princess followed his example, seemingly unconscious of the presence of the court; suddenly her eyes met those of the ambassador fixed upon her, and, turning deadly pale, she made a sign for the ceremony to commence. The ring was placed upon her finger, and the small, white hand rested for one moment in the ambassador's, the blessing was pronounced, the heads of both were meekly bent, and, glancing timidly at the still kneeling bridegroom, the princess rose and knelt to her father. He raised her in his arms, and, turning to the empress, presented to the court the youthful Queen of Germany.

"God bless her—may she be happy!" was the thrilling exclamation, as the bridal party left the saloon, followed by the younger sisters of the bride and the graceful, mirth-loving courtiers.

"What, in tears?" said the empress, kindly, when her daughter, overpowered by her concealed emotion, sobbed violently on her mother's bosom; "this is not right, my child. Trust me, you shall hear of us often, and, though absent, we shall never forget you; let me dry away your tears, for, hark! I hear sounds—footsteps are approaching."

"I trust your majesty will pardon me," said the ambassador, hurriedly retreating on beholding the queen of Germany alone, for the empress had retired. "I was not aware your majesty was here; this pavilion is generally deserted."

"So it would be now, but I have come hither to see the sun set for the last time in mine own native land, and to listen to the sound of my favorite band, playing beneath these windows; you cannot blame me."

"My liege lady, I would not dare to breathe a word of disrespect against one so good and beautiful. Believe me, I would die to save you one moment's agony."

"Nay, is life so utterly valueless?"

"Utterly, for the only charm is lost."

"Impossible," said the queen, softly, "you have much to live for—fame, wealth and doubtless love is yours; say there is another for whom you would de, save me."

"Nay, but one—forgive me, liege lady, but one; she cannot be mine—she is lost forever to me."

"I pity you," said the queen, tears rushing to her eyes. "Is she wedded, this false one, is she wedded?"

"Yes, oh! yes; but she was not false. I did not dare to tell my love. I knelt and prayed for strength to wish her happiness; I have asked it for her, but she knows not."

"Were your situations in life equal?" again said the queen.

"No," he answered; "she was far above me; too good, too beautiful for me."

"Ah! had she not been wedded I could have given you rank and wealth equal to hers and bestowed her on you. Should you have been happy?"

"Lady, she did not—could not love me; judge my feelings when unrepiningly she gave her hand to another. Lady, you do not know my misery."

"How canst thou tell that?" said the queen, her cheeks turning lividly white at the warmth with which he spoke. "If youth was exempt from trials, how could we feel for other's sorrows; if I had none of my own I, could not this night weep with you."

"Trials, lady?" said the ambassador.

"Yes, bitter trials—very bitter; but it is not meet thus to explain the secrets of my heart; let me bid you be happy, and, forever, farewell."

"Forever, farewell! Why, dearest lady, why? Say, in aught I have offended you; forgive me, I implore; part not in anger with me; turn and look kindly on me again," and the kneeling ambassador caught the bottom of her robe. "Believe me, I had not dared to tell you of my love, but when you spoke so kindly to me, and you told me of wealth and fame, what was worth living for when I was losing you?"

"Oh, my God, have mercy; he returns my love!—protect me, pity me, weak, sinful that I am—I, whose heart is his—how can I meet his sovereign?" Saying which, the queen fell prostrate to the earth, supported by the ambassador. "Leave me, leave," she said when she opened her eyes; "leave me alone now; but, oh, do not breathe to a single soul my weak confession of tonight."

"Never—never. It would be an insult to stay to oppress you with professions of love you may not return. I have caused you this unhappiness, but do not reproach me; spare me, for your anger I cannot bear. Keep this as a memorial of one who loved you, one who must ever love you—my first, my last love, farewell."

The queen gazed at the picture given to her, and, drawing from her bosom a cross, placed it in the hand of the ambassador; he pressed the hand that offered it to his lips, and, rushing through the corridor, returned no more. On arriving with the youthful bride at the court of Germany he threw up his diplomatic engagement and quitted the court forever; but after the night of their mutual confession he never saw the queen. She lived but a few months and died gazing on the picture of her heart's idol.

Of the ambassador little is known, save that a monk of the order of La Trappe requested when dying that masses might be said regularly for his soul and the soul of her who presented to him that small filigree cross.

A Trying Job.

"Eddie" Farrell, a San Francisco politician whose death was announced this week, was at one time employed in the mint, "a suicide job," he called it, "at $8 a day." He would enter a saloon, and, after a simulated spell of coughing, would put his hand to his mouth and show the astonished bystanders a small gold nugget. He always carried it with him. Then, with a sigh, he would remark: "My lungs are all coated with gold, from working in that mint. It's a regular suicide job."—Argonaut.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Plausible.

"I," the young man frankly admitted, "am looking for a snap."

"Well," the elderly one suggested, "if you have the ginger it ought to be easy to find some one with the dough."

And a great silence fell inaudibly.—Indianapolis Journal.

BLISS TRIUMPH POTATOES at $1 a bushel; $2 a bbl. of 11 big pecks; 3 bbls. for $5. No potato is earlier; or one-half barrel of Triumphs and one-half barrel of late for $2.25; 3 bbls for $6. To get these low prices

Cut This Out and Send the Money along to the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., and get Salzer's Pedigree Potatoes at above cheap prices! w n

King Prempeh's crown, gold dust and jewels have been delivered at the office of the crown agents in London.

The more one uses Parker's Ginger Tonic the more its good qualities are revealed in dispelling colds, indigestion, pain and every kind of weakness.

My doctor said I would die, but Piso's Cure for Consumption cured me.—Amos Kelner, Cherry Valley, Ill., Nov. 23, '95.

Walking would often be a pleasure were it not for the corns. These pests are easily removed with Hindercorns. 15c. at druggists.

The net reduction in the British national debt since 1875 is $425,000,000, or at the rate of $21,250,000 a year.

Fair and Fruitful

As the West is, it is often malarious. But it is pleasant to know that a competent safeguard in the shape of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters exists, which absolutely nullifies the poison of miasma. Western bound emigrants should bear this in mind. Nor should it be forgotten, the Bitters is a sterling remedy for dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, kidney and nervous complaints and rheumatism.

A Test of Vanity.

Lady (applying the test)—Ach! what a pity! The handsomest gentleman in the company has got a splash on his waistcoat!

All the gentlemen present look down in consternation at their vests.—Westfalisches Volksblatt.

"Meipo."

The most wonderful and only cure for Catarrh, Influenza, Colds in the Head, Hay Fever, Sore Throat and Sore Mouth. It prevents the dread disease consumption. Retards decay of the teeth and sweetens the breath.

Price 50 cents per bottle, sent to any address in America by Dr. James M. Welch, 138 East Sixth street, St. Paul, Minn. U. S. postage stamps accepted in payment.

Experiments have shown that soft wood under pressure comes considerably harder than hard wood under pressure.

The strawberry crop of the United States exceeds 5,000,000 tons yearly.

HE IS ALIVE.

The Wonderful Experience of a Man Who Had Reached the Brink of Destruction—Help Came Late but Sure—Words Cannot Describe the Joy He Felt at This Wonderful Restoration.

No one who has never experienced the miserable life of a dyspeptic can realize the joy that filled the heart of Mr. Andrew Talesen, who resides at 850 Marican street, St. Paul. His was the experience of a man terribly emaciated by continual indigestion and an inability to obtain nourishment from his food, who suffered the most agonizing pains and lived a life deprived of every joy. When hope, too, had about departed, health, happiness and life were returned to him by the use of the Kickapoo Indian Medicines. In this connection Mr. Talesen says,—"I want to thank you for the great benefit I have derived from Kickapoo Indian Sagwa. I had been in two hospitals without obtaining any relief for my complaint, chronic dyspepsia. I spent hundreds of dollars with various doctors and last year I went to Europe and tried many of the best physicians there, but with no better results. I was entirely discouraged with life and returned to this country. I was unable to retain anything whatever on my stomach for but a few moments at a time. I was unable to sleep. Two weeks ago I purchased as a last resort a bottle of your Sagwa. Am now on my second bottle and feel like a new being. I can eat anything and retain it. I sleep sound, get up feeling refreshed and hungry, and your Kickapoo Indian Sagwa has done all this for me. I shall never be tired of speaking in its praise, hoping to be able to benefit others who suffer." If you are dyspeptic, or you find that your food does not properly nourish you, give this wonderful remedy a trial. You will be surprised at the rapid manner in which it accomplishes its good results. Do not resort to medicines that are composed of injurious substances or mineral poisons, the temporary relief obtained from their use is more than counteracted by the reaction which follows. For all disorders resulting from a deranged condition of the liver, kidneys, stomach or blood, Kickapoo Indian Sagwa is without an equal. Remember that what you may believe to be but a trivial indisposition, such as slight local pains, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, susceptibility to catch cold, a sallow complexion, restlessness, decrease in weight, are warnings of terrible afflictions that entail a life of agony and a premature death. Druggists everywhere sell the Kickapoo Indian Remedies.

ANDREW TALESEN.

HYPNOTIZED BY A SNAKE.

The Horrible Experience of Miss Pauline Browne in Florida.

Serpents are often charmed by human beings, and hypnotizes people is a freak. tables and hypnotizes people is a freak. man beings, but a snake that turns the A rattlesnake, near Simona, a town in Florida, recently performed this remarkable feat. This snake hypnotized Miss Pauline Brown, and had it not been for the timely arrival of her brother she would doubtless have lost her life.

Miss Browne went for a short walk in the fields to gather wildflowers. She did not return when expected and her family became anxious. Her brother Arthur, armed with a shotgun, set out in search of her.

After a time he saw the girl in the distance sitting on the grass. He at once noticed the curious manner in which she seemed to be swaying to and fro, as if in time to music. He approached cautiously and, peering over her shoulder, was filled with horror, when he saw the head of huge rattlesnake waving from side to side directly in front of her.

Arthur Browne moved cautiously to one side, raised his gun and taking careful aim shot off the head of the rattlesnake. At the sound of the explosion the girl shrieked and fell to the ground unconscious.

Later she said she wandered through the fields picking flowers until, growing tired, she had seated herself in front of the clump of white flowers which she intended to gather. She admired their beauty and kept her eyes fixed upon them until gradually she began to feel an uncontrollable drawsiness creeping over her, such as one experiences after gazing fixedly at the embers of a dying fire.

Presently, although conscious that the flowers were pure white, they began to take on the colors of the rainbow and lose their outline. From this iridescent mass at regular intervals a tongue of livid flame darted forth that almost blinded her with its brilliancy. She was possessed with a feeling of horror and had a presentiment of evil, yet was powerless to use her voice or move her limbs. How long she was under this extraordinary influence she had no idea. Nor was she conscious of its nature till, coming to herself after the shock of the gunshot had thrown her into a faint, she saw the dead snake.

The rattlesnake proved to be a monster of its kind. Putting the dismembered head on to the body it measured an even seven feet in length. The body in its largest part was eighteen inches in circumference. It had sixteen rattles and a button, indicating that the serpent was at least seventeen years old.—New York World.

AN INDUSTRIOUS MOLE.

His Burrow in the Sandy Bank Was Two Miles Long.

Down along the river bank, after the water had receded into a narrow channel, through which it tumbled and eddied and belched up great rings, there was left a broad sand flat. This sand flat fell off in broad steps, in which, here and there, were left shallow pools. Big gnarly stumps of trees, probably grown many miles up the river, had occasionally stranded, after floating down on the river's surface, and gathered piles of driftwood about them. Barrels and boxes of all sorts of strange plunder were to be found, and it is not altogether unlikely that one by looking closely might have found more than one article of value.

The sand had drifted down as hard and firm as on any Atlantic beach. It was springy, too; just the thing for brisk walking. And walking on it was a joy. There were neither jostling elbows, nor sweet smells, nor sounds. Just the gray sky above, the damp wind and the yellow river oozing along a stone's throw away.

Traversing this flat was a remarkable little ridge or welt. It started in the sand where the last river bank had begun, just before the river had receded. Above it the grasses hung over the five-foot bank, and towering aloft was a large cottonwood tree. The welt ran straight out toward the river 1,000 yards or more, then turned west and wound in a waving line upstream. For nearly two miles it could be followed, weaving here and there, never disappearing below the surface and never changing in appearance until it suddenly lost itself in another bank of sand against which it had run. It was the burrow of a mole. And who knows but the little blind burrower is still working his way through half of Clay county to find the end of the bank. Or may be he started upward after a while and came out in the middle of some farmer's frozen garden patch or corn field.—Kansas City Star.

Mouse Broke Up the Services.

Considerable excitement was caused at the morning service of the William Street Baptist church, New Bedford, Sunday, by an innocent little mouse, which made its appearance on the pulpit platform while Rev. Mr. Swain was preaching. During the reading of the final hymn the mouse, which by this time had been seen by every woman in the congregation, descended from the pulpit to the floor of the auditorium. The women manifested signs of uneasiness as the mouse approached the front pews, and several of them gathered up their skirts in anticipation of an emergency. Finally, as the mouse entered one of the pews the courage of the woman who was sitting there gave way, and, with a cry of alarm, she arose and started for the door. The singing of the last hymn was omitted and the benediction was pronounced, after which the men of the congregation engaged in a mouse hunt. The mouse was finally caught and killed.—Providence Journal.

A Cyclone Incident.

A stranger was about to register in a New York hotel when he took off his hat, disclosing the fact that he was as bald as a watermelon.

"From the West?" asked the clerk.

The man nodded. Then, the clerk pointed the guest's bald head and inquired:

"Indians?"

"No," replied the stranger.

"Mother-in-law?"

"No."

"Barber's preventive?"

"No."

"Cyclone?"

"Yes, by gosh! Pard, yer the first chap what ever struck it right. Let's liquor."—Texas Sifter.

The Bloomers Failed.

Bloomers as an aid to smuggling were tried by two San Francisco girls, in an experiment that failed. The girls took passage to Honolulu in one of the mail steamers and excited the suspicion of the Hawaiian customs officers by going ashore clad in voluminous bloomers. They were followed to a house in Honolulu, where the discarded bloomers and sixty tins of smuggled opium were found. The girls were arrested and convicted of smuggling, but, on appeal to the supreme court, the case against them was dismissed because their guilt was not proved clearly. The girls returned to San Francisco a few days ago in the steerage wearing skirts.

Paralysis Follows Bloodlessness and Nervous Prostration.

A PATIENT WOMAN AFFLICTED FOR YEARS.

She Tells How at Last She Was Permanently Cured.

From the Press, New York City!

For more than fifteen years, Mrs. A. Mather, who lives at No. 43 East One-hundred-and-twelfth street, New York, was a sufferer from anaemia, which, in spite of the treatment of physicians, gradually developed into nervous prostration until finally marked symptoms of paralysis set in. Mrs. Mather gladly gave the reporter her experience.

"For many years," Mrs. Mather said, "I was a constant sufferer from nervousness. It was about fifteen years ago that my condition began to grow worse. Soon I became so affected that I was prostrated and, until about two years ago, was a part of the time unable to leave my bed. I employed several physicians from time to time, my bills at the drug store for prescriptions, sometimes, amounting to as much as $50 a month, but all the doctors did for me did not seem to help me at all. My blood became greatly impoverished and after years of suffering I was threatened with paralysis.

"When I walked I could scarcely drag my feet along, and at times my knees would give away so that I would almost fall down. Feeling that doctors could not help me, I had little hope of recovery, until one day I read in a newspaper how a person, afflicted almost the same as I was, had been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I purchased a box and began taking the pills. The effect of this first box pleased me so much that I bought another. Before I had taken all the pills in the first box I began to experience relief and, after the third box had been used, I was practically cured. It was really surprising what a speedy and pronounced effect the medicine had upon me.

"I always keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house now, and when I feel any symptoms of nervousness, find that they give me certain relief."

Mrs. Mather's daughter, Miss Anna, corroborated her mother's account, and told how she herself had been cured of chronic indigestion by these pills; and how, too, her cousin had been cured of anaemia.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or sent direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

A Stroke of Genius.

"And by the way," said the bustling correspondent of a New York paper, "does anyone ever escape from this place?"

Satan flicked the ashes off the end of his cigarette and smiled with the air of one who is conscious of his superior cleverness.

"No," he replied; "not since we fitted up the entrance with swinging doors, such as they have in modern office buildings. They are all afraid to try."—Truth.

Do You Take Chances?

Are you willing to take a regular business risk to make a big profit? If you are, then investigate our $100 Investment system; it can be worked in three ways, so as to earn 50 cents, $1.00 or $2.00 per day. Write or call for particulars. Osborn Crosby & Co., Kasota Building, Minneapolis.

Teeth Knocked Out and Replanted.

Dr. E. S. Pettijohn of Alma, Mich., wrote that his little daughter, aged two years and nine months, fell down stairs and struck the two upper incisors on the edge of one of the steps, extracting them as completely as if by forceps. The gum was badly lacerated. After the fright and the crying, which continued for half an hour, the child was rocked to sleep in her mother's arms. The teeth were found on the steps uninjured and placed in a warm salt solution. While the little one was sleeping, chloroform was administered; the teeth were placed within their sockets and pressed into position, the gums about having been cleansed with antiseptic solutions. The teeth were left without further dressing or application. Four weeks later they were firmly rooted, and the mouth appeared perfectly natural in every way.—Medical Record.

1,000 Farms for Sale. Only 10 per cent Cash balance one half Crop each Year or instalment plan. J. A. Walters, 109 4th St. So. Minneapolis, Minn.

Matrimony Is Desirable.

In the higher education of women it becomes more and more observable that those who pursue the liberal college course are not inclined to dedicate their lives to professional work. In the main they are not ambitious. They covet an education as being a necessary possession, but they do not obtain it with a view to applying it in the struggle for a livelihood. They regard a happy, desirable, matrimonial alliance as the natural solution of their earthly existence after their necessarily brief reign in society as belles, and perhaps this is as sensible a conclusion as the majority of them could possibly reach.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

A Son of Two Poets.

Barrett Browning, the artist, son of Robert and Elizabeth Barrett Browning, the poets, has suddenly become popular in Venice because of the manner in which he responded to the request to lend the Rezzonico Palace for the ball to be given in aid of the Society of Croce Rossa, a charitable association to which belong some of the noblest Italian ladies. The fete was organized on a scale worthy of its setting. Nothing like it has been seen in Venice for a century. The palace has been finely restored throughout by Mr. Browning, the walls of the drawing room covered with rich brocades woven purposely in Venetian looms. On this occasion the great ball room was the center of attraction. Its ceiling is painted by Tiepoli, its walls are paneled with mirrors, the door supported by colossal figures by Alessandrio Vittoria. A candelabrum holding 400 way candles and numerous side lights illuminated the scene.—Letter from Venice.

A dramatic college for ladies is soon to be started in one of the suburbs of London.

Of every 1,000 people in the world, four live in London.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors: Andrew M. Carolson, St. Paul, Minn., animal trap; Henry Kahl, Pine Stone, Minn., churn; Frank E. Kent, St. Paul, Minn., apparatus for purifying feed water; Carl E. Lindquist, Hendrum, Minn., egg tester; Dankard H. Lund, Watson, Minn., motion regulator for self-binders; Michael J. Lyons and L. Beemer, Duluth, Minn., bath apparatus; John Neumeister, Minneapolis, Minn., pearl button machinery; John M. Palmer, Marysville, Mont., wrench; Gabriel A. Pickle, Eagle Lake, Minn., fire guard and soot catcher; Lornts E. Sjelstad, Sunberg, Minn., animal trap; George A. Solberg, Sunberg, Minn., Indian club.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912, Pioneer Press Bldg., St. Paul, Minn.

Mr. Peduncle's Reason.

Maud—Miss Millsap is so very plain! But she sings well.

Irene—Poor girl! She never can understand why it is that when young Mr. Peduncle comes to see her he turns down the light and then asks her to sing.—St. Louis Republic.

Deafness Can Not Be Cured

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Hall's Family Pills, 25c.

Not to Be Seen.

"Ah," he wispered, "I will print a kiss upon your lips."

She started affrightedly.

"Heavens!" she cried, with a gesture of deprecation." Somebody would be sure to read my face!"—Detroit Tribune.

CUT PRICES ON PLANET, JR., GOODS.

We are not in the senseless combine to charge two prices for Planet, Jr., tools. It is all nonsense in these hard times to ask for fancy prices for garden cultivators and drills when iron and wages are so cheap. Show our prices to your hardware merchants. Show them to everybody! Planet, Jr., combined drills, other seedsmen's price $9.00, our price $6.75; Planet, Jr., double-wheel hoes $6.00, our price $4.50, and so on! Potatoes, $1.50 a barrel. All prices for seeds low.

Cut This Out and Send Money

Cut this out and send money along with order to the John A. Salzer Seed Co., La Crosse, Wis., to insure getting above low prices. Mammoth catalogue, 5c postage. w.n.

Grim Humor.

An undertaker in Leipzig, who eked out the profits of his trade by letting apartments, hung up a notice board over a coffin in his show window, with the inscription: "Lodgings for single gentlemen."—Lokalanzeiger.

DR. J. G. GRANT, Specialist. Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Syndicate Block, Minneapolis. (Spectacles fitted.)

Curt.

"Papa, what is meant by having horse-sense?"

"It means knowing enough to make hay while the sun shines! Run away now and talk to your grandmother."

The Hit of the Season..

is made by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Just at this season when Spring and its debilitating days are with us, there is nothing like Ayer's Sarsaparilla to put new life into the sluggish system. It sweeps away the dullness, lack of appetite, languidness, and pain, as a broom sweeps away cobwebs. It does not brace up. It builds up. Its benefit is lasting. Do you feel run down? Take

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Send for "Curebook," 100 pages, Free. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

The Palace

CLOTHING HOUSE.
MINNEAPOLIS.

5,000 New and Elegant DRESS and BUSINESS SUITS, worth $14, $16 and $18, for $10

Samples and Self-Measurements mailed free.

• WALL PAPER FREE •

Would be dearer than ALABASTINE, which does not require to be taken off to renew, does not harbor germs, but destroys them, and any one can brush it on. Sold by all paint dealers. Write for card with samples.

ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.

A Farm for Every Man.

Choice lands, suitable for stock raising, dairying, or grain producing. Timber and mineral resources unsurpassed. Within easy reach of railroads, schools and churches in NORTHERN WISCONSIN along the line of the Wisconsin Central Railroad. We will gladly furnish general information and promptly answer all inquiries concerning them. Address for free pamphlet FREDERICK ABBOT, Land Commissioner, Wisconsin Central R. R., Milwaukee, Wis.

DROPSY

TREATED FREE.

Positively Cured with Vegetable Remedies. Have cured thousands of cases. Cure cases pronounced hopeless by best physicians. From first dose symptoms disappear; in ten days at least two-thirds all symptoms removed. Send for free book testimonials of miraculous cures. Ten day's treatment free by mail. If you order trial send 10c in stamps to pay postage. Dr. H. H. Green & Sons, Atlanta, Ga. If you order trial return this advertisement to us.

CRIPPLE CREEK Write for what you want to THE MECHEM INVESTMENT CO., 128 Jackson St., Chicago, Ill.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

When Corresponding With Advertisers Please Mention this Paper.

Queer Names.

"A Crick"—"A Stitch"
"A Twist"—"A Jam"
"A Halt"—"Raw Spots"
"Blue Spots"—"Dead Aches"— are all well known of flesh, bone, and muscle, and easily cured by St. Jacobs Oil.

Battle Ax PLUG

5⅓ ounces for 10 cents. You may have "money to burn," but even so, you needn't throw away 2 ounces of good tobacco. For 5 cents you get almost as much "Battle Ax" as you do of other high grades for 10 cents.

GROCERIES at WHOLESALE PRICES FOR CASH. If you care to buy your Groceries at prices so Low that you can sell them even to your home dealer at a profit, write for our List. Last but Not Least—Remember we sell St. Louis White Lead. Strictly Pure St. Louis White Lead, in oil, 12½, 25, 50 and 100 lb kegs, guaranteed, per lb., 5½c. T. M. Robert's Special Brand, warranted to give, as good satisfaction as strictly pure, 12½, 25, 50 and 100 lb. kegs, per lb., 4¾c. DRY GOODS—You will find some excellent values in our DRY GOODS Department this month. Send for FREE SAMPLES of anything in Dry Goods, but when sending for samples please state what particular kind of Dry Goods you want. Do not simply say, "Send samples of Dry Goods." WANTED—The names and postoffice addresses of all who wish to buy goods at retail or wholesale. We will mail our 82-page Grocery Catalogue FREE, every two weeks, to any person who sends us the names and postoffice addresses of 17 or more reliable farmers and other consumers. T. M. ROBERTS' SUPPLY HOUSE, 308-310, 717-719-721 NICOLLET AVENUE, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Minn. His. Society

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY APRIL 29, 1896. NUMBER 39.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

A bill to prevent the adulteration of beer and incidentally raise the price of barley is to be introduced in congress.

The railroads of the country and the interstate commerce commission are said to have made a deal that will revolutionize the transportation business.

President Cleveland has taken up his abode at Woodley for the spring months. Mrs. Cleveland and the children have already been installed there for two weeks past.

The ways and means committee of the house favorably reported the bill introduced by Mr. Washington to permit the enty free of duty on exhibits and laborers for the Nashville, Tenn., exposition.

A clerk in the redemption division of the treasury department who has been making an investigation of the subject, has discovered that the "cleanest" paper money in circulation is that which circulates in Washington, while the dirtiest is that which comes from Chicago for redemption.

People in Print.

King Humbert of Italy is an amateur cook of no mean skill.

Stanley J. Weyman, the novelist, is a direct descendant of the elder Dumas.

Mrs. Sarah Mercur, widow of the late Chief Justice Mercur, died at her home in Towanda, Pa.

F. C. Selous, the great hunter and South African leader, is 44 years of age.

Capt. James Mercur, professor of civil and military engineering in the military academy at West Point, died suddenly at Fortress Monroe.

Gen. Maceo, leader of the Cuban insurgents, has captured 28 towns, 2,704 stands of arms and 314,000 rounds of ammunition.

Hon. Francis Jewett, ex-mayor of Lowell, Mass., who had served three terms, died suddenly of heart disease. He was 75 years old.

A. K. Butterfield is dead at Greensburg, Md. He was wounded in the Mexican war and lost a leg in the civil war. He was 80 years old.

Samuel Messer, aged 55, superintendent of the Hankey Lumber company, a wealthy citizen, dropped dead in the Methodist church at Akron, Ohio, from heart failure.

Charles S. Osborn of Brimfield, Ind., will contest the will of the late Mrs. William Lockwood, a centenarian, who died at Newburg, N. Y., leaving an estate worth $200,000.

"Aunt Sally" Crane, as she was familiarly called, is dead in Morgan county, Ill. She was the oldest native of Morgan county and had lived there eighty years.

Gen. E. L. Jeffries, a veteran of the late war and well known to public men as counsel for the Alaska Fur Seal company, which long controlled the Bering sea seal business, died in Washington.

Gilbert L. Elliott is dead at South Bend, Ind., aged 59. Mr. Elliott had been one of the most trusted officials of the Michigan Central railroad for thirty years. He was born in India, his father having command of an English regiment there.

Casualties.

Thirty-two buildings were washed away at Three Rivers, Que., by the floods.

The greater part of the business portion of the town of Woodruff, twenty miles from Spartanburg, S. C., was destroyed by fire.

Green & Bentley's wholesale drug store, the bank building adjoining, Lacey's building and Strasberger's dry goods store, burned at Omaha. Loss, $60,000; insurance, $20,000.

The British bark Republic, bound from Newcastle, N. S. W., for San Francisco with a cargo of coal, has been out ninety-two days and many shipping and insurance men believe she is lost.

The countess of Aberdeen had a narrow escape from death near Ottawa, Ont. Her carriage horses plunged into a deep pool beside the road and were drowned. The countess was rescued with difficulty.

The steamer Marsden collided with the British bark Firth of Solway, Capt. Kendrick, near Kish lightship, Glasgow, causing the latter to sink. Thirteen men and the captain's wife and child were drowned.

Private George A. Parkhurst was killed by the premature explosion of a shell while his company, Battery F, United States artillery, was firing a salute at San Antonio, Texas. He was a nephew of Dr. Parkhurst of New York.

A $50 fire at Toronto may cost two lives. Four firemen were ordered into the burning structure and were driven out by the flames. The chief ordered them in again, when the shop collapsed and the men were reviven with great difficulty. Stevens had his skull crushed and Collard was injured in the spine.

A Louisville & Nashville fruit train and an Evansville & Terre Haute passenger train collided at a crossing near Mt. Vernon, Ind. Alex Driscoll, brakeman on the latter train, was killed, while James Covington, engineer, and F. R. Thompson, brakeman on the freight train, were seriously injured.

Evil Doings.

Trouble in the Eighteenth Street Baptist church at Detroit resulted in a freeforall fight, and the police had to be summoned.

Robert Chambers, a negro charged with robbing and burning a barn, was tied to a tree and shot to death by a mob at Cranberry, N. C.

Cashier John A. Knight, of the defunct Fifth Avenue Savings bank of Columbus, Ohio, was held to answer for alleged embezzlement.

Ten miles west of Eufabla, I. T., in an unsuccessful raid on the house of T. J. Brashnear, a farmer, Brashnear was seriously and Tom Brooks, one of the outlaws, mortally wounded.

James Payne, colored, of Chicago, has been held, in default of 500 bonds, at Pittsburg, Pa., on a charge of robbing chewing gum slot machines at railway stations.

A. K. Ward, the noted forger, was granted bail in the sum of $25,000, at Memphis, Tenn. Ward has been in the hospital for several weeks, and may never be brought to trial before an earthly court.

Unknown persons made an attempt to wreck a passenger train on the Michigan Central railroad, near Niagara Falls. A freight train ran upon the ties, which had been placed upon the track, thus averting a catastrophe.

Edla Stiugulst, the former servant of I. Townsend Burden, who was arrested in New York, charged with complicity in the celebrated diamond robbery, has pleaded not guilty, with leave to withdraw the plea. She refuses to discuss the case.

Ethel Ormond Thompson, wife of Manager Frank Thompson, of the "Old Homestead" company, and an actress in the company, assaulted Carrie Ashley Clark during the progress of the play at Portsmouth, Ohio, and was arrested and fined. Mrs. Thompson is Ethel Ormond, of "Black Crook" fame.

Leo Hirth, a well known and wealthy German citizen of Indianapolis, who conducted a large grocery business and who for years has had a presentiment that he would meet death at the hands of burglars, was instantly killed by two masked men, who were discovered in his bed room and whom he pursued into the rear part of the house.

Edward Holthusen, a 19-year-old boy at Elgin, Ill., attempted to commit suicide recently by shooting himself in the head. The bullet was probed for and found lodged at the base of the brain, but could not be removed without causing death. The boy is around enjoying the best of health and apparently suffers no inconvenience from the bullet in his head.

From Foreign Shores.

Herr Ingerseley, the minister of public works of Sweden, is dead.

Nine Russian war ships are now at Nagasaki, awaiting the arrival of six others.

Detachments of King's Royal Rifles, stationed at Dover, and the Irish Rifles, quartered at Brighton, have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to proceed to South Africa.

A dispatch from Mitchellstown, near Cork, Ireland, announces the death of the Fenian leader, J. S. Casey, who was one of the originators of the Land League.

The German reichstag unanimously adopted Herr Adt's motion calling upon the federal government to energetically combat, with all the means in its power, the illegal practice of duelling.

The marquis of Bath died at Venice. He was born in 1831. He was lord lieutenant of Wilts, a trustee of the British museum and the national portrait gallery and honorary colonel of the Wilts yeomanry.

Pere Hyacinthe, the distinguished protesting priest, formerly Abbe Charles Loyson, will marry Laura, a daughter of the late William Bucknell, an American, at Paris. Pere Hyacinthe is sixty-eight years old.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell, the Canadian premier, has announced that the resignation of the ministers will be handed in in a few days. It is expected that Sir Charles Tupper will be the new premier.

The Japanese envoy in Corea has been instructed to request that Russian troops be detailed to guard the Corean palace, and also that Russia appoint advisers to the Corean government and military instructors for the Corean army.

Miscellaneous.

Charles Husche of Chicago, manufacturer of picture frames and mouldings, assigned.

The failure of G. Schroeder has been announced on the New York cotton exchange.

The long expected distribution of Columbian's world's fair diplomas and medals has begun at last.

A meeting of pottery manufacturers of the United States is being held at Pittsburg to discuss the formation of a more compact organization.

The Mason & Davis company, manufacturers of stoves and ranges, failed at Chicago, and John J. Whirl was made assignee. Assets, $73,000; liabilities, $107,000.

In settling up the estate of two members of a large wholesale liquor house, both deceased, a sale of old whisky, involving $500,000, was made in Chicago to a Louisville house.

Paderewski, the pianist, has placed in the hands of William Mason of New York and Col. H. L. Higginson of Boston as trustees $10,000 for the purpose of establishing triennial prizes for composers of American birth.

Perry S. Heath, who for over two years has been president and general manager of the Commercial-Gazette at Cincinnati, has sold his interests in that company, and has resigned and retired from the directory and management.

At a meeting in Boston, two weeks ago, the formation of a trust taking in the fourteen shovel factories in the United States was begun, and it was completed at Anderson, Ind. The output determined upon will not be over 400,000 dozen per annum.

F. W. Morse, for seven years master mechanic of the Eastern division of the Wabash, with headquarters at Fort Wayne, Ind., has resigned, to accept the office of superintendent of motive power of the entire Grand Trunk system.

Henry S. Rozenkrans, formerly a wealthy man of Lansing, Mich., was found dead on the floor of his residence. He had evidently been dead a number of days, the absence of his family accounting for the failure to discover the death earlier.

Another wonderful result Tesla, the New York scientist, has obtained is that by the use of a type of fluorescent screen devised in his laboratory, he has been able to greatly increase the sharpness of the outlines in a shadow on the screen and to actually see the human heart.

BIRTH OF GRANT

THE ANNIVERSARY IS OBSERVED IN MANY CITIES.

Banquets Are Given at Which the Life Work of the General and President Is Eulogized—A Historic Cannon Unveiled at Galena, Ill. —Gen. Grant Eulogized by Gen. Longstreet.

Galena, Ill., April 28. — The Grant birthday celebration in this city began at 8:30 a. m., when the historic cannon, the recent gift of the United States government to the city of Galena, was mounted and unveiled with appropriate ceremonies in charge of a detachment of the Seventeenth Army corps, which captured the cannon from the confederates at Cheraw. A feature of the day's exercises was the first reunion of the Twelfth Illinois infantry, which took place at the court house. Brief addresses were made by Gen. John McArthur, Gen. Chetlain and others. About 100 veterans of the Twelfth were present. The veterans joined a parade which met excursionists from Chicago and, escorted by 150 cavalrymen commanded by Dr. B. F. Fowler, moved to Turner hall, where Grant memorial exercises were held. Gen. John C. Black delivered the principal address. A banquet to the veterans will be served during the evening, while a reception will be tendered Chicago guests at Turner hall.

Eulogized by Longstreet.

Boston, April 28.—The Grant dinner of the Middlesex club at the Brunswick last night in honor of the birthday of the great general was a fitting close of the banquet season. Not only did the entire membership of the club turn out to meet the invited guests, but the great banquet hall of the hotel was filled with many of the most prominent citizens of the commonwealth. The distinguished guests of the evening were Gen. James Longstreet, of the Confederate army; Senator-elect Joseph B. Foraker, Ohio; James B. Hoyt, Ohio; Senator Thurston, Nebraska, and Lieut. Gov. Wolcott were seated in places of prominence near the president of the club, ex-Gov. J. Q. A. Brackett, and all were greeted with most enthusiastic applause. Gov. Wolcott's speech of welcome was of the most generous character and full of broad, liberal sentiment, and found a fitting response in the hearts of the great assembly. Gen. Longstreet, when introduced, was very warmly greeted. He eulogized Grant's generalship. Senator-elect Foraker followed.

Letter From Platt.

Rochester, N. Y., April 28.—A Grant memorial dinner was given here last night under the auspices of the Young Men's Republican club. The guests included all of the prominent local Republicans and many from different sections of the state. It was expected that ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt would be present. Mr. Platt, however, sent a letter of regret which, with many others, was read by the secretary. The toasts spoken to during the evening were: "Gen. Ulyssis S. Grant," Dr. David J. Hill, president of the university at Rochester; "The Old Command," Col. Archie E. Baxter; "The State of New York," Hon. Hamilton Fish, speaker of the assembly; "Republican Ideas," Hon. Sloat Fassett; "State Institutions," Controller James A. Roberts; "A Business Man in Politics," Hon. John N. Scatcherd; "Municipal Reform," Hon. Clarence Lexow; "Congress," Hon. G. N. Southwick.

Observed in New York.

New York, April 28—Of the forty-odd dinners and accompanying celebrations held in the cities throughout the country last night to commemorate the anniversary of the late Ulysses S. Grant's birth, that of the Grant Banquet association at the Waldorf hotel on Fifth avenue, was one of the most notable and important. It was the ninth of the kind held by the association, and was in all respects a grand and gorgeous affair. Gen. Grenville M. Dodge presided and the speeches of the evening were by Gov. D. H. Hastings of Pennsylvania and William L. Wilson. Gov. Hasting's speech was in answer to the toast "Grant and the Republican Party," and Mr. Wilson's was on "Grant the Pacificator."

Senator Davis Speaks.

Pittsburg, April 28. — Senator C. K. Davis of Minnesota was one of the guests of honor at the annual Grant banquet of the American Republican club. He spoke on "Progressive Republicanism."

OPENED A WIND CAVE.

Remarkable Strike in an Artesian Well in Ida County, Iowa.

Sioux City, Iowa, April 28.—On the farm of Robert Hall, in Ida county, a remarkable artesian well has been struck. He was drilling a five-inch hole for water, and at a depth of 250 feet struck a place that seemed to release enough wind to make a hurricane. The drill was withdrawn and an attempt made to drive down the casting, which lacked about twelve feet of being at the bottom, but the wind came with such terrific force that it lifted the 800-pound hammer. After a short while a little water was blown up, and with it some gravel and stones nearly as large as a man's fist. They were blown from twenty-five to perhaps 200 feet above the surface of the ground, in fact so high that the wind blew some of them at least 100 feet from the well before they struck the ground. After the shower of mud, sand and stones, the water cleared and has ever since been sending up a five inch stream of spray as clear as crystal, which is blown about thirty feet into the air. It is the first artesian well of any consequence ever struck in this part of Iowa.

Fire Took $50,000 Worth.

Butte, Mont., April 28.—The Lavell lumber yards and planing mills in this city were destroyed by fire this morning. Loss, $50,000. The fire is supposed to have been set by a tramp who slept in the place.

Killed in a Ditch.

Winnipeg, April 28.—Owing to a washout east of Port Arthur the Canadian Pacific express, coming west, went into a ditch and Engineer Daniel McNeill was killed. He leaves a wife and family.

MARKET REPORTS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

Chicago, April 28.—Wheat — May, 62 7-8c; June, 62 3-4c; July, 64 1-4c; September, 64 3-4c. Corn — April, 29 1-8c; May, 29 1-8c; September, 31c. Oats—April and May, 18 5-8c; July, 19c. Pork — April, $8.12 1-2; May, $8.17 1-2; July, $8.37 1-2. Lard—April and May, $4.72 1-2; July, $4.85; September, $5. Ribs — April and May, $4.10; July, $4.25; September, $4.40. Flax—Cash, 92c; May, 88 1-4c; July, 90 1-2c. Timothy—Cash, $3.30; April, $3.30; September, $3.07 1-2.

Chicago, April 28.—Hogs—Market active at 5a10c decline; light, $3.45a3.75; mixed, $3.35a3.65; heavy, $3.15a3.55; rough, $3.15a3.25. Cattle firm and 5a10c higher; beeves, $3.20a4.15; cows and heifers, $1.50a3.80; Texas steers, $2.80a3.85; stockers and feeders, $2.80a3.80.

Minneapolis, April 28—Wheat—April closed at 60 5-8c; May opened at 59c and closed at 59 1-8c; July opened at 61c and closed at 61c. On track—No. 1 hard, 61 3-8c; No. 1 Northern, 60 3-8c; No. 2 Northern, 59 7-8c.

Milwaukee, April 28.—Flour dull and unchanged. Wheat weak and lower; No. 2 spring, 63c; No. 1 Northern, 65c; May, 63c. Corn steady; No. 3, 29 1-2c. Oats quiet; No. 2 white, 20 1-2c; No. 3 white, 19 3-4a20 1-2c. Barley nominal; No. 2, 32 1-2c; sample, 29a33c. Rye lower; No. 1, 38c. Provisions lower.

South St. Paul, April 28.—Hogs about 5c lower; quality medium to fair; sales at $3.15a3.25. Cattle about steady; not much offered on the market and only moderate demand.

WORK OF CROOKS.

The Cripple Creek Fire Set for the Purpose of Plunder.

Cripple Creek, Colo., April 28.—Information has been gathered by Chief of Police Marshall and others which, together with well known facts, makes it almost positive that the fire was the work of incendiaries with the object of plunder. It is believed that the banks were the objective points, and that they were to have been looted in the excitement if a favorable opportunity offered. Not much will be given out, but it is known that fires started almost simultaneously in several places, and all to windward of the banks and large business houses. Numbers of crooks are in the city and are known to the authorities, but owing to lack of jail facilities, they will be unmolested for a time. The amount of plundering that went on during the excitement was enormous, some firms losing nearly everything they saved from the flames. Others state that their cash registers were robbed after being carried out of their places of business.

WAR MAY CEASE.

At Least So Far as England and America Are Concerned.

London, April 28.—The first lord of the treasury, A. J. Balfour, replying to Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the Liberal leader, said in the house of commons to-day that arrangements for arbitration with respect to Venezuela and other questions are matters which Great Britain and the United States have had in view during the recent negotiations. Mr. Balfour added that the last communication from the United States, arriving on Friday last, was now under consideration. Continuing, Mr. Balfour said that the government would deal with both the general question of arbitration and also with the special question connected with Venezuela, and it was confidently hoped that by patience and tact on both sides a peaceful and satisfactory solution of the matters would be attained.

GROG AT OWATONNA.

It Causes an Attempt at Suicide and Degrades Students.

Owatonna, Minn., April 28.—Mrs. J. Smith attempted to commit suicide last night by cutting her throat with a pair of scissors, and opening an artery in each arm. Her condition was discovered in time to save her life. She has been a heavy drinker, and this, with despondency, drove her to attempt her life.

This morning three members of the senior class were expelled from Pillsbury academy for violation of the rule of the school relative to liquor drinking. A fourth student was given the alternative of expulsion or reduction to ranks and to drill with the awkward squad for the remainder of the term. He chose the latter. All the young men are high in the military department of the school. They bought the whisky at a prominent restaurant here.

SALE OF THE N. P.

The Decree Will Be Signed Within a Few Days.

Milwaukee, April 28.—The decree of sale of the Northern Pacific railroad under the consolidated mortgage of the Farmers' Loan and Trust company has been decided on and will be signed by Judge Jenkins, of the United States circuit court, in a few days, as soon as it is printed. Special Master Alfred L. Cary will conduct the sale and arrange the preliminaries as rapidly as possible. All the different interests have agreed to the decree. The matter was settled in the United States circuit court last evening. sale is to take place at West Superior, Wis., at the railway station at such time as shall be fixed by the special master. The Northern Pacific road will be given ten days in which to pay the claims against it, but there is no expectation that it will be done.

Jumped to Eternity.

Ashland, Wis., April 28.—A sensational death occurred here this morning. Albert Peteaselka walked to the end of the Keystone lumber dock and deliberately threw himself into the bay. Several people saw him jump, but before he could be reached he sank for the last time. There is no clue to his relatives.

Fire Took $50,000 Worth.

Butte, Mont., April 28.—The Lavell lumber yards and planing mills in this city were destroyed by fire this morning. Loss, $50,000. The fire is supposed to have been set by a tramp who slept in the place.

Killed in a Ditch.

Winnipeg, April 28.—Owing to a washout east of Port Arthur the Canadian Pacific express, coming west, went into a ditch and Engineer Daniel McNeill was killed. He leaves a wife and family.

FROM THE VATICAN

LETTER TO THE METHODIST MINISTERS OF CHICAGO.

It Relates to the Religious Liberty of Protestants in South American Countries, and the Ministers Regard I as Unsatisfactory—Letters Written to Archbishop Ireland Not Answered.

Chicago, April 28. — At the Chicago Methodist ministers meeting to-day Rev. John Lee, chairman of the committee on religious liberty for Protestants in South America, read the following report:

The committee presents this morning Cardinal Rampolla's letter and Cardinal Gibbon's translation. The committee has deemed it wise to give a brief and clear presentation of its work from the beginning: The Chicago Methodist ministers' meeting, April 2, 1894, appointed a committee to invite the pope's attention to the fact "that our Protestant brethren in the republics of Peru, Ecuador and Bolivia labor under oppressive disabilities that affect not only the profession of their faith and the public worship of God according to the dictates of their conscience, but also their civil and inalienable right to be legally married without being compelled to forswear their religious convictions," and to respectfully and earnestly request him to secure for these Protestants "the same liberty of conscience that is enjoyed by the Roman Catholic citizens of this country."

Two letters were written Archbishop Ireland, each containing a stamped envelope addressed to the writer, asking him if he would have the goodness to bring this action to the notice of Cardinal Satolli, apostolic delegate of the pope to the United States. To none of these letters did Archbishop Ireland reply. A letter was addressed to Cardinal Satolli in Washington. To this the apostolic delegate did not reply. A second communication was sent to Cardinal Satolli, and in reply he said: "The enclosed copy of the encyclical letter of our holy father is, I think, the most fitting reply I can make." This reply not being satisfactory to the committee, it was then decided to communicate directly with the pope himself. Two registered letters were sent to Leo XIII., one in August, 1894, and the other the following December. To none of these letters did the pope reply. April 22, 1895, a registered letter was addressed to Cardinal Gibbons in Baltimore. To this his eminence did not reply. As soon as the committee learned that the cardinal archbishop of Baltimore had started for the Eternal City, a second registered letter was addressed to him in care of the pope. To this his eminence did reply.

From Cardinal Rampolla.

Finally the following was received from Cardinal Rampolla, papal secretary of state, through Cardinal Gibbons:

"Rome, Nov. 30, 1895:—To Cardinal James Gibbons, Archbishop of Baltimore: Most Reverend and Eminent Sir: In consequence of previous interviews held with your eminence, I wrote, of which you were informed on the 12th of June, 1895, to the apostolic delegate for the republics of Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador to obtain precise information as to the legal status of Protestants there regarding the free exercise of religious worship and the celebration of marriages. The (pontifical) representative of the holy see promptly complied with my request; and now I am in position to state that the Protestants in Peru, far from being restricted in the free exercise of their worship, are rather accorded a larger degree of toleration than is compatible with a strict construction of the political constitution of these countries. This is evidenced by the fact that in Peru, especially in the cities of Lima and Callao, there are several Angelican and Methodist chapels, where weekly conferences are held. As to the solemnization of marriages, the delegate informs me that, whilst the constitution of Peru recognizes no other form (as valid) than that prescribed by the council of Trent, Protestants do, as a matter of fact, wed with religious ceremony in the presence of their ministers and civilly before the consuls and ambassadors of their respective countries. The same condition of things relative to marriage exists in Bolivia and Ecuador, where the exercise of religious worship is regulated by special constitutional enactments, with which, however, the holy see cannot interfere. Having in due time received from your eminence the representations of the Rev. John Lee, I deem it opportune to communicate to you the results of my inquiries, so that you may, according to your judgment, transmit them to the reverend gentleman. I am pleased to renew to you the profound reverence, humbly kissing your hand, and I honor myself, reaffirm myself, your eminence's devoted and true servant.

—"M. Cardinal Rampolla."

In conclusion the committee wishes to say:

First—It is indeed a sad spectacle in this enlightened age that an institution claiming to be a moral and religious power in the world, should refuse to lift a finger toward sweeping away what a Roman Catholic editor in this city terms "odious religious restrictions," and to which an aged English statesman applies the language: "Horrible and revolting."

Second—It is sadder still that an effort should be made to cover up, explain away or justify the "odious and horrible."

The Catholic Side.

Washington, April 28.—"This matter is entirely foreign to the functions of Cardinal Satolli," stated Rev. Dr. Rooker, private secretary to the papal representative, when shown the correspondence between the Chicago Methodist ministers and the Catholic authorities regarding restrictions on Protestants in Peru, Ecuador and Bolivia. "Cardinal Satolli is here as the pontifical representative of the pope, and has absolutely no cognizance of matters arising out of his own jurisdiction."

Murderer Shocked to Death.

Sing Sing, N. Y., April 28. — Karl Feinbaum, alias Anton Lahn, who murdered Mrs. Johanna Hoffman in New York on Sept. 1, 1894, was executed at Sing Sing prison to-day. He protested his innocence to the last.

AN INNOCENT LETTER.

The Part It Bears in a Suit Against the Street Railway.

Minneapolis, April 26.—A number of affidavits were filed yesterday in the motion of the plaintiff for a new trial in the action of Michael T. Leonard against the Minneapolis Street Railway company. The action was on the calendar for the December term of court, being tried in January. Later the plaintiff came into court and made the allegation that one of the struck jurors had been in communication with an officer of the street railway company after he had been drawn on the jury and before the case was tried. In these affidavits of the plaintiff it is also shown that the juror in question had also failed to state when he was questioned concerning his relations with the railway company by the plaintiff's council. In answer to these affidavits T. A. Sammis, a prominent miller, and the juryman in question, replies that he did have communication with Mr. Calderwood, of the company, but that it in nowise affected his judgment in determining the case.

HILL WILL BE HANGED.

Sentenced at Oakland for Wife Murder.

Minneapolis, April 28.—Ben L. Hill, the former Minneapolis man whose wife murder and subsequent conviction at Oakland, Cal., have been detailed, was on last Monday sentenced to be hanged. The news was received by the condemned man's brother, Sargeant E. D. Hill, in Minneapolis yesterday. Hill looked pale and haggard and disconsolate when brought into the superior court at Oakland last Monday to be sentenced by Judge Ogden. The court ordered that he be taken to the penitentiary until the date of execution was fixed. He was removed when sentence was passed. A stay of execution, at least so far as taking the condemned man to the penitentiary, was granted.

BASE BALL.

Standing of the Western and National League Clubs.

Western League.

	Kansas City	Columbus	Detroit	Milwaukee	Minneapolis	Grand Rapids	Indianapolis	St. Paul	Won	Per Cent.
Kansas City	.	0	0	0	2	0	0	2	4	.500
Columbus	0	.	1	0	0	2	0	0	3	.750
Detroit	0	1	.	0	0	1	1	0	2	.500
Milwaukee	0	0	0	.	1	0	0	1	2	.500
Minneapolis	1	0	0	1	.	0	0	0	2	.400
Grand Rapids	0	0	0	0	0	.	1	0	1	.333
Indianapolis	0	0	1	0	0	0	.	0	1	.333
St. Paul	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	.	1	.250
Lost	1	1	2	2	3	2	2	3

National League.

Clubs—	Won.	Lost.	P'Ct.
Philadelphia	6	1	.857
Pittsburg	5	2	.714
Cleveland	4	3	.571
Washington	4	3	.571
Chicago	5	4	.556
Cincinnati	5	4	.556
Boston	4	4	.500
Baltimore	4	4	.500
St. Louis	4	4	.500
Brooklyn	3	4	.429
New York	1	6	.143
Louisville	1	7	.125

Williams' Verdict Maintained.

Duluth, Minn., April 26. — Word comes from St. Louis that the United States court of appeals has affirmed the decision of Judge Nelson in the suit of John Williams of Chicago vs. John McKinley of this city. By it Williams gets $160,827 from McKinley on the ground that he committed a breach of trust in the handling of the former's valuable iron properties on the Mesaba range prior to and during the great iron boom of 1891 and 1892.

Fatal Rope Jumping.

Minneapolis, April 26. — The nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sanborn, Sixth street and Sixth avenue north, died from overexertion last night. She was skipping rope with several girls and each was trying to exceed the other's efforts in making the highest count. The little girl fell while making her trial and died before a physician arrived. Death was caused by a rush of blood to the heart brought about by excessive exertion.

Second Experimental Station.

Grand Rapids, Minn., April 28.—Prof. W. M. Hayes, of the state agricultural farm, and Supt. Pendergast were here yesterday inspecting the subexperimental station recently located at this point. They were pleased with the lands and found the buildings well suited to the needs of opening the farm, and, in fact, much better than they had expected. They returned to the Twin Cities to secure the implements, etc., for the work which will commence next week.

Sues Helen Hayes.

St. Paul, April 26.—Mrs. Lizzie Wadleigh's suit against Miss. Helen M. Hayes for alienating her husband's affections was begun in Judge Brill's court. Mrs. Wadleigh alleges that her husband, after living with her in love and quiet for twenty years, fell before Miss Hayes and her wiles, while on the other hand Miss Hayes declared that not only did Wadleigh not fall, but that he was unsuccessful in bringing about her own fall.

Fair Date Is Not Changed.

St. Paul, April 28.—Shall the date fixed for the state fair be changed is a question that has been under consideration by the board of managers of the G. A. R. encampment and the directors of the state fair association. These two bodies have held three conferences within as many weeks, for the purpose of discussing matters to the mutual interest of both enterprises, with the result that no change in the dates is likely to be made.

Lake City, Minn., April 28. — The creditors of the defunct Merchants' bank were paid 10 per cent of their deposits to-day. This is the second dividend which has been declared since the failure of the bank.

Death From Apoplexy.

St. Paul, April 28.—Gregory Ritt, a well known citizen of St. Paul, died suddenly yesterday morning of apoplexy. Mr. Ritt was not well when he retired, and awakened the family with his groans. He died before medical aid could be summoned.

Held for Trial.

Eau Claire, Wis., April 28.—At the conclusion of the preliminary examination Judge Bartlett held for trial John O'Donnel, charged with the murder of his wife by administering strychnine.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Booth-Tucker's visit has caused a split in the Salvation army in St. Paul.

A new creamery has just been completed at Montrose.

The State Agricultural society will offer special inducements for woman's exhibits this year.

State Treasurer Koerner has paid the warrant for the asylum site at Anoka.

Judges Baxter and Searle have ordered a recount of the vote in the Moorhead mayoralty contest.

New Paynesville citizens have petitioned the council to pass a curfew ordinance.

Seeding is well under way, according to reports from various parts of the state.

Cashier Buxton, of the Minneapolis postoffice, has been arrested, on t charge of embezzlement.

Booth & Landis have sold their drug and furniture stock at Alden to Henry Fink.

It is reported that numerous Southern Minnesota farmers will emigrate to the Red River valley.

Baxter, the Minneapolis wife-murderer, has been sentenced to life-imprisonment.

Attorney General Childs has filed a bill of complaint in the Duluth & Winnipeg road case.

Michael Gilligan, probably the oldest man in Anoka county, died, aged 103 years.

The supreme court has denied a reargument in the Renville county seat contest between Beaver Falls and Olivia.

An engine cut down a two-year-old son of John Dyonck, an ore-trimmer, at Duluth, taking off both legs. The boy will die.

Oliver C. Monroe, until recently clerk of the Tremont hotel, at Duluth, committed suicide at Long Lake, near Ely, by shooting.

John Rathler of Duluth, grain inspector, has sued the Northern Pacific for $10,000 for personal injuries received at Staples.

The Weyerhaeuser syndicate, it is reported, will secure all the Wright & Davis stumpage and logging road interests in Northern Minnesota.

The Delavan Co-operative Creamery company has just completed the finest equipped creamery in the county, and will commence operations at once with 500 cows.

B. C. Church, general manager of the Duluth Imperial Mill company, and ex-president of the board of trade, was seriously injured at Duluth while riding on a bicycle.

Leo Hellperb, who was $30 short in his accounts with an insurance company, committed suicide at Winona. He has been out of the penitentiary a year on good behavior.

Rev. H. E. Chase, who was bound over to the grand jury at Bird Island for alleged indecent assault on Annie Roppe, was not indicted, and is now free.

John Spencer, who, eighteen years ago, lost his little two-year-old girl at Buffalo, has at last located her. She is in New York, and it is now claimed that she had been kidnaped.

James Long shot and killed Mrs. John Pan and wounded John Pan in the face at the same time. Cause, a quarrel. All are Sioux Indians. The fracas happened at Browns Valley.

The retail grocery firm of J. M. Schaffer & Co. of Stillwater has made an assignment, brought about by a desire to dissolve the partnership. It is believed they will be able to pay nearly dollar for dollar.

The new stone freight sheds at Duluth, just completed by the Northern Pacific, 600 feet in length, were partially destroyed by fire recently. Two men were injured in the burning building.

P. H. Randall, one of the oldest inhabitants of Sleepy Eye, died of kidney trouble, aged 72. Deceased served through the civil war in the Second Wisconsin cavalry, and was present at the capture of Jeff Davis.

During a recent thunder storm lightning struck the barn of Jacob Schmuck of Pine Island, burning the barn, four horses and eight head of cattle. While trying to save property Mr. Schmuck was seriously burned about the hands and face.

At the term of court just closed at Olivia, three were sentenced to the penitentiary: William Ingo, five years, for rape; William Wilber, for stealing a suit of clothes, two years; William Landgraff was sentenced to the reformatory.

The postoffice at Benson was burglarized recently. The safe was blown open and about $200 worth of stamps and $75 cash taken, besides what may have been contained in registered letters. In their haste, the burglars overlooked a sack containing considerable money.

Charles Holmes, assistant cashier of the Merchants' bank, at Lake City, is under arrest at Worcester, Mass., awaiting the arrival of an officer from Minnesota. It is alleged that he and his uncle, who was cashier of the bank, concealed about $60,000 of the bank's funds.

John Corey, a lumberman, was run over and instantly killed by a St. Paul & Duluth engine at Duluth. He was terribly mutilated, the upper part of his body being practically cut in two. Earlier in the morning he had had a quarrel in a saloon and had hit Charles Musolf, the proprietor, over the head with a shovel. He was fleeing from the officers when he was cut down by the engine in a fog.

A severe electric storm visited Faribault recently at about 2 o'clock in the morning. Lightning set fire to a barn owned by Ald. Lamereaux, west of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad tracks and destroyed it with most of its contents. Mr. Lamereaux saved his horse, but nothing else. Lightning also struck the house of D. W. Kay, on Hickory street, was also struck and damaged. Loss, about $100.

Red Lake Reservation to be opened to Settlement May 15th 1896 at 9 o'clock A. M.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—o—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - - MINNESOTA

DR. H. GRUNDY

Physician & Surgeon.

—o—

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

☞ Messages from the surrounding towns and country promptly attended to.

Office in Drug Store.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA.

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON, Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : :

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

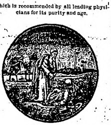
ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

THE FAMOUS

SUMARITAN

Rye Whisky

Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.



FOR SALE BY

BRINK BROS.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO

ST. PAUL,
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH,
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

TO

HELENA	PULLMAN
BUTTE	SLEEPING CARS
SPOKANE	ELEGANT
TACOMA	DINING CARS
SEATTLE	TOURIST
PORTLAND	SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
6:30 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:07 am
7:07 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex	8 30 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information. Time Cards, Maps and tickets call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARRET.
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE.
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire Minn. as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 29, 1896.

EDITORIAL COLUMN.

The Duluth Herald, whose editor seems to understand the situation better than most men of his avocation takes the Minneapolis Journal to task seemingly for its untedeable position on the silver question, claiming that the Journal man is not well informed financially. We would suggest that a truce be declared between these doughty quill drivers until the weather gets a little warmer, when both should take a run up to Grand Forks, N. D., and get Gen. Standish to post them. He is authority on the silver question and can tell upon view of an editor how much material substance it will take to convert him. Set the day and go and see the silver sage and all the benighted quill drivers of the northwest will be on hand to help convert you.

There is talk of putting Boen up against Eddy again. Is Boen the best material the Populist of this district, have? If so, they are in a sorry plight. —Warren Register.

There's no talk of putting up Boen, Bro. Stevens; among the populists, we hear nothing of such an intention, but from the republicans steerers we hear much that is favorable to him. The pops are just as liable as either of the other parties to be fooled and misled, but the man or men who do it once, don't have much success in doing it again. Sorry we can't accommodate you with Boen, he'd be easy game for so "able and brilliant" (?) a man as Eddy; but we're terribly sot in our ways sometimes, and one of such times usually occurs when we have to name a congressman, and in our sotness, (pardon us for the use of a new word) we have determined to nominate E. E. Lommen, Geo. Lamphere or Dr. C Johnson for that place, and we venture the assertion that before the campaign is ended, Eddy we will promise, will have all the business on his hands he can properly attend to.

The United States has had the highest protection the commercial world ever knew or dreamed of, for twenty years—and during that time Labor has crawled down to pauperism. The "protection" placard is pinned to a patch on his back.—Ex.

True, but what's that to holding a fat office; if he's an aspirant for place under his party he is willing, yes; wants to be taxed more, though the people suffer and die of starvation. It is an idle, hopeless task to attempt to save a drowning man if he jumps into the pond voluntarily, and don't want to be saved. Educate the nucleance who has always voted as his taskmaster directed;—until he is convinced that his vote is drawing him every year deeper and deeper into the maelstrom of poverty and dispair. Convince him that a high tariff is a tax, a burden, while he among millions of others bear because it is the law of the land; show him that this tax bears directly upon him and favors the rich manufacturers at his, the laborers expense, and when election day comes, be convinced that the act is a wrong to himself, his family and his fellow wage workers, will go to the polls and cast the ballot fusnished him by his taskmaster. Why does he do so? Simply because he is a moral coward and dare not offend his employer. And this is but one side of what we call freedom of the ballot. American Liberty (?) —Bah!!!

The late fate of the remaining Democratic candidates for the Presidential nomination since the indorsement of "Silver Dick" Bland, is thus read in their names by an enthusiast:

ClevelaNd
Olney,
WhiTney,
Hill,
MorrisoN,
Carlisle,
STone.

—St. Louis Chronicle.

HOW THE DEBT GROWS.

The United States has paid off over $1,600,000,000 of the principal of its outstanding public debt in the past thirty years; and yet will take more wheat and flour and pork and wool and cotton to pay the balance to-day than it would have required to pay off the original debt at the close of the war. In other words the public debt, measured in the price of staple commodities, is larger in 1896 than it was in 1866, notwithstanding that during this period we have paid of $1,600,000,000 of principal and the enormous sum of $2 635,000,000 of interest!

On the average prices of 25 staples, including both labor and farm lands, John Clark Ridpath, the well-known historian of the United States, finds that the public debt of $1,237,000 000 in 1896 has greater purchasing power than the debt of $2,827,000,000 had in 1866. What does this mean? It means that, although during the past thirty years we have paid off over a billion and a half of principal and over two and one half billions of interest the debt as measured in the products of labor is larger now than a generation ago. In other words notwithstanding the fact that we have paid out of the earnings of the people over four billions of dollars, the debt as measured in the products of labor has actually increased.

After paying off nearly 60 per cent of the principal, the remaining 40 per cent is greater in purchase power than the original 100 per cent.—Penny Press.

The Morton boom seems to be like Morton, a little too old and thin.—Fisher Bulletin.

It may look so to you Bro. Knappen at the present distance from the convention, but wait a little 'till Chauncy Depew gets to St. Louis and opens Levi's barrels; he won't be too old, thin nor his boom too stale.

The wonderful achievements of the Eastern money power in making gold platforms for the Republican state conventions, are strikingly apparent if we compare the planks of 1896 with the money planks of the same states in 1894. At the last election, although most of the republican state platforms straddled the money question, they at the same time demanded bimetallism and favored both gold and silver as standard money. This year only two states out of about thirty, up to date, have ventured to recognize silver as standard money or offered to lisp the word, bimetallism. They are whipped into line for gold, "gold standard," "our present gold standard."

In 1892, the Minneapolis platform declared, "The American people from tradition and interest favor bimetallism, and the Republican party demands the use of both gold and silver as standard money, "In 1896, this Republican platform is denounced by the Republican organs as absurd and populistic. The Minneapolis Journal even charges that this pronunciamento is "not honest;" besides being "manifestly absurd." So much for the change that has come over the Republican machine—since 1892.

The Bliss of Low Prices.

Being close alongside the farmers, having an intimate acquaintance with their average condition and needs, which is calculated to inspire the sympathy it feels for them, F. S. & H. makes no effort to conceal its disgust for those who are now contending that low-priced farm products are bright, winged blessings. No greater advantage can come to nations, they say, that cheap food, which implies, of course, than the cheaper the food the greater the advantage, which logically leads to the admission that 25 cents wheat, with all other farm proproducts proportionally low, would be several steps nearer agricultural, industrial and commercial bliss than the country now is. This contention is the more exasperating because it is largely made by the same school of economists that are tirelessly demanding higher walls of protection against foreign manufactures to the end that the wages in our factories may be higher, making the products of the factories higher-priced, of course; and building up that theoretical but delusive "home market" for farm products that was to ensure higher prices for them. The members of these schools was a few years ago glibly prating that "cheap" was equivelent to "mean," that a "cheap coat made a cheap man," and that any fate under heaven was preferable to the low prices and low wages of Europe saddled upon this country of princely-paid laborers. Does this school of economy now insist that farm products are cheap, that the bliss of low prices must come from them only? If this is true, how can farmers be expected to sustain the higher prices of wages and commodities with their low-prices products? For in the final assay farmers will be found the only support. In trying to convince farmers that the gold-standard, the maker of the present disastrous prices, is a blessing to him because low prices are, the gold-bug protectionist find himself in a condition where his arguments are likely to produce curvature of the spine, warped legs dis torted head, and several other anatomical calamaties.—Farm, Stock and Home.

Journalism In South Africa.

News from the pioneer towns of South Africa is very frequently characterized by quaint humor. A Bulawayo paper, for instance, lately contained the following paragraph: "In consequence of the local baker departing suddenly from our midst, regretted by all his friends except his creditors, Bulawayo has been without bread the greater part of the week." In one issue of The Friend of the Free State there appeared a paragraph to the effect that through the illness of "our reporter, who had to leave the Rand" the previous day, the editor regrets to state that "we have been unable to furnish as full a report as usual." Another South African journal failed to appear for a week and then came out with an explanation to the effect that the cause of its temporary nonappearance was the mysterious disappearance of the Kaffir "boys" who usually supplied the "steam power" for the machine.—London News.

Pins.

An odd old gentleman who lives in London has been trying to find out what becomes of all the millions and tens of millions of pins—brass pins, steel pins, hairpins and hatpins—that are lost every year. A shrewd and witty Yankee solved that problem years ago. "What becomes of the pins?" he said. "Why, they fall to the earth and, of course, become terra-pin."—New York Herald.

Not at All.

"Do you find," inquired a man who was in search of information, "that typewriter girls as a class are clannish and exclusive?"

"No," answered the man who had the information to give out. "They are not, though each one, of course, always has her own click."—Chicago Tribune.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

MUSKRATS AND OWLS.

How One Breathes Under the Ice and the Other Sees Long Distances.

At a meeting of the Boston Scientific society C. J. Maynard spoke of muskrats and other animals which he had caught and studied. Mr. Maynard's paper was largely from his own observation. He spoke quite at length about the muskrat, which, although a very common animal, is little understood by naturalists, who need much further observation to clear up certain obscure points.

In the winter time the animal builds for itself houses, which are low domes and have a floor above the surface of the water, the only entrance being below the surface of the stream. Sometimes the houses are built upon the ice at a distance from the shore. It has been quite a puzzle to know how the animal could reach its home, since it must swim for a long distance under the ice, with no chance to breathe. Dissection of the animal shows that its left lung is divided into several lobes, which are in reality air reservoirs, and which give it a very large air capacity. Then it has been discovered that the rat, after swimming as far as it can without breathing, stops and lets out a bubble of air, which comes in contact with the lower surface of the ice. This contact purifies the air, and after a little the rat draws it again into its lungs and proceeds on its journey.

The muskrat is very deficient in sight, and many experiments were quoted to show the fact. A tame one which Mr. Maynard watched, if driven through an open door, would on the first opportunity return over the very same track, and if the door had been closed in the meantime it would apparently not see it at all, but would bump against it. In the same way the animals in their wild state would hit against him if he remained perfectly still, apparently not being aware of his presence. But the hearing of the rats is exceedingly acute. Points in their anatomy were noted—the development of the bones of the ear, the curious valve which closes the nostrils when the rat is under water and the structure of the tail, which is much flattened on the sides, so that it serves as a rudder and propeller when the rat is swimming.

Passing to other matters, Mr. Maynard spoke of his owls. He mentioned in particular the structure of the bones surrounding the eye whereby this organ can be made telescopic or microscopic at will. His owl could distinguish the smallest insect crawling along near at hand, and a moment later it would attract his attention to a cow on a hill at a distance—a distance so great that he himself could barely distinguish it as an animate object. Owls are afraid of cows, and whenever this one saw a cow he made a peculiar noise which attracted the attention of his human master. This ability to have both near sight and far sight Mr. Maynard traces to a bony structure of the socket, which is capable of compressing the eye and forcing the lens into one form or another.—Boston Transcript.

Cost of Getting Mad at an Auction.

It is a very unusual thing for an ordinary buffalo robe to bring $600 at a public sale, but such a thing happened in Carversville, Bucks county. The personal effects of James Briggs of that village went under the hammer before a large gathering of farmers from the surrounding country. The robe was first bid up to $18.50, and the auctioneer was about to knock it down to Mr. A. Walton at that figure. Fritz Weisel, however, claimed that $18.50 was his bid. The auctioneer decided to put it up again, and then some lively bidding began. Mr. Weisel and Mr. Walton between them bid the robe up to $100.

The audience became excited, and men and women climbed on fences and sheds to watch the battle. "Make it $500," yelled the spectators, and the bidders proceeded to accede to the request. It ran up to $500 in a few minutes. "You might as well stop," said Mr. Walton to his opponent, "for I have orders to get that robe or bust." "I wouldn't like to see you bust," retorted Mr. Weisel, "but—I bid $505, Mr. Auctioneer." Then it ran up to $600. Mr. Weisel stopped there, and Mr. Walton made it $600.50 and carried off the robe. "Whereat," says our correspondent, "all the spectators go wild and shout like sixty."—Philadelphia Record.

First Love.

Adam bent tenderly over his elegant bride.

"Do you really love me?" he inquired. Of course he knew she did, but he just wanted her to say so in her own inimitable style.

"Do I?" she replied with gesture. "Well, I should blush! I most incontrovertibly regard you with the highest affection that woman can possibly entertain for man! Why, you're the hub of the universe!"

He certainly was the only one, and Adam thought himself he was a pretty good hub, but he secretly wished she had not been quite so Bostonian in her diction.—Elmira Telegram.

Pursuit of Information.

Mrs. Nowit (to her husband, who, with razor in hand and face lathered, is standing in front of the mirror)—What are you doing, dear—shaving?

Mr. Nowit—No; I'm trying to black the stove. Where are you—down town, or out sailing?

M. Z. EPPERSON

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

St. Hilaire Meat Market.

ALL KINDS OF

FRESH AND SALT MEATS.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry. : : : : : : :

S. M. DAINARD, Proprietor

The St. Hilaire Townsite Company will sell for the next Sixty Days Desirable Lots from $25 to $100

Apply to

H. E. IVES, Agt.

This is Easy Enough!

Any of my customers will be presented with a life like portrait free of charge by presenting their picture at my store. : : : : : : : :

M. A. HALL. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOHLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - - - Minnesota

ATTENTION! LAND OWNERS.

Do you want to Sell Your Farm?

☞ If you do, list it with me, sales will be lively this spring.

H. E. IVES.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well-watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 23	3.75
Lot 1 of 35	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.10
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NE of 4.	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 1	5.00
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	4.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 23	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 31	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 19 at from	5.00 to 6.00
[illegible] " 15	6.00
[illegible] " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.60 to 5.00
2 " 21	6.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

MINNESOTA

STATE NORMAL

AT

WINONA, MANKATO, St. CLOUD AND MOORHEAD.

These schools are organized for the training of teachers for the public schools of the state.

ORGANIZATION.—Each school comprises two departments—the Normal Department and the Training Department or Model School.

The Normal Department embraces:

(a) An elementary course of two years for teachers of rural districts and elementary grades.

(b) An advanced course of five years for teachers of advanced grades.

[c] A professional course of two years for graduates of high schools.

[d] A kindergarden training course [at Winona, St. Cloud and Mankato.]

ADMISSION.—Graduates of high schools and and colleges and teachers holding county superintendents' first and second grade certificates are admitted without examination. All others are required to pass an entrance examination.

EXPENSES.—Tuition is free to all who pledge themselves to teach in Minnesota. Text books are furnished at a rental of $1 per year. Provision is made in each school for economical living. The average cost of furnished rooms with board is about $3 per week. The Ladies' Home at St. Cloud offers board, furnished room heat and light at $3 per week. The new dormitory at Moorhead, and the ladies' Home at Winona furnish similar accommodation at a slightly higher rate. Winona accommodation $3.50 per week.

DIPLOMAS.—By a recent act of the legislature a diploma becomes a state teachers certificate of the first grade.

For free catalogues and circulars giving full information, address the presidents as follows

IRWIN SHEPARD, Winona.
EDWARD SEARING, Mankato.
GEORGE R KLEEBERGER, St. Cloud.
LIVINGSTON C. LORD, Moorhead

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR and keep posted on the affairs of the day.

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

St. Hilaire the Nearest point to the Best Agricultural Lands on The Reservation.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

J. S. BREDENBECK

The Watchmaker

AND JEWELER.

Repairing of Watches and Clocks a Specialty
Engraving neatly done.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - - MINNESOTA

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada,

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

Harness....

☞If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing, call on

C. A. SKEIE,

West Broadway. St. Hilaire, Minn.

Blacksmith!

☞Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, Etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL. St. Hilaire, Minn.

M. E. BJERK

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - MINNESOTA

U. S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston, Minn., April 1st 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on May 14th 1896, viz:

Carl Edvin Crown, Hd No. 14123, for the sw¼ sec. 28, tp 152 N. range 45 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Adolph Nelson of Bray, Minn., and Emil Larson, Alfred Lindquist, L. S. Dalird, of Wylie, Minnesota.

36-41 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

Ask Your Dealer For

FEATHERBONE

TRADE MARK

WHIPS.

FEATHERBONE is made from Enameled Quills—nature's own toughest, and strongest elastic material. Best wearing whips made for 25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50. All styles for Buggy, Cart, Tree, Team and Riding. Be sure and ask for a FEATHERBONE.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

VILLAGE OFFICERS.

Chas. G. Rapp	President
J. L. Johnson	Recorder
H. J. Freeman W. A. Sorsoleil M. Z. Epperson	Councilmen
Leonard Holmes	Treasurer
Pete Hall O. H. Peters	Justice of Peace
J. A. Dainard S. M. ainard	Constable

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	51c	Butter	8@10c
Oats	12c	Eggs	8c
Barley	11c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.50
Flax	72c	Potatoes "	12½

LOCAL NEWS.

Mud knee deep.

The spring is a little late.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

Seeding commenced in various places last week.

Bert Evenson left on Monday's train for Dakota.

Chas. Teil of Euclid was seen on our streets Saturday.

Charley Brink was at the county seat a few days last week.

The Mississippi river is raising havoc with dams and bridges.

Dentist Thomas of Crookston was looking over St. Hilaire to-day.

Joseph Johnson of Thief River Falls was in the village a few hours to-day.

M. J. Costello, traveling freight agent for the Great Northern was here to-day.

P. G. Paradis received a car load of Milwaukee keg and case beer last week.

J. Ryan will have charge of a crew on the Meehan drive up on the Black Duck river.

Chas. A. Everhart, representing The Fargo Candy Factory, was doing business here on Friday.

The Bagley crew went up to the head of the Clearwater last week and will start the drive at once.

Very few tree were planted here on Arbor day. We have trees to burn in this immediate vicinity.

The Great Northern is liable to have another "newsy" on this run, judging from what was heard to-day.

The small boy was in his glory last week catching frogs and selling them at a cent apiece—for pin money you know.

Our advertising colums are well filled with first class offers, and it will pay our readers to look over the bargains offered

M. Z. Epperson made a trip to Thief River Falls, Saturday, and says its impossible for the roads to be any worse.

The subscription price of the SPECTATOR after May the 1st will be $1.00 per year in advance; if not paid in advance $1.50.

Rev. James Moody and family of St. Hilaire, arrived Tuesday to visit friends in this city for a few days.—Warren Sheaf.

North Dakota farmers are putting in a crop of blue-vitriol and strychnia and thereby expect to kill off smut and the gophers.

New Ulm is over-run with what are commonly called "tramps." As high as twenty-eight have been run out in one day.

The Kickapoo Indian Medicine company have a two weeks engagement at McIntosh, and St. Hiliare will be their next jump.

—Choice smoked hams 10 cts. per lb. Smoked shoulders at 8 cents, all other meats in proportion at the St. Hilaire Meat Market.

The small boy and "big mit" (baseball) season is with us again and they have a kick coming on the short noon hour and recess.

Miss Cora Harris has contracted to teach a three month's term of school in the Lee district beginning Monday, May 4th. Success to you, Cora.

Game wardens all over the state are making it a point to follow up the rivers and confiscating fish nets. Occasionally they find a net or two.

Clean up your yards and take away the banking from the houses, and thus protect the health of the community from the germs of disease.

Fortunate were the ones that were lucky enough to get possession of a row boat last Sunday, as the boating and and weather was simpl fine.

5 cents will buy two packages of garden seeds at Hall's.

Another Don't.

Don't lend your umbrella,
Or your name to a bill;
For the first wont come back,
But the other one will.
—Arkansaw Traveler.

Owing to the extreme dampness of the weather, the 'sooners' have not made themselves very numerous as yet in this locality.

Annie Olson who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Cliffgard, the past week left to-day for her home at Grafton, N. Dakota.

Ed. Smith, the genial portrait man was among us the fore part of the week delivering some fine samples of his work to his customers.

O. Mercil, while at St. Hilaire yesterday, sold lot 3, block 37, in the village of St. Hilaire, to Leonard Holmes for $100.—Crookston Tribune.

F. L. Orcutt, of Minneapolis, representing the A. H. Peters Lumber Co., is here looking over the sites with a view of putting in a saw mill.

P. C. Crenshaw, Northwestern agent of the Standard Oil company is here with a view of putting in a branch house and will supply neighboring towns.

A. R. Jones has been at work clearing his three lots, and will commence building a fine residence as soon as he can get the material on the ground.

Owing to the condition of the roads St. Hiliare did not receive any mail last Thursday. The Thief River team was petered out when reaching here.

Assessor Mussey, of Thief River Falls passed through here on his way to Crookston last Friday where he went to receive instructions in regard to assessing.

Billy Stranahan is the proud possesor of a fine new Imperial hammerless gun. He aint doing a thing these days about sunrise, but finding out its good shootins qualities.

There is some talk of St. Hilaire organizing a fire department—a good idea too. Of course we don't expect to send a team to the tournament—not this year anyhow.

The SPECTATOR is a paper published for the interests of the people and for their information. Communications giving any interesting news will be thankfully received.

Emil Lafabe, the butcher of Red Lake Falls, lingered a few hours in St. Hilaire last Thursday. Owing to the condition of the roads Emil took a tie pass on Jim Hill's line for home.

Sam Scott started off last Friday for the head of the Black Duck waters and will come down on the drive. Doc is an expert log driver and has won laurels in several contests.

The foundation for a building 50x100 is being laid on the west side of Broadway. M. Z. Epperson has the contract. This makes the fourth large building under construction this spring.

The temperance brigade has struck that booming frontier town of Bermidji with its blue ribbons. Talk about your up-to-date towns—and getting there with roads as they are at present? My!

Adam Zeh, assessor of the village of Thief River Falls, and O. H. Peters, our village assessor, went to Crookston last Friday to attend the assessors meeting Saturday, and get the assessor's books.

Sunday being the day on which the 77th anniversary of the I. O. O. F. was celebrated, a party consisting of Messrs. Freeman, Oidne, Sorsoleil, Paradis, Bassett and M. Bjerk, went to Thief River Falls to witness the ceremonies.

Wednesday evening, Albert Hall, the seven year old son of Andrew Hall, accidently amputated the top of his left thumb with a hatchet. The wound was dressed by Mr. Johnson, and no serious result is apparent.

Harry E. Ives, being an experienced boatman and a noble hearted bachelor, got up a boating party Saturday evening for the benefit of the young ladies. Misses Minnie Olson; Mary Quandy, Mary Kyle, Cora Harris and Katie Berglund comprised the party.

Thos. Schell of Grafton, N. Dak., who has been in the vicinity of Thief River Falls and St. Hilaire for the past two weeks, left for home on Monday. Mr. Schell has about decided to invest in property and go into business of some kind. He will be back here in two weeks.

S. M. Dainard, our popular horse dealer, sold to Andrew Schuler, the proprietor of the Hack Line in Thief River Falls, a hack team and harness last Saturday. Sam's business is good from the neighbor village, this being the second team purchased of him from Thief River Falls parties.

We wish the farmers' railroad scheme the greatest possible degree of success. We hope that the leaders in such enterprises are not only sincere and honest but also capable. But—have the farmers taken due precautions to make it impossible for railroad speculators to gobble their property?—N. W. Agriculturist.

A Montana newspaper very pertinently says: "Don't get mad if your visitors name does not appear in the personal column. Perhaps you didn't tell the editor; he's no mind reader. Don't get mad if your neighbor's doings are referred to more frequentley than your own. Your neighbor uses his mouth. Your modesty may be keeping you in obscurity. That's no dream. A newspaper man can not spend all his time on the street if you know a news item hold us up and give it out of your system."

FLAX SEED.

First-class flax seed for sale, absolutely clean, price reasonable at 28-tf E. J. HOLMES.

STEAMBOAT.

T. B. Walker Will Put One on The Red Lake at Once.

Last Thursday Martin Lally received a telegram from T. B. Walker, requesting him to go to Minneapolis. Mr. Lally obeyed the summons, and to-day word was received from him to the effect that Mr. Walker has authorized him to go to Wabasha and purchase the necessary machinery and lumber for the construction of a steamboat, which will be placed on Red Lake. Mr. Lally has carried out the instructions, and writes that the entire outfit will pass through Crookston next Wednesday, enroute to Thief River Falls. From there it will be taken to Red Lake where the steamer will be constructed.

This move was made necessary because Mr. Walker wants to get logs from the Red Lake country, and he must have a steamboat to tow them across the lake to Red Lake River. The only steamer on Red lake at present is owned by the Meehans, and those gentlemen have neither the time nor the inclination to tow logs for any one but themselves.

Mr. Walker has purchased the McNair logs, which will be driven to Crookston and manufactured here. From this time forward the Walker mill here will do more business than heretofore.—Crookston Tribune.

Although this is a backward spring, the old hen, with an eye for a family, has already begun mixing in broken plates with her food and arranging matters to be "at home" for the next thirty days.

* * *

I have found out that hammer and saw music soon runs into money, but a wood pile without a wood shed has night sweats and burns like a paper cigar filled with snow, and I found it necessary to grow a one room wood shed—open week days.—Grafton (N. D.) Record.

Mr. Johnston Heard From.

The Crookston Times has the result of the next election in this county figured out to a nicety. Some of its prognostications, unconsciously perhaps, display a broad sense of humor. For instance, the Times says, Kirch and Rheinhart, because of their well known faithful service will undoubtedly be elected county commissioners. The Times goes farther and proceed to name a few of its favorites, now holding office as peoples party men who will also undoubtedly be elected. It is plain to be seen that McKenzie has an ax to grind for he has not hesitated to misrepresent the word of some of these people who in the past have been ardent admirers of the Times and the whole coterie of boodlers back of it. The peoples party in the past uniformly turned down all of McKenzie's recommendations and we would be surprised if the coming election disclosed that the people of Polk County had forgotten the McKenzie gang and their leg-pulling methods.

JOHNSTON.

Washington, April 23—Land Commissioner Lamoreaux has completed the list of the pine lands in Red Lake reservation to be sold at auction on the date to be set by Secretary Smith. They will be sent to secretary to-day, and he will probably approve them, and direct the placing of the advertisements within a week or two. The sale must be advertised for 60 days. This will result in the sale of this pine probably during the month of July, certainly not later than August.

July 1st is the date set for the sale of Red Lake pine lands in the Duluth district and July 15th as the date of the sale of that portion of land in the Crookston district.

D. W. Hines arrived back from Cavilier county and the western part of Pembina, Tuesday, where he had been holding very enthusiastic meetings in the interest of the farmers railroad. Up to date $75,000 in stock of the road had been sold, and over $100,000 will be disposed of before the close of April. Mr. H. left yesterday for St. Paul, Duluth, Superior, and Marquette, Mich., to attend to important business in connection with to be done on the road through the Red Lake country. He expects to return in about ten days and hold a series of meetings in Grand Forks and Walsh counties and stir up matters generally.—Drayton (N. D.) Echo.

AN exchange tells that a good story was heard the other day of a father and mother who were trying to find names for their twin babies, who, by the way, were girls. It was decided the father must name them. After casting about and finding no names that exactly suited him, he determined to end the strain on his mind, and named them "Kate" and "Duplicate." In the course of time another pair of twins came and they were boys. This was the husbands opportunity to get even, and he wanted the wife to christen the boys. Imagine his feelings when the mother one day told him she had named them "Pete" and "Repeat."

Any man can take a newspaper. It is the cheapest thing he can buy. Every time a hen clucks and has laid an egg his paper is paid for that week. It costs less than a postage stamp, less than to send or receive a letter. What good does it do you? It instructs you and your wife and teaches your children. It come to you every week, rain or shine calm or storm, bringing you the best news of the neighborhood. No matter what happens it enters your door as a welcome friend, full of sunshine, cheer and interest. It shortens the long summer days and enlivens the long winter nights. It is your adviser, and friend. No man is just to his wife and children, who does not give them the home paper to read.—Montevideo (Minn.) Leader.

Our Railroad.

Is called a tri-weekly but it is really a weekly and quite weak at that. On Monday last we took the train at Crookston for Thief River Falls after waiting an hour after schedule time. The train consisted of a small engine, 23 empties and nine loaded cars besides the passenger and baggage coaches.

Fifty-one passengers left Crookston and the baggage car was over-crowded with baggage and express matter, the trained dragged its slow length to Thief River Falls and arrived about 1 o'clock p. m., over an hour over schedule time and yet Jim Hill says a daily train would not pay.—T. R. F. News.

Vol. 1, No. 1, "Satterlee's Journal" the new paper launched at Red Lake Falls last Friday is before us. It is a six column folio (all home print) well filled with reading matter and good "ads." Marion P. Satterlee is the publisher and will make it a point to keep republicans posted on political affairs as well as news in general.

An exchange says men have various ways of carrying money. Butchers, grocers and bakers carry it in a crumpled wad. Bankers in nice clean bills, laid full length in a morroco pocket-book. Brokers always fold their bills twice. The young business man carries his money in his vest pocket, while the sporting man carries it in his trousers pocket. Farmers and drovers carry their money in their inside pocket. Editors carry theirs in other peoples pockets.

WYLIE ITEMS.

Jake Thill has been quite sick the last few days, but is recovering.

Sam Leopard broke the record last week, by starting in plowing.

Constable Smalley, of Red Lake Falls was in the village Tuesday on business.

Miss Mattie Wylie of Crookston spent a few days in the village last week vising her home.

Miss Hattie Davidson will teach the M. Hanson school which is two miles north of this place.

Andrew Letvig is thinking about giving up the "well business." Ask him what he thinks would pay better.

Dr. N. M. Watson drove up from Red Lake Falls Monday and caught the train bound for Thief River Falls.

The school house roof was under repair last week, in order to keep the sun from shining through the shingles. Chas. Zuty acting as foreman.

FOR SALE.

500 bushels of two rows (old country) barley, which grows stiff straw (will not lodge) and large kernels. For sale by P. O. Hegglund, St. Hilaire, Minn.

RICH DISCOVERIES OF GOLD.

At Cripple Creek, Colo., and elsewhere, are being made daily, and the production for 1896 will be the largest ever known, estimated at Two Hundred Million Dollars. Cripple Creek alone is producing over One Million Dollars a month, and steadily increasing. Mining Stocks are advancing in price more rapidly than any other Stocks, and many pay dividends of 35 to 50 per cent. They offer the best opportunity to make a large profit on a small investment.

J. E. MORGAN & CO., 45 Broadway, New York, are financial agents for the Prudential Gold Mining Co., and others in the famous Cripple Creek district. They will send you free interesting particulars of the Mining Companies they represent also their book on speculation in Stocks, Grain and Cotton, containing many new and important features.

Send for these books at once if you are interested in any form of speculation or investments. They may prove profitable to you. 37-3

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that all manure and rubbish must be cleaned up and hauled away from all lots within the village limits before the tenth (10th) day of May 1896, or the same will be removed at the expense of the lot owner.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 17th day of April 1896.

By order of the Board of Health,
J. L. JOHNSON,
38-40 Acting Health Officer.

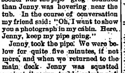
A Smoking Monkey.

I once went on board H. M. S. Octavia to visit an old schoolfellow, a lieutenant. After dinner we went up on the upper deck to smoke, and I was introduced to Jenny, a pet monkey. An old nautical superstition is, or used to be, that monkeys could talk if they liked, but would not, because if they did they would be made to work.

The Octavia's monkey was an adept at smoking, and I regret to say a confirmed drinker of grog whenever she got the opportunity. No sooner was the pipe "grog" sounded than Jenny was hovering near the tub. In the course of conversation my friend said: "Oh, I want to show you a photograph in my cabin. Here, Jenny, keep my pipe going."

Jenny took the pipe. We were below for quite five minutes, if not more, and when we returned to the main deck Jenny was squatted against the gun tackle calmly puffing, exhaling and inhaling the smoke from the pipe which had been intrusted to her care, and the pipe was fully alight and drawing beautifully.—Pearson's Weekly.

Red - River - Kennels.



☞English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.

Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

NORTH SIDE ROLLER MILLS!

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices. : :
☞Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware, Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture. Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing, Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc. Will compete with T. M. Roberts or others on Wire and Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,
DR.
PRICE'S CREAM
BAKING POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant,
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

A Woman's Hotel in London.

In London there is an establishment where lone women can be lodged and boarded at a moderate price. The Sloane Garden Apartment House is different from anything we have in America, and there are no restrictions placed upon the going and coming of the guests. There is a handsomely furnished parlor and music room. The charges for furnished rooms range from $2.50 to $3.50 a week. For from 8c to 10c one may obtain a good breakfast, and luncheon costs from 8c to 24c. The uniform price of a dinner is 24c—a soup, two vegetables, a joint and a simple desert comprise the latter meal. There are, however, certain rules which must be observed on entering: No cooking is allowed in rooms, and not a nail must be driven; no trunks or bundles are allowed in the halls. The inconvenient part is that each person must furnish her own towels, sheets, pillow cases and table linen. A deposit of £1 (about $5) is required upon entrance, which sum is returned when the visitor's time of occupancy expires. The questions asked would seem rather inquisitive to an American woman; the applicant is required to sign her full name, address, age, state of health and whether married or single. The occupation of the father is asked, as the guests of Sloane Garden House are supposed to be gentlewomen, all others being strictly excluded.—Godey's Magazine.

CRIPPLE CREEK.—$5 will buy 400 shares of gold mining stock; send for prospectus; references given. MOUNT & MOTZ, Colorado Springs, Col.

The Man for the Job.

Inspector of Prisons—In providing you with work your former occupation shall be taken into account. What were you?

Convict—An anarchist.

Inspector—Um, uh, we can put him to road blasting.—Neue Fliegende Blatter.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

A Boom 1 in Mode.

"You must have a good deal to worry you just now," said the presidential candidate's friend. "I suppose you are bothered a good deal by interviewers for opinions?"

"Oh, no. My press agent attends to

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Home, Sweet Home.

"The best time to strike your clients is right after dinner, is it not?" asked the social/statistician.

"It is when they eats at a hotel," answered the begging gentleman. "Home dinners man is just as liable to be comin' away mad as in good humor."—Indianapolis Journal.

There is just a little appetizing bite to HIRES Rootbeer; just a smack of life and good flavor done up in temperance style. Best by any test.
Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

CRIPPLE CREEK
GOLD STOCKS
Treasury stock of the Black Diamond Mining Company, full paid and non-assessable, now offered at 3 CENTS PER SHARE. After May 1st, price will be 5 cents. Get in on ground floor. Wire or write H. A. McINTYRE, Official Broker, Mining Exchange, Denver, Colorado. References: Mr. D. H. Moffat, The First National Bank, The International Trust Company, all of Denver.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS
The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.
J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist,
ST. PAUL, MINN.

CRIPPLE CREEK
Write for what you want to THE MECHEM INVESTMENT CO., 131 Jackson St., Chicago, Ill.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR 25 CTS
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

W N U No 18—1896.

Electric Alarms in a Warehouse.

A mammoth brick storage warehouse, to be erected in Boston, is not only to be made fire-proof and burglar-proof by means of electric alarms, but will contain a recording system so elaborate that almost every act of the employes is automatically registered. The watchman after 6 o'clock at night cannot go out of the building without a record of the same being made in the office. He can go from the fire room to the office, and will be required to make a register of his arrival in the office and in the engine room. Should a door be opened on any of the floors, the fact will be announced in the office by the annunciator, and the time the door was opened will be recorded on the twenty-four hour register. Should spontaneous combustion occur in any of the store rooms, it will be made known by the office annunciator. The watchman will then go to the floor on which the fire exists, and as he passes through the doors it will be announced in the office, and the time registered. When he gets back to the office a test is made to show whether he has or has not closed the doors. If the stylus punches, the doors are closed; if not, they have been left open. The floor containing the open door is also recorded. The system is connected with the police station and the fire department. Any burglar desiring to get into the building would have before him a very weary and complicated task. He would have to go to a street some distance away from the building, thread his way through a thick network of wires, taking his risk of those that happen to be alive, and be able to pick out for cutting the four lines running to the storage house.

Better Than Refined Gold
Is bodily comfort. This unspeakable boon is denied to many unfortunates for whose ailments Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a promptly helpful remedy. The dyspeptic, the rheumatic, the nervous, persons troubled with biliousness or chills and fever, should lose no time in availing themselves of this comprehensive and genial medicine. It promotes appetite and nightly slumber.

Boys Will Be Boys.

Old Gentleman (to small boys stealing apples)—Good gracious, boys, stealing is bad enough; but if you must steal, why don't you take the ripe apple instead of the green?"

Boys (in chorus)—Th' the man what owns the orchard will give us all the ripe ones we want, if we ask for 'em.—S. F. Wave.

DR. J. G. GRANT, Specialist.
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.
Syndicate Block, Minneapolis.
(Spectacles fitted.)

Preparing for Dinner.

If a woman courts indigestion, she can devise no surer method of getting it than by eating heartily when she is very tired. Chronic dyspepsia is almost sure to follow a long course of heavy dinners eaten when the diner is worn out with her day's work.

To prepare for dinner after a busy day, take off the street gown, take out the hair pins and take off the shoes. Brush the hair a few minutes and pin it loosely up, but not in the same place where it is usually worn. Have ready a bowl of hot water. Wash the face and neck in it. Press the wash cloth as hot as it can be borne, at the back of the neck and over the eyes. When the hot water has relaxed the tense, tired muscles somewhat, dash cold water, with toilet vinegar or cologne in it, over the face and neck. Then lie down for fifteen minutes. Keep the eyes closed and the mind, as far as possible, a blank.

Then drink a cup of hot water, or hot, weak tea. Put on a fresh gown, and, unless the weariness has been unusually severe, the blithest and most rested sensations follow, and dinner is a pleasure, and not another duty in the day's dull routine.—Philadelphia Ledger.

When Nature
Needs assistance it may be best to render it promptly, but one should remember to use even the most perfect remedies only when needed. The best and most simple and gentle remedy is the Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company.

Good for the Publishers.

Little Miss DeFashion (meeting noted author in the park)—How-de-do, Mr. Finemind. Mamma is awful glad you are coming to her reception.

Great Author—I am delighted to learn that she is pleased.

"Yes; she says you are the biggest society lion of the season, and she's so glad she got ahead of that Mrs. De-Style. Mamma has told everybody you are comin', and they're all worked most to death. Mamma's head aches awful this morning."

"Um—to what do you refer, my dear?"

"Why, you know everybody is nearly killin' themselves tryin to read your books, so they can talk to you about 'em."—Spare Moments.

1,000 Farms for Sale.
Only 10 per cent Cash balance one half Crop each Year or Instalment plan. J. A. Walters, 109 4th St. So. Minneapolis, Minn.

True to His Vow.

She—Come, dear, here are some nice fresh biscuits I cooked myself. Put on your slippers and come to the table.

He—Excuse me, dear; I don't think I'll put on my slippers. I've always made the boast that I'd die with my boots on!—Yonkers Statesman.

THE DOCTOR—"One layer of paper is bad enough, you have three here. Baby may recover but cannot thrive."

ALABASTINE.
IT WON'T RUB OFF.
Wall Paper is Unsanitary. KALSOMINE IS TEMPORARY, ROTS, RUBS OFF AND SCALES.
ALABASTINE is a pure, permanent and artistic wall-coating, ready for the brush by mixing in cold water.
For Sale by Paint Dealers Everywhere.
FREE A Tint Card showing 12 desirable tints, also Alabastine Souvenir Rock sent free to any one mentioning this paper.
ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.

Breakfast Cocoa
Made by Walter Baker & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass., is "a perfect type of the highest order of excellence in manufacture." It costs less than one cent a cup.

THE SPANISH CAMPAIGN.

Despite Constant Victories It Was a Disastrous Failure.

The French interests in Spain were left in a most deplorable condition. The populace of Madrid received the hero of the age with coldness, and shut themselves up in their houses to avoid forming a crowd or creating any enthusiasm in the streets. They would not even come out to see the gorgeous military parade which was arranged for their benefit. The gentry and nobility were alike distant and cold. It was clear that Spain could neither be wheedled, cajoled, nor threatened into even passive acquiescence in the new conquest. It was essential, therefore, that another course should be tried. On December 4, Napoleon, in the role of reformer-statesman, pronounced and issued from Chamartin a series of the most thoroughgoing edicts. All feudal privileges, all inter-provincial customs dues, were swept away; the Inquisition was abolished, and the number of convents was reduced to a third. These measures were in themselves most salutary, and struck at the very root of the upas-tree under the baneful shade of which Spain had been slowly perishing. But to do good they must be enforced; there must be a complete military conquest of the country, and a capable administration. There was neither. The Spanish army had been defeated, but, severe as had been its punishment, its resistance was not destroyed; the occupation of the country was also sadly incomplete, and it made no difference whither French soldiers marched, or what stategic points they held, some kind of Spanish fighting force, no matter how irregular, sprang up behind them and on their sides. The complete military centralization of Prussia had made Jena decisive for the whole loose-jointed territory of that kingdom; the compact territory of Spain and the local independence of her peoples made regular victories utterly fruitless so far as the open country was concerned.

HEROIC TREATMENT.

How a Dislocated Jaw Was Put Back Into Its Place.

While talking in his sleep Sunday night, Henry Flocke, builder, residing in Ozone Park, L. I., dislocated his jaw, says the New York Times. Mr. Flocke's habit of talking in his sleep has made him the butt of a good deal of joking. He went to bed as usual, but he had not slept long when he began talking. This awoke his wife, who listened for about ten minutes. Suddenly Flocke's nocturnal monologue stopped. He began gasping. Mrs. Flocke was frightened and shook her husband into wakefulness.

"Why, what's the matter, Henry?" she asked.

Her husband tried to speak, but in vain. His jaw was immovable. He motioned to his wife that he could not speak, and she endeavored to force his mouth shut. She could not move it. Fearing her husband was suffering from lockjaw, she sent for Dr. McDonald.

"Do you want me to replace your jaw in my own way?" asked the doctor.

Mr. Flocke motioned in the affirmative. Dr. McDonald stepped in front of Flocke. Without warning the doctor struck Flocke a terrific blow on the left side of the jaw. Flocke showed a disposition to strike back.

"You told me to do it my own way," said the physician. "You observe that your ability to speak is restored."

The blow had knocked Flocke's dislocated jawbone into its proper position and, except for a little soreness, he was none the worse. Dr. McDonald explained that Flocke's jaw was liable to dislocation at any time, unless he broke himself of the habit of talking in his sleep.

An Individual Preference.

"Some fellers as is interested in silver wants silver money," remarked Plodding Pete, thoughtfully, "while others think gold is right. I've even heard of fellers thet wanted to deposit wheat an' things an' git currency fur 'em."

"Yep," replied Meandering Mike. "A good deal depen's on yer pus'nal interests. Now ez fur me, I think a heap o' time could be saved by gittin' out orders on responsible breweries negotiable at all bars in the country."—Washington Star.

Salvation Army Is Rich.

The recent trouble in the Salvation Army has brought to light the fact that this organization owns property valued at more than $4,000,000.

GOLD FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

If castor oil is applied to a wart once a day for a month the wart will entirely disappear. In many cases it will not require so long a time.

If a piece of camphor gum is placed in the drawer where are kept dress waists that are trimmed with steel it will prevent the steel from tarnishing.

It is said that if parsley is eaten with onions or a salad containing onions the odor of the onion will not affect the breath. The sprig of parsley should be eaten as you would celery.

A small piece of candle may be made to burn all night by putting finely powdered salt on it until it reaches the black part of the wick. A small even light may be kept in this way.

Wormwood boiled in vinegar and applied as hot as can be borne on a sprain or bruise is an infallible remedy. The affected members should afterward be rolled in flannels to retain the heat.

An excellent remedy for a cough is made by slicing two lemons thin and adding to them 10 cents' worth of licorice root, one gill of water and a little sugar. Boil until quite thick and strain.

To stain wood to look like ebony take a solution of sulphate of iron and wash the wood over twice. When the wood becomes dry apply two or three coats of a strong decoction of logwood. Wipe the wood dry and polish with a flannel wet in linseed oil.

Ink may be taken out of paper in the following way if the stain is not too old: Take a teaspoonful of chlorinated lime and pour over it just enough water to cover it. Take a piece of old linen and moisten it with this mixture and do not rub, but pat the stain, and it will slowly disappear. If one application does not remove the stain let the paper dry and then apply again.

The assessed valuation of property in New York City is $1,613,057,735.

Spring
Medicine
Your blood in Spring is almost certain to be full of impurities—the accumulation of the winter months. Bad ventilation of sleeping rooms, impure air in dwellings, factories and shops, overeating, heavy, improper foods, failure of the kidneys and liver properly to do extra work thus thrust upon them, are the prime causes of this condition. It is of the utmost importance that you
Purify
Your Blood
Now, as when warmer weather comes and the tonic effect of cold bracing air is gone, your weak, thin, impure blood will not furnish necessary strength. That tired feeling, loss of appetite, will open the way for serious disease, ruined health, or breaking out of humors and impurities. To make pure, rich, red blood Hood's Sarsaparilla stands unequalled. Thousands testify to its merits. Millions take it as their Spring Medicine. Get Hood's, because
Hood's
Sarsaparilla
Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1
Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass
Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Electric Lamps for Photo-Engraving.

An improved arc lamp of high candle-power has been specially designed and constructed for use in connection with photo-engraving. The light obtained is absolutely steady and burns for a number of hours at 5000 candle-power, with a variation of less than one-tenth of an ampere. Photo-engravers and electrotypers who have used this lamp report that they are now able to make prints in three to four minutes, where formerly they would have to use six 2000 candle-power arc lamps for double the length of time in order to secure the same result.

We will forfeit $1,000 if any of our published testimonials are proven to be not genuine. —The Piso Co., Warren, Pa.

"The Difference."

"The difference," said Asbury Peppers, though no one had asked him, "the difference between a bicycle pump and an anti-prizefight law is that one is used to blow up the tires and the other is used to tie up the blowers."

Whereupon the serious boarder told him that he ought to go on the stage, or, if the stage were not available, to go on the next train.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Reading"
Said Lord Bacon, "maketh a full man." That is, a man of knowledge. Knowledge is power. Do you want to be powerful? Text books in school furnish knowledge, but they can give only the skeleton. The flesh must be put on by the teacher (or by reading), in the way of illustration. To get this additional information one must read many special books, which are not to be found outside of big libraries. Each month the Burlington Route issues a printed sheet containing articles of thirty, or forty lines, compact, reliable and interesting, on geographical, scientific and historical subjects. If you send your name and address to W. J. C. Kenyon, G. F. and P. A., St. Paul, Minn., one of these sheets will be sent to you every month during 1896.
N. B.—The Burlington Route is the best line from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Chicago or St. Louis.

They Had Been the Rounds.

Biggs—I saw by the papers a few days ago that a well-known writer died recently and left fifty thousand funny dialogues that had never been published.

Squibbs—That's nothing. I ain't dead yet, and I have three times that number at home now.—S. F. Wave.

Coe's Cough Balsam
Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

Broke the Silence.

For a long time after he had succeeded in inserting himself through the door, at 3 a. m., she regarded him in silence.

At length she spake.

Also she spake at length.—Westchester Globe.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is a liquid and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system. Send for testimonials, free. Sold by Druggists, 75c.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O.

A Sign Painter's Logic.

"There's no use of all them words," said the sign painter, looking at his copy, which read, "Mrs. Dr. Browne." "You wouldn't make it 'Mr. Dr. Browne,' for that wouldn't be grammar." So the sign came home "Drs. Browne."—Minneapolis Journal.

Five persons are killed daily in the mines of England.

DYSPEPSIA.
A Life of Agony, a Death of Pain, is the Experience of its Victims.
This dreaded disease is caused by imperfect action of the stomach, and impurities of the blood. Gastric ulcers appear at a certain stage, they slowly eat into the vitals of the victim, poisoning his blood and preventing the absorption of proper nourishment from the food. The patient at last dies from starvation, unless a knawing ulcer penetrates an artery, and death from hemorrhage is the result. Do not continue to suffer. You can be cured. Kickapoo Indian Sagwa brings relief in every instance. It tones up and rectifies all derangements of the stomach, liver and kidneys; above all it purifies the blood, restoring to it its power to convey nourishment to all parts of the body, and enables it to dispel all poisons from the system. Note this one of many cases where health has attended its use.
"I have been a great sufferer from chronic dyspepsia for thirteen years, and finally became so bad that I was unable to work or do any business. I am very thankful that I met the Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., as they have by their Kickapoo Indian Sagwa made a new man of me. My health is again fully restored, and I can work with entire satisfaction, and deem it a duty to make this known, so that those suffering as I have may use the Kickapoo Indian Sagwa and be benefited. I cheerfully recommend it in doing what is claimed for it."—William B. Donahue, Westcott, Nebraska.
There are thousands of others living today who testify to its efficacy. Remember it is harmless, being purely vegetable and all powerful in its effects. All druggists sell it, $1.00 a bottle; 6 bottles for $5.00.

FELLOW PASSENGERS IN A CAR.

Interrupted Conversation of a Blond Woman and an Elderly Man.

An elderly man, smooth shaven, and with a bright dash of red in his neck-scarf, boarded a Sixth avenue surface car the other afternoon and sat down beside a young woman of generous proportions crowned with coaxed blonde hair, who was discussing a $10 bill with the conductor.

"It is the smallest bill I have," she said, "and I am too tired to walk."

"Well, I can't change it," said the conductor. "I don't carry that amount of change."

"What am I going to do?" asked the blonde woman, looking at the elderly man out of the corner of her eye.

He caught the glance, and giving his scarf a little twist to bring out its color to the best advantage, lifted his hat to the young woman and said:

"Permit me, madam."

The conductor took the 5 cents offered him and the other passengers watched the outcome.

"Thank you so much," said the young woman. "It is so awkward not to have change—er—don't you think so?"

This was plainly a conversational opening and the elderly man beamingly took advantage of it. To the amusement of the other passengers, the blonde young woman and the man who had paid her fare kept up a lively interchange of opinions on various subjects for half a dozen blocks, and then the car stopped for a woman who wanted to board it, and the elderly man's face lost its animation. He had caught a glimpse of the new passenger. She was a middle-aged woman of quiet dress.

"Why, how do you do, Mr. Blank?" she said on seeing the elderly man, and then she sat down opposite him and in a voice that the other passengers heard easily, asked:

"And how is Mrs. Blank? Well, I hope. And your new grandson? Nice baby, I hear."

Every one in the car was smiling except the speaker, the elderly man and the blonde woman. The elderly man avoided further complications by leaving the car, and the blonde woman looked scorn at his middle-aged woman friend who sat across from her.—New York Sun.

THE PERCEVAL MURDER.

A Prophetic Dream and Its Fulfillment in 1812.

One of our contemporaries revives a curious prophetic dream and its fulfillment with regard to the murder of Mr. Perceval, the prime minister, in 1812. Mr. John Fox, a great mining contractor in Cornwall, was on a visit to a friend at Redruth, and on the night of his arrival he dreamed most vividly that he was in the house of commons, and sitting on one of the benches in the lobby waiting for a member to give him a ticket of admission. A man was sitting next to him who seemed very restless, and constantly asked for Mr. Perceval. Then the murder took place, a great confusion arose, the murderer was caught and his name—Bellingham—elicited.

The dream at this point ended. Mr. Fox had never been in the house of commons, never seen either Perceval or Bellingham. His friends noticed his disturbed state of mind the next morning; but, on hearing the particulars of the dream, not unnaturally, laughed at it. The papers, however, soon confirmed it in every detail; and, as the story of the dream spread far and wide, Mr. Fox was sent for to come to London, and immediately taken to the house of commons. He immediately pointed out the bench he had sat upon in his dream; the door through which Mr. Perceval had entered, the exact spot where the murder was committed, and also described the appearance of both the victim and Bellingham, down to the clothes both had worn.

In Sir John Rennick's autobiography, in 1825, it is related that the story of Mr. Fox's dream had been heard by him and his father, and was implicitly believed, owing to the high repute in which Mr. Fox was held.—Newcastle Chronicle.

Guessing Flowers.

A pleasant variation in an evening of games is the drawing of flowers with colored crayons, and then having your guests guess the names of the flowers. A list of flowers should be made out, each one with a number. On separate slips of paper write the name of one of the flowers with its corresponding number, until you have used each one on the list. Give each guest one of the slips, or have a draw for them, and provide them with crayons and sheets of paper. Give fifteen minutes for the making of the flowers, then collect the drawings and pin them up about the room. As the names of the flowers are read from the list guesses are given as to which flower among the drawings represents it. Another pleasant game is called matching quotations. Well known lines are written on slips of paper and then divided into bits, each part having three or four words. These fragments are pinned about the room on furniture, curtains and hangings, and each person takes one and starts out to find the other parts that will make the quotation complete. Sometimes the quotations may consist of an entire line, with the second line forming the other half to be looked for.—Philadelphia Times.

English Estates Passing.

The policy of disposing of unentailed estates has been introduced in England by the titled gentry, who need the money more than they do the ownership of the soil. During the spring or early summer between 3,000 and 4,000 acres of the countess of Warwick's Essex estates will be put up for sale at auction. The vast property, which includes Newenham hall farm, on which are three of the famous hills or barrows known as Bartlow Hills, where numerous antiquities have been found, will be submitted as a whole. But, anticipating the tendency of the times, the vendor has agreed, if not successful, to have it put up immediately afterward in lots arranged, as far as possible, so that the tenants will have an opportunity of acquiring the freehold of their holdings.—San Francisco Chronicle.

They Had No Dinner.

The absent-mindedness of a certain well known Scotch professor is notorious. Not long ago he invited a few select friends to dine with him, and upon their arrival, some short time before the hour set for dinner, the professor suggested a walk through the conservatory and grounds until the gong should sound the dinner hour. After spending a short time inspecting flowers, plants, etc., host and guests came suddenly to a small gate at the end of the lawn.

"Ah," said the professor to his astonished guests, "assuredly this will be a much nearer way home for you than going back to the front." And, all unconscious of his invitation to dinner, he opened the gate and bowed his guests out.—London Answers.

Patents Issued.

John Beaty, Jr., Oak Center, Minn., harrow tooth; Clarence E. Bradley, Mankato, Minn., measure; Truman M. P. Chapman, Minneapolis, Minn., spring roller; James W. Eggleston, Minneapolis, Minn., gage pin for printing presses; Christian Linkenbach, St. Paul, Minn., clasp; James T. McDowell, Ellensburg, Wash., fire lighter; Maurice D. Pendergast, Hutchinson, Minn., bob sled; Emery E. Taylor, Minneapolis, Minn., car wheel shifter.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press Bldg., St. Paul, Minn.

A Description to Fit.

"They tell me she is a lightning change artist."

"I guess that's right. She has been married and divorced three times, and she's only twenty-two years old now."—Chicago Post.

During the Saxon and Norman times in England children were publicly sold in the streets of English towns for slaves.

Roman slaves were often educated men. The doctors, musicians, actors and men of other callings were often slaves.

The Medal Medicine
Is the Model Medicine.
The only medal awarded to sarsaparilla at the World's Fair, 1893, at Chicago, was awarded to
Ayer's
Sarsaparilla.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS, but sell direct to the consumer at wholesale prices. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Write for catalogue.
ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., ELKHART, IND.
W. B. PRATT, Secy.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

Loss of opportunity is life's greatest loss. Think of suffering with NEURALGIA 5 Years 10 Years 15 Years
When the opportunity lies in a bottle of ST. JACOBS OIL. It cures.

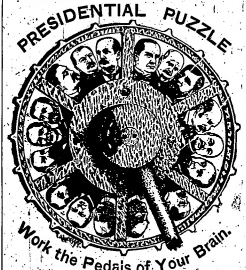
AT Co's
Battle
Ax
T. Co.
BATTLE
AX

The coming Artist who knows enough to paint a popular subject.
Battle Ax
PLUG
You get 5⅓ oz. of "Battle Ax" for 10 cents. You only get 3⅗ oz. of other brands of no better quality for 10 cents. In other words, if you buy "Battle Ax" you get 2 oz. more of high grade tobacco for the same money. Can you afford to resist this fact? We say NO—unless you have "Money to Burn."

Model No. 1.

RACYCLE

Model No. 2.



PRESIDENTIAL PUZZLE
Work the Pedals of Your Brain.

Model No. 11.

In This Puzzle You See the Crank, Hub and Sprocket of the Strictly High Grade

Model No. 10.

Narrow Tread RACYCLE Price, $100.00.
The only Machine made without Leverage and Friction and with Sprocket and Chain running between bearings, which are in the hubs of the cranks, 8½ inches apart. If you intend to ride a wheel, RIDE THE BEST. The discount makes THE BEST, THE CHEAPEST.
TO SOLVE THE PUZZLE. Mark an "R" or "D" on the forehead of each candidate to indicate the political party to which he belongs. Cut out puzzle and return to us with your name, address, model of wheel, and height of frame desired. The more correct and prompt the return of your solution the greater discount we will allow you. We want a few Racycles in your locality at once as advertisements.
Name..............
City..............
State..............
Model...... Height of Frame........
MIAMI CYCLE & MFG. CO.,
Middletown, Ohio.

Minn. Hist. Society
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY MAY 6, 1896. NUMBER 40.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

Instructions were sent forward from the navy department to San Francisco for the trial of the battleship Oregon.

Representative McCall of Tennessee submitted favorable report on a bill to aid and encourage the holding of the Tennessee centennial exposition at Nashville in 1897 and appropriating $130,000 for a government exhibit.

A bill to provide for the purchase of the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln in Kentucky was introduced by Populist Lewis of that state. A national soldiers' home to be known as the Lincoln soldiers' home is to be erected upon the site and $100,000 is appropriated for this purpose.

People in Print.

The queen of the Belgians plays the harp exquisitely.

Mrs. Booth-Tucker, the consul of the Salvation Army in America, is very ill in San Francisco.

Lord Rutherford Clarke, who is over seventy years of age and a judge of the Scotch court of session, has won the first prize in the golf competitions at Cannes twice running.

Mrs. D. J. Davis of San Francisco claims the distinction of having the longest hair in the world. She is five feet nine inches in height, and her hair is six feet eight inches long.

Lincoln was the first occupant of the White House to wear a beard, and Grant was the first to wear a mustache. Cleveland has a mustache, and is the only one of the presidents to wear a mustache without a beard.

J. B. Vletch, general agent of the Milwaukee, is lying sick at Chillicothe, Mo., of typhoid fever, with practically no hope of recovery. Mr. Vletch was stricken while on the train bound from Kansas City on a tour of inspection.

According to the Westminster Gazette, the young duchess of Marlborough, formerly Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, is developing a strong taste for pets. She has started a menagerie at Blenheim with two ostriches, several eagles, a number of vultures, two ibis and a garter snake (all purchased on the banks of the Nile), which she has tamed in a wonderful manner. The paper mentioned adds: "A 'gentle-eyed' Nubian in native costume, also brought by the duchess from Egypt, will accompany her in her walks about Blenheim."

Casualties.

While attempting to save the goods in his burning residence, John Kauffman of Burr Oak, Ind., was burned to death.

At Ironwood, Mich., George Hoffman and August Erickson, miners, were killed by the premature explosion of a blast in the Pabst mine.

In a switching accident at Lebanon Junction, Ky., James Crutcher, a colored jockey, was killed and Oscar Alexander, trainer, and George Waite, stable boy, were badly injured.

The Toledo Tube works and the Smead foundry were damaged by fire to the extent of $55,000, with insurance to the extent of $55,000, with $34,000 insurance.

Lightning struck a gas well near Kokomo Ind., destroying the machinery and igniting the released gas. The fire raged furiously for two days, and dynamite had to be resorted to to subdue the flames.

Mrs. Ringberger's house caught fire at Marshalltown, Ia. Mrs. Cronin, 84 years old, remembered she had left her money in the house and went after it, against the protest of relatives. She perished in the flames before she could be rescued.

Five coal cars from the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton yards dashed into the Union depot at Dayton, O., striking a sleeper on the east-bound Pennsylvania express. C. O. Grief, of Cleveland was killed and Philip Netter of New York had his leg broken.

Eight persons were badly injured in a head-end collison between two electric street cars at Bay City, Mich., Both were filled with passengers. The motormen say they did not see the cars approaching until too late to avoid the accident, although both cars were provided with headlights.

While attempting to stop a runaway team that was dashing into a crowd of people in the street at Elmwood, Ind., Millard Thomas, a tinplate worker, aged 25, was crushed under the horses' feet and perhaps fatally injured, his skull being fractured. Two occupants of the vehicle were also dangerously injured.

Evil Doings.

Eugene Camburn, a farmer, living near Tipton, Mich., was shot and fatally wounded.

At Seattle, Wash., Albert Rieuliffe, a mulatto, shot and killed his wife and then killed himself. Jealousy was the cause.

Bill West, charged with the murder of United States Marshal Kenny, in Indian Territory, escaped from jail at Topeka, Kan.

J. J. Bush, who was cashier of the Elmira National bank prior to its failure in 1893, was arrested at Elmira, under an indictment charging him with wrecking that institution.

Carl Feingbaum, alias, Anton Lahn, who murdered Mrs. Johanna Hoffman in New York Sept. 1, 1894, was executed by electricity in the state penitentiary at Sing Sing, N. Y. Feingbaum protested his innocence to the last.

Robert A. Robinson, cashier of the People's and Drover's Bank of Washington Court House, Ohio, prior to the receivership last October, and Michael Herbert, teller, have been indicted on ten counts for embezzlement.

At Fort Smith, Ark., Lucky Davis, Louis Davis, Rufus Buck, Maoi July, Sam Sampson and Ed Wilkes, alias Davis, were sentenced to be hanged on Wednesday, July 1, for crimes against women, committed in Indian Territory.

The many clients of Charles Kahn, the missing St. Louis real estate agent, who, it is asserted, left the city after having embezzled thousands, have been unable to find any clue to his whereabouts.

A story is made public at Carrollton, Mo., to the effect that George Taylor, the escaped murderer, was seen in the northern part of Carroll county, in company with one of the men that composed the first jury that tried the Taylor case.

Edward K. Bethel, a member of the "Hoodman Blind" company now playing at the Grand opera house, Boston, attempted to shoot his wife, a member of the William H. Crane company, which is now playing in Hartford, Conn.

During the races at Lexington, Ky., Tom Meade, the well known bookmaker, was robbed of $6,500 by an unknown thief. The successful working of this scheme to beat the bookies without placing a dollar on the races, is due, in part, to the new police force on the track.

John Stahl, a furnace helper employed at the Pittsburg wire works at Braddock, Pa., was almost instantly killed by a single blow from the fist of Charles Edwards, a colored man. The men quarreled over charging the furnace. Edwards handles billets of steel weighing 150 pounds each as if they were blocks of wood. He cried like a child when Stahl died.

From Foreign Shores.

Emperor William will not attend the races at Cowes this year.

Heinrich Gotthard von Treitschke, the German historian, is dead. He was born in 1834.

It is said that Russia is preparing to strike Afghanistan before a British force could reach it from the other side.

The Dutch forces are shelling Lampisang, the chief village of Loe Koe Mar, Java, the leader of the Achinese who rejected the ultimatum of Holland.

The Carthage, Mo., ministerial alliance has published a card urging Christian people to stay away from the lecture to be given by Col. Robert G. Ingersoll.

The North German Gazette says that the statement that the imperial chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe, will be absent from the remainder of the session of the reichstag is unfounded.

The Chilian minister of finance, Senor Perez Arce, declares that the rumors of the return to a paper currency on the part of Chili are malicious inventions.

Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, husband of Queen Victoria's daughter, Princess Helen, was knocked down by a cab in Praed street, London, and slightly hurt in the ribs. He was able to proceed to Buckingham palace.

The report is confirmed that the Italian government has given Gen. Baldissera, the commander of the Italians in Abyssinia, full liberty to evacuate Kassala. The semi-official Corriere Napoli declares that the evacuation is perhaps only a question of days.

Geoffrey Drage, member of parliament for Derby, was married to Miss Ethel Ismay, eldest daughter of Mr. Ismay of the White Star line of steamships. The ceremony took place at Thurslaston, Cheshire. Mr. Drage has written treatises on the foreign labor question and is the author of "Cyril," a novel.

The Nicaraguan government is celebrating a great victory over the insurgents. Having captured La Paz, Pueblo Luevo, Pital Momotombo and Canas from the rebels, the government now controls the eastern part of the Leon railroad. Three officers and some men, were killed on the government side, while 20 officers and 500 men among the rebels were slaughtered.

Miscellaneous.

Thomas Q. Seabrooke, the comedian, has been sued for a separation by his wife, Elvia Croix Seabrooke, upon the ground of cruelty and abandonment.

William Rue owner of the stallion Gambonito, 2:19 1-2, that won the championship medal at the World's fair, died at Danville, Ky., of blood poison.

The body of Alexander Knopfel, a prominent merchant of Bay City, Mich., was found in the Ohio river near Cincinnati. The body was identified by papers found on it.

John Donahue, veteran of the Mexican war and who surveyed a large part of the gulf and Pacific coast regions, died at Newmelleray monastry, Dubuque, Ia., aged 80 years.

At a meeting of bondholders of the Omaha & St. Louis railroad held in New York it was voted to accept the proposition of syndicate believed to represent either the Wabash or Rock Island companies.

The Arkansas compromise bill to settle the claims between the general government and the State of Arkansas was finished by the house committee on public lands, which has been working on it.

Mrs. Ludwig George of Laramie, became insane over the action of the Wyoming state land board indispossessing her of a section of leased school land and was captured while on her way to the state capitol with a revolver to shoot Gov. Richards, president of the land board.

The first big rally of the volunteers in New York city filled Carnegie Music hall at New York. The strength of Ballington Booth's new evangelical organization showed on the stage with its rising tiers of benches, occupied by more than 200 officers and soldiers and a band.

Miss Mattie Reed, who was stricken with paralysis while teaching in the high school at Anderson, Ind., died the following day. She had been in the schools for eight years. When she was stricken her pupils began crying. This was mistaken by the pupils in other rooms for a cry of fire and the 500 stampeded. Several were injured in the rush to get out.

Workmen have begun to remove the stone in front of the Washington statute on the steps of the subtreasury at New York. The stone will be taken up and placed in the wall of the rotunda of the subtreasury, where it will be out of danger from the elements. It is the same stone Washington stood on when he took the oath of office on becoming first President of the United States.

SPRING A SURPRISE

SCOTT JACKSON'S ATTORNEYS MAY DO THIS SOON.

It Is Rumored, but the Story Is Not Verified, That a Woman Will Be Placed on the Stand Who Will Testify That Pearl Bryan Dies at Her House in Cincinnati—Attorney Fined for Contempt.

Newport, Ky., May 5.—There is a possibility, if not a prospect, that the trial of Scott Jackson will consume all of this week. During the past week the defense has revealed its purpose to attack the testimony of at least two witnesses, if not three. Allen Johnson, the colored porter at Dave Wallingford's saloon, has been attacked already as to his veracity, but with no great success. The defense is, evidently, not yet through with him. As to George H. Jackson, the colored cab driver, there is a reserve of personal testimony and depositions tending to break down his character. Several days ago the defense, when Will Wood was on the stand, laid the foundations for the introduction of at least four depositions from reputable citizens in Greencastle, Ind., tending to show that he, as well as Scott Jackson, had intimate relations with Pearl Bryan. In Wood's case, however, the depositions are of the nature of boasts he made in the presence of these deponents. One manifest hope of the defense is to establish a case of non-jurisdiction by showing, if possible, that the murder was committed in Cincinnati by overdoing some treatment with chloroform or other anaesthetic, and that the body was afterward taken to Kentucky to avoid recognition. There is a rumor which has been afloat since yesterday that the defense intends to spring a surprise by bringing in a woman from Cincinnati who will swear that the girl died at her house in Cincinnati. This, however, is still in the shape of a rumor, not fully verified. The introduction of such testimony would complicate the case and subject the witness to a terrific cross-examination. It would also expose the witness to liability to be severely dealt with by the law, perhaps to the extent of becoming an accomplice. A sensational occurrence took place this afternoon, resulting in a fine of $25 being imposed on Attorney Crawford for contempt of court. While a discussion was in progress about the further continuance of the cross-examination of a witness, Judge Nelson made the remark that this witness, Miss McNevin, was unusually positive in her statement and he went on to say that he meant no reflection on women in general when he said that no witnesses are more positive as a rule than women. Crawford said: "They are usually right, are they not?"

"You are not sufficiently acquainted with respectable women to be a judge," said Nelson.

Crawford then stated to the court that he had been insulted by the counsel for the state, and, pointing his finger at Col. Nelson, he said: "I shall hold you personally responsible for that remark." Nelson answered: "I am responsible." The court interrupted, directing the clerk to fine Mr. Crawford $25 for contempt of court.

THE METHODISTS.

Bishop Fowler Denounces the Higher Criticism of the Bible.

Cleveland, May 5.—There was but one session of the Methodist general conference to-day. That was held in the armory. Bishop Fowler of Minnesota presided, read the Scriptures, preached the sermon, prayer being offered by Rev. Dr. F. S. Upham, of Drew theological seminary. Bishop Fowler's sermon was a powerful arraignment of the higher critics of the Bible, the speaker showing by Biblical and scientific arguments that the mass of the criticisms passed upon the Scriptures were without foundation. The address was listened to with marked attention by a large audience.

The delegates are expectantly awaiting the contest over the woman question. The majority report, which will be signed by twenty members of the committee, will probably be submitted by Rev. Dr. A. G. Kynet of Philadelphia. It will hold that the women delegates are eligible to seats in the conference. The minority report, it is understood, will be submitted by Dr. J. M. Buckley, editor of the New York Christian Advocate, and will consist of arguments based on Biblical and constitutional grounds against the granting of the privilege of delegates to the women. The concensus of opinion among the delegates is that the majority report will be adopted. If it is, the conference will say, it is asserted, that the constitution ought to be changed, and a precedent will be established which will result in giving seats to women in all future conferences.

Rowe Sentenced.

City of Mexico, May 5.—In the case of Chester Rowe of Poweshiek county, Iowa, accused of emezbling public moneys, Judge Aguelar imposed a sentence of twelve years and two months' imprisonment. This case has been a notable one in the history of Mexican jurisprudence, as Rowe, after committing the offense, came here and took out Mexican citizenship, hoping thus to evade punishment. But under the penal code an offense committed abroad and continued on Mexican soil is punishable, and Rowe's case will serve as a warning for criminals hoping to find safe asylum in Mexico. Rowe had misappropriated $38,000 in Iowa, and deserted his family and never had sent his wife but $50 from here.

Murder in Chicago.

Chicago, May 5.—During a quarrel to-day at Henry and Halsted streets, Richard Cole, a painter, was stabbed in the abdomen and died a few minutes later. Up to a late hour his assassin was not known, although a large force of detectives are working on the case.

The secretary of the interior has approved the report of Special Agent H. L. Berner, who spent last summer investigating the noted Des Moines river land grant.

DECLARE A STRIKE.

Street Car Men in Milwaukee Have Quit Work.

Milwaukee, May 5.—A strike of the 900 employes of the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company was inaugurated last night, and as each car was run into the barn motorman and conductor left it not to return until the demands of the union for increased pay, recognition of the employes' organization and several minor concessions are granted. The electric railway company has seen that a strike was certain to occur, and has been quietly arranging to fill the places of the strikers. A number of men have been brought here from other cities to take the places of the strikers, and are quartered in the several barns.

The directors of the road positively refuse to grant two of the leading requests—those for higher wages and the settlement of difficulties by arbitration. The officials, however, signified their willingness to discuss the minor grievances with the men. General Manager Wyman said that no discussion would alter the determination of the directors to concede nothing in their position relative to wages and arbitration, and the men said that no agreement could be accepted by them in which present conditions in these respects form a part.

Negro cooks arrived from Chicago last night and were at once taken to the car barns where arrangements had been made to feed the new men, who will sleep in the barns as long as they are in any danger of violence. Similar arrangements will be made at the power house on River street.

General Manager Wyman, of the company, had a conference with Mayor Rauschenberger and Chief of Police Janssen and received assurances that everything possible would be done to protect the company's property. At least 100 special policemen were sworn in to-day. Some of them were stationed at the barns and power houses, and others were placed on the cars to protect the new men. The strike has tied up the entire electric and street railway service of the city. The several lines are owned by the one company, and every employe of the road is a member of the union. In addition to the street railway employes, the electric light employes are involved, and will probably strike this afternoon. They number 300 men, and operate the only electric lighting plant in the city. Unless the company is prepared to man the power house, the city will be without light to-night except for gas.

FINANCIER IS GONE.

Georgee S. Coe, the Noted New York Banker, Dies.

New York, May 5.—George S. Coe, who was for thirty-seven years president of the American Exchange bank, died to-day at his home, "The Cliffs," Englewood, N. J. He was stricken for the fifth time on Saturday with paralysis and was not able to recover from it.

George S. Coe was born in Newport, R. I., in 1817, of a New England family, of which Priscilla Mullins, the heroine of Miles Standish courtship, was the most prominent ancestor. He came to this city in 1838 and was in the banking concern of Prince, Ward & King. A few years afterward he went to Cincinnati. Later he became cashier of the Ohio Life Insurance and Trust company. Mr. Coe was first cashier of the American Exchange bank and latterly became its president. It was largely owing to Mr. Coe's masterly financial ability that the scheme of issuing clearing house certificates was first resorted to in 1873 to tide over the money stringency. This at that time arrested the threatened general commercial ruin at the time of the failure of Jay Cook & Co. Mr. Coe was chosen president of the National Bankers' association in 1881. He was treasurer of the Children's Aid society, the senior director of the Mutual Life Insurance company, director of the Fidelity and Casualty Insurance company, the Postal Telegraph company and trustee of the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church. President Lincoln consulted with him in the days of the war, and it was Mr. Coe who came to the rescue of the government upon the first bond issue during the Civil War.

Bad Smash in Montana.

Livingston, Mont., May 5. — Fast Mail No. 1 on the Northern Pacific, west-bound, met an east-bound stock train at a point near the Missouri, six miles east of this city, last night. Both trains were nearly wrecked. Engineer James Fanning was instantly killed, and his fireman, P. McClellan, was badly injured. Those seriously hurt were Engineer Degroat, Fireman McClarville and a sleeping car porter. The wreck is supposed to have been caused by the failure of the air brake to work on the stock train. Many trainmen and passengers saved themselves by jumping. Engineer Fanning had ample time to leave his engine before the collision, but remained at his post trying to make the air work until it was too late. Fanning was thirty-five years old and was one of the old engineers on the division.

Sues the Northern Pacific.

Seattle, Wash., May 5.—The papers in a sensational suit in the United States court have been served. It is the suit of L. G. Dillman, a prominent real estate dealer of Spokane, against the Northern Pacific Railroad company, and in the complaint he tells in full the story of the gigantic frauds practiced by Schulze in connection with the sale of lands adjacent to Spokane. Dillman asks for the return of $312,000, of which he says he says he was deliberately defrauded; for $112,400 damages, which he claims to have suffered by reason of false representations, and for the further sum of $65,000 which he claims to have paid out on promissory notes signed in behalf of the road.

Drowned While Escaping.

Chamberlain, S. D., May 5. — Matt Sanger, an eighteen-year-old boy, who shot Nick Muller of Oacoma, is believed to have been drowned while attempting to escape. A boat which he seized after the shooting has been found floating aimlessly in the Missouri river.

Special Attache.

St. Petersburg, May 5.—Lieut. Gourko Romelko has been appointed special attache to the United States mission here for the coronation of the czar.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Union men employed on the docks at Duluth have gone out on a strike.

Charles Lisbon of St. Louis has been arrested at Duluth for swindling.

Mathias Fuos, aged sixty-one years, a respected citizen of Caledonia, is dead of pneumonia.

Mankato's police is enforcing the ordinance against riding bicycles on the sidewalks.

During the year 92 persons were killed and 473 injured in Minnesota by railroads.

The receivership of the Spalding hotel at Duluth has been continued one year from May 1.

A Modern Woodman lodge was instituted at Montrose with a charter membership of twenty-five.

Thomas Quinn, a farmer near Montrose, was thrown from a horse recently, sustaining injuries on the head and body of a serious nature.

The Winona Young Men's Christian association celebrated its tenth anniversary recently by a mass meeting in the First Congregational church.

The large barn of Henry Schott, two and a half miles northeast of Lewiston, was struck by lightning and, with contents, was totally consumed.

Company A, Second regiment, N. G. S. M., of New Ulm, the oldest company in the state, will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary this month.

Charles Hartley of Woodstock, while attempting to repair or clean a gun, accidentally discharged it, the full contents striking his wife in one of the legs. The wound will not prove fatal.

L. D. Campbell has been appointed receiver of the Costello Hardware company of Duluth, which failed with about $12,000 liabilities and $10,000 assets.

The hearing in the white cap raid case at Sleepy Eye came before Judge Gallagher, but George Peck, who was shot in the arm by the white caps, failing to appear, the case was dismissed.

Lightning struck Thomas Curtis' barn near Stillwater, destroying it, together with several head of cattle, horses, grain, etc. The loss is about $1,500.

Herman Loefker, on his way home from Lakefield, attempted to cross the Sioux river on the commonly used bridge. The bridge was gone and both horses were drowned.

A. A. Merrill, a veteran, prominent resident and pioneer settler of Minnesota and Anoka county, is dead, aged seventy-three. He leaves a wife and four children.

Marsh Batlen of Fulda was sentenced to two years in state prison for stealing a pair of $1.75 shoes. John Glarson, for stealing several articles, was sent to St. Cloud for fourteen months. Both pleaded guilty.

The farmers' elevator at Brandon, which contained 25,000 bushels of stored wheat belonging to farmers in that vicinity, collapsed, falling across the tracks of the Great Northern railway and blocking them.

At the instigation of the Milwaukee road Marshal Gillett of Lake City arrested seven tramps recently. While the fast mail was at the depot and the passengers taking lunch they went through the train and stole two overcoats.

Edward Casey, who attempted suicide at Sleepy Eye, was adjudged insane and committed to the Rochester asylum. Casey had begun drinking hard and had made frequent attempts to kill himself.

The saw mills of the Winona Lumber company, Empire Lumber company and Laird-Norton company of Winona started for the season. All the mills here are now in operation. A busy and successful season is in prospect.

Burglars broke into Westervelt & Ball's carriage factory and into the Theopold Mercantile company's store at Faribault. An attempt to blow open their vault was made, but the burglars were probably scared away before finishing their work. No money was secured.

A report from Duluth says: The Itasca Lumber company will build a lumber broad gauge road from the old line at Deer river to a point nine miles north. It is reported that the road is the nucleus of somehting larger and may strike the Red river valley next year.

D. A. Werner, a traveling man for one of the binder machine companies, fell from his buggy at Cokato, striking on the shoulder and head. When picked up he was found to be unconscious, and it is hard to tell to what extent the man is hurt. His residence is Smith Lake.

Walter Sunley committed suicide in Wallace's saloon at Brainerd, by drinking three ounces of laudanum. He died before medical assistance could be secured. He left a note asking to be buried at Jackson, Mich. Drink is supposed to be the cause. He was a brother of Engineer Sunley, of the Northern Pacific road.

John Crowley and Thomas Cowley of Lamberton were bound over to appear before the grand jury of Redwood county, both charged with burglary and larceny. Considerable petty stealing has been going on of late. The accidental finding of some of the stolen goods led to the discovery of the right parties and the recovery of most of the stolen property.

Warren Cook, aged twenty-four years, unmarried, mail carrier on the star route No. 41,100, from Portland, Minn., to New Albin, Iowa, was drowned one-half mile east of Etzen, while attempting to cross a raging stream. His body, together with the mail sacks and a portion of the wagon, was found one and a half miles below Etzen. The horses were found near Etzen all right.

Mrs. Henry Schulke of Leaf Valley, during a rain storm was crossing a street at Alexandria with a baby in arms and umbrella up, when she was run over by August Blank of Belle River, who was driving with an umbrella before his face. She clung to the baby and the horses jumped over her, but the wagon passed over her body. Internal injury is feared.

CROP BULLETIN.

Issued by the Minnesota Climate and Crop Service.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 30.—The past week has been warm and showery, with more than the usual amount of sunshine, and consequent seeding, where the top soil is not too wet, has been rushed forward very rapidly. A good growth has taken place in winter grains, in pasturage, early-sown spring wheat and oats, all of which have started nicely.

The showers, together with the wet condition of the top soil, in the north half of the state, has delayed seeding more or less, and only a beginning has been made with this work in the northernmost counties. In the south half, the dryness of the subsoil caused the rain to be rapidly absorbed and seeding has been but little interrupted, while wells and springs that have long been dry are now giving a good supply of water.

Over a narrow strip of territory in northwest Polk county a very severe hail storm occurred on Friday, that did some damage to grass and young trees; but other vegetation was not sufficiently started to be injured. In the south half of the state where farm work is fartherest advanced, cattle are being turned out to pasture, early gardening has begun, and the preparation of the land for flax and corn is in progress. Fruit blossoms are reported to have been injured by frost in Faribault county, and old clover fields are reported to have been badly winter-killed.

Polk County—The week has been favorable and the soil has dried rapidly. Seeding is not yet general, as low land is still too wet. Grass is beginning to grow.

Clay County—Fine weather all of the week. Wheat seeding on the highest lands has progressed finely, but much of the low land is still too wet to be seeded.

Wadena County—Seeding is progressing finely. Grass is starting in low places and trees are beginning to bud. Some early gardening is being done.

Kandiyohi County—With the exception of rains Wednesday and Thursday, the weather has been favorable for seeding, two-thirds of which is now done. Early-sown grain is up and looking well.

Big Stone County—The week has been very favorable for seeding. Early seeding is up and in fine condition. Grass starting nicely.

Crow Wing County—The weather has been cold and rainy and the ice is not yet entirely out of the lakes. A little early garden truck has been planted and spring wheat sown. No oats seeded as yet. Maple sap continues to flow. Grass just beginning to start.

Mille Lacs County—Wheat seeding commenced Wednesday, but has been delayed by heavy showers of rain. Warm, pleasant weather needed. Winter rye looking well. Grass just starting.

Anoka County—Wheat all sown and some oats. Most of the plowing to be done this spring.

Waseca County—The past week has been showery, with a very heavy rain Saturday night. Grass is growing fast and another week will see fair grazing. Clover has wintered well. Wheat, oats and barley all sown, with the first sown up and looking fine. No ground plowed as yet.

Dodge County—Seeding of wheat, oats and barley is nearly done. Some early flax is already seeded, but farmers generally will prepare their corn ground before sowing flax. Early-sown grain is up and doing nicely, having warm weather and plenty of moisture. Pastures and meadows in the finest condition.

Carver County—Seeding nearly all done. Grass, rye and early-sown wheat are growing nicely. Heavy shower Wednesday.

Lincoln County—Weather has been warm and favorable. Seeding nearly finished. Grass is growing very fast.

Redwood County—A few showers have fallen, and the soil is in splendid shape to start the seed growing. It is safe to estimate that three-fourths is already sown. Rye is looking well.

Nobles County—Beautiful weather. Seeding is practically done so far as small grain is concerned and most fields are looking green.

FAINTED IN COURT.

Mrs Lora Perkins Finds Excitement Too Much for Her.

Minneapolis, May 3.—Mrs. Lora Perkins fainted in Judge Belden's court. The plaintiff in the important insurance action had just been recalled to the stand in rebuttal. Her testimony was of little importance, and after answering a few questions she was excused. She stepped down beside Attorney Hall and asked him a few questions. Then she started for the door, intending to leave for home. No particular attention had been paid to her, but it was noticed that she faltered as she walked across the intervening space between the counsel's table and the entrance to the arena in front of the judge. She hadn't taken a dozen steps when she fell headlong to the floor in the midst of the dense mass of spectators. There was an excited exclamation on the part of those nearest to her, but the fainting spell came so suddenly that they lost their presence of mind and permitted her to remain on the floor for several seconds. Stalwart men picked her up, but the body was as limp and lifeless as that of a dead person. Mrs. Donovan and Attorney Hall took charge of the fainting woman, and after a few moments' of hard work she was restored to consciousness. The illness was due to the excitement of the day, and also to the rather close condition of the court room.

St. Paul, May 2.—Nine of the jurors were for Mrs. Wadleigh and three of them sided with Miss Helen M. Hayes, and neither side would yield; so that the jury remained out during the night and came in this morning at 10 o'clock to report. Judge Kelly, to whom they reported, asked if they could not reconcile their views, and the foreman informed the court with emphasis that they could do nothing of the sort. Consequently the court was compelled to discharge the jury.

Brainerd, Minn., May 2.—Walter Sunley committed suicide in Wallace's saloon this morning by drinking three ounces of laudanum. He died before medical assistance could be secured. He left a note asking to be buried at Jackson, Mich. Drink is supposed to be the cause.

BOOMING THE ENCAMPMENT.

Gen. Walker Reaches St. Paul on His Tour.

St. Paul, May 5.—Gen. I. N. Walker, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic; Mrs. Walker, C. H. Dietrich, chief of staff; Mrs. Dietrich and daughter arrived in the city this morning from the Pacific coast. The party has been on the road for a month, making an extensive tour of the continent. They passed through the South, up the Pacific coast to San Francisco and they are now returning over the Northern Pacific to Chicago and their home in Indianapolis. The trip was a delightful one, and all are in the best of health and spirits.

The trip around the country was made by Gen. Walker and his chief of staff, Mr. Dietrich, in the interest of the national encampment, and from the receptions they met with from the departments everywhere, North and South, East and West, there is now little doubt that the encampment in this city next September will exceed all past national encampments of the G. A. R. in attendance and enthusiasm. Scarcely a department or a post of note on the long route did the general fail to visit and to inspire with enthusiasm for the encampment.

When Gen. Walker was met by a reporter he spoke quite freely of the encampment. In response to a question he replied with exclamation: "It is going to be a great encampment;" and then he fell into a pleasing conversation on the events and success of his trip.

"This is my encampment, and my extensive trip has been solely in its interest. Its success or failure will, of course, reflect on me. But I have no doubt of its success. Everywhere I went I aroused interest in the St. Paul encampment among the veterans, and I met thousands of them, many of whom have contributed to the success of past affairs of the kind. In every one of the departments that I visited I was assured of a large representation. From St. Paul to the Pacific coast there is a great soldier element, and I do not think that there is a city or town in the whole distance that will not be represented in St. Paul.

MRS. MENAGE RETURNS.

She Will Work Quietly in Her Husband's Interests.

Minneapolis, May 5.—Mrs. Louis F. Menage has returned to Minneapolis after a prolonged absence of nearly three years with her husband. She immediately went to the house of her mother, Mrs. B. S. Bull. Mrs. Menage did not come directly to Minneapolis from the place in which she left her husband. Her daughter, Miss Menage, is attending a prominent school in New York State, and she first visited her, remaining several weeks. Then she came directly to the Northwest. While here Mrs. Menage will be a very close student of public sentiment regarding her husband and his business deals connected with the Northwestern Guaranty Loan failure. She will be in constant conference with the many friends of her husband who are interested in seeing him a citizen of Minnesota once more, and who are exerting their influence in his behalf at this time. Mrs. Menage was seen at the residence of her mother. She received newspaper men cordially enough, but when questions were asked concerning her husband she very carefully and politely dodged them, saying that she was not at liberty to discuss the subject at present. She said: "I really believe that my husband has friends in this city, and I also appreciate the fact very fully that he has enemies. To these I have nothing to say, but to those who have reposed confidence in us during our trouble, both myself and my husband feel grateful."

Boy Drowned

St. Paul, May 5.—Alexander Herling, the twelve-year-old son of Theodore H. Herling, an expressman of 19 West Fairfield avenue, was drowned in the Mississippi river this morning. Young Herling was, with a number of other boys, engaged in picking up driftwood and was standing on a raft in front of the boat house when the accident occurred. The boy had caught the end of a good sized piece of wood and was pulling it out of the water, when he lost his balance and pitched into the stream. The water is deep at that particular point, and there is rather a rapid current. Before Herling's young companions could do anything to aid him, the boy was sucked under the current.

Wants Her Alimony.

St. Paul, May 5.—Register of Deeds Harry Weber, who was ordered by the court to pay $1,000 to his wife in monthly installments of $125, has failed to comply with the decree, according to Sophia Weber, who, yesterday, in special term before Judge Otis, applied for an order for Henry Weber to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt. The case was continued for a week. Mr. Weber explained that the receipts of his office since the time his wife secured the divorce had not been sufficient to enable him to pay the alimony and several debts coming due, but that he expected to be able to pay a portion of the first installment this week.

Sixty Dead Men.

Victoria, B. C., May 5.—The steamer Miowert brings the particulars of the explosion in the Brunner colliery, near Wellington, N. Z., on March 27. Of the sixty men entombed, not one escaped. If not killed by the first explosion, they could not have long stood the deadly gases.

Adry Hayward's Prisoner.

Hastings, Minn., May 5.—Sheriff Hyland brought down one George Baker from Minneapolis to-day and lodged him in jail. The prisoner is the party whom Adry Hayward of Minneapolis arrested for stealing his team.

Switch Engines Collide.

St. Paul, May 5.—Two switch engines on the Great Northern collided in the yards just under the Como avenue bridge a little after 6 o'clock last evening. In the collision W. G. Cannon, engineer on engine No. 87, was so badly injured that he had to be taken to St. Joseph's hospital. His fireman, Frank Smith, was considerably shaken up and bruised. Paul Nedau, engineer, and W. F. Briggs, fireman, of No. 250, both jumped. Briggs was not injured, but Nedau was bruised in a fall along the tracks as he alighted.

Red Lake Reservation to be opened to Settlement May 15th 1896 at 9 o'clock A. M.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware, Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture. Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing, Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M. Roberts or others on Wire and Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER - SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

DR. H. GRUNDY

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

☞ Messages from the surrounding towns and country promptly attended to.

Office in Drug Store.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA.

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞ Special attention given to those to king up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

TO HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7.10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for
PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 6, 1896.

EDITORIAL COLUMN.

John Sherman says that free coinage of silver will demonetize gold. If John is right this is another reason why we should strive for it. We shall never see any stability of money in this country until both gold and silver are reduced to commodities, same as our wheat, corn, cotton and cattle, and placed in the treasury vaults as bullion to be turned out to any all who want it, not for speculation, but to send abroad to pay the debts due worshiper of the golden calf. We hope John is right and hope too that at the election in November, a president and congress will be put in control of the government who are favorable to, and will give us free coinage.

It is pretty generally conceeded by the average sharp politician that the republicans at St. Louis will adopt a plan unequivocal gold standard platform and nominate a president committed to the dogma of a gold basis. It is also generally conceeded, notwithstanding the great noise made by the silver men of a few states, that President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle will "whip in" enough of the delegates sent to the Chicago democratic convention to control that body; and if the whipping in does not quite do the dirty job, Morgan, Rothschild & Co., will do the rest with their barrels.

Admitting these expectations to be correct, what may we reasonably expect as the result?

The question is answered.—The Coming Nation nails it thus:

"Didn't the country prosper under republican rule?' No, it didn't. Banks prospered, interest mongers prospered, land grabbers prospered, protected capitalists prospered, financial combines prospered, coal barons prospered; pine land thieves prospered, railroad magnates prospered, and John Sherman prospered. But the country—well Iridecent Dream Ingalls, of Kansas, says that 10,000,000 of our people never get enough to eat from one year's end to the other.' "

The above was written and published three years ago, and the same conditions that inspired the candid answer exists to-day, only in a more intenseful form. But have we found the bottom of the pit of dispair yet? We are only a common prophet, in a country where prophets are not in good repute generally, but we hazard the assertion that that the coming year will bring to the American people more disaster, more suffering and more financial destruction than all the years since the present panic began. We of the boundless northwest were happily blessed last year. Nature exerted herself for our benefit and with the fullness of our granaries we rejoiced and forgot our sorrows. It is true we were not permitted to enjoy the full measure of our happiness for we had to contribute a large share of the products of our toil to those who "toil not," but after the railroad, the machine man, the merchant and the sheriff had been pacified we had enough left to eat for ourselves and families. We will not fare so well the coming year, the season is now so far advanced, with little or no plowing or preparation for a crop, that to expect more than half an average yield would be looking for impossibilities. We shall have enough for our bread and seed with half a crop, and those who have usually lived off our indigence and ignorance must hustle for themselves in some other locality,—we can't support them any longer.

The Grand Forks National bank failed Friday, with liabilities of $319,000. The failure has closed the woolen mill there and has involved a large number of business men and depositors. Gold standard idolators offer as excuses that the bank held a large amount paper made in the boom days, which cannot be realized upon, and say there is a plethora of other good paper in the bank and of course make the usual false promise that creditors will be paid dollar for dollar, but the truth is that, while the officers were such "thorough financiers" and had dead loads of money and just this is what ails the entire country.—Moorhead News.

"What is 'Pettigrewed' pa?" I saw in the Journal yesterday, that Hansbrough refused to be "pettigrowed" and the convention turned him down.

Pettigrewed, my son, is an expression invented by the newspapers. It means that when a politician who is very anxious for place, forgets his patriotism, his duty to his country and the people who elevated him to the proud position he occupies and gives his support and vote for a lot of fellows whose only interest in the country is to get a chance to plunder it and loot the public treasury. The same gang of political fakirs who threw Senator Pettigrew from the high position of manhood, tried their game on Senator Hansbrough at Fargo, but it didn't work well. Hansbrough seems to love his country better than to be a delegate. The dime museum wants him.

The announcement by Senator Carter of Montana, at a Republican banquet recently held in Washington, that "the Republican party would have no walk-over in this campaign-year of 1896" is arousing a good deal of comment throughout the country. We are aware that there is a popular idea that McKinley is going to be nominated on the first ballot, and, under the cry of "protection to American industries" and his election secured by an overwhelming vote next November. We are very much inclined to believe that Senator Carter's warning will prove to contain the essence of truth. There isn't any doubt whatever that the Democratic party will nominate a "gold standard candidate." If they do, then the "silver men" of all parties will know that the hope of bi-metallism will have been deferred at least four years if either of the old parties be successful. It is the belief of Senator Carter that two-thirds of the Democratic party will vote for an out-and-out silver candidate, and that the great body of the Populist party will join the democratic procession. Ofcourse it goes without saying that at least 25 per cent of the Republican vote is for free silver, and of a character which cannot be fooled by the use of ambiguous language in party platforms. Let us analyze the situation as it stood in 1892. the total popular vote that year reached 12,110,636, of which 5,556,918 were Democratic; 5,176,108 Republican and 1,041,-028 Populist. Now, if we take two-thirds of the Democratoc vote, or 3,904,612, and add to that one-fourth of the Republican vote, or 1,294,026 and that the full Populist vote, or 3,904,612, and ad to that one-fourth of the republican vote or 1,-234,027, and to that the full Populist vote 1,011,028, we shall have as an aggregate 6,239,665, votes as a result; and these votes would represent the proportion of the the vote of 1892 which Mr. Carter thinks the silver candidates would get. As this vote is considerably more than a million more than Harrison received in 1892, and of course would be increased in proportion to the increase of the aggregate vote for 1896, it follows that a "silver candidate" might easily be elected. Senator Carters' words will be studied by the thoughtful with care.—Penny Press.

FOR SALE.

500 bushels of two rows (old country) barley, which grows stiff straw (will not lodge) and large kernels. For sale by P. O. Hegglund, St. Hilaire, Minn.

A hunter, while roaming in the woods of Cromwell, Conn., recently, came upon an excavation in a bank. Turning over an iron vessel which was imbedded in the sand, he found a note in an envelope, the contents of which were, "We are satisfied that Captain Kidd's treasure is not buried here."

Exit Tomkins.

Tomkins is one of those gentlemen of kind disposition who are ever on the outlook for a chance to improve their neighbors' minds. Seeing a man, apparently a country fellow, sitting on the fence, regarding the telegraph wires carefully, Tomkins approached.

"Watching the wires, eh?"

"Yes, sir."

"Waiting to see a message go by, eh?"

The man smiled, and "Yes, sir," he replied. Then Tomkins spoke kindly to him and explained the mystery of the electric current, and that the messages were invisible, and finished up, "Now you know something about it." Then, as he was going away, he said, by the way, "What do you work at?"

"Me and my mate over yonder are telegraph workers, and we're just putting up a new wire."—Pearson's Weekly.

A Smoking Monkey.

I once went on board H. M. S. Octavia to visit an old schoolfellow, a lieutenant. After dinner we went up on the upper deck to smoke, and I was introduced to Jenny, a pet monkey. An old nautical superstition is, or used to be, that monkeys could talk if they liked, but would not, because if they did they would be made to work.

The Octavia's monkey was an adept at smoking, and I regret to say a confirmed drinker of grog whenever she got the opportunity. No sooner was the pipe "grog" sounded than Jenny was hovering near the tub. In the course of conversation my friend said: "Oh, I want to show you a photograph in my cabin. Here, Jenny, keep my pipe going."

Jenny took the pipe. We were below for quite five minutes, if not more, and when we returned to the main deck Jenny was squatted against the gun tackle, calmly puffing, exhaling and inhaling the smoke from the pipe which had been intrusted to her care, and the pipe was fully alight and drawing beautifully.—Pearson's Weekly.

"There will be nuts for dessert, dear," said Mrs. Oakland to her husband during the progress of the dinner.

"I am glad of that," replied Mr. Oakland. "I am very fond of English walnuts and almonds, and I think it is more wholesome to have nuts occasionally than so much pastry."

"But these are doughnuts."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

IN TWILIGHT GRAY.

Twilight gray and the gray day's gloom
And cries of the street in the little room.
Nothing is left that was hers.
Tattered paper, dusty floor,
Broken panes and the wind at the door—
I and the wind, poor wanderers.

Oh, God! I throw myself down.
The moldering smell of the place is the odor of death.
And here, here swept her gown,
Here I felt her breath.

What is that in the moan of the wind?
Mournful wind, why should you cry like that?
Weep, I will weep with you till my eyes are blind,
But—ah, like that!
Why should you haunt me with the melody
Of all she played to me, pitiless wind?

Light of the fire,
Rosy light on the face that ever was white by day,
Light on her fingers that play
The song of my soul's desire.
Scent of her hair on the air,
Her sweet face turned to me
And the gathering melody
Passionate—higher—
And my love grown greater than I can bear.

Why do I start and stare through the gloom?
There is naught but death, the wind and I in the room.

Oh, why do you mock me, wind?
You know she never will come again.
I do not think you are weeping, wind,
I hear no tears on the window pane,
Only rain in my heart and tears on my face
In this beloved, forsaken place.
—New York Tribune.

Charcoal.

"It looks as if the charcoal man would soon become a thing of the past," said an old charcoal dealer to a reporter of the Washington Star a few days since. "Somehow," he continued, "people have forgotten the uses and advantages of charcoal. Customers who formerly used a barrel or so in a week now do not get that much in a couple of months, and the great majority have given up using it altogether. At hotels where three and four barrels a week were needed they now manage to get along without it. But few of the modern ranges are provided with a charcoal furnace, while in past times no first class range was complete without a separate place in which to burn charcoal. The modern cooking school teachers do not seem to know that charcoal ever played a part in the kitchen. As far as I can see now, the only cooks who use charcoal are those who learned of its advantages in days of their apprenticeship years ago, and who are so old fashioned in their ways that they will not consent to a change. There was once a time when none of the best eaters would think of eating a steak that was not broiled over charcoal."

Salmon Sometimes Caught at Sea.

The salmon is one of the anadromous fishes, of which the shad and sturgeon are other examples, anadromous fishes being those that come from the sea and ascend fresh water streams to spawn, and return to the sea again after spawning. It is not known of the shad whether it remains in deep water in the ocean not very far away from the river whence it came or whether it goes south, but it seems certain that some salmon, at least, spend their sea life not far away from their rivers, for salmon have been caught at sea in northern waters, off the New England coast, on hooks baited for cod, haddock and halibut.—New York Sun.

Arab Costumes.

There is no record of the costumes of the Syrian Arabs having changed during the period covered by human history either as regards male or female dress or adornment. Saving only for his firearms there is no reason to believe that the Bedouin of the desert does not clothe and adorn himself exactly as he did in the days of the patriarchs.

His Limitations.

Mrs. Lollypop—We were talking about steam engines the other day, Mrs. Strongmind, and Mr. Lollypop said that your husband was an authority.

Mrs. Strongmind—Well, he may be on steam engines perhaps, but I tell you what, Mrs. Lollypop, he isn't in his family.—Somerville Journal.

Equally Easy.

Tommy—Ma, when the fire goes out, where does it go to?

Tommy's Ma—How should I know? Why don't you ask where your father goes when he goes out?—Philadelphia Record.

Paper houses, for the use of travelers in Africa and Australia, have been manufactured by English firms. They are made in sections and can be put together or taken apart in a few moments.

Never place a pair of new shoes higher than your head, says an old superstition, or you'll have bad luck wearing them, and never black one before putting the other on for a similar reason.

Success produces confidence, confidence relaxes industry, and negligence ruins the reputation which accuracy had raised.—Jonson.

"Knocked into a cocked hat" is expressive of the case with which this article, especially when old, assumes almost any shape.

Her infant babe had from its mother caught the trick of grief and sighed among its playthings.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 10	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 29	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.10
5 " 35	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
5 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to
H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

THE FAMOUS
SUMARITAN
Rye Whisky

Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.

FOR SALE BY

BRINK BROS.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
COUNTY OF POLK. } ss.

District Court, Fourteenth Judicial Dist.

Evelin Newby, plaintiff, vs. Edwin Newby, defendant.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in this action, which complaint is on file in the office of the Clerk of the District Court in and for said county, and to serve a copy of your answer on the undersigned at the office of R. J. Montague, in the City of Crookston in said county, within thirty days after the service of this summons on you, exclusive of the day of the service thereof, and in case you fail to answer within the time required by law, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated May first, 1896

R. J. MONTAGUE, Plaintiff's Atty.
40-45 Crookston, Minn.

Red - River - Kennels,

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

M. Z. EPPERSON

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOHLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - - Minnesota

This is Easy Enough!

Any of my customers will be presented with a life like portrait free of charge by presenting their picture at my store.

M. A. HALL. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield, in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

For Sale! — The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS,
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

St. Hilaire the Nearest point to the Best Agricultural Lands on The Reservation.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

J.S. BREDENBECK

The Watchmaker

AND JEWELER.

Repairing of Watches and Clocks a Specialty Engraving neatly done.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant = Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,

J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

Harness.....

☞If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing, call on

C. A. SKEIE,

West Broadway. St. Hilaire, Minn.

Blacksmith!

☞Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, Etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL. St. Hilaire, Minn.

M. E. BJERK

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest.☞Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

U.S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston, Minn., April 1st 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U.S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on May 14th 1896, viz:

Carl Edvin Crown, Hd No. 14121, for the sw¼ sec. 28, tp 152 N. range 45 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Aloph Nelson of Bray, Minn., and Emil Larson, Alfred Lunquist, L. S. Dallrd, of Wylie, Minnesota.

36-41 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

Ask Your Dealer For

WARREN'S FEATHERBONE

TRADEMARK.

WHIPS.

FEATHERBONE is made from Enameled Quills—nature's own toughest, and strongest elastic material. Best wearing whips made for 25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50. All styles for Buggy, Cart, Track, Team and Riding. Be sure and ask for a FEATHERBONE.

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	50c	Butter	8@10c
Oats	12c	Eggs	8c
Barley	11c	Beans (pr bu)	$1 50
Flax	52c	Potatoes "	12½

LOCAL NEWS.

Spring flowers are in bloom.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

The grass is out nice and green.

Wheat is going down instead of up.

April had just twenty-nine showers.

The county commissioners are in session.

Some of the trees have leaved—others budding.

K. O. Gigstad was on the sick list last week.

Rapp & Post received a lot of hardware to-day.

The saw mill started up Saturday with a full crew.

Sam Dainard will paint and remodel his office this week.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

O. W. Brink was kept busy Monday selling farm machinery.

Fred Eikhoff went to Crookston Monday on important business.

E. M. Hoff has a fine display of straw hats—all shades and styles.

The firemen at Thief River Falls will give a dance Friday evening.

BORN:—To Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Dainard, Tuesday May 5th 1896, a son.

Awnings and screen doors were put in their respective places this week.

W. A. Sorsoliel received a car load of lumber from Crookston Wednesday.

Fred Eikhoff received a new lot of shelf and heavy hardware this week.

Collector Berg, who has spent several weeks in North Dakota returned home Friday.

Fredrick Rux, of Sanders, kept seeding between showers and now has 95 acres above ground.

Sam Scott, who went from here to Thief River Falls recently, now handles the U. S. mail on the stage line.

Mrs. A. R. Jones and two children left to-day for a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. J. O. Mathews, of Crookston.

The streets are drying up fast, and a few days more of this kind of weather will put the roads in fair condition for travel.

M. Lally and Chas. Marsch, representing the Red River Lumber company of Crookston, were doing business here on Monday.

If you are troubled with rheumatism try natures own remedy Mount Clemens' mineral water, for sale by J. L. Johnson.

H. W. Lee, editor of the Thief River Falls News made us a pleasant call Friday between trains while on his way to St. Paul.

Jos. Salley of Red Lake Falls was in the village a short time yesterday—and like the bankers—used his "tis pass" to Thief River Falls.

Ira C. Richardson and Carl Kretzschmar of Thief River Falls were south bound passengers Monday. Both gentlemen made the SPECTATOR a call.

Mr. O. P. Johnson of Thief River Falls passed through here, Monday enroute to St. Anger, Iowa, where she will spend the summer visiting relatives.

Miss Augusta Soll, of Park River, N. Dak., who has been visiting friends and relatives here and at Thief River Falls for the past two weeks, left for her home on Monday.

County Commissioner Norland of this district took Mondays train for Crookston in order to be present at the opening of the board Tuesday. Mr. Norland anticipates a short session.

Martin Widsten, who has been employed on the Thief River Falls News the past two years, passed through here enroute to Hallock where he has accepted a position on the Enterprise.

John J. Soll, first secretary-treasurer of the Grand Forks Typographical Union, is now in the editorial chair of the St. Hilaire Spectator, and is giving the people of St. Hilaire a paper worthy of their patronage.—Labor World.

5 cents will buy two packages of garden seeds at Hall's.

K. O. Gigstad returned to-day from Crookston, where he had been consulting a doctor.

All the available carpenters in town were at work on the large Epperson building to-day.

—Hog millet, Buck-wheat and Mansbury barley seed for sale by S. M. Dainard, St. Hilaire, Minn.

M. Johnson of St. Paul, of the firm of Johnson & Mashall, the Red Lake Falls millers, is in the village.

Changing the county seat in Roseau county has been knocked out on legal points. It cannot be brought up again until after a general election.

Spring is here and all are anxious to get something new in the hat line. Miss Mary Quandy has a large stock of hats and trimmings of the latest styles. Call and be convinced.

We are informed that Paul S. Ware has sold half interest in the Thief River Falls Press to a gentleman from South Dakota, and that Mr. Ware will go east in a few days to spend the summer.

Messrs. Wood and Tripp of Warren, who were logging on the Black Duck last winter, were in the village Monday with a view of closing a deal for about a million feet of logs which they have on hand.

Deputy Sheriff Bourdon of Red Lake Falls took a tie pass from here to Thief River Falls, Wednesday, and returned home the following day. The condition of the roads make it impossible to go by team.

J. E. Morressy, city engineer of Crookston was in the village a few hours last Monday. J. E. leaned up against a newly painted (chalk) sign and walked off with the letterings "choice lots" and "farm lands."

C. G. Rapp made a flying trip to Thief River Falls Monday, while there arrangements were made for a two or three weeks fishing trip in the Red lake. The party expect to start out on their trip the first of June.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

Elmer Stranahan, traveling salesman for the Janney & Semple, Wholesale Hardware house of St. Paul, with headquarters at Fargo, came home last Friday, and remained until Monday visiting relatives and friends.

W. J. Wheeler, cashier of the First National Bank of Crookston, has been at this end of the line since Monday. He says walking is not as good as it might be, and would stay all summer before using his "tie pass."

The steamer "Allice M." made her first trip from Red lake to Thief River Falls a week ago last Wednesday. The citizens turned out enmasse to see her come in. "Alice M" is a passenger and freight boat, making semi-weekly trips to Red lake.

The needed foot bridge across the cooley to the school-house was completed Friday by M. Z. Epperson and W. A. Sorsoleil. Much credit is due Mr. Epperson for his efforts in completing the structure as he furnished the material free gratis.

Mr. P. Meehan came down on the steamer "Allice M" on Wednesday, (week ago to-day) he reports driving on the O'Brien creek by means of flood dams in full force. He has a crew of eighty drivers at work. The upper country is comparatively dry.—Thief River Falls News.

The roads being almost impassable, the river high and business urgent, Charles Tedford and A. O. Whipple, of Thief River Falls came down Tuesday in a boat, accompanied by Messrs. Doyle and Shaunessy. The Thief River boys went home on to-days train, shipping the boat, and the "drummers" go to Crookston.

A very pleasant ice cream and cake party was given Saturday evening at the residence of Mr. Carl Johnson by the young ladies of the boat club. Those present were Misses Minnie Olson, May Quandy, Mary Kyle, Katie Berglund, Edna Dainard and Cora Harris. Messrs. Harry Ives, Oscar Post, John Penno, Prof. O'Brien, Elmer and Wm. Stranahan.

Carl Hendrickson, of Grafton, N. D., was seen upon our streets yesterday, but did not linger long. Upon investigation it was found out that Carl, president of the Sandia bank of Crookston, and Louis Ellington, cashier of the same institution, had a walking contest arranged; the starting place was Thief River Falls and the ties to Crookston were to be coufited before sundown—a distance of thirty-five miles. Great exercise, gentlemen, for bankers!

Mike Willmas of Crystal, North Dak., arrived Monday and unloaded his well drilling aperatus. Mr. Willmas thoroughly understands his business, and with his latest improved machinery is prepared to drill flowing wells, of which he makes a specialty. As soon as the roads are passable he will begin the sinking of a well on W. A. Sorsoleil's farm. Any one wishing work done of this kind will do well by calling on him early or write him at St. Hilaire.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that all manure and rubbish must be cleaned up and hauled away from all lots within the village limits before the tenth (10th) day of May 1896, or the same will be removed at the expense of the lot owner.

Dated at St. Hilaire this 17th day of April 1896.

By order of the Board of Health,

J. L. JOHNSON,

38-40 Acting Health Officer.

Council Proceedings.

Regular meeting of the village council Monday May 4th 1896.

All members present.

Meeting called to order by President Rapp.

On motion the following bills were allowed.

P. S. Stranahan, one day judge of election	$2 00
Rapp & Post, mdse as per bill	13 35
S. Harris, street work as pr bill	7 50

On motion the petition of the people of the town of Rocksbury was refused, as it was found that the council had no jurisdiction to act on the same.

On motion the president was instructed to appoint a committee of three on road and bridge work, and Sorsoleil, Johnson and Epperson were appointed as said committee.

On motion the petition for graveling the street was referred to the road and bridge committee for correction, said committee to report to the council as soon as possible.

On motion the president was instructed to hire a competent surveyor to plat a road from the east line of Water street to the bridge across the dam.

On motion meeting adjourned.

[SEAL] C. G. RAPP, President.

J. L. JOHNSON, Village Recorder.

Louis Ellington, cashier of the Scandia bank of Crookston stopped off here a few minutes yesterday, in order to get his second wind. Louis evidently is thinking about entering a walking-match, as he took a "tie pass" from Thief Thief River Falls to Crookston—a distance of 35 miles. We are informed, Mr. Ellington made this very same trip, the very same way, about a year ago. A cashier's road is a hard road to travel.

A Fraud.

We have received a circular offering us plates for two colums Sound Money matter free. We are not gold bugs and shall not advocate single gold standard if we know it; and shall sever our connection with any "patent" publisher who does advocate it in the "patent" he sends us.—Thief River Falls News.

A weekly paper, called the Labor World, recently started at Grand Forks N.D., is devoted to the interest of union labor—the only one in the state. Wm. H. Forde, an able writer on unionism is the editor. Labor unorganized is a menace; organized, a source of strength. The Labor World is bound to succeed.

Why is it, that at every recurring election we are warned to "stick to our party." Why when we ask for some relief we are told that the matter we complain of is not such a matter as the officers in control can relieve against, and that the law is at fault? We are tired of such advice, tired of explanations, and it is time for those who earn the money which is spent in governing the state to take the control of the goverment into their own hands. If the law is at fault let us repeal it, and if a better law can be enacted in its place let us enact it, and when it is enacted let us enforce it. But with our present methods of doing business, with our parties and party strifes, each striving to outdo the other, there can be no good for us. I have been a party man all my life, and have regularly voted my party ticket, but the time has come when I feel that I must sever the tie that has bound me to the principles of a quarter of a century ago and shape my political feelings to suit the exegencies of the times, we fought for years to destroy human slavery, and accomplished it, why should we now when we have realized all the most radical could ask, allow ourselves to be deceived by a yearly rehash of the old arguments that convinced us then that we were in the right. We fought four years to free the slave, and spent thousands of millions of money to do it. Now can we not fight one or more years to free ourselves from a slavery almost as burdensome, and quiet as galling as that of the negroes? The fighe before us is not of stratgy alone, not one where particular movements of forces will determine the issue, it will be a fight of numbers, and each man of our great force will be a "brigadier" cohesion and action will be the watchword, and success must be the result if we are true to ourselves. I say, then, that it is for our interest to take charge of the political machinery of the state, and when the time comes to nominate of figers, let us begin by placing in nomination for the office governor, some honest farmer, in whom we have confidence, and follow up the course so marked out by placing in nomination good efficent farmers for all the offices to be filled on the state. Nor should we neglect the counties and the towns, the rottenness exists all over the country, and there should be a clean sweep made, leaving not a vestige of the old "machine" in existence.

FARMER.

RICH DISCOVERIES OF GOLD.

At Cripple Creek, Colo., and elsewhere, are being made daily, and the production for 1896 will be the largest ever known, estimated at Two Hundred Million Dollars. Cripple Creek alone is producing over One Million Dollars a month, and steadily increasing! Mining Stocks are advancing in price more rapidly than any other Stocks, and many pay dividends of 35 to 50 per cent. They offer the best opportunity to make a large profit on a small investment.

JOHN I. TALLMAN & CO., 45 Broadway, New York, are financial agents for the Prudential Gold Mining Co., and others in the famous Cripple Creek district. They will send you free interesting particulars of the Mining Companies they represent, also their book on speculation in Stocks, Grain and Cotton, containing many new and important features.

Send for these books at once if you are interested in any form of speculation or investments. They may prove profitable to you. 37-5

FLAX SEED.

First-class flax seed for sale, absolutely clean, price reasonable at

23-tf E. J. HOLMES.

Call for People's Party County Convention June 18th.

The People's Party convention for the county of Polk, State of Minnesota, will be held at the court house, in the City of Crookston, on the 18th day of June, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the following county offices:

County Auditor,
County Treasurer,
Sheriff,
Register of Deeds,
Judge of Probate,
County Attorney,
Surveyor,
Coroner,
Court Commissioner,
Superintendent of Schools,
County Commissioner, 1st District,
County Commissioner, 3rd District,
County Commissioner, 5th District.

The basis of representatation, as determined by the county central committee, shall be one delegate at large for each voting precinct, and one delegate for evrey fifty votes or major fraction thereof, cast for S. M. Owen for governor at the general election in 1894.

Conformable to forgoing apportionment, the voting precincts of Polk County will be entitled to delegates in the convention as follows:

Audover	2	Kertsonville	2
Angus	1	King	3
Black River	2	Knute	4
Bray	1	Lake Pleasant	2
Badger	2	Lambert	3
Brandsvold	2	Liberty	2
Belgium	1	Lessor	3
Bristlet	1	Lowell	2
Bygland	2	Louisville	2
Crookston	1	McIntosh Village	2
" City 1st ward	3	Nesbit	2
" " 2nd "	2	Norden	3
" " 3rd "	2	North	2
" " 4th "	3	Northland	1
" " 5th "	1	Numedal	2
Columbia	2	Onstad	1
Chester	2	Parnell	1
Emardville	1	Poplar River	2
Euclid	1	Polk Centre	1
Eden	2	Queen	2
Esther	1	R. L. Falls Village	3
Fairfax	1	Red Lake Falls	2
Farley	1	Reis	1
Fanny	1	River Falls	2
Fisher	3	Rocksbury	3
Fosston Village	2	Roome	2
Fertile "	1	Rosebud	3
Grand Forks	2	Russia	1
E. G. F. 1st ward	1	Rhinehart	1
" 2nd "	1	Sanders	2
" 3rd "	1	Sandsville	2
" 4th "	2	St. Hilaire Village	2
Garfield	2	Sletten	1
Garden	4	Sullivan	1
Gentilly	2	Tabor	2
Gervais	2	Terrebonne	2
Grove Park	2	Tilden	1
Godfrey	2	Tynsid	1
Hammond	1	Thief River Falls	3
Higdem	2	Vineland	2
Hill River	3	Winger	4
Huntsville	2	Woodside	3
Hubbard	2	Wyandotte	1
Keystone	1

The primaries for the election of delgates shall be held on the 11th day of June, 1896, and the polls shall be opened at 2 o'clock p. m., and remain open for two hours.

By order of the County Central Com.

ARNY GRUNDYSEN, Chairman.

JOHN GLEASON, Secretary.

WYLIE ITEMS.

Jos. Paradis passed through here on Wednesday.

Seven car loads of cattle went through here Wednesday.

The average attendance in school last month was about forty.

O. R. says if the roads don't dry up soon his girl wont know him any more.

Morse Dargin, the veterinary surgeon has had quite a number of cases the past few weeks.

Maggie Wylie and her sister, Ida, had a pleasant ride in the country Sunday, in spite of the mud.

Mattie Wylie and Lena Lubitz left on Monday's train for Crookston, the latter returning Wednesday.

Almost every second farmer you meet has purchased a new harness from Chris Borgan, who always uses his customers well.

Mrs. Eckstein, family and sister Lena left for Berham, Saturday, where they will attend the wedding of Mrs. Eckstein's niece.

Ladies, if you are in need of a summer hat in the latest style, just call on N. Eckstein, who has just received a fine large assortment.

Jake Thill and Pete Hansel took courage Saturday and drove over to Red Lake Falls, where they shook hands with their many friends whom they had not seen for some time, on account of the "bad roads."

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home one year FREE; or we will send it and this paper one year for

Something

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but every-one knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,

Rapp & Post.

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

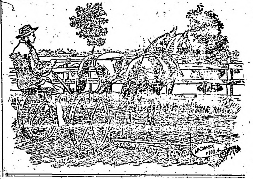
Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements



American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - - MINNESOTA

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain. Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.

☞Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Nervous

People find just the help they so much need, in Hood's Sarsaparilla. It furnishes the desired strength by purifying, vitalizing and enriching the blood, and thus builds up the nerves, tones the stomach and regulates the whole system. Read this:

"I want to praise Hood's Sarsaparilla. My health run down, and I had the grip. After that, my heart and nervous system were badly affected, so that I could not do my own work. Our physician gave me some help, but did not cure. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon I could do all my own housework. I have taken Hood's Pills with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and they have done me much good. I will not be without them. I have taken 13 bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and through the blessing of God, it has cured me. I worked as hard as ever the past summer, and I am thankful to say I am well. Hood's Pills when taken with Hood's Sarsaparilla help very much." MRS. M. M. MESSENGER, Freehold, Penn.

Cured

This and many other cures prove that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills act easily, promptly and effectively. 25 cents.

REMARKABLE FAST TIME.

Pennsylvania to the Pacific Coast in 108 Hours.

The officials of the Great Northern passenger department yesterday, say the St. Paul papers of April 23, received word of the arrival at their destination of the miners who passed through St. Paul on their way West a few days ago. These fifty-seven miners left Shamokin, Pa., last Saturday night, 8:55 p. m., and reached Chicago last Sunday at 9 o'clock. From Chicago they came here over the Northwestern, arriving in this city Monday just after noon. The same afternoon they left on the Great Northern overland flyer at 3 p. m., and reached Portland yesterday morning in time for breakfast. The entire trip from interior Pennsylvania of the deck of a Pacific coast steamer which the miners took at Portland for their destination, Coos Bay, consumed exactly four and a half days, which is considered by railroad men remarkably fast time. The quick journey recalls that which was so favorably commented upon at the time, viz., the special Palmer theater train from New York to San Francisco, which made the cross-country run in something less than five days.

The Same Joke.

City Lady (in the country)—I get so impatient for the news out here. The mails are so irregular!

Old-Fashioned Grandmother—La! So they was in my young days. Ye couldn't trust 'em at all.—Milwaukee Illustrated News.

CRIPPLE CREEK.—$5 will buy 400 shares of gold mining stock; send for prospectus; references given. MOUNT & MOTZ, Colorado Springs, Col.

After a Roman victory slaves were often sold on or near the battlefield, in great numbers, for a few cents each.

There are Dictionaries and Dictionaries, but the noblest Roman of them all seems to be Webster. It is still easily in the lead in the great race for popularity.

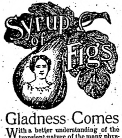
A Trinity of Evils.

Biliousness, sick headache and irregularity of the bowels accompany each other. To the removal of this trinity of evils Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is specially adapted. It also cures dyspepsia, rheumatism, malarial complaints, biliousness, nervousness and constipation. The most satisfactory results follow a fair trial. Use it daily.

To salute with the left hand is a deadly insult to Mohammedans in the East.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Only one person in four in London earns over £1 a week.



Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction

A Farm for Every Man.

Choice lands, suitable for stock raising, dairying or grain producing. Timber and mineral resources unsurpassed. Within easy reach of railroads, school and churches in NORTHERN WISCONSIN along the line of the Wisconsin Central Railroad. We will gladly furnish general information and promptly answer all inquiries concerning them. Address for free pamphlet FREDERICK ABBOT, Land Commissioner, Wisconsin Central R. R., Milwaukee, Wis.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION
25 CTS.

PUMPKIN AND PRUNE.

A Page of Experience From an Ex-Detective's Note Book.

Several robberies had been committed in a well known and popular hotel in one of our large cities. These robberies were of a very mysterious character and baffled all ordinary devices for their detection. That they were all the work of one man, or set of men, was apparent from their similarity. As descriptive of the two which preceded it, let me tell the story of Mr. and Mrs. Pascal.

They registered in the hotel which I may call the "Cawmor house," and selected room No. 19, on the second floor, which was also the apartment which had been despoiled twice before. They were accompanied by Miss "Lino" Regis, Mrs. Pascal's niece, she having a communicating room, which fronted the street. The landlord cautioned the guests to be careful of their valuables, which, of course, they promised to do.

Mr. Pascal, the day following their arrival, having business to look after in a neighboring town, left the ladies to themselves. After a late dinner they came up stairs, and, partly disrobing, each retired to her own room, madame to nap and Miss Regis to read, the door between the two rooms, however, being opened wide and the outside doors carefully locked and bolted.

It was 4 o'clock when Mrs. Pascal awoke from her siesta and both ladies began to dress. Miss Regis had not been asleep for a second, a late novel having enchained her attention. The madame, previous to lying down, had taken off and placed upon the dressing stand her handsome diamonds, valued at nearly $6,000. This article of furniture was but a few feet away from the bed and in full view from the couch in nearly all positions. A person standing or seated opposite the door of the other chamber had them in sight also.

Mrs. Pascal, having robed herself in another dress, sought her jewels, and after a few moments' search the conviction was forced upon her that they had been stolen. Instantly she summoned the clerk, and he called in the hotel proprietor, and a fuller investigation was made, but the diamonds were nowhere to be found, nor could the detective who had been employed by the hotel since the second operation, and who remained in the house as a guest, give any solution of the matter. There was absolutely no clew to the robber.

The proprietor was almost at his wits' end, for well he knew that unless this were ferreted out his hotel would soon become an unprofitable concern. Reflecting on the matter, he concluded to apply to a well known detective agency, and after his story had been related my chief concluded to undertake the case and placed me in charge, with instructions to spare neither zeal nor money in discovering the thief. I insisted upon the retention of the hotel detective as a "cover," and stipulated that he should ostensibly be in charge of the case and that the proprietor himself should maintain the secret and not interfere in any way whatever, unless called upon by my chief.

When I sat down to think over the matter I was struck by the exceeding difficulty of the case. I had no clew upon which to work, and that a thief should be able to effect an entrance into a bed chamber, with a wide-awake person in sight and hearing, staggered my experience. I saw that I had a most crafty person to deal with and some entirely new trick to understand. The longer I thought over it the more puzzled I became, for I knew Sam Pence, the hotel detective, must have made a pretty thorough canvass of the operation, examined the windows, closets and doors, as well as been on the alert for suspicious characters. He, I knew, was a good enough man for any ordinary business, but outside of that had no imagination or skill. Clearly, this was a case for a most delicate operation. But I made up my mind as to a course of action, and resolutely followed it out, with what result the reader may learn at the close of this narrative.

The Pascal party left after a week's sojourn and room No. 19 was vacant for a day, when a Mrs. De Laney Moore and her maid occupied it. Mrs. Moore was one of those ladies who may be described in music-symbolism as f. f. f., or "fair, fat and forty." Rachel, the maid, and an old maid at that, might be catalogued as p. p. p., or, "patient, pale and prudish." Madame Moore owned an f. f. f. voice, but Miss Rachel's was a pianissimo squeak. Poor Rachel was in complete subjection to her mistress and walked behind her in the softest, meekest possible manner.

They were not many days in the hotel before Sam Pence displayed his wit in styling them "Pumpkin and Prune." Sam saw the gorgeous display of diamonds, jewelry and many-colored silks which Madame Moore wore, and in a quiet way warned Rachel of the danger of leaving valuables carelessly around in their room. Poor Rachel hardly vouchsafed an answer to his impudence, but all at once it struck upon his benighted intellect that it would be a good thing to show her some little attention and secure her co-operation in the watch for the thief. Acting upon that suggestion he became quite gallant, and while Rachel appeared very coy and exceedingly meek, Sam concluded to trust her, should he find an opportunity to have an uninterrupted talk.

Madame Moore came up stairs on a certain Wednesday, fairly blazing with diamonds, and entered her room, where Rachel partly unrobed her, and discreetly quitting the room, the maid retired to an adjoining one, while her mistress indulged in her "cat-nap," as she called it, and which generally lasted a good two hours. At madame's request, the window curtains in Rachel's room were drawn, so as to shut out the light from the street. Rachel took up a book and madame a religious journal. The diamonds were put carelessly upon the dressing bureau. In the course of half an hour the sound of deep snoring was heard from the bed, and Rachel, dropping her book, fixed her eyes upon the looking-glass in her room, in which was to be seen a reflection of the jewels.

Had the reader been looking on, he might have seen a black line cross the glass and descend upon the stand; and had he been listening, he might have heard a very slight click, and noticed its ascent and disappearance.

I saw through the whole trick at once, and, without changing my clothes, I grasped my revolver and slipped out of my room to call Sam to my assistance. I managed to cast off some of my (Rachel's) toggery on the way, and, in a wonderful plight, I appeared before him. Of course, he was stupefied and chagrined for a moment, but Sam was a thoroughly good fellow, heard and did not refuse my request. Had any of the boarders seen me in my trip up-stairs they would have been shocked, for on my way I shed my wig and various white garments which I shall not particularize, appearing decidedly en dishabille, my attire partaking of the garments of both sexes. I had also summoned the landlord through the annunciator, and taken a pair of iron bracelets out of Rachel's light trunk.

We burst into the room, but before the door could be battered down, the robber had cast an iron wire and an apple out of the window. Fortunately for me, Madame Moore, who was in reality my wife, saw the articles descend, and, hastening down stairs, she summoned a policeman and secured a seedy-looking fellow, who was walking rapidly away with the wire and the fruit.

He was brought back to the hotel, marched up to the room above Madame Moore's, where I was holding a little experience meeting. When Weedin, for that was the name the robber gave, saw his "pal" he weakened on the moral dodge he had assumed and proceeded to make the best terms he could for himself and partner.

In short, I succeeded in recapturing all the precious stones, save one of the small ones, which had been "spouted" to pay the expenses with which to carry on the war. The wire which we captured was provided with light nippers at the end, which were controlled by a silk cord. When the jaws of the vice were in position, the cord was tightened, and they closed around the valuables, and were drawn up into the robber's hand.

I discovered, also, a trap in the flooring, cut away by them, large enough to admit his head, which, when not in use, was covered up by a carpet. Out of the plaster ceiling in Madame's room he had managed to cut an orifice large enough to pass in and out the wire, and gave his eye command of the dressing stand. This orifice, when not in use, was closed with an India rubber plug, painted to represent the plaster, all this having been done some months before through the agency of a comrade and his wife, who occupied the room for a day.

The supposed diamond caught up in this last operation had been placed in a plugged apple, tied to the wire, and thrown from the window and was to have been placed with the others stolen.

We learned afterward that Weedin's intention was to carry his plunder to Europe, where he hoped to realize handsomely by his invention. This, it will be seen, closed one of the avenues by which detectives find a clue to the discovery of criminals, through the sale of their plunder to pawnbrokers. Weedin was sentenced to two years, and was released some time this year.

Sam Pence might have enjoyed much sport out of my miscellaneous dress had I not, now and then gently reminded him how bent he was on "making up to Rachel."

It's what he got, anyhow, for calling my wife and me Pumpkin and Prune.

Heredity in Trees.

"It is generally supposed that family resemblances are confined to the animal world," said J. L. Hagans of Saylersville, Ky., at the Metropolitan. "But, on the outskirts of Saylersville is an oak tree which, as soon as a person sees it, recalls the famous Charter Oak. It is frequently commented upon, and now that the original Charter Oak is broken, men who have seen pictures of what it used to be, and then look at the Kentucky tree, instantly recognize that it is an exact counterpart of the old tree. It is the child of the original Charter Oak. Sixty years ago Judge Smith, who is still living, at a very advanced age, in Cincinnati, visited Hartford and brought home a pocketful of acorns from the Charter Oak. These were planted, and the result is the tree that is a counterpart of its famous parent."—Washington Star.

Statues of Thirty-Two Hohenzollerns.

Statues of thirty-two Hohenzollerns are to be made and placed along one of the avenues to the Thiergarten at Berlin, by order of Emperor William. Thirty-two avenues of bays will be cut at right-angles to the main avenue, in each of which a statue will stand. Each statue will have a marble bench before it, and the bust of a famous man of the period on each hand. This is really one of the most curious of the remarkable projects of the emperor, and is severely criticized at Berlin, on the ground that there will be a deadly uniformity in the effect and that it is impossible to obtain so many good statues in the time allowed. Commissions given in this wholesale way are not very inspiring.—Hartford Courant.

A Point in Physiology.

Nature takes the time when one is lying down, to give the heart rest, and that organ, consequently, makes ten strokes less a minute than when one is in an upright posture. Multiply that by sixty minutes, and it is 600 strokes. Therefore, in eight hours spent in lying down the heart is saved nearly 5,000 strokes, and as the heart pumps six ounces of blood with each stroke, it lifts 30,000 ounces less of blood in a night of eight hours spent in bed than when one is in an upright position. As the blood flows so much more slowly through the veins when one is lying down, one must supply them with extra coverings, the warmth usually furnished by circulation.—Harper's Bazar.

As He Explained It.

She takes a great deal of interest in theatrical matters, and remarked to the young man:

"These coster singers are very popular at present."

"Yes," he replied, nervously.

"I wonder why they call them costers?" she went on in a pensive tone.

"I don't know, unless it's because it costs a week's salary to go and hear one of them."—Washington Star.

Always on Tap.

The son of the house had just returned from his grand tour and was describing the wonders of Niagara to the old coachman.

The latter's eyes opened wider and and wider, and at the end of the recital he said:

"Lor', now, sir! jest think of it! And do they always keep it going?"—Answers.

Like Father, Like Son.

"Drunk again," said the stern father, as he met his tipsy son at the door at 3 a. m.

"Don't menshun't," replied the young hopeful, gayly. "So'm I."—Philadelphia North American.

Others There Are.

Bixmog—Zibley, your face is a sight. Did you cut yourself while shaving?

Zibley—Not exactly. Perhaps it would be better to say that I shaved myself while cutting.—Roxbury Gazette.

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

Picking up Knowledge

Is easy enough if you look for it in the right place. This is the right place to learn just what to do for that debilitating condition which Spring always brings. Do you want to be cured of that languid feeling, get back your appetite, sleep soundly, and feel like a new man?

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

will do it. It has done it for thousands. It has been doing it for 50 years. Try it.

Send for the "Curebook." 100 pages free. J. C. Ayer Co. Lowell, Mass.

Makes a Difference.

Tommy (surprised)—Why, papa, I thought that one spoonful of sugar was always enough for my coffee?

Tommy's Papa—This is a restaurant, my son; take all the sugar you want.—Judge.

1,000 Farms for Sale.
Only 10 per cent Cash balance one half Crop each Year or Instalment plan. J. A. Walters. 109 4th St. So. Minneapolis, Minn.

There died at Perth the other day at the age of sixty-three M. Jordann Jank, one of the most talented caricaturists in Europe.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, Proprietors of Hall's Catarrh Cure, offer $100 reward for any case of catarrh that cannot be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for testimonials, free. Sold by druggists, 75c.

The next new ballet at the Empire theater, London, will be on the subject of "Monte Cristo."

THE INDIANS' COUNCIL

Verdicts of Supreme and Vital Importance Arrived at in These Famous Gatherings.

Many Lessons Taught to the White Man.

Hon. Louis Nelson, Judge of Probate, Gains Knowledge From the Indian That is Invaluable.

ALL sufferers, no matter the cause of their illness, are the people who appreciate the value of health, and realize that good health is that which money cannot buy. The full value of perfect health is never realized until it has departed. How to regain it and how to keep it is a matter that should be of the greatest moment to every living man and woman. The Indian before he decided any matter of vital or grave importance called a council and the subject was discussed from all sides. Just so with matters pertaining to their health, the most extreme care was exercised as to their treatment, and the result is seen in the Indian's long life and perfect health. Many of his pale faced brothers have turned to him for his medicines, and have praised the day that they allowed themselves to be advised by the Indian. The Kickapoo Indian Remedies, which are identically the same as they have been for centuries when made by the Indians from roots, barks and herbs, are the most wonderful and efficient remedies now known to the civilized world. We take pleasure in giving to the public a letter from Judge Nelson, who writes us as follows:—

Brunswick, Minnesota:

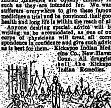
KICKAPOO INDIAN MEDICINE Co.,
New Haven, Conn.

Gentlemen:—For two years I have been a great sufferer from rheumatism, but I took six bottles of Kickapoo Indian Sagwa and it entirely cured me, and I can heartily endorse it to all afflicted with rheumatism. I would also say that I have tried and tested all of the Kickapoo Indian Remedies, and I find them all reliable and shall never be without these medicines as long as I live. Yours truly,

LOUIS NELSON,
Judge of Probate, Kanabec Co.

For all derangements arising from a disordered state of the stomach, liver, kidneys and blood, nothing on earth is half so efficient as Kickapoo Indian Sagwa. Its power of curing is beyond compare. Other Kickapoo Indian Remedies are equally efficient for such as they are intended for. We want sufferers everywhere to give these famous medicines a trial and be convinced that good health and long life is within the reach of all.

Anyone desiring special advice will by writing us be accomodated, as one of our corps of physicians will treat all correspondence in confidence and give such advice as is best for them.—Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., New Haven, Conn. All druggists sell the Kickapoo Indian Remedies.



BLOWS HIS FOOD THROUGH A TUBE.

John Goetsch Eats Uniquely With Little Inconvenience.

Local physicians reckon it a sight worth going some distance to observe John Goetsch eat his dinner. Goetsch is a patient in St. Joseph's hospital and he has a way of his own of eating which is not less remarkable than unique. Goetsch, in fact, has by the aid of the skill of the surgeons who wait upon him, established an artificial connection between his mouth and his stomach, and all the food he masticates reaches its proper destination without the necessity of swallowing it as ordinary mortals have to do.

Goetsch's trouble is with the lower portion of his aesophagus, which has grown tightly shut and absolutely refuses to perform the duties of an ordinary aesophagus. When brought to St. Joseph's hospital Goetsch had spent eleven days without food or drink and was ready to give up the ghost. This was several months ago.

At this point the doctors came to Goetsch's aid and, laying him out on a table, they cut a hole in his stomach, feeding him by means of a funnel until they finally succeeded in inserting a permanent tube in the coat of the stomach. This operation having been successfully accomplished the crowning act was completed by attaching a rubber tube to the end of the stomach attachment and inserting at the connection a little button of peculiar arrangement. Supplied with this Goetsch sits down at table and enjoys his meals like other mortals but without being compelled to swallow a morsel of food.

The physicians came to the conclusion when making the attachment, since so successfully used by their patient, that as he had good lungs these could be used just as well as the aesophagus, which has all along refused to work. He was thereupon instructed in the art of "placing" his food. After looking over the bill of fare and determining what would tickle his palate the patient was allowed to masticate the article and enjoy its flavor. The rubber tube was then inserted in mouth and he was told to blow. The doctor's button at the far end of the tube, yielding to the pressure, allowed the food to pass unobstructed, and, straightway closing back into place, retained the contents of the stomach. Thus it has come about that by constant blowing at a rubber pipe Goetsch has grown sleek and fat. The attending physicians predict for him a long and pleasant life. When not in use the tube is tucked under the man's vest, and if it were not for this the man would, to all appearances, be no different from other people.—Omaha World-Herald.

BRITISH SEA FISHERIES.

The Value of Fish Landed Last Year About $37,000,000.

A return has been made by the board of trade giving statistical tables relating to the sea fisheries of the United Kingdom. The satistics relate mainly to fish landed on the coasts of England and Wales, but summarized statements are also given of fish landed on the Scotch and Irish coasts. For purposes of comparison the statistics are given of the sea fisheries of Norway, Holland, France and Canada. As regards England and Wales, the total value of the fish landed was £5,438,000. The corresponding values for 1893 and 1894 were £5,171,000 and £5,291,000 respectively. For Scotland the total value was £1,830,000, and for Ireland, £269,000. In Scotland, during the year 1895, there has been a slight decrease in the quantity, and an increase in the value of the fish landed as compared with 1894. In Ireland there was a decrease both in quantity and value. The aggregate value for the United Kingdom during the year 1895 is £7,537,000, as compared with a total value of £7,260,000 in 1894. The figures for other countries during 1895 are not at hand, but for 1894 the values were: Norway, £1,272,000; Holland, not accurately known, but probably less than Norway; France £4,681,000 and Canadian Dominion £4,317,000. More than half of the total weight of fish landed in England and Wales consisted of haddocks and herrings. But their value was less than a third of the total value, viz., £1,604,000 out of £5,120,000. The more costly kinds of fish—soles, turbots and plaice—are, it appears, decreasing slightly in quantity and increasing in value. As regards the value of all fish, however, the average value per hundredweight has slightly decreased during the last three years. As regards shellfish, the figures in 1894 and 1895 are very similar, but oysters show a continuous decline, the numbers landed being 32,405,000 in 1893, 27,747,000 in 1894, and 25,270,000 in 1895. Grimsby steadily maintains its position as the leading port with a total of 83,000 tons. Next in order follow London with 52,000 tons, Hull with 40,000 tons, Lowestoft with 31,000 tons, and Yarmouth with 28,000 tons.—London Times.

Didn't Know the Locality.

The healthfulness of Lynton, a summer resort in Devon, England, is advertised by this story:

Recently a visitor began to talk to an old man in Lynton, and asked him his age, whereupon he said: "I am just over 70."

"Well," said the visitor, "you look as if you had a good many years to live yet. At what age did your father die?"

"Father dead," said the man, looking surprised. "Father isn't dead; he's upstairs putting grandfather to bed!" Cleveland Recorder.

Merely Enjoying Himself.

"Did you fall in?" asked a sympathetic bystander.

The man in the dress suit, who had just been hauled, dripping with slime, out of the icy slush of the Chicago river, looked at the questioner with a sardonic gleam in his eye.

"Oh, no," he said, with his teeth chattering, "I b-b-b-b went in ch-ch-ch-ch on purpose! I wanted jj-j-j-a bath, you f-f-f-f durned fool."—Chicago Tribune.

Keeping Them Off.

"I should think the tourists coming to this place would destroy this lovely park of yours," said the Northerner to the Floridian.

"Well, they used to pick up the oleanders and steal my cocoanuts; but I put up that sign over there, and since that time they've respected my rights."

The Northerner walked over to the sign and read as follows:

An Anxious Question.

Signora Ypsilon, a noted Amazon, had a bad fall from her horse, resulting in a severe injury to her shoulder. The surgeon, who was speedily summoned, bound up the wound, and when the operation was completed, the lady inquired:

"Do you think, doctor, the injury will be seen?"

"That, signora," replied the surgeon, "will rest entirely with you."—Il Carino.

Doctor Albright

A BROAD MINDED PHYSICIAN WITH PROGRESSIVE IDEAS.

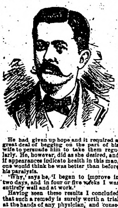
Believes in Recommending Any Medicine That He Knows Will Cure His Patients —Thinks Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a Great Discovery—He Cites Some Marvelous Cures.

From the Examiner, Lancaster, Pa.

AKRON, PA., April 24th, '95.

DR. WILLIAMS' MEDICINE Co.:

Gentlemen—While it is entirely contrary to the custom of the medical profession to endorse or recommend any of the so-called proprietary preparations, I shall, nevertheless, give you an account of some of my wonderful experiences with your preparation, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The fact is well known that medical practitioners do not as a rule, recognise, much less use, preparations of this kind, consequently the body of them have no definite knowledge of their virtue or lack of it, but soundly condemn them all without a trial. Such a course is manifestly absurd and unjust, and I, for one, propose to give my patients the best treatment known to me, for the particular disease with which they are suffering, no matter what it is, where or how obtained. I was first brought to prescribe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills about two years ago, after having seen some remarkable results from their use. Reuben Hoover, now of Reading, Pa., was a prominent contractor and builder. While superintending the work of erecting a large building during cold weather, he contracted what was thought to be sciatica. He first noticed it one morning in not being able to arise from his bed. After the usual treatment for this disease he failed to improve, but on the contrary grew rapidly worse, the case developing into Hemiphlegia, or partial paralysis of the entire right side of the body. Electricity, tonics and massage, etc., were all given a trial, but nothing gave any benefit, and the paralysis continued. In despair he was compelled to hear his physician announce that his case was hopeless. About that time his wife noticed one of your advertisements and concluded to try your Pink Pills.



He had given up hope and it required a great deal of begging on the part of his wife to persuade him to take them regularly. He, however, did as she desired, and if appearances indicate health in this man, one would think he was better than before his paralysis.

'Why,' says he, 'I began to improve in two days, and in four or five weeks I was entirely well and at work.'

Having seen these results I concluded that such a remedy is surely worth a trial at the hands of any physician, and consequently when a short time later I was called upon to treat a lady suffering with palpitation of the heart and great nervous prostration, after the usual remedies failed to relieve, I ordered Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The result was simply astonishing. Her attacks became less frequent and also less in severity, until by their use for a period of only two months she was the picture of health, rosy-cheeked and bright-eyed, as well as ever, and she has continued so until today, more than one year since she took any medicine. I have found these pills a specific for chorea, or as more commonly known, St. Vitus' dance, as beneficial results have in all cases marked their use. As a spring tonic any one who, from overwork or nervous strain during a long winter has become pale and languid, the Pink Pills will do wonders in brightening the countenance and in buoying the spirits, bringing roses to the pallid lips and renewing the fountain of youth.

Yours Respectfully,
J. D. ALBRIGHT, M. D.

The decrease in the size of sleeves is one of the most marked features in spring fashions in London.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Attached to Him.

"I seem to be very well liked," said the mangy little dog.

"Yes," remarked the wicked little boy, "even the tin cans are attached to you."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Racycle Presidential Puzzle.

Men and women, boys and girls: readers of this paper if you neglected to send in your answer to the advertisement of the Presidential Puzzle in last week's issue of this paper, do not neglect to do so now. Do not put it off. Get your copy of last week's paper,

Cut The Advertisement Out.

It gives all the particulars which enables you to get the best $100 Racycle; which, with the discount allowed by working the puzzle, makes it the cheapest as well as the best. We want at once a few Racycles in your locality as advertisements—now is your opportunity. Send us your solution of puzzle, your name and address, model wanted and height of frame.

Miami Cycle and Mfg. Co.,
Middletown, Ohio.

The ropes on a first-class man-of-war cost about $3,000.

DR. J. G. GRANT, Specialist.
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat,
Syndicate Block, Minneapolis.
(Spectacles fitted.)

The process of stereotyping is nearly 120 years old.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

Patrick Henry was known all over the American colonies as an orator long before he was thirty.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for Children Teething.

The oldest family in the British Isles is the Mar family, dating back to 1093.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is the only cough medicine used in my house.—D. C. Albright, Mifflinburg, Pa., Dec. 11, 1895.

The world's navies are estimated as employing 6,000,003 men.

One of the health-giving elements of HIRES Rootbeer is sarsaparilla. It contains more sarsaparilla than many of the preparations called by that name. HIRES—the best by any test.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

"IT WILL NOT RUB OFF"
ALABASTINE
DURABLE AND BEAUTIFUL
WALL COATING.

CRIPPLE CREEK Write for what you want to THE MECHEM INVESTMENT CO., 113 Jackson St., Chicago, Ill.

ST. JACOBS OIL Is a prize fighter and champion in every contest with RHEUMATIC PAINS
It knocks out in every round, and on its belt is written "I CURE."

You get of "Battle Ax" same quality, 5⅔ ozs. for 10 cents.

You only get of other good tobaccos 3½ ozs. for 10 cents.

Battle Ax PLUG

You get over 2 ounces more of "Battle Ax" for 10 cents than any other tobacco of the same grade. These two ounces really cost you nothing, and the 5 cent piece is nearly as large as you get of other high grades for 10 cents.

Minn. Hist.
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XV. ST.HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY MAY 13, 1896. NUMBER 41.

THE NEWS RESUME.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

A Comprehensive Review of the Important Happenings of the Past Week Culled From the Telegraph Reports—The Notable Events at Home and Abroad That Have Attracted Attention.

The Nation's Capital.

The president sent to the senate the nomination of Assistant Engineer W. W. Bush to be past assistant engineer.

The senate committee on judiciary reported favorably the bill restoring John N. Quackenbush to the rank of commander in the navy.

United States Consul Keenan at Bremen, in a report to the state department on importation of American horses into Germany, says that while this business has attained great proportions it is generally hampered by many underhand operations inspired by the local horse dealers, who have united to break down the American competition.

People Talked About.

Dr. Parkhurst is getting ready to spend the summer in Europe.

Aubrey Beardsley, the artist, is thought to be dying of pneumonia.

Prof. William D. Hillis, aged 75 years, died at Elgin, Ill.

Andrew S. Fuller, a noted horticulturalist and entomologist, is dead at his home in Ridgewood, N. J.

Queen Natalia has the most beautiful teeth of any royal personage in the world.

President Faure often devotes two mornings a week to visiting various hospital wards in Paris.

Philip D. Borden, the oldest active manufacturer in Fall River, Mass., and widely known in textile circles, is dead, aged 80 years.

The seventy-fifth anniversary of Pope Leo's first communion will be celebrated in the churches in Rome on June 21.

Senator Wolcott of Colorado is ambidextrous. He can shave with a razor in each hand and write with two pens at the same time.

It is proposed to put an eight-foot figure of the Princess Eulalia into the frieze of the national capital as a memorial of the Columbian world's fair.

H. W. J. Ham, the Georgia newspaper man who coined the term "snolly-goster," which strikes Southern people as being very funny, has gone into the lecture business and is making $10,000 a year.

Gen. McLaws, the confederate division commander, lectured in Savannah on "Gettysburg" a few days ago, but his voice broke, and his son, a middle-aged man, read the rest of the discourse.

The ex-Empress Eugenie, who is still engaged on her memoirs, uses a penholder that is set with diamonds. This was employed by the fourteen representatives in signing the treaty of peace of Paris in 1856, and was presented to the ex-empress as a memento.

At New York Claude Falls Wright, the theosophist, married Miss Mary Katherine Leoline Leonard of Boston, who is also an enthusiastic member of the Theosophical society. The marriage was solemnized according to the theosophical rites. To make the marriage valid the contracting parties were afterward united in wedlock by Ald. Robinson.

Accidental Happenings.

Engineer Tom Brennan was killed and other trainmen badly injured in a wreck near Beatrice, Neb., on the Burlington road.

The business portion of Pine Grove, Colo., was destroyed by fire, which broke out soon after midnight. Loss, about $20,000. The fire is believed to have been incendiary.

Joseph Taylor of Big Rapids, Mich., traveling salesman for a Detroit house, had both legs taken off in attempting to board a train at Rockton, north of Rockford, Ill.

Fire has destroyed the Adirondack hotel, Emerson bank, the music hall and several residences and stores at Warrensburg, N. Y., entailing a loss of $50,000, which is partially insured.

Charles Kingsley, a Cincinnati traveling man, who was returning to his home at New Castle, Ind., while asleep, walked off the rear platform, just south of Milldale. He is in a serious condition.

J. C. Sommers, a millionaire banker of Keokuk, Iowa, was killed in the union depot at Burlington, Iowa. He was crossing the tracks to enter a Keokuk sleeper when the fast mail struck him.

Miss Edie McGann and Miss Rena Vinton of Chicago, members of the Monte Carlo Girl Comedy company, were overcome by escaping gas in the Phoenix hotel at Benton Harbor, Mich., and are in a critical condition.

Engineer Fanning, of a cattle train, was killed, and his fireman, P. McClellan, Engineer De Great, Fireman McClairville, a sleeping car porter and others were badly injured in a Northern Pacific wreck near Livingston, Mont.

S. M. Bissell, representing H. B. Claflin & Co., New York, leaped from a third-story window of the Planters' house at St. Louis and received fatal injuries. He was on a protracted spree, and a physician had been treating him for delirium tremens. His leg was broken and his head badly hurt.

Crimes and Criminals.

The jewelry store of M. J. Cohen, Pittsburg, Pa., was robbed of $7,000 worth of diamonds by three men and a woman.

George Anderson, colored, of Terre Haute, was instantly killed by Robert Love at Indianapolis, Ind., and the latter made his escape. A quarrel began about 5 cents.

Gottlieb Wuethrich, an old and well known German resident of Omaha, committed suicide by strangulation. The cause is ascribed to ill health and financial difficulties.

In a quarrel over the sale of a pair of spectacles Frank O'Brien, hotel keeper in Youngstown, Ohio, was dangerously shot by Frank Crofts, a peddler, who sets up a plea of self-defense.

William S. Kerster, a young farmer shot and killed his wife, Caroline, at Sunbury, Pa. His mother was so shocked by the tragedy that she fell dead of heart failure while running to a neighbor's house for help.

Joe. Myers has been arrested at a farm east of Decatur, Ill., on a charge of murder. He is suspected of having killed August Heckman, the man whose body was found in the woods east of the city. Myers pawned the dead man's watch in Decatur.

Fred Douglass gave himself up to the police at Nelsonville, Ohio for killing Dow Willum, his brother-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. Willum had separated. Willum, against the warning of Douglass, tried to break into his wife's house, whereupon Douglass shot him.

Two of the most notorious pickpockets and "knockout drop" men that ever claimed New York for their home were arrested in Washington. They are Fred Nelson, alias Mike Lyons, alias A. D. Stevens, alias Gallagher, and Frank Lewis, alias Harry Armstead, alias "Sheeny" Lewis, alias Mansfield.

Judge Lynch has cut short the career of Will Bendy, who killed two officers near Beaumont, Tex. A posse had him surrounded, but he left the thicket and took refuge in the home of his brother-in-law. He was shot and wounded and finally he surrendered. He was then hanged and his body riddled with bullets.

Carpenters were at work on the scaffold on which Thomas Punshon was to have been hanged at St. Joseph, Mo. when a telegram was received from Gov. Stone commuting his sentence to twenty years in the penitentiary. Punshon was disappointed, and said he would rather be hanged than spend his life in prison.

Foreign Gossip.

Baron Heiking has been appointed German minister at Peking.

The Socialists were successful in the municipal elections held at Marseilles.

A dispatch received in London from Naples says it is rumored there that an anarchist plot against King Humbert has been discovered.

On the news of the death of the shah reaching Constantinople Sheik Djemeleddin, the Persian agitator, who is supposed to have been the instigator of the assassination of the shah, was arrested. He was subsequently released.

Sir Charles Tupper, premier of Canada, has moved an appeal to the electors of the Dominion, over his own signature. He calls upon the electors to exercise their calm judgment, and decide between the conservatives and the Reformers.

The French excavators at Delphi have unearthed a life-size bronze statue of a beardless man, the largest yet discovered. The date of the work is 500 B. C. The statue is holding the bridle of a horse, and portions of the horse's figure have also been found.

Princess Louise of Denmark, eldest daughter of the Crown Prince Frederick, who was born in 1875, and Prince Frederick of Schaumburg-Lippe, cousin of the reigning Prince George, who was born in 1868, were married at the palace of Amalaienburg.

There is need for a new extradition treaty between the United States and Germany, in the judgment of the German embassy in Washington, as revealed in the published diplomatic correspondence of the state department for last year.

Herr Strobach, anti-Semite, has been elected burgomaster of Vienna in the place of Dr. Lueger, who resigned at the request of Emperor Francis Joseph. Herr. Strobach announced that he would resign at the proper moment in favor of Dr. Lueger.

King Humbert has donated 400,000 francs to the families of the soldiers killed and wounded in the African campaign, without any distinction being made between Italians and native troops who fought in the service of Italy. The king has also donated 100,000 francs to the Red Cross society for the benefit of the wounded.

A dispatch from Mrs. John Hays Hammond at Cape Town says: "Hammond suffers in heroic silence. His comrades of the reform committee endure with noble courage the penalties due to Jameson, who is the lion of the hour in London. Mr. Hammond's heart is in a critical condition. The prison fare is very bad."

Otherwise.

A regiment of 1,200 men is being organized in Chicago to fight for Cuba.

Four hundred union plumbers, gas fitters and steam fitters of Kansas City went on strike for eight hours.

The firm of E. and G. Friend & Co, wholesale dealers in leaf tobacco, at 129 Maiden Lane, New York, failed. Liabilities, $200,000.

There was a whale hunt in Delaware bay below Philadelphia. A sixty-footer was seen floating along majestically. It was a dead one.

The Indians in the Alaska district are preparing to go on the war path. The news reached Victoria by the steamer Sitka.

George, Austin W., William J., Edgar A. and Albert G. Follett, who composed the firm of George Follett & Co., wool dealers, New York, made an assignment.

The schooner Viking, which left San Francisco on Nov. 15 for the South seas, is a month overdue and fears are expressed for her safety. The Viking carried a crew of eight men.

The United States gunboat Concord, which has been stationed with the Asiatic squadron for the last five years has arrived at San Francisco from the Orient, coming by the way of Honolulu.

The Moulton Leather company, having factories at Lynn, Mass., assigned to A. W. Pope & Co. of Boston for $135,000. Most of the claims against the corporation are held in New York and Philadelphia.

Rev. Nathan E. Wood, pastor of the First Baptist church, Boston, surprised his congregation when he announced his withdrawal from connection with the Auxiliary league of the Salvation army. He says Gen. Booth is a despot.

BOILERS EXPLODE

FATAL ACCIDENT ON A TUG BOAT ON THE MISSISSIPPI.

The Tug Boat Harry Brown of Pittsburg Is Wrecked by the Explosion of Her Boilers Near Vicksburg, Miss.—Eleven Members of the Crew Are Known to Have Lost Their Lives.

Vicksburg, Miss., May 13.—One of the most terrible river disasters of recent years occurred last night about twenty-five miles below this city. The tow boat Harry Brown of Pittsburg, upward-bound from New Orleans, exploded her boilers at 11 o'clock last night. The boat was a complete wreck and sank in less than five minutes. Eleven lives are known to be lost, including Pilot Norman Dravo, G. W. Bardsley, steersman; William Dougherty, chief engineer; Miss Annie Hess, chambermaid; Tom Judge, fireman; William Wilson, fireman; William Fitzsimmons, first mate; Pat Carniff, second mate; William Kelley, lamp trimmer; Frank Adrian and John Wagner.

The survivors and also the wounded were brought to this city on the Honshell. Six of the officers and crew of the Brown are in the marine ward of the Vicksburg hospital, as follows: Capt. John Kime, hip seriously injured; William Grimme, carpenter, leg broken; — Hardy, fireman, badly scalded and otherwise seriously injured; Dennis J. Lomey, second engineer, badly scalded and internally injured; will probably die.

Pilot Dravo, who was lost, was of Pittsburg, and was a most excellent man, whose death will be greatly regretted. The bodies of three dead men who were brought here are at Fisher's undertaking establishment and have been embalmed and will be sent to their homes. The Honshell was so near the scene when the explosion occurred that her yawls were lowered at once and were promptly manned and saved many lives that would have been lost if it had not been for their prompt service. Capt. Kime, the master of the Brown, although seriously injured, remained on the after part of the cabin, roof of the Brown, where he had been blown by the explosion. He was seen this morning by a reporter and said:

"The after part of the cabin floated off from the hull, and as it sunk to the bottom of the river, I directed the efforts of the men who were at work rescuing the boat's crew. Myself and Pilot Dan Kane were in the Brown's pilot house when the explosion occurred. It would be impossible for any one to tell how many of the seven boilers exploded, as the darkness prevented any one seeing anything. It seemed that the hull went down in less than a minute. I have no blame to attach to any one, as the cause of the explosion will never be known, as the chief engineer, William Daugherty, who was on watch, was lost."

The officers and boat crew speak most grateful praise of the officers and crew of the steamer St. Joseph, who contributed clothing and other substantials. Capt. Kime expects to send the Brown's crew to their homes by rail as soon as he receives instructions from Pittsburg. The coroner here held an inquest on the dead bodies and returned a verdict of accidental death.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC CASE.

Mr. Hartman Tries to Get Congressional Action.

Washington, May 13. — Representative Hartman of Montana is circulating in the house a petition to the judiciary committee for an immediate report from that committee of the joint resolution to authorize the reorganization of the Northern Pacific Railroad company. The judicial sale of the corporation under foreclosure proceedings is to be made in June, and unless congress takes action before that proceeding, the reorganization of the company will have to be under a state charter. Many members have signed the petition, and it is expected that the subcommittee which has the resolution in charge will report to the full committee to-morrow. The resolution, if adopted, will compel the company, under its charter, to sell all agricultural lands within a mile of the track at a price not exceeding $2.50 an acre, and will forbid consolidation with any competing line.

A MAMMOTH CAVE.

Wind Cave Explored and Mapped—Ninety-Seven Miles of Passages.

Hot Springs, S. D., May 13.—City Engineer Scott has just completed an extensive survey of Wind cave, the great underground world situated twelve miles from this city. He was engaged seven days in the work, and as a result of his investigations a map of the interior of the cave will be printed, thus giving explorers in the cave an exact knowledge of their whereabouts. Another object of the survey was to discover an exit, so that the necessity of retraveling the same ground to the entry would be avoided. An excellent place for an exit was discovered, only a little blasting being necessary to find open air. Wind cave already has ninety-seven miles of explored passages.

Forest Fires in Pennsylvania.

Dubois, Pa., May 13.—Fierce forest fires are now raging throughout Clearfield, Elk and Jefferson counties. The dry underbrush and a lack of verdure facilitates the spread. The saw mill of the Portland Lumber company in Elk county, one of the largest in the state, was burned to the ground this morning. The lumber yard was saved. Several towns are in danger.

Supposed to Be Lost.

St. John's, N. F., May 13. — Two sealing vessels belonging to Bonne Bay are supposed to have been lost in the Straits of Belle Isle. The crews of the vessels aggregate in number forty men. This port is again blockaded with ice and several steamers, some with mails and passengers, are waiting outside for the ice to break.

Editor of Puck Dead.

New York, May 13.—H. C. Bunner, editor of Puck, died to-day of consumption at his home in Nutley, N. J.

TWO MORE CAUGHT.

Spaniards Make Another Capture of Americans.

Havana, May 13.—It was definitely announced to-day that the men who were captured on board the Competitor were tried Friday last. Admiral Navarro, in conformity with the petition of the prosecutor and sentence of the naval tribunal, approved and signed the sentences of death imposed upon the filibusters. The announcement is supplemented by the statement that, in view of the high state considerations the cases of the filibusters have been referred for final decision to the supreme tribunal of war and marine.

Two alleged filibusters, both citizens of the United States and said to have formed part of the Competitor expedition, have arrived here in custody from Behia Mondo. They were captured by the local guerrillas of Palma some time after the landing. The steamer Triton has brought here a small boat which was found abandoned on the coast by the mayor of Berraces. The boat is believed to have belonged to a small expedition which has landed in the vicinity of the spot where the Competitor was sighted and captured.

It Means Delay.

Washington, May 13.—In the Competitor case it can be authoritatively stated that at the request of the United States the Spanish government will postpone execution of the death sentences upon American citizens until the views of the United States respecting the application to their cases of the treaty of 1795, and the protocol of 177, can be presented and considered. The announcement of the postponement of the executions means a delay of some weeks at least, and that the matter will be taken up by the diplomatic representatives of the United States and of Spain and be made the subject of the exchange of correspondence on the interpretation to be given the treaty provisions between the two nations. Meanwhile, the effect will be to allay popular excitement both here and in Spain.

Weyler's Complaint.

Madrid, May 13.—The Spanish premier, Senor Canovas del Castillo, and the United States minister to Spain, Hannis Taylor, had a conference, the result of which is not known. It is reported that Capt. Gen. Weyler has cabled the Spanish government that it is impossible for him to proceed with the war as he should, as the Spanish authorities at every moment are hampered by the "irritating meddling of America in Cuban affairs." It is understood that the United States government has presented fresh claims for heavy indemnities through losses on sugar plantations belonging to Americans, which have been burned by the insurgents. It is expected that these demands will lead to further complications.

FOR FREE COINAGE.

Montana Republicans Hold Their State Convention.

Butte, Mont., May 13. — The first in the Republican convention was over the contesting delegations from Granite county. The convention by a vote of 102 to 139 seated the anti-A. P. A's. The platform contains the following declaration on the silver question:

"We reiterate our faith in the great Republican principles of bimetallism, protection and reciprocity, announcing as our understanding of bimetallism the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1 independently by the United States. We maintain that these three cardinal principles of Republican faith should be the first consideration of the congress of the United States and that ample legislation be enacted upon these subjects. We call the attention of reflecting men to the recent development of productive and manufacturing enterprises in China, Japan and other silver using countries, and submit that the competition with which we are thus menaced imperatively demands the restoration of silver to its ancient money function, as a means of equalizing the difference in exchange and the establishment of a protective tariff policy as a necessary measure of equalizing the difference in wages and cost of living.

"We condemn as un-Republican and un-statesmanlike the action of those Republicans in congress who, in defiance of Republican traditions, rushed to the aid of the Democratic administration and a Democratic majority in congress in securing the unconstitutional repeal of the Sherman law, and we assert that the repeal of that law has utterly failed to accomplish a single beneficent result predicted by the enemies of silver."

Charles J. Johnson of Silver Bow offered a subresolution that the delegates to St. Louis walk out of the convention if nothing is done for silver. The resolution was laid on the table.

Senators Carter and Mantle and Congressman Hartman were nominated by acclamation as delegates to St. Louis. Thomas G. Marshall, J. W. Strevelle and Alexander Metzel were chosen as the other three delegates. Marshall was a Democrat until a year ago.

Charged With Forgery.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 13. — A well dressed man, giving the name of J. F. Nimemich and claiming St. Paul as his home, was arraigned to-day on the charge of forgery. He waived examination and was remanded to jail. He had passed two forged checks, one for $20 and the other for $25, on two dry goods stores here. The checks were drawn on a Chippewa Falls bank. Nimomich says that he has a wife and child in St. Paul, but the authorities do not believe it. He weighs about 200 pounds, is six feet tall and wears gold spectacles. His real name is not known. It is believed he is wanted for forgery in Oshkosh also.

His Good Name Restored.

Dickinson, N. D., May 13.—Perhaps the most important criminal case tried in the district is that which resulted to-day in the acquittal of Horace F. Merrill, a well-to-do sheep man, who was charged with killing cattle. Two large cattle companies were interested in the prosecution. The state's witnesses proved to be worthless characters, one of whom is wanted at Fort Buford for stealing government property. Mr. Merrill bears a good reputation and the jury's verdict is universally satisfactory.

SPANIARDS ANGRY

THE COMPETITOR AFFAIR CAUSES EXCITEMENT IN SPAIN.

There Was Great Rejoicing When the Filibusters Were Captured, but the Spaniards Fear That the United States Will Not Permit the Americans in the Party to Be Executed.

Madrid, May 12. — There are evidences of growing popular excitement in Spain over the attitude of the United States government toward the question of the filibusters captured on board the Competitor. The riots and outbreaks of popular hatred toward the United States at the time of the passage in congress of the resolutions favoring the recognition of the Cubans as belligerents have not been forgotten, and the sentiments which caused them are but smouldering. The Spanish government has on all possible occasions expressed its appreciation of and satisfaction with the efforts made by the United States government to prevent as far as lay in its power the giving of unlawful aid to the Cuban insurgents by citizens of the United States. But the widespread sympathy felt for the insurgents in the United States is well recognized by the Spanish people, and the news of expeditions from the United States landed from time to time in Cuba creates intense irritation. The news of the capture of the men on the Competitor was received with great satisfaction and rejoicing. It was felt to be the first opportunity that had been offered to make an example of those engaged in feeding the insurrection. The popular demand for their execution is general and is likely to become vociferous. Little account is taken of the refined questions of treaty interpretation involved in the protest of the United States government against the execution of the sentences. The action of the United States is regarded rather as an expression of sympathy with the insurrection, and there will be a strong popular clamor to disregard it.

Sentenced to Death.

Havana, May 12.—The Spanish government has been asked to approve the sentences of death passed by a court martial upon the men captured on the Competitor on a charge of piracy and rebellion. The men sentenced are Alfredo Laborde, said to be the leader of the party and claiming American citizenship; Dr. Elias Bedia, also claiming American citizenship; William Gilden, said to be a British subject; John Melton, a native of Kansas, and Teodoro Mata. This places the fate of the men in the hands of the authorities at Madrid, and insures that they will not be executed without an order from the Spanish government.

James Creelman, correspondent of the New York World, and Frederick W. Lawrence, correspondent of the New York Journal, who were ordered by the authorities to leave the island for having sent dispatches to their papers offensive to the government, sailed for New York to-day on board the Ward line steamship Seguranca.

It is known that the British consul is interested in behalf of the Competitor's captives sentenced to death. He invokes clemency for the prisoners. This action of the British government in the case has caused a sensation here, and it has been the topic of comment to-day by all social classes in the community. It would be difficult to say from any admissions made in official circles what effect this new development will have in the case. There is a marked absence of irritability manifested in the comments on the subjects and the action of the British official seems to be taken in very good part. It is pointed out that the intervention of the British consul is couched in different form from that of the United States consulate, and is, in fact, expressed in very friendly terms, invoking the clemency of the Cuban authorities. The question of the execution of the captives of the Competitor is recognized to be one of the most important which has occurred since the insurrection broke out. Now that the question has been referred to the government at Madrid the situation here has quieted down, though there is no cessation of interest and discussion of the question. The attitude of the public is rather one of waiting on the resolution of the Madrid government. The waiting is attended by much impatience and no little anxiety.

Executions Delayed.

London, May 12.—The Madrid correspondent of the Standard says: "Senor Canovas del Castillo has publicly stated that America has not protested against Spain's right to punish filibusters, but only against the summary trial. American citizens are entitled to be tried in the civil courts under the treaties of 1795 and 1877. The Spanish government is willing to consider the demand, and has cabled Capt. Gen. Weyler to delay the executions pending the result of negotiations which are actively proceeding between Washington and Madrid to define the interpretation of the aforesaid treaties.

The Oregon Is a Dandy.

Santa Barbara, Cal., May 12.—The battleship Oregon, the official trial of which will be made this week, is the queen of her class. She arrived here from San Francisco this morning and her behavior on the trip caused Irving M. Scott, her builder, to express the belief that on her official trial she will beat the record of her sister ship, the Massachusetts. On the trip down the coast the Oregon made fifteen or eighteen miles at the rate of 16.34 knots an hour.

Quiet in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, May 12. — Expressed fears of disturbances, growing out of the street railway strike, were unfounded. The strikers, nearly 1,000 in number, paraded the streets in the morning, and in the afternoon a committee of the union stated its case to the state board of arbitration. To-morrow the company will be heard. The strike, however, is believed to be practically over. The company has all the men it requires to operate its cars and refuses to treat with the strikers in any way.

RUSH TO RED LAKE.

There Are Many People Who Want Good Lands.

Fosston, Minn., May 12.—As the day approaches for the opening of the Red Lake reservation to settlement there is considerable activity manifested among the farmers along the western line. Most of them have eyes on choice tracts for themselves or some friend or relative. Being familiar with the country, it is the expectation of the farmer to be able to outfoot the tenderfoot, and come in a few minutes ahead in the race for the best lands which lie close to the line. At O'Neil's place on Lost river, twenty miles north of Fosston, there is said to be a small village of some seventy or eighty tents, occupied by men intending to make the grand rush, and with them are some of the fleetest horses to be found in this section of the country. Fleet horses are in demand now, and some of the Iowa and Southern Minnesota people have disposed of stock of that sort at good prices. Up near the line offers are freely made of $10, $20 and even $30 for the use of a fast nag on the opening day. To-day Fosston is almost deserted of its young men and long-legged roadsters. A brigade has left for the line in order to get a satisfactory station from which to make the run. On the banks of Lost river in the last few days some sooners have erected log houses on the reserve, but there are plenty of men who will make the rush for them and contest the right of the builders when they get to the land office. The weather has been changed to spring sunshine, and practically all the covered wagons in town yesterday have been unable to withstand the temptation, and have gone toward the line in spite of the mud and water.

FINANCE THE MAIN ISSUE.

Chairman Harrity Discusses the Election.

St. Paul, May 12. — W. F. Harrity, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and Col. Jay Grif Prather, national committeeman from Missouri, spent yesterday in St. Paul. They were the guests of Michael Doran at the Ryan. The gentlemen spent the day in driving about St. Paul and Minneapolis and visited the prominent members of their party in both cities. Last evening they were joined by a party of Missourians and left for Superior. They will have a week's fishing for trout on the Brule in Northern Wisconsin, and there they will find Chris O'Brien of St. Paul, and, possibly, Senator Vilas of Wisconsin and National Committeeman Wall of Milwaukee. In an interview Mr. Harrity said that finances would be the main issue of the campaign and that if the Democrats nominated the right kind of a man they would win. He did not know whether Mr. Cleveland would be a candidate and said that Senator Vilas of Wisconsin is a possibility.

CHECK THAT NEVER CAME.

Irving's Donation for the Hinckley Monument.

Minneapolis, May 12.—An interesting complication has arisen over the Hinckley forest fire. Immediately after the fire Henry Irving, the English actor, offered a contribution of $500 to the relief fund. The offer came to Gov. Peck of Wisconsin, who replied that no relief was needed, and the money was returned to Mr. Irving. Recently Secretary Hart and Tams Bixby concluded that Mr. Irving might be willing to contribute the money for a monument to those who lost their lives in the fire. The request was made to Mr. Bram Stoker, Irving's secretary, who replied that Mr. Irving was willing to contribute. Nothing more was heard of the matter until an inquiry came from Mr. Stoker asking why the receipt of $500 was not acknowledged. Nothing further has developed in regard to the matter. It is believed Mr. Irving sent the money, but that it miscarried in some way.

N. P.'s Red Lake Excursion.

St. Paul, May 12.—Charles S. Fee, general manager and ticket agent of the Northern Pacific, issued a circular yesterday announcing excursion rates on May 15 to Red Lake reservation points. These rates are made for the benefit of the reservation land hunters and are as follows: From St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and West Superior to Crookston, the United States land office and Red Lake Falls, $11.75; from Ashland, Wis., $14.40. These tickets will be sold on May 12 and 13. The Crookston tickets will be good for continuous passage each way to May 30, and the Red Lake Falls ticket for two days in each direction, and stopover of one day at Crookston will be allowed in each direction, with final limit May 30.

Prof. Ferree Dead.

New Paynesville, Minn., May 11.—Prof. J. W. Ferree, aged eighty-two, died very suddenly of apoplexy yesterday. He was a very robust old man, having sawed wood the evening before with his son on a wager. He had held chairs in several Eastern colleges and had also written text books on mathematics.

Would Run His Own Bar.

Litchfield, Minn., May 12.—In a saloon brawl Thomas Wandok struck Peter Johnson on the head with a club. Johnson is still unconscious, and may die. Wandok is proprietor of the saloon, and claims Johnson tried to run his bar.

Drowned in the Minnesota.

Henderson, Minn., May 12.—Mrs. A. F. Hilgedick, wife of a prominent farmer of Faxon township, Sibley county, was drowned in the Minnesota river, together with her small son, whom she attempted to save.

Old Settler Dies.

St. Paul, May 12.—James A. Case, the well known civil engineer and old settler in St. Paul, died at his home, corner of Seventh and Pine streets, aged seventy-three years. Mr. Case was a cousin of the late Judge Wilkin, and came to St. Paul from New York State in 1853.

His Last Swim.

St. Paul, May 12.—Louis Green, an eleven-year-old colored boy, was drowned while bathing in the Mississippi yesterday.

SALES OF STATE LANDS.

Lands in Eleven Minnesota Counties to Be Sold in June.

St. Paul, May 10.—The sale of state lands so far this spring have been very satisfactory. Tracts were disposed of in Dakota county along the river at $20 per acre. The sales have been delayed on account of the wet weather, which has prevented the appraisers from viewing the lands and running the necessary surveys. The amount of land sold and to be sold this spring is not very large. The heaviest sales will be made this fall. The remaining sales in June will be conducted in eleven counties, as follows: Todd, Long Prairie, Thursday, June 11; Hubbard, Park Rapids, Friday, June 12; Becker, Detroit, Tuesday, June 15; Clay, Moorhead, Wednesday, June 16; Wilkin, Breckinridge, Thursday, June 17; Otter Tail, Fergus Falls, Friday, June 18; Norman, Ada, Monday, June 21; Polk, Crookston, Tuesday, June 22; Marshall, Warren, Wednesday, June 23; Kittson, Hallock, Thursday, June 24; Rosseau, Rosseau, Friday, June 25.

COUNTY SEAT FIGHT.

The Renville Affair Is in the Courts Again.

Redwood Falls, Minn., May 10.—In the district court an argument was heard on the return of the writ of mandamus against the clerk of court of Renville county, requiring him to remove his office and records from Olivia to Beaver Falls or show cause why he should not remove these. The writ in question was issued from the district court of Renville county May 6. E. E. Cook, clerk of court of Renville county, presented as reasons that Olivia was now the county seat; that it had been given Olivia by the district court, and that at Beaver Falls there are no suitable buildings. The court took the case under advisement. A crowd of citizens from Beaver Falls and Olivia are here and excitement runs very high.

SOONERS WARNED.

They Are Told to Get Off the Red Lake Reservation.

Washington, May 10.—Commissioner Lamoreux is determined that he will do all in his power to keep sooners off the Red Lake reservation, and with that end in view sent the following telegram to the register and receiver of the Crookston land office:

"Have Special Agent Naff notify all persons who have gone on the agricultural lands opened on the 15th to vacate and move off said lands before the day of opening. Those refusing will jeopardise their rights as settlers and claimants under the homestead law."

Weekly Crop Bulletin.

Minneapolis, May 9.—The week has been wet and warm. All seed in the ground germinates rapidly, but to insure good stooling, cooler weather is needed. But little progress has been made in seeding or plowing and but one report mentions any corn as having been planted.

In the Red River valley no seeding to amount to anything has been done north of Crookston, and the fields are very wet and muddy. In the central section of the state seeding is about half done, gardening has begun and the crops already in are making rapid growth, in the south third, wheat, oats, and barley are mostly in, some flax sown, and potatoes planted, while preparing the land for corn is general.

All reports regarding fruit are favorable; the buds are swelling and early plums are blossoming abundantly. Cattle are generally on pasture in south portion of the state and are able to get a fair living on bottom lands in central portion, but, in the extreme north the grass has only just started. The damaging features of the week were the heavy rains in the Red River valley, which have delayed seeding so that it is feared there will not be time enough to finish this work, until it is too late to insure maturity.

Attorney General May Sue.

St. Paul, May 10. — The American Savings and Loan Association of Minneapolis, which concern has been dragged through the courts of Hennepin county for the past seven years, received its checkmate to-day, when the supreme court, by Chief Justice Start, handed down its decision denying the demurrer interposed to the complaint, or rather affirming the ruling of the district court to that effect. The decision clearly sets forth the rights and duties of the attorney general in such cases, and it gives to the people, by their proper legal representative, the sovereign power to interfere and prevent corporations from doing business contrary to law.

The Pythian Brigade.

Minneapolis, May 10.—The Pythian demonstration to be held here next September received a decided boom to-day in the fifth annual assembly of the Minnesota brigade of the Knights of Pythias, held in their hall in Masonic temple. The idea of the encampment found unanimous favor, and pledges were made of untiring support.

Mr. Fullerton Divorced.

Duluth, May 10. — S. F. Fullerton, executive agent of the state fish and game commission, has been granted a divorce on the ground of desertion. His wife resided in Ontario and has always refused to live here. She made no appearance at the hearing.

May Go Up for Life.

Des Moines, May 10. — The jury in the case of H. R. Dawson, for shooting his son-in-law, Walter Scott, returned a verdict of murder in the second degree. The least punishment is ten years' imprisonment, and it may be for life.

Drunk and Dead.

Baraboo, Wis., May 10—An unknown man was run over and killed by a freight train near Oregon this afternoon. The man was drunk and drove his horse down the main track. He was caught in the bridge and run over. The carriage was splintered and the horse and man both killed.

Cubans Defeated.

Madrid, May 10—Advices have been received from Havana that the Spanish have inflicted a severe defeat upon Maceo's forces.

Red Lake Reservation to be opened to Settlement May 15th 1896 at 9 o'clock A. M.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—o—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - - MINNESOTA

DR. H. GRUNDY

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

☞ Messages from the surrounding towns and country promptly attended to.

Office in Drug Store.

THIEF RIVER FALLS. MINNESOTA.

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : :

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKAND
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCHEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 13, 1896.

EDITORIAL COLUMN.

"Saterlee's Journal" an administration sheet, published at Red Lake Falls, typographically is a bright, clean paper, and in a mechanical point of view cannot be complained of. Politically, it is in favor of the Jew bankers and Dave Clough, and not in touch with the producing classes where it is published. Saterlee carries a Clough chip on both shoulders and invites everybody to knock them off, and is in love with himself because he and the paper are named alike. We can't accommodate you just now Brother S., its too early our crops are not in yet, besides we make it a rule never to attack an enemy until he threatens us. If your ambitions master is nominated to succeed himself the SPECTATOR is liable to pay some little attention to his candidacy, the platform of the party nominating him and to his supporter. Until then you must console yourself with the idea that you are one of the immortal pharisees whose clamors for SOUND MONEY are sinking the nation you profess to love to a condition of want and industrial slavery. We dont blame you because the faculty of using reason was denied you; but you are blamable for permitting such puerile trash to appear in your paper,—if you cant discriminate (and there's some warrants for believing you incompetent) get some fellow to do it for you. You must not put too much confidence in the editorials sent you from Wall Street, they are cheap and take a heavy burden from an editor's shoulders, but then they are not always just what your readers want and will not tend to build up a circulation. The great dalies too, are not always to be trusted. All, or nearly all, are owned or controlled by Wall Street, where your editorials are written, and all reflect the ideas of their masters, same as you do. Throw off the collar Bro. S. and be a man and we'll shake.

The editor does not believe that taxes will be reduced this year, nor will the rate of interest be lowered to help the farmer out during these times of low prices of produce and scarcity of money. We should now be in the enjoyment of a protective tariff on potatoes, straw, marsh hay and barley screenings if Senators Teller, Mantle, Carter, Dubois, Shoup and Cameron had not played the devil with the little scheme of the McKinley managers. There are no words too strong nor expressions too sweeping to express the gold bugs hatred of these men, who, to give the farmer some help that would be felt by way of increasing the amount of money in circulation and thereby increasing the price of his staple products, were doing what they believed to be their duty? We think so.

The policy of the republican leaders is to "whip in" every body that will take the lash without "hollerin" and heap upon the backs of those who object to lash all the billingsgate and vile and cutting epithets that their fertile, well fed imaginations can invent. Will such a course win? Time will answer and we predict, that as soon as the conventions are over and all danger of lightening striking any of the political barkises is gone, we shall see such a change in the political horoscope that all of us may read it without help.

Denver Road.—Fine lithographs of the Ohio Napoleon are for sale at Denver book stores. We notice they are labeled "McKinley for Prosperity." The people who seem to take the most interest in these pictures are the people who voted for "Cleveland and Prosperity" in 1884, then tried "Harrison and Prosperity" in 1888 and then tried another dose of "Cleveland and Prosperity" to top off with. Four years of McKinley prosperity is needed badly as an object lesson for the feeble-minded who live on air, eat scenery and wear hardly clothes enough to dust a fiddle or flag a hand car. By all means stick to your old party and vote it straight. Don't think if you can help it—for thinking with the head is wearing. Better wait another four years and do your prosperity thinking with your stomach. Avoid doing anything that will warrant your office holding neighbor in calling you an anarchist. Vote your old ticket "just once more."

The claim will be made next fall that we ought to try the G. O. P. once more, give them another chance and see if they don't give us the best of times ever seen. Usually when a fellow tells such improbable lies we suspect him, and catch him at it, but in politics, especially with the followers of McKinley, there's no use trying to catch them in it, they have no love for truth and no fear of being detected in falsehood, and any soft-handed, softer-headed fellow of the delectable gang peddles the outrageous improbable lies prepared for his use by their leaders without so much as a thought of its being true or false. Until these tricksters are punished by defeat, there can be no hope of better times, and men will continue to think with their stomachs.

To the People's party Precinct Committees of Polk County.

The People's Party central committee of Polk county earnestly ask you to put forth your best efforts towards securing honest, intelligent, and sober delegates to represent you in the forthcoming county convention, men whom you recognize as unwavering in their loyalty to the principles of the People's Party, and who are desirous of promoting the welfare of Polk county, remembering that the work of the convention will reflect the character of the delegates who compose it.

The following is a condensed explanation of the primary law of 1895, prepared for your guidance. You are urged to study it carefully, and see that your primary election is conducted accordingly.

As indicated in the published call, the People's party county convention, for the nomination of county officers, will be held on the 18th of June, 1896, and the date for holding the primaries for the election of delegates, is fixed for the 11th day of the same month, the polls to be opened at 2 o'clock p. m., of said day, and to remain open two hours.

At least six days before the primary election, the call for same must be posted in three public places in the precinct.

The primaries are to be called to order by the chairman, or secretary of the precinct committee, or in their absence, by some qualified voter of the party.

The chairman, clerk of election, and two judges as to be chosen by a viva voce vote by voters of the party present.

All delegates to the convention must be elected by ballot. Each qualified elector at such primary shall place on his ballot, which can be either written or printed, the same number of names as the precinct is entitled to in the convention. A ballot is void if it contains more names than such precinct is entitled to as delegates. The persons receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected, and a plurality shall elect.

No person shall be permitted to vote at such primary, unless it is positively known that at the last general election he affiliated with the People's party, or unless he makes oath that he has united with the party since the last general election, and the judges are to determine as to the truth of such statements and receive or reject his vote.

No person is qualified to vote at a primary election, unless he has resided in the precinct for not less than thirty days preceeding such election.

It is the duty of the chairman of the primary to administer the oath of office to the judges and clerks, and to any voter when vote is challenged. The clerk shall keep a record of the proceedings, and he is authorized to administer the oath of office to the chairman. The form of oath to be administered to the officers of the primary is the same as that provided by law to be used at a general election.

The law makes it the duty of the judges to receive the votes, and to announce the name and address of every voter before he is permitted to cast his vote. If a vote is challenged, the judges shall decline to receive the same, until the voter makes oath, that he is qualified under the law governing primary elections. If because of sickness or other reasons satisfactory to the judges the voter did not vote at the last general election, the judges shall receive his vote, provided he makes oath that he affiliates with the People's party.

When the polls are closed, the judges shall count the votes and report the same to the chairman, who shall announce the result, and declare elected such candidates for delegates as shall have received a plurality of the votes cast.

The chairman and clerk shall furnish the delegates elected with proper credentials, certifying their election, and shall also furnish the chairman of the county central committee a list of the names and places of residence of the electors voting in said primary election.

The law provides that no proxy can be given by any delegate failing to serve, but the vacancy thus made shall be filled by the delegation by the selection of some qualified elector residing in the same election district. In case any delegation fails to serve, the convention to which such delegation has been elected shall choose qualified electors, if such be present at said convention, residing in the same election district, from which said delegation was chosen, to act in lieu thereof. In case no qualified elector of the election district represented by the delegation is present to fill the vacancy caused by the failure of one or more delegates to serve, then the delegates present shall have the right to cast the full vote of the delegation.

A violation of the law is made a misdemeanor, and punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five, nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment for not less than thirty days, and not exceeding six months.

By order of County Committee,

ARNY GRUNDYSEN,
Chairman.

JOHN GLEASON,
Secretary.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

RICH DISCOVERIES OF GOLD.

At Cripple Creek, Colo., and elsewhere, are being made daily, and the production for 1896 will be the largest ever known, estimated at Two Hundred Million Dollars. Cripple Creek alone is producing over One Million Dollars a month, and steadily increasing. Mining Stocks are advancing in price more rapidly than any other Stocks, and many pay dividends of 35 to 50 per cent. They offer the best opportunity to make a large profit on a small investment.

JOHN J. TALLMAN & Co., 15 Broadway, New York, are financial agents for the Prudential Gold Mining Co. and others in the famous Cripple Creek district. They will send you free interesting particulars of the Mining Companies they represent also their book on speculation in Stocks, Grain and Cotton, containing many new and important features.

Send for these book at once if you are interested in any form of speculation or investments. They may prove profitable to you.

87-5

M. Brothun dropped off the north-bound train last Wednesday evening and spent the night in the city. Since leaving here last fall, Mr. Bothun has been over considerable territory. He has visited Alberta and Vancouver, Victoria and other British Columbia points; also Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane and Idaho points. He found no place in which he felt satisfied to locate. We were given to understand that he would have been just as well satisfied if he had not left Reynolds. He will probably go into business at Thief River Falls or St. Hilaire.—Reynolds (N. D.) Enterprise.

LAID A SOLDIER'S GHOST.

A Slender Thread Unraveled the Mystery of Clanking Chains.

I was a young and timid girl, but a few months married, when my husband, a marine officer, was ordered to the marine barracks at Boston. We had quite pleasant quarters and good friends around us, who would often beguile the evening hour with song and story. I had been interested in hearing of a soldier, arrested for some offense, who had put an end to his life to escape his merited but dreaded punishment and whose ghost was said often to haunt the barracks and rattle a chain as he passed back and forth in his rounds.

One gloomy evening toward bedtime my husband had to visit the sentinels, and I, being left alone, went to my bureau to prepare for retiring. Opening the top drawer, I took out my brush and comb, put my hair into plaits for the following day's adornment, humming a gay air in the lightness of my heart, when a curious noise—and very near me—made me start and listen. My song turned to silence. Not a sound.

Again I moved and began my preparations for the night. A rumbling, rattling sound again met my ear and made my heart almost cease to beat in my terror, for this time there could be no mistake as to the noise and its nearness. Yet the instant I stood still—perfect silence. I feared to look around. No one was within call, and the hour was late. So, trying to reason away my terror and believe the noise was outdoors, I moved a few steps away.

Louder, more prolonged, the rattling seemed to follow me as I rushed for the door, which, to my joy, at that moment opened, and I fell into my husband's arms, almost fainting.

"The chain the soldier drags!" I cried. "I have heard it in this room."

"Nonsense," said my lord and master. "You have become alarmed at being alone and imagined your terrors."

But as I withdrew from his arms the same fearful sound, distinct and within the room, was heard by us both.

"Sit still, my dear, and let me fathom this mystery," said my husband, placing me in an easy chair. He looked puzzled and no longer smiled at my fears.

"Do not leave me," I cried and clung closely to his arm.

"Only to search the room and dispel your dread," he answered. So, tenderly displacing my hands, he walked across to a divan and examined underneath and behind its drapery. Nothing there and perfect quiet. He again crossed the room to a large bookcase which stood in front of a closed door, and as he did so, clear and continued, the weird, strange sound disturbed the silence of the room.

"This is strange surely and must be sifted to the bottom," continued my husband, now almost as excited as I was. "But I must free my foot of this string which has caught my ankle ere I look farther." Stooping down, he unwound some thread from about his foot, the rumbling now rising, now ceasing, as he did so and seeming to come from the direction of my bureau. So to it he hastened, the thread still in his hand, and opening the top drawer discovered—what say you, my readers? A spool of thread, the end of which had caught in my hand and unknowingly braided in my hair. So every motion set the spool rolling in an almost empty drawer, and I had created my own ghost. Needless to say I also laid him, and after a good laugh slept the sleep of the unhaunted. Having unraveled the mystery, given you the thread of the story and my hairbreadth escape, I bid you farewell.—Washington Post.

The Distinctive Feature.

He was from the eastern shore of Maryland, and he spoke feelingly of his home and its surroundings.

"Look at the Chesapeake bay, suh!" he exclaimed. "Theh's a body of watah foh you. Famed in history and celebrated in aht, it smiles upon the multitude from the silent canvas and speaks to the world from the printed page."

"Yes, it is very interesting. What, in your opinion, is the most remarkable thing about the Chesapeake bay?"

"The most remahkable thing about the Chesapeake bay?" he repeated reflectively. "Well, suh, to my mind the most remahkable thing about the Chesapeake bay is the fact that theh are any ducks left in it."—Washington Star.

A Toothpick Town.

Only one characteristic distinguishes the little village of Strong, Me., from the thousands of others that are scattered all over New England. That is the peculiar industry which serves to support the entire community. Strong is famous for nothing but toothpicks, but it is known in the trade as the place from which come the majority of the toothpicks that are used in the United States.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.	Price per Acre.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NENE of 23	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " 2	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.55 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.00
NW NE of 22	5.50 to 6.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	4.50 to 6.00
10 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	5.00
2 forties in 33	6.1
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	8.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	8.50 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to
H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,

H. KLAUSER, Prop.

Litchfield, Minn.

41-52

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

THE FAMOUS

SUMARITAN

Rye Whisky

Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.

FOR SALE BY

BRINK BROS.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
COUNTY OF POLK

District Court, Fourteenth Judicial Dist.

Evelyn Nowby, plaintiff, vs. Edwin Nowby, defendant.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in this action, which complaint is on file in the office of the Clerk of the District Court in and for said county, and to serve a copy of your answer on the undersigned at the office of R. J. Montague, in the City of Crookston in said county, within thirty days after the service of this summons on you, exclusive of the day of the service thereof, and in case you fail to answer within the time required by law, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated May first, 1896.

R. J. MONTAGUE, Plaintiff's Atty.
Crookston, Minn.

43-45

Red-River-Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.

Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

M. Z. EPPERSON

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry. : : : : : :

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOHLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - - Minnesota

This is Easy Enough!

Any of my customers will be presented with a life like portrait free of charge by presenting their picture at my store. : : : : : : : : :

M. A. HALL. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

St. Hilaire the Nearest point to the Best Agricultural Lands on The Reservation.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

J.S. BREDENBECK

The Watchmaker

AND JEWELER.

Repairing of Watches and Clocks a Specialty
Engraving neatly done.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞ Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

Harness....

☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing, call on

C. A. SKEIE,

West Broadway. St. Hilaire, Minn.

Blacksmith!

☞ Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, Etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL. St. Hilaire, Minn.

M. E. BJERK

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - MINNESOTA

U.S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston, Minn., April 1st 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U.S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on May 14th 1896, viz:

Osel Edvin Crown, Hd No. 14121, for the sw¼ sec. 28, tp 152 N. range 45 W.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Adolph Nelson of Bray, Minn., and Emil Larson, Alfred Lunquist, L. S Dalird, of Wylie, Minnesota.

36-41. T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

Ask Your Dealer For

FEATHERBONE

TRADE MARK

WHIPS.

FEATHERBONE is made from Enameled Quills—nature's own toughest, and strongest elastic material. Best wearing whips made for 35c, 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50. All styles for Buggy, Cart, Trot, Team and Riding. Be sure and ask for a FEATHERBONE.

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	50c	Butter	8@10c
Oats	12c	Eggs	8c
Barley	11c	Beans (pr bu)	$1 50
Flax	72c	Potatoes "	12½

LOCAL NEWS.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

Daily train! That sounds all right.

Considerable wheat was marketed on Monday.

Judge Ives took a run up from Crookston to-day.

Felix Fournet of Crookston called on his customers Monday.

Will Sorsoleil received another car load of lumber Monday.

A large acreage of flax will be sown in this vicinity this season.

The skeleton of the large Epperson building is up—its a monster.

BORN:—To Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoff on Monday, May 11th 1896, a daughter.

Two daily passenger trains on the St. Hilaire branch—that's what we are getting now.

Thos. Harris, one of Crookston's best aldermen, was looking the village over last Friday.

M. E. Bjerk has had the interior of his sample rooms papered and otherwise improved.

—Hog millet, Buck-wheat and Mansbury barley seed for sale by S. M. Dainard, St. Hilaire, Minn.

The streets were smothed off with the aid of a harrow the first of the week. Mr. Patterson did the work.

The boom at Thief River Falls broke Monday night and in consequence, logs passed through here yesterday.

Max Ecriesson of St. Paul, a representative of a wholesale whiskey house was taking orders here last week.

W. A. Sorsoleil, one of the best boat builders in the state, has contracts for at least half a dozen row and sail boats.

Grand Forks will pave their principle streets with brick or asphalt—so the B. M. U. determinad at their last meeting.

There is an over production of mosquitoes already—what will it be in a month from now? especially when fishing.

Mike Willmas moved his well drilling aperatus to the farm of W. A. Sorsoleil's yesterday, and will commence drilling at once.

A dance will be given at Brink's hall Friday evening. All are cordially invited to attend. Good music and good time assured.

Prairie schooners are lining up these days similar to a caravan of Dan Rice's twenty-five years ago. All headed for the reservation.

Nine young wolves were captured last week by our townsman E. Whaley. A neat sum realized, as they are worth five dollars per scalp.

E. M. Hoff passed around the Havannas Tuesday over the event of the young lady—no boy—which arrived at his home the 11th inst.

They say several county division petitions started out for signatures last Saturday. They haven't struck this neck o' the woods,—up to date.

A neat and attractive "ad" in one of our exchanges reads as follows: "Ten dozen parasols born in Philadelphia will be raised in Lansing this season."

The McIntosh Agricultural Society have decided to hold a mid-summer exhibition, and horse races and other sports will occur July 2nd, 3rd and 4th.

The difference between W. E. McKenzie, of the Crookston Times, and J. J. Hill of the Great Northern is $1,600. They will settle via the law-suit route.

J. A. Baker, proprietor of the Hotel Crookston, was right at home with his many friends here last Friday. Mr. Baker is an entertainer abroad as well as at home.

Owing to the high stage of water the race belonging to the Boom and Water Power Co., went out Saturday morning. No serious damage was done, and as soon as the river falls, a new and more substantial one will be built, which will cost in the neighborhood of $1,000.00.

5 cents will buy two packages of garden seeds at Hall's.

H. E. Ives went to Crookston to-day and will take a "course of sprouts" in his "Elkship" tomorrow. Harry will come back wearing the "Best People on Eearth" button.

E. J. Holmes, a former St. Hilairite, but now of Cannon Falls, arrived in the village to-day. Mr. Holmes will remain a few weeks looking after his business interests in this vicinity.

In another column will be found the advertisement of the Litchfield Woolen Mills. Parties wishing to exchange wool for goods, should read "ad" carefully and order goods you want.

Three college-bred youths from the McKinley state were amazed at seeing a pair of oxen in harness. They stood and looked in wonderment for a long time and then took for the reservation.

Attorney Steenerson, of Crookston, was in the village a few hours Monday making arrangements for an outing which Mr. Steenerson and family propose to make the first of next month.

Jake Thill, the beam balancer of the St. Anthony and Dakota Elevator at Wylie, made us a pleasant call Friday and wishing to keep posted on St. Hilaire's future and the news in general subscribed for the SPECTATOR.

Charley Brink has been taking several falls out of a pair of roller skates that were left at the SPECTATOR office for safe keeping, for many moons, as a relic of-by-gone days. They soaked up a can of printing office oil on Monday.

St. Hilaire now has a daily train; yes, better than that; twice a day, and speculation is rife as to how long it will last. Wonder if the bankers put in their oar after the long distance walk they made last week—at any rate good train service is coming our way all this week.

M. Lally, head push of the Red River Milling Co., of Crookston was here a few hours last Friday, and among other things, mentioned the fact that their new steam boat for towing logs across the Red lake would be completed by June 1st.

"Nothing is easier," said Julius Caesar, "than to ascribe the blame of an act to the dead." Perhaps that is why the Republicans find it so easy to ascribe the present condition of the country to the Democratic party.—Penny Press.

From present indications it appears that the People's Party vote in this county will be an exceedingly large one. The same report comes from Renville county and we expect to see Polk and Renville at the head of the People's Party majority list next fall.—Thief River Falls News.

"Bruno," the large New Foundland dog of E. M. Hoff's is experiencing all kinds of misfortunes. Last week he lost his fine 2½ pound clip—went down to the dam and was washed over and down thirty feet of rip-rapping—tried to cross over again and was drawn through the ninety foot sluice-way at the rate of sixty miles an hour or better—Bruno still lives.

W. A. Wilkins, of Crookston, was in the village last Friday interviewing some of the business men in regard to putting in a tow mill at this place. The business men have taken steps and will call a meeting of the farmers as soon as possible in order to find out how much flax will be put in this season, and if the acreage is sufficient to keep a mill running, no doubt a tow mill will be put up and completed this summer.

Weather report—Sunrise in the morning; rain at half-past seven, followed by showers; three acres of blue sky seen from the top of the court house at 10:30; run over by clouds from the east at 10:35; more rain at 11; 12 m. showers general in Walsh county; sun seen at Park River for fifteen minutes between 1 and 1:15—no injury done; man floating down the river on a red barn at 2 p. m., reports heavy rainstorms in the mountains, followed by bad colds; rainbow at 6:30 p. m.; rain all night—no pitchforks—just common cistern water.

* * *

A friend of mine owned a good horse for many years. He drove him through thick and thin, up hill and down, he drew this man and his chattles until he began to show certain sure signs of old age. In the morning he would go about his work like a pair of crutches, and in the evening he would lie down and eat his bedding rather than stand up and eat hay. Then the man sold the horse and the horse died. This was many years ago, but the horse is still drawing for the original owner and 12 per cent. per annum is the load pictured on the note, which is now worth as much as a span of young horses shod all 'round.—Hits and Mrs. in Grafton (N.D.) Record.

Will Celebrate.

The Valhall Society have postponed the 17th of May celebration until the 24th of this month, when they will celebrate the day at their hall near Mr. Engelstad's place in the town of Rocksbury. John L. Erichson, of Crookston, will deliver an address in Norwegian. The varied program will wind up with a dance. Exercises will commence at 1:00 o'clock p. m. Everybody cordially invited. Admission free.

Mr. Erickson will deliver a lecture on the subject of "The Religious Demands of the Age" on the evening of the 23rd of this month, commencing at 8 o'clock p. m., at the above mentioned place. He will also organize a People's Party League. Come one, come all. Admission free. H. NORLAND.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

LOTS OF TIME.

Plenty of the very best lands can be had thirty days from now.

The much talked of and widely advertised Red Lake Indian reservation will be opened at promptly 9:00 o'clock a. m., day after tomorrow.

The wet weather and usually bad roads have kept back a great many prospective settlers as well as frightened off a great many more who did venture on the lands. So, contrary to the general opinion there will be no rush and scramble, such as there was on the Oklahoma and Sisseton reservations.

To-day a great deal of the best lands are either partly submerged by water or so situated that they cannot be reached. This is owing to the unprecedented fall of rain in this locality.

Another week of this dry weather will undoubtedly make the roads passable so that any part of the reservation may be visited and the lands inspected to a better advantage than heretofore. Fully one-half of the good agricultural lands of the reservation will not be filed upon for some time after the opening so that land seekers coming after that time will have no trouble in finding land of their choice.

A great many homeseekers may after looking it carefully over, become dissatisfied with the reservation. Married men sometimes dislike to take their families in a wild unsettled country from schools and churches and where the work of building up a home for them is one of endless hardships and privations.

To these then, we will say, that we are prepared to offer some of the choicest bargains in farm lands to be had anywhere in the Northwest. Improved farms near schools and churches may be bought at prices ranging from $3.00 per acre up, at terms to suit purchaser.

Married men will do well to bear these facts in mind before making up their minds about leaving the country.

MARRIED.

Fred Eikhoff, our popular hardware merchant, and Miss Elizabeth Sorsoleil took the train for Crookston Monday without bidding adieu to friends here, and many were the conjectures as to their motives. All doubts were satisfied Wednesday when the returned and gave out the glad tidings to their friends that they were married. The ceremony was performed by Judge McLean last Tuesday, May 5th 1896. Mr. and Mrs. Eikhoff are well and favorably known here where they have resided for some time. The SPECTATOR wishes them a long and happy journey through life.

Alfred Dainard, aged 58, and Maria N. Cole, aged 45, were married at Crookston May 7th 1896, by Rev. F. N. Frazer. The groom is the favorably known manager of the St. Hilaire meat market having acted in that capacity for several years, and has made many friends by his honest and square dealings. The bride comes from Thief River Falls where she leaves a host of friends who are sorry to loose her from their society; but their loss is our gain, and we welcome her in our society circles. The SPECTATOR extends congratulations.

$250,000 This is The Amount the Rail-Roads will Ask of The County.

From the Crookston Tribune.

An evening session of the railroad directors was held last night (Thursday) and an understanding arrived at as far as the amount of bonds to be asked of Polk county is concerned.

It was decided to ask the citizens of this county to vote bonds to the extent of $250,000, to be used as follows:—$100,000 to be given to the Farmer's railroad to assist it in building from Deer River to the eastern boundary, and $75,000 to each of the roads projected across the county, to assist in building said roads across the county.

The bonds are to run for twenty years and draw 4 per cent. interest. The conditions of their delivery are as follows:—$100,000 to be delivered to the Farmer's railroad upon its completion from Deer River to the eastern line of Polk county; $75,000 to be delivered to each of the other roads upon their completion across Polk county to the Red river.

The presidents and attorneys of the different roads were named as a committee to prepare propositions to submit to the people.

WYLIE ITEMS.

Seeding has begun now in earnest.

Miss Sadie Powers returned from Crookston last week.

A. Lepperd will put up a residence on his farm after seeding.

The east bound train was crowded with passengers Wednesday.

Chas. Bourden and Attorney Boughton did business here last week.

Mr. A. Nelson, the Bray postmaster, wife and little daughter, gave us a pleasant call last week.

Nelson J. Perron, of Red Lake Falls opened a term of school this week in the August Naplin district.

Miss Kate Powers of Thief River Falls opened a term of school in the "red school house" recently.

The latest report is that one of "the boys" is going to take a voyage on the matrimonial line of life in the near future.

Chris. Borgen says that if Jim Hill keep on giving "tie passes" he (Jim Hill) will have to put in a new set of ties this summer.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

THE DUTY OF THE HOUR.

Written f r the Rudbugern.

There never has been a time since the birth of the People's party when there has existed so much necessity for straight-forward, honest political work as now. We have for the second time to meet in conflict with a foe as unscrupulous as Judas and as mercinary as the Hessians hordes who fought against us in the Revolution; and while we are strong in numbers and staunch in our faith that we are in pursuit of the right we must not forget that our enemy is powerful, well organized and well drilled in the tactics of political warfare, and will resort to all the tricks known to the crafty politician, first to divide us and next to defeat us. There can be no question but that there is a strong majority in this congressional district in favor of the principles we maintain, nor is there any question but that a fair ballot, a fair expression of the opinions of the voters of the district would result in the election of the People's party candidates. But our people are a peculiar people, not yet given over to party dictation, and are restive and rebellious under the party lash, as all good men ought to be; and, as a consequence we must not place men in nomination for their support who are incompetent, tricky, dishonest or doubtful. In all the political divisions of the state we must place our best men in nomination and during the period of campaigning manfully sustain them when attacked by the wiley foe, and when the day comes to exercise our rights as freemen, go and vote for the man you have selected and get your friends who are in the same condition as you are to do the same. No man should be nominated at caucus or convention because he is available, nor should you permit any one but a well-tried and trusty man to volunteer his services as a delegate because he has time to go and money to pay his expenses: this will be one of the favorite schemes of the enemy and you must watch carefully and put no one on guard to watch the liberties of yourselves and families until you know he is worthy of the trust. Do not make any trades or combines for the sake of gaining a petty office: this is one of the mistakes of the old parties and was one of the causes of our Rebellion, politically. The People's party can not afford to prostitute their sacred principles to lust for office or greed for gold. We are fighting now to regain the liberties which have been flinched from us by the enemy we are now confronting, and it is our duty, sacredly imposed, to cast aside all other considerations but those of patriotism, loyalty and fidelity to rights and liberties of the plain common people. We must make no mistake in the coming campaign; our fight is a just one, made for all the people, rich and poor alike. And to surrender any of the principles we advocate for the sake of gaining a little temporary power or profit would at once reduce us to the same moral condition as the enemy we have left. With the greatest respect, I am, Very truly yours,

FRANK IVES.

Call for People's Party County Convention June 18th.

The People's Party convention for the county of Polk, State of Minnesota, will be held at the court house, in the City of Crookston, on the 18th day of June, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the following county offices:

County Auditor,
County Treasurer,
Sheriff,
Register of Deeds,
Judge of Probate,
County Attorney,
Surveyor,
Coroner,
Court Commissioner,
Superintendent of Schools,
County Commissioner, 1st District,
County Commissioner, 3rd District,
County Commissioner, 5th District.

The basis of representatation, as determined by the county central committee, shall be one delegate at large for each voting precinct, and one delegate for evrey fifty votes or major fraction thereof, cast for S. M. Owen for governor at the general election in 1894.

Conformable to forgoing apportionment, the voting precincts of Polk County will be entitled to delegates in the convention as follows:

Andover	2	Kertsonville	2
Angus	1	King	3
Black River	2	Knute	4
Bray	1	Lake Pleasant	2
Badger	2	Lambert	3
Brandsvold	2	Liberty	2
Belgium	1	Lessor	3
Brislet	1	Lowell	2
Bygland	2	Louisville	2
Crookston	1	McIntosh Village	2
" City 1st ward	3	Nesbit	2
" " 2nd "	3	Norden	4
" " 3rd "	2	North	2
" " 4th "	3	Northland	1
" " 5th "	1	Numedal	2
Columbia	2	Onstad	1
Chester	2	Parnell	1
Emardville	1	Poplar River	2
Euclid	1	Polk Centre	1
Eden	2	Queen	2
Esther	1	R. L. Falls Village	3
Fairfax	1	Red Lake Falls	2
Farley	1	Reis	1
Fanny	1	River Falls	2
Fisher	3	Rocksbury	3
Fosston Village	2	Roome	2
Fertile "	1	Rosebud	3
Grand Forks	2	Russia	1
E. G. F. 1st ward	1	Rhinehart	1
" 2nd "	1	Sanders	2
" 3rd "	1	Sandsville	2
" 4th "	2	St. Hilaire Village	2
Garfield	2	Sletten	1
Garden	1	Sullivan	1
Gentilly	2	Tabor	1
Gervais	2	Terrebonne	2
Grove Park	2	Tilden	1
Godfrey	2	Tynsid	1
Hammond	1	Thief River Falls	3
Higdem	2	" Inland	2
Hill River	3	Winger	4
Huntsville	2	Woodside	3
Hubbard	2	Wyandotte	1
Keystone	1

The primaries for the election of delegates shall be held on the 11th day of June, 1896, and the polls shall be opened at 2 o'clock p. m., and remain open for two hours.

By order of the County Central Com.
ARNY GRUNDYSEN, Chairman.
JOHN GLEASON, Secretary.

FLAX SEED.

First-class flax seed for sale, absolutely clean, price reasonable at 28-tf E. J. HOLMES.

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but every-one knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

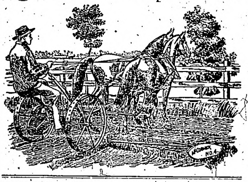
Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements



American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞ Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Cripple

The iron grasp of scrofula has no mercy upon its victims. This demon of the blood is often not satisfied with causing dreadful sores, but racks the body with the pains of rheumatism until Hood's Sarsaparilla cures.

"Nearly four years ago I became afflicted with scrofula and rheumatism.

Made

Running sores broke out on my thighs. Pieces of bone came out and an operation was contemplated. I had rheumatism in my legs, drawn up out of shape. I lost appetite, could not sleep. I was a perfect wreck. I continued to grow worse and finally gave up the doctor's treatment to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon appetite came back; the sores commenced to heal. My limbs straightened out and I threw away my crutches. I am now stout and hearty and am farming, whereas four years ago I was a cripple. I gladly recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla." URBAN HAMMOND, Table Grove, Illinois.

Well

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.
Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

WHAT IS ALABASTINE?

A pure, permanent and artistic wall-coating ready for the brush by mixing in cold water.

FOR SALE BY PAINT DEALERS EVERYWHERE.

FREE { A Tint Card showing 12 desirable tints, also Alabastine Souvenir Rock sent free to any one mentioning this paper.

ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.

The many imitations of HIRES Rootbeer simply point to its excellence—the genuine article proves it!

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

Without a Rival.

Ethel—Mr. Stuckkon is a self-made man and thoroughly in love with his creator.

May—How happy he must be.

Ethel—Why?

May—Because he hasn't a rival on earth.—Washington Times.

A Different Combination.

"And did papa give you the marble heart?" she eagerly asked.

"I should say nit," the brave youth responded. "Why, he's a brick."

Whereat they rejoiced and were exceedingly glad.—Detroit Tribune.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

Gastronomic Art.

What does that painting of D'Auber's represent?"

"A gouge."

"In the mountains?"

"No. In the dining room."—Up-To-Date.

London, in monetary value, is worth two and a half times as much as Paris.

Didn't Get It Cheering the Bostons.

"Doctor," said the anxious mother, "Willie can hardly speak above a whisper."

"Indeed? Has he taken cold, or did he go to the ball game?"Washington Star.

The Rock of Gibraltar

Is not steadier than a system liberated from the shackles of chills and fever, bilious remittent or dumb ague by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a perfect antidote to malarial poison in air or water. It is also an unexampled remedy for bilious, rheumatic or kidney complaints, dyspepsia and nervousness. It improves appetite and sleep and hastens convalescence.

Ought to Suit Well.

"Is dis where dey wants a boy?"

"It is, but he must be a boy who never utters an untruth and does not use slang or swear."

"Well, me brudder's a deaf mute. I'll send 'im 'round."—Life.

When Nature

Needs assistance it may be best to render it promptly, but one should remember to use even the most perfect remedies only when needed. The best and most simple and gentle remedy is the Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company.

Candor.

He—I am told that your admirers name is legion.

She (blushingly)—Oh, no, indeed—his name is Jones.—Brooklyn Life.

I believe my prompt use of Piso's Cure prevented quick consumption.—Mrs. Lucy Wallace, Marquette, Kans., Dec. 12, 1895.

Tit for Tat.

Servant (from next door)—Herr Mayer sends his compliments, and would you please shoot your dog, as it won't let him go to sleep?

Neighbor—Give my respects to Herr Mayer and tell him I shall be much obliged if he will poison his daughter and burn her piano.—Unterhaltungsblatt.

His Excuse.

Magistrate—You are charged with stealing some diamond studs. Have you anything to say?

Prisoner—Well, your worship, the card on which was the studs was marked "collar studs," so I took it as an invitation, an' did collar 'em.—London Fun.

Goes Up in Smoke.

If all the tobacco smoked in the British empire last year were rolled into a rope an inch in dimeter it would form a snake-like roll, which, following the line of the equator, would go thirty times around the earth.—Philadelphia Record.

DR. J. G. GRANT, Specialist.
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.
Syndicate Block, Minneapolis.
(Spectacles fitted.)

Thoughtlessness.

Merchant—James!

Clerk—Yes, sir.

Merchant—Why don't you pull down those curtains? Don't you know that those goods in the windows are warranted not to fade?—Roxbury Gazette.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Standings are provided for only 5,000 cabs in London, though there are over 11,000 licensed vehicles.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Roumania is spoken of as a possible rival to Russia on the Black sea.

The annual "cattle crop" of New South Wales is about 400,000.

SHOOTING THE RAPIDS.

A Sharp Eye, A Perfect Nerve, Iron Muscles—The Indian's Endowment

And all this, not by skill, alone, but by a born intuition and a perfect constitution is the Indian enabled to cope with nature in he most tumultuous moods, and the reason, because he has been reared in nature's own lap, has looked to her for food in times of health and for medicine in times of sickness and to this latter is he indebted for the fact that he is to-day a living example of perfect health and longevity. He has never been harmed by poisonous mixtures; but on the approach of disease he was given their great remedy—made from the roots, herbs, barks and gums of the forest—that most precious of nature's compounds

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa

Sold by druggists throughout the civilized world. Recognized to-day as the greatest boon ever given to man for the cure of all diseases resulting from a disordered state of the kidneys, liver, stomach and blood. If you are suffering from dyspepsia, or are loosing flesh, have unaccountable pains or other distressing symptoms, don't delay, it's dangerous. Thousands given up to die have been saved. You can be too. Price $1 a bottle, or 6 bottles for $5. Other Kickapoo remedies such as their Salve, Cough Cure, Oil, Worm Medicine, etc., at reasonable prices.

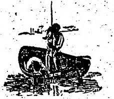
BAHAMA SPONGES.

An Important Industry of the Northern Group of the West Indies.

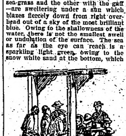
Let no one rashly imagine that "Couch" in this paper stands for a marine shell, though it may signify something equally amphibious. A "Couch"—we have classic authority for the statement—is that variety of Creole which is native not merely to the West Indies in general, but to the Bahmas in particular. Though the homes of the "Conches" are dotted over the islands with an area of some 5,000 square miles odd, their wealth is by no means commensurate with the extent of their archipelagic fatherland. Indeed, the "Conches," who number some 48,000 souls, have found it necessary to put their heads together a good deal in order to find the wherewithal for a reputable living, and the sponge industry now forms the most important of the export trade.

Before coming to a description of the details of production, a word or two about the quality of Bahama sponges may be of interest. They are not, indeed, to be compared to those which we obtain from the Mediterranean, as they are much coarser in texture. Still, they are readily bought for London, Rotterdam, and San Francisco. The reason of this fact is that the sponge is now found useful for many commercial purposes, for example, and clippings being of service, for example, in steam valves, and in the manufacture of a felt which is laid under carpets.

An Englishman, in quest of change, may do worse than make a voyage in one of the vessels of the schooner fleet engaged in the sponge industry. We start, of course, from Nassau, and carry with us several punts or dingeys. The schooner Ware can be detected lying at anchor in near the shore; while our two "harvesters" are only one of three or four parties which have been sent out to search the shallow waters along the great Bahama bank. As usual all pictures of the tropics which are not colored, we lose much which makes the charm and strangeness of such a scene for the dweller in the north. Those negroes—both the one with the sea-grass and the other with the gaff—are sweltering under a sun which blazes fiercely down from right overhead out of a sky of the most brilliant blue. Owing to the shallowness of the water, there is not the smallest swell or undulation of the surface. The sea as far as the eye can reach is a sparkling light green, owing to the snow white sand at the bottom, which looks as if a level desert had been suddenly submerged under a few feet of crystal water. With that water-telescope Pompey can distinctly see that sponge, which Sambo is about to hook up, with a 30-foot gaff, to add to the store in the boat.

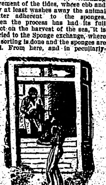


Harvesters of the Sea Floor.

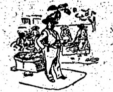


Sorting and Sale at the Sponge Exchange.

After the small boats have loaded the schooner, a task occupying some four or five weeks, that craft crowds on all the canvts, and hastens homeward to Nassau, the capital both of the Bahamas and of the sponge industry, the erstwhile haunt and headquarters of the blockade-runner. Arrived at Nassau, the sponges are taken out and placed along the shore of the land-locked waters of the harbor. They are piled up in "crawls"—that is to say, pens or inclosures of stakes and hurdles—which are placed between high and low water, and so, fully exposed to the rushing, cleansing movement of the tides, whose ebb and flow at least washes away the animal matter adherent to the sponges. When the process has had its full effect on the harvest of the sea, it is carried to the Sponge exchange, where the sorting is done and the sponges are sold. From here, and in peculiarly-shaped sponge carts, the sponges are conveyed to the sponge yard. The picture, "Gossips of the Sponge Yard," show Mephisbah, Caesarina, and the rest, having an enjoyable time of it in leisurely and loquacious labor, as they trim and clip the sponges into shape. They make a picturesque group enough, with their ebon faces and white dresses in the glowing brightness of the sunlight, the swinging of the palm branches in the air, and of the bodies of the people carrying baskets, adding to the suggestion of pleasant bustle and animation. Probably there would be more animation and less work but for the mulatto boss, or overseer, who sees that the happy "Conch" does not give too free a play to his genius for taking things easy. This somewhat haughty supervising official is mirrored to the life in the picture of "The Boss; a Perfect Gentleman." It will be seen that he has a sense of his importance and dignity as well as of his duties. He is plain now administering rebuke or admonition to dusky hand-maidens, and we may be sure that his language is as ornate as his attire; that, in a word, there is harmony of the spoken words with the white waistcoat, the gold watch chain, the massive seals, and the conscious grace with which he manipulates the stump of a cigar. He is a beautiful example of the humor which insists on pervading the realm of and old age is grave; but in the picture of the sponge-pressing, which follows the work in the sponge yard, and precedes the packing for export, we see sable youth taking life much too seriously, while the gentleman dubbed the "Old Obadiah" is cheerily joyous over the lachrymose demeanor of his juvenile colleagues. The "Old Obadiah" has lost the fear, which is oppressing the young one, that what is called work is hard. He has long learned that to work, as Quashie practices it, play is largely mingled, and that a man of "cullah" in the sunlands may live by "the sweat of his brow," and his person generally, without mitigating at all la joie de vivre. It is the idea of the tremendous burden of three sponges which is weighing down the body and the imagination of the young Obadiah to such an extent that his senior does not quite know whether to chaff or to cheer him. Thus do men busy themselves to-day in the archipelago which first of all the lands of the New World, gladdened the adventurous eyes of Christopher Columbus.—London Graphic.



Sponge Pressing.



The "Boss."

MAGNANIMITY IN WAR.

An Exchange of Stories Relating to the Armies in Virginia.

The Rev. Robert Wilson, of St. Luke's Episcopal church, says:

"In 1883 I met in Richmond a Col. McCoy, of Pennsylvania, who had been a gallant wearer of the blue. We got quite chummy over a 'mixed wood' camp fire, and wishing to put him at his ease, I told him the story of Kershaw's magnificent reconnoissance at Fredericksburg, which can never be too often repeated. An orderly had arrived in hot haste with a command for Gen. Kershaw to have the enemy reconnoitered at all hazards from a knoll which was swept by the fire of the sharpshooters of both armies. Every bush and tree had been cut away by the storm of bullets, and it looked like certain death to the man who should attempt it. Calmly slinging his field glass, and turning over his command to the next officer in rank, Joseph R. Kershaw rode slowly up to the death trap, into which we would not send any other man. The sight of his heroic action, as he sat amid the whistling minnies, sweeping the opposing ranks with his glass, was too much for the chivalry of the Yankee commander, and the order went down the Federal line: 'Cease firing on that officer!' The rifles became silent, the reconnoissance was finished and, raising his cap in acknowledgement, Gen. Kershaw quietly rode back at a walk, unharmed."

"It was a splendid incident," remarked Col. McCoy, "but I can climax it with a personal experience of the chivalrous disposition of your men. I was on Gen. Meade's staff near Richmond, and one morning, with the general at our head, we rode down to take a look at the river. As we turned sharply out of the bushes and came out on the bank, we found ourselves in point blank range of a Confederate picket drawn up on the other side. A volley would have emptied every saddle, for we were entirely at their mercy; but it would have been murder, for they could not cross and capture us. Recognizing Gen. Meade, the commander of the detachment ordered his men into line and they presented arms. We raised our caps in grateful acknowledgement, rode slowly back into the bushes, and, as soon as we were fairly out of sight, put spur to our horses and scudded back to the camp as if the devil was after us."

PLAYED THE CRIPPLE FOR MONEY.

Young Imposture Who Earned $8 a Day by the Work.

If there really are more than a hundred professional beggars in the city who are trying to obtain money from credulous residents by pretending to be crippled or maimed, the police have a good deal of work to do before they can rid the city of the impostors. That the professionals are present here in large numbers, from Brooklyn, New York, Troy and other cities, is what the police were told yesterday by a 10-year-old boy, who admits that since he first played the role of a cripple in this city he has been collecting money steadily, sometimes as much as $8 in a day.

This young fellow was arrested on State street. He says his name is James Fox, that he comes from Buffalo, N. Y., and that he ran away from home more than ten years ago. Only part of the boy's story of his subsequent adventures is believed by the police. He says he obtained work last summer at some of the restaurants at Coney Island, and that after the close of the season he went to New York, looking for work. There he met a man who said he was a commercial traveler, but who proved to be "Brooklyn Billy," well known as a professional beggar, who had made a cripple of himself by placing lime on his hand and leaving it too long. By this man, the boy says, he was introduced to a regular company of beggars, who took his right shoe to a cobbler and had the heel raised several inches. They made the young fellow wear that shoe, so he says, and walk as if crippled They also provided him with cards on which was printed the "Cripple's Appeal," three stanzas of poor verse intended to affect the sensibilities of the tender-hearted. The boy took these cards to the ferries, to offices, or to the railway stations, and there distributed them, collecting them after the holders had had time to read them, with whatever money people were willing to give. "Brooklyn Billy" always followed the boy, to take charge of what ever money was collected.

When the police had heard the boy's story a telegram was sent to the address he gave in Buffalo, and awaiting the receipt of a reply from the persons supposed to be the boy's parents, he was locked up.—Boston Transcript.

EXCITING WELSH WEDDINGS.

Bridegroom Has to Work for His Bride After Winning Her.

A wedding, as it was customarily arranged in Wales some forty years ago, was an interesting affair.

In those days, as soon as the young people had made up their own minds, before they could speak of a wedding, the consent of the bride's parents had to be obtained. This arrangement, or rather consent, was called the Gofyn-y-ferch, and could by no means be done by letter, a written document being considered very bad taste.

A good deal of formality surrounded the Gofyn-y-fech, and it was not to be omitted even when the parents were known to be willing. The accepted lover had many anxieties, and among them (the necessity of which will be seen by and by) was the pace of his best horse, and the pace and mettle of his friends' horses.

At last the wedding day dawned. The bride was dressed early, but over her finery she wore a long cloak, buttoned all the way down to the ground, while a hood entirely covered her head and face. In the course of the morning the bridegroom sent some of his friends to seek out the bride. Arrived at her father's house, they found the door locked, and before they could be admitted they had to recite some poetry. Sometimes the fair lady's whims and caprices made the delay in unlocking the door very long. When the door was open the bride was still to be found.

She had taken refuge in some obscure corner of the house, where she was crouching out of sight, completely covered with her long cloak. This game of hide-and-seek was sometimes so prolonged that when the bride was found it was too late to be married that day, but this did not happen often. When the bride was really found there was a great mounting of horses; she, in her modest cloak, was seated behind her father, and all the company set off as fast as their steeds could go—all except the bride's mother, who seldom, if ever, attended her daughter's wedding.

Up hill and down dale, over smooth and rough ground, the mountain ponies galloped, and shame on the bridegroom if he and his friends did not reach the church before the bride. Service over, the bridegroom had still to keep a guard over his wife for in one country parish, if not in many, it was the custom of friends of the young man to wait outside the church until the service was over. When the happy couple appeared the bride was seized and placed behind one of the men, who galloped off with her.

Naturally, she was hotly pursued by the bridegroom, who, of course, after an exciting chase, eventually captured her. When at last the wife was secured, she took her seat behind her husband, and on his own horse, and the company rode off again to the bride's old home. Arrived at the house, all the party drank the health of the bride and bridegroom out of the same pewter.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Stronghold and Palace Erected by King Herod of Judea.

Eastward from the dull and almost waveless waters of the Dead sea there is a wild and gloomy land of mountainous heights and dark, precipitous ravines. On one of the highest points of rock, overlooking the surrounding country, Herod had constructed over the ruins of a former fort the stronghold and palace of Machaerus, or "The Black Castle." A town had grown up near by, with heathen temples, a theater and places of trade and manufacture. The palace had been made so splendid that Herod preferred it as a residence, especially as it was close to the frontier of Judea, and as from it he could readily go to any other part of his dominions, unwatched and unimpeded. Here, at least, he could do whatever he pleased, and all prisoners were at his mercy.

It was by no means safe for a stranger to draw near to the frowning gates of the citadel of Machaerus; but the disciples of John did come, again and again, only to be refused admission. For a long time, therefore, the Baptizer was in comparative ignorance of what might be going on in the great world beyond the castle walls. Its kings might come and go; its kingdoms might rise or fall; its cities might prosper or perish; and no news of all could penetrate the solid stone that walled him in.

A deep, dark, rock-hewn room was that dungeon under the citadel of Machaerus. High up, near the outer level, was a cell with one small window and a heavy, barred and grated door.

Its occupant was a gaunt, tall, uncouth man in a coarse tunic of camel's hair girded with a broad belt of leather. He had preached to multitudes, and he and his disciples had baptized vast numbers. He had actually brought about an important reformation in public morals; but, more than all, he had proclaimed himself one sent to declare the speedy coming of another "mightier than I," concerning whom the people who heard John obtained only a vague idea. But John's hearers were encouraged to expect the King who was to restore the throne and crown of David.

Whatever John had understood or expected, his work seemed ended, for there was no possible escape from Herod's dungeon.—"The Swordmaker's Son," by W. O. Stoddard, in St. Nicholas.

Singular Optical Delusion.

Here is a singular illustration of the optical delusion which a change of position will sometimes effect. Take a row of ordinary capital letters and figures:

SSSSSSXXXXXX3333333333888

They are such as are made up of two parts of equal shapes. Look carefully at these, and you will perceive that the upper halves of the characters are very little smaller than the lower halves of the characters are very little smaller than the lower halves—so little that an ordinary eye declares them to be of equal size. Now turn the paper upside down, and, without any careful looking, you will see that this difference in size is very much exaggerated; that the real top half of the letter is very smaller than the bottom half.

It Was a Funeral.

Mr. Baker—You told me you wanted to get off yesterday afternoon to go to a funeral.

Clerk—Yes, sir.

"Well, you lied to me. You went to see a baseball game!"

"Yes, sir; but it was a funeral all the same. The visiting team was buried out of sight."—Yonkers Statesman.

His Practical Method.

"Do you ever cut things out of the newspapers when you don't want your wife to read them?"

"Oh, no; I always cut out something on another page, and it takes her so long to discover what it is that she never gets the rest of the paper read at all."—Chicago Record.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Experiments in Telegony.

Prof. J. C. Ewart, of Edinburgh University, has undertaken an extended series of experiments on telegony. Breeders thoroughly believe in telegony, or the transmission of the influence of a previous sire, and the record of Prof. Ewart's results will be standard of all classes of horses. The many apparently authentic cases of exceptional hereditary influence are lacking to a great extent in confirmation, and it has long been felt that less empirical data ought to be made available on such an important subject. Prof. Ewart has a mare in foal by a zebra, and a zebra mare in foal by a zebra stallion, and has arranged a number of other crosses in which the paternal and maternal characteristics are strong but less easily recognizable than in the above cases.

Patents Issued.

List of Patents Issued last week to Northwestern Ineventors.

Jacob J. Birchall, Fargo, N. D. Flax Thrasher. Geo. Hicks, Warsaw, Minn. Combine Currycomb and singeing device. Samuel O. Jones, Stillwater, Minn. Bicycle Pedal. Samuel O. Jones Stillwater, Minn. Measuring device. Probstfield, Edmund H.? Moorhead, Minn. Mechanism for distributing power. Edward H. Turner, Minneapolis, Minn. Truck platform for handling heavy articles. Arthur H. Wethy, Butte, Mont. Calcining furnace.

T. D. Merwin, 910, 911 & 912 Pioneer Press Bldg. St. Paul, Minn.

Natural Theology.

Bobby—Say, mamma, was the baby sent down from heaven?

Mamma—Why, yes!'

Bobby—Um! They likes to have it quiet up there, doesn't they?—Truth.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

The death rate of the sailors in the mercantile marine is 12 per 1,000—lower than on land.

URY OF CURES

THE RECORD OF

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

"No Foolin."

ST. JACOBS OIL DOES NOT "FOOL 'ROUND"; IT GOES STRAIGHT TO WORK ON PAIN AND DRIVES IT OUT AND "SHUTS IT OFF" FROM RETURNING. THAT'S BUSINESS.

Real Cocoa

The test of 115 years proves the purity of Walter Baker & Co.'s Cocoa and Chocolate.

WALTER BAKER & CO., Limited, Dorchester, Mass.

Greatest Quantity. Highest Quality. Smallest Price.

Battle Ax PLUG

The only brand of strictly high grade tobacco ever sold for a low price. Not the large size of the piece alone that has made "Battle Ax" the most popular brand on the market for 5 cents.

QUALITY; SIZE; PRICE.

1,250 COLLARS WILL BUILD THIS HOUSE. 7 ROOMS.

Send 5 cents in stamps for 18 designs of low cost homes, showing floor plans, sizes, views and reliable estimates of cost. All brand new. Working plans very cheap. Ask my supply department to quote you prices on Building Materials. I deal direct with manufacturers and can save you money. W. J. Keith, Architect, Minneapolis, Minn.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS

The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.

J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist, ST. PAUL, MINN.

CRIPPLE CREEK.—$1 will buy 400 shares of gold mining stock; send for prospectus; references given.—MOUNT & MOTZ, Colorado Springs, Col.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

A Farm for Every Man.

Choice lands, suitable for stock raising, dairying or grain producing. Timber and mineral resources unsurpassed. Within easy reach of railroads, schools and churches in NORTHERN WISCONSIN along the line of the Wisconsin Central Railroad. We will gladly furnish general information and promptly answer all inquiries concerning them. Address for free pamphlet FREDERICK ABBOT, Land Commissioner, Wisconsin Central R. R., Milwaukee, Wis.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS, but sell direct to the consumer at wholesale prices, ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Write for catalogue. ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., ELKHART, IND.

W. B. PRATT, Secy.

CRIPPLE CREEK GOLD Stocks. Marvelous profits; dividends pay regularly; prospectus free. Van Buren Invest. Co., Bankers & Brokers, 808 16th., Denver, Colo.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

CRIPPLE CREEK Write for what you want to THE MECHEM INVESTMENT CO., 130 Jackson St., Chicago, Ill.

[illegible]
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

Minn Hist Society
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY MAY 20, 1896. NUMBER 42.

THE NEWS RESUME.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

A Comprehensive Review of the Important Happenings of the Past Week Culled From the Telegraph Reports—The Notable Events at Home and Abroad That Have Attracted Attention.

The Nation's Capital.

Consul Read, the chairman of the Cheng-Tu commission, has succeeded in securing payment in full of the Baptist missionary claims for losses in the Se-Chuen riots.

People Talked About.

Richard A. Storrs, deputy controller of New York city, died, aged sixty-six years.

Benjamin Urner, a well known publisher, is dead at his home in Fanwood, N. J.

Miss Frankie Brewer, daughter of Justice Brewer of the United States supreme court, died of consumption in San Antonio, Tex.

Rudyard Kipling and his brother-in-law, Beatty B. Balestier, had a quarrel at the home of the English author, and are alleged to have come to blows.

Thomas Seddon, president of the Sloss Iron and Steel company, one of the largest iron and coal companies in Alabama, died at his residence in Birmingham, aged forty-seven.

Mrs. Lydia Hood, a kinswoman of Mrs. Grover Cleveland, died of old age. She was born in Tunbridge, Vt., Feb. 17, 1797, and her uncle was the great-grandfather of Mrs. Cleveland.

William Tucker, a theatrical man, who came to New York from Chicago with his family a short time ago, died suddenly, while witnessing the performance in the Union Square theater.

Walter Scott Hobart, the young mining millionaire and famous horseman, was married in San Francisco to Miss Hannah Neil Williams, daughter of Pay Director W. W. Williams, U. S. N.

Sardou's hobby is building himself houses. In this way he delights in spending his wealth. On Mount Boren, on the outskirts of Nice, stands a huge erection of stone, dwarfing the surrounding villas, which is merely the foundation of a palatial residence which the eminent dramatist commenced, and, after an expenditure of some $200,000, was prevented from completing on the ground that the structure would interfere with the outlook of the fort perched on the hill behind.

Accidental Happenings.

The forest fires are still raging throughout Clearfield county, Pa.

The Troy steam laundry at Peoria, Ill., burned, and fifteen employes had a narrow escape.

A lamp exploded in the home of Mrs. Henry Letz of St. Joseph, Mich., and she was burned to death.

The Hawkesbury company's mills at Hawkesbury, Ont., were destroyed by fire. Loss, $100,000. About 900 men are thrown out of employment.

The malt house of the Hinchcliffe brewery in Paterson, N. J., and a silk factory and a dwelling were burned. Loss, $213,000; insurance, $100,000.

An early morning fire in the kitchen department at the Hotel Stevenson in Elwood, Ind., caused a stampede of the guests in their night robes. There were no fatalities.

George W. Davis, porter in a saloon in Springfield, Ill., was shot in the leg by George Kirkpatrick, a saloonist, and by a singular circumstance died from heart trouble brought on by the excitement of the accident.

The ten-year-old son of Fred Glanzs, who lives near Napoleon, Ohio, was playing with a loaded shotgun when it was accidentally discharged, killing his fourteen-year-old sister and injuring a little daughter of Charles Platt.

The Amber carpet mills operated by C. S. Masland & Son of Philadelphia and covering three acres of ground at Mount Holly, N. J., were totally destroyed by fire. The loss will easily aggregate $300,000, covered by insurance.

Crimes and Criminals.

Two notorious forgers have been captured in New Jersey.

A nephew of Henry Villard commits suicide at Spokane.

Howard Overman, aged 15, of Lebanon, Ind., tried to shoot a crow with a target gun and was fatally injured.

W. R. Welch of Chadron, Neb., who shot and killed Glenn Santee, was arrested charged with murder in the first degree.

Simon Schultmann, arrested in Los Angeles, has confessed to the burning of several stores in Denver and other cities.

Seventy convicts in bolt shop No. 5, Ohio penitentiary, struck because the guards were too severe. Finally all except ten resumed work. The ten were punished.

At Hopkins, Mo., Charles Ulmer shot and killed Leslie Sutter and fatally wounded his brother-in-law, Bailey Davis. The trouble is said to be the result of jealousy.

Daniel Sid Davis, one of the most wealthy men of Jackson county, Ohio, was killed at Rousseau by O. J. Burnett of Catlettsburg, Ky. Davis was drunk and Burnett shot him in self-defense.

In a saloon row in St. Louis Ike Shelburn stabbed Mike Rohan and a man named Haloran. Rohan was killed and Haloran cannot live. Shelburn has not been found. All three are laborers.

James McGuire, a kilnsetter of Ottawa, Ill., stabbed his wife twenty-one times and then plunged the knife into his own breast five times. The woman was literally hacked to pieces. McGuire is in jail. His injuries, although severe, are not fatal. Jealousy was the cause.

At South McAllister, I. T., August Pusley, a negro, received 100 lashes and John Prola, an intermarried white citizen, thirty-nine lashes on their bare backs. Pusley was charged with larceny and Prola with selling coal contrary to the law.

Comedian Charles J. Stewart, formerly a member of the Haverly minstrels, and lately one of the managers of the Stewart & Young graphaphone combination, was fatally shot by William Newell, alias "Kid" McCoy, an ex-convict, in Pat Hickey's saloon in Denver about midnight.

While Carrie Harris, daughter of Conductor Charles C. Harris of Elkhart, Ind., was standing in the rear of her home an attempt to assassinate her was made, the assassin firing at her from short range with a pistol, the ball striking her in the fleshy portion of the right arm.

Great excitement was caused in the village of Darlington, Montgomery county, Ind., by a highwayman assaulting Francis Brusco, an old soldier, robbing him of his pension money and beating him savagely. Bloodhounds were brought into service, and after a long and excited chase they ran down Chester Gray, a saw mill employe.

Foreign Gossip.

Great Britain asks clemency for the filibusters sentenced to death by the Spaniards.

The Spanish minister for the colonies, Senor Tomas Castellano, intends to resign.

The dockers' strike at Rotterdam has assumed an ugly aspect. The civic guard, police and marines have been called out to protect the workers.

Capt. Napier's column, while on its way to escort Cecil Rhodes' column, had a skirmish with and repulsed the Matabele tribesmen.

The British steamer Woolwich, Capt. Baebun, which sailed from New York April 5, for Jeddah, Aden, Singapore, etc., is ashore on Shab-el-Keger reefs.

The Abyssinians have liberated the Italians who were made prisoners at Agama, and it is said that Ras Mangasia will liberate the balance within a week.

In addition to the two infantry regiments ordered from India to Suakin for garrison duty, a regiment of cavalry, a mountain battery and a detachment of engineers will proceed as soon as possible to Africa.

The university at Budapest, in commemoration of the millenial celebration, has been authorized by Emperor Francis Joseph to confer the honorary degree of doctor of medicine on Dr. John Shaw Billings of Philadelphia.

The correspondent in Guayquil, Ecuador, telegraphs that earthquakes of some violence continue at intervals in the mountain provinces of Manobi and Balai. Two slight shocks were felt in Guayquil.

The London Daily Courier confirms the report that Dr. Jameson's raid into the Transvaal failed because Cecil Rhodes wished the reformers to revolt under the union jack, while the latter insisted upon the Transvaal flag.

The students of the polytechnique in Rio de Janerio raised a serious disturbance. They maltreated the professors, shouting "Death to the Directors!" "Down With the Monarchy!" "Long Live the Republic!"

A Rome dispatch to the London Daily News says that there are rumors there that Mgr. Galimberti, whose death occurred on May 7, was poisoned. A post mortem examination of the remains has been demanded.

Sir John Millais, president of the Royal academy, is reported to be suffering from cancer of the throat. Surgeons operated upon the distinguished patient, and the alarming symptoms in his case were much relieved.

A dispatch to the London Times from Simla, India, says that native troops are being ordered to Suakim for garrison duty, and that two infantry regiments will start from there for Suakim as soon as possible.

Sir Hercules Robinson, governor of Cape Colony, will sail for England May 20, for the purpose of discussing the South African situation with Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies.

According to the official returns, the French customs receipts for the first four months of 1896 show increases in imports to the amount of 167,000,000 francs and of exports to the sum of 83,000,000 francs, as compared with the same period of 1895.

Miss Gloria de Cespedes, only daughter of the late Charles Manuel de Cespedes, first president of the Cuban republic, and twin sister of Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, now governor of the Oriental province, Cuba, was married to Charles Abon de Lima in New York.

Otherwise.

The pallium was conferred upon Archbishop Kain at St. Louis.

According to the government report, the condition of winter wheat is 5.6 points above the April average.

Prof. Langley, of the Smithsonian institution, has invented a flying machine which is completely successful.

The Monterey (Mexico) Waterworks company has been organized, with a capital of $2,000,000.

Adams & Pettingill, shoe manufacturers of Amesbury, Mass., assigned. The factory was closed Saturday by Sheriff Reynolds.

About 100 employes of the Salem (N. J.) knitting mills, which are owned by John P. Shepard, went on a strike on account of a reduction in wages.

President M. M. Garland, of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, has announced the committee to settle the iron wage scale.

Dumble, Armstrong & Cronan, wholesale and retail hardware merchants of Houston, Tex., led a chattel mortgage for the benefit of creditors. The preferences aggregate $70,000.

The Sumner County bank at Wellington, Kan., closed its doors. A quiet run has been going on for several days, and the bank was unable to stand the pressure.

Ferdinand Schumacher, the oatmeal king and president of the American Cereal company of Akron, has assigned. The assets are estimated at $2,000,000 and the liabilities will reach $1,500,000.

Joseph Raymond, a maniac confined at the county hospital at Omaha, Neb., eluded his attendants and jumped through a window, carrying the sash with him, and fell fifteen feet. It took five attendants to capture him.

Miss Eugenia Luke, aged thirty, eldest daughter of Rev. J. W. Luke of Burlington, while being taken to the asylum at Mount Pleasant, Iowa, jumped from the third story of the Harlan house and sustained injuries from which she will hardly recover.

FORTY ARE KILLED

A RESERVATION IN NEBRASKA IS SWEPT BY A CYCLONE.

It Is Reported That Forty People Were Killed; but It Is Supposed That All of Them Were Indians—Four People Are Killed and Many Others Injured by a Cyclone at Fall City, Neb.

Humboldt, May 20.—The trainmen arriving here to-day bring reports of frightful results of the cyclone on the reservation adjoining this county. They assert that forty persons were killed by the cyclone on the reservation. No particulars are obtainable as all communication by wire is down. Those killed are supposed to be Indians as there are few whites on the reservation.

Falls City, Neb., May 20.—This city and surrounding country is in mourning with dead and injured in many families, and debris of the devastating element covering everything. As far as can be learned at present the killed and injured are:

Dead—Eight-year-old son of J. M. Houcks, Mrs. Sam Sailor, Mrs. Shock, John Smith.

Injured—William Brannon and wife; J. H. Houcks, severely bruised; Mrs. J. M. Houcks, arm and shoulder are bruised; Isaac R. Rhodes, very badly cut and injured internally; son and daughter of Mr. Rhodes, both severely bruised; William Hinton; Mrs. William Hinton, bodily injuries; daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hinton, face badly bruised; William Smick, wounded on left arm and ankle.

The farm houses of H. E. Lemon, I. R. Rhodes, W. R. Kehf, Dan Sailor, Jacob Lichty, Thomas Eakin and William Drogmiller were all blown down and most of the accidents and deaths occurred at these places. It is estimated the damage will be $75,000 to the city and park. The damage in the rural districts is supposed to be much heavier.

THEY FIT AND FIT.

Colored Politicians Have a Very Lively Time.

Pittsburg, May 20.—A meeting of the Afro-American League was held here to-day, with the object of indorsing Quay. The Union League Republican association, colored, who favor McKinley, attempted to break up the meeting and prevent the carrying out of its objects. When the obnoxious men had forced their way into the hall trouble began. Sergeant-at-arms Mills got into an argument with J. H. Holmes, the attorney, a McKinleyite, and there was a free fight in a second. Men rushed into the midst of the melee, as the two fighters rolled over the floor. Coats were torn, limbs were bruised and oaths could be heard escaping from the pit of riot like sulphur fumes from a laboratory. Newspaper men fled for refuge to the yard where, perched on a platform, they saw the "center rush" through the narrow window. The policemen rushed in and with drawn billies quelled the fierce encounter. Such a struggling mass of men is rough-and-tumble fight has never been seen in any convention. Blood flowed from cracked heads and clothes lost all neatness. After some further rioting the meeting adjourned until to-morrow morning.

A TELLER BOOM.

Effor to Make Him a Candidate of the Democrats.

Denver, May 20.—The Rocky Mountain News, in a leading editorial, says: "The question of Teller as the Democratic candidate for president should at once interest the Democrats of the mountain states. Might it not be worth the efforts for Colorado Democrats to organize with the Democracy of its neighboring states to present Teller, should he bear himself at St. Louis as there is right to expect he will, to the Southern silver Democrats of the convention, and say to them, if you will accept him he will have the support of all the mountain region and we will unite with you in making him the leader of the movement for restoration to a bankrupted and well-nigh hopeless people of the money of the constitution, the life-blood of commerce and the wand by the touch of which prosperity will rise and take the country once again in its healthful, invigorating embrace."

Prospective Deadlock.

Cleveland, May 20.—The impression is becoming prevalent that a deadlock will occur in the Methodist Episcopal conference over the election of two new bishops. Five ballots were taken to-day without a choice and the election is apparently as far away as ever. It is evident that there is a strong element in the conference opposed to the election of more bishops, and this element is believed to have been voting in a scattering way for the purpose of precipitating a deadlock. A motion was made without a second to postpone further balloting indefinitely, and it is said the motion will be renewed tomorrow.

One Hundred and Four Plurality.

Chicago, May 20.—The Tribune this morning prints a list of delegates to the Republican national convention, giving the name of every delegate elected, with instructions and proclivities. The list shows that McKinley has 104 plurality.

Report of Lochren.

Washington, May 20. — The senate committee on judiciary to-day ordered a favorable report on the nomination of Pension Commissioner Lochren to be United States district judge in Minnesota.

Grey's Suicide.

Pretoria, May 20.—There was a great demonstration to-day upon the occasion of the funeral of F. L. Grey, the reform committeeman who committed suicide by cutting his throat while in jail, laboring under melancholy induced by his prosecution. The streets were packed with people. Many wreaths were sent to Grey's fellow prisoners.

The proposed strike of Buffalo carpenters to-day for the eight-hour work day has been met by a lock-out.

CHURCH AND PARTY.

The Subject of Religion and Politics Discussed.

Washington, May 20. — In reply to some questions addressed through Rev. Dr. Stafford of Washington, D. C., to Cardinal Gibbons, the cardinal sent the following letter:

"My Dear Sir: It is the duty of the leaders of political parties to express themselves without any equivocation on principles of religious freedom which underlie our constitution. Catholics are devoted to both the great political parties of the country, and every individual is left entirely to his own conscience. We are proud to say that in the long history of the government of the United States the great Catholic church has never used, or perverted its acknowledged power, by seeking to make politics subserve its own advancement. Moreover, it is our proud boast that we have never interfered with the civil and political rights of any who differ from us in religion. We demand the same rights for ourselves and nothing more; and will be content with nothing less. Not only is it the duty of all parties distinctly to set their faces against the false and un-American principles thrust forward of late; but much as I would regret the entire indentification of any religious body as such with any political party, I am convinced that the members of a religious body whose rights, civil and religious, are attacked, will naturally and unanimously espouse the cause of the party which has the courage openly to avow the principles of civil and religious liberty according to the constitution. Patience is a virtue, but it is not the only virtue; when pushed too far it may degenerate into pusillanimity. Yours faithfully,

—"James Card. Gibbons"

HE KEPT HIS WORD.

Double Murder and Suicide in Washington State.

Tacoma, Wash., May 20.—In Beaver Prairie, Calallam county, in the dense forest, seventy miles from a telegraph office, Charlie Paul of Wisconsin, Tuesday last killed David McConchie and wife and then took his own life. The tragedy happened at the home of the McConchies. Paul was a discarded lover of Mrs. McConchie. As soon as Paul learned of the marriage he wrote letters to her swearing he would kill her and her husband.

Charles Terwilliger was examining his bear traps on the shore of the lake on Tuesday and saw a note pinned to the door of a deserted cabin, which gave directions to look in a certain place in the house for a letter. This letter was addressed to Christian Gressklaus by Paul, and said Paul had gone to kill Mr. and Mrs. McConchie, after which he would take his own life. A party was formed, and, reaching the shore of the lake opposite McConchie's house, they found McConchie's boat and in it was the dead body of Paul. The body of Mrs. McConchie was found on the floor of her home; her head nearly severed from her body, and everything showed that a terrible struggle had taken place between the woman and the man.

FIRE IN WASHINGTON.

Two Firemen Are Killed and Four Others Injured.

Washington, May 20. — A conflagration which resulted in the loss of almost a quarter of a million dollars and in which two firemen were killed and four seriously injured by falling walls, occurred in this city about 8 o'clock last night. Twenty-one buildings with their contents were totally destroyed in the space of about two hours. The burnt district consists almost entirely of commission and wholesale jobbing houses in the square bounded by Louisiana avenue, Ninth and Tenth streets. The fire started in a branch station of the Postal Telegraph company located on B street, and is supposed to have been caused by lightning, a severe thunder storm having just passed over the city. The buildings were filled with a mass of inflammable material which made it difficult for the firemen to cope with the progress of the flames which spread with great rapidity. After two hours' hard work the flames were under control. The list of dead and injured, all of whom are firemen, follows:

Dead— — Giles, — Griffin. Injured, Joe Mulhall, J. McIlwe, Arthur Donaldson. In addition to the above four others are missing.

FESTIVITIES BEGIN.

The Czar and Czarina Arrive in Moscow.

Moscow May 20.—The arrival of the czar and czarina to-day may be said to inaugurate the festival season in celebration of the coronation and for which the city and the whole empire has made months of preparation. Their majesties arrived by special train. The station is about half-way between the Kremlin and the Petrovski palace, which is to be the abiding place of the czar until the triumphal entry into the city. The rain was pouring down in torrents as the train arrived, but this seemed to have no effect on the loyal ardor of the people, and they gathered at the station to the number of several thousand to accord a welcoming greeting to their sovereign and to catch a glimpse of his august person. The streets were full of mud and the countless flags and streamers fluttered fitfully in a gusty breeze.

Officers of the A. P. A.

Washington, May 20.—The list of the new officers of the A. P. A. was completed at to-day's session of the supreme council. The additional officers are as follows: Secretary, W. J. Palmer, Butte, Mont.; treasurer, C. C. Campbell, Minneapolis; sergeant-at-arms, J. W. Ellis, South McAlister, Ind. T.; guard, W. B. Howard, Omaha, Neb.; sentinel, T. S. Henson, Ohio; trustees, Allison Stocker, Denver; George Hester, Cleveland; W. J. White, Richmond, Va.

Long Contest Ended.

Washington, May 20.—The confirmation by the senate of Frank W. Joplin to be postmaster at Elizabethtown, Ky., to-day terminates a contest that has been in progress for two or three years. Joplin was appointed soon after the beginning of the present administration to succeed Mrs. Emily T. Helen, who was a sister of Mrs. Abraham Lincoln. Mrs. Helen's friends antagonized confirmation and have been able to prevent it up to the present time. The confirmation was made today without objection.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

A three-year-old child was killed at St. Paul by an electric car.

Gen. Brooke has been elected commander of the Minnesota Loyal Legion.

Julian Severson of Eureka, Dakota county, was killed by lightning. He was twenty-four years old.

The state auditor's figures of government, state and railroad lands sold in the state for the year show a total of 679,542.16 acres.

K. M. Borgen, a leading merchant of Preston, his wife and three children, were poisoned by eating home-made cheese. Dr. Phillips has been constantly in attendance, and believes that he will prevent any fatalities.

While fishing near the New York mills, at Fergus Falls, John Tarni attempted to swim out to a boat which was drifting, and was drowned. He leaves a wife and seven children destitute.

The state geographer of Minnesota, J. V. Brower, has discovered the real source of the Mississippi river, 4,221 miles from the Gulf of Mexico, showing it to be the longest river in the world.

In a saloon brawl at Litchfield, Thomas Wandock struck Peter Johnson on the head with a club. Johnson is still unconscious and may die. Wandok is proprietor of the saloon, and claims Johnson tried to run his bar.

James W. Lee, who was being held at Henderson on a charge of burglary in the second degree, made his escape from the jail by sawing out one of the iron bars of the door. No clew to his whereabouts.

Mr. John Muckeinheimer of Delano has received a diploma and medal from Washington for his exhibit of flint corn at the Columbian exposition. The corn was raised on his farm near this village.

The handsome residence of John R. Gilder, on south First street, Stillwater, was burned with household effects. Loss estimated at $3,000; insurance, $2,300. Circumstances point to incendiarism.

Mary Braithwaite, principal of the Emerson school, was arrested at Duluth, charged with beating Henry Grytdahl, aged eleven, with a piece of rubber hose. The teacher says that the boy was incorrigible.

Fire in Borgerding & Haskamp's elevator at Melrose caused a loss of the building, 3,000 bushels of wheat and 500 bushels of oats. The water-soaked grain is insured. Loss on the building, $900. No insurance. Fire evidently incendiary.

The grand jury at Duluth indicted Samuel D. Lisbon, alias Walter Romans, for forgery. He swindled a number of merchants by collecting for advertisements in a directory which was never published. He is said to be a member of a well known Chicago gang of swindlers.

At a meeting of the business men of Langdon an enthusiastic organization of the Business Men's association was perfected, with about fifty members. J. McPhail was elected president; J. B. Boyd, first vice president; Alex McNiven, second vice president, and James Woolner secretary.

John Paulson, machinist and electrician at the Stillwater Street Railway power house, was accidentally electrocuted. He was repairnig a car, and in some manner a circuit was formed, going through his body. He lived only a few seconds. Deceased was a valuable man, married and thirty-five years old.

Burglars at Mankato robbed Captains J. S. Kerwitz and E. J. Tear, of the Salvation Army, of $96.50. The house was entered, their clothing taken into the rear yard and there left with the pockets turned inside out and the empty pocketbooks and private papers left scattered on the ground. There is no clew.

Mrs. Walby, a domestic on the farm of E. Hilgedick, near Blakeley, and the seven-year-old son of Mr. Hilgedick, were drowned in the Minnesota river, near Blakeley. The body of Mrs. Walby was recovered about two rods from where she was drowned. The body of the boy has not yet been found. Mrs. Walby was a widow, formerly of Minneapolis, and leaves a six-year-old daughter. M. O. Arnsen of Minneapolis is a brother to Mrs. Walby.

James Calahan, residing near Washington, Fillmore county, committed suicide in a horrible manner. He had once been confined in an asylum, but was discharged as cured. About two weeks ago he attempted to drive a nail into his head, but was unsuccessful. On Friday he secured a wedge-shaped piece of granite, and, going to an isolated place, literally pounded the sharp stone into his head, making a frightful wound, causing death.

Emil Wegner, a farmer at Wells and a married man, was up before Justice Brader for being responsible for the unfortunate condition of his hired girl, who will become a mother. She swore to the complaint, and while he was at Wells for examination his wife, child and hired man started to follow. The team ran away. Mrs. Wegner had an arm broken, and the child was injured. The examination of Wegner, in consequence, was postponed.

Flippant Youth.

"Young man," said the elderly party with the big watch chain. "I laid the first foundation of my fortune by saving street car fare."

"I didn't know you ever drove one," remarked the flippant youth. "It can't be worked in these bell-punch days, anyway."—Indianapolis Journal.

Savannah Ga., Special.—Rev. Father Caffery, vicar general of the Roman Catholic diocese of Georgia, died today at Atlanta, where he had gone for medical treatment. He had but recently returned from a trip abroad for his health. Rev. Caffery was a native of Ireland, and had been vicar general twenty years.

Wisconsin Knights of Pythias.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Special.—The grand lodge of Knights of Pythias closed its labors at midnight last night. George R. Bailey of Milwaukee was elected grand chancellor. The next session will be held at Janesville.

DULUTH TO THE MISSOURI.

Project Sprung for a New Air Line Railway.

Duluth, May 19.—Another railroad is projected for Duluth. It is to be an air line from Duluth to the Missouri river in North Dakota, tapping in its progress the best part of the wheat fields of Northern Minnesota and North Dakota. The road as projected runs from Duluth in a generally western direction, crossing the St. Louis river between Rice's Point and the dividing line between range 15 and 16 west. It cuts a small piece from the northwestern corner of Wisconsin, strikes Minnesota again on the west border of township 58, range 15, thence it proceeds west through Minnesota in a practically straight line to the southern boundary of Hubbard county. Thence west to a point near the southwestern corner of the White Earth Indian reservation. Thence it proceeds northwest to the boundary line of Minnesota on the Red River of the North at or near Caledonia; thence west through North Dakota to a point on the Missouri river which has not yet been definitely determined. A branch line runs from a point near the southwestern corner of the White Earth Indian reservation southwest to Moorhead. In this manner a great stretch of wheat country is tapped, including the choicest portions of the fertile Red river valley, some of which is now quite a distance from any railroad. Mr. Bradford said that the road was backed by Eastern capital and its success was practically assured. Surveys will begin at an early date. The articles of incorporation fix the capital stock at $100,000. The limit of indebtedness is $6,000,000 and the indebtedness, aside from mortgaged or bonded indebtedness, is limited to two-thirds of the capital. The general offices of the company are to be in Duluth. The incorporation begins May 27 and lasts ninety years.

WITH TWO WIVES.

But They Were Married to Others and Not Edward Krueger.

St. Paul, May 19.—Edward Krueger, the musical painter of New Richland, Minn., for whom the St. Paul police were looking Friday, was found yesterday in Montgomery, Minn. Mr. Krueger discovered that two angry husbands, Messrs. Hope and Luff, were anxious to meet him, so he discreetly avoided an interview by again disappearing from the public gaze. The story of his escapade is an unusual one. He had a musical voice, talent and rare tact with women. He induced Mrs. William Luff and Mrs. Jas. Hope to leave their homes and husbands at New Richland, south of Montgomery, about a week ago. The party went to Montgomery where they pretended to be brother and sisters. Yesterday morning the husbands, with officers, arrived to take them in custody, but when they learned the state of affairs they concluded not to take them back. Mrs. Hope when leaving home took two children with her, but thought one was enough, and when she got to Waseca she set the youngest down on the depot platform, got on the train and came away. Mr. Hope took the little girl back with him. The painter got wind of coming trouble and skipped, after trying to get some baggage out of the depot at 10 o'clock last night, but was refused it by the agent. Mrs. Hope is said to be twenty-eight years old and Mrs. Luff only nineteen. Krueger is said to be twenty-three years of age.

CARLSON'S HEADLESS BODY.

The Man Took Poison and Then Threw Himself Under a Train.

Minneapolis, May 17. — The almost headless body of a man supposed to be J. C. Carlson of Brooklyn Center was found this morning at the west end of the bridge across Twin lake, on the Soo tracks. By the looks of the man's mouth it would appear that he had taken Paris green. The coroner thinks that he took the poison, then waited for the 8:40 freight train and threw himself beneath the wheels. His coat and hat were found on the bank near by. A memorandum book was found in his pocket which contained the above name and address. There was nothing else to identify him. He was forty-five years old and poorly dressed.

St. Paul, May 17.—Burglars with the instincts of vandals broke into the Gorman school at Western avenue and Front street and carried off or destroyed a considerable amount of property. The school was entered by burglars once before, about two years ago, but the thieves at that time were professionals and wanted valuables only. They carried off every clock in the building. The only booty they made away with this time was a couple of dozen pairs of shears, forty squares of oil cloth for the kindergarten, and a number of books. But they went through the building systematically, and some of the rooms were in such a state that they could scarcely be occupied.

Pinched by Parr.

Winona, Minn., May 19. — City Marshal Parr of St. Charles arrived in this city having in custody William Wallace, whom he lodged in jail here. On the night of the 14th the shoe store of J. C. Johnson was entered at St. Charles and some $400 worth of goods secured. Two tell-tale pair of new shoes were found in Wallace's trunk. These Wallace says he bought at Plainview. However, none of this brand of shoe are sold at Plainview, so he was arrested.

Turrell Takes His Medicine.

Redwood Falls, Minn., May 19.—The request of a stay of proceedings in the case of Robert A. Turrell, the banker convicted of grand larceny and sentenced to Stillwater, was revoked on application of defendant's attorney. He will go to Stillwater to-day.

Her Body Found.

Fort Ripley, Minn., May 19. — The body of Mrs. Mary Ann Davis, who was drowned April 18 while trying to cross the Mississippi at this place, was recovered to-day four miles below the place of drowning, by men in the employ of the Mississippi and Rum River Boom company while working on a log jam. The body was so badly disfigured from decomposition that it was only recognizable by the clothing. The body of Rassmussen, the other unfortunate drowned at the same time, has not yet been recovered.

FARMER HINE'S ROAD.

Duluth & Great Western Railroad Incorporated.

St. Paul, May 20. — Articles of incorporation of the Duluth & Great Eastern railway were filed with the secretary of state yesterday with a given capital stock of $100,000. The incorporators are George E. Mansfield of Greenfield, N. H.; C. S. Cox and I. H. Bradford of Hubbard, Minn.; E. S. Spalding and John A. Keyes of Duluth. The intention of the company is to construct a line from Duluth in a southerly direction, crossing the St. Louis river near the boundary of Minnesota and Wisconsin, near Rice's Point, to connect there with a railway to be built on Wisconsin soil, running through the northwest corner of the state. From there the line is to run through the north central part of Minnesota, passing near the southern boundary of Hubbard county; thence approaching the southwestern corner of the White Earth reservation and then to Caledonia in the Red river valley. From this point the line is to extend into North Dakota to the Missouri river by the most practicable route, while another branch is to run to Moorhead. Provisions are made for the construction of all needed branches, spurs and side tracks, while the amount of indebtedness is limited to $6,000,000. This is the incorporation of what is known as Farmer Hines' railroad.

RIVERS RAGING.

The Last Rain in Minnesota Was a Flood.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., May 20. — From Thursday night to Sunday midnight it rained incessantly, causing an extreme rise of water in the Red and Clearwater rivers and their tributaries. Both the mill dams have been endangered, and crews have worked day and night. Between here and Lambert (a distance of twenty-five miles) seven bridges have been swept away. The railways have suffered washouts which will interrupt service and streets and roads are impassable from landslides.

Warren, Minn., May 20.—The rains of Saturday and Sunday have brought on a flood. The water has not been so high since 1875. North-going trains are laid up here on account of washouts. Snake river is over its banks and running all over the prairie. Seeding will be delayed for several days.

Argyle, Minn., May 20. — From Saturday noon to Sunday night two and one-half inches of rain fell. All the rivers in Marshall county are overflowing their banks. Thousands of acres of grain are covered by water. No trains to-day from the south. The rivers are still rising two inches an hour.

BY WATER TO LE SUEUR.

The First Big Steamer in Ten Years Reaches There.

Minneapolis, May 20.—Inasmuch as the river and harbor bill just passed by congress makes a provision for the survey of Big Stone lake and vicinity with a view to the construction of a storage reservoir similar to those at the headwaters of the Mississippi, the trip of a steamer up the Minnesota river to Le Sueur yesterday is of special interest. It is about ten years since a boat of the size of the Daisy reached Le Sueur. And it is thirty years since there was regular traffic on the river for any length of time. Since the war spasmodic attempts have been made to reopen what was once a valuable water route, but for various reasons they failed, and now the river, through years of neglect, has become a nest of snags. However, the trip to Le Sueur demonstrated that the river is navigable still and that with ordinary attention it might be used for several months of each year, even without permanent improvements.

FOR LESS RATES.

The Red River Valley Will Demand a Hearing.

Moorhead, Minn., May 20. — Invitations will be issued in a few days for a convention to be held in Moorhead for the purpose of demanding the same grain rate per ton per mile (.6 of a mill) to the seaboard that the producers of Kansas and other southwestern states now enjoy. Delegates will be invited from Wisconsin, North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota and a definite plan of action mapped out. The interstate commerce commission will be invited to be present, also the railroad commissioners of the several states. As the convention will not be held until after congress adjourns the senators and representatives of these four states will have an opportunity to be present. Every board of trade, chamber of commerce, commercial club and business men's union in the hard wheat states will be asked to be represented by able men. The demand will be made in such form that the commission can find no excuse for refusing to establish the rate and placing the producers of the Northwest, so far as freight rates are concerned, on an equal footing with the producers of the Southwest.

Vigorous Arguments.

Duluth, May 20. — When Judge Boyne's court, in which is being tried the case of Charles Skully, who is charged with using dynamite to kill fish in the Cloquet river, adjourned today, Attorney C. C. Teare, who represents the defendant, and Assistant City Attorney Holmes took up a personal point that had arisen and argued it in the hallway. Hot words ensued and finally Teare smashed an umbrella over Holmes' shoulders. Friends interposed.

Killed While Hunting.

Minnesota Lake, Minn., May 20. — Charles Scharbsswisky, aged twenty-two, was killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun while hunting.

Inaugurated as Governor.

Baton Rouge, La., May 20.—Murphy J. Foster was inaugurated governor of Louisiana for the second time, and Robert H. Snyder of Tensas for lieutenant governor to-day in the presence of a large gathering. The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Nicholls, of the state supreme court.

Lochren's Nomination Confirmed.

Washington, May 20.—The senate to-day confirmed William Lochren as district judge in Minnesota, vice R. R. Nelson, resigned.

Plenty of Time to get Choice Farms on the Reservation Thirty Days from Now.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial ◆ Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc:
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

DR. H. GRUNDY

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

☞ Messages from the surrounding towns and country promptly attended to.

Office in Drug Store.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA.

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : :

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—

HELENA — PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
BUTTE
SPOKANE — ELEGANT DINING CARS
TACOMA
SEATTLE — TOURIST SLEEPING CARS
PORTLAND

TIME SCHEDULE.

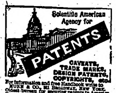
Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.



Scientific American Agency for

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 20, 1896.

EDITORIAL COLUMN.

They Will Cost You Nothing!

"If you want a page of Sound Currency Plates every fourth week, or every second week, FREE OF ALL EXPENSE, except transportation charges, you can obtain them by placing your order with the Sound Currency Committee, Reform Club, 52 William St., New York."

Who is paying for this matter sent out to almost every old party paper free? Do you think that the Wall Street financiers send out this plate matter for the benefit of the shallow newspapers that publish them? What interest have they in you or your paper that they will go to such great expense to furnish you with free matter and your readers with sound doctrins? (?)

There is not a newspaper man in the United States but knows that these craftily written editorials are prepared by the scheming bankers of New York, written up by the smoothest writer that their money can induce to prostitute his talents to greed and lust and sent out to educate the farmers and others of his class in the mysteries of finance, of which the poor producer knows nothing and the banker all. We have published this circular offer to show our readers how low desperately in earnest the banker is to secure the riveting of the last link in the chain that binds the producer to the car of Rothschild.

The bankers and banking interests are in complete control of all the daily press of Kansas City, and when the papers talk it is only the bankers talking. Col. Moore, one of the most upright, conscientious and talented editors one of the founders of the Times, I believe, was lately on the World. When his articles had to be submitted to a banker for approval he quit. Bankers say what shall and what shall not go into their papers. They propose to keep the public ignorant, so they can better and more easily skin them. I don't blame the bankers much. The people so like to be fleeced and will so much sooner believe a lie if told to them by a silk hat and diamond pin, that the temptation of the aforesaid hat and pin to pluck them is great.—Appeal to Reason.

It don't take half so much fuss and watchful care now to control the average daily newspapers of the country,—there was, and not long ago, when all the great papers of the United States were managed by men of talent and sagacity; now all that need be done by the banker, or railroad magnate is to look a little sour at the manager or the thing in charge, and the next issue is purged of all matter that might be construed as favorable to the common people, and after publication the flunkey goes down to the bank to see if the haughty dictator saw anything in the last issue objectionable or offensive.

Independent journalism is confined, almost without exception, to the country press, whose editors and publishers are either too patriotic to join in the tirade against what they know is the right, or have too much respect for their honor to deceive the people who support them.

A few exceptions exist, but in such exceptions we usually find the paper to be owned or mortgaged to the banker, or run by some republican fanatic whose father was a republican; or perhaps in a few (?) instances, managed by a fellow who has political aspirations which overtops his patriotism.

McKinley, having no capacity to control his own business, bankrupted. Rich eastern fellows raised the thousands and paid off the liabilities. McKinley is just the man they want for president. They own him. They will run the machine. They will get back thousands for each dollar donated if McKinley is elected. They are in politics for the same purpose as a king is—to rob the people.—Appeal to Reason.

The above is too true, but it does not half tell the story. If McKinley is elected an effort will be made to tax us for the support of such "infant industries" as the Homestead Steel Company, the Standard Oil Company and such other great trusts whose managers furnish the means to carry on the campaign. In the coming campaign the tariff must be an issue.

True the republican bosses are trying to make it the main one, but the people say there's a higher and more important matter to be attended to. We are poor and must have help or starve; to tax us more will not relieve us; but furnish us a few broad pieces of silver each, and it will act like magic. If McKinley is elected all the trusts, combines and frauds that now have the nation by the throat will be fostered and cared for and the farmer and the mechanic will be forgotten. Elect a president on the gold basis platform and the hard times, now almost beyond endurance, will be with us to stay; the banker of course will have plenty of money, and will pay it out with lavish hand to keep control of the system that makes millionaires of his kind and paupers of the "hayseeds." but if you want it (his credit) you must go up to him on your knees and when your turn comes meekly ask him to loan you what you need, to save you from disaster, at, say 10 per cent. and you'll probably get it if you are not too impudent. Are we a nation of freemen or beggars? A few years more will tell.

To the People's party Precinct Committees of Polk County.

The People's Party central committee of Polk county earnestly ask you to put forth your best efforts towards securing honest, intelligent, and sober delegates to represent you in the forthcoming county convention, men whom you recognize as unwavering in their loyalty to the principles of the People's Party, and who are desirous of promoting the welfare of Polk county, remembering that the work of the convention will reflect the character of the delegates who compose it.

The following is a condensed explanation of the primary law of 1895, prepared for your guidance. You are urged to study it carefully, and see that your primary election is conducted accordingly.

As indicated in the published call, the People's party county convention, for the nomination of county officers, will be held on the 18th of June, 1896, and the date for holding the primaries for the election of delegates, is fixed for the 11th day of the same month, the polls to be opened at 2 o'clock p. m., of said day, and to remain open two hours.

At least six days before the primary election, the call for same must be posted in three public places in the precinct.

The primaries are to be called to order by the chairman, or secretary of the precinct committee, or in their absence, by some qualified voter of the party.

The chairman, clerk of election, and two judges as to be chosen by a viva voce vote by voters of the party present.

All delegates to the convention must be elected by ballot. Each qualified elector at such primary shall place on his ballot, which can be either written or printed, the same number of names as the precinct is entitled to in the convention. A ballot is void if it contains more names than such precinct is entitled to as delegates. The persons receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected, and a plurality shall elect.

No person shall be permitted to vote at such primary, unless it is positively known that at the last general election he affiliated with the People's party, or unless he makes oath that he has united with the party since the last general election, and the judges are to determine as to the truth of such statements and receive or reject his vote.

No person is qualified to vote at a primary election, unless he has resided in the precinct for not less than thirty days preceeding such election.

It is the duty of the chairman of the primary to administer the oath of office to the judges and clerks, and to any voter when vote is challenged. The clerk shall keep a record of the proceedings, and he is authorized to administer the oath of office to the chairman. The form of oath to be administered to the officers of the primary is the same as that provided by law to be used at a general election.

The law makes it the duty of the judges to receive the votes, and to announce the name and address of every voter before he is permitted to cast his vote. If a vote is challenged, the judges shall decline to receive the same, until the voter makes oath that he is qualified under the law governing primary elections. If because of sickness or other reasons satisfactory to the judges the voter did not vote at the last general election, the judges shall receive his vote, provided he makes oath that he affiliates with the People's party.

When the polls are closed, the judges shall count the votes and report the same to the chairman, who shall announce the result, and declare elected such candidates for delegates as shall have received a plurality of the votes cast.

The chairman and clerk shall furnish the delegates elected with proper credentials, certifying their election, and shall also furnish the chairman of the county central committee a list of the names and places of residence of the electors voting in said primary election.

The law provides that no proxy can be given by any delegate failing to serve, but the vacancy thus made shall be filled by the delegation by the selection of some qualified elector residing in the same election district. In case any delegation fails to serve, the convention to which such delegation has been elected shall choose qualified electors, if such be present at said convention, residing in the same election district, from which said delegation was chosen, to act in lieu thereof. In case no qualified elector of the election district represented by the delegation is present to fill the vacancy caused by the failure of one or more delegates to serve, then the delegates present shall have the right to cast the full vote of the delegation.

A violation of the law is made a misdemeanor, and punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five, nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment for not less than thirty days, and not exceeding six months.

By order of County Committee,
ARNY GRUNDYSEN, Chairman.
JOHN GLEASON, Secretary.

RICH DISCOVERIES OF GOLD.

At Cripple Creek, Colo., and elsewhere, are being made daily, and the production for 1896 will be the largest ever known, estimated at Two Hundred Million Dollars. Cripple Creek alone is producing over One Million Dollars a month, and steadily increasing. Mining Stocks are advancing in price more rapidly than any other Stocks, and many pay dividends of 25 to 50 per cent. They offer the best opportunity to make a large profit on a small investment.

JOHN I. TALLMAN & CO., 45 Broadway, New York, are financial agents for the Prudential Gold Mining Co., and others in the famous Cripple Creek district. They will send you free, interesting particulars of the Mining Companies they represent also their book on speculation in Stocks, Grain and Cotton, containing many new and important features.

Send for these books at once if you are interested in any form of speculation or investments. They may prove profitable to you.

37-5

It Seems to Be the Custom to Humor Nagging, Profane Bosses.

"The way some men are managed is queer sometimes," the manager of a big concern remarked to an acquaintance who had dropped into the office. "I have never had any difficulty in managing men and getting the proper amount of work out of them, and I think I have some executive ability, but I doubt whether I could manage a gang of workmen on the river front, and I think that if I were a workman I would not be managed as I have seen men managed. I happened to be near one of the drydocks during the shifting of an old propeller from the dock to the shore. It wasn't what any one would call an expert job, but if you had seen and heard the foreman of the gang of workmen you would have thought that he was moving a battleship. The propeller had been removed from the hull in the dock, and a new one was to be put in its place. Planks had been placed over the space between the dock and the shore, and all that the men had to do besides pulling was to be careful that the propeller shouldn't roll off into the water. They had strong tackle and long rollers, and after they had stretched and fastened the tackle it was an easy job. The foreman directed every movement, and the way he bossed the men was amazing, but they didn't seem to mind it. Swear! Well, you ought to have heard him, or perhaps you ought not to have heard him. If anything slipped a little bit, he swore, and if something didn't move just right he swore. He would tell one man to do something, and an instant afterward he would undo it himself, swearing all the while.

"Finally they moved the mass of iron to the ends of the planks and began to pull it up the incline. The foreman acted as if he were in hot water all the time, and it was a wonder that he didn't fall overboard. Some of the men went ashore and hauled on the tackle, and two of them attended to the rollers. The thing was heavy, and it had to be moved slowly. 'Pull, there! What th' 'ell you doing? Going to sleep? Hold on! Now! Pull! Once more! Hold on! What's the matter with you? Hold fast, I say! Here, you, shift that roller! Not that way! Gimme that! Now! Easy! Once more!' I have left out the cuss words, but perhaps you have some notion of how he went on. I watched the men to see how they took that kind of treatment. Not one of them said a word during the half hour that I stood there. They were not foreigners, and they were not stupid. In fact, I thought any one of them was the equal of the foreman in intelligence and knowledge of his trade. They were inclined to be sullen, I thought, no matter how many times he swore at them and nagged them."—New York Herald.

His Unprofessional Advice.

Two or three lawyers were discussing the tricks of their trade.

"A big, burly fellow from the Michigan pine forests came into my office," said one of them, "and told a very mean story about a rich man here in town who was trying to cheat him out of $2,000 or $3,000 and who had managed to get a pretty tight clutch on the money. The backwoodsman looked and talked like an honest man, and the old miser's reputation was mean enough to match the story, so I felt inclined to believe it. When he had finished, I looked him up and down from head to foot. He asked me what I was looking him over for. 'Well,' said I, 'I was thinking that if I were over 6 feet tall and as powerful a man as you I wouldn't hire a lawyer to help me get that money.' The man's excited face smoothed out into blank astonishment. 'What do you mean?' he said. I answered: 'I mean just what I say. You are sure, are you, that he has that money in his office?' 'He had it there last night.' 'Well, you don't need a lawyer.'

"The man turned on his heel and left without another word. In a day or two he sent me a check for $50 and his thanks for my advice."—Chicago Times-Herald.

He Was Unfortunate.

"Ah, that was a sad case!"

"What?"

"Why, poor Bilkins got in a tight place and defaulted for nearly $200,000. Very sad; very sad. I wonder if they won't be able to compromise the case in some way?"

"By the way, what was done with that fellow who stole a bucket of coal from your woodshed?"

"Oh, the thief went to the penitentiary. I prosecuted the case right up to the end. There should be no sympathy with thieves."

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NENE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 13	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
ROOKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	3.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to
H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

THE FAMOUS
SUMARITAN

Rye Whisky

Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.

FOR SALE BY

BRINK BROS.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

Subscribe
for the SPECTATOR
and keep posted on the affairs of the day.

Winchester Repeating

Rifles
Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞ Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

M. Z. EPPERSON

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry. : : : : : : :

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOHLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota

This is Easy Enough!

Any of my customers will be presented with a life like portrait free of charge by presenting their picture at my store. : : : : : : : : : :

M. A. HALL. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

For Sale! — The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS.	BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS.	RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS.	MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

J.S. BREDENBECK

The Watchmaker

AND JEWELER.

Repairing of Watches and Clocks a Specialty
Engraving neatly done.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

N. M. WATSON, M.D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

Harness....

☞If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing, call on

C. A. SKEIE,

West Broadway. St. Hilaire, Minn.

Blacksmith!

☞Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, Etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL. St Hilaire, Minn.

M. E. BJERK

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.

Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL	Councilmen
M. Z. EPPERSON	Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	50c	Butter	8@10c
Oats	12c	Eggs	8c
Barley	11c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.50
Flax	72c	Potatoes "	12½

LOCAL NEWS.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

"Sooners" are a thing of the past.

A special coach was attached to the passenger train yesterday.

Rev. Kenniston of Thief River Falls was in the village Saturday.

Martin Hoff, Jr. launched his new row boat the first of the week.

About five hundred logs went through the race early Sunday morning.

Dr. Watson of Red Lake Falls was in the village a short time Thursday.

Jerry Palmer the cigar man of Grand Forks was doing the town Thursday.

S. M. Dainard made a flying trip to Crookston Monday returning yesterday.

The weather this spring compares favorably with that of fours years ago.

The two coaches on the St. Hilaire "flyer" were packed full last Thursday.

Several of our bicyclists are thinking seriously of trading off their row boats.

Surfacing is being done on the branch line between here and Red Lake Falls.

The steamboat was washed over the dam last Sunday morning—slightly damaged.

The dance Saturday night did not materialize, owing to the condition of the weather.

The bridge south of town was under water last Sunday and Monday and the ravines bank full.

For the last three presidential years, we have had high water, rain and mud—1888, 1892 and 1896.

Halvor Halvorson who has been in employ of D. Patterson for some time, is under the weather.

Wm. Barragy has just finished painting and papering the rooms now occupied by Fred Eikhoff.

J. Madden of Clearwater was in town yesterday after supplies, W. Basset accompanied him home.

Auditor Marshall of the Red River Valley Elevator Company was here between trains Monday.

Geo. Ralph, the civil engineer, with headquarters at Crookston was doing business here yesterday.

Rapp & Post have a large variety of straw hats which they will sell at cost. Call and look them over.

If you want your house painted or papered, call on Wm. Barragy, the painter and paper hanger.

E. M. Hoff and M. Z. Epperson took the flyer Thursday for Crookston, returning the following day.

The employees of the American hotel were beating carpets yesterday and cleaning house in general.

Joe Paradis, brother of our townsman Pete, opened up his sample rooms at Red Lake Falls last Friday.

The councilmen were out this morning inspecting the bridges and culverts in the south part of the town.

J. C. Dahl is re-shingling his blacksmith shop and making other improvements during the dull season.

Very little excitement was noticeable here last Friday when the opening of the reservation was announced.

Druggist Johnson and W. A. Sorsoleil were at Red Lake Falls last Thursday attending to business matters.

The residents of St. Hilaire are complaining of their cellars being filled with water to the extent of a foot or two.

Ringling Bros. world's greatest show, will exhibit at Crookston June 2nd. Excursion rates on all lines of railway.

Jas. A. Dainard has purchased the Brown building from Dan Patterson and will open a saloon therein July 1st.

Fred Eikhoff, after two weeks of house cleaning, nailing down carpets, etc., is now nicely located in the second story of his building on Broadway.

5 cents will buy two packages of garden seeds at Hall's.

Charley Rapp goes to Crookston, this afternoon.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

County Commissioner Norland walk in from his farm to day.

H. E. Ives goes to Crookston to-day to witness the high stage of water reported down there.

Miss Mary Quandy's millinery store is now located on the east side of Broadway, opposite S. M. Dainard's real estate office.

O. W. Brink did a great stroke of business in the machinery line last week, having sold several mowers and one binder.

O. W. Brink has made arrangements to occupy the first floor of the Hall building when completed for a machine depot.

Uncle Ephraim was interviewed yesterday. Owing to lack of space, we will let you know how he "comin' on" in next week's issue.

Col. Stranahan has about three hundred bushels of the finest potatoes ever seen for this time of the year. Govern yourself accordingly.

The river was on the rampage—good and plenty—Monday, resembling that of the Missouri—which is the most treacherous of all rivers.

John C. Shjerva and Hans O. Rod both prosperous farmers living in this vicinity, called on us Thursday and subscribed for the SPECTATOR.

W. A Sorsoleil has the contract for furnishing all of the material for Dan. Paterson's residence. The work of excavating will commence at once.

It rained twenty-four hours Thursday, twelve hours Saturday and twenty-four hours Sunday. The river is bank full with what rain fell this spring.

Archie Shannon the renowned Minnesota collector was here to-day looking for high and dry land—being driven out the neighboring town by high water.

They have a new high water mark at Crookston—the old one is under water, consequently board fences are out of sight and barns are tied up with ropes.

St. Hilaire presents a lively appearance with all the buildings going up now days. How could it be otherwise? There is not a vacant building in town.

Messrs. Schaffer and Hanson of Stephen, who have been at Thief River Falls for the past ten days were looking the village over the fore part of the week.

Brink Bros., have placed a bran new awning on their place of business this week. The up-to-date painter left out a letter, but it reads all right just the same.

Owing to bad weather the carpenters on the large Epperson building were compelled to lay off for several days. Since Monday the work is being pushed rapidly.

The postponed 17th of May celebration of the Valhall Society in the town of Rocksbury will come off on schedule time regardless of the weather. May 24th is the date.

State Bank Examiner Compton of St. Paul was in the village Monday. While here Mr. Compton made arrangements for a hunting trip similar to that he had in this vicinity two years ago.

Louis Ellington, cashier of the Scandia bank of Crookston was in town a few hours Monday, on his way home from Thief River Falls. Mr. Ellington took the train both ways this trip.

We wish it distinctly understood that the St. Hilaire dam is not washed out. The dam is still there and is as solid, as solid as they make them. But the race went out a week ago last Saturday.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

C. G. Rapp and H. E. Ives returned from Crookston Thursday looking none the worse after knowing the mysteries of the "B. P. O. E." Harry says the old adage of "the last shall be first" does not work with the Elks.

Mrs. A. R. Jones and family returned to-day from a two weeks visit with her sister, Mrs. J. O. Mathews, at Crookston. Mr. Jones is happy and says he will not have to watch the house and hereafter will have plenty of time to go fishing.

E. M. Hoff, and force, were busy Monday getting the burglar proof safe over from the depot and placing it in position in his store. The old safe being too small compelled Mr. Hoff making this change. The new safe was purchased of the Mosler Safe Company of Hamilton, Ohio.

A meeting of the Local Educational Association No. 1, of Polk county will convene in the Thief River Falls school building at 9 o'clock, Saturday morning May 23rd. It is very desirable that every teacher in the community be present. An excellent program is prepared and a profitable session anticipated.

The Minneapolis Penny Press is the only daily newspaper in the twin cities that advocates the free coinage of silver and gold—the bimetalism that is described in and sanctioned by the constitution of the United States—and is one of the cheapest dailies of the country, being only $3 a year or $1.50 for six months. Every person who belives in this doctrine (every Populist does, and the prairies swarm with them while the woods are also full;) who can possibly afford to do so should subscribe for the Penny Press. It is the friend of farmers, laborers and business men.

STOP TALKING.

SO SAY THE TWELVE GOOD MEN AND TRUE IN THE HAIGHT CASE.—THEY DO NOT BELIEVE IN THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.—FREE SPEECH IS CUT OFF ACCORDING TO THEIR VERDICT.—WHAT NEXT IS COMING?

Silas Haight, a leading populist and advocate of free silver, is now lodged in the city bastile of East Grand Forks on a charge of obstructing the public highway. On Monday evening, Mr. Haight announced on the street that he would deliver a lecture in the city hall, but the audience not wishing to go there he began his speech on the street, when he was interupted by the chief of police, who informed him that he would have to go to the hall or discontinue his lecture. The chief then left, but on returning shortly after found Mr. Haight still talking and placed him under arrest. He was taken to the city hall and the charge made against him. On Wednesday evening his case came up for trial, but as the defendant requested a jury trial it was continued until Thursday morning. All through the trial the evidence was in favor of the defendent, several witnesses testifying that the sidewalk was not obstructed, and one witness testified that he wheeled a hand cart through the crowd along the sidewalk at the time of the alleged obstruction. There was nothing shown in the evidence on which to convict Haight, although the twelve good men and true seemed to think so, and returned a verdict of guilty, consequently Mr. Haight was fined $1.00 and costs. Some claim that the chief was acting under instructions, but however that may be has but little to do with the matter. It is simply a question whether an American citizen has the right of free speech as provided by the constitution of the United States, or whether a city has the right to make laws in direct conflict with those of the United States. If the city has the power to do this, then there is little use of people sending representatives to congress to make laws for their protection. Public sympathy is, and certainly should be, in favor of Mr. Haight.—Labor World, Grand Forks, N. D.

Silas Haight, the man who was arrested in East Grand Forks for talking free silver on the sidewalks in that city, was brought before Judge Ives, in chambers, on Saturay evening on certiorari. Judge Ives reviewed and set aside the proceedings of the lower court, and the prisoner was discharged. Judge Ives holding that the lower court had exceeded its jurisdiction.—Crookston Tribune.

The facts of a certain case were given in last weeks issue of the SPECTATOR; but a prominent republican thought it otherwise,—made a wager,—lost; then said "that's all you can expect of a populist paper." Once in a great while a good republican will own up he's wrong and pay his bets—let it be ever so small. Our aim is to tell the truth and nothing but the truth.

The East Grand Forks Salvation army officers were informed yesterday that they would be arrested last night if they persisted in holding their open air street meeting. Capt. Johnson informed the officers that she would hold the meeting just the same and carried out her program without being interfered with and still holds the fort.—Grand Forks Herald.

The recent heavy rains have interfered somewhat with the Great Northern traffic to Red Lake Falls. Heavy land slides are reported in the cuts between the North Side Roller Mills and the depot. Last Sunday a work train was dispatched to the scene to clear out the cuts but as Jim Hill cannot pay more than $1.10 per day the work crew is not very large, the resuming of traffic slow, and the cuts are not yet cleared.

WYLIE ITEMS.

Peter Hansel went to Crookston last week on "business."

Get your cow-bells and tin-pans ready for you may have to use them soon.

Andrew Letvig has taken a contract to put down a well for C. Adolphson.

Ole Romsas took advantage of the "flyer" and went to Crookston last week.

The home-seekers go through here on an average of one hundred per day.

George Rapan and Lizzie Carpenter were married by Justice Peterson last week.

We have just received our new slate black-board which was greatly needed the last two months.

Jake Thill, Ole Romsas and J. G. Brady spent a very pleasant evening at Mr. J. Powers residence last Wednesday evening.

Miss Hattie Davidson began school in the M. Hanson school Monday, which had been postponed two weeks on account of the rain.

Anyone desirious of knowing the condition of the roads between here and Red Lake Falls, consult our local pedagogue. He reports being stranded last Sunday night in our vicinity; anyhow he didn't show up here until Monday morning. Something strange.

Jake Thill and Gertrude Dargan were married to-day in Red Lake Falls. The bride and groom are well and favorably known here and need no comments as to the esteem in which they are held. May they have a long, pleasant and prosperous voyage on the matrimonial sea.

FLAX SEED.

First-class flax seed for sale, absolutely clean, price reasonable at 28-tf R. J. HOLMES.

PROGRESSING.

Sing a song of nickels,
Pockets full of trash,
Over head and ears in debt
Out of ready cash,
Heaps of flying collectors
Busy as can be,—
Aint we had a busy time
Since 1893?

Grover in the White House
Playing with the kids,
Carlisle in the treasury
Cancelling silver bids,
Congress trying all it can
To make us all more poor,—
Aint we having a jolly time,
Since 1894?

Scofield says the army
We surely must increase,
And garrison the cities
For strikes they may increase,
The preachers tell the people
"Thank God you're still alive"
But lifted none of your burdens
Since 1895.

The workingman, tired of trusting
A far off, silent God,
Remembers all are equal
On Uncle Sam's green sod,
Takes in his hand the ballot
In the ballot box he sticks,
A Pop—and what a change
In 1896.

A Populist in the White House
Uncle Sam makes his own money
Railroads run by the government
No tariff on wool or honey,
Laws made by the people,—
Wont we be in heaven?—
No tramps, no strikes, no paupers
In 1897.

—Facts and Figures.

Call for People's Party County Convention June 18th.

The People's Party convention for the county of Polk, State of Minnesota, will be held at the court house, in the City of Crookston, on the 18th day of June, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the following county offices:

County Auditor,
County Treasurer,
Sheriff,
Register of Deeds,
Judge of Probate,
County Attorney,
Surveyor,
Coroner,
Court Commissioner,
Superintendent of Schools,
County Commissioner, 1st District,
County Commissioner, 3rd District,
County Commissioner, 5th District.

The basis of representatation, as determined by the county central committee, shall be one delegate at large for each voting precinct, and one delegate for evrey fifty votes or major fraction thereof, cast for S. M. Owen for governor at the general election in 1894.

Conformable to forgoing apportionment, the voting precincts of Polk County will be entitled to delegates in the convention as follows:

Andover	2	Kertsonville	2
Angus	1	King	3
Black River	2	Knute	4
Bray	1	Lake Pleasant	2
Badger	2	Lambert	3
Brandsvold	2	Liberty	2
Belgium	1	Lessor	2
Brislet	1	Lowell	2
Bygland	3	Louisville	2
Crookston	1	McIntosh Village	2
" City 1st ward	3	Nesbit	2
" " 2nd "	2	Norden	2
" " 3rd "	2	North	2
" " 4th "	2	Northland	1
" " 5th "	1	Numedal	1
Columbia	2	Onstad	1
Chester	2	Parnell	1
Emardville	1	Poplar River	2
Euclid	1	Polk Centre	1
Eden	1	Queen	2
Esther	1	R. L. Falls Village	3
Fairfax	1	Red Lake Falls	2
Farley	1	Reis	1
Fanny	1	River Falls	3
Fisher	3	Rocksbury	3
Fosston Village	2	Roome	3
Fertile "	1	Rosebud	3
Grand Forks	2	Russia	1
E. G. F. 1st ward	1	Rhinehart	1
" 2nd "	1	Sanders	2
" 3rd "	1	Sandsville	2
" 4th "	2	St. Hilaire Village	2
Garfield	2	Sletten	1
Garden	4	Sullivan	1
Gentilly	2	Tabor	1
Gervais	2	Terrebonne	2
Grove Park	1	Tilden	1
Godfrey	3	Tynsid	1
Hammond	1	Thief River Falls	3
Higiem	2	Vineland	2
Hill River	3	Winger	4
Huntsville	2	Woodside	3
Hubbard	2	Wyandotte	1
Keystone	1

The primaries for the election of delegates shall be held on the 11th day of June, 1896, and the polls shall be opened at 2 o'clock p.m., and remain open for two hours.

By order of the County Central Com.
ARNY GRUNDYSEN,
Chairman.
JOHN GLEASON,
Secretary.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
COUNTY OF POLK.

District Court, Fourteenth Judicial Dist.
Evelin Newby, plaintiff, vs. Edwin Newby, defendant.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in this action, which complaint is on file in the office of the Clerk of the District Court in and for said county, and to serve a copy of your answer on the undersigned at the office of R. J. Montague, in the City of Crookston in said county, within thirty days after the sevice of this summons on you, exclusive of the day of the service thereof, and in case you fail to answer within the time required by law, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the releif demanded in the complaint.

Dated May first, 1896

R. J. MONTAGUE, Plaintiff's Atty.
40-45 Crookston, Minn.

U.S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., May 19th 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U.S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on July 2nd 1896, viz:

John C. Shjerva Hd No. 14125, for the w½ sw¼ sec. 33, e½ se¼ sec. 32 tp 153 N. range 42 west.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Andrew Nelson, Peter A. Tune, Gilbert Anderson and Ole H. Broten, all of St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

42-47 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41-53

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but every one knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

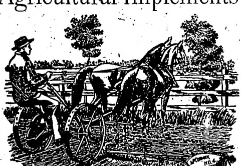
Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements



American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - MINNESOTA

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Boils

It is often difficult to convince people their blood is impure, until dreadful carbuncles, abscesses, boils, scrofula or salt rheum, are painful proof of the fact. It is wisdom now, or whenever there is any indication of blood, to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and prevent such eruptions and suffering.

Impure

"I had a dreadful carbuncle abscess, red, fiery, fierce and sore. The doctor attended me over seven weeks. When the abscess broke, the pains were terrible, and I thought I should not live through it. I heard and read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I decided to take it, and my husband, who was suffering with boils, took it also. It soon purified our built me up and restored my health so that, although the doctor said I would not be able to work hard, I have since done the work for 20 people. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured my husband of the boils, and we regard it a wonderful medicine." MRS. ANNA PETERSON, Latimer, Kansas.

Blood

Hood's
Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, easy to take, easy to operate. 25 cents.

Agriculturists in the Isle of Man are just now grappling with the problem of the rook pest.

Free Government Land.

The only large body of free government land suitable for raising wheat or diversified farming, open to settlement under the homestead law, lies in the Turtle mountain county of North Dakota. Close to timber, markets, schools and churches. Improved farms also to be had on the crop payment plan. Intending settlers are invited to correspond with F. L. Thompson, Caudo, N. D.

Two hundred and thirty thousand people have licences to sell or deal in beer in Great Briton.

The Significance of a Gray Overcoat

Upon the tongue, yellowness of the skin and eyeballs, nausea and uneasiness beneath the right ribs and shoulder blade, is that the victim of these discomforts is bilious. The "proper caper" under such circumstances is to take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which also cures chills and fever, constipation, dyspepsia, rheumatic and kidney complaints and nervousness.

Green contrasts with colors containing red, and harmonizes with colors containing yellow.

Investigate This.

$100 earns $2 per day; $500 earns $10 per day, under our plain practical plan of investment. Many are taking advantage of the opportunity. You should do so. Address for full particulars, Chandler & Co. Kasota Block, Minneapolis, Minn.

Not long since, in a mine in the Fleus, Belgium, district, called "St. Henriette des Produits," a rich vein of coal was struck at the extraordinary depth of 4,188 feet.

Piso's Cure for Consumption is the best of all cough cures.—George W. Lotz, Fabucher, La., August 26, 1895.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for Children Teething.

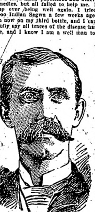
Whooping cough in a fatal form has lately been distinctly increasing among London children.

JUST IN TIME.

A Terrible Catastrophe Averted. How Mr. Dice almost passed the portals of death. Restored to health in a manner that seems miraculous.

There are thousands of people in the world that are dying daily, who even a few hours before the end were in no worse condition than was Mr. John Dice of 2020 W. 3rd Street, Duluth, Minn. His sufferings, from his own account, must have been terrible, afflicted as he was with severe kidney and stomach trouble; but perhaps it would be best to let him describe his sickness and how he was restored to health by the use of Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, in his own words:

"I have suffered greatly from trouble with my kidneys and stomach. In rising after bending down I would become very dizzy; everything would look black to me. I knew that I was threatened with Bright's disease. I tried many physicians and different remedies, but all failed to help me. I gave up ever being well again. I tried Kickapoo Indian Sagwa a few weeks ago, and am now on my third bottle, and I can thankfully say all traces of the disease has left me, and I know I am a well man today."



JOHN DICE.

Most people do not realize that these sudden dizzy spells, pains in the small of the back, and inability to retain refreshing sleep, a loss of appetite, a face that has an unnatural pallor and a puffy appearance are the unmistakable evidences of Bright's disease, or some other terrible kidney complication.

Sufferers so afflicted drag out a miserable existence, growing weaker from day to day until they hail the sudden death that eventually overtakes them as a blessing for releasing them from pain. But, why get in this condition? Follow Mr. Dice's example; with the first symptoms take Kickapoo Indian Sagwa, that most wonderful and effectual of all remedies for the cure of all derangements of the stomach, liver and kidneys, and the greatest blood purifier known to medical science.

Thousands of testimonials similar to the above are continually reaching us. Add yours to the list; you surely will when you find that this great remedy has saved your life. Remember, though always effectual, it is absolutely harmless, containing no poisonous ingredients whatever. It has been used by Indians for centuries and their long life and freeness from such troubles as described above make them living examples of its wonderful power.

STORY OF A HEART.

The library at Ardenvohr, the residence of the Stuart-Grahams, Mabel Stuart-Graham, only daughter, standing near the fireplace, Maxwell Leith, tutor to the house of Graham, seated writing at the center table. Heads of the house dining out. Time, 8:30 p. m.

She (drumming impatiently on the mantelpiece and glancing in his direction)—You don't seem to care that this is my last evening; that I am going away to-morrow; that I shan't be back at Ardenvohr for months.

He—It would be generally supposed that you are to be envied. You are going out into the world. You have life before you with all its possibilities.

She (with an inflection of asperity in her voice)—I wish you would not speak so like a copybook. What you say may be true enough. I have a box full of new clothes up stairs most girls would covet, and yet (flinging herself impatiently into a chair and glancing covertly at him), I would a thousand times rather be putting on my old serge gown and be sitting down to Horace.

He (still writing)—That feeling will wear off. You will enjoy the novelty of the new life. You will get fresh interests. You will be admired.

She (pouting)—I don't want fresh interests. I don't care (significantly) for the admiration of the multitude.

Silence, except for the scratching of his pen.

She (rising and going to the table near him)—What are you writing?

He—Some Latin verse of your brother's. I am correcting it.

She (watching him)—It seems fuller of mistakes than usual. (With a burst of irritation.) Can't you leave it tonight? I don't suppose you care how miserable I am. I dare say (with a dry sob) you will just go on when I am away as if nothing had happened, only with this difference, that you won't be bothered with my mistakes.

He (paling visibly and pushing away his writing)—You are depressed tonight. To-morrow things will look brighter.

She (her eyes full of reproach)—You are very unkind. (Her head goes down on her hands on the table.)

He, (agitated, rises and paces the room; stops near her and lays his hand on her bowed head; speaks rather unsteadily)—Do you know how hard you make things for me? Do you know I would willingly give this right hand to save you unhappiness?

She (looking up with quivering lips)—Is that all you have to say to me?

He (turning his head away)—It is all I dare say. There are things in this world you don't know about that come before inclination.

She (desperately)—I don't understand about such things. I don't care about them. I only know that I am miserable.

Billiard room in Continental hotel, Robert Stuart-Graham, Maxwell Leith, tutor, occupants.

Robert Stuart-Graham (reading the Post)—On my soul, Mab has stolen a march upon us and no mistake.

Maxwell Leith (testily chalking a cue with a hand that shakes slightly)—What are you talking about? Pray be more explicit.

Robert Stuart-Graham—Listen to this! (Reads aloud): "A marriage has been arranged and will take place shortly between Major the Hon. Haig Elmslie, younger, of Mount Elmslie, Royal Scots Fusileers, and Mabel, only daughter of Robert Stuart-Graham, of Ardenvohr, Argyllshire, N. B." Good old Mab! Made all the running in her first season, and it was only yesterday that she had her hair down her back and frocks up to her knees. (Throws down the newspaper, and lights a cigar.) Wonder what sort of fellow he is. Hope he has a moor and keeps a yacht. I say, Leith, can you picture Mab in the capacity of lady of the manor?

Maxwell Leith (replaces cue in the stand and makes somewhat abruptly for the door)—The sun's coming out, after all. Much too fine a day to spend cooped up in doors. I believe I shall go for a stroll.

Robert Stuart-Graham (left alone, yawns and throws himself on a seat and picks up the fallen paper)—I don't know what the fellow calls "fine." It's as black as thunder over there. He's as capricious as the weather itself. I wish he had known his mind before Higgins made up his golf foursome for this afternoon without me.

Drawing room in Mayfair. Major Elmslie and Mabel Stuart-Graham occupants.

He (holding her hand and toying with a diamond ring on the third finger of the left hand)—And so you are leaving me to-morrow, and you have only this paltry ring to remind you that you belong to me?

She (blushing and smiling)—I hardly think I shall need a reminder. Ardenvohr is as unexciting as a convent. You speak as if I were going to be swallowed up in a succession of festivities.

He (jealously)—I am suspicious of these quiet retreats. They have a way of producing unattached men, if it be nothing more than a good-looking parson, or even an arbitrary, self-confident country doctor.

She (archly)—You need not agitate yourself. The parson is near-sighted and has only one lung, and the doctor has a wife and six children.

He (relieved)—And you have really been wasting your sweetness on these unappreciative rustics up there till now? What a deadly dull time of it you must have had!

She (a shade uneasily by reason of certain unwelcome mental "reminiscences")—Not exactly "deadly dull." At least I did not think it so then. I dare say now I should find the things and people that amused me before rather—well, just a trifle wanting in flavor. But—but (shyly) you will come down and relieve the monotony as soon as you can, won't you?

He—Need you ask? The very first moment duty, in the shape of Col. Saunders, makes it possible. Meantime I shall live only for the pleasures of hope.—Black and White.

He Had Had Experiences With Women.

Precocious Arthur—You needn't shake your pocketbook at me, Aunt Clara. I know what it's filled with. You can't dazzle me with your wealth.

Aunt Clara—You impertinent boy! What is there in it, then?

Precocious Arthur—O, a 5-cent piece, four pennies, two cards, a glove-buttoner, a nail-file and several other worthless articles, with a handkerchief and a love-letter from your darling George.—New York Ledger.

Thought He Had Jaundice.

OTHER DOCTORS SAID DIABETES, INDIGESTION TORPID LIVER, ETC.

From the Reporter, Fond du Lac, Wis.

About a year ago the Reporter correspondent on a trip through Stockbridge, Wisconsin, was introduced to Mr. J. W. Flower, whose appearance was anything but pleasant to one unacquainted with disease and its effects. One would think Mr. Flower had jaundice or consumption and to the reporter it seemed that he was not long for this world. Some six months later the correspondent saw Mr. Flower again and there was a very marked improvement in his appearance. In reply to a question as to what had been the matter with him he stated he did not know exactly, but that he had been examined and treated by several physicians who failed to agree as to his ailments. Said Mr. Flower:

"One stated I had diabetes, another indigestion, and another said my spleen failed to supply the system with sufficient red corpuscles, another said my liver had become hardened and torpid, but none of the remedies prescribed did me any good. I was cold and weak nearly all the time, I had no ambition. I had chills and then heat flashes; I was at times numb and thought I was paralyzed, my legs were so weak I could scarcely walk a block at times. I had given up all hope of ever getting better, when one day I read an article in The Reporter which spoke of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

"I thought it was about the same as with other patent medicines and paid no attention to it, but my wife who has been troubled as most women are, concluded to send for a box of the pills to use in her case, which she did. I read the circular wrapped around the box and concluded to try them myself unknown to her. I had no faith in their doing me any good, but much to my surprise after taking them a week I began feeling much better and as my wife was also feeling better I told her I was taking the pills. I sent for two boxes more, and in two months I was much better. My strength has improved ever since, and I am still gaining flesh. I have regained my appetite, and to-day I can do as much work on the farm as any man in my employ."

"Then, Mr. Flower, you honestly believe that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured you and your wife?" questioned the correspondent.

"Yes, and I have given them to my children when they complain and on them they work like magic. It would be impossible for me to speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which I have at all times in my household. I commenced to use the Pink Pills in my family about one year and a half ago, and find them to do more than they are advertised to do. I would not be without them for any price and am always glad to recommend them to all my friends, and would advise all others to use them, especially those who have suffered as myself and wife have suffered."

"J. W. Flower, being duly sworn on his oath, says the foregoing statement is corerct and true.

(Signed.) "J. W. FLOWER."

Personally appeared before me this 15th day of January, 1896, the above named J. W. Flower, and acknowledged the same. W. D. MILLER,
Notary Public.
Calumet County, Wis.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

If a well could be dug to the depth of forty-six miles, the air at the bottom would be as dense as quicksilver.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch st., Phila., Pa.

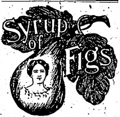
The word "hairbreadth," now used for an infinitesimal space, was once a regular measure. It was the width of sixteen hairs laid side by side.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

In old England thirteen was called the "devil's dozen," but exactly why is not known.

The loss of stock in New South Wales by the recent drouth is estimated at 10,000,000 sheep, valued at 4s each; 300,000 cattle, valued at 40s, and 20,000 horses, valued at 80s, amounting in the aggregate to a total of £2,666,000.



Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

You are bound to succeed in making HIRES Rootbeer if you follow the simple directions. Easy to make, delightful to take.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

OPIUM Habit Cured. Est. in 1871. Thousands cured. Cheapest and best cure. FREE TRIAL. State case. DR. MARSH, Quincy, Mich.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION.

DIMINISH DANGER.

Telephone Wire Diminish the Violence of Thunder Storms.

Important evidence of the much-mooted question of the influence of telephone wires on lightning has been secured by the German telegraph department. An inquiry was set on foot with a view to ascertaining whether the danger from lightning was increased or decreased by the presence of the miles of overhead wires which make up the network of a telegraph system. The result of the inquiry has been to show that the telephone wires sensibly diminish the violence of thunder storms and lessen risk from lightning. A comparison made between 240 towns having a telephone system and 500 not so provided showed that the ratio of the risk of damage from lightning was as one to 4.6 in favor of the former, while the frequency of flashes during a thunder storm was lowered in the proportion of 3 to 5.

Nothing in the house saves the wear and tear of servants so much as the telephone, and even in private houses, many of the principal rooms are now being equipped with this indispensable instrument. A Berlin firm has very much simplified the matter of domestic telephony by the construction of a miniature instrument for small installations, which are likely to be of service for hotels, hospitals, factories, ships' cabins, etc. The transmitter and receiver are attached to each other, and form a small, pear-shaped pendant, resembling a bell-pull. When conversation is desired the two parts are readily separated, and the ear is placed to one and the mouth to the other. The telephone is composed of a powerful horseshoe magnet with bobbins of wire on it. The microphone is formed of a corrugated iron disc and grains of carbon. The apparatus can be suspended anywhere. It is cased in vulcanite wood or aluminum, and is extremely light.

The recent introduction of the telephone into the kitchen by an American company is a step in the same direction. For 60 cents a month the housekeeper can put a one-way telephone into his kitchen, and thus call up the grocer, butcher coal dealer, florist, plumber or other retail merchant on the telephone service and give orders. This is a great convenience, and at the rate of less than 2 cents a day, is remarkably cheap. Not long ago, one of the New England companies adopted a plan of special temporary service for houses where sickness requires the prompt attendance of the doctor.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

MAKING PIANOS OF PAPER.

Fine Specimens from French Factories Which Equal Any in the Market.

All manner of articles in place of wood have been used in the manufacture of pianos. Perhaps these'sd.(.sth ture of pianos. Perhaps the most successful of all these is paper, of which many pianos of exquisite tone and appearance have been made. The Duke of Devonshire has one of the finest specimens of the paper piano, this being of French make, and decorated most ornately with pictures by well-known French artists. The Duke gave 500 guineas for this, mainly no doubt, on account of the ornamentation.

I suppose that you know that pianos for very hot and very cold climate—all instruments for export, in fact—have to be specially made, and in this direction all manner of experiments have been tried.

Among others, a sort of cellulose, one factor in which is actually common molasses, from which sugar is made, is employed and a composition made from the chemical treatment of gutta-percha and leather pulp has been tried. Ivory pianos are by no means tried. Ivory pianos are by no means uncommon, and the dowager Countess of Dudley has a magnificent carved specimen. Pianos of ivory are, I might say, made every year in numbers, but chiefly for Indian princes and rich Spanish Americans. Many pianos of solid silver have been made—indeed, one was only lately completed by a London firm for the nizam of Hyderabad—and piano cases have at various times been made of bronze, a species of aluminium glass, porcelain, and, in combination, mother-of-pearl.—London Answers.

A Coming Development in Electricity.

A scheme for making electricity more easily available to the public for general purposes has been proposed by Mr Macock in a paper before an engineering convention. Mr. Mencock said the time had arrived when electricity, now only available in towns, leading hotels and public institutions, should be within reach of residents in suburban and rural districts. As a means of carrying out this idea, he proposed to establish what he called electrical colonization, or a grouping of, say a dozen residences, having a common generating station, with attendant, which should supply the current for the residences in the group. During the day the plant could be at the service of the subscribers for the pumping of water, for charging storage batteries, electrically-propelled horseless carriages, which will, in course of time, be as common as ordinary carriages are now, for heating, cooking and many other purposes. The supply could be extended to an electrical launch, where it was in the vicinity of a sheet of water, and where it was desired, provision could be made without difficulty for supplying current for operating electric elevators. Mr. Mencock believed that such a scheme could be put into practice by an enterprising builder or capitalist with an excellent chance of being made a financial success.

Reviving Ostrich Plumes.

There are few things that give a hat a more rumpled and shabby appearance than an ostrich feather limp and dejected, looking almost as forlorn as when it and its fellows arrive from ostrich-land. Any one seeing an ostrich feather then would think it only fit for a rag bag, but a series of brisk scrubbings in warm soapsuds on a washboard; a judicious patching together and elimination of ragged places, where Sir Ostrich had preened himself too vigorously, a curling and combing, soon make of the ostrich feather a thing of beauty and a joy forever—until it gets wet—when the process of rejuvenation again becomes necessary. Have a teakettle full of boiling water, shake the feathers vigorously through the escaping steam, taking care that they do not get too damp. This livens up the plume and restores brilliancy if it has become dull and dusty. Next take a silver fruit knife and, beginning with the feathers nearest the quill, take a small branch between thumb and forefinger and draw gently over the blade of the knife until they curl as closely as desired. Follow this process up each side of the tip; then take a very coarse comb and comb out carefully, and you have your plume as good as ever.—Chicago Chronicle.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

A Hen's Feline Pets.

Queer Pets of a Motherly Old Speckled Hen.

William Ohler, of Bethel, Conn., owns an old speckled hen that has a heart as tender as her flesh is tough. Last week she adopted two kittens that were deserted by their unnatural mother.

The old cat left her offspring in the barn where tehy were born and did not return for several days. The speckled hen was sitting on a nest of eggs nearby. After the cat disappeared the kittens began to meow plaintively. The speckled hen, cackling and clucking softly, strutted over to the kittens and tried to comfort them. She huddled them under her wings, cooing hen-fashion, and did her best to tell them that she would be a mother to them.

That night, and for several days thereafter, the speckled hen watched over the kitchen ceaselessly. Her own nest of eggs was neglected. She covered her foster children with her wings, gave them good advice and an occasional scolding in hen language, and tried fequently to induce them to eat a worm, or a bug. The kittens grew weaker and weaker day after day for lack of proper nourishment, and then——

The cat came back minus an eye and considerable fur. She tried to approach the babies, but the tough old speckled hen would not allow her. She flew at the cat, cackling fiercely and striking tabby with her stump spurs and wings. The cat was driven away every time she ventured near the kittens.

A Successful Doctor.

We take pleasure in calling your attention to the advertisement of Dr. Marsh with regard to his cure for the opium habit, to be found in another column of this paper. The doctor has been engaged for twenty-five years in this specialty, and is well and favorably known for the cures he has made of these habits. We take pleasure in commending him to any and all who need his services, having been personally acquainted with him for the past twenty-five years.

A Childlike Pair.

The grand duke and duchess of Hesse enjoy playing the role of sovereign more than any other European prince or princess. Those who live about the court at Dramstadt speak of their efforts in the right direction, owing to their extreme youthfulness, as touching to behold. The grand duke has lately become director of the Dramstadt opera house, a very serious director indeed. When the affairs of state are not pressing too heavily upon them, the young couple spend their time playing tennis, dancing and, be it whispered, are enamored of the simple delights of playing "Consequences" and "How? When? and Where?"—Lady's Pictorial.

An Athlete.

"You never told me Miss Fairgirl was an athlete."

"Well, is she?"

"Yes; she has thrown me over."—London Tit-Bits.

DR. J. G. GRANT, Specialist.
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.
Syndicate Block, Minneapolis.
(Spectacles fitted.)

Anxieties of a Lighting Plant Manager.

The management and control of electric generators often puts a severe strain on the attention of the electrician in charge. This is especially the case in England, where atmospheric conditions are more variable than in this country. In the city of London supply station, a cloud passing over the face of the sky, or the presence of the least fog will put on an instantaneous load equal to 200 or 300 horse-power, during daylight hours, and an emergency staff of men on duty, but within instant call, is always in readiness to meet such demands. Then there is always a sudden demand for supply of current when large numbers of lights are switched on together, and as sudden a cessation of demand when they are switched off. The eye of the electrician, therefore, has to be constantly on his indicator. The dynamo must be regulated according to the least variation in the call for current, or there would be a serious hitch. In addition to the care and watchfulness required within the station, there are outside contingencies which may instantly throw a whole town into darkness. A few weeks ago some men in a town in Westmoreland had been cutting a drain in a street which intersected the wire conducting the local supply of electric current. Just before leaving they managed to cut the wire about half through, and then covered it up without saying anything about it. For a while all went well, and there was no sign of any interruption. Suddenly the wire gave way, and in a moment every light in the place went out. The responsibility that rests upon the manager of a station under such conditions as these, can easily be understood, and it need not be a matter of surprise if many men become nervous, excitable and unhinged under the strain.

Coe's Cough Balsam

Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

Her Status.

The Captain—That is a handsome woman. Is she unmarried?

The Belle—Oh, yes (the captain indulges in pleasing reflections); she's been unmarried several times.

The deepest British coal mine is the Ashton Moss colliery, which goes down 3,150 feet.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

Ella G. De Laney, Conway N. D., kettle cleaner; Edward T. Gibson, Minneapolis, Minn., paper toy; Adolph Knudson, St. Paul, Minn., wave motor; Anton Kranzer, Lidgerwood, N. D., tube cutter; Herman A. Krupke, Paynesville, Minn., horse power; Ralph Martin, St. Paul, Minn., photographic salting solution; Michael J. Nugent, St. Cloud, Minn., lamp chimney holder; James Palmer, Moorhead, Minn., potato digging machine; Myron K. Sargeant, Moselle, N. D., agricultural machine; Simon Stroebel and W. C. Cone, De Smet, S. D.; horse power; John H. Swadling and H. H. Kelley, Minneapolis, Minn., car seal; William G. Trafton, Fairfax, Minn., windmill.

T. D. Merwin, patent lawyer, 910, 911 and 912, Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

The Snake Redeems Himself.

One of the attaches of the United States geological survey tells a wonderful snake story, and he claims it is true. So does his wife, who was one of the parties to it. Both are favorably known in this city, but as there is much doubt expressed about their story, they prefer that their names shall not be given for the present. According to the gentleman, while in the Far West in the early part of last summer, he ran across a rattlesnake. The snake was apparently in great agony, and, upon examination, it was found that a thorn was sticking through it. The gentleman was an expert in handling snakes, and he had no difficulty in pulling out the thorn, much to the relief of the rattler. Three months later he visited the same place, and near the same spot found the same snake. He packed it up in a box and decided to bring it to Washington. A few nights afterward the gentleman and his wife arrived in a promising western town and took quarters at a hotel. During the night a thief entered the room, and would have got away with considerable plunder had not the snake, in his gratitude for kindness shown him, stuck his tail out of the window and gave a rattle which attracted the attention of the police.—Washington Star.

Nothing so suddenly and completely disables the muscles as

LUMBAGO, LAME BACK, OR STIFF NECK,

and nothing so promptly and surely cures them as ST. JACOBS OIL.

The Woman,
The Man,
And The Pill.

She was a good woman. He loved her. She was his wife. The pie was good; his wife made it; he ate it. But the pie disagreed with him, and he disagreed with his wife. Now he takes a pill after pie and is happy. So is his wife. The pill he takes is Ayer's.

Moral: Avoid dyspepsia by using

Ayer's Cathartic Pills.

WOMEN KIDNAP A MAYOR.

Startling Methods of Reform Recently Instituted by St. Joseph's New Women.

From St. Joseph, Mich., comes news of a startling achievement of forty new women of that place. They are leading members of local clubs and church societies, and, they are dissatisfied with the way in which the town is run. They endured it until a few days ago, when they decided on heroic measures. They kidnapped the mayor of the city.

They caught him on the street, dragged him into a private residence and announced their intention to keep him prisoner until he promised to co-operate with them in a movement of reform. They aired their grievances. These were that the laws were not being enforced, that the sale of cigarettes was carried on with impunity, that young girls were being enticed away, that saloon regulations were loose and that boys of all ages were given liquor upon asking. They demanded the adoption of a curfew bell, upon the ringing of which children of certain ages must retire from the street.

The mayor was kept a prisoner for two hours. Finally, upon his promise to submit the matter to the executive department of the city he was allowed to leave. The men of St. Joseph are much excited over the determined stand made by the women, and their course is the one topic of discussion on the streets.

The Only Difference.

"I beg your pardon, madame, but you are sitting on my hat," exclaimed a gentleman.

"Oh, pray excuse me; I thought it was my husband's," was the unexpected reply.—London Weekly Telegraph.

THE DOCTOR—"One layer of paper is bad enough, you have three here. Baby may recover but cannot thrive."

ALABASTINE.
IT WON'T RUB OFF.

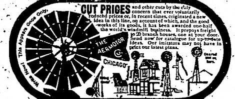
Wall Paper is Unsanitary. KALSOMINE IS TEMPORARY, ROTS, RUBS OFF AND SCALES.

ALABASTINE is a pure, permanent and artistic wall-coating, ready for the brush by mixing in cold water.

For Sale by Paint Dealers Everywhere.

FREE A Tint Card showing 12 desirable tints, also Alabastine Souvenir Rock sent free to any one mentioning this paper.

ALABASTINE CO., Grand Rapids, Mich.



This Appears Once Only.
Write Now!
THE AERMOTOR Co.
CHICAGO
Geared 3 to 1

CUT PRICES and other cuts by the only concern that ever voluntarily reduced prices or, in recent times, originated a new idea in this line, on account of which, and the good works of its goods, it has been awarded one-half the world's windmill business. It prepays freight to 20 branch houses, one at your door. Send now for catalogue for up-to-date ideas. Our imitators may not have in print our latest plans.

BATTLE AX
10 CENT CUT

There is no dividing line.

Battle Ax PLUG

DON'T FORGET for 5 cents you get almost as much "Battle Ax" as you do of other brands for 10 cents.

DON'T FORGET that "Battle Ax" is made of the best leaf grown, and the quality cannot be improved.

DON'T FORGET, no matter how much you are charged for a small piece of other brands, the chew is no better than "Battle Ax."

DON'T FORGET, "Economy is wealth," and you want all you can get for your money. Why pay 10 cents for other brands when you can get "Battle Ax" for 5 cents?

Only 10 Cents.
"TRAPS FOR THE UNWARY."

A book containing information more valuable than is often found in books costing one dollar. This book contains five vivid illustrations, and should be in every farmer's home. It may be worth its weight in gold to you. We want this book in every farmer's home in the Northwest, and to do this we will send a sample copy, postage paid, on receipt of ten cents. Think of it! Only Ten Cents for this valuable book, which contains 114 pages. Only a limited number sold at this price. Order at once. Send to Home Association, P. O. Box 876, Minneapolis, Minn.

Steel Cut Nails, $1.27 For 60d per 100 lbs: other sizes on hand at factory advances. Write for list. We are closing out Cut Nails. But we have thousands of kegs of Wire Nails, and to-day's prices are: $2.07 for the 60d, 50d, 40d, 30d, 20d and 10d Wire Nails. Other sizes factory advances. Glidden's Pattern Barb Wire, painted, $1.74 per 100 lbs. Galvanized Barb Wire, $2.04 per 100 lbs. Send in your orders, and remember that you will always obtain the benefit of our lowest prices, which are always as low if not lower than the lowest. Send us the names and P. O. addresses of 12 farmers, and we will send you free, every two weeks, our latest Grocery List, also Bargain Lists, giving latest prices on groceries and other goods. Our Prices are Right. ROBERTS SUPPLY HOUSE, 308-310, 717, 719, 721 Nicollet Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

St. Hilaire Spectator.

VOLUME XV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY MAY 27, 1896. NUMBER 48.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

The fortification bill which passed the senate appropriated $10,763,888.

The United States supreme court has decided in a Chinese case that the United States cannot punish an alien for coming to this country, without giving him a trial by jury.

The confirmation by the senate of Frank W. Joplin to be postmaster at Elizabethtown, Ky., terminated a contest that had been in progress for two or three years.

After careful examination the president has approved the report of a naval board appointed to prepare a code of uniform punishments for naval offenses.

The president sent to the house his veto of a bill to pension Rachel Patton, as the widow of John A. Patton, a captain in an Illinois regiment. The beneficiary of the bill had been divorced from the soldier.

People in Print.

The latest surprise in colloboration is a story written in English by M. Daudet and R. H. Sherrard. These writers make an oddly-assorted pair. One is a master; the other is a facile writer of gossipy journalism.

Herr Otto Camphausen, formerly Prussian minister of finance, is dead. He was born in 1812, and as minister of finance in 1870, had to meet the necessities of the situation caused by the war between Prussia and France.

Renan made a strange remark not long before his death: "I fear that the work of the twentieth century will consist in taking out of the wastse basket a multitude of excellent ideas which the nineteenth century has heedlessly thrown into it."

Mr. Chamberlain is skillful, as very few speakes are, with his cigar. It was noticed that on the occasion of a big speech he managed to keep it going all the time. The rounds of applause gave him the desired opportunity of taking it up and having a fresh pull.

Tolstoi recently went to the theater for the first time in thirty years. It was his own play, "The Power of Darkness," that was being given, and he hoped to escape observation in the top gallery. But he was quickly identified, and attracted so much more attention than the actors that he fled in haste.

The Rev. Dr. I. J. Lansing of Boston, whose parishioners have just asked him to resign, first came into public notice about two years ago, by making some reflections upon the personal habits of President Cleveland, for which he afterward apologized. A short time ago he denounced the late Gov. Greenhalge.

On his Saturday to Monday visits, and when residing at Highbury during the parliamentary recess, the best part of Mr. Chamberlain's little leisure is spent in the plant houses. Every plant is numbered, according to a private catalogue which the right honorable gentleman keeps himself, and the gardeners declare that every one of the five or six hundred specimens at Highbury is individually known to him.

The will of R. A. Messey, the Millionaire manufacturer of agricultural implements of Toronto, Can., was probated at Cleveland, Ohio, where he lived a few years ago. Among the bequests are the following: University of Mount Allison of Sackville, N. B., $100,000; Western Theological College of Montreal, $50,000; University of Victoria of Toronto, $200,000; Wesleyan College of Winnipeg, Man., $100,000.

Casualties.

The historic Longfellow house and four mansions burned at Nahant, Mass. The loss is $100,000.

Forest fires are raging in Tucke county, W. Va. Lumbermen estimate the loss at $500,000.

Max Voigt is dead at Elwood, Ind., where he was taken after receiving injuries in a railway accident. Death followed the amputation of a leg.

Mrs. Peter Frey of Van Buren, Mich., was burned to death while she was attempting to save some of the household effects in the upper rooms of her house.

The boiler of Rynders Brothers' mill at Waverly, Ill., blew up, demolishing the mill and scattering the fragments of Prince Talkington's body all about the place.

Leonard Breckinridge, a farmer living in Waterford township, south of Canton, Ill., was instantly killed by a falling tree which was blown down by the heavy wind storm.

Lillian Russell, while riding her golden wheel in Central Park, collided with an unknown cyclist and was thrown to the pavement. Her costly wheel was smashed and her ankle hurt.

While delirious from long sickness, Ralph Wiley, agen sixteen, living with relatives at Pendleton, Ind., arose from his bed and ran from the house, bareheaded and barefooted, to the railroad track, and there was run over by a freight engine and killed.

Frank M. Crowell, wife, two children and mother were out driving at Franklin, Ind., when the horse was frightened by a bicycle and dashed against a tree, throwing the occupants out. The two-year-old son of Mr. Crowell was instantly killed and the others badly injured.

Evil Doings.

Miss Maggie Wells, daughter of well-to-do parents of Pittsfield, Ill., committed suicide by taking strychine.

Burglars entered the residence of C. Thorney, of Springfield, Ill., and secured $130 in cash. No clue to the robbers.

John Wells, alias Charles Polk, a negro desperado, wanted at Council Bluffs for highway robbery, was arrested at Newton, Ia.

Gov. Altgeld has restored the rights of citizenship to Lyman Wagoner of Peoria, who served fifteen years in the state penitentiary at Joliet for a criminal assault.

Harry Howarth, the 26-year-old son of one of the most prominent and well-to-do farmers of Glenwood, Ia., shot himself because his parents objected to his sweetheart.

George Thorpe of El Paso, Ill., police magistrate recently elected on the anti-license t icewk,astiaoinrdiudiu in anti-license ticket, was found dead on the loft floor of his barn. Foul play is suspected.

There has been another identification of "Mrs. Everett of Boston," the Colonnado hotel suicide. This time Judge Ralph Hill of Indianapolis asserts she was the wife of his son, Edgard E. Hill, who is at present in London.

Will Derby of Knoxville, Tenn., who killed his chum, Elijah Cross, and threw him in a well, confessed the crime and was given a twenty-year sentence. They quarreled about a drink of water, and the murder was a mystery for weeks.

The Missouri supreme court has quashed the habeas corpus proceedings pending before Judge Dobson of Kansas City in the case of the negro murderers, Pollard and Tarris. Unless Gov. Stone interferes again the prisoners will be executed May 29.

George Bradley, one of the firm of Bradley Brothers, a well known turfman, had a row with Griff A. White, a stable hand at Lexington, Ky., which resulted in his jabbing a pitchfork into White's head. The wound caused almost instant death.

Mrs. M. Ashkraft, a widow, has been arrested at Wichita, Kan., on a warrant sworn out by T. A. Fawcett, a tailor, who charges that she threw a kiss at him while he was with his wife, and that it was done with malicious intent. Mrs. Ashkraft says that the kiss was menat for Mrs. Fawcett.

From Foreign Shores.

Archduke Charles Louis of Austria, eldest brother of Emperor Joseph, is dead at the age of 54 years.

The British political situation is considered serious and the home rule cavse jeopardized because the Irish members supported the government.

The sentence of imprisonment, fine and banishment of the members of the reform committee has been confirmed by the Transvaal executive.

Gen. Vicuma is dead of yellow fever at Carralm Falso, in Matanzas province, where he has been sick for several days past. Gen. Bernal will take command of his column of troops.

A dispatch from Bingenbruck, near Bingen on-the-Rhine, announces that the boiler of a tug exploded there, sinking two barges, killing eight people and injuring many others.

At a meeting of the anti-Parnellites John Dillon presiding, it was decided to make an earnest effort to bring about a reconciliation with the Parnellites, and to reconstruct a united home rule party.

Sir John Russell Reynolds, physician in ordinary to her Majesty's household, and president of the Royal College of Physicians, is in a critical condition and is growing weaker. Sir John is 68 years old.

The German clergy, Protestant and Catholic, are thoroughly aroused in consequence of Emperor William's telegram to Geheimrath Hinzpter, regarding Dr. Stoecker, the ex-court chaplain, which said: "The clergy must not meddle with politics because it is no concern of theirs."

Miscellaneous.

Rockford (Ill.) society women, in the interest of charity, ran all the electric cars of the city for a day.

Gov. Morton has signed the bill of Assemblyman Austin authorizing an increase in the New York police force of 600 patrolmen.

Peter McNabb, a fern gatherer of Columbus, Ohio, found in his wanderings through a forest what seems to be the petrified remains of a man.

Mrs Catherine Alice Tingley of New York is now the recognized successor of the late W. Q. Judge as the head of the Theosophical society.

Sixteen hundred dollars was raised in St. Louis in one day among the business men of the city for the relief of those who had suffered from the cyclone in Texas last week.

Mrs. B. F. Young of Cincinnati has passed the examination required by the United States government for a first-mate's license. She is the only woman with this distinction.

Dresser & Goodrich, commission merchants of New York, through their lawyers, have attached the Goodrich Rubber company, Newport, R. I., for $163,000.

The twenty-fifth annual meeting of the American Fisheries society, which is composed of members of the fisheries commissions of the various states, began in New York.

A. C. Putnam, president of the Chadron Banking company of Chadron, Neb., which went into a receiver's hands recently, was arrested for receiving money when he knew the institution was insolvent.

J. C. McNew of Kokomo, Ind., bought a suit to be buried in. Before reaching home the same evening he was injured by a horse and he died from the wounds. He was 87 years old and a prominent citizen.

John Clarke, an employe of the Illinois Eastern Hospital for the Insane at Kankakee, has received word from his solicitors in England that he had fallen heir to an estate valued at over $100,000.

While Dr. A. H. Bradford of Mont Clair, N. J., was offering prayer in Bettell chapel, Yale, a beautiful green snake, about three feet long, created a scene in the center aisle. Students had placed it there.

Morris Pront, the 19-year-old son of Herman Pront of 205 Delancey street, New York, has been unconscious, apparently sleeping, for the past twenty-one days, and so far shows no signs of awakening.

Among the passengers on the steamship China, bound for San Francisco, is a special commission from the Mikado of Japan to study the working of electrical power and the telephone systems in the United States.

DEATH IN A STORM

CYCLONE AND CLOUDBURST IN EASTERN IOWA.

Two Score People Are Killed and a Large Number of Others Are Injured—Twenty-Five or Thirty People Are Supposed to Have Been Drowned at McGregor.

Des Moines, May 27.—Forty-three killed, a score fatally injured and about fifty people less seriously hurt is, as near as can be estimated now, the result of the destructive tornado which swept portions of Iowa, Illinois and Kansas last night. The property loss is heavy, but accurate estimates are, thus far, an impossibility.

The list of killed stands as follows: Jasper county, Iowa, 10; Polk county, Iowa, 9; Rockford, Ill., 4; Elgin, Ill., 1; North McGregor, Iowa, 12; Durango, Iowa, 5; Fort Scott, Kan., 2.

The storm wrought its greatest havoc in Iowa, where the counties of Polk and Jasper were devastated by two tornadoes. The loss of life was heaviest there, the list of dead being as follows:

In Polk county, near Bondurant and Santiago stations, on the Chicago Great Western: Egbert Baille, Jr.; Mrs. Robert Baille, Miss Lizzie Baille, John Baille, Peter Bolenbaugh, Mrs. Peter Boelenbaugh, two grandchildren of the Bolenbaughs, John Maxwell (killed by lightning.)

Following is a list of killed in Jasper county: Charles Phalen, Jr.; Charles Phalen, Sr.; Dannie Phalen, Susie Phalen, Mike Phalen, Mollie Phalen, Clarisa Dickie, Martha Dickie, Charles Eakins, Mrs. Shell.

The following are among the seriously injured, half of whom, it is estimated, may die: In Polk county—W. T. Scott, Mrs. A. L. Edwards, Oliver Yates, two children of Mrs. Edwards, Robert Baille.

In Jasper County—Mrs. Charles and Willie Phalen, Mr. Dugeakins, Mrs. Dugeakins, Solomon Dickie, Mrs. Solomon Dickie, Nellie Dickie, Harvey Pitcock, Mrs. Harvey Pitcock, Monroe Osborne, Mrs. Monroe Osborne and child.

Details of the Storm.

Des Moines, May 27. — Jasper and Polk counties were swept by a very disastrous cyclone last night, and today's developments showed the terrible extent of the disaster. The storm, which at first gave promise of getting more serious that a heavy rain, soon developed into a tornado, rivalling in force and destruction the recent tornado which devastated Texas and Kansas. As near as can be ascertained at present, six towns were partially destroyed. They were Bondurant, Valeria and Mingo, on the line of the Chicago Great Western from Des Moines, and Ankeny, Polk City and Slater, on another branch of the same road running north from Des Moines. Bondurant, Ankeny and Polk City are in Polk county, Valeria is on the line between Polk and Jasper counties. Mingo is in Jasper county and Slater is in the southwestern corner of Story county.

All telegraph and telephone wires are down in the districts swept by the storm, and communication is difficult. The first news of the storm reached this city from Berwick, a small station nine miles east of this city. The railroad telegraph operator's first bulletin stated that Valeria and Bondurant had been completely destroyed; that the Chicago Great Western depot had been wrecked and that at Valeria 300 feet of the track had been picked up bodily and hurled into a mass of tangled and twisted iron, effectually stopping traffic from the north. Trainmaster Sheehan at once sent out word to have the track repaired as quickly as possible.

The first fatality occurred two miles east of Bondurant. The house of Robert Baily, occupied by himself, wife and seven children, was demolished. Mrs. Baily, Joe, aged 18, and John, aged 15, were killed outright. Mr. Baily sustained injuries that will probably result fatally. From this point, the storm followed the Great Western road to a point above Ira, in Marshall county, where the last traces of it are found.

Santiago Was Wrecked

and a family named Bolenbaugh, consisting of father, mother and one child, were killed. A number were injured, but it is not thought any of the injuries are serious. The next town in the course of the storm was Valeria. It was swept almost from the face of the earth. Here a man named Phelan and his four children were killed. A large number were injured, but as it it a point ten miles from telegraph communication and all news comes by carriers, it is hard to get definite information.

A dispatch from Altoona, east of here, says a courier reports that between Valeria and Ira, the loss of life and property is great, and that at least nine persons were killed in the country and their bodies brought into Ira. It is impossible as yet to get details from there. The best information is, though, that the above death list is complete, and that the killed number just twenty, although this may be slightly increased by deaths among the injured in the course of the day.

At the citizens meeting called here, a relief committee was appointed. A train with physicians left this city over the Great Western, following a construction train, this morning, but on account of track damage, has not yet reached Bondurant.

A severe storm struck west of Polk City, in the southern part of this county, on the Des Moines river, but at a point eighteen miles north of Des Moines, met a counter current and was directed to a northeast course. Polk City was the first town in its course. There only slight damage was done to property, and no one was injured. Six miles east, at Ankeny, on the Northwestern, the storm first took the form of a cyclone, and there trees were torn from the ground, buildings demolished and everything swept level with the ground. Slight damage was done in the town.

In Bondurant the storm passed through the north half of the town and laid it waste, but by a miracle no one was killed in the town. W. P. Scott was severely but not dangerously injured. East of Bondurant, the storm was much more pronounced in force, and buildings were swept hundreds of yards off their foundations and totally wrecked. Cars were blown from the railroad tracks and at one point a bridge several hundred feet long was wrenched from the ground and scattered along the prairie.

Great Damage in Illinois.

Rockford, Ill., May 27.—Four killed and many injured, a number of them fatally, is the result of the cyclone which swept through this section last night at midnight, besides great loss to property and the complete ruin of crops in the path of the storm. Mrs. Godfrey Hildebrand, living near Monroe, was beheaded while going down cerrar to escape the storm. Her daughter Elsie was also instantly killed and her husband, who is a prominent G. A. R. man, is dead from injuries received. Six others asleep in the house were blown across the street and injured. The house was completely demolished. Near Egan City Mrs. Izora Bird was instantly killed and her five children badly injured, two probably fatally. Near Leaf River Mr. and Mrs. George Garner were both seriously injured. At Forreston the steeple of the M. E. church was blown down. Great damage to buildings was done at Egan City, Davis Junction, Bryon, Leaf River, Mount Morris, Steward, Beloit, Rockton, Forreston and other places in this section. The rain which accompanied the wind was the heaviest in years, and all creeks are far out of their banks. Hail as large as hickory nuts also fell in great quantity, stripping trees of foliage and leveling crops. Every building in the path of the cyclone was demolished and much livestock killed. The loss cannot be estimated, but it will be very large in Winnebago, Ogle, Lee and Boone counties, which seemed to suffer most severely.

Lost in the Flood.

McGregor, Iowa, May 27.—As a result of a cloudburst last night Bloody Run, by the valley of which the Iowa & Minnesota and Iowa & Dakota divisions of the St. Paul road leaves the Mississippi at North McGregor, became an irresistible river, sweeping buildings, bridges, men, women and children and stock to death and destruction. The storm wiped out miles of railroad track. The families of Lawrence Meyers and Section Foremen Maloney and Buck, living in the valley west of North McGregor, numbering eighteen persons, were all swept away and drowned, it is feared. Many other lives were lost. Great quantities of lumber and many box cars were swept out into the Mississippi river and carried away. The Milwaukee road's loss will exceed $100,000.

Dubuque, May 27.—Passengers on a train from the north say that from twenty-five to thirty persons were drowned at North McGregor. Among the dead are a man named Maloney, his wife, child and grandchild and families named Burke and Meyers.

"THE NEW LADY."

Women Whitecaps Destroy a Moonshine Still.

Hindman, Ky., May 27.—The first band of women White Caps in the history of this county made itself felt here last night. Moses Maggord, a once respectable and well-to-do farmer, had set up a moonshine still or blind tiger. He was doing a thriving business with the young men of this and Floyd counties. The women of the neighborhood had frequently sent in petitions requesting Old Man Root to close up the place, but he laughed at them. They finally decided to destroy the still, and gathered together fifty women armed with Winchesters. At the place had assembled a number of young men who had heard of the matter, but who had not told the proprietor the plans of the women, as they desired to see the fun. The women advanced upon the place firing, and the young men took to their heels, as did the proprietor. All the whisky and beer was spilled, the barrels being chopped with axes. The still was also mutilated so as to make it useless. They left unidentified.

ANOTHER MASSACRE.

An Outbreak of Turks in the Island of Crete.

London, May 27.—The Times has a dispatch from Athens which says: "The long expected disaster in the island of Crete seems suddenly to have been precipitated, and since Sunday anarchy has reigned at Canea. The Turkish soldiery, breaking all restraints, poured through the streets, shooting, massacreing and pillaging Christians. The consuls have all telegraphed for warships. The British fleet at Malta sailed to-day for Crete. Her majesty's ship Hood, anchored at Phalarum, starts thither to-night. The Greek ironclads will probably start tomorrow. The cavasses of the greek and Russian consulates at Canea have been killed. Turkhan Pasha is utterly powerless to restrain the soldiery, as he is on bad terms with the military government, Izzed-In, who is suspected of being at the bottom of the whole trouble. The immediate cause of the outbreak, however, is inexplicable, as the Christians there have never given provocation. The situation at Retimo is equally serious Heraklion is quiet, but sharp fighting is reported between the Turks and the Cretans in the vicinity of Vamos."

BRITISH SNEERS.

They Are Directed at America Over the Stern Incident.

London, May 27. — Commenting today on the published correspondence between Marshal von Bieberstein, the German foreign minister for foreign affairs, and Baron von Thielmann, the German ambassador to the United States, regarding the case of Mr. Louis Stern of New York, the Courier says: "Secretary Olney has made himself so notorious throughout the world by the vigor, not to say rudeness of his style, in diplomatic correspondence, that Baron Marshal von Bieberstein seems to have thought it time to give him a severe snubbing." The Globe says on the subject: "The Stern incident is a most useful and instructive lesson which will do the Americans a great deal of good if only they are not too vain to profit by it."

Killed by a Train.

Gladstone, Mich., May 27. — Sofie Pahl, a domestic employed in the family of Senator Mason, was killed in the Soo yards to-day by being run over by a train. She had no relatives here.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Burglars have been raising the mischief in St. Paul during the past week.

A large amount of new building is going on at Austin.

Thomas Allen of Hesper was quite badly injured in a runaway at Mabel.

The binder-twine industry at the state prison is in a very flourishing condition.

State Auditor Dunn says that there will be no sale of timber on state lands this year.

The display of farm machinery a the state fair this year will be one o the most interesting exhibits.

Julius Prieve of Hutchinson, while blasting, lost two fingers of his left hand by a premature discharge.

Martin Oleson, seven years old, had a leg broken while playing around the Milwaukee depot at Hutchinson.

J. E. McKelvey, sheriff of Stearns county, at Melres Grove, slipped on a doorstep and broke his left ankle joint.

The seventh annual convention of the Fillmore W. C. T. U. was held at Preston.

The annual convention of the Cannon Valley G. A. R. will be held at Northfield in June.

D. D. Merrill, prominent in St. Paul, since 1855, dies from pleuro-pneumonia.

Judge Lochren has qualified as United States district judge for Minnesota.

The youngest child of F. E. Seavey of Aitkin, clerk of the district court of Aitkin county, died recently, caused by drinking essence of wintergreen.

William McEntee of Montgomery passed the examination for admission to the naval academy and will start on a cruise at once.

Mayor-elect Doran of St. Paul will appoint M. N. Goss chief of police and Capt. Phil Schweitzer chief of detectives.

Fully 9,000 people witnessed the unveiling of the Fjedle statue of Ole Bull at Minneapolis. It was unveiled by Miss Caroline Boeckman.

Plans have been accepted and bids called for for the erection of a new M. E. church at Morris. The structure is to be of brick and to cost $6,000.

G. H. Smith a pioneer of Murray county and a merchant at Lake Wilson was kicked in the temple while milking and instantly killed.

Charles Schurbaswisky, aged twenty-two was killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun while hunting, at Minnesota Lake.

August Gatzke, indicted for criminal intimacy with his fifteen-year-old daughter, has pleaded guilty. He was sent to prison for one year.

John Mills, a farmer in Leaf Lake Township, near Henning, was found dead in his barn. Indications are that he was kicked by a horse.

John Wintz fell from the new creamery building at Preston and alighted upon a broken stone, sustaining severe, if not fatal injuries.

The Bank of Mapleton has purchased the Mabel waterworks bonds at a premium of 1 per cent. Work will be commenced soon.

Mrs. J. P. Tibbets, one of Fillmore county's wealthiest and most highly respected citiens, fell down stairs at Preston, breaking her right arm and sustaining serious injuries.

While Edward Reynolds of Royalton, builder and contractor, was trying to extract a loaded shell from a gun the gun exploded, terribly mangling his left hand.

George Borrowman of Stillwater, a harness manufacturer, has made an assignment. Liabilities, $1,300; assets, $2,000, the latter consisting largely of book accounts.

The case against William Craig, ex-superintendent of the Duluth Gas and Water company, for manslaughter, alleged to have been committed by furnishing Duluthians with impure water, has been continued. It is not believed that the authorities intend to bring the case to trial.

The Boston clothing store, at Mankato was burglaried of $150 worth of goods. The burglar left all of his old clothes and took new ones. A man about twenty-eight years old and wearing thirty-five size of clothes, is supposed to be the thief, as he was seen around the building during the evening.

At a large and representative convention of farmers and business men at Clinton a permanent immigration association for Big Stone county was formed. Hon. O. P. Onlet of Clinton was made president and W. C. Whiteman secretary, with a committee representation from each township and village. Timely measures will at once be instituted to induce new settlers to this favored county.

WEEKLY CROP BULLETIN.

Report of the Minnesota Section of the Climate and Crop Service.

Minneapolis, May 24.—The past week has been one of frequent rains, some sections of the state having experienced six consecutive rainy days beginning with last Tuesday. The result of so much rain has been to greatly retard farm work, many farmers not being able to get on to their fields at all, while in the Red River valley four days work was reported for the week. Wheat seeding is nearly completed south of Clay county, and north of that county it is about half done. Corn is being planted, but many are holding back, thinking it yet unfavorable for planting. The cool wet weather during the latter part of the week has been very unfavorable for the stooling of wheat. Rye is heading. Oats, barley and flax seeding is general, having been reported as far north as Clay county. Garden truck is mostly planted. Small fruit of all kinds is looking well. Hail was reported from Pipestone, Cottonwood and Wadena counties but no damage of consequence was done. Chinch bugs have made their appearance in Olmstead, Dodge and Brown counties, but as yet have done no damage. Wild hay land and some wheat have been damaged by water in Sherburne county.

CYCLIST INJURED.

Serious Condition of W. E. Becker Resulting From an Accident.

Minneapolis, May 23.—W. E. Becker, the fast local bicyclist, lies at the Little West hotel on Fourth street in a precarious condition this morning. While going at his fastest pace last night at Normanna track in the one-hour six-day professional race his wheel slipped and he was precipitated against a scantling, breaking it in two. He struck the post on the fleshy part of his neck near the shoulder and a half dozen abrasions of the skin followed. Becker endured intense pains last night, and it is feared that he may be injured internally, although the physicians say that they do not think so. He also suffered from a loss of breath.

COULD NOT FIND BAILEY.

Bankers' Life Association Pays the Insurance Money.

Duluth, May 23.—The Bankers' Life Association of St. Paul has settled with the heirs of A. Bailey, who was ir ured for $6,000 in the association. Mr. Bailey was a large operator in the board of trade and disappeared three years ago. He rowed out into the lake one evening, and has never been seen since. The boat was found and contained his coat and vest. A short time ago it was rumored that he had been seen in Argentine Republic. The association stipulated when the suit was begun that if it could not within six months produce proof that Bailey was alive it would settle. The time expired and the settlement was made yesterday.

Against the New Capitol.

St. Paul, May 23.—John Klein filed a suit to-day against the board of capitol commissioners and George J. Grant, in which he demands judgment for $10,000 as damages for injury to his property by the construction of the state capitol building. Judge Willis also issued an order commanding the defendants to appear before him in special term and show cause why they should not be restrained from depositing earth, stone, etc., on Aurora avenue, and from appropriating said street. To-day a similar suit was filed by Charles Albrecht, in which he also asks for heavy damages for injury to his property, and also prays for an injunction restraining the board of capitol commissioners and the contractor, George J. Grant, from continuing to obstruct the street with earth and stone.

Lady Orators.

Owatonna, Minn., May 22.—The ladies' annual prize contest in oratory at Pillsbury academy occurred last evening. Miss Maybelle Johnson of [illegible], Iowa, captured the first prize with "College Oil Cans" for her subject, with Miss Rose B. Gage of Brownsdale, Minn., with "You Can Stop It If You Will" as subject, a close second, between whom and Miss Sophia M. Hartford of Sparta, Wis., who had Lew Wallace's "The Angel and the Shepherds" for her subject, the judges had much difficulty in deciding. There were ten contestants.

Mrs. Perkins Loses.

Minneapolis, May 23—The end in the second Perkins insurance case was reached yesterday afternoon before Judge Elliott in the same ignominious fashion in which the first one ended. It was simply a directed verdict for the defendant the Fidelity and Casualty company. At the conclusion of the case Mr. Hall intimated that he would immediately apply for a rehearing on the ground of error in the court's decision regarding the "warranties."

Koerner Buys Bonds.

St. Paul, May 22.—State Treasurer A. T. Koerner came home this morning from New York, where he spent about ten days looking for an investment for $300,000 of the permanent school fund of the state. He bought government bonds, new fours, and says his investment will net the state 3.10, which will be very satisfactory to everbody.

Iron Land Must Be Taxed.

St. Paul, May 22. — State Auditor Dunn has won a decided victory through the office of the attorney general. He has brought out a decision to the effect that all mining lands in this state may be brought into the tax list, and that the cent a ton statute is clearly in violation of the constitution.

D. D. Merrill Dead

St. Paul, May 23.—D. D. Merrill, the well known book dealer and publisher, died to-day of pleuro-pneumonia. He was born in Michigan in 1834, and received a common school education. He passed through Kalamazoo college and graduated with great credit to himself and his teachers, and came to St. Paul in 1855. He was a prominent member of the Baptist church.

Got Ninety Days Each.

St. Paul, May 23.—Dora Burke and Mrs. W. H. Stahl, the shoplifters who were arrested at the Golden Rule on Tuesday afternoon, and who reside in Minneapolis, where detectives located about $500 worth of their stolen plunder, were to-day sentenced to 90 days each in the workhouse.

Found Dead in Her Bed.

St. Paul, May 23.—Mrs. Sarah Lamb, widow of the late Henry Lamb, who for many years conducted a meat market on Fourth street, was found dead in hers bed at an early hour this morning. Mrs. Lamb had lived in St. Paul since 1854. Her husband died about six years ago.

Kiled by a Kick.

Staples, Minn., May 23.—The 8-year-old son of Rudolph Orth of Germania township was kicked by a colt and died in a few minutes.

Wisconsin Democrats.

Milwaukee, May 23.—hairman Geo. W. Peck, of the Democratic state central committee, has issued a call for the state convention to elect delegates to teh national convention at Chicago. The convention willl be held in this city June 23.

Jumped to His Death.

St. Paul, May 23.—Last night an unknown man jumped from the high bridge into the Mississippi river. The body disappeared at once, and has not been recovered.

DEATH IN MICHIGAN.

The Eastern Porton of the State Swept by a Cyclone.

Oxford, Mich., May 27.—A terrible cyclone struck the village of Oakwood last evening and entirely wiped it off the earth, destroying all the buildings and leaving death and destruction in its trail. Just west of the village the fields are strewn with dead and wounded, and it is impossible to get a correct estimate of the damage. The storm also struck the village of Thomas and destroyed about a doen buildings, including the Hotel Johnson, the McDermott and the large apple drier and a great many dwelling houses. Many farm buildings are destroyed, but no word can be obtained from the country on account of the roads being blocked with fallen trees, etc. It is believed that the number of dead and wounded will reach nearly a hundred. Physicians have gone from Oakland, Oxford and Metamora.

Fire at Oakwood.

Detroit, March 27. — J. E. Weaver, one of the Tribune's traveling collectors, came to Detroit on the Bay City division of the Michigan Central train that passed through last evening and said that the cyclone had followed the railroad track very closely. As far as he could learn from observation from the train and conversation with the people the cyclone first struck the outer edge of Metamora, but did not do very much damage. It then took a leap and struck a farm house and barn between Metamora and Oakwood, leveling them to the ground. Whether or not the occupants were killed could not be learned, but they had not been seen, and it was presumed they were. Then the cyclone descended upon Oakwood and leveled every building to the ground. Here fire added its horrors to the terrible work of the cyclone and completed the devastation. When the train passed through there not a person was to be seen, but the flames had nearly completed their work of destroying the wreckage left by the twister.

Wiped Off the Earth.

Pontiac, Mich., May 27.—The country in the vicinity of this city was given the first taste of a cyclone last night, and the little village of Thomas has been wiped from the face of the earth. Metamora and Oakwood were also touched up and their inhabitants badly frightened, some being injured, and a track of devastation left to within three-fourths of a mile of Ortonville. The telephone and telegraph wires between here and those places are all down and the only data of the work of the cyclone is furnished by survivors who have come here for shelter. But from comparison of their stories it seems certain that 14 to 18 lives have been lost. The following names of the dead at Thomas have been reported by their neighbors, who escaped with their lives, but lost their homes: John Pooritt, Mrs. Joseph Bird, John Milkey, H. E. Torrance, Mrs. Henry Quick, Abram Quick and two children, Mrs. Alice Mitchell and two children.

Many Injured.

Mount Clemens, Mich., May 27. — A terrific cyclone accompanied by heavy rain struck this city last evening. Some thirty houses on Front, Butler and Inches streets were blown down and many of them literally torn to pieces. As yet no deaths are reported but many people were injured. The home of Mrs. Anna Pohl, a widow with three small boys, was blown down over their heads and the four members of the family were pinioned in the wreckage.

Country People Killed.

Detroit, Mich., May 27. — The Free Press has received the following telephone message from Ortonville, 18 miles northwest of Pontiac: The cyclone first came from Groveland township, in the northwestern part of Oakland county, at the line separating that from Genesee and Lapeer counties. Sweeping westward through the farming country it destroyed every house, barn, fence or every obstacle, leveling trees and pulling down telegraph poles and killing and maiming the unfortunate farmers. It struck Thomas and Oakwood and wrecked those villages. The path of the cyclone was about half a mile wide and nothing could withstand its fury. The operator says that the report at Ortonville shows that the cyclone tore along for about fifteen miles, but how much further it went he was unable to determine. Seventeen persons are reported killed and twenty to thirty injured.

MELINE FOR SILVER.

France's Premier Favors a Double Standard.

Paris, May 27.—At the banquet of the bimetallic league Premier Meline, the well known protectionist leader, made a speech in which he said that he had always regretted the renunciation by the European powers of the monetary system which assured them prosperity. The long continued commercial crises of the present time, in reality, dated from the abandonment of that system. The remedy, he insisted, was a return to bimetallism. The bimetallic movement, he continued, was spreading rapidly throughout England, Germany, Belgium and America. All that was required to bring about monetary reforms was an electric spark which was bound to appear from the very force of circumstances.

A Big Storm.

Galena, Ill., May 27.—The storm last night caused a property loss of $100,000 in Galena. The river swelled rapidly, flooding several streets. It was the heaviest fall of rain ever known here. Not a train is moving on any of the four railroad systems entering the city. Telegraph and telephone service is impaired. One fatality is reported, Mrs. R. D. Strickland, who was drowned in her home.

Sons of Benjamin.

Boston, May 27.—The Independent Order of the Sons of Benjamin, a Hebrew organization with members in all parts of the country, was welcomed to Boston by Mayor Quincy at Odd Fellow's hall to-day. It was the annual convention of the order.

The formal opening of the Cuban fair, the proceeds of which are to go to help the revolutionists, occurred in Madison Square Garden, New York, last night. Gen. Daniel Sickles was the chief orator.

Plenty of Time to get Choice Farms on the Reservation Thirty Days from Now.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER = SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—O—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

DR. H. GRUNDY

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

☞ Messages from the surrounding towns and country promptly attended to.

Office in Drug Store.

THIEF RIVER FALLS. MINNESOTA.

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : :

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—

HELENA	PULLMAN
BUTTE	SLEEPING CARS
SPOKAND	ELEGANT
TACOMA	DINING CARS
SEATTLE	TOURIST
PORTLAND	SLEEPING CARS

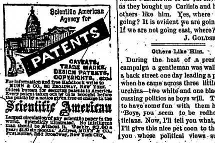
TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
	To and from St. Paul
7:10 pm	St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
	To and from Winnipeg.
6:54 am	St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
CHAS. S. FEE, Crookston, Minn.
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.



Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS;—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 27, 1896.

EDITORIAL COLUMN.

TO BOND THE COUNTY.

We learn that the Farmer's Railroad and its various branches in Polk county will in a short time submit a proposition asking Polk county to exchange $250,000 of its bonds for stock in the roads. We understand that the proposition will ask for a special election in the near future, and that it does not make any promise to the people that freight rates will be reduced. The people of this county are far from satisfied with existing freight rates. More railroads will not help us, unless these railroads bring cheaper rates, and unless we are badly mistaken any proposition for bonding this county to aid railroad building will be badly beaten, unless it carries with a cast-iron promise of a big reduction of existing rates. We do not believe that the Farmers railroad is in a position to submit a proposition. If we are correctly informed the Duluth & Winnipeg is still in the hands of a receiver, and no one knows who will be the future owners of the road. The people of Polk county would be very foolish to give $250,000 to help build a road which would connect with a bankrupt road which may yet be bought or controlled by the Great Northern or Northern Pacific. No traffic arrangements can be made; freight rates instead of being lower might be higher. In conclusion we will state: If President Hines of the Farmer's railroad can make a definite traffic arrangements with the Duluth & Winnipeg and will make us a proposition to materially lower existing freight rates, it will be a proposition well worth considering. If he cannot do this he had better put it off until it can be done, because the proposition will not carry.

OTHER PEOPLE'L NOTIONS.

From the Minneapolis Journal.

"Where are we at," or where are we going? Is everything going East? Eight years ago we were all prosperous. Everybody working, everybody able to buy new things; no stores to rent, few houses to rent, though we built 4,000 yearly. Most of us owned our homes and made a living. Today we are bankrupt. Very few of us have any business. Many stores are for rent. The few that are rented rent very low. One that I then rented for $75 per month now rents for $18, and the tenant complains every month. Thousands of men are walking Washington avenue listlessly, idly, looking for work or for something to eat. What is the matter? Where has the prosperity gone? Where have our lots and land gone? Gone East. If you dont believe it ask the sheriff. Our homes, our lands are bid in for Eastern parties; our railroads are in the hands of receivers for eastern parties; our flour mills are owned by English and Eastern parties. And yet reliable traveling men say, and the school census and state census, as also the bank clearings, show that we stand first among the cities west of Chicago.

What is the why of all this? The papers give us reasons, but they have gone East or are owned by Eastern capitalists. The true reason is, silver is demonetized and we have only half the money needed for business. The Eastern and English standard is gold, and they expect this fall to buy our votes, and own our bodies, as they do our homes, for they know just how badly we need money. Just as they bought up the Michigan delegation, which was known to be for silver; just as they bought up Carlisle and hosts of others like him. Yes, where are we going? It is evident we are going East. If we are not going east, where?

J. GOLDSBURY.

Others Like Him.

During the heat of a presidential campaign a gentleman was walking up a back street one day leading a pet coon when he came across three little street urchins—two white and one black—discussing politics as boys will. Thinking to have some fun with them he said: "Boys, you seem to be redhot politicians. Now, I'll tell you what, I'll do. I'll give this nice pet coon to the one of you whose political views suits me best." Turning to the first little white fellow he said, "What's your politics, my boy?," "I'm—a Democrat." So? Why are you a Democrat?" "Because my father is." Then to the next boy, "And what is your politics, sonny?" "I'm a Republican." "Well, why are you a Republican?" "Because they are on the right side." Then turning to the little black fellow, whose eyes were riveted on the coon, he said, "Well, snowball, what is your politics?" The little fellow did not for at instant take his eyes from the coveted treasurer as he replied, "By golly, I'se anything to git that 'er coon."—Cotton Planter.

To the People's party Precinct Committees of Polk County.

The People's Party central committee of Polk county earnestly ask you to put forth your best efforts towards securing honest, intelligent, and sober delegates to represent you in the forthcoming county convention, men whom you recognize as unwavering in their loyalty to the principles of the People's Party, and who are desirous of promoting the welfare of Polk county, remembering that the work of the convention will reflect the character of the delegates who compose it.

The following is a condensed explanation of the primary law of 1895, prepared for your guidance. You are urged to study it carefully, and see that your primary election is conducted accordingly.

As indicated in the published call, the People's party county convention, for the nomination of county officers, will be held on the 18th of June, 1896, and the date for holding the primaries for the election of delegates, is fixed for the 11th day of the same month, the polls to be opened at 2 o'clock p. m., of said day, and to remain open two hours.

At least six days before the primary election, the call for same must be posted in three public places in the precinct.

The primaries are to be called to order by the chairman, or secretary of the precinct committee, or in their absence, by some qualified voter of the party.

The chairman, clerk of election, and two judges as to be chosen by a viva voce vote by voters of the party present.

All delegates to the convention must be elected by ballot. Each qualified elector at such primary shall place on his ballot, which can be either written or printed, the same number of names as the precinct is entitled to in the convention. A ballot is void if it contains more names than such precinct is entitled to as delegates. The persons receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected, and a plurality shall elect.

No person shall be permitted to vote at such primary, unless it is positively known that at the last general election he affiliated with the People's party, or unless he makes oath that he has united with the party since the last general election, and the judges are to determine as to the truth of such statements and receive or reject his vote.

No person is qualified to vote, at a primary election, unless he has resided in the precinct for not less than thirty days preceeding such election.

It is the duty of the chairman of the primary to administer the oath of office to the judges and clerks, and to any voter when vote is challenged. The clerk shall keep a record of the proceedings, and he is authorized to administer the oath of office to the chairman. The form of oath to be administered to the officers of the primary is the same as that provided by law to be used at a general election.

The law makes it the duty of the judges to receive the votes, and to announce the name and address of every voter before he is permitted to cast his vote. If a vote is challenged, the judges shall decline to receive the same, until the voter makes oath that he is qualified under the law governing primary elections. If because of sickness or other reasons satisfactory to the judges the voter did not vote at the last general election, the judges shall receive his vote, provided he makes oath that he affiliates with the People's party.

When the polls are closed, the judges shall count the votes and report the same to the chairman, who shall announce the result, and declare elected such candidates for delegates as shall have received a plurality of the votes cast.

The chairman and clerk shall furnish the delegates elected with proper credentials, certifying their election, and shall also furnish the chairman of the county central committee a list of the names and places of residence of the electors voting in said primary election.

The law provides that no proxy can be given by any delegate failing to serve, but the vacancy thus made shall be filled by the delegation by the selection of some qualified elector residing in the same election district. In case any delegation fails to serve, the convention to which such delegation has been elected shall choose qualified electors, if such be present at said convention, residing in the same election district, from which said delegation was chosen, to act in lieu thereof. In case no qualified elector of the election district represented by the delegation is present to fill the vacancy caused by the failure of one or more delegates to serve, then the delegates present shall have the right to cast the full vote of the delegation.

A violation of the law is made a misdemeanor, and punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five, nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment for not less than thirty days, and not exceeding six months.

By order of County Committee,
ARNY GRUNDYSEN, Chairman.
JOHN GLEASON, Secretary.

RICH DISCOVERIES OF GOLD.

At Cripple Creek, Colo., and elsewhere, are being made daily, and the production for 1896 will be the largest ever known, estimated at Two Hundred Million Dollars. Cripple Creek alone is producing over One Million Dollars a month, and steadily increasing. Mining Stocks are advancing in price more rapidly than any other Stocks, and many pay dividends of 35 to 60 per cent. They offer the best opportunity to make a large profit on a small investment.

JOHN I. TALLMAN & CO., 45 Broadway, New York, are financial agents for the Prudential Gold Mining Co., and others in the famous Cripple Creek district. They will send you free interesting particulars of the Mining Companies they represent also their book on speculation in Stocks, Grain and Cotton, containing many new and important features.

Send for these books at once if you are interested in any form of speculation or investments. They may prove profitable to you. 37-5

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

Rather Premature.

This story is told of a woman who has recently come to live in New York and whose beauty has brought her into considerable notice. Some years ago her husband, who had been drinking a good deal, became in consequence irresponsible. It was deemed advisable to confine him temporarily in a sanitarium. Here his physical condition grew rapidly worse, and one day his wife received a hasty summons to what was said to be his deathbed. The lady, who has always given considerable time and thought to the matter of dress, stopped on her way at her dressmaker's and gave an order for a complete outfit of widow's mourning. On arriving at the sanitarium she found her husband better, and after remaining with him several days until the danger was past she returned to her home. She had entirely forgotten about the order that had been given to the dressmaker, and what was her dismay to find all the paraphernalia of woe awaiting her! The husband recovered entirely both in mind and body and was obliged to pay a goodly sized bill for the mourning that was designed for his funeral. Shortly afterward a friend was calling upon the lady, and, seeing a pile of dressmaker's boxes in a corner of the room, asked whether they contained something new and pretty.

"No," was the smiling answer. "Therein lie my buried hopes."—New York Journal.

He Objected.

A worthy man who was very sensitive and retiring, having lost his wife, privately requested that he might be remembered in the minister's morning prayer from the pulpit, but asked that his name might not be mentioned.

On Sunday morning the good minister prayed most eloquently for "our aged brother upon whom the heavy hand of sore affliction has so lately fallen."

At this point an elderly man, whom the minister had married to a very young wife during the week, rose with a bounce and stamped down the aisle, muttering loud enough to be heard all over the chapel:

"It may be an affliction, but I'm blest if I want to be prayed for in that fashion!"—Pearson's Weekly.

Ease and Fluency.

When Thiers was president of the French republic, he was about to issue some important manifesto and submitted the draft to a critical friend.

"Yes," said the critic, "the matter is clearly expressed, but I miss the ease and fluency of your usual style."

"Ah," replied Thiers, "I have not worked those in yet! The ease will cost me much labor, and the fluency I shall have to drag in by the hair of its head."—New York Post.

An Expert Statement.

"Is there any sure way of knowing when a man is meaning to propose?" asked the bud.

"You needn't worry about that," said the belle. "The knowledge comes by nature. The most important thing is to know when he isn't going to."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Paper car wheels are among the latest paper novelties. The papier mache of which they are made is condensed by hydraulic pressure and is so hard as to resist any ordinary iron implement. The steel rims are put on afterward.

To wear long faces, just as if our Maker, the God of goodness, was an undertaker, well pleased to wrap the soul's unlucky mien in sorrow's dismal crape or bombazine!—Dr. Wolcot.

A house is never perfectly furnished for enjoyment unless there is a child in it rising 3 years old and a kitten rising 6 weeks.—Southey.

New York, whose charter dates back to the year 1664, was the first incorporated city within the limits of the United States.

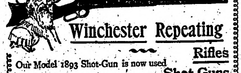
Extinguished.

"I love you dearly, Jack," she said. "You are the light of my life."

"I'm sorry," said her father as he appeared in the doorway, "but I will have to put your light out."—London Tit-Bits.

Why They Preach.

The distinction between a good preacher and a bad preacher has not changed much since Archbishop Whately declared that "a good preacher preached because he had something to say and a bad preacher because he had to say something."—Chicago Standard.



Winchester Repeating Rifles Shot-Guns Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THE GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞ Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 28	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 13	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	500
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.75
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.0 to 4.50
16 " 35	4.50 to 5.0
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.0
3 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to
H. E. IVES,
St. Hilaire Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

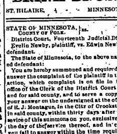
Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

THE FAMOUS
SUMARITAN
Rye Whisky

Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.



FOR SALE BY
BRINK BROS.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

STATE OF MINNESOTA, }
COUNTY OF POLK. } ss.

District Court, Fourteenth Judicial Dist.

Evelin Newby, plaintiff, vs. Edwin Newby, defendant.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in this action, which complaint is on file in the office of the Clerk of the District Court in and for said county, and to serve a copy of your answer on the undersigned at the office of R. J. Montague, in the City of Crookston in said county, within thirty days after the sevice of this summons on you, exclusive of the day of the service thereof, and in case you fail to answer within the time required by law, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the releif demanded in the complaint.

Dated May first, 1896

R. J. MONTAGUE, Plaintiff's Atty.
Crookston, Minn.

40-45

M. Z. EPPERSON

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire
Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry. : : : : : :

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOHLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - Minnesota

This is Easy Enough!

Any of my customers will be presented with a life like portrait free of charge by presenting their picture at my store. : : : : : : : : :

M. A. HALL. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

J.S. BREDENBECK

The Watchmaker

AND JEWELER.

Repairing of Watches and Clocks a Specialty
Engraving neatly done.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant = Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

Harness.....

If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing, call on C. A. SKEIE;

West Broadway. St. Hilaire, Minn.

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, Etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL. St Hilaire, Minn.

M. E. BJERK

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL
M. Z. EPPERSON
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	40c	Butter	8@10c
Oats	12c	Eggs	7c
Barley	18c	Beans... (pr bu)	$1.50
Flax	73c	Potatoes .. "	12½

LOCAL NEWS.

The river is taking a fall.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

Saturday being Memorial day is a legal holiday.

Several real estate transfers were made Monday.

P. G. Paradis moved into his new rooms Saturday.

The river lacks several inches of being up to the high water mark.

Dan Patterson was doing business at the county seat this week.

John McAndrews of Crystal, N. Dak., made up a pleasant call yesterday.

Tuesday, June 23rd is the date set for the sale of state lands, in this county.

The Epperson saw mill started up Monday with a full crew sawing pine logs.

The depot is receiving two coats of paint on the outside and one on the inside this week.

Mrs. J. Thill of Wylie was shopping in the village yesterday, returning home in the evening.

H. E. Ives left Monday for the twin cities, where he will remain until the rainy season is over.

Mrs. Kenniston and children of Thief River Falls was visiting friends in the village last Thursday.

J. B. Arey, representing a dry goods firm of St. Paul was doing business with our merchants yesterday.

A red hot political argument started over buying a baby carriage yesterday —it lasted several hours.

H. C. Taylor, the descriptive writer finished writing up the village and left for Thief River Falls yesterday.

A. M. Hanson, the well to do farmer living near Wylie was in the village Friday and while here subscribed, for the SPECTATOR.

A car load of lumber was ditched between here and Red Laks Falls which caused a few hours delay with Monday's train.

Wanted, a correspondent in every township within fifteen miles of here. Come, who will volunteer to send the neighboring news.

Picket and board fences have swollen from the continued rains this spring so that they answer the same purpose as a boat—only they don't float.

E. M. Hoff transfered a car load of oats from his store house to the St. Anthony elevator, Saturday regardless of the condition of the roads.

Andrew Berg has improved the surroundings by putting a picket fence around his premises, and will paint the same as soon as the weather permits.

The good old republican times have evidently struck Crookston. Official city printing has went up at least 100 per cent.—and the newspaper scrap goes merrily on.

Dave Bradshaw of St. Thomas, N. D., left for home yesterday. Dave will be back again when the weather will permit him to take a trip through the reservation.

S. M. Dainard is supplying two of the Thief River Falls meat markets with dressed beef. Sam makes it a business to have good and fat cattle always on hand, and the butchers in surrounding towns know it.

Quite a party of Minneapolis business men who have been up at the Red Lake Agency the past ten days, took possession of the SPECTATOR office and "jeffed" for seats while the rain lasted Monday—which was several hours.

Mrs. W. A. Arthur visited friends at Thief River Falls from Saturday until Monday, and while there had the picture of the baby taken,—our photographer having "vamoosed" some time ago to his farm taking water views.

Surprised The Landlord.

The many friends of Landlord Arthur planned a birthday surprise party on him last Wednesday evening, it being his 28th birthday, and notwithstanding the unfavorable condition of the weather, of which we have had so much this spring, the party was a success, but the surprise not quite, Mr. Arthur's suspicions being aroused a few evenings previous by an unintentional conversation occuring in his presence.

The evening was enjoyably spent in dancing until the hour for luncheon arrived, when the ice cream and cake was indulged in with a relish, after which the young ladies concluded it being leap year. they wished to exercise their rights and called "laidies choice for a quadrille." Some of the boys looked jubilant, others crestfallen when they thought of their actions during the evening, and one young man not being able to confront his assailant, locked himself up in the baggage room and refused to come out when invited to do so in gentle feminine terms. It is need less to say he didn't dance.

When the hour of departure arrived all pronounced Mr. Arthur an excellent entertainer and wished him many happy returns of his birthday.

Oscar Olson, formerly of this village, but now of Fosston, where he is employed in the machinery business, arrived here Friday to make a short visit visit with parents and friends. Oscar returned to his field of labors yesterday.

L. P. Stranahan, time-keeker for the Meehan Lumber Company at Thief River Falls, is visiting this week with his parents in the village. L. P., who has been at the head waters of the Black Duck river the past few weeks reports plenty of water to run steam boats, logs, etc., and make good time—especially this way.

A school teacher by the name of Squires, who has taught a three months term of school west of Thief River Falls was here a few hours Monday on his way home to St. Paul college. He was surprised to know that a newspaper was published so far west and in so small a town, and voluntary said the reason he came west was that he had the measles and could not see to read so he took the last school on the list to recuperate. He has gone back to college.

Henry Norland, president of the Valhall Society, called on us Monday and reported the celebration held the hall the 24th a grand success. Everything was favorable but the roads and they weren't passable.

L. Erickson, speaker of the occasion, organized a Peoples Party Club, Saturday afternoon of twenty-two members, and Sunday delivered an eloquent sermon. Those who braved the elements express themselves as well repaid for their trouble.

The appearence of a wild moose upon Viola avenue about noon of Wednesday created quite an excitement and the people rushed out on the street to see his mooseship leasurely trot off across the south end of the village, jump a fence into the field of Harry Howe's and then become bewildered. The moose, which appeared to be a two year old, after it had gone south along the fence seemed to lose his head, for he apparently did not know where he wanted to go. After making several short circles, he finally jumped the fence and made through the brush toward the river.—Roseau Times.

5 cents will buy two packages of garden seeds at Hall's.

Sow Flax.

My advice to farmers in this locality is to sell their seed wheat and buy flax seed. There is no prospect of getting a wheat crop now, while any time in June is early enough for flax. It is a better paying crop than wheat; requires no binding twine and is a weed destroyer; which is much in its favor this year. Furthermore if enough flax is sown there will probably be a tow mill put in here, which will make a market for the straw. One half bushel should be sown to the acre. S. M. DAINARD.

WYLIE ITEMS.

Jake Thill is the happiest man in town at present.

The Black River which has been quite high lately is retreating to its natural bed.

Some of the farmers are talking about putting their seeders under shelter for the rest of the season.

We had the pleasure of shaking hands with Attorney Grady of Thief River Falls as he passed through the village last week.

Two wagons loaded with women and children going to church last Sunday got mired in Brown's creek and the men were compelled to carry the contents ashore, one of the wagons still remains.

An old shostring and a six-penny nail,
Some grocer's twine and the shell of a snail
Two hickory nuts and an old brass pin,
A lump of gum and a bit of tin,
Two marbles, a top, and a fishhook or two
A dozen "B" shot and his father's corkscrews,
A button, a knife and a leather sling,
An empty spool and—some more string,
Tobacco tags, of kinds galore,
A penny whistle and an apple core.
A piece of rubber and a stale fish worm
(Which I knew by the odor had lost its squirm).
Four carpet tacks and a discarded locket
I found tonight in my sweet boy's pocket
—Indianapolis Journal.

FLAX SEED.

First-class flax seed for sale, absolutely clean, price reasonable at 28-tf E. J. HOLMES.

UNCLE EPHRIAM AGAIN.

What, in again so quick! we exclaimed as Uncle Ephraim took possession of the office chair and table and began decorating the floor with the juice of Bushy Creek's choicest seed-leaf.

"I cum in to git sum infurmation" John, said Uncle Ephraim, and discovering a spot in the corner where the floor was whiter than the rest proceeded to embrace it in the field he had laid out to decorate.

I'll be dumed if I aint tired hearin so much about the enthuserasm of the pepul about electin McGinley for presidunt. I take the New York Tribune and have took it ever since 1859, but I'm gettin tired on't, for it dont tell the truth enny more. Yud think if yu red the Tribune, that all the pepul of the United States was hankerin after McGinley and wudn't have good helth nor sleep nights if he aint elected. I'm goin to give it up.—Yes it'll be ruther lonesome to be without it; had it ni-on to forty years, but the old wom says, and I say too that we orten't to have such a lyin thing about the house, fokes'll think we'r republercans, and the lord only noes how we'd suffer to have such things sejl about us.

Got done seeding up your way. we asked?

Yas, mostly, its a leetle rollin on the hed-waters of Bushy and a LEETLE SANDY, so it dries quick, I don't no of eny budy that hasn't finished but Erick Hansun the postmaster, he's had so meny papers sent him that he's neglected his work, readin them I spose, I was down to the offes last week to get a letter, Belindy Speers frum Bakersfield, Vermont sent the old wom, asking if she mite cum out and leve with us a spell, and Erick shode me morne twenty newspapers that he'd got, mostly frum the east and every one of em was republercan and sed gold wus the only muny that was sound. I think Erick was a leetle bit rattled about, but I braced him up with a good square Omaha platform lectur and he looked shamed like, and sed he didn't no what to do, and feared he'd loose the post offes. I told him he needn't be afeared there's no demercrat in town and the recetes of the offes aint enough to pay eny one to cum here to take his place. "Wudn't a republercan take it" Erick asked? I sed yas, dumed quick; but there aint none left since the 2 went to Grand Forks. Republercans will take eny offes offered them. Erick is a leetle shaky and somebody will have to brace him up or he'd vote for sound muny and McGinley. I think he's been SEEN.

Now John, I want to see Harry, I've node Harry ever sence I cum up to Bushy, in 1883 and he and I are about of the same opinion in politix only he's a leetle better edicated and noes morn I do about the gaims the polytishuns are ushually playin.

We told him that there was nothing especially new in the political field, but that as soon as the conventions were held; there would be something to talk about and he would get it as soon as known through the SPECTATOR.

Aint nothing new! exclaimed Uncle Ephraim,—Why John you must be asleep!—its in the air, the rain brings it down every day; you can smell and eneamost see it but I nor the old woman cant make out what it is.

What is it Ephriam, we asked.

That what I dont know replied Uncle Ephriam. I cant describe it, but it seems to be in the mind of everybody, I see and it breaks out as soon as you meet em, they say what's the matter with the country and are all the peepul going to be used up with the hard times. Ben Everson, Ben leves on north fork of Bushy, was down to Crookston last fall and got putty drunk and while drunk the machine men there made him buy a soin macheen for his wife and he took the machine home and morgaged it and his steers to skure the payment. Ben's wife dide last winter and the feller I seed up her establisin republercan clubs last winter was up last week and took the macheen and steers and Ben haint got no team to put in his crop. I seed the feller when he driv the steers by mi place and he wanted to get a bite to ete, but the old woman sed she woodn't fede eny man that's mene enuf to take a mans last steers. I told the feller Ben was drunk when he bot the macheen and didn't need it, but he sed that made no difference; a man must be made to leve up to his contracts, that the moment Ben failed to pay the interest the rite of property vested in the macheen company, I sed I didn't no nothin about vested rites but I node it was a vested rong to get Ben drunk and sell him a soin macheen wuth ten dollars for fifty and then cos he failed to pay for it prompt, to take the macheen and his steers. He rode off muttering something about I didn't no nothin about law, and I'm glad I dont if it makes men such meen skamps to no it. I no of nobody in our town sufferin for bred and mete, but nerely all are in det and cant pay ther taxes nor the morgage, and that's why everybody is talkin bout hard times.

One Week's Weather Report.

Wednesday p. m., May 20th. Rain, cold and disagreeable. Thursday, bright and clear at sunrise, showers during the day. Friday, forenoon clear, afternoon sun showers, heavy rain during the night. Saturday, rain, very little sunshine. Sunday, heavy fog up to 9:30 a. m., bright and warm up to 6:30 followed by showers, hard rains during the night. Monday, clear up to 10:45, showers, accompanied by strong north-west wind. Tuesday, cloudy and cold, wind in the same quarter. Wednesday, bright sunshine. Good weather expected.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

EXCURSION TO THE CIRCUS.

Cheap Rates to Ringling Brothers' Famous World's Greatest Shows.

The SPECTATOR takes pleasure in announcing that special arangements have been made with transportation lines by which all who attend the performances of Ringling Bros.' World's Greatest Shows, which exhibit at Crookston Tuesday June 2nd can do so at greatly reduced excursion rates. This will be the only place in this vicinity where this big show will exhibit during the present season, and our readers should not miss the opportunity to see what is now beyond all comparisons the grandest combined circus, menagerie, hippodrome, spectacle and horse fair ever organized. The performances will be giving in every particular the same as during the phenomenal three weeks, engagement of Ringling Brothers' Shows at the immense Tattersalls Amphitheatre in Chicagh where press and public united in declaring the exhibition superior to any amusement enterprise in the world.

In this comunity the name of Ringling Brothers is synonymous with all that is highclass in amusement institutions; the show is itself a guarantee of its excellence. It begins with a glorious reproduction of the Festival of Olympus, a resplendent picture of the pomp and luxury of old Greece; then follows a superb circus programme, presented in three rings, two stages in mid-air and upon a great quarter mile track, the whole enlisting the services of 300 celebrated performers, and hundreds of other people; and finally, a thrilling revival of the exciting sports, contests and races of the ancient Roman hippodrome bring to a close a performance the like of which has never before been presented to the American people. Ringling Brothers have also made especial efforts this year to give their street parade upon a scale of magnitude and beauty never before attempted. They have succeeded; and no one should fail to see this wonderful free street spectacle, which leaves the show grounds every morning between 9 and 10 o'clock and passes over the principal down-town streets. Information in regard to excursion rates, etc., can be secured from the local railroad ticket agents.

Call for People's Party County Convention June 18th.

The People's Party convention for the county of Polk, State of Minnesota, will be held at the court house, in the City of Crookston, on the 18th day of June, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the following county offices:

County Auditor,
County Treasurer,
Sheriff,
Register of Deeds,
Judge of Probate,
County Attorney,
Surveyor,
Coroner,
Court Commissioner,
Superintendent of Schools,
County Commissioner, 1st District,
County Commissioner, 3rd District,
County Commissioner, 5th District.

The basis of representatation, as determined by the county central committee, shall be one delegate at large for each voting precinct, and one delegate for evrey fifty votes or major fraction thereof, cast for S. M. Owen for governor at the general election in 1894.

Conformable to forgoing apportionment, the voting precincts of Polk County will be entitled to delegates in the convention as follows:

Andover	2
Angus	1
Black River	2
Bray	1
Badger	2
Brandsvold	2
Belgium	1
Brislet	1
Bygland	2
Crookston	1
" City 1st ward	[illegible]
" " 2nd "	3
" " 3rd "	2
" " 4th "	3
" " 5th "	1
Columbia	3
Chester	2
Emardville	1
Euclid	1
Edo	2
Esther	1
Fairfax	1
Farley	1
Fanny	1
Fisher	3
Fosston Village	2
Fertile "	1
Grand Forks	2
E. G. F. 1st ward	1
" 2nd "	1
" 3rd "	1
" 4th "	2
Garfield	3
Garden	4
Gentilly	3
Gervais	2
Grove Park	2
Godfrey	2
Hammond	1
Higdem	2
Hill River	3
Huntsville	2
Hubbard	2
Keystone	1
Kertsonville	2
King	3
Knute	4
Lake Pleasant	2
Lambert	3
Liberty	2
Lessor	3
Lowell	2
Louisville	2
McIntosh Village	2
Nesbit	2
Norden	2
North	2
Northland	1
Numedal	3
Onstad	1
Parnell	1
Poplar River	2
Polk Centre	1
Queen	4
R. L. Falls Village	3
Red Lake Falls	2
Reis	1
River Falls	2
Rocksbury	3
Roome	2
Rosebud	3
Russia	1
Rhinehart	1
Sanders	2
Sandsville	2
St. Hilaire Village	2
Sletten
Sullivan	1
Tabor	2
Terrebonne	2
Tilden	1
Tynsid	1
Thief River Falls	3
Vineland	2
Winger	4
Woodside	3
Wyandotte	1

The primaries for the election of delgates shall be held on the 11th day of June, 1896, and the polls shall be opened at 2 o'clock p. m., and remain open for two hours.

By order of the County Central Com.

ARNY GRUNDYSEN, Chairman.
JOHN GLEASON, Secretary.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., May 19th 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on July 2nd 1896, viz:

John C. Shjerva Hd No. 14133, for the w½ sw¼ sec. 33, e½ se¼ sec. 32 tp 153 N. range 42 west.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Andrew Nelson, Peter A. Tune, Gilbert Anfinson and Ole H. Broten, all of St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

42-47 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41-52

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

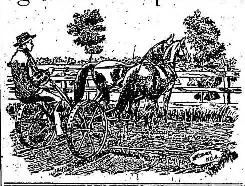
Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements



American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

The New England Conservator of Music Franklin Square, Boston, Mass., is undoubtedly the best equipped School of Music in the world. Its pupils are always in demand as teachers on account of their superior musical knowledge and their practical readiness in applying it. In addition, the Conservatory offers the best instruction in Oratory and Modern Languages. The charge is extremely small when its advantages as compared with those offered by similar schools are considered. Prospectus sent free upon application.

Putting Away Firelrons.

Before putting away fireirons for the summer they should be thoroughly cleaned, all particles of rust removed, and then smeared with mutton fat and wrapped round with plenty of papers. When they are taken out next autumn, one cleaning will make them as bright as ever again.

There is no excuse for steel getting rusty if it is once bright; but if this does happen, through neglect, cover the surface with sweet oil, and let it remain for a couple of days; then use unslaked lime, finely powdered, and rub it with it till all the rust disappears. An excellant paste for polishing steel can be made with one gill of turpentine, one gill of ammonia and one pound of crocus powder, mixed together. Apply this first, and afterward polish with whiting.

A good mixture for polishing brass, tin, steel or copper is made by dissolving a quarter of a pound of ammonia in a pint of hot water; then put it into a pint and a half bottle and add a quarter of a pound of knife polish. Shake it hard and keep it well corked. To clean such things as brass trays or bowls, there is nothing so effectual as a thorough scrubbing with hot water and soap to remove all dirt, polishing with a dry cloth, and finally applying the polish quoted above. When this has dried on the surface, brush it off and rub well with leather.

County Displays.

One of the novel features of the Grand Army Encampment in St. Paul during the first week in September will be the displays in the open streets made by the various Minnesota counties. The displays will take the form of arches, pyramids, circles, ladders or steps, swinging balconies or street booths, made of the products of each county and showing the leading industries and resources. W. J. Footner, Chairman of the Committee on County Displays, has formed a committee of men who are especially well equipped for helping each county to make a creditable display. Applications for street street space and other privileges are coming to Mr. Footner, and his committee will begin vigorous work at once. Every county that participates will have opportunity to display its resources to at least 300,000 visitors, day and night for a week, and the expense will be trifling.

Professional Absent-Mindedness.

Prof. Dusel of Bonn noticed one day his wife placing a large bouquet on his desk.

"What does all this mean?" he asked.

"Why, this is the anniversary of your marriage," replied Mrs. Dusel.

"Is that so? Well, let me know when yours comes around and I'll reciprocate."

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch st., Phila., Pa.

The Latest in Dentistry.

"I see they are using X rays in dentistry now."

"What for? To locate the pain?"—Chicago Evening Post.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is taken internally. Price, 75c

Rectified the Mistake

"Marie, I thought your physician told you that you were not strong enough to ride a wheel?"

"Yes, but then I went to another doctor."—Chicago Record.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

And He Drew It.

"Don't you know that it is wrong to fish here on private grounds?"

"Well, sir, the line must be drawn somewhere."—Yonkers Statesman.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

His Reason.

Baggs—Why did you give up housekeeping and go to boarding?

Gaggs—My wife is learning to ride a wheel.—Washington Times.

The Commissary Department

Of the human system is the stomach. In consequence of its activity, the body is supplied with the elements of bone, brain, nervous and muscular tissue. When indigestion impedes its functions, the best agent for imparting a healthful impetus to its operations is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, also a curative for malaria, bilious and kidney complaints, nervousness and constipation.

And He Never Had.

Saphed—They say that if you—aw—eat fish it makes bwains.

Sharpe—How is that you have never tasted fish?—Fun.

That Dreadful Boy.

Her Admirer—Well, Reggie! How's your sister's cold, eh?

Her Little Brother—Oh, that's all right. But she's got a jolly big corn.—Moonshine.

That

Extreme tired feeling afflicts nearly everybody at this season. The hustlers cease to push, the tireless grow weary, the energetic become enervated. You know just what we mean. Some men and women endeavor temporarily to overcome that

Tired

Feeling by great force of will. But this is unsafe, as it pulls powerfully upon the nervous system, which will not long stand such strain. Too many people "work on their nerves," and the result is seen in unfortunate wrecks marked "nervous prostration," in every direction. That tired

Feel-

ing is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is, therefore, apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember that

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. 25 cents.

AGRICULTURE

SUBSOILING EXPERIMENT.

On Slopes That Are Washy or Springy Subsoiling Will Pay.

Last spring we subsoiled about fifteen acres or corn. Most of this area was loosened seventeen inches deep and in some places a greater depth was touched. The fields were timothy sod. The soil was mostly limestone underlaid with yellow clay. One piece was was rolling and the other rather flat. Both have been drained to some extent.

By subsoiling we hoped to benefit the soil in two ways, viz: improve the drainage and deepen the seed bed. As is known, the past was the dryest in many years. After subsoiling there was no rain to saturate the soil until late in the fall. The plowed ground dried out badly as the dry winds seemed to carry away the moisture more than from the un-subsoiled land. The texture of the soil was looser, doubtless because of aeration, than where the surface above was stirred.

We cannot say that the corn was better because of loosening the substratum. However, the work was done at a disadvantage. The subsoiling should not be done until late in the spring, and in this we think lay our chief error. There must be some compactness to facilitate capillary attraction, and to prevent loss of moisture by evaporation. We expect to sub-soil the first plowing we do, and to compact the surface by a drag or other means as soon as the plowing is finished. We do not anticipate any trouble from baking rains, since the texture being loose will not become extremely compact under the usual rainfall.

To-day I walked over one field that was subsoiled in part. Although the flattest part was so treated, yet I noticed that it was a trifle dryer than the remainder. A snow was melting and the ground was thawing slowly. On the subsoiled portion the surface was cracked and appeared more porous than the other part, which had more the appearance of mortar.

Further, our experience indicates that subsoiling would pay on slopes that are washy or springy. In such places the furrows should run up and down the hill. One of our neighbors has found subsoiling beneficial to a young orchard. The work of course was done before setting the trees.—Robt. L. Dean in Indiana Farmer.

For Protecting Newly-Set Plants.

The sketch herewith shows a simple contrivance. Short pieces of board a foot long and nine inches wide are sharpened, as shown in the diagram, and to these are tacked long strips of cheap cotton cloth. Drawn tightly, and the sharpened ends pressed down into the earth, a fine protection is afforded plants that have just been transplanted. White cloth especially, reflects the sun's rays and keeps all cool beneath it. If a long strip of cloth is used, put a bit of sharpened board every eight feet. Cotton cloth can be had at a few cents a yard, and three strips can be made from a piece of ordinary width.

Good Potatoes.

My title refers to the Early Ohio and the Rural New Yorker No. 2. Every season for the past ten years I have experimented with from six to fifteen new or popular varieties, in search or the best. The result of this experience leads me to select the foregoing kinds for my main planting the present year.

During the past two or three years a few promising new varieties have appeared, some of which may, or may not, be superior to those mentioned. A test of one or two years on the limited scale of introductory trials rarely gives sufficient evidence to be of great value. I never speak confidently of any variety until I have given it at least three years of trial.

Among early varieties the Early Ohio has had the place of honor in our field for six or seven years. It has been the standard by which I have measured the value of other kinds. In earliness, in quality and productiveness it has stood in the front ranks. Occasionally some extra early kind has been found ready for the table a day or two ahead of the Ohio—rarely enough to be of much value—and such kinds have invariably proved inferior in other points.

The Early Ohio grows to a good size and is a good keeper. It comes out in the spring in better shape than most early varieties. It is less apt to sprout in the cellar. With bins of several varieties in the cellar our family uses the Ohio nine times out of ten. I soon hear complaints if that bin gets low.

The Rural New Yorker No. 2 boasts of great productiveness as its strongest point. It does not claim to be of extra quality; but grown on my soil of sandy loam, I find it to be of as good quality as most late varieties. The Burbank, which is the great shipping potato of this region, is certainly inferior to it in quality. The Rural grows to a good size, and there are very small tubers among them. My patch yielded 250 bushels per acre last year on soil that had had no manure for years. Tubers are found far away from the hill. This increases the work of digging, and when potato diggers are used many good tubers are apt to be left in the ground.

The tops of this variety have a peculiar shape and appearance that distinguish it from all others. On rich soil the stalks grow so tall that they fall over on the earth and cover the ground with a mass of foliage, remaining green until late in the fall. This smothers the small weeds that attempt to grow. On the other hand, it furnishes an excellent feeding and hiding ground for the late crop of potato beetles. The tuber has but few eyes—the ideal seed potato. A potato with few eyes has strong eyes, and throws up stalks of vigorous growth: Then the vitality of the seed does not have to be weakened by cutting. A few eyes to the tuber and a whole tuber to each hill is what I want in planting.—C. L. Hill in Country Gentleman.

Flour From the Sorghums.

The great increase in production of non-sweet sorghums in the trans-Missouri territory and their heavy yields of seed or grain are causing not a little interesting investigation as to what various uses it can be put, and this is especially true in Kansas where a probably larger acreage of these crops is grown than in all the rest of the world. Within the past year considerable attention has quietly been given to testing its milling and culinary qualities, and one roller milling company at Marquette, McPherson county, reports to Secretary Coburn, of the state board of agriculture, having ground not less than 1,000 bushels of Kafir and Jerusalem for household uses.

From their experience these millers find that Jerusalem corn "mills" to much the best advantage, and although the flour as at present made has not the extreme whiteness of that from wheat, Secretary Coburn vouches that it makes delicious biscuits, muffins and griddle-cake, while the miller claims the Kafir flour is not quite so desirable for bread, but makes an excellent pancake flour.

Important developments in the adaptability of these new grains for milling and food purposes seem likely in the near future. It is said that when ground on rolls by a gradual reduction process the bran is readily separated, but the difficulty of ridding the flour of its dark specs, so formidable from the cook's standpoint, has not yet been overcome.

The product of these grains is on the market to some extent as Kafir meal, Kafir flour, Kaferina, Kafir Graham, etc., and challenges comparison with any of the so-called health flours at one-half or one third their prices.

Fertilizers for Oats and Clover

G. P., of Wisconsin, asks what kind of fertilizer is most profitable to sow on thin ridge land for oats and clover, how much per acre and where it can be obtained. Under ordinary Wisconsin conditions, I should say that stable manure is the most economical fertilizer that G. P. can apply on thin ridge land, when it can be obtained in sufficient quantities. If commercial fertilizers are to be used, he is restricted to those licensed by law to be sold in the state, unless he buys from dealers outside of the state and on his own responsibility. Ten different brands of fertilizers are licensed to be sold in this state during the current year, and these are either compound fertilizer, bone meal or tankage. A list of the licensed brands, with analyses and valuations, is given in the recent bulletin, No. 40, of this station. (The Maintenance of Soil Fertility: Commercial Fertilizers.) This bulletin, as well as other publications of the station, will be sent free of charge to all Wisconsin farmers upon request, and to others as far as practicable.

An application of 100 pounds of nitrate of soda, 400 pounds of bone meal and 1,000 pounds of wood ashes will doubtless prove ample for an acre of oats, and will give good results. Instead of nitrate of soda, a ton of farmyard manure may be applied. For clover, one-half the quantity of nitrate of soda and one and one-half times as much bone meal and wood ashes is recommended. For prices of bone meal and other licensed fertilizers, with the dealers, whose names are given, send for the bulletin above referred to. Do not patronize outside dealers, as you will not have the protection of the state fertilizer law if you do.—Prof. F. W. Woll, Wisconsin Experiment Station.

Grow Cabbages.

All farmers should grow cabbages in their gardens, at least sufficient for home use. The amount of food which a small amount of rich land will produce when planted with cabbages is enormous. It is a kind of food that offsets the excessiv eamount of carbon in the form of starch that the potato furnishes. We eat too many potatoes. The diet ought to be varied with something that has a larger proportion of nitrogen, and cabbage fills the bill as well as any vegetable crop that we know. Owing to its being a nitrogenous crop, cabbage is a rather costly crop to grow. It produces, when well fertilized a greater amount of strength-giving nutriment than can be grown in any other way. There are times when the cabbage supply is beyond the demand late in fall. Then is when the crop of late cabbages comes into market. Yet if the cabbage-growers will heel in their crop, so as to keep it through the winter, it can usually be depended upon to bring fair prices in the spring. It is useless to attempt cabbage-culture in this country without plenty of water for irrigation.

Hints on Onions.

I have sown onion seed on the same land for eight years and the crop has improved every year. Spread on thickly rotted manure, plow under, pulverize thoroughly, rake with an iron tooth rake and mark off the drills fifteen inches apart. Sow unleached wood ashes in drills at the rate of forty bushels per acre. Sow the seed on the ashes and cover. I have no trouble with worms or maggots. Unleached wood ashes and onions are great friends. Cultivate four or five times, keeping the soil loose and mellow and free from weeds and keep the soil well drawn up around the onions. In planting large bulbs which bunch, or make a number of small bulbs, care should be taken to put a handful of dirt in the middle of each bunch as they grow and spread apart; as they will do much better and grow larger.—C. W. Norris, Gilmer county, W. Va.

Crimson or Scarlet Clover.

The Ohio experiment station has made several experiments with crimson or scarlet clover during the past four seasons, all of which have thus far resulted in failure. The chief difficulty has apparently been that the dry weather, which is so common in Ohio during August, the time when this clover is ordinarily sown, has killed the young plants after germination. Of late years this summer drouth has regularly extended into the fall. Whether this clover will endure our winter is also a doubtful point.

Farm Notes.

The spring cleaning should be made to include the stables, sheds, rubbish piles, etc., etc.

The Vermont station kills potato bugs with a mixture of one pound of Paris green to 100 pounds land plaster, all costing 65 cents, while 100 pounds patent bug remedies cost $5 and upwards.

Divide the day up so as to have plenty of time to rest and recreate. There is no sense in working twelve hours a day on the farm. It is the best way in the world to disgust the boys with farm work.

Prof. Shaw, of the Minnesota Experiment station, cautions farmers to grow peas on land that has a clay subsoil, and states that they will not thrive on sandy soil. What is the experience of our readers?

Bulletin No. 25, of the Wyoming station, gives the results of six years' experiment sin growing wheat by irrigation. The average cost was $7.75 per acre; average profit, $10.16 per acre, which is 10 per cent on a valuation of $100 per acre, 20 per cent on $50 and 40 per cent on $25 per acre. The advantages of irrigation are an assured crop, a heavier yield, a better grain and increasing fertility of the soil.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Needle Cases.

Some pretty needle cases have been made lately in cardboard, long and narrow, covered with dark satin and edged with minute cord. Inside the cord was a twisting scroll of narrow black velvet, and inside that again an applique of white satin in conventional floral designs, with an oval in the center, on which thimbles and scissors are embroidered in gold thread. Others are made in blue linen worked in white flourishing thread; miniature slippers, embroidered on the toe, are made to contain a thimble, from beneath which come some leaves containing needles. There is also a small oval cushion filled with emery, but with soft wool at the top, and through this needles are inserted, the emery being employed when required.

When Nature

Needs assistance it may be best to render it promptly, but one should remember to use even the most perfect remedies only when needed. The best and most simple and gentle remedy is the Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Company.

The French Waste Nothing.

A visitor was dining with a French woman who certainly has a reputation for prudence. A cherry pie had been on the table, and the mistress ordered that all the ones were to be scraped from the plates and placed in her storeroom. Venturing to ask the reason, the visitor was told that not only cherry, but plum, peach and all stones, whether cooked or raw, were invariably saved, gently dried in the oven and kept in a great jar. "Then,' said madame, "in the winter, when the fire burns clear and bright in the evening, I fetch a handful and throw them among the glowing coals. They crack and sputter for a moment, send up a brilliant flame, and the whole room is filled with a delicious odor."

A Bad Time of Year.

"Hasn't Mr. Simpkins proposed yet, daughter?"

"No, mamma: I can't get him to talk about anything but base ball."—Chicago Record.

$100 invested in our investment system pays $2.00 per day: $500 pays $10.00 per day. Our plan is plain and practical. Address for particulars.

CHANDLER & CO.,
Kasota Block, Minneapolis, Minn.

"Why did Willie Westside break off his engagement to Miss Elmore?"

"He was afraid she would want to marry him."—Buffalo Times.

Served a Good Purpose.

"It made my blood boil."

"That's a good thing. There's nothing like boiling to work off all the impurities in any thing."—Chicago Evening Post.

Two bottles of Piso's Cure for Consumption cured me of a bad lung trouble.—Mrs. J. Nichols, Princeton, Ind., Mar. 20, 1895.

Mrs. Beverly's Culture.

"Is Mrs. Beverly so highly cultured?"

"Yes; she can look at a hole in a newspaper without wondering what was cut out."—Chicago Record.

New Woman—Husband, I need a change. The doctor said my life is too monotonous. I need excitement.

Husband—Try staying at home.—

Hosts of people go to work in the wrong way to cure a

Sprain, Soreness, or Stiffness,

When ST. JACOBS OIL would cure in the right way, right off.

A quarter spent in HIRES Rootbeer does you dollars' worth of good.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS

The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.

J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist,
ST. PAUL, MINN.

WE HAVE NO AGENTS, but sell direct to the consumer at wholesale prices. Ship anywhere for examination before sale. Everything warranted. 100 styles of Carriages, 90 styles of Harness, 41 styles Riding Saddles. Write for catalogue. ELKHART CARRIAGE & HARNESS MFG. CO., ELKHART, IND.

W. B. PRATT, Secy.

THIEMS ADJUSTABLE BICYCLE TOE CLIP.

50c

THIEM & CO.
ST. PAUL, MINN.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C.
Successfully Prosecutes Claims.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

CRIPPLE CREEK.—$5 will buy 400 shares of gold mining stock; send for prospectus; references given. MOUNT & MOTZ, Colorado Springs, Col.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

W N U 22—1896.

COLLECTING RENT.

The Old Lady Took Her Knitting and Waited on the Doorstep.

Commend me to the old lady in Rochester who sought novel and successful means of collecting her house rent last week. She was an old lady of ideas and a knowledge of human nature gleaned from a lifetime of experience with the world. She owned a house and lot in Rochester, and the income from it was the substance upon which she depended for life's necessities. It was rather an ostentatious house and lot, and the tenants were persons with reputations to sustain, although embarrassed for ready money. Two months rent was due, and the agent was not able to collect.

The old lady said it was simple enough. She could collect it herself. Now, she wasn't a stylish or an artistic old lady; but she was sturdy and imperturbable, and her proportions were ample and her spirit unfaltering. She rang the door bell at an early hour, the other morning, and inquired for the head of the family. The servant glowered at her and said he was not to be seen yet for two hours, because the family had not yet risen. The early caller was cheerful, and said she'd sit on the doorsteps and wait.

Finally she was granted an audience with the tenant, who put her off with smooth promises. "I'll just sit here and wait until you can pay it," replied the righteous collector, and she settled herself once more on the doorstep, took her knitting from her basket and prepared to spend the day. She made a quaint-looking picture, and all the neighbors wondered. When anyone came within conversing distance and stared rudely at her, she explained, in a friendly way, that she was waiting until the tenants paid their rent. She looked truthful, and no one doubted her, and her plan worked like a charm. The rent was paid long before sundown, and she ambled home more than ever convinced that nothing is impossible.—Philadelphia Press.

The Discovery of Quinine.

In a company of prominent physicians each was asked to write the six remedies that he would take on board ship for a voyage around the world, if his life were to depend upon the number who would return alive.

The first entry was "opium," unanimously indorsed. At the second entry the vote was a tie between "mercury" and "quinine," and now that the bichloride of mercury has been found to be the most efficient of microbe-killers, probably that would have second place unanimously, and the third would be unhesitatingly given to the various extracts of the bark of the several varieties of the chichona, of which the most familiar is quinine, a name derived from that used by the Peruvian Indians, who called the trees kina. The old-fashioned method of administering was by macerating the "quills" of bark in wine, and the great tonic in the early part of the century was "bark and wine," and as in these latter days it has been demonstrated to be directly fatal to the bacillus malaria, we can easily understand what a boon it was to the settlers in the underdrained and "fever-and-ague" regions of this country when new. At last, by the advance of chemical skill, the secret of extracting its alkaloids was found, and of these no less than thirteen are known and used, and some of them produce a valuable medicine at a less cost than quinine itself.

In 1854 the Dutch government undertook to raise the trees in the Island of Java, and now they have most prosperous plantations; but the most extensive and successful of what may be called intelligently-conducted plantations are in British Burmah. In South Africa the bark is obtained by first stripping the trunk, then felling the tree, but under English botanists in India a way is found of partially stripping the trunk and then surrounding it with moss, causing fresh bark to be produced. The botanists have ever found a way of making the bark fuller of the desirable alkaloids.—New York Independent.

The Privileged American Girl.

"The jealousies that exist in all traveling companies of singers are frequently inspired by accidents or trivial incidents" said a man who has managed many such organizations. "One of the most amusing comedies of this sort that I ever witnessed occurred in St. Petersburg a few years ago. Miss Clara Louise Kellogg was the central figure in it. There was a big reception at the palace, and Miss Kellogg and the other singers had been invited to be present. Court etiquette in St. Petersburg is complicated and severe. Only members of the imperial family and their guests on such occasions may use the front entrance to the palace. All the other guests are expected to enter by a rear entrance. Miss Kellogg didn't know this, and by some mistake her coachman drove up to the entrance reserved for royalty. Miss Kellogg's gown duly impressed the court attendants, and they admitted her without question. She was received with favor, and her mistake was overlooked without comment. The other singers entered the palace from the rear, as did all the other guests who were not royal. When the other musicians learned of the way in which Miss Kellogg had gone into the palace there was a big row. They wouldn't believe that it was a mistake. It looked like favoritism, and the jealousy kindled by it lasted for a month. There are softer snaps than managing musical combinations, but none that furnishes more amusement."—New York Sun.

Early-Rising Sprigs of Royalty.

With the exception of Queen Victoria and the Prince of Wales, it is said that nearly all the royalties of Europe are in the habit of rising early. Emperor William is generally about by 5 in the morning, and the queen regent of Spain is dressed for the day at sharp 7. King Humbert's hour of rising is 6, as is that of King Oscar and King Charles of Roumania, while the late Emperor Dom Pedro of Brazil, when in Europe, was wont to get up at 3 and call upon friends and acquaintances at the extraordinary hours of 4 and 5 in the morning. Queen Victoria, it is said, never rises before 8, while breakfast at Marlborough House and Sandringham is rarely partaken of before 1.—The Sketch.

Behind the Times.

New York Editor—See here! Don't you know executions by electricity are the law now?

New Man—Yes, certainly.

"Then, sir, what do you mean by using this old-time, chestnutty, mouldy quotation: 'Give a rogue rope enough and he will hang himself?' What do you mean, sir? We are not living in the Middle Ages."

"What substitute would you suggest?"

"Say: 'Let a rogue go on shocking society, and he will get shocked himself.'"—New York Weekly.

Patents Issued.

List of Patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

Adolf W. Bonderson, Bernadotte, Minn., car coupling; Ernest Bruner, Plano, S. D., ice tire for bicycle wheels; Peter Forsberg, Minneapolis, Minn., ventilated mattress; Frederick Kees, Minneapolis, Minn., household ordering device; Earl A. Klose, Richfield, Minn., pipe wrench; James T. Platt, Monticello, Minn., merchants' coupon book; Fridolen Schimmel and S. F. Nelson, Faribault, Minn., vertical grand piano; Frank J. Scott, St. Paul, Minn., founders' molding machine; Oliver G. Seward, O. E. Mills and M. J. Ham, Minneapolis, Minn., automatic gas generator; John D. Wilcox, Pine City, Minn., potato digger.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912, Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

"Sub-Irrigation" in the Greenhouse.

The value of "sub-irrigation" in the greenhouse has been conclusively proved at the Ohio experiment station. Lettuces grown in the new way are double the size of those grown in the old way. The idea of irrigating the soil below the surface arose out of an attempt to prevent the rotting of lettuce by not wetting the foliage. It is cheaper than the old method of surface watering; the soil remains in a better condition, and the plants are less apt to decay.

DR. J. G. GRANT, Specialist.
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.
Syndicate Block, Minneapolis.
(Spectacles fitted.)

Making Wire Nails on a Cut Nail Machine.

A contrivance has been patented for making wire nails on a cut-nail machine. It is easily attached to a common machine at a cost of less than $15. It consists of an arrangement of dies into which the wire is drawn, and the nail is made by a quick pressure. While this pressure is in progress the head and point forming the wire for another nail is shot through to the dies, so that the rapidity of manufacture is equal to that of the ordinary cut nail.

Easy If You Have It.

Mr. Meanit—I wish I had the key of your heart.

She—It has no key, it works with a combination.

Mr. Meanit—Is the combination a secret?

She—Oh, no. It is wealth, position and a title.—Judy.

Made Game of It.

Mrs. Foot—I knew you were very fond of game, my dear, so I ordered a duck for dinner to-day.

Mr. Foot (at carving)—I think the butcher must have sent you a decoy duck.—Vanity.

Poor Pilgarlic,

there is no need for you to contemplate a wig when you can enjoy the pleasure of sitting again under your own "thatch." You can begin to get your hair back as soon as you begin to use

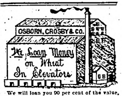
Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Clothing During Sleep.

If the baby wakens, fretful and out of sorts, it is either unwell or hasn't had its nap out. There is one thing taht few people seem to realize, and that is arranging the child's clothes with a view to ease, and giving it plenty of room. We all know that if we lie down in the daytime in our usual wearing apparel we do not sleep half as long as when our clothes are loosened. Indeed, nervous people sometimes find it impossible to go to sleep when wearing ordinary day clothing.

It is a good idea to take the little one's shoes off, sometimes the stockings, and in cold weather to wrap a warm cloth around the feet. Flannel is one of the very best retainers of warmth that can be found. It is far ahead of wool for this purpose.

Unpin the bands and untie the strings, and let all the garments be loose; then the baby, especially a delicate or a nervous child, will sleep quite as long as one wishes. Some mothers completely undress the little one, putting on its night clothes, and they will find it greatly to their advantage to do so.



OSBORN, CROSBY & CO.
We Loan Money on Wheat In Elevators

We will loan you 90 per cent of the value, at 6 per cent interest, on wheat sent to us to be stored or upon grain in your local elevator. Osborn, Crosby & Co., Flour Exchange, Minneapolis.

Kickapoo Indian Worm Killer

Is what you should give the children. Half their sickness is CAUSED BY WORMS.

"Contains More Flesh Forming Matter Than Beef."

That is what an eminent physician says of good cocoa. The Cocoa made by Walter Baker & Co., Ltd., Dorchester, Mass., is the best.

See that Imitations are not palmed off on you.

"Judgment !'l"

Battle Ax PLUG

The umpire now decides that "BATTLE AX" is not only decidedly bigger in size than any other 5 cent piece of tobacco, but the quality is the finest he ever saw, and the flavor delicious. You will never know just how good it is until you try it.

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY JUNE 3, 1896. NUMBER 44.

HUNDREDS KILLED

THE ST. LOUIS CYCLONE THE WORST EVER KNOWN.

Several Hundred Lives Are Lost but the Exact Number May Never Be Known, as Many People Are Thought to Have Been Drowned in the River and Many Others Are Burned in the Ruins of Buildings—The Property Loss Is Variously Estimated at From Ten to Thirty Million Dollars.

St. Louis, May 30.—It will be several days before definite information can be obtained as to the loss of life, and injury of unfortunate people who happened to be in the path of the cyclone which swept over portions of Missouri and Illinois Wednesday afternoon. In addition to the killed and injured in St. Louis and East St. Louis, the cyclone mowed down many people who advanced before it. Dispatches received to-day by the Associated Press gave accounts of serious loss of life and maimings in quite a number of places.

Death and Destruction.

St. Louis, May 30.—The awful sweep of the tornado is marked to-day by a devastated district in the southwestern portion of the city a half mile wide and four miles long, with wrecked buildings, tottering walls, debris, choked streets, and rescuing parties to tell the story of havoc and death.

The general trend was from southwest to northeast, the center of the business district of the city lying about a mile north of the storm's path. The heavy damage was in the vicinity of Tower Grove and Lafayette Park, where handsome residences were completely wrecked and many injured.

One of the remarkable features was the destruction of a wing of the city hospital, carrying 200 patients and nurses down in the wreck, and killing but one person.

Ruin and Disaster.

When the sun rose on St. Louis and vicinity this morning it showed a scene of terrible ruin and disaster. Wind, rain and fire had combined in a mission of destruction. The greatest damage on this side of the river was inflicted within a three-mile strip along the mighty stream. Hours of depressing sultriness, puffs of wind coming by turns from all points of the compass, piling up in heavy clouds around the horizon, the flying hither and thither of light, mist-like formations across the dull, dark-colored masses—these were the characteristics of an afternoon which brought to St. Louis the most disastrous storm in the city's history. For hours the currents shifted, the wind blew hot and cold, and the storm center developed.

In the west a thunder storm developed. The early mutterings indicated nothing more alarming than a downpour with the ordinary electrical accompaniments. This rain cloud came up slowly at first, from the west, beyond Forest Park. As the black rim mounted higher above the horizon its arc embraced more territory to the north and south. A strong wind from the east began to blow right in the face of the storm. It was a lower current. It raised the dark cloud and brought it forward faster and faster. Suddenly the wind stopped blowing from the east and there swept from the northwest which made the best built structures tremble. With the hurricane—for that was the first form the storm took when it broke over the western part of the city—came a deluge of rain. For half an hour from a few minutes before 5 until 5:30 this hurricane blew from the northwest. Then there came a lull.

A Terrific Gale

The currents shifted. In the southwest there came into existence a storm cloud with the essential features of the cyclone—funnel-shaped. This second storm burst upon the city from the southwest. It came in on the south side of Lafayette Park, struck the city hospital, and from there tore its way through the city to the river by a northeasterly course. It wrought such havoc as will long leave traces in that part of the city which lies east of Seventh street and north of Cerre street to the Eads bridge.

Enough is known to show that more lives have been lost on the East side than on the West side. Perhaps the most impressive evidence of the storm cloud's force is to be seen in the wreck of the eastern portion of the big Eads bridge. There the tornado dealt with stone and masonry. It tore off and tumbled down tons upon tons of masonry. Beginning with the big eastern pier and extending to the foot of the incline, a storm cloud cut off the upper part of the structure as if it had been a flimsy trestle instead of a structure of world-famed masonry. What the tornado did to the Eads bridge will not be believed unless the eyes see it.

Death in the River.

Of all the craft that lined the river for miles, but one remains to tell the story of the disaster. It hung steadily to its moorings throughout. When the tornado struck the light of day vanished in a moment, and those at work could barely discern the forms of the steamers as one after another pitched and tossed and finally, with a crash, was blown out into the dark waters and disappeared. The scene was one of wild uncertainty and chaos. No one knew whither to seek safety. After the tornado had passed it left a scene of desolation where ten minutes before steamers had rocked quietly at their docks, some just arrived and discharging their passengers, others preparing for departure.

Trucks and baggage had been tossed hither and thither. Plows and agricultural implements had been distributed up and down the levee and the whole appearance was one of waste and wreck. Steamer J. J. Odell, of the Illinois Packet company, was blown out from its wharf at the foot of Morgan street, crashed into the second pier of the Eads bridge, and sank. Her boilers blew up before she disappeared. She had a crew of twelve and three women passengers besides her captain, George Townsend, an old river man. Three of her crew, Jack Morrissey, Pat Milan, and —— Moore, reached land safely. The two former jumped before the explosion occurred and caught on driftwood. Moore was blown overboard by the explosion and cut about the head, but managed to swim ashore. Three others of the crew clung to the pier and made their way up to the bridge.

There is no way of estimating the number of lives lost on river craft. Hundreds of barges were moored all along the river bank. In some instances as many as ten or twelve persons were on board when the anchorage gave way.

St. Louis, May 31.—Desolation still reigns supreme in the tornado-stricken districts of East St. Louis and this city. The day opened up clear and cool, and everywhere could be seen gangs of men delving into the ruins for buried victims, clearing the streets of dismantled poles, wires and general debris, repairing the damage done to thousands of buildings and relieving the injured and homeless.

As the time goes on it becomes more and more evident that the tornado is the worst that ever visited this or any other city on the North American continent. Horrors multiply every hour and the list of dead is appalling. More than 130 dead bodies have been recovered in St. Louis and over 400 persons are known to have been injured. Mangled cadavers are still found along the path of the storm and are taken to the improvised morgues. It will be weeks before a complete list of those killed can be made, but the list of dead in St. Louis alone is climbing up to the 200 mark.

Only mere guesses can be made as to the property loss on both sides of the river, but mercantile agencies say that it may reach $50,000,000 in this city alone, while in East St. Louis it will be several millions. In East St. Louis the western section of that railway town being one vast charnel house. Only a single dwelling was left standing on what is called the "Island," and 600 families are homeless. Citizens estimate the dead at fully 200 on the East side. In the wake of the tornado came grave problems. To meet one of them—the protection of the city in the absence of electric lights—the First Missouri regiment has gone on duty for patrol service and the police commissioners will add 160 men to the force.

The Disaster Was Complete,

The business men of St. Louis have taken up the work of relief. An earnest meeting on 'change yesterday was the beginning. There are thousands who can pull themselves out of this trouble. There are other thousands who have lost all and must be helped. A partial resumption of the street car service has been effected. The east and west roads north of Market street are in operation and also the Broadway and Grand avenue division of the north and south lines. Within the southern division the Scullen system is the most badly crippled, owing to the destruction of the power house, and the officers venture no prediction as to when cars will be running. A partial restoration of the electric light service is promised in forty-eight hours, but it will be a couple of weeks before all of the circuits are in order.

The destruction of poles and wire along the path of the storm was complete. Inquests on the bodies of 42 of the slain in St. Louis have been held. A verdict of "shock and injuries; accidental," was rendered in each case. East St. Louis has issued and the committee which prepared the manifesto estimates that 200 persons were killed and that the number of injured will foot up in the thousands. It is known that a number of persons are still buried in the debris on the southwestern end of the island and in the ruins of Halsey's hotel, the Martel house, the Relay Retreat and the Durant house. Conservative people assert that the list will not reach the estimated total of 200, though enough persons are now missing to create a fear that the fatalities will approach that number. Many of those who have not been seen by their families since Wednesday are supposed to be stopping with friends or detained from returning to their homes by injuries that may not prove fatal. Street car traffic, telephone service and electric lighting facilities are entirely suspended. All business is virtually suspended.

A Touching Appeal for Aid,

Every one agrees that months will fail to reveal the extent of the tornado's devastation in the Illinois towns. From the surrounding country thousands of men, women and children flocked into the city to view the scenes of ruin and death.

The officials of the board of education are busy figuring out the enormous loss which the schools suffered. All the South end schools between Choteau avenue and Arsenal streets were badly damaged. Some had roofs blown away and walls caved in and others got off with ruined windows and chimneys. The schools which suffered most are the Clinton, Clinton branch, Peabody, Charles, Hodgen, Pestalozzi, Grant, New Shepard, Lokverture, Arcobel, Lafayette, Longfellow and Madison. The Compton, Marquette, Choteau and Garfield also suffered. The school board cannot repair the damage for less than $50,000, and perhaps a larger sum will be needed. Several of the schools will not be opened again until September.

Churches Damaged.

St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church, Sixth and Biddle streets, was damaged even more than first reported. The spire was entirely demolished and in falling destroyed a two-story brick building on the corner of Sixth and Biddle. The organ loft of the church is a wreck and the organ covered with brick and debris. Despite this state of gloomy affairs services will be held as usual Sunday morning.

The emergency hospital at the old Good Shepherd convent on Hines street is running along in good shape, considering that it was only instituted in its present capacity Thursday morning. Some of the doctors took their first rest after midnight Thursday, but they were all up and busy by 6 o'clock Friday morning. There are nearly 300 sick at the emergency hospital who were transferred from the city hospital after it was demolished. The clerk of the hospital has checked up his list. He thinks that there are not more than four or five unaccounted for. Some patients, who were prisoners from the jail, workhouse and elsewhere are known to have escaped during the confusion.

At St. John's hospital, on Twenty-third street and Lucas, the wounded are being well cared for. One patient, William Pletke, of 1008 Lafayette avenue, died. He was first sent to the Good Shepherd via the dispensary, and then to St. John's. He was badly injured internally and had several bones broken. An unknown man is unconscious and on the verge of death.

The Dead.

There exists about as much uncertainty as to the actual number of people killed and the amount of property damaged as on the first morning after the disaster. Scores of dead have been identified, but no one is willing to venture a guess as to how many bodies may be in the ruins of the hundreds of buildings as yet unexplored. The total number of dead in St. Louis identified at present is 162, and in East St. Louis 127. In St. Luke's there are 52 bodies still unidentified, and in East St. Louis 2. It is believed that the deaths of the injured and the future recovery of bodies will bring the St. Louis death list up to 300. In East St. Louis the city officials declare that they have hope that the death roll on that side of the river will not exceed 150, but the ruins upon which the rescuers have not yet begun work may swell the totals far beyond that figure.

Guesses were made to-day upon the property loss, and they were from $7,000,000 to $50,000,000 for St. Louis and from $4,000,000 to $20,000,000. The most popular estimate is in the neighborhood of $25,000,000 for both cities, including railroads and buildings damaged. The contractors of the city have been overwhelmed with orders for rebuilding, and the work of wiping out the havoc of the storm will be pushed with all energy. The committee in charge announced to-day that the auditorium will be used for the Republican national convention, and has been repaired.

No Aid Needed.

The destitution, misery and want here has touched the hearts of the people in all parts of the country, and, as a result, ever since the storm of Wednesday, offers of help and contributions have been pouring in. Up to a late hour $45,000 was the total amount of donations received. The following card in answer to hundreds of telegrams of inquiry has been sent out by Mayor Walbridge:

"It is not practical to make individual answer to the vast number of friends who have telegraphed sympathy and offers of assistance. Through the medium of the Associated Press I sincerely thank the many friends for the sympathy they have shown and their proffers of aid. The people of our city are confident of their ability to properly care for all the sufferers from the recent tornado, and heroic efforts are being made to that end. No accurate estimate of the loss of property can now be made, but it is safe that the loss as reported by the press outside of St. Louis has been greatly overestimated. —C. P. Walbridge."

Corrected reports from various sources along the river front materially reduce the estimate of the loss by drowning. How many roustabouts went down will probably never be known, as they are generally of a class in whose welfare there is little interest—most of them being negro nomads who move from one port to another. The steamer J. J. Odill, the Illinois river packet which went to pieces at the Pittsburg dyke after a tumultuous trip from the foot of Cherry street, dragged down five unfortunates. The victims were Morris Fisher, a well known merchant of Hardin, Ill.; Mrs. Goodar of the same place; Sim Woods, chief clerk of the boat, and the second cook and chambermaid, whose names are unknown.

St. Louis, June 2. — Every railroad entering this storm-stricken city ran excursion trains yesterday. They brought scores of thousands of people to view the devastation and ruin that was wrought by the awful storm of Wednesday. The streets of the ruined district were thronged with visitors all day. They came from almost every town and city within a radius of 300 miles, and nearly all day a drizzling rain fell. Lowering, threatening clouds covered the sky, and a more dismal scene than the ruined portion of this city presented could scarcely be imagined, and through the crowded streets all day long came funeral processions. Nearly 100 burial permits were issued by the health department Saturday, and every hearse in the city was in constant use yesterday carrying the victims of the storm to their graves. At early dawn people began to crowd into the city morgue. Many came in search of friends, but for the most part the people who visited the charnel house were drawn by a morbid desire to see the mangled corpses of the unfortunate victims of the tornado. All day long the officers on duty were busy keeping the people moving in line and out of the viewing room of the morgue. Every few minutes some one would think they had discovered some one whom they knew among the bodies exposed for view.

Searching for Bodies.

The street railway companies have had hundreds of men at work repairing the damage to their power houses and trolley wires, and to-day nearly all the principal lines were in operation. But the work that has been done is so meager when compared with that which remains that there is scarcely any perceptible improvement. The telephone service is practically paralyzed, although the telephone company has had hundreds of men at work repairing the wires. Hundreds of demoralized buildings have not been touched; no one can tell if the ruins conceal the bodies of victims of the storm. Some of the local papers have been severe in their denunciation of the mayor of the city for not being more active in restoring order in the storm-swept district. In many localities a foul stench arises from the ruins. Whether this is due to the fact that the ruins conceal human bodies or dead animals, time alone can tell.

The authorities at Jefferson barracks have notified the central relief committee that a force of troops will bring up to the wrecked districts a large number of tents to-morrow and establish a commissary for the purpose of furnishing cooked food for the needy. The cavalry cooks, stewards and camp men will do the work.

The number of persons and families who are still without homes and without the means of getting them is great. Many wagons were in use to-day distributing food to the hungry. Over a hundred teams were kept busy moving furniture from wrecked buildings for those who did not have the means to pay for a van. There are hundreds of people who need clothing and need it badly, and the supply on hand is very meager.

DEATH AT A FEAST

AN AWFUL PANIC DURING THE MOSCOW FESTIVITIES.

Hundreds of Thousands of People Make a Rush to Secure Food and Presents, and at Least a Thousand Men, Women and Children Are Trampled to Death—Many Ladies of High Rank Killed.

(Copyright, by Associated Press.)

Moscow, June 2.—A terrible panic, resulting from the great crush of people at the popular feast here in honor of the coronation of the czar caused the trampling to death of about 1,000 persons, including a woman who was delivered of a child during the excitement. In anticipation of the grand holiday and popular banquet on the Khodijnskoji plain, tens of thousands of people began trooping toward the Petrovsky palace, in front of which the plain is situated, during the earliest hours of the morning. Thousands reached the ground the evening before and camped there or in the immediate vicinity during the night in order to make sure of good positions.

By dawn the mass of peasants about the tables was really enormous and they were all desperately hungry, some of them having fasted, by choice of necessity, for nearly twenty-four hours. The police did everything possible to keep back the crowd, but suddenly the masses, controlled by some inexplicable impulse or impatient to get at the food, pressed forward and swept everything before them and overturned tables and benches as if made of grass, trampling hundreds under foot and crushing the life out of a great number of them. The old and the weak naturally suffered most, and the poor woman who gave birth to a child during the excitement was trampled to death. The infant is believed to have shared the fate of its mother. The police and military eventually succeeded in restoring order, carted away and preparations were made to proceed with the banquet as if nothing unusual had happened. Among the dead found on the plain were ladies evidently of high rank, dressed in the finest silk and adorned with the richest jewels. The police barracks, to which the bodies of the dead were taken by the authorities, are besieged with persons beseeching for news of friends and relatives. The scenes at the barracks, while the process of identification is going on, are terrible in the extreme. The remains of the dead will be conveyed during the course of the night to the cemetery, where a large morgue is located.

The Dead and Injured,

The disaster was due mainly to the absence of the police who had not arrived so early in the morning at the scene where the festivities were scheduled to take place. Fully 200,000 persons of all grades of society had gathered on the plain at the time. Only about a thousand attendants were in charge and they seemed unable to control the mob. Hoping to lessen the pressure of the assembled thousands, all moving toward a common center, they tossed the packages and presents into the midst of the crowd. This seemingly precipitated the panic, since a scramble to obtain possession of the gifts ensued and the hollow piece of ground near the center formed for the thousands. The buildings on all sides of the plain, where, by the way, Napoleon concentrated his troops before moving upon this city, are in many cases being used as temporary hospitals, and the soldiers have been rendering great service in removing the dead and caring for the wounded. Further time must elapse before accurate figures as to the number actually killed and the number of persons who were victims of the disaster, but who are only sufferers from injuries, is ascertained, but there is no doubt that the official estimate of 1,000 victims cannot be far from right, although one report places the number at 2,500. The disaster occurred between 5 and 6 o'clock in the morning. It was intended that the banquet should commence before noon, but the immense throng which had gathered around the sheds where the mugs were to be presented and the food distributed, became so dense that the attendants were overpowered and thrown to the ground in the mad struggle which commenced for food and the gifts, many of these attendants being numbered among the dead. The small force of police present made desperate attempts to control the people, but all their efforts were futile, and men, women and children were trampled upon by hundreds.

A Death Trap

The Shrieks and Groans of victims being heard afar. For a time the officials in charge of the banquet lost their heads entirely. The crowds seemed to have gone mad with rage and excitement, shouting and cursing as they pressed onward over a path strewn with dead and dying human beings. Eventually, however, the troops and firemen, who were hastily summoned, restored order to some extent, and then began the work of extricating the dead and injured, ranging them on the ground in groups of ten, twenty and thirty at every hundred yards or so, and dispatching to the city as speedily as possible in the military transport wagons, furniture vans, food wagons, etc., the injured, giving preference at first to the women and children.

Some terrible, heart-rending scenes were witnessed among the survivors, who were seeking relatives among the victims. The latter were mostly peasants, and few of them have as yet been identified. They were lying in heaps, as they had been extricated, their crushed, bloodstained and horribly distorted faces upturned in the scorching sun. Gray haired men and women lay alongside children and sturdy men, all crushed as if beneath heavy rollers, some of their heads being trampled into a shapeless jelly.

Between Two and Three Thousand.

The disaster is constantly gaining in proportion as the investigations by the authorities continue. These are made under difficulties, as the recovery of the victims was conducted by hundreds of volunteers and many were carried away before they were enumerated. Many additional deaths of the injured who were carried away are occurring, which are only added to the enumeration after some time. It is now said that the fatalities will amount to between two and three thousand, but it is impossible yet to ascertain accurately the extent of the disaster. An official statement places the number of dead recovered at 1,336 and the seriously or fatally injured at 280.

The work of identification is most difficult on account of the large number of victims and the trampled, torn and mutilated condition of many of the corpses, some of which are crushed quite beyond the possibility of recognition and almost beyond semblance to humanity. All day the full force of police and firemen worked among the dead, pulling bodies from heaps of the killed and injured and ranging them on the ground, which was covered for hundreds of yards with groups of ten and twenty begrimmed, blood-stained and disfigured corpses, among which the agonized friends of the missing wandered in a painful effort to identify them. The forces at work on the plain discovered a disused well in the middle of the field, the plank covering of which had given away in the mad rush. In the well there were thirty dead bodies, and wedged in among them and held down by their weight were found two men, alive and comparatively uninjured physically. But the terror and the hideous surroundings had proved too great a strain for their minds and they were raving maniacs.

DEAD AUTHORS.

Kate Field and "Brick" Pomeroy Pass to the Beyond.

Chicago, June 2. — H. H. Kohlsaat, proprietor of the Chicago Times-Herald, received a cable message dated Yokohama and signed by Lorin A. Thurston, ex-minister to the United States from the Sandwich islands, which says: "Kate Field died at Honolulu May 10 of pneumonia." Miss Field was in the Sandwich islands as special correspondent of the Times-Herald.

Kate Field was a prominent character in the Washington literary world. She spent the latter years of her life in that city, and was known as one of the brightest lecturers and contributors to the press and periodical literature. Miss Field was the daughter of Joseph F. Field, many years ago a well known actor in St. Louis, and manager of Field's Grand opera house. She was born in St. Louis about 1840. In Washington Miss Field published a bright periodical known as "Kate Field's Washington."

New York, June 2.—Mark M. Pomeroy, better known as "Brick" Pomeroy, died at his home in Brooklyn from Bright's disease. Mr. Pomeroy was born in Elmira, N. Y., in 1833. As a lad he entered a printing office. Afterward he published the Corning Sun and Horicon Argus. He became city editor of the Milwaukee Daily News and then founded the La Crosse Democrat. As editor of that paper, he attacked President Lincoln's war policy. In 1868 Tweed invited him to come to New York and become an editor. Pomeroy started the Daily Democrat. In 1876 he transferred the Democrat from La Crosse to Chicago and made it the organ of the Greenback party. In 1880 Pomeroy was president of the company that proposed to tunnel the Rocky mountains. Before the scheme collapsed the company sold $7,000,000 in shares.

COLLIDED FOR SCIENCE.

Railroad Collision Brought About to Learn the Exact Effects.

Columbus, Ohio, June 2. — The 20,000 people who gathered at Buckeye Park on the Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo railroad have a pretty well defined idea of a railroad collision. Two forty-ton locomotives, to each of which was attached three coal cars and a caboose, were run together at a speed of forty miles an hour. As one of the engines was a little faster than the other, preliminary trials of speed were made so as to bring the collision at a central point. The engine W. H. Fisher was started 3,600 feet south of the point of meeting and the A. L. Streeter 3,000 feet north. The engines were started on the main track and ran together on a siding in the park. Both engines were started at the same minute, the engineers jumping after opening the throttles. The engines met within 100 feet of the calculated point. The immense crowd was silent with awe as the engines steamed into sight, each running at the rate of forty miles an hour. As the engines came together they reared up in the air and the cars behind them were telescoped, but the cabooses were only partially wrecked. Both engines were a complete wreck. Kinetoscopic and kaleidoscopic views of the wreck were taken by experts.

On to Washington.

Washington, June 2.—Preparations are being actively pushed throughout the country for organizing delegations to attend the fifteenth international Christian Endeavor convention in this city in July. Excursion managers are busily engaged in issuing circulars and information pamphlets, receiving and answering inquiries from interested delegates and speaking at public meetings of Endeavorers, telling about their plans and arousing an interest in the coming gathering. In nearly all the states interest in the convention is growing, and preparations are being carried toward completion for attending Washington's gathering. The outlook for a large attendance and a successful convention is exceedingly bright.

The Money Subscribed.

Chicago, June 2. — Chicagoans will redeem their pledge to the Democratic national committee. Chairman Harrity and his colleagues of the subcommittee will meet in joint conference with the local committee which has in charge the arrangements in connection with the convention hall, and the balance, $11,000, of the $40,000 pledged will be turned over to Mr. Harrity. Final inspection of the coliseum will be made by both committees to-morrow, every essential feature agreed on originally being now practically completed.

Elevator Company Down.

St. Louis, June 2.—Ex-Gov. P. D. Francis was to-day appointed receiver of the United Elevator company.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Two men were killed in a railroad collision near Tower.

Two new church buildings are in process of erection at Long Prairie.

An alleged counterfeiter has been arrested at Mankato.

Fire did considerable damage to the elevator at Delhi.

Mary Sweeney, the notorious window smasher was arrested at Duluth and sent to her home at Dayton, Ohio.

John Boland of Minneapolis has been selected as superintendent of the new state capitol.

Thomas Griffin of St. Paul lost his life at Dorango, Iowa, in an unsuccessful attempt to save that of a child.

Bruno Beaupre, for many years a prominent citizen of St. Paul, died recently at Rotterdam, Holland.

State Treasurer Koerner has collected principal and interest on money deposited in insolvent banks.

John Velander, of Vasa, was seriously injured by his team running away and a loaded wagon passing over him.

D. P. Volmer, a farmer living about five miles southeast of Stephen, was kicked by a horse and died from the effect of the kick.

A party on the lake at Sauk Center narrowly escaped loss of life by the capsizing of a sail boat in which they were making a run.

The damage suit of Arthur Benedict against O. Berg for $500 for being bitten by the latter's dog was settled at Mabel for $37.50.

The Democrats of Watonwan county will meet in convention at St. James June 9 to elect delegates to the state convention.

The store of A. J. Spekeen at Morristown was entered by burglars and robbed of about $100 worth of shoes and clothing.

Ed A. Page of Carlton, clerk of court, has been honored by an appointment as assistant sergeant-at-arms at the St. Louis convention.

The first stick of timber sorted this season passed through the St. Croix boom the other day, and the season's work will begin shortly. This will insure starting the mills very soon.

Mrs. Uzzia Woods, living a few miles below Champlain, while riding was thrown from the buggy during a runaway and died from the bursting of a blood vessel caused by the fall.

Charles Sander, who was indicted by the grand jury at St. Peter for assault in the second degree for brutally beating his divorced wife, was sentenced to the penitentiary for three years by Judge Webber.

Frank Wachholz, a grain buyer of Glencoe, committed suicide. The cause of the deed was despondency on account of the loss of his wife and losses in business. He ran elevators in Glencoe and Sumter.

S. R. Van Sant has consented to deliver the oration at Rushford on July 4. The G. A. R encampment begins there Friday, July 3, and active preparations are being made for one of the largest celebrations ever held in that part of the state.

Andrew N. Nelson, who was for six years treasurer of Ramsey county, died at St. Paul as a result of morphine poisoning. Mr. Nelson failed of reelection last year, and since that time has not been prosperous financially. He was one of St. Paul's earliest settlers.

The county commissioners has called the Watonwan county convention for June 27, to meet at St. James to elect 10 delegates to the state convention at St. Paul July 1 and also to elect 10 delegates to the congressional convention which meets at Mankato June 30.

Jesse Congdon was brought to Winona from the village of Dakota by United States Marshal Sheehan of St. Paul. The charge is selling that which entangles the feet, without a proper license. The prisoner was brought before United States Commissioner Morey, and, after his hearing, placed in jail.

The I. O. G. T. of the district convention closed at Royalton. The following officers were elected and installed: George E. Satterlee, D. C. T., Royalton; Hattie Smith, D. V. T., Randall; W. J. Briggs, counselor, Randall; secretary and treasurer, M. E. Lewis, Royalton; chaplin, Mrs. A. W. Swanson, Royalton.

The store of F. W. Maechler at Campbell was burglarized and a large amount of cutlery and jewelry taken. Sheriff Billings received a letter giving a description of the two men supposed to have done it, and ran across them on the street in half an hour. He found the goods on them. They will be tried next week.

The correspondence of the Itasca county immigration committee will now be in the care of A. G. Bernard, proprietor of the Grand Rapids Magnet. He has just been selected as secretary and had fully fifty letters to-day concerning the third convention of the Sixth District Immigration association, which will be held in Grand Rapids June 24 and 25. It promises to be a large and interesting gathering.

After a trial, which lasted three days, Charles H. Holmes, charged with having made false reports of the condition of the Merchants' bank of Lake City, was acquitted. The jury was out 22 hours. Holmes was brought from Massachusetts on a requisition a few weeks ago. The prosecution was conducted by County Attorney Mullen, J. T. Bowditch and A. J. Greer. The prisoner was defended by J. F. McGovern and H. W. Morgan.

Reports from different points in Douglas county show that the acreage of wheat this year is 20 per cent more than last, and that the season is at least two weeks later than last. In most parts wheat has stooled and will be heavy. Continued cold and wet weather is beginning to injure and retard the growth of barley, oats, and potatoes. The acreage will be much less than last year. Corn will be somewhat less. Corn and potatoes not all planted.

WAS A DEAD SHOT.

A Wyoming Miner Kills Some Claim Jumpers.

Craig, Colo., June 2. — Information comes from Brown's Park, across the line in Utah, of a desperate battle in which two men were killed and two others mortally wounded. It is stated that Matt Warner and an old man named Norman had discovered rich mineral near the state line and were developing their find on the quiet. Four unknown men, learning the fact, followed them. A fight took place in which Warner, who is a dead-shot, killed and wounded all four of the others. No arrests have been made as yet.

Marysville, Kan., June 2. — George Mack, a farmer living five miles south of here, killed his wife yesterday by crushing her skull with a spading fork. He was sixty-three years old and she was fifty. They had been living apart. Mack went to his wife's house and, failin gto make peace, he killed her. He then cut his own throat and jumped into the Blue river, but crawled out again and was found on the bank in an unconscious condition. He will probably die.

SILVER PARTY.

An Address Is Issued by Chairman Mott.

Washington, June 2. — The National Silver party, through its chairman, J. J. Mott, to-day issued from its headquarters in this city an address to the friends of silver. This address recites that since the founding of the National Silver party on Jan. 22 last the work of organization has been steadily but quietly pursued and the country aroused to a pitch of excitement unknown since the Civil War. It declares that the secret of success in the pending conflict consists in lining up for battle, and that the convention of the party to be held in St. Louis on July 22 will undoubtedly be one of the most important conventions and notable gatherings ever assembled in this country. Upon the wisdom of its acts and that of the People's party convention, to be held at the same place and time, depends, the address declares, "the vital question as to whether we can have a just settlement of this money issue in our generation. The friends of the party are urged to push the work of organization with all possible vigor, the purpose being to unite for action all factions and believers in the restoration of free silver and prosperity." The address concludes as follows:

"The Republican party is committed to the gold standard through the platforms of 80 per cent of the state conventions; and any straddle that may be made in its national platform will deceive no one. The Democratic party must not expect the country to accept any candidate it may name acquiesced in by the gold wing of that party. The question of vital importance is for silver men to name a candidate for president whose nomination will be readily acquiesced in by all believers in monetary reform. Friends of silver, look to your interests and organize now while the fruit is ripe for plucking. Do not wait on the problematical action of any party."

Fight Near Havana.

Havana, June 2.—The local guerilla force of Sagua, in an operation on the plantation of Armonia, killed five insurgents. Col. Jose Sanchez also fell in a personal combat with the captain of the guerillas. Troops acting as a convoy had an engagement near Manicaragua in which they lost Capt. Ascencio and one soldier killed and five wounded. The column of the provisional battalion of Cuba encountered the band under Castillo, Betancourt, Romero and Perez, to the number of 1,000 men at Anita, province of Havana. The position of the rebels was taken.

Dick Moore Second Best.

Brooklyn, June 2.—Kid McCoy bested Dick Moore of St. Paul in ten rounds at the Empire theater in Williamsburg. Moore was much the heavier of the pair, but he was severely punished. However, he was just as game at the close as when the fight began. They may fight again soon.

Old Corinth.

Corinth, Greece, June 2.—Dr. Richardson, of the American school of archaeology, who recently discovered the site of the ancient Greek city of Eretria and other important relics, has found the remains of an ancient theater here, and a key to the topography of the Corinth of older times.

Council of War.

Suakim, June 2.—It is rumored here that the Indian troops will advance upon Barber in the autumn. The khalifa has summoned the emirs to Omdurman for a war council.

Steamer Sunk.

Parkersburg, W. Va., June 2. — The steamboat Ironsides struck a large stone in the Ohio river, fifteen miles below here last night, and sank. No lives were lost.

Stanley Recovering.

Madrid, June 2.—Henry M. Stanley, who has been so seriously ill here as to have made it necessary to send for his wife, has recovered and is able to start for London.

Garrison Relieved.

Canea, Island of Crete, June 2.—Abdallah Pasha, the new governor of Crete, at the head of an imperial force, has relieved the beleaguered garrison of Vamos.

Lumber Burned.

Parkersburg, W. Va., June 2.—Pettit & Co.'s lumber plant near Weston was burned last night. Loss over $50,000 in lumber and machinery. No insurance.

Foreclosed.

Seattle, Wash., June 2.—Judge Hanford has signed a decree foreclosing the mortgage held by the Bay State Trust company on the Washington River railway and ordering the sale of the entire property of the road. The mortgage was dated Sept. 2, 1889.

Damaged by Cutworms.

Britton, S. D., June 2.—Reports are coming in of serious damage to crops by cut worms. Flax and corn are suffering. Farmers say the ground in places is full of cut worms.

Plenty of Time to get Choice Farms on the Reservation Thirty Days from Now.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial ✿ Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER - SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

DR. H. GRUNDY

Physician & Surgeon.

—o—

Graduate of the University of Toronto Canada and member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

☞Messages from the surrounding towns and country promptly attended to.

Office in Drug Store.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA.

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : : :

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO☞
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA — PULLMAN
BUTTE — SLEEPING CARS
SPOKAND — ELEGANT
TACOMA — DINING CARS
SEATTLE — TOURIST
PORTLAND — SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7.10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pas. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American
Agency for

CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 3, 1896.

EDITORIAL COLUMN.

The Chicago Record quotes Senator Quay as saying: "Hanna has had the best organization ever known in American politics. Mr. Hanna began two years ago, and his leaders, agents and organizers in the several states were nearly all selected during the winter of 1894-5."

"This is probably true, but what seems the most significant is, that in making his selections, Boss Hanna has selected as his wire-pullers the greatest scalawags to be found in the country. Throughout north-western Minnesota, (and we have the best of reasons to believe that the same schemes have been practiced in all the other states,) the men selected to organize the campaign and instruct the FAITHFUL in their duties of running the political machine, have invariably been men of the lowest social type, men whose previous lives have been spent in debauch and the practice of shyster games to procure a scanty sustenance. These men have been hired by Boss Hanna at a low wage rate; they were men who had nothing to lose and the gain of a few dollars in these pinching times was such a God send, as few of their class could afford to reject. The manner in which these organizations once perfected is in strict keeping with the desolute character of the organizers. No one who was not in sympathy with the movement was permitted to know when or where the primaries were to be held, and none but the faithful did attend. With such a delegation there could be no uncertainty of results. A few voters, who were believed by them to be safe, played truant, and gave the scheme away. It is perfectly safe to assert, that the action of the great and holy republican party in the northern part of the state was not the voluntary act of the republican voters, but the action of these organizers sent out and paid by Boss Hanna and scarcely a reputable man is found among them. And it is also safe to assert, that when in November republican noses are counted there will be a sad falling off from the expectation of the great manufacturing Boss, in actual votes cast for the little fraud, dubbed "Napoleon," to catch the vote of the silly suckers which swarm around the POUND NET when the Bait is dealt out. It is useless to assert that the people of the north-west are not in favor of free coinage, every man of ordinary powers of observation can see it, and the whipping in of a few low-bred whelps who usually do the dirty work at the primaries will not insure a republican victory in number. Examine the hands of the delegates of any republican gathering, in any state and you will find no callouses; about 50 per cent. of the usual gatherings will be bankers and their clerks and followers; one-half of the balance will be what are known as "BUSINESS MEN" (saloon-keepers and brewers) and the other half of the latter fraction are nondescript; too low to be classified:—the classes last named are doing the howling, the first "paying the freight."

A prominent citizen of the northwest heretofore a republican said to the writer, a day or two ago. "Do you really believe you will be able to hold your own as a party next fall? the republican managers say that the populists are all discouraged and will vote with us." We asked him who these managers were, and he named the men who have been indentified with the organization of the McKinley clubs all over the country. When we assured him that we should not only hold our own, but would largely increase our party vote he looked surprised and said, "If I thought that was so I would go with you, for I know the principles of your party are right and ought to dominate the nation, and I know too, that the republican party has sunk so low in the scale of respectability, that none but those who want an office for themselves or friends will submit to wear the party collar." We are confident, that the ideas advanced by the person quoted are largely held in common by great quondam republicans and by every democrat in the northwest who is not in the grasp of the administration. It cannot be possible, that men of the intelligence of our farmers and reputable traders that will consent to be managed by such men as now are in charge of the republican party of the state and we mistake their metal if they do not impress their disapproval of the party's course upon these managers when the opportunity offers. We feel a good deal as the old Baptist preacher did when he assisted in the last rites of a pestilent toper, who, as the procession filed out of the church, announced: the choir will now sing the hymn beginning: "With rapose and delight we see the curse removed." The curse must be removed speedily or the liberties for which our fore-fathers fought will be lost to the enemy from which extorted them by our courage and verity.

To the People's party Precinct Committees of Polk County.

The People's Party central committee of Polk county earnestly ask you to put forth your best efforts towards securing honest, intelligent, and sober delegates to represent you in the forthcoming county convention, men whom you recognize as unwavering in their loyalty to the principles of the People's Party, and who are desirous of promoting the welfare of Polk county, remembering that the work of the convention will reflect the character of the delegates who compose it.

The following is a condensed explanation of the primary law of 1895, prepared for your guidance. You are urged to study it carefully, and see that your primary election is conducted accordingly.

As indicated in the published call, the People's party county convention, for the nomination of county officers, will be held on the 18th of June, 1896, and the date for holding the primaries for the election of delegates, is fixed for the 11th day of the same month, the polls to be opened at 2 o'clock p. m., of said day, and to remain open two hours.

At least six days before the primary election, the call for same must be posted in three public places in the precinct.

The primaries are to be called to order by the chairman, or secretary of the precinct committee, or in their absence, by some qualified voter of the party.

The chairman, clerk of election, and two judges as to be chosen by a viva voce vote by voters of the party present.

All delegates to the convention must be elected by ballot. Each qualified elector at such primary shall place on his ballot, which can be either written or printed, the same number of names as the precinct is entitled to in the convention. A ballot is void if it contains more names than such precinct is entitled to as delegates. The persons receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected, and a plurality shall elect.

No person shall be permitted to vote at such primary, unless it is positively known that at the last general election he affiliated with the People's party, or unless he makes oath that he has united with the party since the last general election, and the judges are to determine as to the truth of such statements and receive or reject his vote.

No person is qualified to vote at a primary election, unless he has resided in the precinct for not less than thirty days preceeding such election.

It is the duty of the chairman of the primary to administer the oath of office to the judges and clerks, and to any voter when vote is challenged. The clerk shall keep a record of the proceedings, and he is authorized to administer the oath of office to the chairman. The form of oath to be administered to the officers of the primary is the same as that provided by law to be used at a general election.

The law makes it the duty of the judges to receive the votes, and to announce the name and address of every voter before he is permitted to cast his vote. If a vote is challenged, the judges shall decline to receive the same, until the voter makes oath that he is qualified under the law governing primary elections. If because of sickness or other reasons satisfactory to the judges the voter did not vote at the last general election, the judges shall receive his vote, provided he makes oath that he affiliates with the People's party.

When the polls are closed, the judges shall count the votes and report the same to the chairman, who shall announce the result, and declare elected such candidates for delegates as shall have received a plurality of the votes cast.

The chairman and clerk shall furnish the delegates elected with proper credentials, certifying their election, and shall also furnish the chairman of the county central committee a list of the names and places of residence of the electors voting in said primary election.

The law provides that no proxy can be given by any delegate failing to serve, but the vacancy thus made shall be filled by the delegation by the selection of some qualified elector residing in the same election district. In case any delegation fails to serve, the convention to which such delegation has been elected shall choose qualified electors, if such be present at said convention, residing in the same election district, from which said delegation was chosen, to act in lieu thereof. In case no qualified elector of the election district represented by the delegation is present to fill the vacancy caused by the failure of one or more delegates to serve, then the delegates present shall have the right to cast the full vote of the delegation.

A violation of the law is made a misdemeanor, and punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five, nor more than five hundred dollars, or imprisonment for not less than thirty days, and not exceeding six months.

By order of County Committee,
ARNY GRUNDYSEN, Chairman.
JOHN GLEASON, Secretary.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

RICH DISCOVERIES OF GOLD.

At Cripple Creek, Colo., and elsewhere, are being made daily, and the production for 1896 will be the largest ever known, estimated at Two Hundred Million Dollars. Cripple Creek alone is producing over One Million Dollars a month, and steadily increasing. Mining Stocks are advancing in price more rapidly than any other Stocks, and many pay dividends of 25 to 50 per cent. They offer the best opportunity to make a large profit on a small investment.

JOHN I. TALLMAN & Co., 45 Broadway, New York, and financial agents for the Prudential Gold Mining Co., and others in the famous Cripple Creek district. They will send you free, interesting particulars of the Mining Companies they represent also their book on speculation in Stocks, Grain and Cotton, containing many new and important features.

Send for these books at once if you are interested in any form of speculation or investments. They may prove profitable to you. 37-5

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

FLAX SEED.

First-class flax seed for sale, absolutely clean, price reasonable at 28-tf E. J. HOLMES.

QUAINT ARCTIC LEGEND.

An Old Russian Story About the Lost Tribes of Israel.

Years and years ago, so the legend runs, an exiled Jew on the bleak wilds of northern Siberia, in an effort to reach an overhanging branch of a tree, placed his foot upon a log floating in the water. No sooner had his foot touched the log when it seemed inspired with life and moved rapidly off, bearing the exile away toward the vast icefields, which were plainly visible and plentiful toward the north. Rapidly the current swept the log northward, bearing with it the unfortunate Jew, who was so benumbed with fear and cold that he was unable to formulate a plan of escape from his perilous position.

For three consecutive days and nights the prisoner clung to the log, passing through towering fields of icebergs and dashing under arches cut by the current through the sky-scraping fields of ice. Out into beautiful sunshine our traveler eventually emerged. The grass was green, and the trees were garbed in the splendor of nature, and birds made merry music on every branch. People, great in numbers, were congregated on either bank of the stream, all dressed in holiday raiment of the finest texture, but similar in character to the clothing worn by our ancestors 2,000 years ago. The current of the stream ceased to flow, the log drifted to the bank, and the almost famished and thoroughly frightened traveler repeated for the thousandth time the Hebrew words, "Shama—Israel," and in uncertain manner dismounted from the log.

The inhabitants crowded about, and, speaking in Hebrew (with which language he was thoroughly conversant), learned of his need of food and rest and supplied those wants, after which they inquired whence he came and whither he was going. Numerous inquiries were made regarding the people who lived beyond their circumscribed world, who in reciprocity informed him of themselves and their mode of living, which had in nowise changed since the advent of the Christian era.

They worked and worshiped even as did the Jew in ancient times, when Palestine was a garden and Jerusalem the center of civilization. The traveler learned that these people were the lost tribes of Israel, who had migrated to this godly country, led by the descendant of Aaron named Joseph, who had passed away without leaving any descendants. With them they had brought many of the vessels and much of the paraphernalia of Solomon's temple and patterned their house of worship after this famous temple of Jerusalem.

The traveler was told that the stream's current was active six days in the week and on the seventh became quiet and did not move, but as he was a member of a different tribe from themselves he would not be allowed to remain within the country. So he was placed in a boat, which was pushed out into the current, and was borne by a circuitous route back to Siberia. Afterward he was pardoned, returned to Russia and told his adventure.—Atlanta Jewish Sentiment.

The Two Bell Signal For Starting.

An explanation of the practice of ringing two bells to start a street car was made by an old street car man, and, if not trustworthy, it is ingenuous. He declared that when horse cars were first used here one bell was used to start the car and one bell to stop it. The horses soon broke down. They foundered at the knees, or their shoulders gave way. Every device that could be thought of was to ease up the strain of starting. Spiral springs were put on all the traces, but no good resulted. Finally a countryman who had been employed a week as a driver suggested that two bells be used to start the car, and he averred that when the horses got used to it they would set themselves at the first ring and be ready to pull at the second. The plan was tried and was so successful that it has been in use ever since.—Philadelphia Record.

The General In His Own Country.

Sir Evelyn Wood, V. C., tells this story: An entertainment was given in his honor at his Norfolk home on his return from Egypt. Among the crowd assembled on the occasion was the wife of an agricultural laborer. She was very eager to know Sir Evelyn Wood, and a bystander pointed him out to her.

"What," she exclaimed in amazement, "that little man, General Wood! Why, my own man could clout (thrash) him easily."

"Never," said Sir Evelyn as he concluded his story, "had I felt more humiliated in my life."—Westminster Gazette.

At a Military Examination.

Officer—The opponents of our military system say that standing armies are disastrous to the country. Can you name anything that is more disastrous?

Cadet—Yes, a runaway army.—London Tit-Bits.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.0
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.0
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.0
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
5 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.01
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
6 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	500
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.10
5 " 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 1.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.0 to 4.51
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
ROOKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
3 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

☞For further information apply to
H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

THE FAMOUS
SUMARITAN
Rye Whisky

Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.

FOR SALE BY

BRINK BROS.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
COUNTY OF POLK.

District Court, Fourteenth Judicial Dist.

Evelin Newby, plaintiff, vs. Edwin Newby, defendant.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in this action, which complaint is on file in the office of the Clerk of the District Court, in and for said county, and to serve a copy of your answer on the undersigned at the office of R. J. Montague, in the City of Crookston in said county, within thirty days after the service of this summons on you, exclusive of the day of the service thereof, and in case you fail to answer within the time required by law, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated May first, 1896

R. J. MONTAGUE, Plaintiff's Atty.
40-45 Crookston, Minn.

Notice for Proposals for Construction of Graded Road.

Sealed proposals will be received by the county auditor, at the court house, in the City of Crookston, until 10 o'clock a. m., June 15, 1896, for the construction of a graded road commencing at the quarter stake between sections 19 and 24, tp. 147, range 47, thence running due west on quarter line seven miles to the quarter stake between sections 23 and 24, tp. 147, range 48; said road to be built with a ditch on each side, said ditches to be eight feet wide at top, twenty inches deep on the outside and running to nothing on the inside, the earth taken therefrom to be placed upon the grade, as directed by the committee in charge.

The county commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

JOHN GLEASON,
43-44 Auditor Polk County.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., May 28, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on July 8th 1896 viz:

HANS J. BJORGE.

H. E. No. 13150, for the lot 2, sec. 14, tp. 152 N range 42 west.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

O. J. Johnson, Julius Holtz, B. O. Linstad and Halvor T. Aamot, all of Wyandotte post office, Minnesota.

44-49 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., May 19th 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on July 2nd 1896, viz:

John O. Skjerva Hd No. 14135, for the w½ sw¼ sec. 33, e½ se¼ sec. 32 tp 153 N. range 42 west.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Andrew Nelson, Peter A. Tunk, Gilbert Anfinson and Ole H. Broten, all of St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

42-47 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

M. Z. EPPERSON

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool,
Veal, Mutton and Poultry. : : : : : : :

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made
Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota

This is Easy Enough!

Any of my customers will be presented with a life like portrait free of charge by presenting their picture at my store. : : : : : : : : :

M. A. HALL. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Winchester Repeating
Rifles
Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms, as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS

Of the Board of County Commissioners Had at a Special Session May 5th, 1896.

Proceedings of the board of commissioners of Polk county, May 5th, 1896.

Pursuant to call the board of commissioners of Polk county met in special session May 5th, 1896, with all members present.

The record of the preceeding meeting was read and approved.

A hearing was had upon the petition of Jens Wallerbeck, Ole J Stallimo, Paul T Sorrensen, John Peterson, Gunder Sorrensen, Christian Peterson, Mary Sorrensen, and Ole O Knutson, asking to be set off with their lands, lots 4 and 5 of section 27; lot 5 of section 21; se¼ of of nw¼ and ne¼ of se¼ and n¼ s½ sw¼ of section 21; lots 4 and 5 of section 16 and n½ nw¼ of section 21; lot 7, n part of lot 11 and s¾ s½ sw¼ of section 21; s part of lot 11 section 21; sw¼ nw¼ and nw¼ sw¼ of section 21; and lot 10 of section 21, all in township 150, range 48, from independent school district No 13 and attached to district No 161.

Moved by Commissioner Norland that the payer of the petitioners be granted.

Moved by Commissioner Kirsch to amend by granting the petitions of John Peterson and Christian Peterson as asked for, and rejecting the others. The amendment was lost, Commissioners Kirsch and Rhinehart voting in the affirmative and Norland, Oppegaard and Lindem in the negative. The original motion was carried, Commissioners Norland Oppegaard and Lindem voting in the affirmative, and Kirsch and Rhinehart in the negative.

The application of Anna Kretzchmar, asking for the abatement of all interest and penalty on taxes for the years 1890, 1891, 1892, 1893, 1894 and 1895, on all of block 1, except lots 1, 2, 3 and 4, of Porters Add. to Thief River Falls, said property known as "Mill Reserve," was on motion granted, provided that all taxes for the years named shall be paid within thirty days from the date hereof.

On motion the county auditor was instructed to advertise for bids for the construction of a graded road, commencing at the quarter stake between sections 19 and 24, T 147, R 47, thence running due west on said quarter line seven miles to the quarter stake between sections 23 and 24, T 147, R 48; said road to be built with a ditch on each side, said ditches to be 8 feet wide at top, twenty inches deep on the outside and running to nothing on the inside, the earth taken therefrom to be placed on the grade, as directed by the committee in charge; said bids to be opened at the next meeting of the county board, June 15th, 1896, the commissioners reserving the right to reject any or all bids.

Moved that the contract for planting 200 trees and completing a lawn on court house square be awarded to Oscar Wick, the contract price to be $300 and the work to be done according to specifications on file in the office of county auditor.

A petition was presented by G K Espeseth, et al, asking for the formation of a school district to be composed of sections 3 and 4 (except the e½ of the ne¼ and the e½ of the se¼ thereof) and the n½ of the nw¼ of section 10, T 148, R 42. On motion a hearing was granted upon said petition for the next meeting of the county board, June 15th, 1896, all expenses connected with posting notices, etc, to be borne by said petitioners.

The application of A C Brush for a refundment of taxes paid on a wheat assessment in the town of Angus was on motion rejected.

It was moved and carried that the purchasing committee be instructed to purchase a typewriter for use in the office of clerk of court.

An application was presented by Lawrence O'Neil, through his attorney, Martin O'Brien, asking for a refundment of taxes on the nw¼ of sw¼ and se¼ of sw¼ of section 5, T 150, R 40, on the ground that he had filed upon the said described land but never acquired title as appears from the records in the U. S. land office, and that the said land was assessed to said applicant for the years 1892, 1893, 1894 and 1895 in connection with lots 3 and 4 of said section. On motion the county auditor was instructed to correct the tax list by cancelling the taxes for the years named upon the said described land, and make a proportionate refundment to the said applicant.

Com. Oppegaard, to whom was referred the petition of Peter M Zahl, asking to be detached from school district No 22 and attached to district No 169, submitted his report, recommending unfavorable action on the ground of insufficient reasons. On motion the report was adopted and the prayer of the petitioner was rejected.

Com Norland, to whom was referred the petition of residents of the town of Lambert, asking for pecuniary aid for Mrs Baptiste Bernon, submitted his report, in which he recommended that the present allowance of $8 be increased to $12. On motion the report was adopted and her allowance fixed at $12 per month, commencing with May, 1896.

Com Oppegaard, to whom was referred the petition of J J Vaalvlet, et al, asking for the formation of a school district in township 148, R 42, submitted his report recommending that the prayer of the petitioners be rejected on the ground that the reasons given would not justify the action asked for. On motion the report was adopted and the prayer of the petitioners rejected.

An application was presented by Theo Greenhalgh for abatement of interest and penalty on taxes for the years 1890, 1891, 1892, 1893, and 1894, on nw¼ and n½ sw¼ and w½ se¼ section 16, T 149, R 46. On motion the application was granted and the county auditor was instructed to accept payment of taxes accordingly.

Com Norland submitted a report recommending the sum of $50 be appropriated for the relief of Halvor Vetteson, an indigent person, in compliance with a petition presented in behalf of said Halvor Vetteson. On motion the report was adopted and the appropriation made as asked for.

The application of Miller & Foote for the cancellation of a seed grain lien against w½ ne¼ and sw½ se¼, section 8, and nw¼ of ne¼ section 17, T 150, R 41, was on motion granted, and the county auditor was instructed to cancel the same as a lien against the said land, and that the amount of said lien be made a personal claim against the party who negotiated the loan.

A petition was presented by Ben Sandstrud, et al, asking for the formation of a school district to be composed of s½ of sections 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12. All of sections 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35 and 36, T 154, R 46. On motion the prayer of the petitioner was granted, order made and district given the No 229.

The petition of Christian Thils, asking to be detached with his land, the n½ se¼ Sec 19, T 154, R 43, from school district No 107 and attached to district No 219, was on motion referred to county school superintendent for investigation, with a request to report at the next meeting of the county board.

A hearing was had upon the petition of William Thanase, asking to be set off with his land, the se¼ of section 31, T 151 R 43, from school district No 49, and attached to district No 27. On motion the petition was granted and order made accordingly, a compliance with the petition having been recommended by the officers of school district No 49.

The hearing set for present meeting upon the petition of Wm Hannah, asking to be detached from school district No 117 and attached to district No 129, was on motion postponed until the next meeting of the county board, June 15th, 1896, pending the service of proper notice of hearing.

On motion the petition asking for the construction of a bridge in the town of Terrebonne was referred to Com Norland for investigation, with instruction to report at next meeting of the county board.

Moved by Com Rhinehart that the sum of $300 be appropriated to the city of East Grand Forks to be applied in making necessary repairs on south approach and abutment of bridge over Red Lake river in said city, said amount to be paid upon the completion of said repairs.

It was moved and carried that appropriations be made from the road and bridge fund as follows:

To Polk Center	$150 00
" Black River	150 00
" Tabor	150 00
" Crookston Tp	150 00
" Grove Park	75 00
" Sletten	100 00
" Badger	75 00
" Knute	150 00
" Winger	200 00
" Columbia	50 00
" Brandsvold	100 00
" Lessor	100 00
" King	50 00

And to Lambert and Lessor jointly to be expended under the direction of the commissioner of the First district, $150.

On motion the sum of $350 was appropriated for the purpose of making necessary improvements upon the Bygland and Huntsville county road; said amount to be expended under the direction of Commissioner Lindem.

The assessment for 1895 on 8 63-100 acres in ne cor of the ne¼ of ne¼ section 2, T 151 R 50 was on motion reduced to $25 per acre, to correct an eroneous assessment.

On motion the notice of appeal to district court from the action of the county board out upon certain claims of Andrew Steenerson, was referred to the county attorney for defense.

We, the undersigned, constituting the board of auditors of Polk county, respectfully report that we have visited the treasurer of Polk county without having given him previous notice, that we have examined his books and accounts, and that we have counted the cash and vouchers found in his possession, and also ascertained the various amounts deposited in the different banks of the county, and find the following:

First Nat Bank of Crookston	$21,186 45
Merchants Nat Bank of Crookston	24,717 28
Scandia-American " "	21,870 16
First Nat Bank of East Grand Forks	14,267 64
First State Bank of Red Lake Falls	5,083 85
Citizens Bank of McIntosh	1,925 08
Bank of Fisher	5,627 11
" Fosston	2,144 40
Polk County Bank	2,004 63
State Bank of McIntosh	1,792 10
Fertile State Bank	4,700 52
Crookston city bond deposit in First National Bank	2,000 00
Sundry expense bills	501 99
School district orders	52 82
Township orders	83 40
Bank checks and drafts in Treas hands	484 18
Silver in treasurers hands	44 08
Paper money in treasurers hands	832 00
Postal orders	45 46
Dimes	3 10
Nickles	3 20
Pennies	1 92
Total	$108,921 46

Said total amount corresponding with treasurers books.

ANTHON LINDEM, Chairman County Board.
JOHN GLEASON, County Auditor.
JOHN VIG, Clerk of Dist. Court.

The application of John Vig for abatement of interest and penalty on taxes for the years 1890, 1893 and 1893 on a ⅓ of lots 4, 5 and 6, in block 5, Hurlbut's addition to city of Crookston, was on motion granted and the county auditor was instructed to accept payment of taxes in accordance with this action.

A hearing was had upon the petition of Ole D. Aahus et al asking that certain section and property lines be surveyed and staked out in the town of Sletten, and on motion the prayer of the petitioners was rejected, on the ground that the petition was not made in accordance with legal requirements.

The application of Sarah Duval for correction of assessment and abatement of taxes for the years 1891, 1894 and 1895, on lot 20, block 2, Fletcher's add to city of Crookston, was on motion granted, subject to the approval of the state auditor.

On motion the county treasurer was authorized to transfer from the revenue fund to the sinking fund the sum of $7,000, the said amount having been loaned by the latter to the former fund, July 20, 1894.

On motion the resolution adopted by the county board, April 21, 1893, fixing the amount to be paid as bounty on wolves killed in Polk county, was rescinded.

The application of Albertine J Thorson, for correction of assessment for 1895 on lots 1 and 2, in block 2, Budges's 2d Add to East Grand Forks, was on motion granted, and the county auditor was instructed to deduct from said assessment $1,000, it appearing that said amount was assessed for structures when there were no structures upon the said lots.

The contract for repairing the court house was on motion awarded to Henry Nolan, the work to be done according to specifications filed with the county auditor, the agreed price for said work to be $578.

On motion the proposal of James E Morrisey, to construct a two-line iron pipe fence around court house square, at the price of 84 cents per lineal foot, was accepted and the necessary contracts executed.

The application of E C Cooke for correction of assessment and abatement of taxes on nw¼ section 28, T. 147, R 40, for the years 1892, 1893, 1894 and 1895, was on motion granted and the taxes upon said land for the years named were reduced from $231.98 to $129.50, subject to the approval of the state auditor.

The application of Mrs. M. M. Dufour for abatement of taxes on 250 feet out of lot 8, section 31, T 150, R 46 for the year 1895, was on motion granted, subject to the approval of the state auditor.

The application of Frank E. Hunt for abatement of tax on bank stock in the village of Red Lake Falls for the year 1895, was on motion granted, it appearing that the said bank stock had been assessed to the State Bank of Red Lake Falls.

The applications of F. W. Flanders, Nels C. Anderson, E. M. Walsh and H. Langevin, for abatement of taxes on property in the city of Crookston, was on motion referred for the recommendation of the Finance Committee of said city.

Moved by Com. Rhinehart that the sum of $100 be allowed Oscar Linqvist for services as assistant in the office of probate judge. Motion lost, Commissioners Kirsch and Rhinehart voting in the affirmative.

The application of Arne Hill for abatement of taxes for the year 1894 and 1895 on ne¼ nw¼ and lot 1, sec 7, T 147, R 45 was on motion granted, subject to the approval of the state auditor, it having been shown that said land was listed and valued by the assessor as a full quarter section.

The following bills were audited and allowed:

Pioneer Press Co, blanks, two bills	$ 4 75
Grand Forks Herald, books and blanks	63 10
Walter S Booth & Son, books and blanks four bills	9 20
Brown, Treacy & Co, books and blanks	10 00
W E McKenzie, sundry office supplies and printing	93 35
C T Lanman, sundry printing	21 89
H E Ives "	12 46
C C Knappen "	20 16
Ira C Richardson, conducting case for state justice court	5 00
Oak Dale Cemetery association, burial lots	53 25
G S Chesterman, services as undertaker	14 75
Crookston Plumbing Co, work in jail and courthouse	63 88
N S Gervais, mdse to county hospital	88
Crookston Grocery Co, mdse to county hospital	6 07
S A Wallace, drugs and medicines to county hospital	16 65
Dr. C H Denniston, professional attendance at hospital	86 25
L I Benoit, mdse to county hospital	36 80
E D Childs & Co, milk to county hospital	6 00
Rosenthal & Falk, mdse to county hospital	10 75
George Vine, meat to county hospital	8 30
Wm H Nortie, repairs on county hospital	6 00
Crookston Telephone Co, rent to telephones for April	7 50
Dr C E Dampier, medical services at county jail	2 50
Red River Lumber Co, lumber	92
Crookston Tele Co, rent of telephones for March and Fisher calls	7 95
G G Henault, professional services at county jail	3 00
Dr F J Duggan, attendance and medicine to pauper	13 00
O McCrillis, postage and express	14 10
J. T Beaudry, freight and express	501 99
John Gleason, express and postage	20 88
John Vig, express and postage	5 55
A Wickstrom express and postage	9 50
" recording bonds	9 00
John Vig, drawing jury, and services on auditing board	6 00
John Gleason, services on auditing board	8 00
Martin O'Brien, services as assistant county attorney	25 00
N G Enstrom, cash paid for supplies for court house	1 00
Carl M-Bye, wood to county jail	21 00
Jacob Syverson, wood to county jail	38 50
John Fylling, repairing shoes for prisoners	1 00
Hunt and Myer, hardware for bridge	9 00
Henry Daubenberg, hauling wood to jail	5 00
Andrew Steenerson, boarding prisoners 2 bills	178 30
M E Kirsch, premium on insurance policy	23 00
Alex McKinnon " " "	23 00
Anthon Lindem, services on auditing board	8 00
Josie Shorstad, work in county hospital	7 50
A McLennon " " "	11 00
Anna Johnson " " "	7 50
Mrs E E Slater " " "	6 00
G H Holt justice fees	7 90
J S Dwyer " " 2 bills	8 70
John McLean " "	7 45
Chris Steenerson, justice fees	8 60
A F Cronquist, constable fees	1 00
E C Cooke " "	5 95
H C Burdick " "	5 47
H Sammulson " "	8 38
Geo H Barlow " "	10 80
Hugh Quigley " "	8 70
Geo E Gaylord " "	3 86
Nils Gustafson, witness fees	1 48
Calvin D Horton " two bills	4 40
Joseph Beer "	1 12
Joseph Saddler "	2 34
C H Thomas "	1 12
Frank Stott "	1 12
A G Arneson "	1 12
John C Nelson "	2 08
John E Gustason "	1 48
Samuel Booker "	1 12
Gilbert O Halland "	1 96
Ragnall Stai "	2 92
G P Peterson "	1 18
Peter Lokken "	2 92
George Peasley "	6 36
James Little "	5 24
Martin Murphy "	6 86
Jerry Sullivan " three bills	3 36
A Rude "	5 24
Thomas Munley "	1 12
Thomas Pickering "	16 24
E E Beck "	6 86
Adam Scemitz, juror	1 12
Nicholas Paulit "	1 12
M E Kirsch, services as commissioner	15 40
Anthon Lindem " "	15 60
A C Rhinehart " "	17 60
Henry Norland " "	84 00
J E Oppegaard " "	30 80

Following bills were referred back for correction: H B Hogensen, Hans L Hogansen, H M Hogensen, D D Bodal, Martha Lutness, W M Proctor, A J Gilseth and Andrew Smith.

Following bills were referred to county attorney: F J Muggan, J S Dwyer, C L Lasher, Edward Turner, Joseph Sadler, John Yost and Geo H Peasley.

The following bills were disallowed: R J Woodham, Martin Purcell A G Arneson, Fontaine & Auglim D P R Strong and O H Bjoin.

On motion the county auditor was instructed to issue a refunding order for $69.02 in favor of H R Lyon, receiver of the N Dak. Milling Association said amount being penalty and sheriff's fees on personal property tax of said association in the city of Crookston for year 1895.

On motion board adjourned.

JOHN GLEASON,
Clerk of the Board.

St. Hilaire the Nearest point to the Best Agricultural Lands on The Reservation.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS. MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant = Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade. at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours.
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

Harness.....

If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing, call on

C. A. SKEIE,

West Broadway. St. Hilaire. Minn.

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing. repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements. Machinery. Etc All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL. St Hilaire. Minn.

M. E. BJERK

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn.

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP................President
J. L. JOHNSON..................Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN } Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL } Councilmen
M. Z. EPPERSON } Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES..........Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	49c	Butter	8@10c
Oats	12c	Eggs	7c
Barley	18c	Beans (pr. bu)	$1.50
Flax	73c	Potatoes "	12½

LOCAL NEWS.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

School closes Friday for the summer vacation.

Final examination keep the pupils busy this week.

Dr. Francis made a business trip to Thief River Falls to-day.

P. G. Paradis attended Memorial exercises in Red Lake Falls.

The farmers are busy putting in flax, oats and barley these days.

The foundation of Dan Patterson's new residence is completed.

Are we to have a celebration or not this year? That is the question.

E. M. Hoff received a large invoice of groceries the first of the week.

Andrew Schuler is doing the U. S. mail driving himself now days.

A. R. Jones moved into the residence lately vacated by Rev. J. Moody.

Wm. Eikhoff and wife expect to leave to-day for their Wisconsin home.

Jud Whaley of Fosston, brother of Ed. of this place is here on a visit.

It is safe to run chances and buy a straw hat—the rainy season is over.

W. A. Sorsoleil and wife took in the Ringling Bros. shows at Crookston.

Miss Sorum of Thief River Falls visited with the family of Carl Olson Sunday.

Mrs. Wm. Benzie of Thief River Falls, was a north bound passenger Monday.

Every one who attended the Ringling Bros. shows from here speak nothing but praise.

S. M. Hoff is moving his household effects upstairs over the post office building to-day.

Tom Oidne, the section foreman of this place is to become a resident of Red Lake Falls.

Emil Lafabe, the hustling butcher of Red Lake Falls was in the village a short time yesterday.

Rev. Geo. N. Kenniston, the M. E. devine from Thief River Falls was here Saturday between trains.

Dan Patterson was doing great execution on Broadway and Main streets yesterday with the harrow.

The depot is receiving a much needed coat of paint inside and out, which improves its looks many fold.

The east end of the approach of the county bridge is no more—the channel of the river did the business.

C. E. Bjerk, of Holt, Marshall county is spending a few days in the village visiting with his brother Martin E.

It took ten teams and an elephant to move one of Ringling Bros. wagons in the streets of Crookston yesterday.

R. H. Aimer spent a few days at Thief River Falls last week making improvements on his building property.

Between Ringling Brothers show and the Elk meeting Charley Rapp and Harry Ives are living in Crookston this week.

Several more of them two packages of garden seeds for five cents left at Hall's. Now is the proper time to use them.

Mrs. L. P. Stranahan and baby arrived here Thursday to join her husband who is visiting with relatives and friends.

M. Z. Epperson completed arrangements to put in 200 acres of flax this season. His teams were set to work Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Aimer entertained Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Freeman, Miss Kyle and Messrs. Rapp and O'Brien Wednesday evening.

The council met and adjourned Monday evening, without transacting any business. President Rapp and Alderman Sorsoleil being out of town.

Rev. Moody's Departure.

Rev. J. Moody, who for the past eight years was pastor of the Sweedish Lutheran Church of this place left on Monday with his wife and child for Battle Lake, Otter Tail county, where he enters a new field of labor, more lucrative than the field abandoned.

In the departure of Rev. Moody, St. Hilaire looses a most respected citizen and church dignatary. During his continuous residence among us he was never known to cause an unfriendly feeling to exist against him and leaves for his new home without an enemy. His parishoniers here and the residents of St. Hilaire without exception are sorry to have him leave and wish him success, and compliment the congregation of Battle Lake who was so fortunate in securing so trustworty a divine to administer to their spiritual wants, the work he is especially adapted to do. He will long live in the memory of his congregation here and all unite in wishing him success and happiness with his change in location.

Kind readers, please look twice at the new heading of this week's issue—it may never appear again.

Now that the assessor is nearly finished assessing and knows how poor you are, just give your buildings a coat of paint and your property will go up at least 500 per cent.

From this time on there will be no shaving or hair cutting done at the City Barber Shop on Sunday's. Govern yourselves accordingly. This we believe is as it should be.

Miss Katie Berglund who is teaching in the Erickson district was in the village a short time Saturday. Miss Berglund reports good success and is well satisfied with her school.

The Christian Endeavor Society will give an ice cream and strawberry sociable at the M. E. church next Friday evening, June 5th. Doors open at 8 o'clock. All are invited.

John O. Hanchett of the firm of Simons & Hanchett, attorneys at law, of Red Lake Falls was here Thursday and took the damage suit of W. A. Sorsoleil against the G. N. R. R. Co.

Miss Cora Harris teacher of the Lee district Sundayed with her parents. Cora has completed her first month of school as a teacher and says she is well satisfied with her profession.

M. Z. Epperson increased the force of men on his hotel building last week, consequently the structure is going up rapidly and when completed will be a much needed improvement to the village.

The front of Rapp & Post's double store building is receiving a nice new coat of paint—the interior likewise. If there is any one thing that improves the looks of a building its a coat of paint or two.

Dr. Watson of Red Lake Falls went to Crookston Thursday, returning Saturday, stopped off here between trains and by physicial-force induced C. G. Rapp to attend Memorial services in Red Lake Falls.

The Northern Minnesota Firemen's Tournament will be held at Hallock the 23rd, 24th and 25th of this month. A fine program has been arranged and an exciting time is looked for when the contests come off.

Mrs. F. S. Nicholson and mother, of Stephens Point, Wis., sister and mother of Mrs. James Meehan of Thief River Falls passed through here Monday on their way to the Falls where they will spend the summer.

Misses Mary Quandy and Minnie Olson accompanied by Prof. O'Brien attended Memorial exercises in Red Lake Falls. They report the ceremonies very impressive and much appreciated by those who attended.

E. J. Holmes who has been looking after his business interests in this vicinity for the past three weeks left for his home at Cannon Falls Monday. Mr. Holmes intends to be back in course of a few weeks and will remain until the busy season is over.

C. G. Rapp took the train to Thief River Falls Thursday, got up a boat party consisting of Capt. Lovell, Messrs. Hanson, Parker, Burkson and Attorney Richardson and came down the river. The party from the Falls took the train back in the evening. Mr. Rapp made the return trip in two hours and one-half.

O. W. Brink and H. Jackson made a trip through the Black river country yesterday and reports the grain coming up nicely, especially where the grain was drilled in. That put in with "shot-gun" seeders and not harrowed looks rather thin. O. W. has an eye for business as he sold another binder before returning.

A party of three came very near being overturned in dangerous waters below the dam last Sunday owing to an inexperienced boatman handling the oars. They struck shore soon as possible, pulled the boat out and preferred to walk home. Three flat boats could be disposed of at a high figure—provided they were good size and warranted not to upset.

Dr. N. M. Watson of Red Lake Falls has opened an office in St. Hilaire with H. Francis, M. D., of Ontario acting as his assistant, who may be found at any time by calling at the St. Hilaire Drug Store or at the American house. Dr. Francis comes well recommended. He has had practice here already and has given the very best of satisfaction. We welcome the doctor and wish him success.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

A WARNING TO POPULISTS.

From our Crookston Correspondent.

The People's Party of Polk county should be warned before hand; that an organized effort is being made to betray the party at the coming county convention. This move originates with the republican machine of the county and is cloaked under the mantles of hypocrisy worn by certain so-called populists. So completely is the scheme hidden that none except those who have paid close attention to the events transpiring at the county seat for the past two years would suspect the true inwardness of the manouvers.

This move had its inception in the convention two years ago and has manifested itself at intervals since then, whenever an opportunity offered to injure the party. This gang was first and foremost in its attack of the most prominent populist official in the state Judge Ives, and some of them even had the audacity to go to St. Paul to testify against him, hoping by securing his removal to kill two birds with one stone, viz: injure the party by having it said that men elected by us to office were incompetent and at the same time make a place for Montague the republican boss. It is not necessary to mention the names of these traitors, their names are by-words, but there was another part of the gang that remained in Crookston at that time and by abuse and villification sought by every means in their power to create sentiment against the judge.

Again the first time a republican ticket was placed in the field since our last campaign, at the last Crookston election this same gang showed their hands and openly supported that ticket notwithstanding the fact that the opposition ticket was made up of good populists and the best element of the rest of the citizens, and took a stand for the enforcement of liquor laws and good government in general. For this piece of treachery one of them, Vaule was given a paltry office by the republicans at $200 a year which is more than he is worth, since other lawyers have been hired to do the actual legal work of the city. But a significant thing connected with his appointment is the fact that Brown, the republican mayor, in order to get him confirmed by the council, stated to that body that this was a republican victory, and for this reason he hoped that all his appointments would be confirmed, upon this, the republican alderman voted to confirm and the populists against.

This same Vaule is now being boomed in certain quarters for judge of probate, and other members of the gang are in for other offices on the populist ticket. They rely on a certain ring headed by Vig to pull them through the convention and knowing their weakness before the people, the plan is in case of their nonination is to trade the ticket for republican votes sufficient if possible, to insure their election, failing in securing a nomination they are to come out openly and support the republican ticket during the campaign. This may explain the boasts of the republican managers that they are going to carry Polk county as it also explains the friendship manifested by the republican ringsters towards the candidacy of the numbers of this gang.

Our county convention is to be surrounded with great danger, but with little care and firmness, we can easily winnow out the chaff and present to the people of Polk county the strongest ticket ever placed before them. We have unlimited, honest sturdy manhood to select from and if we are guided by wisdom and common prudence, will cast the largest vote ever polled. But if our force is betrayed, if we place traitors in command and are attacked in the rear as well as in the front, we may well tumble for the result.

JOHNSTON.

Struck a Spouter.

Mike Willmas, who has a wide reputation as a well driller in this state as well as in North Dakota struck a spouter yesterday at the depth of 84 feet at the farm of W. A. Sorsoleil's, a mile south of town. The water is of the very best for drinking as well as all other purposes, being free from the salty mineral taste usually found in these kind of wells. Very slow progress was made in drilling the first 55 feet owing to the hard strata of stone. We are pleased to note that Mr. Willmas is meeting with success and congratulate Mr. Sorsoleil on having such a fine flowing wells on one of the prettiest and best farms in the state.

Ye reporter has occasionally been caught in the hay field when a shower came up and there being no place for shelter, removed his clothing and stooped over them to keep them dry and when the rain had gone put them on nice and dry, whilst the other hands were soaking wet, but we were never in the predicament of the Polk county machine agent whose team got stuck in the mud, and not wanting to soil clothes took them off, left them in the buggy got out and helped the team from the mud, while going to a pond near by to clean himself, the team started clothes and all. The bell rang and the train moved away and we failed to learn the sequel of this interesting episode.—St. Vincent New Era.

Few Here Too.

The mosquito has never been and is never likely to be a favorite with man; but the full extent of its injurious characteristics has only lately been discovered by scientific men. It is known now that the germs of malaria are taken in to human systems by drinking water in which malarial parasites have been deposited by mosquitoes. Worse still than this, in taking blood from the human system the mosquito introduces the malaria parasites into its own system, where they under such changes as make it possible for them to increase. If there were no mosquitoes, malaria must disappear. It is said that oil put on stagnant water destroys them as soon as they are hatched from the egg and appear as wrigglers on the surface of the water. Now if some mathamatical genius will figure out how much oil will be necessary to cover the water in Roseau, Marshall and Kittson counties we will petition congress for the amount forthwith for from present indications the festive "skeeters" will run things to suit themselves this year.—Roseau Region.

WYLIE ITEMS.

Wheat, oats and barley came in fast last week.

The farmers are working like "busy bees" once more.

Miss Hattie and Nora Dargan made a pleasant visit to their sister Mrs. Jake Thill.

Mrs. Wylie lost a valuable horse this week owing to a severe cut in a wire fence.

Harry E. Ives passed through here last week. He reports the dam still by the mill-site.

Miss Louise Dubuque passed through here Saturday on her way to Crookston to visit friends.

A company of our young folks spent a very pleasant evening over to the home of Mr. Lepert's.

If the mosquitoes bother your team call on C. Borgan who will show you what he can do in the line of fly nets.

The school marm's "love scheme" doesn't work quite so well this spring in getting back and forth from their schools.

Call for People's Party County Convention June 18th.

The People's Party convention for the county of Polk, State of Minnesota, will be held at the court house, in the City of Crookston, on the 18th day of June, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the following county offices:

County Auditor,
County Treasurer,
Sheriff,
Register of Deeds,
Judge of Probate,
County Attorney,
Surveyor,
Coroner,
Court Commissioner,
Superintendent of Schools,
County Commissioner, 1st District,
County Commissioner, 3rd District,
County Commissioner, 5th District.

The basis of representatation, as determined by the county central committee, shall be one delegate at large for each voting precinct, and one delegate for evrey fifty votes or major fraction thereof, cast for S. M. Owen for governor at the general election in 1894.

Conformable to forgoing apportionment, the voting precincts of Polk County will be entitled to delegates in the convention as follows:

Andover	2	Kortsonville	2
Angus	1	King	3
Black River	2	Knute	4
Bray	1	Lake Pleasant	3
Badger	2	Lambert	3
Brandsvold	2	Liberty	2
Belgium	1	Lessor	3
Brislet	1	Lowell	3
Bygland	2	Louisville	2
Crookston	1	McIntosh Village	2
" City 1st ward	1	Nesbit	2
" " 2nd "	2	Norden	2
" " 3rd "	2	North	2
" " 4th "	3	Northland	1
" " 5th "	1	Numedal	2
Columbia	2	Onstad	1
Chester	2	Parnell	1
Emardville	1	Poplar River	3
Euclid	1	Polk Centre	1
Eden	2	Queen	2
Esther	1	R. L. Falls Village	3
Fairfax	1	Red Lake Falls	2
Farley	1	Reis	1
Fanny	1	River Falls	2
Fisher	3	Rocksbury	3
Fosston Village	3	Roome	2
Fertile "	1	Rosebud	3
Grand Forks	2	Russia	1
E. G. F. 1st ward	1	Rhinehart	1
" 2nd "	1	Sanders	2
" 3rd "	1	Sandsville	2
" 4th "	2	St. Hilaire Village	2
Garfield	2	Sletten	[illegible]
Garden	4	Sullivan	1
Gentilly	2	Tabor	2
Gervais	3	Terrebonne	2
Grove Park	3	Tilden	1
Godfrey	2	Tynsid	1
Hammond	1	Thief River Falls	3
Higdem	2	Vineland	2
Hill River	3	Winger	4
Huntsville	2	Woodside	3
Hubbard	2	Wyandotte	1
Keystone	1

The primaries for the election of delegates shall be held on the 11th day of June, 1896, and the polls shall be opened at 2 o'clock p. m., and remain open for two hours.

By order of the County Central Com.

ARNY GRUNDYSEN, Chairman,
JOHN GLEASON, Secretary.

Reading "Farm, Stock and Home."

THIS TELLS THE STORY. The habitual, careful reader of Farm, Stock and Home, published at Minneapolis, Minn., is happy; his animals and fowls, bred, fed and cared for according to its plain, practical instructions, are sleek, thrifty and delighted; and his fruits, grains and vegetables, propagated according to the teachings of the same authority, testify to their flavor, size and abundance with smile, song and dance.

DO LIKEWISE. Get the best, raciest, most interesting and instructive, the most practical and broadest-gauged agricultural paper published, and duplicate the picture herewith presented!

ITS EDITORS Live, work and write from the field, stable, dairy, garden, orchard, apiary, poultry and farm home. Farm, Stock and Home is unique; unlike others, has improved from its first number, and now its progression has become chronic—it can't help getting better and better with every issue. SAMPLE COPY FREE.

HOW TO GET IT. Subscriptions will be accepted at this office at the publishers price (50 cents a year); or on receipt of the amount due us on past subscription, and one year in advance, we will send Farm, Stock and Home, one year FREE: or we will send it and this paper one year for

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements

McCORMICK NO. 4

American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

X-Rays

Of test and trial prove Hood's Sarsaparilla to be unequalled for purifying the blood because

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills. 25 cents

Taken From the Wrong Pocket.

Conductor (glancing at ticket)—Sorry, sir; but we don't stop at that place.

Fetherwate—What place?

Conductor—Green's, the pawnbroker's—Boston Traveler.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

From Philadelphia.

Mr. Springtide, in the garden—I never saw such slow seed. Those plants ought to have been up long ago.

Mrs. Springtide—You forget, dear, those are the seeds my sister sent us from Philadelphia.—Yonkers Statesman.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has been a God-send to me.—Wm. B. McClellan, Chester, Florida, Sept. 17, 1895.

Before and After.

"I remember," said Mrs. Wickwire, impressively, "you once said if you had the world you would gladly lay it at my feet."

"Oh, did I?" asked Mr. Wickwire.

"Yes, you did; and now I have to nag at you for three days to get you to lay a carpet."—Indianapolis Journal.

DR. J. G. GRANT, Specialist.
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.
Syndicate Block, Minneapolis.
(Spectacles fitted.)

Bach wrote fugues and studies in counterpoint before he was nine years old.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

Martial, the Latin satirist, wrote epigrams when he was only twelve years old.

DON'T let your money rust; make it work; $100 invested in our system of investment will earn you $2 per day. An opportunity of a life time. Address for particulars Chandler & Co., Brokers and Bankers, Kasota Block, Minneapolis.

There is no directory in the city of St. Petersburg.

When the Summer Breeze

Blows through the trees, most of us who can set off for a country jaunt. Fewer cross the Atlantic. Whether it is business or pleasure calls one from home, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the best accompaniment of a voyage or an outing. Yachtsman, sea captains, commercial travelers and emigrants concur in this opinion. The Bitters is unrivalled for bilious, malarial, dyspeptic or liver disorder.

Trouble Barely Averted.

Hogan—You look loike an ape—

Grogan—Fwat's thot?

Hogan—Oi says ye look loike an ape.

Grogan—Oh! Oi t'ought ye was goin' to say Oi luked loike an A. P. A.—Indianapolis Journal.

Nicola Tesla began his career as an electrical inventor when he was fifteen.

St. Louis.

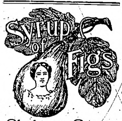
Is one of our largest and most attractive cities. A good time to visit it is at the time of the Republican convention in June, or the People's party convention in July. The Burlington Route is the best line. Your home ticket agent can tell you all about it and sell you a ticket via the "Burlington."

Twelve ships loaded with raw sugar are now on their way to Montreal, some from the East Indies, some from South America, some from Germany.

England has 85 per cent of the wealth of the United Kingdom.

Not a few critics pronounce Webster's earliest orations to be his best.

Steele was a famous writer before he attained the age of thirty years.



Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

If you accept a substitute, you must not fuss because its not as good as genuine HIRES Rootbeer.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

Binder Twine Largest sellers in the world. Samples & prices free; write MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., 111 to 115 Michigan Av., Chicago.

OPIUM Habit Cured. Est. in 1871. Thousands cured. Cheapest and best cure. FREE TRIAL. State case. Dr. MARSH, Quincy, Mich.

25 CTS. PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS.

AGRICULTURE

CEREAL CULTURE.

Great Changes Necessary If Wheat Growing Is to Remain Profitable.

The three future wheat regions of the world which will have most to do with regulating supply are the great plains of the United States, the Russian "chernozem" or black earth, and the pampas of Argentina. It is also true that the best quality of grain is grown in these regions, but particularly in the eastern portion of the "chernozem," near the Ural mountains.

The very low prices of wheat, together with the continued rapid increase of production, necessitates some great changes if wheat growing is to remain profitable. In this country the tendency toward mixed farming is helping to solve the problem, as well as the replacement of corn by wheat for stock feed. The quality of our wheat can be much more improved by rigid selections and cross-breeding, and by the introduction of many fine varieties from the Uralo-Caspian region that have never yet been grown in this country. The hard wheat region should be more widely extended by planting northern varieties further southward. This has already been accomplished to some extent. The macaroni industry could be greatly developed, thus giving a greater home demand for wheat. To this end, more of the Mediterranean varieties should be imported for seed, since only these wheats make the best macaroni.

The hot water treatment for cereal smuts, so repeatedly and widely published, seems to have attracted very little attention from farmers. There is no doubt that this very simple treatment once generally used, would greatly increase the value of northern wheats so notoriously smutted at present, besides increasing the yield at least 10 per cent. The millers need especially to unite in absolutely refusing to receive smutted wheat.

The wheat rust question is so little understood that it is about impossible to obtain statistics concerning its ravages. We only know that the damage is enormous in some years.

Experiments carried on by the United States department of agriculture at Garrett Park, Md., in which 865 varieties of wheat and 110 of oats were tested for rust resistance, show by this season's results that many varieties are able to resist rust to a great degree, but seem to show also that the orange leaf rust, which was alone present here, even in greatest abundance, does very little damage. The evidence so far seems to show conclusively that even in this country we shall have to return, after all, to the old idea that the black stem rust does all the really serious damage to both wheat and oats. But as the life-history of this rust is yet wholly unknown in this country, there is evidently much investigation needed.—By M. A. Carleton of Division of Vegetable Pathology, United States Department of Agriculture.

Automatic Flood Gate.

A correspondent of the Country Gentleman says: I am anxious for a plan of a gate to put in a tidal river that will automatically keep the salt water from flowing in and let the fresh water out when the tide is low. I have been trying to get a plan for some time, but so far have been unable to do so, and there may be others who would like one." To which that paper replies as follows: The most effective gate of the kind for the drainage of low lands on tide water is one made in this fashion: When the tide is down the weight of the gate itself opens it, and when the water rises the float is lifted by the rising water and it shuts the gate. It is very simple, always ready for action, and cannot get out of order unless some obstacle gets entangled in the gate, which is to be attended to of course. The float should be heavy enough to help the inside water to open the gate to empty the drains, and have buoyancy enough to press the gate down firmly while the water is rising. It should go entirely under the gate and be hinged as shown on both sides. If made in the form of a water-tight box, the joints caulked and pitched, its buoyancy will be amply sufficient. There is of course a hinge on each side. A spur and the hinge prevents the float from going too far back.

Plowing Under Clover.

With farmers who have tried it, there is no question but that clover can be plowed under to a good advantage, especially so when it is an item to build up the fertility.

There are three ways of managing clover in using it to build up the land. One is to cut and make into hay and then feed it to stock and return it back to the land in the shape of manure. Another plan is to pasture, letting the droppings stay on the land. The third is to wait until a good growth has been made, and then plowing under. One advantage with clover is that it not only supplies a considerable amount of plant food but it adds humus to the soil and tends very materially to make it more friable and easier worked. Then, clover acts upon the elements in the soil and helps to make them available.

The best stage at which to plow clover under is when the plants are in full blossom. At this stage they contain the largest per cent of the elements of the plant food.

Care should be taken to turn as completely under as possible, using a chain or drag in this plan, if necessary. It will help materially in securing quicker as well as better results if a good dressing of lime is given a day or two before plowing under.

Plowing under clover and thoroughly preparing in a good condition, makes a good seed bed for wheat, and as clover stores nitrogen in the soil, it supplies to this extent the very element most needed by this crop. Clover takes nitrogen from the air, and stores it in the soil, and for this reason is one of the very best crops to precede wheat.

Even when the first crop has been cut for hay the second growth can be plowed under to a good advantage; in no way can as large an amount of valuable fertilizer be secured at as low a cost, and when land has been cropped down the growing and plowing under of clover affords one of the best means of building up, and should be used at every opportunity.—Shep, in American Farmer.

Plant Pumpkins.

The farmer who has an eye to the comfort and health of the cattle and hogs this fall, will not forget to secure some good pumpkin seed and plant it in his own way, either by putting the seed in the planter, or by planting it after the corn comes up, in the old fashioned way. The pumpkin crop is a catch crop pure and simple, costs nothing but the seed, and is a very valuable help along in November or the last week in October. Many hogs that were supposed to have cholera, after a good feed of pumpkins have recovered, not because there was any disease among them but because they were out of condition. The pumpkin seed is a diuretic as every grandmother knows who has taught her daughter to give the baby pumpkin seed tea when its kidneys were not working properly, and it works the same way on the hog. Plant pumpkin seed with the corn, and if you do not have the seed hunt up some thrifty farmer who has grown more than he wants and will accommodate you with enough for your purpose. If the pumpkins were a brand new thing just discovered and in the hands of but one or two seedsmen, the firm would make lots of money advertising it. Nevertheless, it is just as good for farm purposes as though it was a recent discovery. It is of ten times the value of some of the most vaunted discoveries like sacaline, sylvestris, etc. Let us get all the good we can out of the old standbys and then add anything new that has real value. "Whereunto ye have already attained let us hold fast," etc.—Wallace's Farmer.

Turnips and the Soil.

It does not pay American farmers to follow English farming methods too closely. Turnips in England are regarded as a renovating crop, not because they do not exhaust the soil, but because they are generally used as coarse feed for animals fed highly on grain and linseed meal. English farmers cannot grow corn. If they could they would not grow so many turnips as they do. The peculiarities of climate which make corn-growing impossible in England are just such as the turnip thrives best in. Our summers are too hot for growing turnips successfully. Unless planted very late they turn pithy early in the winter. In England the winters are mild enough, so that the turnip is left in the ground all the winter and is fed down by sheep, which have liberal rations of linseed meal and grain. The English farmers use phosphate on their turnips, and this crop responds to this mineral fertilizer better than any other. This indicates how exhaustive it is of mineral plant food, especially phosphate. We once grew half an acre of turnips in a field where corn was destroyed by the cut worm. We had a good crop of turnips, but next year the oat crop where the turnips grew was markedly inferior to that on the same field where corn was grown and no turnips sown. Since that time we have been more doubtful than ever about the advisibility of sowing turnips very largely unless they can be liberally fertilized with phosphate. There is no loss in this, as what mineral fertilizer the turnip crop does not use will be left for the grain and clover crops which follow it.

Field Culture of Tomatoes.

When tomatoes are grown on a large scale, the plan of narrow and wide rows alternating has many advantages. After preparing the soil, lay off the rows alternating thus: Between first and second rows a distance of four feet, between the second and third rows a distance of two feet—the object being to keep as many of the tomatoes as possible off the ground. When the plants are ready to fall over from the increasing weight of fruit, train the branches toward the narrow middle rows so as to brace each other up. At the first picking of the ripe fruit even, if not done earlier, the pickers can lay each plant over to the narrow middle rows, and in such a way that the vines can be made to support each other sufficiently well to keep 90 per cent of the tomatoes clear off the ground. The narrow middles should be cultivated the last time and left perfectly clean, just before the vines are falling over. The wide rows ought to be cultivated at least twice after the cultivation of narrow middles has ceased and they have been filled with the vines. If an occasional stake is driven down in the narrow middles, and a wire or strong cord is run along as tightly as possible from stake to stake the length of the rows, it will help greatly to support the vines. The plants are set from two to three feet apart in the rows.—S. A. Cook in Orange Judd Farmer.

The Color of Corn.

During the past two or three years there has been more or less discussion with respect to the influence of color upon the yield of corn. At the various experiment stations in the corn growing states there have been something like 1,300 tests with nearly 500 varieties, in which the relation of color to yield has been observed. The general average of all these tests shows that the white varieties make larger yield by about two and a half bushels than the yellow varieties. At six out of seven stations the highest yielder was the white variety, and of the thirty-five varieties named as giving the best yields at the different stations, twenty-four were white and only seven were yellow, the others being red. This does not mean that every white variety is better than every yellow one, but it does afford ground for the belief that on the average white corn is more prolific. With respect to feeding value there is, from the standpoint of scientific analysis, no difference between white and yellow corn, but on this point chemistry is at variance with the opinions of a good many practical feeders.

Farm Notes.

If the corn is too thick, thin it. It is hard work, but it will pay.

It will pay to take steps to prevent the ravages of chinch bugs. Begin in time.

At distances of one by three feet and tubers averaging four ounces, an acre requires of quarters about fifteen bushels.

Before planting corn be sure that you have a good variety, and perfect seed of that variety. It is little trouble to test seeds, and this should always be done before the work of planting begins.

A portion of the vegetable garden on the farm may be nicely irrigated by economizing the slops or waste water from the house and laundry. This waste will not only supply needed moisture, but much valuable plant food as well, that otherwise you would waste.

A POSTMASTER'S WIFE

A LEEDS WOMAN WHO ASTONISHED HER FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS.

Near to Death but Restored So Completely That She Has Been Accepted By a Life Insurance Company as a Good Risk.

From the Journal, Lewiston, Me.

A bright little woman, rosy and fresh from her household duties, dropped into a chair before the writer and talked with enthusiasm shining in her snapping, black eyes.

The people in the pretty village of Leeds Centre, Me., have watched with some interest the restoration to complete health of Mrs. W. L. Francis, wife of the postmaster. So general were the comments on this interesting case that the writer who visited Mrs. Francis and learned from her that the statements regarding her troubles and her subsequent extrication therefrom are entirely true. All of her neighbors know what has been the agency that has performed this cure, but that others may be benefited by her experience, Mrs. Francis has consented to allow her story to appear in print.

"If there is anything on earth I dread more than another," she said, "it is to see my name in the papers. But in this case I conquer my repugnance and give publicly the same credit to the savior of my life as I would to one who had dragged me from a death beneath the waves. In fact, I have extolled my preserver so enthusiastically and unreservedly, have sought out sufferers and recommended the remedy to so many friends and acquaintances that already my neighbors jocularly call me, 'Pink Pills Francis.' But really, my recovery is something that I consider wonderful. I know that there are so many testimonials of medicine in the papers nowadays that people do not pay as much heed as formerly, but I do wish folks who are suffering would remember that what I say comes right from the heart of a woman who feels that she had a new lease of happy life given to her.

"Eleven years ago I was afflicted with nervous prostration. My existence until two years ago was one of dragging misery. Anyone in the village will tell you of my condition. My blood seemed exhausted from my veins and month after month I grew weaker. I was able to undertake only the lightest household work, and even then I could perform it only by slow and careful movements. During all these sorry months and years I was under the care of this doctor and that, but their medicines helped me only spasmodically, and then I fell into relapses more prostrating than ever.

"In the night I used to be awakened by the most excruciating pains in my heart and side, and was obliged to use pellets of powerful medicine that the doctor gave me for relief in such attacks. At last my condition became so grave that I went out only infrequently. We live upstairs, you notice, over my husband's store, and in descending the stairway I frequently was obliged to sort of fall and slide over the steps in order to descend, such was the strain on my system resulting from even this slight exertion. Occasionally I visited the neighbors, but I was obliged to sit and rest to recover breath while ascending any elevation. In short, it did not seem that I could live, so I was my complete physical prostration.

"One day I saw an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and although my faith in remedies was weak by that time, I sent for a box and tried them. That was two years ago. Now I call myself a well woman. Isn't it wonderful?

"I haven't had one of those excruciating pains in the heart for a year and a half. Why, even the first box of pills helped me. I can walk miles now; can do my work easily; have gained in weight constantly, and you would scarcely believe it, but a little while ago I was examined for endowment life insurance and was accepted unhesitatingly after a careful examination by the physician.

"Do you wonder that I'm shouting 'Pink Pills' all through our village? I haven't taken any of the remedy for some months for it has completely built me up, but at the first sign of trouble I know to what refuge to flee.

"Last year my aunt, Mrs. M. A. Blossom, of Dixfield, P. O., was here visiting me. She was suffering from a lack of vitality and heart trouble, but she was skeptical about my remedy that I was so enthusiastically advocating. At last, however, she tried it and carried some home with her when she went. A little while ago I received a letter from her, and in it said, 'I am cured, thanks to God and Pink Pills.' She also wrote that her husband had been prostrated but had been restored by the remedy.

One of the persons to whom Mrs. Francis recommended Pink Pills is Station Agent C. H. Foster, of Leeds Centre, and the reporter found him patrolling the platform awaiting the arrival of the morning train. Mr. Foster, who is one of the most trustworthy, capable and energetic men in the employ of the Maine Central railroad, appeared in unusually good health and spirits and we made inquiry as to the cause.

"Do you know," replied he, "I think I've made a discovery, or at least Mrs. Francis has for me. I have been in poor health for a long time with a heart trouble variously complicated. We have been so fully interested in Mrs. Francis' wonderful recovery that I at once determined to give the medicine recommended a thorough test. So, about two months ago, I bought the first box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Only two months, please note, yet already I am so much improved, so much better able to fulfill my duties, so sanguine that I am on the road to recovery, that I feel like a new man.

"I can now walk without the fatigue I once experienced, my heart affection appears to be relieved, and I have joined the Pink Pills' Band in our community."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are for sale by all druggists, or may be had by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., for 50c per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Forcing Plants by Electricity.

Some highly-interesting experiments in the development of plants by the electric light have been concluded by the Cornell department of horticulture. By using electric light during the daytime Prof. Bailey produced lilies fully two weeks before the plants grown under natural conditions flowered. The affect on lettuce was very marked. The plants were large and much more rapid in growth than those raised in the ordinary way. Investigations are to be continued on different plants, and the effect on vegetation of the Roentgen rays will also be determined. Tests will also be made on plants by electrifying the atmosphere in which they are grown. Ozone is specially grateful to some classes of plants, while in others an abundant supply of it does not appear to be essential. The same difference is found in plants subjected to the influence of the electric light. For instance, while lettuce thrives astonishingly under the electric light treatment, electricity is a positive detriment to peas.

Eleven.

The Republican national convention to be held in St. Louis June 16 will be the eleventh held by that party. The Burlington Route trains run to the principal points in eleven states—a coincidence. Another fact is that from St. Paul and Minneapolis and on all points in the Mississippi valley the Burlington is the best and the direct line to St. Louis.

A STRANGE FATALITY.

A Driver Burned Under the Ruins of His Stage.

Ethelbert A. Whitcomb recently mounted the stage of the Ukiah and Scotia line to drive to Laytonville. When the stage reached a turn in the road about four miles north of Willets the driver had either fallen asleep or become confused, and the horses left the regular road and took a left-hand road in the direction of Felton's saw mill.

Whitcomb awoke shortly after departing from the stage road and discovered his predicament. There was an embankment on the left of the road, and, not observing the declivity, Whitcomb endeavored to turn the horses and drive back to the stage road. The kingbolt of the stage broke and wagon and driver were thrown down the embankment.

It was evidently impossible for the driver to extricate himself from the rubber cover of the seat, and he consequently fell beneath the stage. His head struck a rock, and it is believed that death was almost instantaneous. The dashboard of the stage struck on Whitcomb's breast, so if he did not die at once he was held a prisoner. In the meantime the sidelamps of the stage had exploded or been broken by the fall, and the oil fell directly on the body of the injured man. The flames gradually extended from the burning wicks to Whitcomb's clothing, and when found in the morning the body was burned beyond recognition, one leg and both arms having been burned off.

A settler residing some distance from the scene of the accident saw what he had regarded as a camp fire of hunters, but it was really Whitcomb's funeral pyre.

It is the custom of this stage line for the south-bound drivers to continue the trip in case the north-bound stage fails to connect at the regular stations. As Whitcomb had not arrived at the proper station, Driver Braskett kept on south. When he reached the scene of the accident he was horrified to observe the charred body of Whitcomb. The horses were still standing hitched to the remains of the stage, the fire at one time having been so fierce that the hair of the animals was singed. The stage carried a heavy mail, but it was all destroyed, and little was left of the vehicle.—San Francisco Chronicle.

GERMAN IDEAS OF DUELING.

A Lame Defense in Which Even Scripture Is Quoted.

A significant contribution to the dueling question in Germany has been published in the official Militar-Wochenblatt. The writer divides his article into two sections, dealing respectively with the "idea of honor and the employment of the duel for its rehabilitation," and with the conflict between the practice and Christian principles. As to the first point, he argues that a distinction must be drawn between "external and internal" honor. The latter, which is a good conscience, cannot be taken away; but the former, which is the recognition of one's personal worth by others, must be defended at all costs. It is by staking one's life for this honor, when impugned, that its rehabilitation is possible. The innocent man who falls in a duel has gone to his death, as it were, for the sake of his honor, while the guilty person has restored his honor externally and must settle the rest with his Maker. The author then proceeds to declare that the officers' corps possesses a peculiar sort of honor which is closely connected with its martial profession. In war the officer's duty is to lead his men into the jaws of death, and the fear of death which seizes even the bravest can only be overcome by holding fast in time of peace to the principle "death before dishonor." Herein lies the educational value of the duel for the officers. They may never fight one, but they know that they must be ready to do so in certain circumstances. "We are accustomed," he adds, "to retain well tried methods and do not intend to sacrifice them to well meant but false theories." The writer then quotes and expounds a large number of passages from the Bible, and by dint of twisting and turning proves to his own satisfaction that the practice is not forbidden by Christianity.—New York Post.

Spontaneous Combustion of Clover Hay.

They had, not long ago, at the Pennsylvania Experiment station, an experiment with the fact that a fire may be started spontaneously in a mow of clover hay. The details, as given to the press, by Prof. Armsby, have been summarized as follows:

"The spontaneous combustion occurred in the bay over the college barn. The bay was 18x23 feet and 23 feet high. The floor was of two thicknesses of wide inch boards so placed as to break joints perfectly. The sides were of matched lumber. The fire was first observed falling through into the cow barn below. The bottom of the bay had about a foot of corn fodder. On this was placed second-crop clover and timothy, mostly clover, and when harvested was thought to be in unusually fine condition. It was dropped in with a horse-fork from considerable height, and hence very solidly pressed. By stopping up the holes below and using plenty of water above they were able to remove the entire amount of hay without losing the barn, but the greater portion of it it was so thoroughly charred that it would crumble in the hands when handled. For several days a peculiar odor had been noticed about the barn, and even at a distance of forty or fifty rods to the leeward. It was known that the bay was heating, but there were no indications or even suspicion of fire."

An Economist.

The other day Manager Wardlow, of the telegraph office in Brazil, took a telegram which read:

"Miss ——, will you be mine?"

It was delivered to the proper party, and soon she came tripping into the office to write her reply. It read:

"Yes. Yes. Yes. Yes. Yes. Yes.
Yes. Yes. Yes. Yes.
Yes. Yes. Yes. Yes."

Ten words, you see, and she paid her quarter, then tripped out of the room with the sweetest kind of a blush.—Indianapolis Sun.

His Fame Secure.

"At last!" exclaimed the struggling young author, throwing himself heavily into a chair. "At last!" he repeated, "I have written something that will not die—something that will bear my name down the ages to remote posterity!"

"I am glad to hear it, Roger," said his patient wife.

"Yes," he rejoined, bitterly. "A copy of my last book has been placed in the corner stone of the new town hall!"—Chicago Tribune.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

At the national encampment of the G. A. R. to be held in St. Paul during the first week of September the services of a large number of bands and drum corps will be required, over 100 having participated in the encampment and parades at Louisville. It is expected that many of the visiting posts and departments will necessarily employ bands which are located in the vicinity of St. Paul, as the expense of bringing them from their different home localities would be too great. The committee on music having this matter in charge asks that all leaders of bands or drum corps who desire to furnish music at the time of the encampment without delay send to Lieut. Robert L. Winne, secretary of the committee on music, Manhattan building, St. Paul, a statement giving the number of members of their respective organizations, a description of the uniforms which they wear, the character of music furnished, and the charge which will be made for their services per day during the time of the encampment.

If they have any peculiarities or advantages in the way of drill, uniform or attractive display, it is also desired that a statement of these shall be furnished. Of late several Eastern organizations have made inquiry in regard to music for the occasion, and it is very desirable that the committee shall be able, at as early a date as possible, to provide a list of musical organizations from which selections can be made. You are, therefore, requested to send in this statement without delay.

In the Guest's Room.

A gilt-edged cord tied with a blue ribbon is hung in the guest's room of a house where there are many visitors. On it are marked the household hours for breakfast, lunch, dinner and supper and the hours of outgoing and incoming mails. This card is a real convenience in a house where there are many guests, and it may be made as ornamental as one pleases by painting on it a border of flowers to match the coloring of the room.

Sad Recollections.

Mrs. McGuire (whose husband has lately made money on contracts)—An' how do I look on me new wheel, Mrs. Flaherty?

Mrs. Flaherty—Yez jist look loike ould times, Mrs McGuire.

Mrs. McGuire (puzzled)—Ould toimes?

Mrs. Flaherty—Yis; whin Oi used to look over the fence an' see yez leanin' over the washtub.—San Francisco Examiner.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

Sweet Bait.

Fond Mother—Willie, as you come home from school, stop at the store and get me two bars of soap and a nickel's worth of candy.

Fond Father—What in the world do you want the candy for?

F. M.—Oh, that's so he'll not forget the soap.—Up To Date.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued to last week to Northwestern inventors:

James Colgrave, Clearwater, hand potato planter; John Hauenstein, New Ulm, barrell forming machine; Edward L. Holmes, Minneapolis, printer's galley; George E. Lenhart, St. Paul, furnace; Frederick A. Rybo, St. Paul, button attaching machine; William A. Shepfer, St. Paul, detergent and starch polishing compound; Frederick W. Williams, Minneapolis, drill attachment; James E. Wilton, Minneapolis, toy furniture; Casper Zimmerman, Big Stone City, S. D., lap robe; Koehler & Hinriechs (trade-mark), granular effervescent medicine; Nicholas Hayden and C. F. C. Wurst, St. Paul (design), whiffletree hook.

T. D. Merwin, patent lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

A Financier.

Gaggs—Gorkins lives by his wits.

Baggs—I didn't know he was such an able financier.

Gaggs—Why?

Baggs—To make a living on so small a capital.—Washington Times.

A Perfect Sheep Dip.

The improved method of extracting nicotine from tobacco enables sheep owners to escape the labor of hauling and boiling up the bulky stems when dipping is to be done. The concentrated nicotine makes a perfect sheep dip, as it is the best known stimulant for wool as well as sure death to all insects. If you intend dipping this year you cannot do better than write at once to the Skabcura Dip Co., Station S., Chicago, for particulars.

The Base Ball Fever.

Employer—Well, what can I do for you?

Office Boy—I would like to go to my grandmother's funeral this afternoon; that is, if it does not rain."—World.

Very Masculine.

"My dear, I think you are a trifle too particular."

"Why?"

"In putting wire screens over the doors and windows so our flies cannot get out and associate with our neighbors' flies."—Chicago Record.

Not Darnation.

"Ah, me!" inspired the poet, as he finished a sonnet to his mistress' eyebrow, "what would be the condition of country without women!"

"Stag nation," softly responded the humorist.—Boston Courier.

"Pretty Pill" says Pretty Poll

She's just "poll parroting." There's no prettiness in pills, except on the theory of "pretty is that pretty does." In that case she's right.

Ayer's Pills

do cure biliousness, constipation, and all liver troubles.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa.

Makes marvelous cures. Purely vegetable and absolutely harmless.

The Great Blood Purifier.

BATTLE AX
A.T. Co's
5 CENTS

"A Bicycle Built for Two."

Battle Ax PLUG

A GREAT BIG PIECE FOR 10 CENTS

Five cents' worth of "BATTLE AX" will serve two chewers just about as long as 5 cents' worth of other brands will serve one man. This is because a 5 cent piece of "BATTLE AX" is almost as large as the 10 cent piece of other high grade brands.

Minn Hist Soc
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY JUNE 10, 1896. NUMBER 45.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

The State of Texas has made application to the department of state for the original declaration of independence adopted by the delegates who met at Washington, Texas, in 1836, and initiated the long struggle with Mexico, which led to the independence of the Lone Star republic.

People in Print.

Stanley is regarded as a dismal parliamentary failure.

Five members, including Mr. Chamberlain, of the house of commons, have been married three times.

Mrs. Mary L. Foote, who was recently elected a police justice of Gaylor, Kan., ran against her husband and defeated him by a large majority.

Dr. J. W. Watts, mayor of Lafayette, Ore., rather than sign the license papers of a liquor dealer, resigned his position.

Ebenezer Nelson, the senior editorial writer of the Boston Transcript, who has just died, was connected with that paper for forty-four years.

Scores of leading Georgians who have visited the North recently have all declared that Judge Crisp is about certain to be the next senator from that state.

Dr. Lopponi, physician to the pope, says: "If nothing unforeseen happens, the holy father's constitution is so sound that he may well attain his 100th year."

Viscount Tamura of Japan was not required to take an examination for admission to the naval academy at Annapolis, but he did so, and made a creditable showing.

Prince Christian of Denmark, eldest son of the crown prince and ultimate heir to the throne, is engaged to Princess Pauline, only child of the king of Wuertemberg.

John Sarsfield Casey, the originator of the land league, who served five years in jail for his connection with the Fenian movement, died recently at Mitchellstown, Ireland.

In parliament recently, Mr. Murnaghan, member for Tyrone, on being stopped by the speaker, said: "I bow, sir, to your ruling, and merely beg to reiterate what I was about to observe."

Prudentia Vidauer Milmo, daughter of Senor Patricio Milmo, one of Mexico's wealthiest citizens, was made Princess Albert Radziwitt yesterday, in the Church of St. Francis Xavier, New York. Archbishop Corrigan officiated, and Senor Milmo gave the bride away.

Casualties.

A storm in Alabama did much damage to crops.

The village of Kreiholz, in the Bernese Oberland, Switzerland, has been partially destroyed by landslides.

In a storm a man named Wynne and his son of Edwardsvile, who were visiting near Tonanoxie, Kan., were struck by lightning and instantly killed.

Fire in New York destroyed the five-story livery barn of Horman Bohlman on Fifty-third street. Fifty horses were roasted to death. Total loss $80,000.

Five miners were horribly roasted by an explosion of gas at the Buckridge colliery, Shamokin, Pa. Two of them are dying from their injuries and there is but slight hopes of the recovery of the others.

During a violent storm at Little Rock, Ark., Lulu Waters, an aged colored woman, was killed by lightning. Several buildings were struck and electrical wires caused a panic in a school house.

Tht steamboat Ironsides struck a large stone in the Ohio river, fifteen miles below Parkersburg, and sunk in five feet of water at what is known as the Lee creek riffle. She was on the up trip from St. Louis. The boat was worth $21,000. No lives were lost.

During the game of base ball between the teams from Allegheny college and Grove City college at Meadville, Pa., the grand stand containing 200 persons collapsed and caused a panic. The injured were hastily taken from the wreck and the fortunate discovery was made that no one was killed, although many were badly bruised.

An electric wire and an ordinary iron hoop caused the death of an eight-year-old Polish boy at Pittsburg. He was rolling his hoop along the road when it became entangled with the end of a trolley wire. As he seized the hoop to pull it away he received the full force of the current and fell dead. The little corpse shows the burns made by the electric fluid.

Evil Doings.

Four students have been suspended from Lafayette college, at Eaton, Pa., for hazing, and others are to go.

Henry Miles was waylaid and killed near Dewitt, Mo., by an unknown assassin.

At Buffalo, Capt. Joseph Phillips, of the fire-boat Hutchinson, was shot and perhaps fatally wounded by Emmett Brown, a sailor and ex-fireman, who had sought reinstatement.

Walter C. Faye, charged with forging and uttering a certain bond for $1,000 of the school district of Cook county, Illinois, has been convicted in Omaha.

Frank H. Stave, who is agent for the American Express company at Hammond, Ind., attempted to commit suicide at that place by shooting himself. Despondency is believed to have been the cause of the attempt at self-destruction.

The police have arrested Harris Fisher, son of one of the most prominent citizens of Austin, Texas, for incendiarism. For the last two weeks the city has had a dozen incendiary fires, and Fisher was finally caught in the act of firing a building.

Twelve shots were fired at Thomas McHugh, president of the molder's union, at Kalamazoo, Mich, by unknown parties. The trouble arose, it is alleged, over union and non-union molders' differences. McHugh's escape and the names of the probable assailants are much discussed.

Charles Becker and James Creegan, the men who were arrested in New Jersey on indictments charging them with being implicated with A. V. Dean in defrauding the Nevada and Crocker-Woolworth banks out of $20,000 by means of a bogus check, arrived in San Francisco in charge of detectives.

Afton (Iowa) is in a state of excitement over a suit for $50,000 damages, brought by W. P. Collins against Robert Bottleman, ex-county auditor, on account of a family trouble. Bottleman was auditor of the county for six years, and is decidedly popular with all classes, and his friends vehemently assert his innocence.

From Foreign Shores.

The prince of Wales dined with William Waldorf Astor at Cliveden, Eng.

It is said that the rebels in Ecuador have been completely defeated near Carichi, and that peace is now assured.

At Antwerp a staircase collapsed at the opening of the performance of Lockhart's American circus, injuring twenty persons.

Henry M. Stanley, who has been so seriously ill as to have made it necessary to send for his wife, has recovered and is able to start for London.

The prince of Wales' cutter Britannia won the race for the larger yachts in the Harwick regatta of the Royal Harwich Yacht club.

In an interview at London, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, the Canadian premier, said he has no doubt that the Conservatives will win at the coming election.

The pope has written a touching letter to the Negus Menelik of Abyssinia in favor of liberating the Italian prisoners.

Count Mutsu Munemitsu, minister of foreign affairs, has resigned, owing to ill-health. Inouye Ki, minister of education, will act as minister of foreign affairs ad interim.

During his visit at Pfaueneusel, near Potsdam, Emperor William was accosted by an escaped lunatic. The man was seized before he could do any harm, but the emperor is said to have been greatly perturbed.

According to news just received from Ecuador the revolution was practically ended by a battle which was fought at El Angel. Alfaro's troops defeated the rebel forces under the command of Gen. Rivadenera.

A Turkish detachment, consisting of 85 men, which returned to Venos, the town in the Island of Crete, which was recently besieged, in order to remove war material, was cut to pieces by the insurgents, only two of the Turks escaping.

The terms of the ering sea convention, ratified by the United States ambassador, Mr. Bayard, and the marquis of Salisbury, as minister for foreign affairs, will be published simultaneously in England and in the United States within a week.

At the Bow Street police court, London, Cuthbert Cooper, who was arrested at Sheffield, charged with embezzling funds belonging to the Prudential Insurance company of Erie, Pa., was discharged by the chief magistrate for lack of evidence.

The kaiser conducted a rehearsal of the German musicians before they left Berlin for Moscow to furnish the music during the fetes which the German ambassador gives to their Russian majesties. The kaiser altered the tune of one of the pianoforte pieces, and then expressed supreme satisfaction.

Emile Zola has been interviewed on his rejection by the academy. He declares he is not discouraged, but will stand again in October. The rebuff has merely nerved him to fresh literary efforts. He spent the day after his rejection sketching the plan for a new novel called "Paris."

Miscellaneous.

Edwin B. Fitter, ex-mayor of Philadelphia, and a member of the well known firm of cordage manufacturers bearing his name, died at his home in Philadelphia, aged seventy-one.

Thomas A. Edison's latest invention in relation to the new fluorescent light is a portable sunlight, which may be carried around from place to place like a candle.

The strike at the Northern Colorado mines, ordered a week ago by the Western Federation of Miners, has ended. The men returned to work without having gained a settlement of their grievances.

The Garfield statue, the gift of the Fairmount Park association, was unveiled at Philadelphia with imposing ceremonies. The unveiling was done by Henry Garfield, a son of the late president.

The general synod of the Reformed Presbyterian church (Covenanters) in session at Cincinati, adopted the change in the theological course three years of eight months each, and issued an appeal to members to send their children to Christian colleges.

Ex-Gov. D. R. Francis has been appointed receiver of the United Elevator company at St. Louis, on application of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway company, which owns 1,900 shares of stock, $97,000 in first-mortgage bonds, and $35,000 in second-mortgage bonds, with R. P. Teney, who is also a stockholder and bondholder.

The Presbyterian general assembly adjourned after exceeding any record for dispatch of business. Two important matters were finished—the appointment of the committee to confer with the officers of the board of home missions of New York and the adoption of a paper in relation to the licensure of students from Union college, by a vote of 222 to 88, was the other.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather, the centennial demonstrations at Nashville, Tenn., were very successful. The military exercises closed with a sham battle. The Colonial Dames, Daughters of the American Revolution and the Ladies' Hermitage association held a reception in the woman's building, and the official exercises of the two days' celebration were over.

MURDER OR SUICIDE

PECULIAR TRAGEDY NEAR RUSH CITY, MINN.

A Farmer Found Dead With a Noosed Rope Near the Body—He Probably Took Poison and Intended to Hang Himself—Member of the Family Under Surveillance, as There Had Beeen a Quarrel.

Rush City, Minn., June 9. — John Buhule, a well-to-do German farmer living three miles southwest of town, was found dead in the woods near his home to-day, with a rope near by with a noose at the end. Kuhule and his wife had quarreled for years. Early this morning, it is claimed, he made an attempt to shoot his wife with a revolver, but a son wrested that weapon from him. The encounter ended in Kuhule going into the woods, where his body was found. Dr. J. E. Gemmel, coroner, assisted by Dr. A. J. Stowe, made a post mortem examination of the body, and found no evidence of violence. The stomach will be sent to the state chemist for the unraveling of the mystery. A coroner's jury has been impanelled and will inquire into the case to-morrow. Meanwhile a son and nephew of the deceased and C. Noller are held as witnesses and the family kept under surveillance. A letter was found on the person of Kuhule which made some startling disclosures about family matters, indicated where he wanted to be buried, and states that he had money in the bank here. Property was the cause of numerous quarrels between him and his wife, and but a few months ago he was arrested at the instance of his wife, while some years ago she had him arrested charged with insanity. He seems to have been very jealous of her. The supposition is that he took poison, and before he could perform the rest of his plot the former took effect.

LAND PLANS FOR MINNESOTA.

Surveyors Will Work on Red Lake and Other Reservations.

St. Paul, June 9.—Judge S. W. Lamoreux, commissioner of the general land office, arrived in the city yesterday morning and departed over the Northern Pacific for Western points in the afternoon. Judge Lamoreux is accompanied on the journey, which will be an extended one, by Mrs. Lamoreux, his two children, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Webb of New York, T. T. Britton and family of Washington and F. B. Lamoreux of Stevens Point, Wis. Commissioner Lamoreux said: "We go direct to the Yellowstone, first stopping at Livingston. Then we shall visit Montana, Washington, Idaho, Oregon and California. The primary object is to see all of the surveyors general in the Western territory, where we have much unfinished work. It is my intention to close the work of the land office as nearly as possible before the expiration of my term of office. We have now $40,000 for the work in Minnesota. I hope, however, before congress adjourns to have this amount increased to $50,000. You understand that there remains nothing for the surveyors outside the Red Lake reservation. By this I mean, also, all of the smaller tracts or reservations, included in the Nelson act, which come under the general head of 'Red Lake surveys.' There are now no applications coming in from actual settlers to have surveys made. The appropriation made for Minnesota applies to the office work and examiners. It is my intention to have the work upon the Red Lake reservation begin about July 1 and be pushed forward as rapidly as possible."

HEAVY RAINS.

The Northwestern States Are Well Watered.

St. Paul, June 9. — An unusually heavy rain storm prevailed in the Northwest Saturday night and Sunday morning. A number of railroad bridges at various points were washed away. In St. Paul and Minneapolis there was a deluge, but no serious damage was done. At Luverne, Minn., Rock river reached a point nearly as high as the flood of 1881, and many people living on the bottoms were rescued in boats. John Kittelson was drowned while attempting to ford the river. In Rock county the loss will reach $20,000.

At Virgil, S. D., one or two buildings and several barns were destroyed. Several hundred acres of grain was destroyed and many cattle were killed by lightning. A number of railroad and wagon bridges and considerable railroad track was washed away.

A railroad bridge was washed away and the main sewer wrecked at Maiden Rock, Wis.

Milwaukee, June 9. — Reports received here from the northwestern part of the state show that serious washouts have occurred on account of a severe storm. All trains are from six to ten hours late, and some of them are stalled between washouts. Along the Wisconsin Central between Stevens Point and St. Paul heavy floods are reported.

Very Bad Tramps.

Elyria, Ohio, June 9. — Last night tramps set fire to the barns of Henry Chappell, a farmer living near here. Chappell's son-in-law, William Hobill, discovered the fire, and when he went to the barn he was shot and dangerously wounded by one of the tramps. Mr. Chappell went into the barn to release some cattle and was overcome by smoke and burned to death. The tramps escaped.

Is This Man Hermann?

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 9.—A man giving his name as Rev. J. Orris Brown is held at Cleveland, Tenn., to await description and photograph of Hermann, the alleged murderer, which has been forwarded by the Salt Lake authorities. Nothing is known definitely, but he is believed to be Hermann.

Congressman Towne was given a reception at Duluth, and said he stands by his record on the financial question.

A SHORT SESSION.

Although it Was the "Long Session" of Congress.

Washington, June 9. — If, as now seems possible, the first session of the Fifty-fourth congress adjourns this week, it will be the shortest so-called "long session" since that of the Thirty-fifth congress, and one of the shortest in the history of the government. This record is probably partly due to the political difference between the senate, house and president, which has forestalled agreements on lines of legislation, and partly to the determination with which the Republican leaders in the house have carried into effect Speaker Reed's caucus prediction that the congress would be a do-nothing assemblage. Legislation means appropriations, the house leaders have said, and as their opinion was that the treasury's condition warranted no appropriations except the most imperatively necessary, they have held the doors tightly shut against classes of bills which usually receive the parings. Foremost among the inevitable and regular acts of congress are the annual appropriation bills for the support of the government. Their preparation has constituted a large part of the work of the session and five of them are yet hanging between the house and senate with some of their details unsettled for this reason. It is impossible to give the exact totals of the bills or the grand total of appropriations made by this congress, which aggregate about half a billion dollars, but the disbursements authorized during the session will be discussed hereafter by Chairman Cannon, of the appropriations committee, and ex-Chairman Sayres, from the points of view of their respective parties.

Tariff or financial legislation of any general character was abandoned for all practical purposes when the disagreements between the house and senate were demonstrated by the fate of the two bills prepared by the house ways and means committee. Other lines of business were also tabooed by the house because of the alleged lack of revenue; notably public buildings, public and private claims, and all sorts of private bills entailing expenditures except pension bills, to which last the usual amount of time has been given. One of the most bitterly contested fights which has occurred has cropped out from the provisions of the Indian and District of Columbia bills for government aid to church schools, a feature which still holds both bills in conference.

BOYCOTTING AMERICANS.

Spanish Merchants Will Not Buy Goods in the United States.

(Copyright, by Associated Press.)

Havana, June 9.—The Spanish newspapers teem with articles on the loyalty of Spaniards in the republic of Mexico, Uruguay and the Argentine. But that is too well known to require extended notice. Spaniards of Argentine and of Uruguay have enrolled as volunteers in Cuba and to-day over 3,000 of them are serving in this island to maintain Spanish rule and Spanish supremacy. Spaniards in the United States and all Spanish America have initiated the novel fund, the subscriptions extending over three years. The latest evidence of loyalty of the Spaniards in Spanish America has taken a new form. What is deemed to be a strong anti-Spanish feeling in the American senate and in the United States generally, has been developed by the press in the mother country as well as in Spanish America. It has led to calling together of Spanish merchants in the republics of Mexico, Uruguay and the Argentine. They have protested against what they regard as the unfriendly utterances of the American people, and have unanimously decided to cease further purchases in the United States. The movement was initiated in South America quite recently. The Spanish merchants of Mexico City and Vera Cruz have decided on similar action.

THE MARKETS.

Latest Quotations From Grain and Live Stock Centers.

Chicago, June 9. — Wheat — June, 61 5-8c; July, 61 7-8c; September, 62 3-4a62 7-8c. Corn — June, 28 1-8c; July, 28 3-4c; September, 29 7-8c. Oats —June, 18c; July, 18 1-4c; September, 18 5-8c.

Minneapolis, June 9.—Wheat —June closed at 59c; July opened at 57 1-2c and closed at 58 3-4c; September opened at 58 1-8c and closed at 58 1-2a58 3-4c. On track—No. 1 hard, 60c; No. 1 Northern, 59c; No. 2 Northern, 58 1-4c.

Milwaukee, June 9. — Flour firm. Wheat unsettled; No. 2 spring, 63 1-2c; No. 1 Northern, 64c; September, 62 5-8c. Corn firm; No. 3, 27c. Oats 1-4c higher; No. 2 white, 19 1-2c; No. 3 white, 18a19 3-4c. Barley is steady; No. 2, 31 1-2c; sample, 26a30 3-4c. Rye higher; No. 1, 34 1-2c. Provisions firm.

Chicago, June 9.—Hogs—Market 5c higher; light, $3.25a3.55; mixed, $3.15a3.45; heavy, $2.95a3.37 1-2; rough, $2.95a3.10. Cattle—Market dull and unchanged.

South St. Paul, June 9.—Hogs active and 5c higher; quality good; sales at $2.85a3.05. Cattle—Fat cattle scarce and strong; thin grass cows slow and lower; good demand for stockers, but lower for light weights.

Powder Trust Formed.

New York, June 9. — What looks like a powder trust is now in operation, backed by many millions of dollars and virtually controlled by three big manufacturing concerns which will create the price of that commodity. The companies involved are the Rand Powder company, the Hazard Powder company and the Dupont-De Nemours company, all of this city. As a result of the combination, the price of powder has advanced.

Republican Convention.

St. Louis, June 9.—Up to date there are fully five times as many out-of-town newspaper correspondents in St. Louis who have come to the national convention than politicians. Less than half a dozen politicians of national repute have put in an appearance. It is not expected there will be much real activity in a political way until the arrival of M. A. Hanna, Maj. McKinley's manager, with his forces. He is expected to-morrow, and also is Hon. Thomas C. Platt, who is coming to look after Morton's interests.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Two boys were drowned in the Cloquet river.

Neil Keisler's house at Hutchinson was partly destroyed by fire.

Callahan's saloon at Glenwood was broken into and considerable taken.

Burglars blew open the safe in T. G. Meader's store in Hespon. About $75 was secured.

At an election held at Bermidji to vote on the question of organizing, the move was defeated by nine votes.

F. R. Bryant, a Minneapolis traveling man, was almost killed in an encounter with footpads at Duluth.

The veterans of the First Minnesota regiment held a reunion at Winona recently.

The Norwegian Lutheran Sangerforbund held its fifth annual sangerfest at Mankato.

A long distance telephone has been put in at Mantorville and other improvements are in progress.

The Populist congressional convention at Dodge Center was addressed by Mrs. Lease.

A congressional convention of the People's party will be held at Fergus Falls July 15.

The Park Region district encampment of the Grand Army held at Long Prairie was a complete success.

The Northern Pacific contemplates giving up the lease of the St. Paul terminals.

Robert H. McCleary of St. Paul beat the ten-mile Minnesota record at a bicycle road race near Duluth.

Ex-United States Senator O. P. Stearns died at San Diego, Cal., where he had gone in search of health.

The new city directory shows that St. Paul has grown rapidly during the year.

The Carlton County Racing association organized with Capt. J. M. Paine as president, Ed A. Page secretary, Asa Paine treasurer.

James Milliman of Stanford, Isanti county, lost his barn, granary and sheds by fire. A little boy playing with fire was the cause. No insurance.

A. Poncen's team ran away at Anoka, throwing him out. He sustained concussion of the brain and may not recover.

The board of education of Bird Island have engaged as teachers for next year Prof. E. Butler as principal and Misses Cushman, Kingsbury, McKabe and Donahue.

The twelve-year-old son of Peter Nelson of Cobden received a load of shot in his right arm while he and a neighbor's boy were experimenting with a shotgun.

Prof. L. H. Galbreath, who for four years has been instructor in methods at the Winona normal, has accepted a like position at the normal at Normal, Ill., near Bloomington.

In the United States court at Winona John Fisher of Winona pleaded guilty to detaining a letter while in course of transmission through the United States mails. He was fined $250, which he immediately paid and was discharged.

There is quite a boom in the building line at Bird Island this season, a number of business buildings and realdences being under way. The new business buildings now are of the better class, being built of solid brick.

W. H. James, brakeman on the Minneapolis & St. Louis road, was killed between Mankato and Red Wing. He was with his father-in-law in a lumber wagon when the team ran away, throwing him out and killing him instantly.

Work has been begun on the branch railroad from Waterville to the Lake Tetonka Park hotel. The contractor, Mr. Grant of Faribault has a large force of men at work and the road will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

The sheriff arrested four men at Glenwood, charged with burglary. On May 24 Sellseth's store was broken into and $60 worth of shoes and tobacco taken. The sheriff and three deputies searched the house where the young men lived and found the goods.

Mrs. Tina Bryant, wife of Elijah Bryant of Little Falls, employe of the Pine Tree Lumber company, has left for parts unknown, taking with her the youngest child. It is supposed that she is in Minneapolis. No cause is known for her sudden flight.

The Crop Bulletin.

Minneapolis, June 6.—Too much rain has again fallen in the northernmost counties of the Red River Valley, still further retarding seeding. Considerable complaint is also heard of that previously sown being drowned out in many places, by the overflowing of streams. The week, however, was more favorable than the preceding one, and some advancement has been made with seeding, which is most marked in Polk, Norman and Clay counties. Heavy rains have fallen in the southeast corner of the state, but they were rapidly absorbed by the soil and did no harm.

Wheat is stooling nicely, but is making no upward growth, except on the high and drier lands. On the low lands all vegetation has been almost at a stand-still during the week, except grasses, which are now almost as tall as when cut a year ago. The grain is turning yellow in places, and warmer, sunny weather is now needed for its best advancement. Corn is nearly all planted but is germinating slowly, and but little is up sufficiently to receive its first cultivation. The growth of garden truck is also slow, and potatoes, like corn, is suffering from lack of warmth and sunshine. The condition of fruit, except plums, has improved during the week. Plums have dropped badly, and considerable complaint is made of blight. Cut worms, chinch bugs and potato bugs and gophers are reported as doing damage in a number of places, but no more so than usual at this time of year. Clover is in bloom and strawberries are ripening in the southern part of the states. The weeds are getting a good start on the corn and wheat fields, and more complaint is made regarding them than from any other one damaging feature.

FREE SILVER EDITORS.

The Reform Press Association of Minnesota Organized.

Minneapolis, June 4. — The Reform Press Association of Minnesota was born to-day. The dozen or more editors representing the free coinage papers of the state, after some discussion chose this name and formed a temporary organization. William R. Dobbyn, of the Progressive Age, was chosen temporary chairman, and F. N. Stacy, of the Penny Press, temporary secretary. The executive committee was made up of these two gentlemen and Frank Warmeer, of the Buffalo Lake News, Renville county. The executive committee was instructed to prepare a constitution and by-laws to be submitted at a meeting to be held three weeks hence, when the temporary organization will be made permanent and active steps will be taken to enlist the free coinage editors under the banner of the new organization. Another committee, consisting of W. W. Williams, W. R. Dobbyn and Frank Warner, was appointed to canvass the demands of the free coinage press and see just how many editors there are who will take a stand for free silver. It was stated at the meeting yesterday that there were 150 free coinage papers in the state, and the committee will ascertain the truth of this statement.

JUDGE STEARNS DEAD.

His Demise in California Resulting From a Stroke of Paralysis.

Duluth, June 4.—A telegram was received here from San Diego, Cal., announcing the death there of Judge O. P. Stearns of this city. Judge Stearns was taken with a stroke of Paralysis while holding court in the fall of 1891 and has never been a well man since. He went to California last winter in the hope of benefiting his health. He was sixty-five years of age, and one of the oldest residents of Duluth. He served on the district court bench for eighteen years. In 1871 he was elected United States senator from Minnesota to fill the unexpired term of Senator Norton.

Duluth Goes to War.

St. Paul, June 4.—Revocation of the Duluth Gas and Water company's franchise is demanded in an information in quo warranto proceedings filed with Attorney General Childs yesterday by City Attorney Bentham of Duluth. This demand is based upon the well-known condition of the water supply and water works system of Duluth, the same being supposed to be the cause of the epidemic of typhoid fever which reigned there last winter. It is claimed in the information that three epidemics of typhoid fever in Duluth since 1888 are traceable to the polluted water supplied by the company.

Sue for Augsburg.

St. Paul, June 5.—What is known as the "majority" of the United Norwegian Lutheran church of the Augsburg conference met at the First Swedish Lutheran church, at St. Paul, this morning in its seventh annual session. Very early there were ominous signs of the fight over the Augsburg seminary, despite the fact that as yet little business other than of a preliminary nature has been performed. The question which most agitates this body is whether it should sue to secure the Augsburg seminary property in Minneapolis, and now held by the "minority."

Gilbert Is Re-Elected.

St. Paul, June 5.—The board of education to-day, by a vote of 4 to 2, re-elected Prof. C. B. Gilbert to the position of superintendent of schools for a term of two years. This result was, however, not attained without an effort of the opponents of Mr. Gilbert to have action in the election deferred until the courts should have determined the case for libel brought by Mr. Gilbert.

Judge Lochren's First.

Winona, Minn., June 4. — United States court was opened here this morning by Judge Lochren. The report of the master in chancery regarding the sale of the Winona General Electric and city railway plants was confirmed. A motion was argued to remand the case of Barney Thompson vs. the Kansas City road to the state court. The grand jury will be busy all the week.

Bishop Whipple Doing Well.

Faribault, Minn., June 4.—The report published in a St. Paul paper that Bishop Whipple was seriously ill is false. The many friends of the bishop and he, himself, are very indignant over the publication. The bishop was somewhat ill when he returned from Florida, but since his return he has been steadily gaining health. He is not even confined to his bed. His physician says he is doing nicely.

Speak Not Nor Hear.

Faribault, Minn., June 4.—The closing exercises of the Minnesota state school for the deaf and dumb, located in this city, took place in the assembly hall. A large number of visitors were present. The exercises showed remarkable proficiency, and the compositions demonstrated that the subjects had been well considered by their authors, and were all very creditable.

State Farm's Popularity.

St. Paul, June 4.—The state experimental farm at St. Anthony Park is the Mecca for many visitors from the agricultural districts these days. Today 350 farmers from the counties of Lac qui Parle and Yellow Medicine visited the grounds and listened to a speech from Gov. Clough and other distinguished men.

Arthur Is Re-Elected.

Ottawa, June 5.—P. M. Arthur was re-elected chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers to-day by a vote of 326 to 86 for Haberstick of Wisconsin.

Killed by a Special.

Faribault, Minn., June 5. — A man, supposed to be intoxicated, was run over and killed this morning by a special train on the Minneapolis & St. Louis road near Kenneyville, a few miles west of here. The train was carrying the pupils going home from the school of the deaf.

Electrical Equipment of Long Trunk Lines.

Dr. Duncan, who has paid much attention to the subject of the application of electricity as a motive power on existing steam lines, says it is a mistake to suppose that electric traction is still in an experimental stage. Almost every question connected with the subject has been already settled, and the results have, in every case, been favorable to electricity, so far as it has been tried. The experimental intramural road gave results so far beyond the most sanguine expectations, that within a few months one of the longest elevated systems in Chicago was similarly equipped. The latest striking success in electric traction has been achieved in the operation of the special locomotives made for hauling trains through the Baltimore tunnel. The locomotive proved so powerful that no known method of testing is sufficient in its scope to determine their efficiency. Dr. Duncan believes these locomotives will pull any train that will hold itself together. The only obstacle existing today in the equipment of long trunk lines economically is the transmission of power. The fact that power generated at Niagara Falls is now being delivered in New York, 450 miles off, with a loss of only half its efficiency, is of the utmost significance, and it has probably done more than any recent event to strengthen the belief that the problem of cheap transmission of power will soon be worked out. Dr. Duncan is confident that the next few years will see trains run from Buffalo eastward to New York, and westward to Chicago, by electricity, and that the vast culm piles of Pennsylvania used as the source of power for the Pennsylvania Railway system between Pittsburg and New York.

Making Sailing Ships Go Faster.

The statement of an Italian sea captain that he had proved by experience that a ship goes faster when her sail are perforated with a number of holes than when they are quite sound, was at first looked upon as too ridiculous for consideration. Unbelievers, however, now find that the Italian has gone a long way toward proving his case. His theory is that the force of the wind can not fairly take effect on an inflated sail, because of the cushion of immovable air that fills up the hollow. To prevent this cushion collecting he bored a number of holes in the sail, which let part of the wind blow right through it and allowed the remainder to strike against the canvas and exercise its full effect. Several trials have been made, and it looks as if this is another of those paradoxical truths which appear so impossible on the surface. The experiments were made in all weathers. In a light wind a boat with ordinary sails made four knots, while with the perforated sails she covered five and a quarter knots; in a fresh breeze she did seven knots with ordinary sails, and eight and three-quarters knots with the improved sails; in a strong wind she did eight knots and ten knots respectively. If this augmented speed were sustained throughout a long voyage it would increase the value of the ship one-fifth, as she would make the same trip in four weeks that she did before in five weeks.

A Kansas Church of Sod.

The Methodists of German township, Smith county, Kansas, worship in a sod church. As its name indicates, its walls are built of sod taken from the prairie which surrounds it. The neighbors, regardless of denominational belief, met, decided that there ought to be a church in the neighborhood, and with their own hands laid up the walls, and from their own pockets took the money to finish, furnish and light the building. The building is 20x30 feet and the walls are eight feet high. It is covered with boards and roofing paper; the interior supports are made of neatly-smoothed posts and the inside walls are plastered as neatly as any walls could be. Comfortable, home-made seats are furnished for pews, the pulpit is covered with velvet, and the platform is carpeted. It is said that when one is on the inside everything is as neat and tidy as the finest church could be. When the building was dedicated there was not a dollar of indebtedness upon the church, or on any of the furniture or fixtures.—South Center Pioneer.

Mozart, the Prodigy.

In one of the peaceful arts, we have the astonishing example of the Austrian musician and composer, Mozart. This lad was what we call a prodigy. He was the son of the bandmaster to the Archbishop of the city of Salzburg. At four years of age—and you will admit that is truly young—he played the violin with the greatest ease, with an expression really wonderful. He also composed those old-fashioned dances, so quaint and sweet, called minuets, besides other simple pieces. At seven, he made a tour of Europe, giving concerts, playing before kings and queens, and surprising the whole musical world. Then, when he was about twelve, he began to write operas, and so original and delightful were these that he may be said to have founded a school or manner of writing musical compositions of a dramatic nature. After having done the work of two lifetimes, he died at the early age of thirty-nine.—"Old Heads on Young Shoulders," by Arthur Hoeber, in St. Nicholas.

Good Advice, From a Heathen.

A little watchfulness over ourselves will save us a great deal of watchfulness over others, and will permit the kindliest of religions to drop her inconvenient and unseemly talk of enmity and strife, breastplates and cuirasses, battles and exterminations. To produce as much happiness as we can and to prevent as much misery, is the proper aim and end of true morality and true religion. Only give things their right direction; there is room, do but place and train them well.—Epictetus.

Let Your Light Shine.

"It is better to put a silver dollar on the collection plate than a $5 gold piece," said Bloomfield to Bellfield.

"How do you figure that out?"

"Makes more noise."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Plenty of Time to get Choice Farms on the Reservation Thirty Days from Now.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

THE FAMOUS

SAMARITAN

Rye Whisky

Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.

FOR SALE BY

BRINK BROS.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKAND
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7 10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information. Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE.
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10, 1896.

EDITORIAL COLUMN.

Populist editors, as a rule, says the Warren Register, care nothing for argument. They will not so belittle themselves as to appeal to a man's reason. It is his passions, and his worst ones at that, that they seek to arouse. Their papers teem with pictures of the most hideous beasts, many of them mere creatures of diseased imaginations. The dragon, the devil fish, the sea serpent and the like, find honored places in their publications, usually at "top of column and next to pure reading matter." The horrors of the inquisition and of slavery they delight to unfold for purposes of their own. Out upon such journalism! It is a disgrace to the civilization of this enlightened and progressive age.

What a wonderful erudite fellow the Warren Register man must be. He would like us to believe that he is capable of reasoning, and we stand ready to admit that he and our poll parrot are both reasoning animals, poll may be the better thinker; but we don't claim anything on that account; poll is not a populist,—it takes more brains than the ordinary parrot or republican newspaper man has, to rise above the sophistic and prophetic logic of the banker and the trust managers and reach that broad democratic plain where parrots and honest men have stood for ages, and look down upon the poor republican "cookoo" who is floundering about in the "slough of despond" waiting for the crumbs from the rich bankers table.

Of course the "papers teem with hideous beasts, etc."

But your masters have sired and raised this crop of uncouth, unclean CARNIVORA to destroy and devour such of the populists as they cannot drive back to the republican fold with hind-sight arguments.

We don't wonder that the silly fellow who wrote the article is a STAUNCH REPUBLICAN, he don't know any better, he is in the footsteps of his sire who didn't know any better. "He tho't the visual line which girt him round, the world's extreme, no larger than his father's shield; he lived where his father lived, died where he died, and was forgotten." And so 'twill be with this vapid Knight of the quill who has never had an original tho't to tickle his brain or hasten an impulse of good or evil, HE's the disgrace to civilization, not the honest thinking populist who sees the foul beasts, created and wormed into life by the masters of this HUMAN GERM, devour human life that cannot be controlled.

We are hot on the trail of such political rot; humanity, not dollars, must be the battle-cry, until every sufferer in the world is relieved.

JUMPS AT CONCLUSIONS.

The Crookston Times, a Populist sheet, publishes a full page of plate matter dealing entirely with free silver by "Coin." Now is there a Populist paper in the district that is foolish enough to think that The Times paid for that plate matter? We guess not, and still these fault finders and gossipers consider it simply awful if the Republicans accept free plate matter on the sound money side. The St. Hilaire Spectator is a howler on this subject.—Ada Index.

The Index jumps at conclusions. In the first place it does not follow that because The Times advocates free silver that it is a Populist paper. In the next place it does not follow that because the gold bug bankers committee furnish plate matter free to its subsidized news papers that the advocates of free silver can afford to do the same thing to the papers that believe in that doctrine.

As a matter of fact The Times paid full rates for the coin speech and the Index can verify this fact by writing to the American Press association from whom it was purchased. And, now while we are on the subject we will say that there is much food for thought in the statement made by the St. Hilaire Spectator. It is a well known fact that the so-called "Sound Money League," an organization of gold bug speculators, is spending thousands of dollars every week to prepare and furnish plate matter advocating the gold standard, free to news papers that will publish it, and in many instances are so much per line to have the stuff published. The fact that they are spending so much money to depreciate the staple products, is good evidence at least of the immense fortunes this small clique of financiers are making at the expense of the actual producers of the country's wealth.—Crookston Times.

THE OLD STORY.

The debts of the entire world are about three hundred billion dollars. The entire amount of gold in the world is about three billions. Can any one tell how these debts can ever be paid?—Maine Populist.

They will not be paid. It is not intended they should be. The Money-power will take the property and the story of ancient Rome be told over again. The plebians will go down to slavery while the patricians will grab everything. Julius Cæsar led the revolt of the oppressed; and his life-battle was with the aristocracy headed by the corrupt and thieveing Senate. History repeats itself.—I. D. in Representative.

THE SNOW BALL.

It is calculated that the wealth of the Rothschild family foots up to an even billion dollars.—Exchange.

And yet it is only one hundred years since the head of the House began to roll the ball which has grown into this avalanche. What will another hundred years produce? Think of that!

Victor Hugo said Napoleon grew so great that God had to interfere at Waterloo to crush him. Will He not interfere again to stop this open-mouthed Plutocracy from swallowing the world? Is not the whole human family in deadly peril?—I. D. in Representative.

These are two editorials from two old party papers; on the same day:

The reason farm products are so low is because there is an overproduction—there are to many people engaged in farming.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The reason times are so hard in the cities is because so many people crowd in from the rural districts. More people should till the soil.—Chicago Tribune.

There you have the sum and substance of the gold standard argument explaining the cause of the present hard times. There is something delightfully simple about this kind of logic. Anybody can comprehend it without the least intellectual strain. It may be used any number of times without being warmed over and is always effective.—Reform Advocate.

Who Made The Tramps?

Tramps and paupers were unknown to this country until the millionaire made his appearance. With coming of the millionaire has come the increase of crime, of tramps, of paupers, of idleness and anarchy. For many years this country moved steadily forward, and the people were prosperous in the largest sense of prosperity, without the presence of one man with a million.

With the coming of the millionaire have come all the ills that are known to the body politic. As the millionaire increases his wealth, the people and the Government have become poorer, until to-day we are told that but for the generous action and liberality of a few domestic and foreign millionaires our Government would be at without credit in foreign countries. When the Government kneels at the feet of the millionaire it is no wonder that one part of the people uncover their heads and shout their praises while another and feebler part of the people are ridden over and trampled under foot.—Holly Springs (Miss.) Reporter.

THE DESTROYING ANGEL.

Oh, the whuffyduff was the prettiest bird
That a toyshop ever knew,
With a great, long tail and with goose quill wings
And a glass eye good and true!
But his wings are gone, and his tail's pulled out,
And his head is twisted awry,
For the googoo has torn him limb from limb
And has swallowed the whuffyduff's eye.

The oogletydum had a wabbling head,
And a nice, round curving horn,
And a tail that would almost wag itself,
And a nose turned up in scorn.
But the oogletydum isn't scornful now—
He is meek and as sad as can be,
For the googoo has torn his horn short off
And has broken his tail in three.

The whankwhankwhank used to squeak her joy—
That is, when properly pressed—
With a voice that was hidden away somewhere
In the depths of her hollow breast.
But I wish you could see the hapless corpse
That is lying here on the bed.
Oh, the whankwhankwhank has a ghastly look
Since the googoo tore off her head!

And yet, in spite of her deadly work,
The googoo is dear to me.
Though she kill and maim, I shall love her still,
And her comrade in crime I'll be,
For when I turned and looked just now
Where she lay in her trundle bed
She reached me the wreck of the oogletydum,
And "Papa!" is what she said.

—Carl Smith in Ladies' Home Journal.

Pronunciation.

"You know there are some people of high intelligence who seem never to learn how to spell," said Mr. Glimmerton, "and then there are some that are just as far off in pronunciation. I think I might enter this last class myself and not be last in it, but I never could hope to get ahead of the man that I heard the other day pronouncing Ceres, Sears."—New York Sun.

The Chameleon.

Fuddy—So you think Fossler an exceedingly bashful man?

Duddy—Eminently so. Why, the other day he took a bicycle lesson in the presence of some young ladies, and he absolutely changed color.

Fuddy—Indeed!

Duddy—Yes. He was green when he began, but before he had finished he was all black and blue.—Boston Transcript.

Quick is the succession of human events; the cares of today are seldom the cares of tomorrow, and when we lie down at night we may safely say to most of our troubles: "Ye have done your worst. We shall meet no more."—Cowper.

It is announced by New York correspondents, that the Cleveland-Carlisle contingents of Democracy will support McKinley on a gold basis. And why not? What is the difference between the two old machines—on a gold basis?—Penny Press

The shrike, or butcher bird, hangs out a bait for his prey. After killing a large insect or small bird he impales its remains on a thorn or twig and waits for other insects or birds to be attracted.

There is no thought in any mind, but it quickly tends to convert itself into a power and organizes huge instrumentality of means.—Emerson.

Tea rollers, who with their fingers roll the tea leaves into pellets, earn from 7 to 10 cents a day.

Florida has been called the Peninsular State on account of its geographical peculiarity.

FLAX SEED.

First-class flax seed for sale, absolutely clean, price reasonable at

28-tf E. J. HOLMES.

RICH DISCOVERIES OF GOLD.

At Cripple Creek, Colo., and elsewhere, are being made daily, and the production for 1896 will be the largest ever known, estimated at Two Hundred Million Dollars. Cripple Creek alone is producing over One Million Dollars a month, and steadily increasing. Mining Stocks are advancing in price more rapidly than any other Stocks, and many pay dividends of 35 to 50 per cent. They offer the best opportunity to make a large profit on a small investment.

JOHN I. TALLMAN & Co., 14 Pacific Ave, Chicago, Ill. are financial agents for the Prudential Gold Mining Co., and others in the famous Cripple Creek district. They will send you free, interesting particulars of the Mining Companies they represent also their book on speculation in Stocks, Grain and Cotton, containing many new and important features.

Send for these books at once if you are interested in any form of speculation or investments. They may prove profitable to you. 37-5

Notice for Proposals for Construction of Graded Road.

Sealed proposals will be received by the county auditor, at the court house, in the City of Crookston, until 10 o'clock a. m., June 15, 1896, for the construction of a graded road commencing at the quarter stake between sections 19 and 24, tp. 147, range 47, thence running due west on quarter line seven miles to the quarter stake between sections 23 and 24, tp. 147, range 48; said road to be built with a ditch on each side, said ditches to be eight feet wide at top, twenty inches deep on the outside and running to nothing on the inside, the earth taken therefrom to be placed upon the grade, as directed by the committee in charge.

The county commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids.

JOHN GLEASON,
43-44 Auditor Polk County.

Liquor License Application.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned O. W. Brink hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the first day of July 1896.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on lot thirteen (13) of block thirty-nine (39) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire, Polk county, Minnesota, said building having three outside entrances, one in front and two in rear.

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinance of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire, this 9th day of June 1896.

O. W. BRINK.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota, will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 27th day of June 1896 at eight o'clock p. m., at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

[SEAL] J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

Liquor License Application.

To the common coucil of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned, J. A. Dainard, hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1896.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on lot eleven (11) of block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire, Polk county, Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one in rear.

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire, this 9th day of June 1896.

J. A. DAINARD.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 27th day of June 1896 at eight o'clock p. m., at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

[SEAL] J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
COUNTY OF POLK. }

District Court, Fourteenth Judicial Dist.

Evelin Newby, plaintiff, vs. Edwin Newby, defendant.

The State of Minnesota, to the above named defendant:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the complaint of the plaintiff in this action, which complaint is on file in the office of the Clerk of the District Court in and for said county, and to serve a copy of your answer on the undersigned at the office of H. J. Montague, in the City of Crookston in said county, within thirty days after the service of this summons on you, exclusive of the day of the service thereof, and in case you fail to answer within the time required by law, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Dated May first, 1896.

H. J. MONTAGUE, Plaintiff's Atty.
40-45 Crookston, Minn.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 16	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.0
SESE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 25	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.0
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 " 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.0
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.0
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 1.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 28	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 31	3.00 to 4.5
13 " 30	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 27	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	5.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to
H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days
desirable.
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

Liquor License Application.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned, Engebert M. Hoff, hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1896.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on lot six (6) of block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances, one in front and one in rear.

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire, this 9th day of June 1896.

ENGEBERT M. HOFF.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 27th day of June 1896 at eight o'clock p. m., at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

[SEAL] J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

Liquor License Application.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned, J. H. Paradis, hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1896.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on lot ten (10) of block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances, one in front and one in rear.

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire, this 9th day of June 1896.

J. H. PARADIS.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 27th day of June 1896 at eight o'clock p. m., at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

[SEAL] J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., May 28, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on July 8th 1896 viz:

HANS J. BJORGE.

H. E. No. 13150, for the lot 2, sec. 14, tp. 152 N range 42 west.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

O. J. Johnson, Julius Holtz, B. O. Liustad and Halvor T. Asmot, all of Wyandotte post office, Minnesota.

44-49 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., May 19th 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on July 2nd 1896, viz:

John C. Shjerva Hd No. 14135, for the w½ sw¼ sec. 33, e½ se¼ sec. 32 tp 153 N. range 42 west.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:—Andrew Nelson, Peter A. Tune, Gilbert Anfinson and Ole H. Broten, all of St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

42-47 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

M. Z. EPPERSON.

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

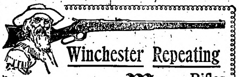
Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - - Minnesota

This is Easy Enough!

Any of my customers will be presented with a life like portrait free of charge by presenting their picture at my store.

M. A. HALL. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.



Winchester Repeating

Rifles
Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞ Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS.	BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS.	RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS.	MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

St. Hilaire the Nearest point to the Best Agricultural Lands on The Reservation.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant = Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞ Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

Harness.....

☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing, call on

C. A. SKEIE,

West Broadway. St. Hilaire, Minn.

Blacksmith!

☞ Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, Etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL. St. Hilaire, Minn.

M. E. BJERK

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,

H. KLAUSER, Prop.

Litchfield, Minn. 41-52

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL	Councilmen
M. Z. EPPERSON	Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	47c	Butter	7@8c
Oats	12c	Eggs	6c
Barley	18c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.50
Flax	73c	Potatoes "	12½

LOCAL NEWS.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

The river is receding very rapidly.

P. G. Paradis is handling Theo. Hams lager.

Wheat took a drop of three cents yesterday.

Grover Cleveland is now known as the "fat fisherman."

Kittson county term of court will convene the 15th inst.

Mike Willmas is drilling a well at the farm of Wash Adams.

W. A. Sorsoleil is busy now days building row and sail boats.

A car load of lumber arrived Monday for Dan Patterson's new residence.

Peter Hall is building another row boat, this makes three for this spring.

Fosston has organized a free silver club, and starts out with a good membership.

J. H. Penno has been using some red, white and blue paint around his barber shop lately.

L. T. Berg arrived home Monday from an extended North Dakota collecting tour.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet at Mrs. Kolstad's tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock sharp.

Andrew Soderberg, a farmer living a few miles east of town lost a valuable horse last Monday.

The Hall brothers are enjoying a visit from their sister of Fergus Falls who arrived the first of the week.

W. M. Brown, representing the Red Lake Falls Milling Company is doing business in the village to-day.

Mrs. Ed. Jeffers died at her home near Red Lake Falls early Sunday morning. The funeral occured Tuesday.

St. Hilaire has a marshal—not because the village is tougher than any other place—but merely to be in line.

The democratic county convention was held at Crookston yesterday. Twelve delegates were elected to the state convention.

P. S. Ware of the Thief River Falls News left last week for Gloversville, N. Y., where he will spend the summer visiting relatives.

Charley Brink has purchased "Mox" the largest St. Bernard dog in the state from the Red River Kennels, which is located at St. Hilaire.

The relief fund for the East St. Louis sufferers now exceeds $200,000, and the majority of the distressed are temporarily provided for.

St. Louis people are complaining for the want of rain. We could have easily spared a shower a day for the last forty days to good advantage.

The Christian Endeavor Society will meet at Mrs. Gistie's Thursday afternoon. Crochet, sewing, and embroider work is on the program.

Prof. J. B. O'Brien leaves to-day for Red Lake Falls where he will visit a few weeks. The Professor has been engaged for another term.

All those interested in getting up a Fourth of July celebration are requested to meet at the village hall Saturday evening at 8 o'clock sharp.

Fredie Dahl started in learning the printing trade Monday. Fredie is a very promising young boy and he holds the title of "slug 2" in this office.

Mr. Morrisey, the crack shot of the Crookston Gun Club, was talking bluerocks and glass balls here last Friday. Mr. Lally seconded the motions.

Get your milk tickets printed at this office. We have the right size (tough check) that will last a life time. Do away with the end of match-box tickets.

Pay your dog taxes, if you don't, H. E. Adams is liable to introduce himself. There will be 50 cents extra if you have to walk up to the Captain's office.

The old gun club got out Monday evening and shot a score. They liked it so well they will re-organize and shoot once a week until the chickens are ripe.

Now is the time to see Mike Willmas and have him drill you one of them fine flowing wells, same as the one on W. A. Sorsoleil's farm, which flows a barrel a minute.

F. B. Leach, A. F. Bell and Jacob Brown, three solid business men of Thompson, N. D., passed through here Monday on their way to Red Lake for an outing.

The distance from the Red Lake Agency to Thief River Falls is 130 miles, and the steamer "Alice M" made the trip in less than eleven hours, so the News says.

Thief River Falls is supporting a cigar factory of their own. Mr. Weiner is a hustler and believes in advertising. Taking these two into consideration the man is bound to succeed.

Miss Mary Kyle, who has been teaching the primary department of the St. Hilaire schools the past two years left Monday for Crookston, where she will spend her summer vacation.

A petition is being circulated for the removal of the county bridge to the town line north of here. Another one will be started out on the same mission for moving the bridge farther south.

Billy Stranahan is the artist who made the hardware bicycle in the show windows of Rapp & Post's store. It contains 101 different articles. It will be remodled and patent applied for.

C. T. Lanman, the forcible editor of the McIntosh Times was in the village to-day between trains. Mr. Lanman is on a trip feeling the sentiment of the people in regard to county division—a good idea too.

Our genial hardware merchant Fred Eickhoff does not confine himself solely to dealing in hardware but does wagon work and is also a first-class cabinet maker. In fact Fred is a real handy man and it would not surprise us if he had several other trades.

Jim Hill's railroad track was used as a wagon road last Sunday by some immigrants bound for Thief River Falls. Whenever a culvert was reached they unhitched their team and drove them around, the wagon was pushed over by hand. The woman was heard to remark "My goodness I wished this moving was done."

The Torbett Concert Company and the Swedish Lutteman Sextette have been secured for the evening of Tuesday June 23rd at Brink's Hall. This company comes very highly recomended and is by far the best attraction ever seen at St. Hilaire. Further announcements next week.

What's the matter with agitating a telephone line from Thief River Falls via St. Hilaire to the county seat? Less prosperous places have them, why not here. If we were blessed with a daily train, things would be different, but as it is now it takes almost a week to make a round trip to Crookston on Jim Hill's route.

Every populist in the village should turn out and attend the primary election which will be held in the village hall tomorrow (Thursday) afternoon June 11th. The village is entitled to two delegates to the county convention which will be held at Crookston June 18th. The polls of said primary election will be opened at 2 o'clock p. m., and remain open for two hours only.

J. L. Locke, general western manager of the Baltimore Packing Company, accompanied by Hon. C. M. Foote, Col. Platt B. Walker and Dell Rudd of Minneapolis, lingered in the village a few hours Monday while on their way home from Red Lake where they have been for some time looking up a location to build a fishery. It is reported that the two lakes are literally alive with pike, pickerel and white fish. The shipments will be made by steamer to Thief River Falls and from there by the Great Northern to the eastern markets. No doubt it will be a paying industry as this firm are too old in the business to be experimenting.

Geo. Vine in Crookston Tribune.—I don't believe there's a bit of hog cholera in the country. The hogs that have died this spring have been killed by the cold and wet weather. They are small hogs that have been kept in wet, muddy places, and they are not able to stand the cold. Nothing is more tender than a young hog, and nothing is harder on them than cold, wet weather. When a hog dies with cholera its head swells up and it dies very quickly. If the cholera gets into a drove it will clean them out in a couple of days. When they die the body turns black. None of the hogs that have died around here have died in this manner. Hogs that are kept in a dry place this year are just as healthy and sound as any hog can be. The hogs that have died around here have been chilled to death. That is all there is to it, and I'm prepared to prove it.

Where is He?

The prolonged absence of Judge Benson and lack of knowledge as to his whereabouts, is causing considerable comment in the city today. Judge Benson left the city more than a week ago ostensibly to go to Grand Forks, since which time business in the probate office has been suspended and nothing definite is known as to his whereabouts. Some ugly rumors are afloat regarding some of his transactions previous to leaving the city. During his absence it has been impossible to transact any business in the probate office, and there is an almost unanimous complaint at the manner in which the business of that office is conducted.—Crookston Times.

The Republican Press.

From our Crookston Correspondent.

As an example of the audacity of the large dailies in their attempts to fool the people I am compelled to remark a short editorial note in the Minneapolis Tribune of June 3rd. This is the way it reads.

"The republicans of Oregon were able to hold their own throughout the state but the City of Portland will have to suffer from the affliction of a Populist Mayor for the next year or two. And a populist like Penoyer, too."

Such is the editorial, and one to read it on the supposition that the management of that paper was without guide and controlled solely by what the news reports contained and the welfare of the people required would be led to believe that the republican party was lying in a bed of roses in Oregon, and that the City of Portland was entitled to our sympathy; but what are the facts.

These are certain items of news that no newspaper however corrupt can conceal from the people and here is what we find in the same issue of that paper in the shape of associatiated press dispatches.

"Portland, Ore., June 3.—Returns received this morning indicate that the populists have elected both congressmen from this state, etc." and again

"Portland, Ore., June 3.—In speaking of his policy as mayor of this city, ex-Gov. and Mayor-elect Penoyer to-day said: "I shall endeavor to reduce expenses wherever I can to meet the existing conditions, and I will now say what I could not well say and what I did not say before election, that while endeavoring to faithfully discharge my duty as mayor, I shall take but one-half the salary. That salary should come down with the general decline of prices and values, and I shall see that it does come down."

Suffering Portland, afflicted with a mayor whose first official act is to decline one-half the salary which you freely tender him and which you have always had taken in the past without a murmur. Indeed you are to be pitied and we join our sympathy with that of the editor of the Minneapolis Tribune. And dear old republican party though you have lost the entire state of Oregon you are holding your own, or rather in all likelihood you own what you hold. Again we beg leave to join that august personage, the editor of Minneapolis Tribune in felicitations on the prospects of the G. O. P.

JOHNSTON.

Death of The Old Parties.

Backward, look backward,
Read over the past;
The old party robbers
Will go under at last.

Their crimes are most dreadful
Their deeds are unjust,
Their death knell is tolling—
They've bitten the dust.

The Lord in His mercy—
From His throne upon high,
Has heard of our people—
Has answered our cry.

Forward, go forward,
With God in the lead—
Cast a straight ballot,
Avenge this vile deed.

And now with free coinage
Our debts are all paid—
Prosperity's the pass-word—
Our fortune is made.

—R. B. in St. Louis Evening Journal.

Council Proceedings.

Regular meeting of the village council Wednesday June 3rd 1896.

All members present except W. A. Sorsoleil.

Meeting called to order by President Rapp.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

On motion the following bills were allowed.

D. Patterson, work as per bill	$ 8.50
S. Harris, street work	11.17
M. Z. Epperson, mdse and work	10.20
Ed. Whaley, 2 days work	2.50
H. O. Jackson, medical treatment by Dr. Watson and medicine furnished by J. L. Johnson	23.20

On motion it was resolved to raise $700.00 for current expenses for the ensuing year.

On motion the dog tax was amended and amendment ordered published for three weeks.

On motion H. E. Adams was appointed dog inspector.

On motion the recorder was instructed to purchase suitable notification blanks for the pound master and the dog inspector.

On motion H. O. Jackson was appointed village marshal for an indefinate length of time.

On motion meeting adjourned.

[SEAL] C. G. RAPP,
President.
J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

WYLIE ITEMS.

The streets are getting quite dry at present.

Nelson J. Perron spent Sunday evening here.

Miss Sophia Erickson gave us a pleasant call Friday.

Farmers haven't time to keep their hands in their pockets at present.

C. Peterson says he is getting tired of boarding. That is a good hint girls.

If your feet aren't too large, call on C. Borgan who will fit you out in the line of shoes.

Miss Mary Kyle of St. Hilaire shook hands with the Wylie folks while on her way to Crookston.

Peter Hansel's anvil can be heard early and late; there must be some business in the country after all.

A young cyclone passed through the village Thursday which took the old stage up in to the air about fifty feet tore off Eckstein's store front and killed a young steer for Mr. Glinn.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

Harmony at Harmonia.

The Torbett Concert Company, including the Swedish Lutteman Sextette, rendered a delightful program at Harmonia Hall last Sunday evening. The audience appreciated every number and encores were responded to very graciously. Every member of the company seems to be in touch with harmony and the most delicious combinations are formed. Miss Ollie Torbett, the graceful and accomplished violinist, is conceded to be the stellar attraction and her execution is a marvel of technique and pleasing variations which hold an audience entranced. Miss Frida de Tersmeden, pianist, is a new acquisition of the company and it is enough to say that she harmonizes with the aggregation of artists. The singing of the sextette was fully up to their high standard of excellence. They captivated their hearers. The personel of the Lutteman Sextette is as follows: First tenors, E. Erikson, C. Froholm; second tenor, C. Smith; first bass, E. Schill; second bass, N. Lowenmark and G. Kindlundh.—South Minneapolis Telegram.

This company will be at St. Hilaire June 23rd.

The next event of importance in a social way now scheduled is the monster Woodman picnic to be held in Grand Forks on the 19th of June. The committees are busy completeing the arrangements and assurances are coming in from every direction that the "wood choppers" and their ladies will be there several thousand strong. A railroad rate of one fare for the round trip is expected and numerous attractions are being provided for. No less than four bands will furnish the music and the principal address will be made by C. G. Laybourne, of Minneapolis, Martin O'Brien, of Crookston, will respond to the mayor's address of welcome. The picnic will conclude with two entertainments in the evening, a ball and a social entertainment for those not desiring to attend the ball. All Woodman and their friends are especially invited to come to Grand Forks on the 19th of June and enjoy a jolly good time.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

Call for People's Party County Convention June 18th.

The People's Party convention for the county of Polk, State of Minnesota, will be held at the court house, in the City of Crookston, on the 18th day of June, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the following county offices:

County Auditor,
County Treasurer,
Sheriff,
Register of Deeds,
Judge of Probate,
County Attorney,
Surveyor,
Coroner,
Court Commissioner,
Superintendent of Schools,
County Commissioner, 1st District,
County Commissioner, 3rd District,
County Commissioner, 5th District.

The basis of representatation, as determined by the county central committee, shall be one delegate at large for each voting precinct, and one delegate for evrey fifty votes, or major fraction thereof, cast for S. M. Owen for governor at the general election in 1894.

Conformable to forgoing apportionment, the voting precincts of Polk County will be entitled to delegates in the convention as follows:

Andover	2	Kertsonville	2
Angus	1	King	3
Black River	2	Knute	4
Bray	1	Lake Pleasant	2
Badger	2	Lambert	3
Brandsvold	2	Liberty	2
Belgium	1	Lessor	3
Bristo	1	Lowell	2
Bygland	2	Louisville	2
Crookston	1	McIntosh Village	2
" City 1st ward	3	Nesbit	2
" " 2nd "	2	Norden	2
" " 3rd "	2	North	2
" " 4th "	3	Northland	1
" " 5th "	1	Numedal	2
Columbia	3	Onstad	1
Chester	2	Parnell	1
Emardville	1	Poplar River	2
Euclid	1	Polk Centre	1
Eden	2	Queen	2
Esther	1	R. L. Falls Village	3
Fairfax	1	Red Lake Falls	2
Farley	1	Reis	1
Fanny	1	River Falls	2
Fisher	3	Roxbury	3
Fosston Village	2	Roome	2
Fertile "	1	Rosebud	3
Grand Forks	2	Russia	1
E. G. F. 1st ward	1	Rhinehart	1
" 2nd "	1	Sanders	2
" 3rd "	1	Sandsville	2
" 4th "	2	St. Hilaire Village	2
Garfield	2	Sletten	[illegible]
Garden	4	Sullivan	1
Gentilly	2	Tabor	2
Gervais	2	Terrebonne	2
Grove Park	2	Tilden	1
Godfrey	2	Tynsid	1
Hammond	1	Thief River Falls	3
Higdem	2	Vineland	2
Hill River	3	Winger	4
Huntsville	3	Woodside	3
Hubbard	2	Wyandotte	1
Keystone	1

The primaries for the election of delgates shall be held on the 11th day of June, 1896, and the polls shall be opened at 2 o'clock p. m., and remain open for two hours.

By order of the County Central Com.

ARNY GRUNDYSEN,
Chairman.
JOHN GLEASON,
Secretary.

Ordinance No. 12.

Notice is hereby given that ordinance No. 12 is amended as follows to-wit:

SEC. 1. The price for license is lowered from $2.00 to $1.50 for each male dog, and from $5.00 to $3.00 for each bitch or slut owned or possessed by any person or resident.

SEC. 2. The dog inspector is to receive fifty cents for each unlicensed dog that he catches after serving notice on the owner or possessor of said dog, if he or she is to be found. Said owner is to pay the village recorder, fifty cents above the cost of license before the dog or slut will be released from the dog pound. The dog inspector shall keep all dogs impounded by him forty-eight hours before killing the same.

Given under our hands this 3rd day of June 1896.

[SEAL] C. G. RAPP,
President.
J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Something

RAPP & POST —
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but every-one knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

FRED. EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

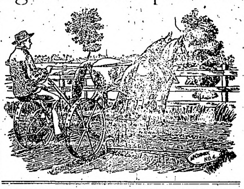
Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements



American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞ Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Wonderful, exclaimed a druggist, how the people stick to Hood's Sarsaparilla. They all want

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills. 25 cents.

A Vicarious Victim.

Mr. Hayseed (in city hotel)—Waal, I guess you'll have to blow out the gas, Mandy.

Mrs. Hayseed—Why, Josiah?

Mr. Hayseed—The porter made me promise not to do it.—Life's Calendar.

A Perfect Sheep Dip.

The improved method of extracting nicotine from tobacco enables sheep owners to escape the labor of hauling and boiling up the bulky stems when dipping is to be done. The concentrated nicotine makes a perfect sheep dip, as it is the best known stimulant for wool as well, as sure death to all insects. If you intend dipping this year you cannot do better than write at once to the Skabcura Dip Co., Station S., Chicago, for particulars.

The Right Answer.

"What are you doing here?" asked the park policeman, shaking the tramp on the bench.

"I'm lookin' for work, boss," replied the traveler, rubbing his half-opened eyes.

"Why, you were asleep."

"Yes, boss, I was; but you see I'm a clairvoyant and allus goes asleep when I work."—Yonkers Statesman.

DR. J. G. GRANT, Specialist.
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.
Syndicate Block, Minneapolis.
(Spectacles fitted.)

How to Find a Hotel.

Stranger—Can you direct me to a hotel?

Policeman—Can I direct you—gee whiz! D'ye care for a fire escape and a bath room?

Stranger—No.

Policeman—Then waltz right under the first sign that says "beer."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Punishment to Fit the Crime.

Visitor to Hades—But why do you keep that poor man over there in a double-heater?

His Satanic Majesty—That man on earth was one of those cranks who carried children in front of him on his bicycle.—Washington Times.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is taken internally. Price, 75c.

Condensed Before Delivery.

"Do you use condensed milk?" asked the neighbor of Mrs. Eastside.

"Yes," she replied. "I think the milkman must condense it. If he didn't I don't see how on earth he could get so much water into it."—Buffalo Times.

Coe's Cough Balsam

Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

The Poetry in Fire.

She (sentimentally)—What poetry there is in fire!

He (sadly)—Yes; a great deal of my pretty poetry has gone there.—Toronto Record.

When a Russian family moves from one house to another it is customary to rake all the fire from the hearth of the old domicile and carry it in a closed pot to the new residence.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Safe

She—Did you tell Fibs of our engagement?

He—Yes.

She (aggrieved)—You promised that you would say nothing about it.

He—It's perfectly safe with Fibs; no one ever believes him.—Woonsocket Patriot.

I know that my wife was saved by Piso's Cure for Consumption. John A. Miller, Au Sable, Michigan, April 21, 1895.

How He Would Punctuate.

Professor in English (to young man)—How would you punctuate the following: "The beautiful girl, for such was she, was passing down the street?"

Student—I think, professor, I would make a dash after the beautiful girl."

The amount of money held by the various London banks is not far short of £250,000,000.

OSBORN, CROSBY & CO.
We Loan Money on Wheat In Elevators

We Will loan you 90 per cent of the value, at 6 per cent interest, on wheat sent to us to be stored or upon grain in your local elevator. Osborn, Crosby & Co., Grain Commission, Flour Exchange, Minneapolis.

There is lots of pleasure, satisfaction and health corked up in a bottle of HIRES Rootbeer. Make it at home.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS

The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.

J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist,
ST. PAUL, MINN.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

Binder Twine Largest sellers in the world. Samples & prices free; write MONTGOMERY WARD & CO., 111 to 115 Michigan Av., Chicago

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. 25 CTS.

AGRICULTURE

HARVESTING CLOVER.

Be Sure to Cut Clover Early Enough.

The dry weather, in many places, has caused the clover crop to ripen rather prematurely this season, and some fields are so short that it has been deemed advisable to pasture them instead of harvesting. In harvesting the clover crop be sure that you cut early enough. If you have considerable to care for, begin cutting while it is a little too green, as it is most certain to get over-ripe before you finish. When the heads are browning nicely it is time to start the mower. With fair weather it is a very easy job to make nice clover hay. I want my mower to do its work of evenings. If the ground is dry, I start the Eureka seven-foot cut about 4 o'clock, and mow until I have as much clover hay down as my force can get in the next day. I prefer evening to morning to do my cutting, for the reason that the grass is dry and the machine runs better, and it is ready to take up sooner the next morning than if cut when the dew is on in the morning.

I don't wait until the hay is cured at all, but as soon as it is free from moisture I start the loader, taking the hay right out of the swath. I use the Keystone loader, for the reason that it is the best swath-loader that I have ever seen work, and no dust or trash is taken up with the hay. Towards evening I load all my wagons and take them to the barn, so they can be unloaded the next morning, while the dew is drying off, and then all hands are kept busy and no time lost.

I like a light mow, and want the hay put in close and snug, without salt or lime, as is often used. The hay becomes very warm, but after it passes through the sweat it comes out nice and brown, with no dust or mould. In this shape it is the very best kind of feed for all kinds of stock, not excepting the swine and poultry.

If the weather is unfavorable, hot and showery, it next to impossible to make good clover hay. While the soil is wet let the clover stand. It will be better to let it rot in the field than in the mow. It saves lots of hard labor to leave it in the field, and mouldy clover hay is fit for nothing but manure. The only way I ever succeeded in making fair clover hay when the weather was unfavorable, was to mow it away with wheat straw, putting in a load of clover and then a load of straw. This dry straw absorbs much of the surplus moisture in the hay, and cures it up in fair shape. Stock will eat considerable of this straw when it is fed to them with the hay.

I always sow the mammoth or sapling clover with my timothy, but when a field is to be all clover I sow the common red. I have tried alsike, but it is too small. The sapling clover ripens with the timothy, and does not grow so rank but what it makes an excellent quality of hay with the timothy.

Clover, ripening, as it does, at a very busy season, is apt to be neglected and let stand until it is over-ripe, when there is little left of it but stem and head. Better neglect the corn crop a little than the clover field, if both can not be cared for in the very best possible manner. We never want any timothy hay when we can get good clover. The timothy will do to sell to those who do not know a good thing when they see it.—Warder, in Journal of Agriculture.

The Influence of Light and Shade Upon Vegetation.

Sunlight is one of the most important agents in developing plants, the green color of their leaves, fruit, twigs, etc., being generated by its action. It is not necessary to have the direct rays of the sun, diffused light being sufficient, though more rapid growth takes place in the bright light.

There are some forms of plant life, however, that grow without light, such as mold and some kinds of mushrooms.

But all trees and plants usually cultivated cannot long exist in a healthy condition without its presence.

Plants living upon air obtain most of their carbon from its carbonic acid gas, their hydrogen from its moisture and their nitrogen from the ammoniacal vapor which exists in the air. In the presence of light the carbonic acid gas is emitted and the plant deteriorates. Vegetation in the tropics is wonderfully active, and this is undoubtedly due as much to the brighter sunshine as to the higher temperature.

How necessary light is to the health of plants, and how eagerly they reach after it, may be seen in the sunflower which watches the daily course of the sun; the countless blossoms which droop each night as the sun disappears below the horizon. How potatoes in a dark cellar will grow several feet in quest of light.

On the contrary, shade has an influence in promoting vegetation. Every farmer knows that when the ground has been shaded for a time with a dense growth of clover or straw, or covered with boards, shavings, sawdust or any other fibrous matter, the soil, though naturally hard and stiff, will be found soft, mellow and rich. This may be accounted for on the principle that decomposition of the vegetable substances of the soil is more readily promoted by a close or stagnant condition of the air, than by the constant supply of oxygen from the atmosphere, or in other words, such a covering will prevent the escape of moisture, nitrogen, hydrogen and carbonic acid gas, which accumulate and promote decomposition of vegetable matter and this enriches the soil. In such a spot I have found it excellent to start early vegetables.

It is upon this principle that fruit trees can be made more productive by mulching with straw or old hay around the trunks and over the roots. Shade is also necessary to all plants in their infancy, or when they have been recently transplanted. Young plants will thrive better if they are kept shaded after they have been set out.

Seeds germinate best when excluded from light, and those which are to be sown upon the surface or in shallow soil, also thrive better when provided with shade for a time. If it is desirable to prolong the freshness of cut flowers, or to root cuttings or slips well the light should be excluded.

Plants in the light purify the air by absorbing carbonic acid gas and throwing off oxygen, but at night they corrupt the air by allowing the carbonic acid to escape without its being decomposed. For this reason it is considered unhealthy to sleep in a close room where many plants are kept.—Michigan Farmer.

Sanitary Precautions on the Farm.

I would have my barns so constructed or remodeled, if need be, that the rear of the stables, or the manure windows therefrom, would open into a small yard, graded to a slightly concave form, to prevent leaching from the manure. Porous soils should be paved with crushed stone and cement; in clayey soils, small stones laid closely together and well bedded in the clay answer the same purpose. Stable floors should be water tight with a concave gutter behind horses and cattle to connect with above yard, which at all times should contain absorbing material. All animal excrement, except from the hennery, should be placed in this yard daily as well as garden rubbish and litter. Road dust can be used to advantage on floors and in gutters.

As it exists in many kitchens, I would abolish the sink drain. In its place fasten to the wall, about two feet from the floor, a zinc lined box with hinged lid, funnel-shaped, and at the bottom securely connect a well trapped 3 in drain to empty in the manure yard. The drain joints must be well cemented and the pipe given all possible fall. My bath tub drain goes to the celery trenches. All house slops from the kitchen and the chambers are emptied into the house drain. The manure yard contents and surface drainage of the barn yard can be hauled to the fields each week as composted, to a similarly constructed yard, until needed for growing crops.

My sanitary privy consists of a zinc lined drawer of sufficient width and length to easily slip underneath the privy from the back. It is securely mounted on a sled with wide runners to which a horse can be hitched and every week the contents can be easily taken to the manure yard or compost pile. The drawer should be half-filled with muck or some other absorbent before placing it underneath the building. Road dust is used over the box daily.—E. A. McIntosh in Farm and Home.

Kaffir Corn.

Kaffir corn is a native of South Africa, and belongs to the same group of plants as broom corn and other non-saccharine sorghums. It was introduced into this country about ten years ago by the United States department of agriculture and distributed all over the country. The report of the commissioner of agriculture for 1887 gives most favorable comments on Kaffir corn from Arkansas, Florida, Mississippi, North Carolina and Texas, and since then it has become very popular in California and Kansas. In Colorado it has been rather backward and has not proved as popular as in other places. It withstands drouth better than Indian corn and gives a larger yield. An analysis shows that it is not so rich in protein as Indian corn, and an experiment at the Kansas agricultural college shows that it is not equal to Indian corn as a feed for fattening hogs. However, the farmers of Kansas and Oklahoma have given it much attention during the three or four years past, and finding it valuable stock food, are cultivating it on a large and ever increasing scale. Its drouth resisting qualities have recommended it especially to farmers living in localities too dry for the best development of corn.

Cultivating Potatoes.

Soon after planting, and again just as the young plants are beginning to appear above ground, the field should be harrowed, inclining the teeth of the harrow backward. This is a cheap method of cultivation, since a wide space is covered. It is also effective in destroying small weeds, in leveling the ridges left in planting, in preventing the formation of a surface crust, and in keeping the land covered with a mulch of dry earth, thus conserving moisture within the soil below. Subsequent cultivation should be frequent so as to accomplish these same ends. Almost any pattern of cultivator may be used provided it is made to do shallow work. However, if the ground has become packed the first cultivation may be deeper. Experience and exact experiments generally favor flat or nearly flat cultivation. Excessive hilling during cultivation intensifies the injurious effects of dry weather. It also results in breaking many of the feeding roots between the rows. The frequent use of the cultivator should be substituted as far as possible for hoeing. If a severe frost is apprehended soon after the plants come up the tops should be covered by throwing a furrow to each row.

Bees and Horticulture.

The growing of fruit fits in more happily with the production of honey than does any other occupation. In this part of the country bees require constant attention during May and June, but for the remainder of the year very little work each month is necessary. When bees need the most attention the orchard need least. The next question is: Are bees of any benefit to growing fruit? They certainly are in that they aid in fertilization, and while bees are working on the blossoms other insects do not have an opportunity to injure them. By a proper selection of varieties the fruit growing beekeeper can gather fruit and harvest honey until the beginning of winter, at which time he has leisure to plow up his orchard and paint his hives.—Will G. Spendlove, Anderson county, Kan.

Farm Notes.

Do not cut clover until after the dew is off.

The young weeds stand the least adversity, hence, are easiest killed.

Keep the machinery well oiled and the bolts well tightened if you would have its life well lengthened.

If you cut not the grass until it is over-ripe you will feed the stock too much timber next year, the hay will be so woody.

If the ground is not too wet, put a heavy roller on the meadows and pastures that are being invaded by army worms.

George T. Pettit of Oneida, Kan., writes us that his house was damaged and his barn wrecked by the cyclone of Sunday, May 17.

Potatoes should not, as a rule, be grown continuously on the same land, but should be alternated with other crops. Barnyard manure may be freely used, but should, as a rule, be applied to previous crops in the rotation.

If commercial fertilizers are used, a mixture containing nitrogen in form of nitrate of soda, phosphoric acid, as superphosphate, and potash as sulphate, and in which potash predominates, is recommended.

A Texas man invented a machine to harvest the seed-heads of sorghum, Kaffir corn, Millo maize, etc. Attached to a wagon it cuts and loads the heads from three rows as fast as the team walks.

J. F. Denham, Sturgeon, Mo., under date of May 21, says: "We have been having one flood right after another for about a week—biggest of the spell yesterday. Army worms have eaten half of our grass."

MILK IN THE COW BARN.

Reasons Why Milk Should Not Be Kept in the Barn.

When a patron agrees to sell milk to a creamery he is under certain moral obligations to deliver that milk in the best possible condition. Knowing that the price the creameryman receives for his butter is necessarily dependent, to a great extent, upon the condition of the milk, he should use his best endeavors to deliver the milk sweet and clean and free from all taints which influence the quality of the butter. More than this, it is to the patron's interest, financially, to see that the creameryman receives good milk, for the price he receives for his milk must depend upon the price that the creameryman receives for his butter, and this, in turn, depends largely upon the condition of the milk. During the summer the great trouble is with sour milk, owing to the warm weather. In the winter the trouble is with tainted milk, and the fact that the milk reaches the creamery at a temperature which makes the detection of the taint almost impossible, makes such milk all the more dangerous, because when it is mixed with other milk that is free from taint, it may damage the whole. Hence, it is a matter of some surprise that patrons will insist upon keeping the milk in the cow barn, when it must be plain that in doing so they are taking money out of their own pockets, as well as their neighbors'. As soon as the milk falls to the temperature of the barn it begins to absorb the foul odors, or, if it be closely covered to prevent his, it becomes tainted from itself—"smothered"—because the odors peculiar to it have no opportunity to pass off. In either case, the quality of the butter made from such milk, and all other milk that is mixed with it, it impaired and must sell for a lower price than it should. If there is no clean place to keep the milk, where the air is pure, it is much better to make a cave of some kind for it. It is not a difficult matter to make a frame of poles and cover it with clean straw deeply enough to prevent milk from freezing in it. This can be done with almost no expense, and certainly the improved condition of the milk will pay many times over for the labor required to construct such a milk house.

Good Milkers.

Almost anybody can milk after a fashion; but really good milkers are not as plenty as they might be. A good milker is patient and gentle of touch, not only incapable of lifting a milking stool at a cow, but wise enough and thoughtful enough never to show an irritability or harshness of manner that might excite or disturb a nervous animal. Milking should be done as rapidly as possible, without worry. It should be done thoroughly, to the last drop; otherwise, a little milk, carelessly or unintentionally left in the udder, will begin the work of "drying off" the cow. Milking should be done regularly, beginning at the same hour, and the milker should go through his stint of cows in the same order, thus making it easier and less disturbing for the cow, that from habit learns when to expect her turn. To the good milker cleanliness is indeed next to godliness. The hands should be clean, the clothing clean and the skin and udder of the cows should be kept clean. Hard-milking cows are much less valuable than their yield or test would, at first blush, seem to indicate. They require more time. Once in a while this might be endured, but when the milking is a task that recurs regularly twice a day for three hundred days in the year, it becomes an important item. It is hard to milk them with the rapidity that good milking requires, and hard-milkers are much more liable, other things being equal, to fall off in milk flow and dry off early. They become nervous, too, as a rule, and very frequently develop into kickers. They are not, perhaps, to blame for this. The milking disturbs them and makes them irritable, and they naturally come to resent anything that irritates them. This irritation reacts, too, upon the person who does the milking, and he, in turn, is liable to be less valuable as a milker because less patient and gentle. Good milking bears so important a relation to the best results which constitute profit, as compared with results not quite so good, that it is a faculty which every one who has to handle cows should cultivate. There is more in the cheerful, good-humored, picturesque milkmaid idea than mere poetry. The cheerful, wholesome, womanly milkmaid is, as a rule, much more likely to harmonize with the disposition of a good milk cow than is the ruder and less patient farm hand.

Buttermilk.

As is well known a strong point in favor of the dressed beef business by which nearly the whole country is supplied with meats to the exclusion of local slaughtering, is the fact that every particle of offal and every byproduct is utilized and made to return a money value, even the contents of the paunches being employed to make fertilizers. It is in this use of every part of the animal that the dressed beef men have a large advantage which enables them to crush out competition. Nothing is too insignificant to be taken into account. Other occupations should, so far as possible, imitate these economies. The creamery men, for example, might well study the question of disposing of their byproducts in the most profitable way. None of these now, perhaps, go to waste entirely, but that is not exactly the question. The question rather is, are they being made the most of? Of course, what constitutes making the most of them will depend upon the circumstances and surroundings of a particular creamery. There are a considerable number of creameries in the country, for example, that are near enough to cities and large towns to enable them to find a profitable market there for buttermilk as a beverage. Within a block of where we now sit as we write, there is an establishment where creamery butter is sold, and one of the "side lines" is sweet, whole milk on draught for drinking, and another is buttermilk for the same purpose. Precisely the same charge is made for the buttermilk as the sweet milk, and those who drink it readily pay the price without demur. It would be a good utilization of buttermilk and a very profitable one if it could be sold by the glass as a beverage at the price that it seems easy to obtain for it. There are a limited number of creameries which are favorably situated for supplying this demand, and it is a demand that will grow as the hot weather increases.

Cheese-Making.

The importance of making better cheese is becoming more and more important every year, as it is now apparent that we must practically consume fully 90 per cent of the cheese made. New facts are being brought out, among which is the action of ferments upon the curing and quality of the cheese. At the late cheesemakers' convention, in Wisconsin, Prof. Russel had something to say in opposition to the French views upon bacterial action. He prefaced his remarks by saying that usually the trouble lay in the carelessness of the patrons in caring for the milk, a carelessness which, in some cases, becomes criminal. Yet the makers could not lay all blame on the patrons. They should be posted, so as to instruct those in the care of the milk, and give a good example by neatness in the factory. He believed the whey vat was responsible for more trouble than anything else, and condemned the dirty ones in strong terms. Bacteria were the best allies which the makers had, and it was only the obnoxious ones which should be fought. He exhibited a chart which illustrated the number of bacteria in cheese when five days old, as being about four to five millions in a grain, increasing rapidly in the next eight days, to eighty or ninety millions, and then decreasing in the next twenty-three days to eighteen millions, and then gradually diminishing until 197 days old, when only a few hundred thousands are left. Another chart showed where milk had four million lactic-acid-producing bacteria, seven hundred thousand digesting or peptonizing bacteria, and about three hundred and fifty thousand which produce gas. Also, how a thirteen-days-old cheese had 67,500,000 lactic-acid bacteria, while the gas-producing ones remained as original and the digesting ones were reduced. When the cheese was thirty-six days old the lactic-acid bacteria were reduced to 10,000,000, and the gas and digesting ones were still more reduced. At fifty-two days the lactic-acid bacteria were only 14,473,000 and the others nearly disappeared, and at seventy-four days only 6,682,000 lactic-acid bacteria remained. Hence, the lactic-acid bacteria is the true ally of the maker. The fermentation test should be used in its improved form, by all means.

Aeration.

As warm weather approaches the task of the dairyman becomes more difficult and the quality of the product is harder to maintain. Temperature must in some way be controlled, either with ice or cold spring water, if good results are to be expected, and the work will also be rendered easier if some method for aerating the milk immediately after it is drawn be adopted. We are not now advising the purchase of any expensive machinery for the purpose, nor indeed of any machinery. Those who have learned the value of aeration can determine for themselves the extent to which they can afford to go to do it easily and conveniently. Others who have paid no attention to it had better employ primitive, home devised means for the purpose to start with. Pouring the milk back and forth from one vessel to another is better than nothing. A shute might be easily devised over which the milk could be slowly poured, which would do the work quite well. The whole secret of the matter is the exposure of as much milk to pure air as possible, and in as diffused condition as possible. Not every one is aware of the advantages which aeration gives in controlling the bacterial changes of milk; and these changes become more active and more rapid as the weather grows warmer. Milk so treated will keep sweet longer and is much less liable to produce butter with undesirable flavors. With fairly good aeration and a reasonable degree of control of the temperature the maintenance of quality is render a much easier task.

Under-Consumption.

The present low prices of butter excite the apprehension of some who fear that it may be due to over-production. As bearing on this question, Hoard's Dairyman says that in 1892 the Hoard creameries were supplying 3,000 families in Chicago with butter every week. The country was prosperous, and families were consuming all they wanted. The demand was greater than the capacity of the creameries to supply, and during that year $15,000 worth of butter was purchased from other creameries to supply their customers. In 1894 the Hoard creameries were still supplying the same number, and nearly the same families. Hard times had come, and these same families consumed $31,000 worth less butter than in 1892. The argument, based upon this single, though broad experience, is that, owing to the stringency of the times, which makes money hard to obtain, the public is consuming a less quantity of butter per capita or per family than during the prosperous times of 1892, and that the low prices are due to this reduction of consumption, and not to over-production.

Dairy Notes.

Cotton strainers will do more thorough work than wire strainers.

A lazy man will make a poor dairyman.

Any large amount of exercise is at the expense of the yield of the milk.

Milk and flesh alike come from food eaten, digested and assimilated.

Dirt is a great enemy to good dairy products and cleanliness the secret of success.

Thorough ventilation is an essential item in the arrangement of the dairy house.

A good cow is a good cow regardless of her breed and a poor cow is a poor cow no matter how well bred.

Milk readily takes it taint from any bad smell which may exist where it is placed.

Feeding water into a cow's milk makes no gain in butter or cheese production.

Feed some grain for a time at least after turning the cows into the pasture.

While food may change the color of the butter to some extent, there is much in the cow.

In cold weather many of the creameries churn at a temperature of 50 degrees to 52 degrees.

A brush is much better than a cloth to clean milk vessels. It gets at places that the cloth will not reach.

The most perfect cream rising is secured by straining the warm milk into deep cans and setting in water of about 42 degrees.

Never churn in a room where the temperature is higher than that of the cream. If it is 10 degrees or 15 degrees lower, so much the better.

It is claimed that cows giving milk requiring more than twenty pounds to make a pound of butter should not be kept.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Bangor's Haunted Hotel.

First Commercial Traveler—The bootblack told me this evening that that room you slept in last night has the reputation of being haunted.

Second Commercial Traveler—Well, I shouldn't be surprised if that were so. I killed a few there last night, myself.—Somerville Journal.

More Than He Needed.

"Mamma, I saw a dog to-day that had only three legs."

"Weren't you awfully sorry for him?"

"No'm; he had one more leg than I had."—Chicago Record.

Eleventh Minnesota Volunteers.

The Eleventh Minnesota volunteer infantry will hold their first reunion in St. Paul during the thirtieth national encampment, Tuesday morning, Sept. 1, in the council chamber from 9:30 to 12 o'clock. The regimental committee in charge of the reunion desire to obtain the names and addresses of all survivors.

The chairman is W. C. Wilson, 212 Masonic Temple, Minneapolis, and the secretary is Ben Brack, Lindeke, Warner & Schurmeier, St. Paul

He Knew.

Husband (in the early dawn)—It must be time to get up.

Wife—Why?

Husband—The baby has just fallen asleep.—New York Truth.

Responsive Both to Harsh and Sweet Sounds.

The nerves are often painfully acute. When this is the case, the best thing to be done is to seek the tonic and tranquillizing assistance of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a superb nervine. No less beneficial is it for dyspeptic, bilious, malarial, rheumatic, bowel and kidney complaints. Use with persistent regularity. A wineglassful before retiring confers sleep.

A Yarn From Maine.

A Dexter selectman, taking the annual inventory, called at a certain house and inquired if the family had any musical instrument and he was greeted with a reply in the affirmative. The readiness and joyousness of the acknowledgment was explained when the assessor was ushered into the presence of a melodious infant in a cradle—and he immediately raised that happy taxpayer's valuation $10,000.—Lewiston Journal.

Not, of Course, When He Was Doing It.

"He is good-natured, is he?"

"Good-natured? Why, I have known that man to wear a smiling face when he was speaking of taking off a porous plaster!"—Boston Courier.

The first omnibus in London started from Paddington to the bank on Saturday, July 4, 1829.

Patents Issued.

Washington, Special—Minnesota patents granted: Alexander J. Bluntach, Olivia, lawn mower; Knute L. Frazer, Winona; shingle planer; Frank Locke and D. Kennedy, Silver Creek, wind wheels; George D. McKay, Minneapolis, underwaists; Hugh M. Whitney, Minneapolis, bag fastener.

T. D. Merwin, patent attorney and solicitor, room 912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, and Washington, D. C.

A La Bike.

Yeast—Spring has taken a header, I see.

Crimsonbeak—Yes; guess she's got to scorching a little too soon.—Yonkers Statesman.

Fortunes are made in speculation; $100 invested in one investment system will earn you $2 per day. Write for particulars. Chandler & Co., brokers, 100-102-104 Kasota block, Minneapolis.

A Play Upon Words.

"A cyclone sufferer? Poor fellow! You shall have something to eat. Here!"

"Thank ye, mum. This is excellent pie, an' I'm very fond of chicking. Good-day, mum, an' God bless ye!"

"Where was the cyclone?"

"Oh, I was blowed up by a red-headed woman with a snub nose; looks somethin' like you, 'bout half a mile back."

"Oh, you villain! That was my mother! Here, Towser! Towser!"

"Thank you, mum; I won't wait."—New York Recorder.

The Modern Beauty

Thrives on good food and sunshine, with plenty of exercise in the open air. Her form glows with health and her face blooms with its beauty. If her system needs the cleansing action of a laxative remedy she uses the gentle and pleasant Syrup of Figs. Made by the California Fig Syrup Company.

An Unfortunate Suggestion.

They were young and bore all the outward and visible signs of having been recently engaged. They were strolling through the jeweller's store and looking into the cases. The young man paused before one of the cases with an enraptured air. "What curious bracelets!" he cried. "Some of them are in coral, aren't they? Wouldn't you like one, dearest?" But the "dearest" declined sweetly. For the curious bracelets were babies' teething rings.—Toronto Catholic Register.

Evidence Is Lacking.

Girl—Did you enjoy yourself at the party last night?

Another Girl—I fancy not. I don't seem to have any head this morning.—Detroit Tribune.

The Bane of Beauty.

Beauty's bane is the fading or falling of the hair. Luxuriant tresses are far more to the matron than to the maid whose casket of charms is yet unrifled by time. Beautiful women will be glad to be reminded that falling or fading hair is unknown to those who use

Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Kickapoo Indian Oil

QUICK CURE FOR ALL PAIN.

BATTLE AX
10 CENTS

"It's a Good Thing. Push it Along."

Battle Ax PLUG

Why buy a newspaper unless you can profit by the expense? For 5 cents you can get almost as much "BATTLE AX" as you can of other high grade brands for 10 cents. Here's news that will repay you for the cost of your newspaper to-day.

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 17, 1896. NUMBER 46.

ONLY ONE BALLOT.

FRIENDS OF M'KINLEY ARE FEELING VERY HAPPY.

They Figure that the Ohio Man Will Have 623 of the 918 Votes and That Consequently It Will Be Necessary to Take But One Ballot—Conferences at McKinley Headquarters.

St. Louis, June 14.—While the headquarters of some states have not been crowded as usually is the case, two days before the convention assembles, this was a big day at the rooms of the Ohio delegation known as McKinley headquarters. Some of the Ohio district delegates and Mr. Hanna are on duty there all the time, while Delegates-at-Large Foraker, Bushnell and Grosvenor and some district delegates are visiting other state delegations and leaders. When Hon. Fairbanks, the temporary chairman, arrived this morning from Indianapolis, Mr. Hanna and others had a long conference with him over the keynote speech and later on this speech was submitted to a conference of the McKinley leaders. It is understood that the keynote speech will be in the line of the Indiana platform, which specially declares opposition to the free and independent coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

At McKinley headquarters there is still the utmost confidence in the favorite having 623 votes on the first ballot of a total of 918, but there is not any fixed slate for the nomination for vice-president or any ultimatum on the currency plank. There is no trouble about the platform, except on the divergent views of the East for gold and the West for silver, while Michigan, Indiana and even Ohio, with other middle states, want the Eastern idea expressed in the currency plank without the word "gold" in the phraseology of the declaration for a single standard. As Senator-elect Foraker will be pressed for the chairmanship of the committee on resolutions, it is said that he will make the fight for a declaration for the "maintenance of the present standard," which means a single or gold standard without the use of the word "gold" before the word standard. By the use of the word "gold" it is claimed that the campaign cry of "gold bugs" would be used in a prejudiced manner during the canvas. Not only delegates but also Republican candidates for congress and others from Ohio and Michigan and other middle states called on Foraker and Hanna today to say that as positive declaration as possible was wanted without the use of the word "gold," which was offensive to many wanting to support republican state and district tickets as well as the national ticket.

Messrs. Foraker and Hanna and other committee on resolutions and later of the leaders insist that if it is the will of the convention to insert the words "gold standard" that McKinley's friends would not oppose it. This is the import of the reply to all who have to-day been solicitous in their inquiries on this all-absorbing topic around McKinley headquarters. Last week was a "gold" week here, but there is a vigorous effort to-day to have the present week's agitation result in the gold idea under the names of "honest money or a sound currency."

While the southern delegates are divided on the technical phraseology of the currency plank, the western delegates are expected to go with the middle states in the committee on resolutions. At the McKinley headquarters they expect a minority report from the silver members of the committee on resolutions. The managers are for this reason the more solicitous to get as many as possible to sign the majority report and to have a financial plank on which there can be general concurrence, excepting silver extremists. The McKinley men anticipate no trouble in agreeing on the other resolutions, which will include Foraker's indictment of the Cleveland administration on several counts.

The McKinley managers had calls to-day from unsuccessful contestants, who thought the national committee had not decided correctly. To Hon. William M. Hahn, the Ohio member of the national committee, and Judge A. C. Thompson, the prospective Ohio member of the committee on credentials, the cases were referred. Hahn and Thompson have had charge of this work for McKinley. Judge Thompson, of Portsmouth, O., has been at Washington for months looking after the McKinley contests.

The vice-presidency is announced at McKinley headquarters to be in doubt. Owing to the complications in New York, it seems impossible to select any one from the state as yet. Next comes New England in the course of geographical as well as other considerations. No word can be had from Speaker Reed or his friends that he would accept and the McKinley men say they can not nominate any one with any doubt existing as to his acceptance. Gov. Bulkeley and Senator Hawley of Connecticut, are both mentioned, and there is no doubt about the McKinley men regarding Senator Hawley with great favor if his state will come out for him. Gov. Brown of Rhode Island, and others are prominently mentioned. Hobart of New Jersey, is being aggressively pressed, but he is considered a suburban resident of New York and that militates some against him. If any one should be taken from the south for second place, it will no doubt be H. Clay Evans of Tennessee, but the sentiment around McKinley headquarters is for a running mate from the east and for a man of national reputation—Reed, if he will accept; if not then next best man from the east.

New Bridge on the Missouri.

Alexandria, S. D. June 15.—The contract for building the bridge over the Missouri at Yankton was let to a Kansas City company. It was decided to use Jasper for the stone work. There are but three available places in the state where this rock can be obtained—Sioux Falls, Dell Rapids and Alexandria. George Harris, of the firm of Harris Bros. contractors, examined the other quarries first and then came here this week. After a careful investigation he decided to take the stone from the Pierre Creek quarry, just east of this city. The decision was arrived at for three reasons—ease of quarrying, lower freight rate to Yankton and the fact that stone of any required dimension can be got out at this quarry. The work will require 1,000 cars of stone of three cords to the car and will necessitate the employment of a large force of skilled workmen until late in the fall. The quarry, a very valuable one, belongs to George W. Sanborn, of Mason City, Iowa, formerly division superintendent of this part of the Milwaukee system. The stone with which the Methodist university, of Mitchell, and the State Reform school, at Plankinton, is built came from this quarry, but it has not been worked for several years. Its reopening is hailed with the liveliest interest by the people of this city.

To Teach Buddhist Priests.

A correspondent of a Ceylon paper states that some native Buddhist gentlemen of Panadura are taking steps to establish a seminary for Buddhist priests, to teach them European languages, and send them out to Europe as missionaries to preach the creed of Buddha.

Talked of Red Blood.

Butte, Mont., Special, June 15.—Miners' union day, a holiday in Montana, was celebrated in Butte with the largest parade of union miners ever held in the state. Fully four thousand miners were in line. Lately there have been rumors of intended reduction in wages in some of the mines and a remark made by William Walsh, President of the Miners' Union, in an address at the opera house this afternoon is significant and is in the nature of a warning. "If the day ever comes," said he in speaking of a possible conflict, "the blood of traitors will crimson the sides of your mountains."

Bands and Shouting: Republicans Parade St. Louis' Streets.

St. Louis, June 14.—Uproar and confusion prevailed in the down town streets of St. Louis at midnight to-night. Bands of every variety paraded the streets, leading enthusiastic Republican clubs from almost every state in the Union. They played every sort of tune, or tried to, from White Wings to classic selections from the operas. They marched and countermarched from hotel to hotel. They paraded through the corridors and into the offices of the local newspapers. There were scores and scores of them, and it is doubtful if the oldest inhabitant of this city ever saw such a proceeding on a Sunday. It began in a mild way at dawn and hour by hour continued at the rate of geometrical progression until midnight, when the climax of the fury was reached.

During the afternoon, volunteer corps of the Salvation Army added materially to the volume of uproarious and discordant melody. To use a steamboat phrase, they had on a "full head of steam." They sang wild and enthusiastically the peculiar hymns of their religion. They stopped at the street crossings and in front of the big hotels and exhorted sinners great and small to mend their ways and flee from the wrath to come. Mingled with the songs of the Salvationists could be heard campaign songs setting forth the virtues of the Republican party or some favorite son aspiring to presidential honors. But with all the wild hurrah and confusion there was no lawlessness

A monster McKinley parade that has been arranged for Wednesday night is intended to be the largest demonstration of the kind that has ever been seen. The parade will be reviewed by prominent men from the balcony of the Southern hotel. It will be in twelve divisions under direction of Gen. Jas. C. Howe, of Kenton, Ohio. In the parade will be clubs, many of them uniformed, from every state and territory, and all the Republicans in St. Louis have been invited to take part.

English Government in Hot Water.

(Copyright, 1896, by Associated Press.)

London, June 14.—Very little has occurred during the past week to ruffle the surface of the British political pond, which would have been stagnant but for the ripple of interest evoked by the efforts of the ministers to extricate their party from the maze in which it finds itself tangled up by the hopeless condition of public business and unexpected concessions. A. J. Balfour, the Conservative leader and first lord of the treasury, in order to expedite the Irish land bill, is summoning a meeting of the government adherents for Monday at the foreign office. This is a signal of distress upon the part of the goverment which is suffering from the effects of a surplusage of election promises and finds it necessary to call a conference with the view of attempting to reconcile its followers to the sacrifice of some of their hopes. It is generally recognized that the government will be forced to modify the education and Irish land bills if an autumn session is to be avoided.

In foreign politics, the topic of moment is Marquis of Salisbury's declaration in the house of lords last evening of the policy of the government in Egypt. It is regarded as a clear exposition of British intentions as to the Soudan and the opposition is preparing to condemn the expedition by introducing a formal motion of censure. The progress of the Soudan expedition is followed with the liveliest interest. Military experts point out that while the successes have had an excellent effect upon the morals of the Egyptians, they will also show the khalifa and his friends their danger and serve to consolidate them.

Further, it is pointed out that, contrary to the usual conditions of Soudanese warfare, the Egyptians in the fight at Firket outnumbered the Dervishes two to one and acted on the offensive, whereas the reverse is usually the case. In spite of these disadvantages, the Dervishes made so stout a fight that they lost 1,300 men in two hours. The deducion is that the Dervishes have lost none of their fighting power and there is no conclusive proof that under equal circumstances the Egyptians would hold their own. The killing of a thousand or two fighting men at Firket, it is claimed, will not cause the submission of the fierce tribes of the Central Soudan, and while it may place Dongolia at Sir Herbert Kitchener's mercy, it will have to be supplemented by harder fights before he takes Khartoum or even Berber.

Increase in the Navy.

Washington, June 14.—Within ten days the navy department will put out advertisements calling for proposals for building the three great battleships, three torpedo boat destroyers and ten torpedo boats for which congress has provided in the naval appropriation bill. This is an unexampled record of forehandedness in the preparations of designs and the fixing of the features of the craft to be built. In their main features the battleships will be made up of a combination of the plans of the Massachusetts and the Kearsarge, but many important changes have been made in the details and especially in the batteries. The greatest novelties will be the three thirty-knot torpedo boat destroyers, which will inaugurate a new class in the United States navy.

Starters in the Suburban.

New York, June 14.—The official announcement of probable starters with weights (including penalties) in the Suburban handicap, mile and a quarter, to be run June 23, was made today as follows: Henry of Navarre 129, Clifford 126, Sir Walter 125, Keenan 122, Lazzarone 120, Counter Tenor 119, Halma 117, Dorian 116, The Commoner 113, Handspring Nankipooh 112 each, Hornpipe 111, Belmar 110, Senator Grady 100, Dutch Skater 108, Victor 108, Saragossa, Lake Shore 104, Connoisseur 102, Emma C 100, Steven J 98, Flora Thornton 95.

Thanks for Oom Paul.

Pretoria, June 14.—Deputations with the mayors of all the towns of South Africa waited upon President Kruger to-day to thank him for his clemency to the convicted reformers. President Kruger pointed to the bible with the remark that there was his guide. He then referred to Cecil Rhodes who, he said, was acting as if he were egging on a dog fight. He, who had caused the trouble, was still unpunished.

Casey and Dunn Win.

New York, June 14.—The match at hand ball between Phillip Casey and James Dunn, of Brooklyn, and Wm. Carney and Louis Keegan of Chicago, was concluded to-day in Brooklyn. This was the second series of games between the men, Casey and Dunn having won the first. They won again to-day, taking three games, with the following scores: 21 to 6, 21 to 11, 21 to 17. The match was for $2,000 a side.

Cullom in Line for McKinley.

Canton, O., June 14.—Senator Cullom reached Canton this morning and spent the day with Major McKinley. He left to-night. He says there is no doubt but that McKinley will be nominated and he thinks the past twenty-four hours have insured a sound money platform. He has no choice for the second place.

Wisconsin Pioneer Dead.

Black River Falls, Wis., Special, June 13.—The death of Mrs. Lydia Hall was a shock to the entire community, although it was not unexpected. In charitable, church and social circles Mrs. Hall has for years been a leading spirit. She had been a resident here ever since the city was in its infancy. State Senator Gilliway is her son-in-law.

Arreau Wins the Grand Prix.

Paris, June 14.—In the race for the Grand Prix de Paris to-day, Arreau won, Champaubert second, and Montreuil third.

BIG LAW FIRM.

Cleveland, Reed and Carlisle to Practice in New York.

Chicago, June 15.—According to a New York special to the Times-Herald, Cleveland, Reed and Carlisle. That is to be the name of a law firm to be established in this city soon after the fourth of next March. At least such is the rumor on Wall street, and it comes from the offices of a well known firm, with the head of which President Cleveland is on most intimate terms.

As the distinguished men who will compose this remarkable firm are Grover Cleveland, Thomas B. Reed and John G. Carlisle, the announcement of its formation will, if it be true, be pregnant of political import. In the first place, it will effectually answer the question regarding President Cleveland's intentions as to a fourth nomination. It may be that this is to be the president's method of answering those who have so anxiously demanded to know the course he intends to pursue. The announcement will, too, demonstrate Secretary Carlisles intentions for the future.

Those who have so vigorously denounced Joseph Manley for "forsaking" the Reed boom in St. Louis will be compelled to admit that the speaker of the house of representatives has long seen the inevitable, as he would hardly contemplate an arrangement of this sort while he believed he had any chance of receiving a nomination from the St. Louis convention.

One incident that gives a bit of color to this remarkable rumor is that President Cleveland and Speaker Reed are on friendly terms, and that the latter made frequent calls at the White House before the adjournment of congress.

Before his last nomination for the presidency Mr. Cleveland was a member of a prominent law firm of this city. Two things concerning that partnership are known. The first is Mr. Cleveland surprised all who came into contact with him by his intimate and intricate knowledge of the law. The second is that the partnership proved lucrative to all connected with it. It was announced not many weeks ago, and, of course, was not given authorative denial or confirmation, that Mr. Reed would, should he fail in his political aspiration, refuse a renomination for congress and remove to this city for the purpose of practicing law. At that time nothing was said concerning any connections he might form here.

A gentleman who is on more than friendly terms with Secretary Carlisle's son Logan recently told the correspondent of The Times-Herald that next year the present secretary of the treasury will, with his two sons, open a law office in Chicago. About ten years ago, when the Democrats believed they had an opportunity to wrest Kansas from the control of the Republicans, Mr. Carlisle sent his two sons to Wichita, where they opened a law office and prepared to enter politics. In 1889 the older of the two boys was chairman of the seventh congressional district Democratic committee, and, counselled by his father, expected to elect his candidate. When that district contributed more than its share of the 81,000 Republican plurality rolling up in the state, the Carlisles, father and sons, returned to the East. Two years later that district gave the Republicans its first adverse vote and sent Jerry Simpson to Washington.

COMBINE WITH THE SOO.

Western Roads May Get Even With Eastern Lines.

Western roads are now talking of entering into an alliance with the Soo in the hope of getting back at the Joint Traffic association for refusing to join with them in meeting Soo rates out of St. Paul on the wool traffic. The Western roads propose to turn all the dairy product traffic of Minnesota and the Dakotas over to the Soo at St. Paul, giving it all the haul from that point to the seaboard, and thus depriving the Joint Traffic roads of any share in the haul. The traffic in dairy products is now at its heighth. It is quite important but still it would seem a very roundabout method for the Western roads to get revenge.

Spaniards Win, of Course.

Havana, June 15.—General Castellano, hearing that Maximo Gomez was at Ciego Najasa, left Puerto Principe on Monday last with five companies of the Taragona battalion, two companies of guerillas, four companies of the Maria Christina battalion and a squadron of the Herman Cortez regiment of cavalry, together with two field cannon. On the following day they camped at the Saratoga farm, on two hills, well adapted for defense. An insurgent force numbering about 1,000, tried to capture the Spanish camp. The enemy was repulsed with a loss of from 450 to 500. The troops lost two officers and thirty-five men wounded and four killed.

Diamond Thieves Caught.

St. Louis, June 15.—Dora Donegan and Jennie Monroe, said to be the most expert diamond thieves in the country, were arrested just as they were preparing to enter the Planter's hotel, by Detectives McCarthy, of Chicago, and O'Connell, of St. Louis. The women had their baggage with them, and apparently intended to register. Dora Donegan was convicted of stealing diamonds in Chicago, and served a term in the Joliet penitentiary. The police consider them two of the best captures made since the convention crowds began to gather.

Stubborn Strikers.

Milwaukee, June 15.—While the great railway strike is practically at an end, the men stubbornly refuse to call the strike off, and union 'busses continue to traverse the streets. Car traffic is increasing, and the 'bus receipts show a corresponding falling off. President Mahon, of the Amalgamated association, was here to-day. The strikers are receiving money weekly from the outside. Mr. Mahon says trouble is pending at Saginaw, Mich., and his presence is also demanded at Terre Haute, Ind.

DENIED BY PUBLISHERS.

Untruthful Story Told by Striking Printers in the Twin Cities.

New York, June 15.—The striking printers in St. Paul and Minneapolis and their sympathizers are said to be making the statement that the strike was brought on by the publishers to carry out a reduction at the annual meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers' association last February. This statement is branded as false by the officers of the A. N. P. A., who state that no resolution or plan was adopted at the meeting having any bearing on the differences between the publishers and printers in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Clenenger Exonerated.

Chamberlain, S. D., Special, June 15.—The grand jury failed to indict M. B. Clenenger, a well known artesian well contractor, for alleged attempt to bribe two members of the board of county commissioners in getting a bill passed by the board.

Bank President Shot.

New York, June 15.—George H. Wyckoff, president of the Bank of New Amsterdam, was shot twice in the abdomen and side this afternoon while in his private office in the bank by a man named Clarence Clark. Clark demanded money and meeting with a refusal fired the shots and then turned the pistol on himself. Both men may die. Clark absolutely refused to make any statement and would not give his name and address or his occupation. He said that he needed money and had been out of employment for one week. He claimed that he had no particular motive other than that of getting money for the support of his wife and boy.

GOPHER DELEGATES.

MIESOTA REPUBLICANS ARRIVE IN ST. LOUIS.

It Develops that there Is a Difference of Opinion as to Who Should Be Member of the Platform Committee and Also as to Whether Evans Should Continue as National Committeeman.

St. Louis, Mo., June 15.—The Minnesota delegation arrived here this morning on schedule time. There were in the party sixteen of the eighteen delegates, National Committeeman Evans and Gov. Merriam being already on the grounds. Mrs. George Thompson of St. Paul, Mrs. C. F. Hendryx of Saux Centre and Mrs. L. P. Hunt of Mankato, accompanied the party. The alternates are slow in arriving and it now seems probable that there will not be a very full attendance of these substitute delegates. So far only three, Dr. Beebe of Wells, C. S. Cairns of Minneapolis, and P. C. Bailey of Waseca, have reported at the delegation headquarters. To the regular train arriving here this afternoon was attached M. Lowry's private car, and the street car magnate brought down a small party, including Mrs. Gov. Merriam. Most of the delegation are quartered at the St. Nicholas hotel, some are at the Southern and a few are being entertained by friends.

Things are not altogether harmonious in the Minnesota delegation to-night. In fact, something of a contest has developed over the question of who shall represent the state on the committee on platform. Up to yesterday it was conceded that Governor Merriam should have the place. He had not sought it, but his name was presented by his friends and seemed to meet with the unanimous approval of the delegation. At the informal meeting held in St. Paul Friday night, which was attended by twelve of the delegation, there was not a whisper of opposition. But between that time and the arrival of the special train this morning some opposition had sprung up, from nobody seems to know where, and to-day has been given over to buttonhole caucuses innumerable, over the question. L. P. Hunt is the man who is talked of. Mr. Hunt said to-night that he was not a candidate for the place. "I am a candidate only to the extent that I would serve on the committee if chosen by the delegation," said he. Some active work has been done for Mr. Hunt, however. It does not look to-night as if it would prevail and the chances are that Gov. Merriam will be chosen by the delegation at its meeting tomorrow morning. The meeting has been called at 10:30 and at the same time will be chosen a member of the national committee, an honorary vice-president, members of the committees on organization, credentials and notification of the president and vice-president. No names have yet been agreed upon for these places, and as there are no declared candidates for any of them they will probably be divided so far as possible among the congressional districts.

Gov. Hubbard may be the next national committeeman from Minnesota. There is no doubt that Bob Evans can have the place if he chooses to remain in the field. He has at least eleven members of the delegation, a clear majority, pledged to the support of his candidacy. It cannot be ascertained that John Goodnow has more than one vote, and the remainder would go to Tams Bixby. Mr. Evans has all along frankly said that he did not care for the place, and he to-day expressed a willingness to step out of the way in the interests of harmony if a candidate could be selected who could receive the unanimous support of the delegation. The matter has been actively canvassed to-day and Gov. Hubbard's name seems to be satisfactory to everybody. Mr. Evans certainly controls the situation. He could be re-elected if he desired it. His faithful labor for the party during the eight years he has occupied this position and before have given him a hold on the good will of the party as represented by the delegates to this convention too strong to be broken, but if he persists in his present intention of retiring, Governor Hubbard will probably be his successor, although some new candidate equally as satisfactory may appear by the time the delegation meets in the morning to settle the question.

St. Louis, June 15.—Almost all of the state delegations have fixed on 4 o'clock to-morrow afternoon as the hour when they shall meet and name their representatives upon the committeees on resolutions, credentials, permanent organization and rules, as well as upon the national committeemen and the list of honorary vice-presidents.

The Minnesota delegation arrived today. It has not yet organized, but it is expected that Charles A. Pillsbury will be chairman, ex-Gov. W. R. Merriam for member of the committee on resolutions and probably Robert G. Evans to be re-elected national committeeman. The Minnesota delegation is for McKinley and a gold declaration in the platform. Mr. Pillsbury has framed a resolution on reciprocity which he hopes to have made a part of the platform. Mr. Pillsbury was one of the witnesses before the ways and means committee when the subject of reciprocity was given hearing during the last session.

St. Louis, June 15.—Delegate Yorkes of Kentucky received a telegram from Gov. Bradley to-day announcing that his name would not be presented to the convention. Gov. Bradley will arrive here to-morrow to engage actively in the contest in behalf of a platform declaration for a gold standard. D. Elliott Kelly, who was secretary of state at the convention which instructed for Bradley for president and who will accompany Gov. Bradley to St. Louis, said to an Associated Press reporter: "Gov. Bradley has assured me that he does not desire second place on the ticket, but in my opinion if the nomination for vice-president goes to the South, it should be tendered to Kentucky's governor. Gov. Bradley's well-known views on the currency would serve to strengthen the ticket, should a man whose stand on that issue is not as strong as Bradley's be nominated for president. Bradley broke the solid South last fall, and with him as McKinley's running mate, the once solid South would be permanently shattered this fall. I believe that if Bradley is tendered the second place by acclamation he would accept it."

Aiding the Cubans.

New York, June 14.—The World this morning says: The steamship Bermuda, which was to have started from Philadelphia Friday with an expedition for Cuba, grounded at a wharf in Camden, and had to wait for high tide this morning. The cargo consists of 1,075 rifles, one field piece, 800 cutlasses, 700 pounds of dynamite, two electric detonators for firing explosives at a distance, 600 feet of insulated wire for the same, 800,000 cartridges and 1,200,000 primers for refilling blanks, besides medicines, belts, knapsacks, and haversacks. She carries 87 men besides the crew.

A dispatch to the World from Kingston, Jamaica, says: The filibustering steamer Laurada has gone sailing within the three league limit. A Spanish warship is following her and an English cruiser is watching the Spaniard, having orders to prevent an attack on the Laurada in British waters.

Ex-Gov. Felch Dead.

Ann Arbor, Mich., June 13.—Ex-Gov. Alpheus Felch died this afternoon. He suffered a general collapse of physical power last autumn which has ultimately resulted in death. Alpheus Felch was 72 years of age and a native of Maine. His public career was one of the most notable of any resident of Michigan. After entering law practice he came to Ann Arbor in 1883 and has lived here ever since. He served with great credit as a member of the legislature, auditor general, justice of the State Supreme court, United States senator, governor, and was again chosen United States senator while serving as governor. He was in the senate during the times of Webster, Clay and Calhoun, and served as chairman of the land committee at a period when territorial expansion were questions of the day.

THAT BOND CONTRACT.

Secretary Carlisle Testifies Before the Investigating Committee.

Washington, June 15.—Secretary Carlisle was examined under oath to-day by the senate committee appointed to investigate recent bond sales. The examination was held in the rooms of the committee on finance, Senators Harris, Walthall, Jones, of Nevada, and Platt, being present.

Mr. Vest began the examination, asking for a fuller account of the first bond contract with the Morgan syndicate that had been given in Mr. Carlisle's written statement. His main purpose, Secretary Carlisle said, was to prevent the shipments of gold from this country. Mr. Vest asked who made the first suggestion as to the protective clause in the bond contract with the Morgan syndicate. The secretary answered that the first draft was made in his private office and then taken to an adjoining room and shown to Mr. Morgan and Francis Lynde Stetson, after which some changes were made. This was the Mr. Stetson, the secretary explained in response to inquiries, who had been the law partner of the president. Mr. Vest asked why the contract had been given to the syndicate, to which Mr. Carlisle replied with a lengthy explanation of the great emergency existing which would not permit a delay for the usual formalities. There was much apprehension in financial circles as to the situation, heightened by a visit of Mr. Curtis, of New York, who brought out many newspaper conjectures. It was when the Springer bill, so-called, pertaining to banking and currency, had been defeated in the house of representatives that it became positively necessary to take steps to protect the treasury. The contract was closed the day after the Springer bill was defeated in the house.

"You never had negotiations with any other bankers outside of the Morgan syndicate?" asked Mr. Vest.

"There was some inquiry, but no negotiations were opened," said the secretary. Mr. Carlisle went on to explain that the president was kept apprised of all the phases of the negotiations. One of Mr. Vest's questions referred to the time of the president's information as compared with that of Mr. Belmont, to which the secretary said that the president's message giving information to congress as to the close of the bond transaction was sent at noon, while Mr. Belmont did not reach Washington until 2 p. m. To Mr. Vest's question as to why a public bond was resorted to at a later date, when the early sale was made by private contract, Mr. Carlisle said the first move was due entirely to the emergencies existing and to the disturbing reports which were without a shadow of foundation, that the government had long contemplated a bond issue.

In reply to questions, Mr. Carlisle said that after the Graves bid had been rejected the government acted on legal advice in awarding the bonds to the next highest bidder, and that there was no deposition to favor the Morgan syndicate.

After further examination Mr. Carlisle was excused and the committee took a recess until 2:30 o'clock, when Assistant Secretary Curtis was examined. He testified regarding his visit to New York to negotiate for bonds.

The investigating committee decided to begin its sessions at New York Thursday. The hearings will be at the Hoffman house and will be public. Thursday J. Pierpont Morgan, August Belmont and Francis L. Stetson will be examined, and Friday John A. Stewart and Treasurer Jordan. Mr. Graves, whose bid was rejected, has also been notified to appear Friday if he desires to be heard.

MISS WILSON TOO OLD.

Reason for Cornelius Vanderbilt's Objection to His Son's Marriage.

New York, June 15.—Those who have followed the career of Cornelius Vanderbilt and know the character of the man have been sure for the past week that there was some good reason for his objection to the marriage of his son, Cornelius, Jr., and Miss Grace Wilson, daughter of Richard T. Wilson. There have been all sorts of conjectures among the upper ten, but those in position to be best informed declare that the objection is found in the disparity between the ages of the pair.

The prospective bride is just eleven years older than her husband-to-be, if one may take her own words for it, and those whose social memories extend as far back as 1884 will do so. They remember distinctly the season of twelve years ago when the bride of today went about among her friends boasting that she was then a full grown woman—21 years old. According to that she must be 33 years old. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., is a little past his twenty-second birthday. His father, therefore, bases his objection upon the disparity in the ages of the pair.

There is nothing weak about Cornelius Vanderbilt, and those who talk of a speedy forgiveness will be disappointed, no doubt. One thing is certain—the Vanderbilts of Cornelius' line will not be at the wedding on Thursday. Not more than fifty persons in all, exclusive of the immediate bridal party, are to receive the cards of invitation. There is still much doubt as to who the guests will be. Those who are favored will have to cancel their engagements in a hurry for the ceremony will be performed in the drawing-room of the Wilson home at thirty minutes past noon on Thursday, rain or shine.

WILL HERD SHEEP.

Ex-Chief of Police Clark Contemplates Leaving St. Paul.

Ex-Chief of Police John Clark will leave for Anaconda, Mont., to-day. It is said that he goes in search of a good location for a sheep ranch and that he has contemplated this move for some time on account of his health. His wife, however, has been averse to the change but she has now realizes that the change will be benefical to her husband's health and has consented to the removal. Mr. Clark received all the necessary railroad passes yesterday and last evening bade good-bye to a number of his friends. He will be absent about two weeks, when he expects to return for his family. In speaking to a friend last night of his plans he said that his total wealth was about $40,000, and that he intended to invest about $25,000 in a ranch and to spend the remainder of his days in an employment that was more suited to his health.

Recorded at Rolla.

Rolla, N. D., Special, June 15.—The Willow City camp M. W. A. plan a monster pic-nic at Fish Lake, in Turtle Mountains for June 19-21. They have invited Bottineau, Dunseith, Rolla and other camps.

The Rollette county institute was in session last week. Prof. McCartney, of Valley city, was the instructor. Miss Bates, state superintendent, lectured on "The Educational Outlook in North Dakota," and Prof. McCartney on "Rambles in Words." Thirty teachers attended.

Perhaps a Fatal Kick.

Winona, Minn., Special, June 15.—Leo Zink, a farmer on the road between Fountain City and Arcadia, met with an injury yesterday which may yet cost him his life. He was turning three horses out into the yard. The last one he slapped with the halter strap and the animal jumped and kicked Zink. The horse's hoof struck him in the forehead.

Failing Returns to Iowa.

Albany, N. Y., June 15.—Gov. Morton today granted the requisition of the governor of Iowa for the custody of Henry Failing, alias Walter Morton and half a dozen other aliases, a noted crook who was arrested in Troy on May 28 for attempting to pass a forged check for $500. A year and a half ago Failing escaped from Keokuk, Ia., where he was confined for forgery, and made an unsuccessful attempt to break jail in Troy last night. There are many indictments hanging over him in the West.

NELLIES CAREER.

I shall never forget that June morning when Nell told us.

I was beating batter puddings—the cooking always fell to my share—and Nell and Deb were finishing the week's ironing. The big lilac bush was in full bloom outside the kitchen window, and some of the purple petals drifted in upon the old dimity skirt Nell was ironing. She had to brush them off, I remember, with her pretty, slender fingers. Deb and I always tried to save Nell's hands and do the rougher work ourselves. Why not? She was the youngest and our pet always.

Suddenly Nell set down her iron with a clatter and electrified us.

"Girls," she said, "the editor of the Orb has accepted another of my stories and I'm going to New York."

"What, to stay?" cried Deb, and I dropped on a chair, speechless.

"Yes," said Nell firmly. "I have it all arranged. I asked father's leave and made him promise not to tell you till everything was settled, because I knew you girls wouldn't like it and would try to persuade me to give it up. But the editor of the Orb has been very encouraging and you know I have had some work accepted by other papers, and I feel sure I can keep myself, at least, and I hope, of course," her eyes shining, "it will lead to better things. I wrote to Cousin Libby, and she has explained to me how she lives—she illustrates, you know, for weekly papers, I think—and she has rented a room for me in the apartment building where she lives herself. Fancy! She does all her own cooking on a little gas stove in her room—'pigging' she calls it—and I am to do the same for myself. You can live for very little that way," learnedly, "even in New York."

"But, Nell, you can't cook," I said. Somehow my dazed mind fastened on the least of the difficulties in my darling's path.

"Well, I can learn," she cried gayly, "or you can teach me, Em, in the next fortnight. I am not going till the 10th."

I saw her glance at me anxiously as she mentioned the date and then—I broke down and so did Deb, and presently we were all three clinging together and crying—into my bowl of batter.

What had father been thinking of, I wondered. But then he never could bear to cross Nell, any more than Deb or I could. And so from the first I felt that it was settled and that nothing I could say or do would alter it. But, oh, my heart was heavy.

By and by Deb said: "Nell, what will Morris say?" The same thought had been in my mind, but I could not put it into words and I was rather vexed with Deb. But we all knew that Morris loved Nell, though she would have nothing to say to him. It hurt me strangely even then that Morris should be slighted—Morris, so good and brave and strong and tender and steady—yes, and clever, too—that any girl might have been proud of his love. Nell only tossed her pretty head and said emphatically: "Oh, Morris!" And after awhile she and Deb began ironing again and I went to the cellar for more eggs and made fresh batter. And that was how Nell told us.

The next fortnight was a busy one, though it passed, as people say, like a dream. Miss Partridge came up from the village to help us put Nell's wardrobe in order, father crated the set of mahogany furniture which had been mother's when she married and which Nell was to take with her, and I got together the best and smallest of my kitchen tins and saucepans and packed them in a wooden box, which was to serve afterward, with shelves fitted inside it, Nell declared, as her "kitchen." How anxious I felt about the "pigging" arrangements and what careful instructions I gave, or tried to give, in coffee and omelet making! Morris came and went, looking, oh, so grave, and Nell's resentment of his attitude was hot and showed itself in the brusquerie with which she treated him. What passed between them the last evening I never knew. They were together for a long time in the garden and after they had parted Nell brushed past me crying and Morris, coming to say "good-night," looked white and stern. My heart ached for him. But he came with us to the station the next morning and tried to talk cheerfuly to Deb and me after we had said good-by to our dear girl and watched the train steam off.

* * * * * *

That was a weary summer. It was very dry and hot and nothing did well in the garden. Father was ailing, and Deb and I dropped into a dull round of daily duties. Morris came seldom. He was very busy, he told us, with his increasing law practice, which was extending itself through all the neighboring villages. Nell's letters were our only excitement, and though they were cheerful and amusing, with many bright descriptions of New York life "from the pigging side," as she called it, it seemed to me that an undertone of discouragement ran through them. However, with the autumn, things began to look brighter. Father's health improved and Nell wrote she had been offered a position on the staff of one of the papers she had been writing for. Morris began to be about the house again as he used to be, and with him came Jack Herrick, a young fellow whom he had taken into partnership and who evidently admired Deb. Morris rarely asked after Nell, but I noticed that when her name was mentioned he never missed a word that was said, and at Christmas, in the box we expressed to her, he sent a small parcel. Nell wrote back, "Thank Morris for his pretty gift." After Christmas Morris and Jack came still oftener. We went sleighriding together—we four—and bobbing on the hill. Sometimes I used to wonder how Deb and I and Morris could be so gay and light-hearted with Nell away.

By Easter Deb and Jack were engaged.

After that—well, the five months that followed were—what were they? Ah, how happy I was! And yet how wretched! How I refused to look into the future and lived in feverish excitement from day to day, hoping, fearing, dreading, longing for what I would not, could not plainly face. Morris was growing to love me—a little, not as he could love, but a little—Morris, whom I idolized. And Nell?

The end came one day in September, when we went to the woods for golden rod. Deb and Jack had wandered off and I had torn my hand—my stubby, work-worn hand, so unlike Nell's—on a straggling blackberry vine. Morris had bandaged it for me and as I looked up our eyes met. He slipped his arm around me so tenderly, and "Em, little woman," he began.

I think the terrible aching sense of loneliness which has been with me ever since and always will be came upon me at that moment. For with the sound of his voice the blindness I had willfully encouraged fell from me and I saw quite plainly that this was not to be. But I rested my head for a moment on his shoulder—I could not help it—and let him speak. When he had finished I said quietly: "Morris, dear, I think you are mistaken. I always believed that you and Nell—"

"Em, Em," he cried, "do you think me so base. Can you fancy—"

"Hush!" I said. And just then Deb and Jack came up and we strolled home.

All through the night I lay awake. In the morning came Nell's letter.

"Oh, darling Em," she wrote, "I am so terribly unhappy! I cannot keep it to myself any longer! I am a failure, Em!—a failure. And I did so hope for success! Oh, I do not mean that I cannot earn my living. I still hope to do that, but—I see it at last, quite plainly—I shall never, never rise above mediocrity, never make a name, never be more than a hack writer, scrambling for my bread and butter and thankful if I can make it. And I had such dreams, Em, such plans, such ambitions! I thought myself clever! Clever! I am a fool! I gave up—well! Never mind! It is a relief to tell you, dear."

There was more, but when I had read so far my mind was made up. I had money in the bank—enough—that mother had left me, and I went to Morris and told him that I wanted him to take me to New York. I said I gathered from Nell's letter that she was not feeling well, and I wanted to bring her home for awhile to rest. I spoke with quiet frankness, as a sister might. He looked at me strangely.

We started the next night.

It was early on a sultry September morning that we reached New York. I can still see the unswept, half-deserted streets and smell the odor of stale vegetables which greeted us. Morris took me to breakfast somewhere—I forget where—and then we rode in a cable car for what seemed to me an interminable distance. At last we reached the "Windermere," a tall, dingy apartment house, near the river. I remember I walked through a dingy hall to a more dingy elevator and were guided on the fifth floor through passages dingier still, to Nell's door! I trembled and pushed Morris in front of me. "Come in!" cried her dear voice, and—there she stood! Thinner, paler, a little careworn, but, it seemed to me, more beautiful than ever! She did not see me, and Morris—forgot me!

"Nell!" he cried, and opened wide his arms.

"Morris!" she answered, and, like a tired child, crept close to him.

And so it ended as I—yes, as I hoped it would end.

May See Without Being Seen.

The transparent mirror, which has recently been invented by a German chemists, will doubtless find many patrons among women. It is made by coating glass with a chemical preparation of silver nitrate and other materials, mixed up in a manner that has been patented by the inventor. That part of it isn't interesting. What does appeal to the feminine fancy and to that of the magician is the number of uses to which it can be put. The new mirrors are now being made by a large firm in France, in various sizes and shapes—big mirrors, to set in frames on the floor, panel-shaped glasses for doors to dark closets, and tiny hand-glasses for the dresser, beside those of intricate and complicated design, for use by such artists as the great Hermann, who sees in the new invention a world of mystery-fraught ledgerdemain.

One of these "magic mirrors" placed in the panel of the door opening into a brilliantly-lighted reception room, would furnish endless amusement to a hostess who is inclined to be curious, about the impression her home makes upon her visitors.

To quietly observe the actions of a devoted admirer, as he impatiently awaits the approach of his sweetheart, pacing about the room and perhaps consulting the very mirror behind which the object of his affections is concealed as he arranges his necktie for the seventh time, would be fun for the sweetheart, anyway.

If the mirror grows common, as they are likely to do, they will furnish parlor entertainments of many descriptions. For instance, suppose a cabinet to be fitted up with what appears to be an ordinary looking glass in its door. Conceal somebody within the cabinet and ask a lady to look at herself in the mirror, a request which, being a woman, she cannot refuse, then have the person within suddenly strike a match or turn on an electric light that has been previously arranged, and watch the effect upon your victim.

Such a mirror would be a great addition to a Halloween party, to be used when the anxious maiden, wishing to know her fate, gazes into the glass to see who looks over her shoulder, and beholds her sweetheart smiling upon her from behind the glass.

Ingenious minds, however, will surely devise many changes which can be rung upon this new magic mirror, and it is not necessary to specify further.

Drilling Holes in Iron Plates With Rifle Balls.

A novel method of perforating iron plates is reported from Salt Lake City. The city is being supplied with electricity for lighting and power generated fourteen miles away in the Big Cottonwood Canyon. It was found necessary for the purpose of pipe connections, to cut four forty-eight-inch openings in the seven-foot penstock, the plates of which were half an inch thick. The workmen began to cut with cape chisels, but the progress made was too exasperatingly slow for the engineer of the works, R. M. Jones, who is known throughout the West as the "cowboy engineer." Mr. Jones took up his rifle, and using steel bullets cased with copper, shot a line of holes through the plates from a distance of about thirty feet. The intervening edges were afterwards easily cut out, and in a very short time the job was finished.

Plenty of Time to get Choice Farms on the Reservation Thirty Days from Now.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

THE FAMOUS SAMARITAN Rye Whisky

Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.

FOR SALE BY

BRINK BROS.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA	PULLMAN
BUTTE	SLEEPING CARS
SPOKAND	ELEGANT
TACOMA	DINING CARS
SEATTLE	TOURIST
PORTLAND	SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information. Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 17, 1896.

EDITORIAL COLUMN.

At the adjournment of the United States Senate, after the passage of the Butler Bond bill Mr. Hill, the Wall Street solicitor in the senate exclaimed "And may God save the country."

Such flunkeyism is in keeping with the policy of force which the jew banker and his American co-conspirators are now trying to cram down the throats of the representatives of both the old parties. If the senator were a banker he could not be more faithful to that class of patriots (?) His exclamation might with propriety be applied to the banker for in the coming months he and his millions of ill-gotten gain will need the protection of some greater power than the great Grover.

The stuffed prophet has been endorsed again.

Polk County Democrats held a convention last Tuesday at the court house to elect delegates to the democratic state convention which will send delegates to Chicago on July 7th. The personel of the gathering consisted of the chairman of the county committee, a member of the state central committee and most of the federal office-holders in the county. The free-silver element was represented to a limited extent, but the "Sound Money" office holder had it all their own way and not only endorsed Sound Money and a gold basis but lauded to the skies the greatest mass of putrid filth that ever disgraced the nations capitol. It is entirely safe to assert that at least 90 per cent of the voters of Polk county are in favor of the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1, and it is just as safe to assert, that no federal office holder with one or two exceptions has the courage to assert what he knows to be true for fear that his official head will drop into the prophets garbage basket before the month is out. What admirable American citizenship!! Can the nation exist and maintain its liberties with such cowards in the saddle? Out with all such term servers and flunkeys; and usher in new men who love America, love her principles of liberty and her people, although they are poor and uncultured. All hail the day when we shall see them take the reins out of the ignoble hands now holding them.

FREE SILVER DEMOCRATS.

We find among the middle classes are many who, while they were once Democrats, have been forced to leave their mother party because of their love of the free silver doctrine, and who, having once broken away from the old party ties, have learned that there are many other reforms besides the doubtless much-needed one, free silver, that are badly needed.

They were the quick and ready soil in which the seed, in falling took ready root and sprang up rapidly. Once released from party prejudices, they could see clearly the unfair road along which the Democratic party was leading them, and becoming imbued with the honesty of the reforms for which the older veterans in reform work have been calling for years, have become open-hearted and ready for any of the reform measures.

But events prove that they were mistaken in themselves. The good seed had not taken as firm root as they believed, for when it began to look as if the Democratic National Convention might possibly nominate a silver candidate their ears pricked up like an old cavalry horse at the scent of battle; their old party love began to return, and with it the belief that if the dear old party only would declare for free silver all dissatisfied voters like themselves would return to their allegiance and the party would win.

Win! What a magnetic charm in the sound of that word. If they could only vote for the right and win! Brother Free Silver Democrat, let us say one word. You would vote the old party ticket on a free silver platform to help it win. Perhaps it would win. But do you, can you expect any radical reform from either of the old parties, shackled as they both are to Wall street, with English capitalists dominating their acts?

Have you ever known the Democratic party to keep one promise issued in a National platform? Besides, you have learned since first you fed in the reform pasture that there are many other things besides free silver, which are needful. You do not expect that they will be taken up by the Democratic party. Will you give them up forever? And last, you know that the party is not unanimously in favor of free silver even. The National Convention may not declare for it at all. If it does it will be the wish of the entire party? Can you expect, then, that the following Congress, even if Democratic, will do one thing for free silver? Does not history teach you that there will be weeks of inactivity, during which there will be bickerings between silver men and gold men, each trying to show their constituents that they are true to their pledges, and that during this deadlock the country will suffer? Think this over, and remember that the People's party is the only party that declares for free silver, or that will stand for it in its entirety if it is successful in the coming National election.—St. Louis Evening Journal.

Legislative Convention.

The Peoples party legislative convention for the fifty-first legislative district is hereby called to meet at the court house in Crookston, Minn., on Friday July 17th, A. D. 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of placing in nomination three candidates for the offices of representatives for said district. The basis of representation in said convention will be one delegate at large for each county and one additional for every two hundred and fifty (250) votes or major fraction thereof cast for S. M. Owen at the last general election. Upon this basis Polk county gets 17 delegates Norman 6 and Beltrami 1.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., June 4th, 1896.

P. M. RINGDAL, Chm.
B. M. CHESLEY, Sec.

Costs $10 to Think Five Minutes if the Receiver Is at Your Ear.

From Chicago it is possible to telephone farther than the 1,200 miles of which New York is so proud, for a man in Chicago can talk with another in Boston or in Newport. The distance is considerably over that from New York to Nashville.

It is not an inspiring thing to talk over a long distance phone. Business men may stand it all right, for their minds are full of other matters, but to one who goes into the thing simply for the experience and that he may say that he has done it the effect is crushing. It leaves one awed and disturbed by the thought of his own insignificance and the greatness of "things."

But the telephone girls seem to be troubled by no such thoughts. Apparently they experience no awe whatever. Each one is busy answering those who shriek wildly for connections with some faraway part of the country and keeping a watchful eye on the second hand of the clock before her. That second hand means considerable to her. The well worn statement that "talk is cheap" applies in no way to talk over the long distance phone.

Five minutes' conversation with a friend in Boston, even an intimate friend and using short words, is worth in the estimation of the telephone company $10. The same with a friend in New York, if it is possible for a Chicago man to find a friend in New York, comes to $9. If the friend happens to be in Washington, the talker gets off with a payment of only $7.50. It has been suggested that this scale of prices is dictated by the fact that Boston talk wears out the phone quicker than any other, but the company states upon it honor that it is simply because Boston is farthest away.

Connection with Boston was called for, not because there was any necessity of talking with Boston, but simply to see what it is like to talk to some one some 1,300 miles away.

"Hello, Boston!"

The speaker did not raise his voice. He was strongly tempted to, but had been told to speak in natural tones.

"Hello, Chicago!" came the answer clearly and distinctly. The man at the phone started. The voice sounded as though the speaker were close at his side. It seemed as though there ought to be some difficulty in hearing at that distance, but there was none. The words were even more distinct than when heard over the short distance phone.

"Did you say 'Hello?'" asked the Chicago man.

"Yes."

"Then you outraged all precedent. You should have said—oh, I don't know what!—some long word."

The Boston "central" laughed. The "central" was a girl, and her laugh sounded remarkably interesting. The Chicago man wondered what she looked like.

"Do you always wear a diamond stud with a colored shirt, and say 'waal,' and talk about pork packing, and get three divorces a year?" inquired the Boston end of the conversation.

"No," said Chicago promptly. "I'm not married. Never have been."

"Well?"

The Chicago man stopped to think. He should not have done it. It costs just as much to think with the receiver at one's ear as to say words like "reprehensibility." The five minutes were up, and he was cut off. The occurrence was unfortunate. It might have been a romance.

To expenses, $10.—Chicago Tribune.

Trifling With Science.

"What made that X rays lecturer so mad?"

"Somebody worked him with a piece of boneless codfish."—Chicago Record.

THAT "FIFTY-CENT" DOLLAR.

The "50-cent dollar" is the product of the "present gold standard." It is the off-spring of silver demonetization and gold appreciation. Legislation made it —legislation by the gold-bug forces which now denounce their handiwork

In 1873, under free coinage, there was no "fifty-cent dollar." The silver dollar in 1873 was worth $1.02 in gold. Legislation by Wall street and Lombard reduced the value of the silver in the dollar to 50 or 60 cents. The restoration of the law which existed from 1792 to 1873 will restore to the silver in the dollar the value which it had during 80 years of American free coinage history.

If the government enacts free coinage there will be no "50-cent dollar." If the man with 412½ grains of standard silver can coin it into a dollar, he will not part with it for half a dollar. The Oregon elections returns have already abolished the "50-cent dollar" and made it a "54-cent dollar." When the November returns are in from 50 states and territories, and gold monometalism dies, it will be a 100-cent dollar.—Penny Press.

A Pitiful Sight.

There is something truly pitiful about the sight of a man in Colorado wearing a McKinley badge. The woman who cautiously hides her shame and takes no one into her confidence can practice all sorts of deceit and get along quite nicely in society without giving offense, but let her don a loud sealskin sacque, wear big diamond earrings, paint her face and fill her corsets full of bad liquor, and go through the streets swinging her bonnet by the string and yelling like a Commanche Indian, then society calls a halt. Why not take down the trusty old elm club and begin now to do business with the Coloradian who wears a McKinley emblem of gold buggery and claims to be a silver man?—Road.

FLAX SEED.

First-class flax seed for sale, absolutely clean, price reasonable at 28-tf E. J. HOLMES.

RICH DISCOVERIES OF GOLD.

At Cripple Creek, Colo., and elsewhere, are being made daily, and the production for 1896 will be the largest ever known, estimated at Two Hundred Million Dollars, Cripple Creek alone is producing over One Million Dollars a month, and steadily increasing. Mining Stocks are advancing in price more rapidly than any other Stocks, and many pay dividends of 35 to 50 per cent. They offer the best opportunity to make a large profit on a small investment.

JOHN I. TALLMAN & CO., 14 Pacific Ave. Chicago, Ill. are financial agents for the Prudential Gold Mining Co., and others in the famous Cripple Creek district. They will send you free, interesting particulars of the Mining Companies they represent also their book on Speculation in Stocks, Grain and Cotton, containing many new and important features.

Send for these books at once if you are interested in any form of speculation or investments. They may prove profitable to you. 37-5

"I wish that those ancestors of ours hadn't sat down and invented proverbs," remarked a young attorney of this city disconsolately.

"Well," replied his friend, "they probably couldn't help putting in their time that way. They were people of intelligence, and they had to do something. 'Necessity knows no law.'"

"That's the worst one of the lot," was the indignant reply. "A long time ago some person said, 'Necessity knows no law,' and the popular impression to that effect is now so great that the more I need practice in my profession the less people seem willing to trust me with business."—Washington Star.

Liquor License Application.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned O. W. Brink hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the first day of July 1896.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on lot thirteen (13) of block thirty-nine (39) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire, Polk county, Minnesota, said building having three outside entrances, one in front and two in rear.

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinance of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire, this 9th day of June 1896.

O. W. BRINK.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota, will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 27th day of June 1896 at eight o'clock p. m., at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

[SEAL] J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

Liquor License Application.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned, J. A. Dainard, hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1896.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on lot eleven (11) of block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire, Polk county, Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one in rear.

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire, this 9th day of June 1896.

J. A. DAINARD.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 27th day of June 1896 at eight o'clock p. m., at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

[SEAL] J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 28	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NF and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	500
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 1.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

☞ For furthe information apply to
H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE
Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday $4.00
Sunday Journal, alone $1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth —something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:
Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year $4.00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year $3.75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application.

Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

Liquor License Application.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned, Engebert M. Hoff, hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1896.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on lot six (6) of block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances, one in front and one in rear.

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire, this 9th day of June 1896.

ENGEBERT M. HOFF.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 27th day of June 1896 at eight o'clock p. m., at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

[SEAL] J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston, Minn., May 28, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on July 8th 1896 viz:

HANS J. BJORGE.

H. E. No. 13450, for the lot 2, sec. 14, tp. 153 N range 42 west.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

O. J. Johnson, Julius Holtz, H. O. Linstad and Halvor T. Aamot, all of Wyandotte post office, Minnesota.

44-49 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston, Minn., May 19th 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on July 2nd 1896, viz:

John O. Shjerva Hd No. 14139, for the w½ sw¼ sec. 33, e½ se¼ sec. 32 tp 153 N. range 43 west.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of, said land, viz:—Andrew Nelson, Peter A. Tune, Gilbert Anfinson and Ole H. Broten, all of St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

42-47 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

M. Z. EPPERSON

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota

This is Easy Enough!

Any of my customers will be presented with a life like portrait free of charge by presenting their picture at my store.

M. A. HALL. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Winchester Repeating Rifles Shot-Guns Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞ Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS.	BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS.	RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS.	MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

BRINK BROTHERS

Cigars.

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE
Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.
Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,
Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

Harness.....

☞If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing, call on

C. A. SKEIE,

West Broadway. St. Hilaire, Minn.

Blacksmith!

☞Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, Etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. O. DAHL. St. Hilaire, Minn.

M. E. BJERK

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.

Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41-52

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL	Councilmen
M. Z. EPPERSON	Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	45c	Butter	7@8c
Oats	12c	Eggs	6c
Barley	18c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.50
Flax	67c	Potatoes "	12½

LOCAL NEWS.

The Torbett
Concert Company at Brink's Hall.
Tuesday
June 23rd.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

A boat house will be erected soon.

Mrs. Chelin went to Crookston Monday.

Pike fishing is good any place in the river

A base ball club was organized Monday evening.

Deputy Sheriff Losey was seen in the village last Friday.

M. Z. Epperson is shipping wood in car load lots to Crookston.

R. H. Aimer was doing business at Euclid a few days last week.

The game of base ball Sunday stood 17 to 4 in favor of St. Hilaire.

Dr. Francis performed an operation on Harry Swenson last Friday.

"Queen Lil" is the name of the new boat that was launched Sunday.

The republican national convention was held yesterday at St. Louis.

BORN.—To Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Gistie on Monday June 15th 1896, a son.

Martin Bjerk moved his new bar fixtures into his building yesterday.

Draying without a license was the case tried before Justice Hall Monday.

W. A. Sorsoleil has three boats more to build—all to be completed by July 4th.

The south side of the Brink building was primmed by Painter Barragy last week.

P. G. Paradis received a few barrels of John A. Gund's La Crosse lager beer last week.

An Iowa paper says the principal crop down there this season promises to be bull-frogs.

Mrs. W. A. Arthur went to Crookston Monday to have dental work performed, returning to-day.

The SPECTATOR building has taken on a new coat of paint—the right paint in the right place.

The Walker saw mill at Crookston will start in sawing five million feet of logs next Monday.

Miss Cochrane of Red Lake Falls was visiting with friends in the village a few days last week.

Billy Stranahan was relieved a few hours Friday from clerical duty and made a trip to Thief River.

Land seekers are coming in thicker and faster than any time before or since the reservation was opened.

Miss Sorum of Thief River Falls who presides over the news case in the News office is visiting friends in this village.

Mrs. H. J. Freeman and children left Monday for a three months' visit with relatives and friends at Fon du Lac, Wis.

Chas. Tedford, proprietor of the "Hub" at Thief River Falls was in the village Thursday and Friday of last week.

Harry Swenson purchased the row boat of Rapp & Post and will make a trip to the Lake of the Woods in the near future.

Commissioner Norland left last Friday for the county seat where he expects to remain a week or more performing commissioner duties.

Dr. Watson of Red Lake Falls passed through here last Friday at 2 o'clock a. m., on his way to Thief River Falls where he was anxiously awaited for.

The Penny Press is the only paper in the twin cities that is employing union printers since the strike began. That paper is all right every day in the week.

Ed. Gistie, the gentlemanly clerk at Rapp & Post's store was around bright and early Monday morning passing the Havannas over the event of the boy on that morning.

Billy Barragy is the painter, and its the painter you want to see to paint your building.

C. G. Rapp is at Red Lake Falls today billing the town for the Torbett Concert Company which appear at Brink's hall June 23rd.

One of our exchanges has the following unique heading:—"Ein's Kann Man immer noch trinken." Of course its a pay local, but never-the-less you don't see it every day.

"The Martin Laily" will be the name of the new steamer which will ply the river between Thief River Falls and Red Lake, so T. B. Walker the owner of the boat says.

Charley Brink and Leonard Holmes took a drive out to the Black River country yesterday looking up the crop prospects and posting bills for the Torbett Concert Company.

A special election will be held at Fosston June 30th for the purpose of voting on water works and electric lights. They will make a great effort to be metropolitan like.

The populist primary election held last Thursday afternoon elected H. E. Ives and W. C. Peters to represent this village at the county convention which will be held at Crookston tomorrow.

J. Hogquist, our merchant tailor who has been spending the past two weeks with his brother and father east of here, came in Monday. He reports the tailor business rather quiet, although he picked up three orders.

Mike Willmas, of well driller fame, came up from Red Lake Falls Monday and proceeded to the farm of Wash Adams where he has his well drilling apparatus. As a well driller, Mike has few equals—he has the machinery.

W. A. Riechel, the photographer of Red Lake Falls came up yesterday with his instrument to take a birds-eye view of the village for advertising purposes. Mr. Riechel will try and make arrangements to visit St. Hilaire once a week.

The mosquito crop is dead ripe and a heavy one at that. There is a fortune in store for someone who can get up a preparation that will prevent the "nice little fellows" from presenting their long bills. Here is a chance for your life.

From the typographical appearance of the twin city papers last week, one would naturally suppose there was something wrong—and so there was—the long tailed variety got in their work on all but the Penny Press. Have you noticed this?

One of the men working on the wash-out on Jim Hill's road near Red Lake Falls when asked how he liked the work replied to an old friend of his:—"Mike, its just like begging, only you don't have to ask for it—you just push up when chuck time comes."

A grand celebration will be held at St. Hilaire July 4th. Base ball, horse races, ox races, boat races in fact all kinds of races will be held on that day. $500.00 in prizes will be given away. Grand ball at Brink's hall in the evening. Every body invited. Look out for program in next week's issue.

President Hines of the Farmers railroad was in the village last Friday. He expects the surveyers will commence work west of Deer River about the 12th of July. Mr. Hines also stated that the company decided to postpone the proposition of bonding Polk county until some future date.

Three old batchelors went hand in hand Monday evening looking for four leaf clover. They seemed to be three very poor judges of clover, for when they came back each of them had pinned to the lapel of their coats, four-leaf artichokes. Oh! you're a lucky lot—now look for horse shoes.

Warren was excited over the finding of a petrified man fifteen miles northwest of that town last week. It was dug up while digging a ditch for a culvert about two or three feet from the surface. Its good advertising, no matter whether the "stone man" was planted or not. Dime museums are short on this article.

The Kittson County Enterprise has the following good words to say for Mr. S. E. Haight who was lately lodged in the East Grand Forks jail for delivering a free silver speech on the streets of that city.

"No, these fellow may call Haight, a fool, a lunatic, an agent of silver mine owners, but they cannot break the force nor show the fallacy of a single argument he puts forth, because his illustrations are so plain and forcible, that the most illiterate and dullest mind can comprehend their meaning and see their application."

E. M. Hoff made a trip to Thief River Falls last week to make a few collections. Collections were good—he got all kinds of money even to a $17 check. While waiting for the train to start Mr. Hoff had all of his pockets turned inside out looking for said check which was finally found. He had no more than had it in his fingers when a gust of wind snatched it from him—just then the train pulled out, and some one had the impudence to say "did you lose something." The $17 check is still missing.

An exchange says, a man who chewed twenty cents worth of tobacco a week concluded to try the tobacco cure. In two weeks he ate up $1.50 cents worth of the cure and for the next two weeks he used ten cents worth of candy, five cents worth of chewing gum, five cents worth of peanuts and five cents worth of cough drops per day. And during these two weeks he also consumed two large rubber erasers, ate the rubber tips from fourteen lead pencils, chewed up a dozen penholders and browsed off his mustache as high as he could reach. He is now chewing tobacco again in the interest of economy.

Uncle Ephriam Broke a Leg.

MISTER EDATUR:—I spose yu think it a long time that I'm stayin away frum toun, and it seems a long time for me, but it'll be sum weaks afore you'll see me agin, unles yu cum out to mi plac to BUSHY. Last Sundy nite while the old woman was gone to church at Knudson shool house I went out to the stabul to look round and kinder make up mi mind like, what ort to be dun to keepe the ruff from lekein too bad for anuther yere. Its dumed discuragin to hav to by pine lumber at $16 a thousan when we've got lots of the best pine in the country olmost at our own doers that aint wuth mor'n $8 and will be sold fer that when yu git saw mills at St. Hilaire. But as I wus goin to tel yu, I wus lookin around and a kinder punchin the shinguls, over the ladder hole to see if the ruff laked thare, I spose I wus carles, but I steped into the ladder hole and fell doun stairs cleare to the bottom and broke my lage. The old woman wus cummin down along side the hog pastur fence about that time and hurd me houlin like a skart wolf as she exprest it, and cum to mi assistence. I'm gettin along now as wal as cud be expected considerin my age and deformaties. I had to call in a doctor and got one frum toun and I've ben mad ever sense. He wus a regler gold bug and coodn't say enything but about mi lage and sound munny. I told him I didn't care to talk about munny—my lage aked too bad, but I knowed that good silver and gold munny wus sound and so was gumbox. He looked at me a spel and then strated up and sed. "Yu don't nead to no enything about munny; thats the bankers bisnis, we've had too meny such men as yu tryin to tel the pepul about munny and yu now see how it is; munny's skarse and all in the bankers hands where it ort to be and such men as yu don't nead eny;—in a fu yerės yul aul be the tennents of the nobility and they'l by such things as yu nead. Gentlemen, only nead munny, farmers and laborers can trade in barter." I wus orful hot, John, at what he sed, but what cud I do? lage broke and strapt up in half a cord of wood and a sheet or two and tide to the bed rale, but I thot mity fast and said nothin fur sum time. Bime bi the doctor sed "Well how about payin me fur cumin out here?" I sed olrite, I'll pa yu but I hant got no munny, yul hef to take barter, and I hollered to Bill and Jim, mi boys to cum in and when tha cum I told them to go out and bring in the rone stere caf and enuf of them April pigs to make, with the caf, ten dollars. Whew! yu otter hearn the lettle cuss kik and swar. He sed he wus no caf and hog driver and wudent take such things fur his feas, hed have the munny or hed send the sheref out, but here Jim put in. (he's our oldest boy and owns the farm and all there's on it) and sed, "Dokter, yu had better take what dad offers you, it aint hisn to giv but I'm willin yu shud hav it, but I didn't col you and all the property here is mine." The dockter looked mad and taked bak sum to Jim, but putty soon I sede him drivit off with fore pigs in his buggy and the bob-tail caf tide behind. I hollered to him as he went out the gate and askt him if he knode enything about sound munny, but he was too bizzy cussin to here me, Jim hurd him say as he driv off "I wont talk finance with such ole fools eny more." When I git well I'll see that docktor agin and tell him some things about munny he never node, seeñ dont John. Will be doun as soon as the bones in mi lage is olrite

Yure frend,
EFRUM PRICE.

Charley Rapp, Dan Patterson and H. E. Ives were appointed a committee of three to go before the county commissioners in regard to moving the county bridge. The matter has been looked into and the two former returned today.

Judge of Probate Benson commited suicide at East Grand Forks last Thursday by shooting himself. It is believed that he misappropriated funds of estates to the extent of thousands of dollars and is short in his accounts with the county. No doubt he was guilty and commited this rash act.

When an old party agent tells you that the Peoples party is losing ground—dying out, etc., don't you take any stock in his arguments. The reform movement is growing all over the country except in the large money centers of the east from where the gold plates are furnished the lickspite press of the country, free of charge. The peoples party is growing. Thinking people are joining it every day.—Norman County Herald.

Twin Valley is talking about building a new school house. Permit us to offer you a bit of advice: When you build, gentlemen, build big. The possibilities of this climate for the increase of population can hardly be calculated. When we came to Ada 18 years ago they were just building their first school house and it was not a very small one either. Three years later a larger building became a necessity and there were those who said we never would need all the room provided in the building. For several years the children have been packed in layers in the big building we have and about half a hundred "stored" outside. The work of keeping pace with the increase in population will be taken upon again this summer by erecting a large addition. If this increase goes on it will be necessary to put a roof over the town before many years.—Norman County Herald.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Torbett Concert Company.

The Torbett Concert Company, which was formerly, and now consisting partly of the Lutteman Sextette, the renowned Swedish Singers, has been secured by n. Zetterberg to appear at Brink's hall, St. Hilaire, June 23rd. The concert to begin at 8 o'clock sharp.

This company have lately visited a number of the Southern States, and Mexico, where their fame as singers attracted the attention of the President who extended an invitation to them to sing at the Capitol. Thus, instead of going abroad, as the company expected to do they have made a most successful tour through the south and Mexico. They have been urged by their admirers, throughout the Northwest to make a return visit, to the different points where they have formerly sung, and therefore decided to again come west to entertain their friends with songs and music.

Miss Torbett, the violinist, is an American lady, who took the prize at the World's exposition as a violinist. The singers who are Scandinavians have also taken prizes at the Berlin and Paris Expositions.

This is positively the last chance to hear this renowned company as they go to Europe after making a tour throughout the northwest. Don't fail to hear them.

Tickets on sale at Rapp & Post's store. Prices 50 and 75 cents.

WYLIE ITEMS.

Miss Hattie Davidson was here posting letters last week.

Andrew Letvig struck water on the Charley Adolphson farm.

The Misses Lizzie Larson ann Annie Sandberg gave us a pleasant call Tuesday.

This is good weather for using lemons, if you are in need of any, call at Smitzsangs.

Miss Amanda and Annie Scholin took the train Monday, the former for Beltrami and the latter for Crookston.

Charley Adolphson is hauling his lumber from here and will begin at once to put up a house on his farm.

Sunday witnessed a pleasant gathering at S. J. Larson's home. Ole Romsas and Chris Borgen were the representatives from Wylie.

Mr. Lepert destroyed his old house Tuesday and will replace it with a new one which will add greatly to the appearance of his place.

Perhaps the most popular entertainment which ever pleased the people of Crookston is the Torbett Concert Company, the personel of which includes beside Miss Ollie Torbett the famous lady violinist, the renowned Lutteman Sextette of male voices.

This company has appeared in Crookston twice before and each time has been received with every evidence of appreciation which their high order of merit deserves. Miss Torbett is not only an artiste of rare musical ability but her sweet, winning way, and desire to please by a generous response to repeated encores, has won for her the hearty good will of all, and a consequent desire to hear her again which will fill the house. The Upsala singers with their well trained and highly cultivated voices, singing the popular music of the Scandinavian mountains and Fjords always attract those who love to recall memories of Normannaheim through the medium of the home songs.

The company will appear at the Grand opera house on the evening of Tuesday, June 16th.—Crookston Times.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

Ordinance No. 12.

Notice is hereby given that ordinance No. 12 is amended as follows to-wit:

SEC. 1. The price for license is lowered from $2.00 to $1.50 for each male dog, and from $5.00 to $3.00 for each bitch or slut owned or possessed by any person or resident.

SEC. 2. The dog inspector is to receive fifty cents for each unlicensed dog that he catches after serving notice on the owner or possessor of said dog, if he or she is to be found. Said owner is to pay the village recorder fifty cents above the cost of license before the dog or slut will be released from the dog pound. The dog inspector shall keep all dogs impounded by him forty-eight hours before killing the same.

Given under our hands this 3rd day of June 1896.

[SEAL] C. G. RAPP,
President.
J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

Liquor License Application.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned, J. H. Paradis, hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1896.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on lot ten (10) of block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota. said building having two outside entrances, one in front and one in rear.

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire, this 9th day of June 1896.

J. H. PARADIS.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 27th day of June 1896 at eight o'clock p. m., at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

[SEAL] J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but every-one knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

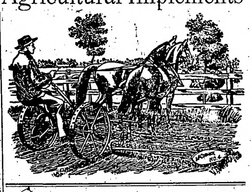
Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements



McCORMICK NO. 4.

American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,
North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

Only

Think what a long train of diseases arise from impure blood. Then keep the blood pure with

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills are always reliable. 25 cents.

Blindness Due to Accident.

Statistics show that Pennsylvania has more citizens whose sight has been destroyed, or who have had their eyes rendered useless, than any other state. The large number of iron and steel plants and other manufactories and mines within its limits is responsible for this. The fact that Pittsburg is the center of the iron and steel trade, and in the most important coal mining district in the country, furnishes the explanation for the fact, as stated by the Chronicle of that city, that there are more people in Pittsburg wearing glass eyes than are to be found in any other city in the country. Those who are in a position to know estimate that there are about 2,400 such unfortunates in Allegheny county, or about 1 to every 250 persons.—Buffalo Express.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Not Worth Mentioning.

"A capital invention—these horseless carriages!"

"Don't talk rubbish! We have had for a long time things quite as remarkable in their way as horseless carriages, and nobody takes the slightest notice of them."

"Indeed! What, for instance?"

"Cowless milk."—Dorfbarbier.

Steamer Traffic on the Kootenai.

Jennings, Mont., Special.—The steamer Rustler left to-day on her first trip of 125 miles north to the Fort Steele Mining District. She is 140 tons burden, with ample accomodation for passengers and is the third steamer now operated on the upper Kootenai River between this point and the mines. The North Star Mine has a contract to deliver 7,000 tons of ore this season to the Great Falls smelter. Four Great Northern cars were loaded yesterday and seven to-day. The east Kootenai mining country is exceedingly rich in placer and quartz, and the indications point to a large development this year. The river and harbor bill just passed by congress over the president's veto gives us $5,000 for the improvement of the river. This will remove several obstructions and materially improve the channel.

Two Ways to Start Conversation.

The hostess hunted up the host and whispered to him anxiously:

"The reception's a dead failure. Everybody is sitting as mute as a statue. Nobody is talking to anybody else."

"What do you suggest?" he asked in reply. "Shall we get some one to play the piano or shall we start a few games of whist?"—Detroit Free Press.

Poor Old Quakertown.

Teacher—Now, Freddie, since you have correctly spelled Philadelphia, can you tell me what state it is in?

Freddie—Yes, sir. I heard pa say, the other day, that it was in a state of coma.—Yonkers Gazette.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.
Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

And Then He Was Hanged.

"Step on the trap, please," said the sheriff to the condemned murderer.

"No; I'll be hanged if I do," he replied, stoically.

Then the sheriff explained the matter to him, and both he and the subject were dropped.—West Union Gazette.

Singular.

Hojack—I always understood that Henry and Lucy Teeters were twins.

Tomdik—They were at birth, but Lucy is four years the younger now."—Truth.

Syrup of Figs

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

The coolness is refreshing; the roots and herbs invigorating; the two together animating. You get the right combination in HIRES Rootbeer.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

OPIUM Habit Cured. Est. in 1871. Thousands cured. Cheapest and best cure. FREE TRIAL. State case. DR. MARSH, Quincy, Mich.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

THE QUEEN'S DINNER.

HOW ENGLAND'S SOVEREIGN FEEDS ON SUNDAYS.

Such a Dinner Would Hardly Answer in Plutocratic Circles of This Country —Written in French for Her Majesty.

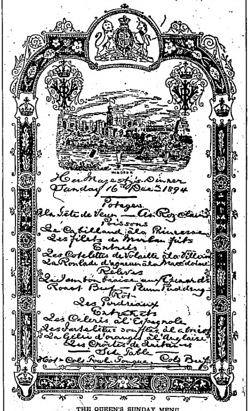
FOR the sake of dining with Mrs. Guelph at Windsor Castle any number of Americans would gladly give part of their fortunes. As many more would follow their example if they possessed the fortunes to give. A few of the first may some time reach the dinner table of the queen. The great crowd, however, will go hungry if they wait for an invitation to dine with her majesty. As a substitute, all who would like to learn what kind of dinners the queen of Great Britain eats may duplicate for their Sunday dinner the menu of the queen's own Sunday dinner, published herewith.

Of course, the queen's cook doesn't give her majesty the same dishes every Sunday, as the Bostonians cling to beans for breakfast. But this is considered an example of the Sunday dinner prepared for her royal highness.

After studying the menu at this royal dinner some of those aspiring Americans may be satisfied to remain at home. The dinner isn't a bit more elaborate or better composed than the chefs of any number of wealthy Americans serve without ostentation.

The menu card for this dinner here reproduced is about six inches wide and eight inches deep. It is gilt edged, with a glossy finish. The scroll border has a gilt ground with pink roses, blue thistles, oak leaves and acorns in the designs. Ireland is represented by designs of shamrocks.

Anybody might know it was a queen's menu, for there are only six crowns and two of Victoria's monograms on it, while the English lion and unicorn surmount the whole. It ought to convey some suggestions for menu designs to some American plutocrats.



Her Majesty's Dinner
Sunday 16th Dec. 1894
Potages
A la Tête de Veau — Au Riz clair
Poissons
Le Cabillaud à la Princesse
Les filets de Merlan frits
Entrées
Les Cotelettes de Volaille à la Villeroi
La Roulade d'agneau à la Macédoine
Relevés
Le Jambon braisé aux Epinards
Roast Beef — Plum Pudding
Rôt
Les Perdreaux
Entremets
Les Céleris à l'Espagnole
Les Tartelettes soufflés à l'abricot
La Gelée d'oranges à l'Anglaise
Les Croûtes de [illegible]
Side Table
Hot & Cold Fowl. Tongue. Cold Beef

THE QUEEN'S SUNDAY MENU.
(Photograph from the original.)

The menus for the queen's table are always written by hand, and in French. English it appears is not proper. A draft is made for her, and with her own hands, like the good housewife she is, the royal pen crosses out such dishes as are not to her fancy, and writes those she prefers in their places.

In plain English, the queen is served with two soups, one of calf's head, the other a clear rice soup. The first fish is a cod, with the dressing, the foundation of which is anchovy sauce. The second fish dish is fried fillets of merlan. Merlan is like whiting.

For entrees there are chicken cutlets dipped in egg, rolled in crumbs and fried. The second entree is made from a piece of lamb. Then a braised ham with spinach. Not at all complicated. Then comes the English national dish, roast beef, which the queen dignifies by preserving in its English form of expression. It is never "ros-boeuf." To make it more typically Anglo-Saxon it is flanked by plum pudding.

Roast partridges are next served.

For the entremets are celery with a brown sauce; tartlets with apricot souffle, orange jelly and a dish with milk for its foundation.

If you live in a big country house the side table is doubtless already established. If not, then to follow the queen's menu it will have to be inaugurated for this occasion in order to hold hot and cold fowl of various sorts, tongue and cold beef.

When all is said it isn't the style of dinner that an American unafflicted with anglophobia would choose of his own free will.

M. Charles Ranhoffer, Delmonico's chef, who looked at the menu for her majesty's dinner, was asked by a New York reporter:

"What do you think of it?"

"I'd rather not say what I think of it," he replied, "because I know the chef."

"Is it the kind of a dinner you would make up for an American, especially a New York table?"

M. Ranhoffer smiled and said: "Not at all. I don't want to criticise it, but you see there are three fries together and the releves follow the entrees. It should be in the opposite order."

There is the fun of being a queen. She may turn the usual order of progression of courses topsy-turvy. Does any one suppose any plain American woman with a good cook would dare to mix things up like that? Not a bit. But if the queen so desires she may even begin at the last course and reverse the entire order.

"That is a good, plain substantial dinner," went on M. Ranhoffer, "just the kind the queen of England might be expected to prefer. It's old style. See, they use 'le' and 'les' and 'la.' We leave them out. Roast beef—plum pudding—huh!"

When M. Ranhoffer said "huh" it meant a lot, but he didn't translate it.

"Plum pudding," he repeated, still with the same emphasis. "That's English." It sounded as if M. Ranhoffer was not a great admirer of English cookery of the plum pudding order.

"There's nothing there except very ordinary dishes," he went on. "It's the kind of a dinner never seen in New York. It's solid, true English form, not at all French nor Italian either."

The queen doesn't always confine herself to six courses and the side table. M. Ranhoffer would suggest that with seven courses, the order of entrees and releves being changed, and eight instead of four entremets, her majesty's dinner might be improved.

GEORGE ELIOT'S PLAINNESS

It Is Said She Spoke Too Seriously to Be Witty.

Nature had disguised George Eliot's apparently stoical yet really vehement and sensitive spirit and her soaring genius in a homely and insignificant form, says Locker-Lampson in his reminiscences. Her countenance was equine—she was rather like a horse, and her head had been intended for a much larger body—she was not a tall woman. She wore her hair in not pleasing out-of-fashion loops, coming down on either side of her face, so hiding her ears, and her garments concealed her outline they gave her a waist like a milestone. You will see her at her very best in the portrait by Sir Frederic Burton. To my mind George Eliot was a plain woman. She had a measured way of conversing, restrained, but impressive.

"When I happened to call she was nearly always seated in the chimney corner on a low chair, and she bent forward when she spoke. As she often discussed abstract subjects she might have been thought pedantic, especially as her language was sprinkled with a scientific terminology; but I do not think she was a bit of a pedant. Then, though she had a very gentle voice and manner there was every now and then just a suspicion of meek satire in her talk. Her sentences unwound themselves very neatly and completely, leaving the impression of past reflection and present readiness; she spoke exceedingly well, but not with all the simplicity and verve, the happy abandon of certain practiced women of the world; however, it was in a way that was far more interesting.

"I have been told she was most agreeable en tete-a-tete; that when surrounded by admirers she was apt to become oratorical—a different woman. She did not strike me as witty or markedly humorous; she was too much in earnest; she spoke as if with a sense of responsibility, and one cannot be exactly captivating when one is doing that. * * * She was a good listener."

By Telephone.

She—Of course you will have to ask papa's consent now? He (who has just proposed and been accepted)—O—er—yes, of course! Er—has your papa a telephone?—Boston Globe.

HEALTH IN OLD AGE.

AN OLD WOMAN FINDS THE TRUE SOURCE OF VITALITY.

A Reporter's Interesting Interview With a Lady of Seventy-two Years, Who Tells a Marvelous Story.

From the Union, Port Jervis, N. Y.

But a short time ago, in a distant part of the country, we heard of a cure by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which seemed almost marvelous, and more recently another substantial evidence of their value reached our ears. Being of an inquiring turn of mind, and wishing to know just how much there was in the story, a reporter was sent to interview the person said to be thus benefited. If the narrative as it had reached our ears was true, it was only simple justice to let it be known—if it proved untrue, it would be well to know it.

The person alluded to above as having been thus greatly benefited by the use of Pink Pills is Mrs. Jane Hotalen, of Hainesville, N. J., a pleasant hamlet in Sussex County, about fifteen miles from this office. The reporter had no difficulty in finding Mrs. Hotalen. She is a pleasant-faced old lady, looking to be sixty-five, but is in reality seventy-two years of age. After a few preliminary remarks in explanation of the call she was asked if she had any objection to giving us the details of the case and how she came to try this now famous remedy.

"Not at all," said she. "If my experience can be of any good to others, I am sure they are welcome to it—it can do me no harm."

"When were you taken sick and what was the nature of the malady?"

"It was about two years ago. The trouble was rheumatic in character—sciatica, they called it—and it was very painful indeed. The difficulty began in my hip and extended the whole length of the limb, crippling me completely. I suffered intensely from it, and the ordinary treatment gave me not the slightest alleviation. I was under treatment about a month as stated, but grew worse instead of better, and was fast becoming discouraged."

"What brought Pink Pills to your notice?"

"My son called my attention to an article in a paper, in which it was stated that a Mr. Struble, of Branchville, a village in this county, had been greatly benefited by their use, and suggested that it would be a good plan to try them. But I was skeptical in regard to their value—in fact, I had no confidence in their efficacy, and rather laughed at the suggestion. But the trouble increased and I was badly crippled. A few days later my son was about to visit a neighboring town and suggested again that it might be well to try this much-talked-of remedy, and I then consented. He bought me a box of them, and I began taking them at once. At the end of a week I noted a marked improvement, and by the time I had taken the first box I was able to walk without a cane. I continued their use, taking several boxes, and am, as you see, in a very comfortable state of health."

"Have you had any return of the trouble?"

"Not as yet, though at my time of life, seventy-two, it would not be surprising if I should have. If it comes I should at once begin the use of the pills. I suppose I inherit a tendency to troubles of this kind—my mother died from them."

"Did you ever note any ill effects from the use of Pink Pills?"

"None whatever. They never disturbed my stomach in any way or caused me any annoyance. I am able, as you see, to attend to my own work.

The reporter thanked Mrs. Hotalen for her courtesy and bade her good day. It is not often that one can witness such a complete recovery from such a pertinacious trouble at such an advanced age, and such instances cannot fail to produce a profound impression. Readers of the Union may rely on the absolute accuracy of all the statements here given — nothing has been exaggerated, nothing withheld.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, by addressing Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Twenty Years From Now.

Judge—What's the charge against the man?

Court Officer 3240—The Suburban Cycle Squad brouht him in. He was found wandering in the outskirts. When asked what he was looking for, he said sidewalks.

Judge—Great Caesar! Doesn't he know we have had no use for sidewalks for the last twenty years? Where's his wheel?

Officer—He has no wheel, your honor.

Judge—No wheel! What is he, anyway?

Officer—He says he's a—a—pedestrian, your honor.

Judge—Put him in the padded cell until I can commit him.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Rutabagas for Fodder.

It is gratifying to see so many American farmers putting their waste places or spare lands into rutabagas and turnips for early fall or long winter feeding. They are getting the European idea of root crops. There the turnips and rutabagas are sown broadcast as are almost all grains, and if not desired as roots, the foliage is used for green food. Just imagine the results of a twenty acre oat patch treated in this way. Think of the tremendous amount of green fodder, magnificent fodder too, coming into full play in hot August and September. Why a field of rutabagas and turnips, there for cattle fod, is worth almost as much as the oats gathered therefrom. Another god plan is to sow rutabaga seed, especially the variety known as Salzer's, La Crosse, Wis. Mammoth Russian variety, or his Milk Globe turnip sort, at the rate of one half pound per acre, into the cornfield, just before the last cultivation. This will give you two good crops—one of corn, and the other of rots from the same land. One advantage of the rutabaga is that it can be sown at any time of the summer for green food, while a sowing the later part of July is the best in northern states for big, sweet, juicy rots for winter storage and use.

One at a Time.

Clara—Does your intended know that you wear false teeth?

Ella—I intend breaking it gently to him; I have already owned to one.—Lose Blatter.

An aluminum boat for sportsmen's use has been made; it weigs but 30 pounds, is 14 feet long and will cary two people.

DR. J. G. GRANT, Specialist.
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.
Syndicate Block, Minneapolis.
(Spectacles fitted.)

It is said that the first restaurant on the lines that we know it today was started at Paris in 1765 by a man rejoicing in the most appropriate name of Boulange.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has been a family medicine with us since 1865.—J. R. Madison, 2409 42nd. Ave., Chicago, Ill.

"What is you idea of an intellectual woman, Mrs. Ontskirts?"

"Well, she's one who never gets out the hammock and hangs it up until after her husband makes all the garden beds she has mapped out."—Chicago Record.

A pure white eagle was once observed on the island of Heligoland.

THE ALHAMBRA.

Its Real Beauty Is Felt Only When It Is Seen in All Its Varying Aspects.

I know the happy time has passed when the stranger is offered an apartment in the palace; probably Washington Irving himself nowadays would have to put up in the hotel of his own name, instead of the rooms of the fair Elizabeth of Parma; Gautier, I do not believe, would have a chance to wrap himself in his blanket, and sleep a single night in the open court of Louis or the hall of the Two Sisters, dreaming of the harems and its beauties, who had slept there so many ages before him. But by day, at least, we, too, can boast that in our castle of memory once our home was the Alhambra. It was easily managed. We had but to ask, and we got a ticket. This was supposed to enable us to pursue our studies, and, in proof of our claim to it, J. would start out in the morning with such an imposing assortment of sketch blocks, stools and ink bottles that the ever-advertised gypsy king was always at our heels to assure us that he had been Fortuny's model and Regnault's.

I, for my part, bought from the guides the book which Senor Contreras has written about the Alhambra, and I carried Gautier and Irving with me wherever I went. But, for all this parade, our most serious study during the first days was to adopt courts and gardens to the passing hours. And why not? More than half a century ago was not Washington Irving afraid that the place had been already too well described to stand still another description? Has not its every story been told, its every ballad sung? Has it not been sketched and painted and "taken" until the guide will tell you glibly how Fortuny used this for a background, and Regnault that, down to the choice of the last stray amateur to come with his irrepressible kodak? Besides, ours really was the true way to study the Alhambra, to get to understand its loveliness. It is no better than a museum, and a very empty one, as melancholy a show place as the Roman forum, when you follow the guide, stopping, as he bids you, to whisper for an echo, or to receive a sprig of myrtle, or to see on the pavement the freshly rubbed in blood of the Abencerrages.

Ah! what secrets I could tell of the Alhambra to archaeologists or architect, busy deciphering inscriptions and measuring arches! It is no better than a labeled specimen. Its real beauty is not felt until you come to know just how each room, each arcade, each wall space looks when drenched with sunlight, just how its effects change when the shadows fall upon it, just at what moment a latticed window opens upon the coolest prospect, or a lofty hall is most soothing refuge from the heat.—June Century.

EXACTLY AT TWELVE.

A Dog's Imperative Demand for Dinner at the Stroke of Noon.

In a down-town establishment that sells birds, monkeys and other pets is a white bull terrier, waiting for some one to come and buy him. He is a good-humored dog, and likes to poke his cold nose into your hand, even if he never saw you before. But he is cranky on the subject of having his dinner promptly at 12 o'clock. He never gets up until 12:15, but that makes no difference in his wishes. He has a cage large enough for three dogs of his size, and in his cage is a flat-bottomed tin pan in which his dinner is served. Two minutes before 12 he is calm and quiet, and there is no crowd around his cage. Promptly at 12 his performance begins, and the crowd gathers around him. He lets out a yelp and springs upon the tin pan as though it were full of rats. He barks fiercely and claws the pan, and timid females travel toward the door. Just above the cage are two parrots, which enter into the spirit of the riot, and shriek at the top of their voices.

The dog pays no attention to persons or other animals. The tin pan is turned bottom upward, whereupon the dog tries to claw a hole through the bottom, yelping all the while as if he could see three rats underneath. The monkeys across the way embrace various things with their tails, peer through the wires of their cages, and orate in a way that would please Garner. The Guinea pigs under the monkey cage try to hide in the sawdust on their floor, and purchasers swarm in from the grocery department next door to see what it's all about.

None of these things disturb the dog. He turns the pan over, catches it in his mouth, hurls it on the other side of the cage, and is on it by the time it lands. Then he pretends to be another dog, a hated enemy, and proceeds to shake the stuffing out of it. Small boys stand around and cheer him on. The man who knows it all steps up, takes a look at the performance and finds that the dog has a bone in his throat, whereupon the boys invite him to go to various places.

At 12:15 the attendant comes with the dog's dinner. The performance ends, the monkeys get back and whisper to one another, and the parrots stick their heads under their wings after throwing out insinuations concerning the stupidity of dogs and people who watch their stupid performances.—Chicago Chronicle.

Cooked Food at Wholesale.

A recent metropolitan development is the wholesale restaurant. It buys its meat by the carcass and its vegetables by the wagon load, and sells cooked meats and roasts and prepared food of all kinds to the smaller restaurants at a figure that enables these to cater to the wants of the hungry at low rates. Three of these wholesale cook-shops have been discovered. Close on to these people are three or four men who make a living by buying up the remnants from big dinners, wedding receptions and similar social affairs, assorting them so as to be presentable, and then selling them to cheap restaurants, boarding houses and saloons. People who live under their hats in large cities, shouldn't be too inquisitive.—New York Letter.

Needed No Director.

Mrs. Knice—But don't you think the boy would get along more commendably if he had somebody to direct his tastes?

Mrs. Knumb—Oh, no; his tastes are all right. He'll eat anything you put before him, long's it's victuals."—Boston Transcript.

A Soft Answer.

Lady (after about twenty-five minutes' cross-examination)—Now, tell me, constable, what is that strap under your chin for?

P. C. 33 L—Well, mum, that's to rest my jaw on when it gets tired answering silly questions.—Sketch.

The Main Thing Lacking.

"Jorkins, have you everything now that you will need for your fishing trip?"

"Not by a jugfull," said Jorkins, to the good woman's astonishment.—Detroit Free Press.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,
DR.
PRICE'S CREAM
BAKING POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

Testing the Eyes and Ears.

Tests of the eyes of the children in the Utica schools, made by the teachers under the direction of an oculist, showed that over one-sixth have defects of vision. Some extreme defects were discovered. Children were found who were practically blind in one eye, and who, so far as known, had never supposed there was any difficulty. In many cases parents were advised to seek the advice of an oculist. Tests were also made as to the sense of hearing. A practical result of this physical examination is a rearrangement of the sitting of the children in the school rooms, those with defective vision or hearing being given the most advantageous positions.—Buyalo Express.

In Mid-Ocean.

Passenger—Say, captain, how far are we still from land?

Captain—About two nautical miles.

Passenger—But we can't see land anywhere. In what direction does it lie?

Captain—Straight below us.—Das Wippchen.

A sinking fund.
Of vital energy is easily and pleasantly replenishable. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is an invigorant without a peer, and will speedily infuse fresh stamina into an enfeebled physique. Besides this it averts and remedies malaria, and subdues billous, kidney, dyspeptic and rheumatic ailments. The nervous derive great benefit from its use.

Unknown.

Tranquilletti went to the post office to call for registered letter. The clerk refused to give it him on the ground that Tranquilletti was not known to anybody. In the meantime a creditor walked in and attacked the poor fellow, shouting:

"Ah! I have got you at last, you rogue, you thief, you scamp, you villain!"

"There, sir," said Tranquillotti, turning to the official, "here is a gentleman who knows me quite well."—Il Papagallo.

If you are thinking of studying music do not fail to send for the Prospectus of the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston. This will acquaint you with the greatest and most perfect School of Music, Oratory and Modern Languages in America. The best is always the cheapest in the end and the charges are low when its advantages over other similar schools are considered.

It has been discovered by two French scientists that most precious stones, such as the ruby, the sapphire and the emerald, can readily be told from their imitations by means of the Roentgen rays.

Patents Issued.

The following list of patents were issued to northwestern inventors last week: Theodore Gruttling, St. Paul, Electrical connection. Walter H. Bartel and W. A. Lewis, Portland, Ore., Rotary Air Pump. Alex. J. Blountach, Olivia, Minn. Shingle Planer. William J. Cranford, Spokane, Wash. Gate-hinge. Knute L. J. Frazer, Winona, Minn., Shingle planer. Frank Locke and D. Kennedy, Silver Creek, Min., Windmill. George D. McKay, Minneapolis, Minn. Underwaist. John M. Palmer, Maryville, Mont., Tongs for turning pipes. Hugh M. Whitney, Minneapolis, Minn. Bag Fastener. T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911, 912 Pioneer Press Bldg. St. Paul, Minn.

A Sop to Cerebus.

Grosbeinet has a violent discussion with a gentleman who has called him a "porcupine."

"Withdraw that expression!" howled Grosbinet.

"Never!"

"I'll call you to account for it."

"As you please."

Grosbinet (simmering down)—"Come, now, you must really withdraw something."

"All right," said the other. "I'll withdraw 'upine.'"

And Grosbinet walked off as content as you please.—La Petit Liegeois.

Cruel Blow.

"And are you really the gentleman who writes these funny things for the morning paper?" asked the ingenuous girl.

"I am," admitted the humorist, with as much modesty as he could assume.

"There is one thing I would like to know. What makes you put the name of some other paper after the very funniest ones?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Compliments Exchanged.

A foolish young man who was walking up the platform of one of the London terminal looking for a carriage. He opened the door of one, and found it contained a woman and several small children, whereupon he exclaimed:

"Oh, this must be the baby compartment."

"Yes," replied the indignant mother; "the monkey cage is further down."—Answers.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Child's Logic.

Aunt—Oscar, what dress did your mother put on to go to the ball?

Oscar—A long, white, short dress.

Aunt—Nonsense, it cannot have been both long and short.

Oscar—Yes, Auntie, it was long at the bottom and short at the top.—Familienblatt.

That Pleasing Paralyzing Pie!

How good it looks! How good it is! .... And how it hurts. Why not look into the question of Pill after Pie? Eat your pie and take Ayer's Pills after, and pie will please and not paralyze.

AYER'S Cathartic Pills
CURE DYSPEPSIA.

Kickapoo Indian Worm Killer
Is what you should give the children
Half their sickness is CAUSED BY WORMS.

BIG AND GOOD.
Battle Ax
PLUG

Sometimes quality is sacrificed in the effort to give big quantity for little money. No doubt about that. But once in a while it isn't. For instance, there's "BATTLE AX." The piece is bigger than you ever saw before for 5 cents. And the quality is, as many a man has said, "mighty good." There's no guess work in this statement. It is just a plain fact. You can prove it by investing 5 cents in "BATTLE AX."

Minn Hist Society
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XV. ST.HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY JUNE 24, 1896. NUMBER 47.

M'KINLEY, HOBART.

NOMINEES FOR PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT.

McKinley Is Nominated for President on the First Ballot, Receiving 661½ Votes Out of 922—The Nomination Is Afterward Made Unanimous—Garrett A. Hobart of New Jersey Is Nominated for Vice President on the First Ballot—Senators Teller of Colorado, Pettigrew of South Dakota and a Number of Other Silver Men Leave the Convention.

St. Louis, June 16—Auspiciously and serenely, beneath a sky across whose arched dome not a cloud floated, the chieftains of the Republican party, from the pineries of Maine to the orange groves of California; from the everglades of Florida to the placid waters of Puget Sound, met in council today and in the presence of about 8,000 spectators, entered upon the task of selecting candidates and enunciating policies for the campaign of 1896. The first session of the Republican national convention was therefore formal. Chairman Carter, of the national committee, dropped the gavel at 12:20 o'clock and sixty minutes later an adjournment was taken until 10 o'clock tomorrow. There was not a jar during the proceedings, there were no sensational incidents to arise, nor any demonstrations to thrill the vast concourse of people.

The temporary chairman, C. W. Fairbanks of Indianapolis, delivered his address, a strong, forcible statement, an arraignment of the present administration and a definement of the issues; the committee selections of the various delegations were announced—that was all.

The galleries are adorned at intervals with the coats-of-arms of the various states, while in conspicuous places hang portraits of Grant, Lincoln and other heroes of the past. The galleries to-day were well filled but not crowded, it being estimated that about 8,000 persons were present. The campaign clubs which had marched to the hall to the clangor of martial music were present in uniform and a very large proportion of the spectators were ladies. The band in the gallery over the platform enlivened the brilliant gathering with popular airs at intervals.

St. Louis, June 17.—The Republican national convention cleared the deck for action to-day. Two sessions were held, one of an hour in the morning and one of three hours in the afternoon. The permanent organization was effected and the permanent chairman, Senator John M. Thurston of Nebraska, assumed the duties of presiding officer at the morning session, and the reports of the committees on credentials and rules were received and adopted at the afternoon session. The battle royal is over, the platform and nomination of candidates will occur to-morrow.

In striking contrast with the dull, featureless session of yesterday, were the brilliant, animated and enthusiastic sessions of the convention to-day. The vast hall was packed to its utmost capacity with thousands of spectators, keyed to the highest pitch of enthusiasm and responded with cheers and hand clapping to the electric touch of every word or suggestion. The hoarse roar of 12,000 voices, as it came thundering down to the pit from the black wall of people on all sides, accompanied with waving of handkerchiefs, hand flags, made a tumult of noise and motion that made the pulse beat a faster tune. The speech of the permanent chairman, Senator Thurston, whose warm, magnetic eloquence found ready sympathy in the vast concourse of Republicans, and with spirits thus aroused every incident evoked cheers. As he recited the fact that he had presided over the convention of 1888 which nominated the last victorious ticket of the party and predicted that he was now presiding over a convention which would nominate the next president of the United States the enthusiasm broke all bounds. For several minutes the convention cheered and yelled and shouted.

At the morning session there was a brief contest over the question of proceeding with the election of permanent officers before the report of the committee on credentials had been acted upon. Senator Wellington and Congressman Mudd of Maryland and Delegate Littlefield of Maine, vainly protested that it was irregular and that there was no convention until the credentials of the members had been passed upon, but the protests were swept aside like chaff before the wind. The convention brimmed over with enthusiasm and was in no temper to be delayed.

At the afternoon session, the first test of strength between the McKinley followers and those of Reed, Allison, Quay and Morton, came, and it demonstrated to the satisfaction of all that McKinley has a clear majority of a hundred in the convention. The question was the adoption of the report of the committee on credentials, which certified the action of the national committee on credentials in giving almost all the 158 contested seats to the McKinleyites and decided the Texas contest in favor of the Grant (McKinley) delegation and that in Delaware, in favor of the Higgins delegation. The majority report was met with a violent minority report, denouncing the committee on credentials for presuming to accept unchallenged the findings of the national committee.

The lines were not drawn absolutely, as quite a number of delegates who are pledged to McKinley voted with the opposition. They were defeated—545½ to 549½.

St. Louis, June 18.—The Republican national convention nailed their principles to the mast heads and placed in command of the ship which is to bear them on to fortune or disaster in November, their popular idol, William McKinley of Ohio and Garrett A. Hobart of New Jersey.

But there was mutiny abroad, and at the last moment before the lines were cast off, part of the crew who had shipped in many voyages refused to subscribe to the new shipping articles and walked down the gang plank. The convention was held in session for ten hours to accomplish the work cut out for it, and several different times was tragic, dramatic and inspiring. Fully 10,000 people were in the vast audience to hiss or cheer by turns. The bolt of the silver men from the West was fully discounted, but it nevertheless furnished the most dramatic incident of the day. Led by Senator Teller, they had yesterday declared their intention of refusing to subscribe to the gold plank in the platform, but to-day after Senator Teller had made his final appeal to the convention not to take the step which would drive him and his colleagues out from the ranks of the party, which in the past had honored them and they had delighted to serve, and the convention had voted—818 1-2 to 105 1-2—to stand by the gold declaration in the platform, they left the convention hall.

McKinley Nominated.

It was a foregone conclusion that McKinley would be nominated by the pentup enthusiasm of the friends of the Ohio candidate which found full vent. The speech of Baldwin of Council Bluffs, nominating Allison; of Senator Lodge nominating Reed; of Hastings nominating Quay, and of Depew nominating Morton, were eloquent and masterly efforts, and were received with the greatest enthusiasm by their respective supporters; but the nomination of McKinley, by Foraker, turned the convention into bedlam. Save for the wild tumult that followed Senator Wolcott's speech placing Blaine in nomination at Minneapolis, four years ago, the demonstration which occurred to-day has had no parallel in Republican national conventions, at least in length.

J. Madison Vance of Louisiana and N. H. Alexander of Alabama seconded McKinley's nomination and declared that the South would be for protection and sound money.

At twenty-four minutes before 5 the roll call was begun. No vote was cast by Colorado. The vote of Florida was challenged by a colored man, who stood on a chair, but was unable to catch the chairman's ear. Florida had been announced 8 for McKinley, but on the roll gave two for Morton and 6 for McKinley. Georgia was challenged and the roll call resulted: Reed, 2; Quay, 2; McKinley, 22. Then Alabama was returned, because the chairman had learned that its vote had been challenged. The result was: Morton, 1; Reed, 2; McKinley, 19. Idaho cast no vote. There was a monotonous repetition of McKinley, until the grey-headed Henderson said: "I cast the solid vote of Iowa for William B. Allison." General Grosvenor, who has been jestingly termed the lightning calculator, followed the vote with a pad and pencil, while Mr. Hanna looked over his shoulder.

The detailed vote follows:

	No. Votes.	McKinley.	Reed.	Morton.	Quay.	Allison.
Alabama	22	19	2	1	..	..
Arkansas	16	16	..	..	..	..
California	18	18	..	..	..	..
Colorado	8	..	..	..	..	..
Connecticut	12	7	5	..	..	..
Delaware	6	6	..	..	..	..
Florida	8	6	..	2	..	..
Georgia	26	22	2	..	2	..
Idaho	6	..	..	..	..	..
Illinois	48	46	2	..	..	..
Indiana	30	30	..	..	..	..
Iowa	26	..	..	..	..	26
Kansas	20	20	..	..	..	..
Kentucky	26	26	..	..	..	..
Louisiana	16	11	4	..	½	½
Maine	12	..	12	..	..	..
Maryland	16	15	1	..	..	..
Massachusetts	30	1	29	..	..	..
Michigan	28	28	..	..	..	..
Minnesota	18	18	..	..	..	..
Mississippi	18	17*	..	..	..	..
Missouri	34	34	..	..	..	..
Montana	6	1x	..	..	..	..
Nebraska	16	16	..	..	..	..
Nevada	6	3	..	..	..	..
New Hampshire	8	..	8	..	..	..
New Jersey	20	19	1	..	..	..
New York	72	17	..	55	..	..
North Carolina	22	19½	2½	..	..	..
North Dakota	6	6	..	..	..	..
Ohio	46	46	..	..	..	..
Oregon	8	8	..	..	..	..
Pennsylvania	64	6	..	..	58	..
Rhode Island	8	..	8	..	..	..
South Carolina	18	18	..	..	..	..
South Dakota	8	8	..	..	..	..
Tennessee	24	24	..	..	..	..
Texas	30	21xx	5	..	..	..
Utah	6	3	..	..	..	3
Vermont	8	8	..	..	..	..
Virginia	24	23	1	..	..	..
Washington	8	8	..	..	..	..
West Virginia	12	12	..	..	..	..
Wisconsin	24	24	..	..	..	..
Wyoming	6	6	..	..	..	..
Arizona	6	6	..	..	..	..
New Mexico	6	5	..	..	..	1
Indian Territory	6	6	..	..	..	..
Dist. of Columbia	2	..	1	..	1	..
Alaska	4	4	..	..	..	..
	922	661½	84½	58	61½	35½

*1 absent.
xCameron, 1; blank, 4.
3 absent.
xx1 absent.

Total vote: McKinley 661½, Reed 84½, Morton 58, Quay 61½, Allison 35½, Cameron 1.

McKinley's vote exceeded the expectations of his friends, as he received 661½ votes. The nomination was immediately made unanimous. Enthusiastic speeches were made by representatives of the opposing candidates, and there were the usual felicitations. Mark Hanna was obliged in response to calls to address the convention.

After the decision of the Platt forces not to present the name of Morton, owing to the war waged against him by the Warner Miller faction, the nomination of Hobart of New Jersey became a certainty. The McKinley influence was thrown for him, and although there was an attempt to consolidate the West and South on H. Clay Evans of Tennessee, the McKinley influence was too powerful. Besides, it was the general sense of the delegates that the logic of the situation required the nomination of an Eastern man for vice president. The nominating speeches were brief. Bulkeley of Connecticut, Lippett of Rhode Island and Gen. Walker of Virginia were also placed in nomination. It only required one ballot to determine the contest. Hobart received 530½ votes, 90 more than a majority. Evans, his nearest competitor, received 280½. There were scattering votes for Reed, Thurston, Grant, Depew, Morton and Brown.

M'KINLEY'S RUNNING MATE.

Hobart Is Nominated On the First Ballot.

It was 6:15 when Senator Lodge made the motion that the convention proceed to the nomination of a vice president, and that speeches be limited to five minutes. There was so little interest in the second place, or so prevalent an appeal for dinner, that in five minutes the galleries had been deserted by two-thirds of the seat-holders. Samuel Fessenden of Connecticut was recognized to nominate Gov. Buckeley, but the convention had exhausted its enthusiasm so that the mention of the name of McKinley failed to draw a hand-clap. At the end of the five minutes the crowd called "time" enthusiastically, and the roll call proceeded until New Jersey was reached, when delegates began to cry "Hobart." G. L. Hobart was nominated by Franklin Fort of Newark. He spoke as follows:

"I rise to present to this convention the claims of New Jersey to the vice presidency. We come because we feel that we can, for the first time in our history, bring to you a promise that our electoral vote will be cast for your nominees. If you comply with our request this promise will surely be redeemed. For forty years, through the blackness of darkness of a universally triumphant Democracy, the Republicans of New Jersey have retained their organization and fought as valiantly as if the outcome were to be assured victory. Only twice through all this long period has the sun shone in upon us. In 1894, for the first time since the Republican party came into existence, we sent to congress a solid delegation of eight Republicans and elected a Republican to the United States senate. We followed this in 1895 by electing a Republican governor by a majority of 28,000. And in this year of grace we expect to give the Republican electors a majority of not less than 20,000." He then presented the name of Garrett A. Hobart, the New Yorkers joining with the New Jersey men in the nomination. J. Otis Humphrey of Illinois seconded Hobart's nomination. W. K. Allen of Rhode Island nominated Gov. Charles W. Lippett. Delegates from the Southern states cheered when Tennessee was called, and W. M. Randolph presented the name of Henry Clay Evans. Evans was seconded by a colored delegate named Smith, of Kentucky, whose effort was loudly cheered. Ex-Congressman Robert M. Lafollette of Wisconsin also seconded Evans' nomination, arousing enthusiasm by his prediction that the party would gain in the South, although it had lost in the West. The vote in detail follows:

	Total	Hobart	Evans	Brown	Lippett	Walker
Alabama	22	10	11	1	..	..
Arkansas	16	10	5	1	..	..
California	18	14	3	1	..	..
Colorado	8	..	..	..	..	..
Connecticut	12	..	..	12	..	..
Delaware	6	6	..	..	..	..
Florida	8	5	3	..	..	..
Georgia	26	5	21	..	..	..
Idaho	6	..	..	..	..	..
Illinois	48	44	4	..	..	..
a Indiana	30	12	18	..	..	..
b Iowa	26	8	5	10	..	..
Kansas	20	20	..	..	..	..
c Kentucky	26	8	6	10	..	..
Louisiana	16	8	8	..	..	..
d Maine	12	..	8	2	..	..
Maryland	16	14	1	1	..	..
Massachusetts	30	14	12	4	..	..
Michigan	28	21	7	..	..	..
Minnesota	18	6	12	..	..	..
Mississippi	18	13	5	..	..	..
e Missouri	34	10	23	..	..	..
f Montana	6	1	..	..	..	..
Nebraska	16	16	..	..	..	..
g Nevada	6	3	..	..	..	..
New Hampshire	8	8	..	..	..	..
New Jersey	20	20	..	..	..	..
New York	72	72	..	..	..	..
North Carolina	22	1½	20½	..	..	..
North Dakota	6	3	3	..	..	..
Ohio	46	25	15	6	..	..
Oregon	8	8	..	..	..	..
Pennsylvania	64	64	..	..	..	..
Rhode Island	8	..	..	..	8	..
South Carolina	18	3	15	..	..	..
South Dakota	8	8	..	..	..	..
Tennessee	24	..	24	..	..	..
h Texas	30	11	12	..	..	..
Utah	6	6	1	..	..	..
Vermont	8	8	..	..	..	..
Virginia	24	..	..	..	..	24
Washington	8	8	..	..	..	..
West Virginia	12	12	..	..	..	..
i Wisconsin	24	3	20	..	..	..
Wyoming	6	6	..	..	..	..
Arizona	6	4	1	1	..	..
New Mexico	6	..	6	..	..	..
Oklahoma	6	4	2	..	..	..
Ind. Territory	6	6	..	..	..	..
Dist. Columbia	2	2	..	..	..	..
Alaska	4	4	..	..	..	..
Totals	923	533½	280½	39	8	24

M'KINLEY CONGRATULATED.

Telegrams Pour In From All Sections of the Country.

Within a few moments of the announcement of the nomination, telegrams poured in, and within a half hour they were numbered by hundreds, coming from all parts of America. One of the first to be received was from the Marquette club of Chicago, whose guest Gov. McKinley was last February and at whose banquet he made his last public political address. At that time the Marquette club prided itself that it had entertained Gen. Harrison just previous to his nomination naming him as the coming nominee, and they wired him within a few moments after the result was known:

"The Marquette club of Chicago congratulates you upon your nomination for the high office of president of the United States. It is a matter of pride and gratification that in its earnest efforts in your behalf in the preconvention campaign it so nearly reflected the wishes of the great majority of our fellow citizens and the Republicans throughout the land, and we now pledge you our most active and earnest support in the campaign upon which we are just entering, to the end that the people's choice may prevail and the principles of the grand old party, as set forth in the platform on which you stand be established.—E. C. DeWitt, president, and officers of the club."

Howard B. Moser, secretary of the Potters' Association of New Jersey, tendered heartiest congratulations for his association.

Hon. Mark Hanna's modest announcement was simply this:

"Ohio's vote nominated you. I congratulate you. —M. A. Hanna."

One of the earliest dispatches to arrive was from Mr. Morton of New York, who wired from Rhinecliff, N. Y., as follows:

"Hon. William McKinley, Canton, O.: You may recall my remark, in 1870, as we sat side by side in the house of representatives, that I expected some day to see you president of the United States. Please accept to-day my heartiest congratulations."

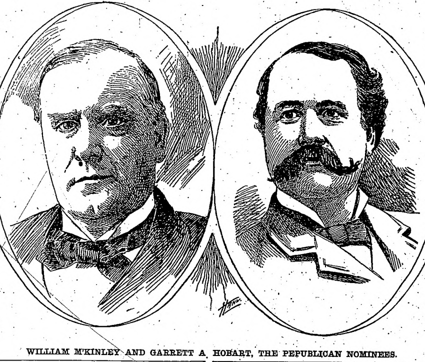
The traveling men of Indiana, through their president, Carey McPhearson, wired from Indianapolis:

"The Commercial Travelers' Republican club of this city congratulates you on your nomination and confidently predict your election. Tariff protecting American products, whether from the factory, mine or farm, and the currency unequalled by any other nation, should put us once more to the front."

Ex-Senator W. D. Washburn wired the heartiest congratulations.

The Union Iron and Steel company of Youngstown wired: "We congratulate you on your nomination and hope next year we will be able to make cotton ties."

Harry G. Selfridge of Marshall Field & Co., Chicago, telegraphs as follows: "Accept congratulations upon magnificent victory and upon dignified manner in which it has been won."



WILLIAM M'KINLEY AND GARRETT A. HOBART, THE PEPUBLICAN NOMINEES.

MAHER BESTS SLAVIN.

New York, June 18.—Maher and Slavin were the attractions at Madison Square garden to-night in a four-round bout. The men went at it in a slap-bang fashion, and Maher showed that he was the cleverer boxer. He seemed to hit Slavin when and where he pleased. The big Australian was slow. The police cautioned the fighters that they would arrest the man who scored a knockout. In the third round Slavin was almost put to sleep with a couple of swings, and in the fourth the bout was stopped by the referee, the Australian being too groggy for business.

TELLER THEIR MAN.

SILVER MEN MAY NOMINATE HIM FOR PRESIDENT.

They Hold a Conference After Leaving the Convention and Decide to Issue a Statement Advising Teller's Nomination — Congressman Towne, of Minnesota, Leaves the Republican Party.

St. Louis, June 18.—The silver delegates played a star engagement. It was brief, but dramatic in the extreme, and easily divided public attention with the presidential nomination. The men who walked out held a miniature convention of their own and agreed to spring Senator Teller of Colorado, who has been their leader in the independent movement, as a candidate for president. This plan will be consummated at a meeting to be held to-morrow, when an address will be issued over the signatures of the disaffected delegates who turned their backs on the convention and probably some others. A canvas for signatures was made among the silver men and the canvassers expressed satisfaction at the success with which they had met. They do not expect to secure the names of all the delegates who voted against the gold plank, but they say they have received words of encouragement from a majority of them. This address will simply suggest Senator Teller's availability as a presidential candidate, upon whom the entire silver vote can be concentrated, and calling upon the voters of all parties who believe in bimetallism to unite upon him.

The delegates who walked out of the convention were:

Colorado—Henry M. Teller, W. F. Goudy, J. W. Rockafeller, R. M. Dowling, A. M. Stevenson, J. S. Vivian, O. J. Hart and C. H. Breitenstein.

Idaho—F. T. Dubois, W. S. Sweet, Price Halet, A. B. Campbell, R. E. Rich and Alexander Robinson.

Nevada—A. C. Cleveland, K. C. Strouther, J. B. Overton and W. D. Phillips, leaving C. H. Sproule and G. F. Turritt in their seats.

Utah—G. F. Cannon, Clarence E. Allen and Thomas Kearns.

Montana—Charles S. Hartman.

South Dakota—R. F. Pettigrew.

The others were from scattering states and territories.

TELLER'S FAREWELL.

Speech of the Colorado Senator Withdrawing From the Party.

Senator Teller, as he stood on the platform to make his final proposition to the Republican party against the adoption of a gold standard policy, was a striking figure. Tall, gaunt, he wore the old-fashioned frock coat of the old time statesman. His face is deep furrowed with lines of thought, and no one who beheld him as he stood and surrendered all his old associations for a deep conviction on a single topic, doubted his honesty of purpose. His face is thin, his eye grey and his forehead high. His beard and hair are iron grey, the hair brushed straight back from his forehead and falling backward like a cataract. He was evidently deeply aroused by the emotions that stirred him, and his gestures at times were almost fierce. But his general tone was one of sadness and regret. He was given a most respectful hearing by the delegates, but except for those sympathizing, there was no demonstration on the floor in the early part of his address. The galleries, however, were at times vociferous, and when he asserted the power of the United States to control their own affairs without dictation from Europe in the matter of finance or anything else, many of the delegates were drawn into the display of enthusiasm by the wild tumult about them, but the Colorado senator made no effort at dramatic effect. He spoke in clear, ringing tones, which have so often resounded through the halls of the United States senate. It was not until toward the close of his speech that he became both impressive and pathetic. His review of his long service in the party visibly affected him. As he realized the step he was about to take, he drew himself together for a final appeal, and declared, with an earnestness that impressed those who heard him, that in his opinion the morality, the religion and the salvation of the country were at stake. He spoke as follows:

I will not attempt to inflict upon you a discussion of the great financial question which is dividing the people, not only of this country, but of the world. The few moments allotted to me by the convention will not enable me to do more than state in the briefest possible manner our objections to the financial plank proposed for our consideration. I am a practical man and I recognize the conditions existing in this convention, foreshadowed as they were by the action of the committee selected by the representatives assembled from the different states. This plank or the proposition was presented to the whole committee and by it rejected. Loyalty to my own opinion and consideration for the great interest that is felt in this country compels me in the face of unusual difficulties to present this plank for your consideration, not with that bounding hope or with that courage that I have presented this in other bodies with greater measure of success than I can hope for here. The great and supreme importance of this question is alone my excuse for the few words that I shall say to you. I represent a state that produces silver, but I want to say to you here and now that my advocacy is not in the slightest degree influenced by that fact. I contend for it because I believe there can be no sound financial system in the country or the world that does not recognize this principle. I contend for it because since 1873, when it was ruthlessly stricken from our statutes, there has been a continued depreciation of all products of human labor and human energy. I contend for it because in this year of '96 the American people are in greater distress than they ever were in their history. I contend for it because this is in my judgment the great weight, the great incubus that has weighed down enterprises and destroyed prices in this favored land of ours. I contend for it because I believe the welfare of my country is dependent on it. I contend for it because I believe the civilization of the world is to be determined by the rightful or the wrongful solution of this financial question.

I am tolerant of those who differ from me. I act from my judgment, enlightened as best I have been able to enlighten it by my years of study and my years of thought. In my judgment the American people in the whole line of their history have never been called upon to settle a question of greater importance to them than this. The great contest in which many of you participated, whether we should have two flags or one, was not more important to the American people than the question of a proper solution of what shall be the money system of this land.

I tried to show that this was not a question of politics, but a question of principles. It is not a mere idle thing, but one on which hangs the happiness, the prosperity, the morality and the independence of American labor and American producers. (Applause.) Confronted for the first time in the history of this glorious party of ours, confronted for the first time with a danger of a financial question, that in my judgment will be destructive of all the great interests of this land, we are called upon to give to this provision of our platform our adhesion or rejection.

Mr. President, I do not like to say unkind or unfriendly things, and I will touch for a moment and only a moment upon the object of this provision of our platform. The Republican party has never been the party of a single standard. (Applause.) It was a bimetallic party in its origin, in all its history. In 1888 it declared for bimetallism, in 1892 it declared for bimetallism. In 1896 it declared for a single gold standard. In 1888 we carried the state that I here represent for the Republican nominee; we carried it on a bimetallic platform. We carried it with a majority that equalled, considering our vote, that of any state in the Union. It has been a Republican state from the hour of its admission. It has kept in the senate Republican senators, and in the house Republican members.

Do you believe that the American people are too weak to actually maintain a financial system commensurate with the business of the country or their own fruition? Gentlemen of the convention, you will have no bimetallic agreement with all the great commercial nations of the world and it cannot be obtained. So this means a declaration that this country is to be put upon the gold standard for all time. Do you believe that Great Britain, that great commercial nation of the world, our powerful competitor in commerce and trade, will ever agree to open her mints to the coinage of silver, or that we shall open ours? We are the greatest nation of the world. Great Britain is the great creditor. We pay every year millions and hundreds of millions of dollars as income on her investments in this country or her loans. The gold standard, in my judgment, lowers prices and decreases values. And she buys of us millions and millions more than she sells us. She buys upon a gold standard, a lower and depreciating standard. How long do you think it will be before she will agree to a system of values that raises the price of the products of our mines in this country? It is a solemn declaration that the Republican party intends to maintain low prices and stagnated business for all time to come.

There is a beautiful provision in this platform about the tariff. I subscribe to that. (Applause and cheers from all over the house.) I believe in a protective tariff. (More applause.) I have advocated it for forty years (applause), but it is my solemn conviction that a protective tariff cannot be maintained on a gold standard. Under existing conditions, we undoubtedly have the gold standard. I do not deny that, but what I have sought for twenty years is to change it to the bimetallic system. I have believed and yet do believe that when the almighty created these twin metals he intended that the world should use them for the purposes for which they were created (applause from the silver men), and when he blessed this land with more gold and silver than any other country in the world he meant that we should use them for the purposes for which they were intended; to wit: the use of them as standard money. We to-day reverse the traditions of our country and declare we will use only one. If the American people are in favor of that I have nothing to say. I must submit to the majority vote and the majority voice in this country of ours. I do not believe this party of ours, if it could be polled, is in favor of the gold standard. I believe that fifty per cent of the people are in favor of bimetallism of the old-fashioned system that existed in this country up to 1873.

My friends, I am sustained in my view of the danger that is coming to us and coming to the world by the adoption of the gold standard, by the intelligence of the world. Let me tell you that the best part of the world is with the advocates of bimetallism. All the great political teachers of Europe, with the exception of five or six, are the pronounced advocates of bimetallism; unrestrained bimetallism. All of the great teachers of political economy in the European colleges, without exception, are in favor of bimetallism. My own judgment, based, as I have said to you, on careful preparation and careful study for twenty years, bears me out and puts me in accord with them, and I would be truant to my trust if I failed to protest here and if I failed when the Republican party makes this one of the tenets of its faith, to sever my connection with that party (applause and cries of no).

Mr. President, I ask your permission to say a few things personal to myself, and when I have said them, having told you what my conscience demands that I should do, I will leave this question for your consideration. Do you suppose that myself or any of my associates who act with me and take the same view of this question that I do; do you suppose that we can take this step without distress? Do you suppose that we could take it for any personal advantage or any honor that could be conferred upon us? We say it is a question of duty. You may nominate in this convention any man you choose; if you nominate on the right kind of a platform I will vote for him. You may take any methods to nominate him that you see proper. I will defer to your judgment and support him, if the platform is a right one; but when you ask me to surrender to you my principles, as an honest man, I cannot do that. I realize what it will cost us. I realize that the contumely that will be heaped upon us; but, my fellow citizens, I have been through this before,—before the political party to which you belong had a being. I have advocated a cause more unpopular than the silver cause. I have stood for the doctrine of free homes and free speech. I am used to detraction; I am used to abuse and I have had it heaped upon me, without stint. When the Republican party was organized I was there. With its distinguished leaders, its distinguished men of forty years, I have been in close communion and close friendship. I have shared in its honors, and in its few defeats and disasters. Do you think that we can sever our connection with a party like this unless it be a matter of duty—a duty to all people of this great land? (applause).

Mr. President, there are few men in a political party that have been honored more than I have by the people in the state in which I live. There are few men in this convention or any where else who have been connected with this organization longer than I. There are few men who have been more active and none in it, no, not one, who has been more attached to the great principles of this party than I have been, and and you cannot go out of it without heart-burnings and a feeling that no man can appreciate who has not endured it; yet I cannot before my country and my God agree to that provision that shall put upon this country a gold standard and I will not. (Great applause.) (More.)

And I do not care what may be the result. If it takes me out of political life, I will go out with a feeling that at least I maintain my consistency and my manhood and that my conscience is clear and that my country will have no right to find fault with me. (Cheers.)

I beg your pardon for saying things so personal, but yet, if a personal act that to some implies perfidy and dishonor is about to be taken, I think it but just to myself and my associates that I should proclaim to you that we take this step not in anger, not in pique, not because we dislike the nominee prospectively or otherwise, but because that our consciences require, as honest men, that we should make this sacrifice, for sacrifice we feel that it is.

Thanking you, gentlemen, for your kind attention, retiring from you as I do, perhaps never again to have an opportunity of addressing a Republican convention, I cannot do it without saying that after all I have in my heart a hope—nay, I have an expectation—that if you should be foolish enough to adopt this platform and force us to leave you, better counsel will some time prevail, and ultimately, on a true Republican platform, sustaining Republican principles, I will have the privilege of again addressing you.

Sudden Death of a Bishop.

Winnipeg, Man., Special, June 18.—News reached the city to-day of the sudden death, at Qu'Appelle, of Bishop Burns, bishop of the Qu'Appelle diocese, from heart failure. The death came as a great shock to members of the Anglican synod in session here. The meeting was immediately adjourned after passage of a resolution of regret.

THREE ARE DEAD.

TRAGEDY AT THE VILLAGE OF WYOMING, MINN.

Two Men Are Killed and Another is Injured by Masked Robbers—The Murderers Are Pursued by by a Posse, One of Them is Killed and the Other Two Are Captured After One is Injured.

St. Paul, June 23. — A cold-blooded double murder was committed by three robbers at the little village of Wyoming, on the Duluth road, but one of the murderers is now dead and another is injured. The injured man, with the third of the trio, is under arrest.

Edward Paul and Jacob Hayes, residents of Wyoming, were the men murdered by the robbers, and Dr. Burnside Foster of St. Paul was at the same time severely beaten.

The murder occurred at 1 o'clock in the morning. Dr. Foster's family is spending the summer at Osceola Mills, a short distance from Wyoming, and he received a telegram announcing the serious indisposition of Mrs. Foster. It was then too late for him to get a train on the road leading directly to the Mills, and he went to Wyoming on the St. Paul & Duluth night train, expecting to drive across the country.

The Duluth train arrives at Wyoming at 12:40 at night, and it was on time. Dr. Foster was the only passenger to alight there. He had been informed by the conductor on the way up that he would be able to secure the services of a young man who conducted a restaurant directly opposite the depot, and upon alighting from the train he went across the road to the restaurant. He was just concluding negotiations with the men to drive him to Osceola Mills when the door opened and three men, with the lower portion of their faces hidden with red handkerchiefs, walked in and commanded the three men to hold up their hands. One of the robbers then stepped out of the door to act as a guard, while the other two had the three men covered with revolvers. One of the robbers then began to search Dr. Foster, when the latter grappled the robber and shouted for help. The other robber then opened fire and killed Paul and Jacobs. He then assisted his companion in the latter's fight with Foster. Both beat the doctor into insensibility, and after taking about $75 from his pocket, the robbers escaped.

The village was soon aroused, a special train was sent from St. Paul with physicians and Dr. Foster was brought here. He is badly hurt but not seriously injured. Posses were at once organized and search was made in every direction.

During the day the three robbers were seen walking along the railroad track near Long Branch. When they saw the posse they ran into a swamp near by. They were called upon to surrender, but replied with a volley of shots. The posse returned the fire and two of the men, one dead and the other injured, fell. The third man thereupon surrendered. The injured man made a confession, in which he said that the dead man's name was Wilson. He said that his own name was Cunningham and that Kelly was the name of the third man. He said that he was the man who stood guard, that Wilson was the one who grappled with Foster and that Kelly was the one who did all the shooting. The men were taken to Stillwater for safe keeping. Immediately after the murder in the restaurant Gov. Clough offered a reward of $300 for the arrest and conviction of the robbers.

The coroner's jury held an inquest over the body of the dead robber and returned a verdict that "death was caused by lead poisoning inflicted by persons unknown."

The bodies of Paul and Jacobs were taken to Hudson, Wis., their former home, for burial.

THREE PISTOL SHOTS.

One for His Wife, One for His Son and One for Himself.

St. Paul, June 23.—William Scheffner, a German 41 years of age, shot at and missed his wife, shot and probably fatally injured his 22-year-old son Paul, and then sent a ball from the same revolver crashing through his own brain. The crime occurred in a little tumble down shanty at 71 Fairfield avenue, near the river on the West side, and was all over before the neighbors realized what the three shots fired in rapid succession meant. Scheffner quarreled with his wife and threatened her if she did not give him certain money she had earned. The son upheld the mother in her refusal to give Scheffner the money, and throwing his coat aside told his father that he could not abuse his mother in his presence, and the shooting then commenced.

Scheffner was of an extremely quarrelsome disposition, and was almost continually in trouble with some of the neighbors.

OFFICIAL CALL

St. Paul, June 23. — Chairman McDermott has issued the call for the Democratic state convention, to be held Aug. 4, in Minneapolis. The call provides for the nomination of the following state officials: Governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, attorney general. Also for the purpose of selecting nine electors for president and vice president of the United States. The basis of representation will be two delegates-at-large from each county and one delegate for each 150 votes cast for Cleveland at the last presidential election, and one delegate for each fractional part thereof of seventy-six or more. This call authorizes a representation of 831 in the convention.

Drowned in Round Lake.

St. Paul, June 23.—Henry L. Staples, eighteen years of age, a printer recently in the employ of the Dispatch, and living with his father at 700 York street, was drowned yesterday in Round lake. The body has not been recovered.

Fresh Massacre.

London, June 23.—A Constantinople dispatch to the Chronicle says that a fresh massacre of Armenians is reported to have occurred near Van. Sixty persons were killed.

Plenty of Time to get Choice Farms on the Reservation Thirty Days from Now.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—o—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

THE FAMOUS

SAMARITAN

Rye Whisky

Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.

FOR SALE BY

BRINK BROS.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

TO

HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
	To and from St. Paul
7:10 pm	St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
	To and from Winnipeg.
6:34 am	St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.

Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24, 1896.

COUNTY TICKET.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON

For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY

For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE

For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM

For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN

For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN

For Surveyor—
O. L. HAMERY

For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS

For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE

For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA

For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY

For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER

For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

The Minneapolis Journal Did It.

One thing is certain. This year's campaigning is going to clean out the free silver heresy, boots and baggage, or else it's going to place us on a free silver basis within twelve months.—Minneapolis Journal.

That's just what we predict Bro. Swift, but we are not in doubt as you are about the final result. We are not willing to admit that a belief in free silver coinage is a "heresy" as you and all others in your class so glibly dub it, and we believe that if your maternal guardian had spanked you oftener while you wore kilts and bibs for the sin of PREVARICATION, your readers would now have more confidence in your assertions and prophetic arguments. Deception too is an ORIGINAL SIN which does not seem to have been entirely eradicated in you; and while you may be held less culpable for this crime than for the one first mentioned, the punishment will not be lessened on account of a lack of bad intent, as the lawyers say a bad heart, but because of your want of ingenuity to carry out your plans. We have seen that truth always answers better than falsehood, and if you doubt our word ask the great oracle of modern democracy, whose experience justly entitles him to be quoted as authority.

The latest utterance of Senator Nelson on the money question is as follows: "The free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of sixteen to one by the United States alone at this time and under existing conditions will destroy the last vestige and last hope of genuine bimetalism and will reduce us to a pure state of silver monometalism."

The latest and greatest obstacle to Knut Nelson's attainment to financial greatness is the lack of brains, and no better evidence of the want of sound gray matter in his head can be adduced than this perule assertion. Knut was once one of the people and while he was only a plain congressman he was their friend and advocated their rights; but we have pampered him too much, and since he took the position the people gave him in the Nation's senate and his lines have been cast where the nations enemies are in the majority he has forgotten the rights of the people who placed him there. The senator evidently tries to believe that his constituents are in favor of a gold basis, but he knows better, and when the old friends he has deceived and betrayed again get to the polls he will have a chance to learn how false they believe him to be. We tho't the senator too shrewd to think that a few paid delegates bro't together by stealth, fraud and deceit for the purpose of supporting a man whose avowed instructions are plainly to subvert justice, to levy higher taxes and deprive them of the necessary means of supporting life was an expression of the opinions of the people. As well say that the arts of a democratic convention made up of federal office holders and office seekers voice the opinions of the voters. We predict that the wily Knut, now at the zenith of his power will before the end of his term bewail his fate and kick himself that he so basely deserted his friends the people.

This would be a good year for farmers to try buckwheat as that can be sowed later than any other crop. It always yields well and brings a good price. Very little has been raised in Polk county so far and every year large quantities of buckwheat flour are shipped in and find a ready market at good prices.—Crookston Journal.

BROTHERLY LOVE

As Practiced by The Old Party Leaders For The Dear Working People in General.

If there is any one thing more beautiful and touching than another, it is the fond and ripened affection that both of the great political parties generate for the poor dear workingman about election time. The question at issue all turn upon the prospective advantage to him; the campaign orators are proud to recall, when they can, that they were once laboring men themselves; the great (?) editors write glowing leaders upon the majesty of toil, and the mobility of digging sewers and elevating bricks in a hod; the end of the aim of each legislator is to bring about a state of affairs under which each laborer shall possess his six acres of land and two cows; eminent statesmen picture the present happy homes of the sovereign workingman of the free and independent Republic. But it is, perhaps, worth noticing that when the dear workingman asks for something definite he does not get a satisfactory reply nor relief for his grievances,

There is probably no city in the Northwest where labor is better organized than right here in Duluth, and the good effects of organization is apparent on every hand. There are still many more classes of labor that could be gotten together under our great banner, "Unionism," that would strengthen our cause. Agitate, organize, declare to the world without fear that though honest toilers we now and forever shall demand justice and fair treatment as a united body, and that no oily-tongued Shylock will be permitted to steer our good ship against the rock of destruction or disorganization.

Great reforms move slowly, and, though we meet with reverse to-day, take a fresh start to-morrow, with a determination to overcome every obstacle that presents itself. "Equal rights to all" is the fundamental principle of our Government, declared by a wise people in an age when "right ruled the land," and in this nineteenth century when justice is being trampled in the dust by avarice, greed and unfair laws, we must again insist that justice be restored, or there will be a tumult in the land such as has never been seen before or heard before. The ballot is our weapon, and if wisely used, the time is not far distant when the horde of idle men will find labor and food; and such a thing as an "army of tramps" will be unknown.

Now that the time is approaching for another general election, the voice of the politician is heard in the land. New promises are to be made, great reforms are to be inaugurated. The same old song will be warbled over and over again. The story of the war is to be retold; the bloody shirt will be waived; the talk about tariff will receive its regular inning, but the chief topic of the campaign warbler and paid mouth-piece of the old parties will be the money question. Everything to all men so long as the professional politician and moutebank jobber can again be reinstated with the lines of Government, the distribution of spoils and the oppression of the laboring classes. It matters not which of the old parties are successful in the coming conflict, the power behind the throne will be unchanged, and the conditions will remain the same. The banks and the moneyed interests of the country are allied against the laborer, and it is Labor's only salvation to combine against them.

Only one remedy remains and that is organization and unanimity of action. No matter if there is no hope of carrying every point (but even that is not improbable nor impossible), if we are united and every one works and votes as his conscience dictates, and his common sense, if allowed full sway, will teach him; for the interest of himself and fellow man, there will be such an array of votes that no matter which party succeeds, a proper respect and consideration will be given the demands of the toiler, and laws will be enacted for his benefit. So long as we follow the beck and call of the old parties, just so long will we remain the under dog in the fight; just so long will our rights be trampled upon and oppression and hardship be our reward. Honest efforts will accomplish much. Now is the time to strike.—Duluth Labor World.

Canada Thistle.

"Many years ago we had a few Canada thistles, and thought they might be destroyed by cutting with a scythe in August, and preventing their going to seed," says a correspondent to STOCKMAN AND FARMER. "We worked at it faithfully for about ten years. They increased steadily, until it took several days to cut them in pasture. Then we concluded to salt stock on them, especially sheep. We had one large patch of half an acre thickly grown. On this we sowed salt thinly, on others dropped a pinch, commencing as soon in May as thistles could be found. They were eaten readily, the sheep gnawing into the ground. In one week new shoots sprang up. These were salted, and so on through the summer, and few appeared in the latter part of the summer. The spring following none appeared in the patch except around the outer edges, where we found a bakers dozen. Small children did the most of the salting and finding of thistles on one hundred acres, and in one year we could not find enough to salt sheep on. In meadows they must be cut often to prevent leaf growth, on the principle that the roots can not live if top growth is prevented."

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

The money question is not so deep as is generally supposed. The bankers and money lenders have an object in making the common people believe that the money question is too deep for them. Read and think for yourself and do not let the bankers think for you. You will understand it then.—Fisher Bulletin.

FLAX SEED.

First-class flax seed for sale, absolutely clean, price reasonable at

28-tf E. J. HOLMES.

RICH DISCOVERIES OF GOLD.

At Cripple Creek, Colo., and elsewhere, are being made daily, and the production for 1896 will be the largest ever known, estimated at Two Hundred Million Dollars. Cripple Creek alone is producing over One Million Dollars a month, and steadily increasing. Mining Stocks are advancing in price more rapidly than any other Stocks, and many pay dividends of 35 to 50 per cent. They offer the best opportunity to make a large profit on a small investment.

JOHN I. TALLMAN & Co., 14 Pacific Ave. Chicago, Ill. are financial agents for the Prudential Gold Mining Co., and others in the famous Cripple Creek district. They will send you free, interesting particulars of the Mining Companies they represent also their book on speculation in Stocks, Grain and Cotton, containing many new and important features.

Send for these books at once if you are interested in any form of speculation or investments. They may prove profitable to you. 37-5

CELEBRATE THE 4TH ST. HILAIRE.

Liquor License Application.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned O. W. Brink hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the first day of July 1896.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on lot thirteen (13) of block thirty-nine (39) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire, Polk county, Minnesota, said building having three outside entrances, one in front and two in rear.

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinance of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire, this 9th day of June 1896.

O. W. BRINK.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota, will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 27th day of June 1896 at eight o'clock p. m., at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

[SEAL] J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

Liquor License Application.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned, J. A. Dainard, hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1896.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on lot eleven (11) of block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire, Polk county, Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances one in front and one in rear.

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire, this 9th day of June 1896.

J. A. DAINARD.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 27th day of June 1896 at eight o'clock p. m., at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

[SEAL] J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

Ordinance No. 12.

Notice is hereby given that ordinance No. 12 is amended as follows to-wit:

SEC. 1. The price for license is lowered from $2.00 to $1.50 for each male dog, and from $5.00 to $3.00 for each bitch or slut owned or possessed by any person or resident.

SEC. 2. The dog inspector is to receive fifty cents for each unlicensed dog that he catches after serving notice on the owner or possessor of said dog, if he or she is to be found. Said owner is to pay the village recorder fifty cents above the cost of license before the dog or slut will be released from the dog pound. The dog inspector shall keep all dogs impounded by him forty-eight hours before killing the same.

Given under our hands this 3rd day of June 1896.

[SEAL] C. G. RAPP,
President.
J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

Liquor License Application.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned, J. H. Paradis, hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1896.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on lot ten (10) of block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances, one in front and one in rear.

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire, this 9th day of June 1896.

J. H. PARADIS.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 27th day of June 1896 at eight o'clock p. m., at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

[SEAL] J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $8 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.0
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 23	3.75
Lot 1 of 35	5.0
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2	4.50 to 5.0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.0
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	5.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.50
9 " 27	5.0
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.0
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.0
4 " 8	2.00 to 1.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.0 to 4.5
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.0
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
2 " 15	6.0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 21	6.00
4 " 29	8.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to
H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday $4.00
Sunday Journal, alone $1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year $4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year $1 75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application.

Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

Liquor License Application.

To the common council of the village of St. Hilaire in the county of Polk and state of Minnesota.

The undersigned, Engebert M. Hoff, hereby makes application for a license to be granted to him to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of twelve months from the 1st day of July 1896.

The place where said business is to be carried on is designated as follows: On the ground floor of the two story building situate on lot six (6) of block forty (40) of the original townsite of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota, said building having two outside entrances, one in front and one in rear.

Said applicant prays that such license be granted to him pursuant to the ordinances of said village of St. Hilaire and the statutes of said state of Minnesota in such case made and provided.

Dated at St. Hilaire, this 9th day of June 1896.

ENGEBERT M. HOFF.

Notice is hereby given that the village council of the village of St. Hilaire Polk county, Minnesota will meet at the council chamber in the village hall on Broadway in said village on Saturday the 27th day of June 1896 at eight o'clock p. m., at which time objections to granting said license in accordance with the above application will be heard.

[SEAL] J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston, Minn., May 28, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on July 6th 1896 viz:

HANS J. BJORGE.

H. E. No. 13450, for the lot 2, sec. 14, tp. 152 N range 42 west.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

O. J. Johnson, Julius Holtz, B. O. Linstad and Halvor T. Aamot, all of Wyandotte post office, Minnesota.

44-49 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston, Minn., May 19th 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim, and that said proof will be made before U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on July 2nd 1896, viz:

John C. Shjerva Hd No. 14125, for the w½ sw¼ sec. 33, e½ se¼ sec. 32 tp 153 N. range 42 west.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:—Andrew Nelson, Peter A. Tune, Gilbert Anfinson and Ole H. Broten, all of St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

42-47 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

M. Z. EPPERSON

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool,
Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

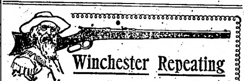
Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota

This is Easy Enough!

Any of my customers will be presented with a life like portrait free of charge by presenting their picture at my store.

M. A. HALL. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.



Winchester Repeating

Rifles
Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞ Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

For Sale!—The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

St. Hilaire the Nearest point to the Best Agricultural Lands on The Reservation.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

Harness.....

☞If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing, call on

C. A. SKEIE,

West Broadway. St. Hilaire, Minn.

Blacksmith!

☞Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, Etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL. St. Hilaire, Minn.

M. E. BJERK

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,

H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41-52

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP..........President
J. L. JOHNSON..........Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN, W. A. SORSOLEIL, M. Z. EPPERSON..........Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES..........Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	45c	Butter	7@8c
Oats	11c	Eggs	6c
Barley	12c	Beans... (pr bu)	$1.50
Flax	60c	Potatoes .. "	12½

LOCAL NEWS.

Friday was a real busy day with our merchants.

Do your celebrating at St. Hilaire one week from Saturday.

Jim Hill's gravel crew stopped at the Olson hotel last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Epperson returned Monday from Crookston.

W. A. Sorsoleil received a car of lumber from P. & J. Meehan Monday.

Chas. J. Fellman was in the village last Friday making a real estate deal.

Jos. Johnson from the uper Falls brought down six travelling men Friday.

Miss Cora Harris came in from her school to see the Torbett Concert Company.

Street Commissioner Harris is busy these days cutting weeds and repairing sidewalks.

The "little shavers nine" are wearing "Monte Carlo" caps with their base ball uniforms.

H. W. Lee, editor of the Thief River Falls News passed through here Friday enroute to St. Paul.

Eaves troughs have been put on the Brink building and the roof painted several times this week.

J. H. Penno made a trip to Red Lake Falls Monday on business connected with his barber furniture at that place.

St. Hilaire will celebrate in grand old style, and don't you forget the small boys will be there plenty with the fire crackers.

The hundreds of mud swallows are causing considerable trouble to owners of large buildings on the west side of Broadway.

All the back taxes on the property which the town hall is built on were refunded by the county commissioners at the last session.

The five county commissioners took a recess Friday and came up to look at the county bridge at this place, returning the same day.

W. A. Sorsoleil's two oldest girls leave to-day for Langdon, N. Dak., where they will spend the summer visiting their grandparents.

The Firemen's Tournament at Hallock has been postponed. Instead of June 23rd, 24 and 25th, it will be held July 8th, 9th and 10th.

One hundred and fifty-three delegates were present at the People's Party county convention which was held at Crookston last Thursday.

A new French paper was launched at Red Lake Falls, June 15th. "Les Clochers" is the name and is clubbed with the Gazette at a dollar a year.

The stage in Brink's hall has been moved from the east to the west end of the building, making a decidedly vast improvement and more room.

Pointer to Housekeepers.—What is the use to be bothered with mosquitoes and flies when you can buy a screen door for $1.00 at Johnson & Marshalls.

Dr. Watson and H. Brown were prominent figures in the ball room last evening and enjoyed themselves hugely. They left for Red Lake Falls at 3 a. m.

O. W. Brink left Saturday for Crookston in order to be on hand Monday morning when court opens. Mr. Brink is the grand juryman drawed from this point.

C. O. Christianson, an old time resident of Crookston and a life long republican was appointed Judge of Probate for Polk county by Gov. Clough last week.

J. D. Marshall returned Monday from New York, while here he took a run down to W. A. Sorsoleil's farm to look at the flowing well and pronounces it as fine as ever seen.

Frank Montague of Crookston was the center of attraction Monday auctioning off state hay lands for this season. Quite a crowd gathered and was sold fast at a low figure.

The engine and hose cart was brought in play twice the last week destroying the swallow nests which were built under the eaves of the high buildings.

T. H. Mandt, lately of Wylie, but now of Red Lake Falls was in the village yesterday and requested us to change the address of his paper to the latter place.

P. G. Paradis left to-day for the twin cities on an important business trip which will detain him for a week or two. Chris Hall is tending bar during Pete's abscence.

J. G. Brady, professor of the Wylie schools and Ole Romsos, clerk of P. E. Smitzsang's attended the Torbett Concert Company here last evening and stayed for the dance.

The Polk County Journal is responsible for saying that Dan Patterson of St. Hilaire arrived there on time to be present at the "Pop" convention. Dan says that's his off color.

Five teams from Fillmore county loaded with agricultural implements passed through here yesterday afternoon bound for Thief River Falls. They have been on the road four weeks.

H. J. Freeman launched his new swell bottom row boat last Saturday and its a daisy in every particular. The boat has been christened the "Silver King." The customary bottle was broken over the bow.

L. J. Stranahan and M. Hall constructed a substantial boat landing near August Peterson's residence last week. The boys believe in doing every thing in first-class order—especially for the ladies.

Oscar Thomas, the accommodating depot agent at Thief River Falls was in the village a short time Saturday while on his way to Red Lake Falls where attractions awaited him—leap year you know.

At the republican caucus last evening, C. G. Rapp, W. A. Sorsoleil and Charley Brink were elected delegates to represent this village at the county convention which will be held at Crookston to-morrow.

The following were present from Thief River Falls to hear the Torbett Concert Company last evening. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Benzie, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Misses Ihlsing and Kennedy and Messrs. Parker, McDougall and Kreuger.

Bro. L. E. George of the Fertile Journal received notice from Irl R. Hicks, the weather prophet, requesting him to refrain from publishing his weather forecasts. This same Hicks should have received a similar notice about two months ago from these parts.

The national feast of the French Canadian, (St. John the Babtist) is being celebrated to-day at Terrebonne a few miles south-east of Red Lake Falls. Games of all kinds is on the program and fire-works will be destroyed—one at a time this evening.

A fair sized audience greeted the Torbett Concert Company last evening at Brink's hall and to say the audience was well pleased is putting it mildly. Miss Ollie and the Lutteman Sextette left an impression on those present which will long be remembered.

Yes! St. Hilaire will Celebrate.

K. O. Gigstad made a trip to Thief River Falls yesterday, returning in the evening. Upon being asked why he carried his shoes in his hand, he said he got the horses down at the other end of the line, and had to help them out of the mud which was a little over knee deep.

Prof. O'Brien will leave to-morrow for his home at Minneota, in the southern part of the state where he will remain until September. The school board did a wise act by re-engaging Mr. O'Brien for another term, as the very best of satisfaction was given last term to all concerned.

We are informed that an iron bridge will be built to span the river a few rods south of the old one. Work will commence as soon as the Walker logs are driven past St. Hilaire. The old bridge will be taken down next winter and moved to a certain point on the Clear Water river.

Misses Maggie and Ellen Brady and Prof. O'Brien of Red Lake Falls came up Tuesday afternoon, greeted their many friends, and took in the concert and dance in the evening. Prof. O'Brien did the calling off and as a manager of such an affair is second to none in the west.

J. W. Wheeler, cashier of the First National Bank of Crookston stopped stopped off here a few hours Monday. Mr. Wheeler came right out in meetin' and admitted that the People's Party put up the winning ticket last Thurs with the exception of one office. J. W. is an old resident of Polk county and well posted on political affairs.

S. M. Dainard was elected chairman and H. E. Ives secretary at the meeting held Saturday evening for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration.

The following committees were appointed:

Committee on Sports—O. F. Post, D. Patterson, H. E. Ives and E. M. Hoff.

Committee on Finance—S. M. Dainard, L. Holmes and J. H. Penno.

Arrangements—Peter Hall, C. A. Brink, J. A. Dainard, S. M. Hoff, J. L. Johnson and P. G. Paradis.

At St. Louis they have a real live weekly Chinese newspaper, the only one in America outside of San Francisco, its editor is an up to date goldbug and wants to Americanize his Celestial brothers. What do you think of that? No wonder,—there a job-lot and cheap guys at that.

A WINNING TICKET.

Largest Enthusiastic Meeting Ever Held in Polk County.

153 Delegates Attend The People's Party Convention.

The convention was called to order last Thursday, June 11th, by Arny Grundysen, chairman of the county central committee, and Senator Ringdal was chosen temporary chairman, Arny Grundysen vice chairman and Will Marin and J. W. Swanstrom secretaries. While the chairman was making up the committees the convention listened to speeches by some of the orators of the party. The chair interrupted the remarks to announce the following committees:

Credentials—Henry Norland, Tom Nesseth, Frank Kohler, W. G. Hunt, Joseph Jervais.

Resolutions—J. D. Knutson, H. E. Ives, J. O. Sargent, E. A. Sweet, Robert Anderson.

Organization—G. W Eastman, Robert Carr, Samuel Gibeau.

The committee on resolution presented the following platform.

The People's party in convention assembled, do hereby adopt the following declaration of principles:

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.

2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.

3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.

4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

County Auditor Gleason was re-nominated for county auditor by acclamation, and being called before the convention, made a neat speech of acceptance.

For county treasurer John T. Beaudry and Samuel Gibeau were nominated. There were 151 votes cast, of which Mr. Beaudry received 83 and Mr. Gibeau 68. Mr. Beaudry was declared the nominee.

The nominations for sheriff were declared in order. John E. Oppegaard, E. M. Bivins, Andrew Steenerson, A. P. Johnson and Thomas Lawrence were placed in nomination.

The result of the first ballot was, Oppegaard, 30; Bivins, 18; Steenerson, 23; Johnson, 15; Lawrence, 63.

Second ballot resulted in the nomination of Thos. Lawrence, of Erskine, for sheriff, he having 77 votes, Oppegaard 28, Johnson 21, Steenerson and Bivins each 11.

The opposition to Albert Wickstrom to succeed himself for register of deeds was very weak: He polled 120 votes to 18 for Hans Dahl and 11 for A. M. Hanson.

One of the liveliest fights was for the office of probate judge. The contestants were John S. Dwyer, Ole Hagen and Ole J. Vaule. Three ballots were necessary to decide it, and at the end Mr. Hagen had 80 votes, Mr. Dwyer 61, and Ole Vaule 6.

Candidates for county attorney were; L. E. Gossman, Martin O'Brien and John Hendricks. The first ballot gave Mr. Gossman 76 votes, Mr. O'Brien 66, and Mr. Hendricks 6.

The minor offices were then disposed of by acclaiming O. L. Hamery for surveyor, Dr. Stebbins, of Fertile, for coroner and Edward George for court commissioner.

They then proceeded to nominate candidates to oversee Polk county's educational institutions for the coming two years. O. O. McCrillis, I. I. Kaasa and Nils G. Tygen were named and the balloting began. At first Mr. McCrillis had a plurality, but on the fourth ballot Tygen withdrew, his strength went to Kaasa, and he was nominated, the vote standing 81 to 66.

The convention proceeded to nominate Chas. McCarty, of McIntosh, Remi Fortier, of Gentilly, and Robert Casemy, of Euclid, to the offices of commissioners from the first, third and fifth districts.

Chairman Ringdal then appointed a county central committee, consisting of Chris. Houston, Henry Norland, Joe Jarvis, Ole Christianson, John Gleason, Anton Lindem, W. Marin, K. L. Sandvig, C. T. Lanman, H. E. Ives, L. E. Kaufer and J. E. Oppegaard.

All business being finished the convention adjourned.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

Council Proceedings.

Special meeting of the village council Tuesday June 9th., 1896.

All members present.

Meeting called to order by President Rapp.

On motion the president was instructed to appoint two delegates with himself to attend the meeting of the county commissioners in regard to fixing the St. Hilaire county bridge and H. E. Ives and Daniel Patterson, were appointed as such delegates.

On motion H. E. Ives was allowed $25 for one years services as fire commissioner.

On motion the president was instructed to order the street commissioner to have all buildings removed from the alleys in blocks 39 and 50 by June 20, 1896.

On motion meeting adjourned.

[SEAL] C. G. RAPP,
President.
J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Nye's Idea.

Here is the late Bill Nye's definition of a newspaper: "It is a library. It is an encyclopedia, a time table, a romance, a guide, a political resume, a ground plan of the civilized world, a low-priced multum in parvo. It is a sermon, a circus, an obituary, a shipwreck, a symphony in solid brevier, a medley of life and death, a grand aggregation of man's glory and his shame. It is, in short, a bird's eye view of all the magnanimity and meanness, the joys and sorrows, births and deaths, the pride and poverty of the world, all for a few cents."

The month of June is said to be the month to trim your shade trees. There are some shade trees whose lower branches are so low that in wet weather a person walking along the street, has to stoop to pass without striking the branches. We would suggest that all the low branches be trimmed, thus adding to the beauty of the tree and convenience to the public.

A well-dressed man with a hand painted jag on got off of the train the other night and made a bill-board exhibition of himself while the train waited. He took a drink from down near the bottom of a pint bottle and was so full that he asked a big sample trunk to join him. Then he stumbled on the train and imagined he had set the town on fire with his presence. Men who can't get a good suit of clothes on and go away from home without filling up and making a two-ring circus of themselves should either stay at home and look at a geography or travel in a box.—Grafton Record.

WYLIE ITEMS.

Wheat came in fast Monday

Chas. Sandberg came up from Crookston Monday.

Preparations are commencing to celebrate the Fourth of July.

M. Hanson was taking in the sights the first part of the week

Mr. and Mrs. Jako Thill drove over to Red Lake Falls Sunday and returned with Miss Hattie Dargan.

P. E. Smitzsaug is making quite an improvement in the village this spring as he has just received the lumber for the second building.

The town officers, Ole Romsos, Gust Naplin, Chas. Zutz, R. Huot and Nels Johnson held an equalization meeting the fore part of the week.

The leap year dance which took place Saturday in the city hall was a grand success. Chas. Peterson was in such demand he had to refuse many a good offer.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

Call For The People's Party County Convention.

A convention of the People's Party of the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, will be held at the court house, in the city of Crookston, on the 9th day of July, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of electing seventeen (17) delegates to attend the legislative convention to be held in the City of Crookston, Polk County, on the 17th day of July, 1896; to elect forty-two (42) delegates to attend the congregational convention to be held in the City of Fergus Falls, Otter Tail County, on the 15th day of July, 1896; and to elect forty-one (41) delegates to attend the State Convention.

The basis of representation, as determined by the County Central Committee, shall be one delegate at large for each voting precinct, and one delegate for every forty votes or major fraction thereof, cast for S. M. Owen for Governor at the general election in 1894.

Conformity to foregoing apportionment, the voting precincts of Polk County will be entitled to delegates in the convention as follows:

Andover,	2	Kertsonville,	2
Angus,	3	King,	4
Black River,	2	Knute,	4
Bray,	2	Lake Pleasant,	2
Badger,	2	Lambert,	3
Brandsvold,	3	Liberty,	2
Belgium,	1	Lessor,	3
Bristol,	1	Lowell,	3
Bygland,	2	Louisville,	2
Crookston,	2	McIntosh,	2
" City 1 ward	3	Nesbit,	2
" " 2 ward	3	Norden,	2
" " 3 ward	2	North,	2
" " 4 ward	4	Northland,	1
" " 5 ward	1	Numedal,	2
Columbia,	3	Onstad,	2
Chester,	2	Parnell,	1
Emardville,	1	Poplar River,	3
Euclid,	1	Polk Center,	1
Eden,	2	Queen,	3
Esther,	2	R. L. Falls Village	4
Fairfax,	1	Red Lake Falls,	2
Farley,	1	Reis,	1
Fanny,	1	River Falls,	2
Fisher,	3	Rocksbury	3
Fosston Village,	2	Roome,	2
Fertile "	2	Rosebud,	3
Grand Forks,	2	Russia,	2
E.G.F. 1 ward	1	Rhinehart,	1
" 2 ward	1	Sandors,	2
" 3 ward	1	Sandsville,	2
" 4 ward	3	St. Hilaire Village	2
Garfield,	3	Sletten,	4
Gardon,	4	Sullivan,	1
Gentilly,	3	Tabor,	3
Gervias,	2	Terrebonne,	2
Grove Park,	2	Tilden,	1
Godfrey,	2	Tynsid,	2
Hammond,	1	Thief River Falls	3
Higdem,	2	Vineland,	3
Hill River,	3	Winger,	5
Huntsville,	2	Woodside,	3
Hubbard,	2	Wyandotte,	2
Keystone,	2

The primaries for the election of delegates shall be held on the 5th day of July, 1896, and the polls shall be opened at 7 o'clock and remain open for one hour.

By order of the County Central Committee.

ARNY GRUNDYSEN,
Chairman.
JOHN GLEASON,
Secretary.

Legislative Convention.

The Peoples party legislative convention for the fifty-first legislative district is hereby called to meet at the court house in Crookston, Minn., on Friday July 17th, A. D. 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of placing in nomination three candidates for the offices of representatives for said district. The basis of representation in said convention will be one delegate at large for each county and one additional for every two hundred and fifty (250) votes or major fraction thereof cast for S. M. Owen at the last general election. Upon this basis Polk county gets 17 delegates Norman 6 and Beltrami 1.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., June 4th, 1896.

P. M. RINGDAL, Chm.
B. M. CHESLEY, Sec.

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

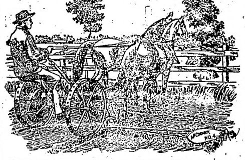
Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements



American Hotel

* * *

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain. Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

The New England Conservatory of Music, in Boston, Mass., has furnished instruction to over 60,000 pupils since 1853, and its popularity as an institution of the highest excellence is constantly increasing. Its curriculum is not confined to music alone, but Oratory and Modern Languages have finely-equipped departments and the best instructors money can procure. Special attention also is given to pianoforte tuning. The charges are low when compared with those of other musical schools. Prospectus mailed free on application.

Neighborly Attentions.

"I didn't sleep a wink last night; that Tugby baby cried all the night before."

"How did that keep you awake last night?"

"You see, I waited until the Tugbys got to bed and then I played on my cornet until daylight."—Chicago Record.

Rome Wasn't Built in a Day.

Neither are the obstinate maladies, to the removal of which the great corrective, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is adapted, curable in an hour. To persist in the use of this standard remedy is no more than just. Biliousness, constipation, malaria, rheumatism, kidney complaints and nervousness are among the complaints which it eradicates.

A dictionary recently published in England devotes seventeen and one-half columns to the various meanings of the word "devil."

The fee that must be paid on every application for the reissuance of a patent is $30.

Free Homes.

Another opportunity for immigrants to secure homes free. Nearly 2,000,000 acres of first-class government lands in Northern Arkansas now open for settlement. For full information write to E. V. M. Powell, Immigration Agent, Harrison, Arkansas, enclosing 10 cents in silver. See display advertisement in another part of this paper.

The original Strasburg clock, the mechanical wonder of Europe, was made in the year 1352. The present clock was made in 1838.

Any new or useful art, machine, manufacture or method may be patented.

The Modern Beauty

Thrives on good food and sunshine, with plenty of exercise in the open air. Her form glows with health and her face blooms with its beauty. If her system needs the cleansing action of a laxative remedy she uses the gentle and pleasant Syrup of Figs. Made by the California Fig Syrup Company.

Jablochkoff invented his electric candle, two carbons and a strip of qaolin, in 1876.

The electric light was first used for photography by Van der Weyde in '76.

Only 2 per cent of the Siberian runaways escape with their lives.

A Swiss patent is granted for fifteen years, a small annual tax being levied.

Pure

Blood is essential to health. Now is the time to purify and enrich the blood, and thus give vigor and vitality, by taking

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure all Liver Ills. 25 cents.

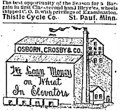
SECOND HAND

Bicycles

ALL KINDS AT LOW PRICES.

The best opportunity of the Season for a Bargain in first Class second hand Bicycles, wheels shipped C. O. D. with privilege of Examination.

Thistle Cycle Co. St. Paul, Minn.



OSBORN, CROSBY & CO.
We Loan Money on Wheat In Elevators

We will loan you 90 per cent of the value, at 6 per cent interest, on wheat sent to us to be stored or upon grain in your local elevator. Osborn, Crosby & Co., Grain Commission, Flour Exchange, Minneapolis.

DROPSY

TREATED FREE.

Positively Cured with Vegetable Remedies

Have cured thousands of cases. Cure cases pronounced hopeless by best physicians. From first dose symptoms disappear; in ten days at least two-thirds all symptoms removed. Send for free book testimonials of miraculous cures. Ten day's treatment free by mail. If you order trial send 10c in stamps to pay postage. Dr. H. H. Green & Sons, Atlanta, Ga. If you order trial return this advertisement to us.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS.

The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.

J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist, ST. PAUL, MINN.

Of course it's imitated—anything good always is—that's endorsement, not a pleasant kind, but still endorsement. HIRES Rootbeer is imitated.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

CRIPPLE CREEK GOLD STOCKS. Write.

We tell you how to make big money in Gold Stocks on small investments. Reliable information mailed free. Address The Gold Stock Investment Co., Colorado Springs, Colo. P. O. Box 567. Agents wanted.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D. C.

Successfully Prosecutes Claims.

Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use } Thompson's Eye Water.

PISO'S CURE FOR

CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.

Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.

CONSUMPTION

25 CTS.

THE HEART OF A MAID

How Senorita Cleofas Proved That a Woman Need not Be a Coward.

The long overland train for the West had pulled out of Grants and was snorting up the grade, leaving behind round masses of black vapor in the air, like visible breaths of the panting engine. In the lighted Pullman could be seen, as in a mist, the soft delicate faces of two young women—such young women as came out from the towns of New England to the pueblo to teach the little brown wards of a paternal government.

The "gang"—the vaqueros on their way to the "round-up" beyond the San Rafael—stared at them as men do at women in a comparatively womanless country, with a kind of open, innocent, decent yearning that is half-pathetic, half-absurd.

Then they went back to the "store" and strung themselves along the porch on the piles of sheep-pelts, smoking and swearing amiably, and watching the day die against the white cliffs of El Gallo. And then they missed Longley. "Appolyer," as the called him in tender scorn of his young beauty.

"Where's the cuss?" asked Dick Hart.

"Hoofed it down the track efter them gurls," suggested Hank, ironically.

Then Roberts, who had seen "white times," sent out a yell that cut the crisp air like an arrow.

"Appolyer, approach!"

He was answered by a grunt, and Longley's legs appeared, leaping up the steps of the portal, and followed as usual by a dog or two, previously kicked out of the way by somebody, but now showing a sneaking security under Longley's lee. Appolyer spread himself down on the steps, his blonde, sun-burned head making a pale shadow against the adobe wall. For a while there was simple silence and acrid smoke. Then Longley, whose boyish thinkings were aptest to lead to speech, said contemplatively:

"Say, them wuz nice gurls—and they hev sand, too. These-here Spanish gurls ain't got none. They're all-fired cute 'nd just as soft end gentle as a doe—but I don't believe they've got any grit in 'em, 'thout it's 'bout some fellar they get gone on. I reckon they'd fight then, 'cause 'bout that, womin folks are purt' nigh alike everywhar."

Longley, who had been filling his pipe as he spoke, began to pull steadily, fixing his whole mind on a complex series of rings that curled, and writhed, and wavered off into the pure darkness of the New Mexican night.

Beyond the duty of adding an original oath to the classic store, "the gang" rather eschewed conversation; but Longley had only been in camp about six weeks, and was still in that platitudinizing stage that precedes actual knowledge. "The gang" put up with it because they liked him, and because, as Hank said:

"Ef he is a calf, he ain't no maverick. He's got our brand."

Appolyer himself said later: "Ef a man's got sense he gets to holdin' onto hisself, 'cause ef he stays a fool he hez to leave the country."

And as Longley lounged there, outlined now by the blurred light of the dingy lamp just lighted in the store, big and bovine, blue of eye and yellow of hair, he looked no fool, but what he shortly became, a Compeller of Hearts and of Cattle.

All the gang envied him, affectionately or sourly as their luck ran, even to Dick Hart, who had rich relatives and a knowledge of grammar.

But the gods—who have jurisdiction even in New Mexico—had a well-barbed arrow pointed Appolyer's way, and away over at San Miguel were preparing a little "experience" for him, which, like all such things properly digested, led to the curtailment of opinion and amplification of vision.

* * * * * * *

It was the blackest kind of a night at San Miguel, but so clear that the stars shone like tiny points of cold fire, too far for light. The cluster of adobes that, grouped around a central larger one, made the ranch of San Miguel, were mere brown blots. Here and there a dully lighted window showed where some belated task was being finished or some young mother watched her first-born's unknowing slumber. But the family, from Don Vicente of heroic history to the lowest of the fond and faithful house-servants, were gathered in the large house, overflowing the hall and kitchen and stamping and laughing in the long portal, barred by lines of light from window and open doors.

"The gang," just finishing the fall driving at old man Baca's, were there, too, the shyest and most exuberant of the party. So pervaded was the little placita with their long legs, flapping sombreros, shoving shoulders, and shrill voices, that the clatter reached the ears of old Wodan, deaf to all but Don Vicente's voice these many years. At least, the mastiff growled and moved from his warm corner, showing a great toothless grin of discontent. The tough old hens, perched along the warm wall of the kitchen, clucked protestingly, and a litter of very misguided kittens forsook the safe shelter of the round oven and scuttled off crazily. One, having mistaken Longley's leg for a better shelter it was he who was allowed to help Miss Cleofas gather them up again. He encompassed the entire family in one fist, tenderly enough, and restored them to an indifferent mother under the soft, directing gaze of this, the youngest daughter of the prolific house of Ortiz.

A slender little thing she was, too, with great black eyes shining under a demure forehead; the creamy amber of her skin overcoming the pallor of childhood; the thin cheek just rounding into a perfect oval. But the soul of her soldier father was alive in her, and many complex problems of the busy life of the tiny town were settled according to her wish and will—softly and all sweetly, too, for Cleofas was warm-hearted as well as quick-witted. And so it happened that when the best of everything had been given up to the guests, and there was still more room needed, it was Cleofas who decided to make her simple and brief bed in a large deserted room some few yards away in the open.

"It is I, certainly, that will go, and Rosita shall care for the madre. Juan shall build me a little fire of ten sticks, and before it is out, pouf! there is the sun coming in."

Brushing the withered cheek of the madre with her soft lips, the girl ran out into the star-lit autumn darkness, her cousin Juan following with skins and blankets for the bed, which was stretched in a corner behind the triangular fire-place.

High up in the thick adobe wall, a small square hole admitted the air, and the heavy door swung on grating hinges. Juan, whose jealous eyes had followed every glance and motion of "Senor Longley," since his arrival, knelt on the floor adjusting the sticks of wood as the exigencies of the raised fire-place and the customs of the country demanded—on one end.

He did not speak, and Cleofas watched him as silently, a sparkle of coquetry in her eyes, already heavy with sleep.

"Good-night, cousin," said Juan, in the careful English he affected since coming from school.

The girl nodded, and the young man stepped over the sill. Then he turned sullenly.

"Senor Longley have love for you. He says Spanish girl nice, but coward. Culdado;"

Cleofas sprang from her seat on the hearth like an arrow from a tense string. Her eyes shone with anger and fun.

"Culdado thou!" she cried, and swung the door to with a crash, forgetting even to push home the rude bolt of buckskin and wood. Folding her reboso tightly under her chin, she crept under the blankets, and the flames, as they danced, revealed only a formless shadow, from which came the soft, regular breaths of sound sleep. Suddenly Cleofas awoke. Her cheek flushed again at the memory of Juan's speech.

"No grit. That is the queer word the Senor Longley have use." Cleofas smiled again and murmured as she rolled over on her side for a fresh nap: "And yet it is I who will grind him."

The girl had not slept long; but they had danced late, and already a pale morning was abroad. Suddenly there came a slight scratching at the door. The girl sat up in the shadow listening for a moment, and then lay back again sleepily. It was some wandering horse or sheep rubbing stealthily along the wall. Then Cleofas remembered the unbolted door. As she rose to bolt it, it swung open cautiously and a head was thrust in—a hideous, shaved head, set on a thick, fat neck. On the hard, cruel line of the lower jaw there was the white cicatrix of a wound, which drew up the lip with a sneering twist. To sink down in a crouching, limp heap and throw her reboso over her face was the girl's instinctive act. Through its folds she watched breathlessly. It was Cuyas, the murderer, who had beaten his wife to death in a rage. Cleofas had seen him pass through the streets of Albuquerque on his way to prison. He had escaped from Santa Fe and come over the mountains in desperate flight.

The convict, fearing only an enemy from without, closed and bolted the door, and, without a glance toward the dusky corner where Cleofas was flattened against the floor, threw himself heavily down in front of the dead fire. The chain still fastened to one wrist clanked sharply, and the man jerked at it savagely, with an oath.

Even in the deadly fear that made her skin prickle like a thousand fiery needles and her limbs feel lead-like, Cleofas was an Ortiz still.

"I will not die like a miserable sheep," thought she; "nor will I kneel and beg for mercy as the little wife did, and vainly. No, I shall say: 'Murder me if thou wilt, thou coward; and may thy wretched soul burn in hell forever.'"

But the convict's head had rolled heavily on to his breast, and he slept, his breath coming in long waves of exhaustion. Hope grew in the heart of the motionless spectator in the corner.

"Holy Mother," she prayed, "keep me as a mouse. Let me live as if I lived not, and save me for the little madre's sake."

An hour rolled on. Through the window the day was broadening. Cleofas was stiff, was cold, was impatient.

"He will sleep on and on, like a pig and wolf that he is," she thought, indignantly, "and I must wait his pleasure to be killed and eaten. Or he will wake and go far away and be free—he, the wicked one. It shall not be. Dear Jesu, help."

With her eyes fixed on the face of the convict, the girl began to fold back her reboso and the twisted blankets. When her limbs were free, with one quick, silent effort, she stood upright. Never once removing her gaze, she followed the shadow of the wall, groping cat-like, her very breath suspended to the faintest flutter of her throat.

She has reached the door, and still the murderer sleeps. But, at the slight noise of the slipping bolt, he stirs and turns. With a stifled cry, the girl throws up one slender arm to hide her eyes from the dreadful death she believes so near. An instant's silence follows. Fatigue and sleep weigh on the man, body and spirit. Cleofas throws herself against the door, it swings out with her into freedom.

Appolyer Longley's dreams had been full of enchanting visions of coquettish girls appearing under different forms, but all bearing the name of Cleofas. So restless was he in consequence that he had risen early to try the famous counter-irritant of the chase.

To have the real Cleofas run into his arms, to have her point gaspingly to a fleeing figure a few yards away, and to bring his rifle to his shoulder, were all parts of a lively and interesting moment.

His voice rang out with pleasant firmness.

"Hold on, pard."

The man ran on. A little spirit of opal smoke rose on the air, and the figure became a crumpled brown bundle on the brown earth.

"I'll go bring him in, Miss Cleofas," said Longley, cheerfully, and then he caught the girl about the waist and carried her tenderly into the house. Forthwith Cleofas's speech had failed, and her eyes shone darkly in a face as white as milk.

* * * * * * *

It was thirty amply surveyed miles from the sheep-shearing at Grant's to San Miguel, but Longley's tough little Navajo pony "couldn't sleep nowhere else" but in the all out-doors corral of Don Vicente. At least, so his master said. But this Saturday night the shearing was finished. The last scared, homely, jagged little sheep had escaped the shearers, and was huddled under the lee of the mesa, for when the Lord tempers the wind to the shorn lamb, he forgets New Mexico, and the top of Mount Taylor supplies an icy variety.

The great brown bags of fleece were tied; and marked, and piled on the platform for the east-bound freight. The shearers were eating and drinking monstrously about their camp-fire on the malpais, across the Puerco.

Appolyer had a good season's wage in his belt, but his spirits were low as he turned his tired pony loose in the corral at the Ortiz ranch.

"En I said they wasn't gritty," he mutters; "en she knows it, end, of course, she won't hev me. Laws! I wudden't, either."

The door opens and Cleofas comes out.

"Oh, it is the Senor Tawm," she cries, not very loudly; "it is very nice luck for you to be here. It is a fiesta."

"Hullo, is thet so? What for?" stammers Tom, who has never been called Tawm before.

"My cousin, Luz, she marrying Juan," said Cleofas, looking down.

"A wedding! Oh, Lord!" groaned Longley.

"You just like Spanish girl, Senor Tawm? No grit, no?"

Longley turned his head sharply. There was the dawn of a great hope in his face.

"Why, Cleofas, darlin'," his voice cracked and broke.

"You not ask me marrying you?" whispered Cleofas.

It was always a matter of discussion, in after years, where the courage of Cleofas came in, but Appolyer Longley never had any doubts.—Dorothy Lummis, in Argonaut.

PLATFORM IN FULL.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

The Financial Plank Declares In Favor of the Present Gold Standard and Against Free Silver, Except By International Agreement, Also for Protection and the Re-Enactment of Reciprocal Legislation.

St. Louis, June 18.—The platform as adopted is as follows:

The Republicans of the United States, assembled by their representatives in national convention, appealing for the popular and historical justification of their claims to the matchless achievements of thirty years of Republican rule, earnestly and confidently address themselves to the awakened intelligence, experience and conscience of their countrymen in the following declaration of facts and principles:

For the first time since the civil war, the American people have witnessed the calamitous consequences of full and unrestricted Democratic control of the government. It has been a record of unparalleled incapacity, dishonor and disaster. In administrative management it has ruthlessly sacrificed indispensable revenue, entailed an unceasing deficit, eked out ordinary current expenses with borrowed money, piled up the public debt by $263,000,000 in time of peace, forced an adverse balance of trade, kept a perpetual menace hanging over the redemption fund, pawned American credit to alien syndicates, and reversed all the measures and results of successful Republican rule. In the broad effects of its policy it has precipitated panic, blighted industry and trade with prolonged depression, closed factories, reduced work and wages, halted enterprise and crippled American production while stimulating foreign production for the American market. Every consideration of public safety and individual interest demands that the government shall be rescued from the hands of those who have shown themselves incapable to conduct it without disaster at home and dishonor abroad, and shall be restored to the party which for thirty years administered it with unequaled success and prosperity. And in this connection we heartily indorse the wisdom, patriotism and the success of the administration of President Harrison.

We renew and emphasize our allegiance to the policy of protection as the bulwark of American industrial independence and the foundaton of American development and prosperity. This true American policy taxes foreign products and encourages home industry; it puts the burden of revenue on foreign goods; it secures the American market for the American producer; it upholds the American standard of wages for the American workingman; it puts the factory by the side of the farm and makes the American farmer less dependent on general thrift, and founds the strength of all on the strength of each. In its reasonable application, it is just, fair and impartial, equally opposed to foreign control and domestic monopoly, to sectional discrimination and individual favoritism. We denounce the present Democratic tariff as sectional, injurious to the public credit and destructive to business enterprise. We demand such an equitable tariff on foreign imports which come into competition with American products as will not only furnish adequate revenue for the necessary expenses of the government, but will protect American labor from degradation to the wage level of other lands. We are not pledged to any particular schedules. The question of rates is a practical question, to be governed by the conditions of the time and of production. The ruling and uncompromising principle is the protection and development of American labor and industry. The country demands a right settlement and then it wants rest.

We believe the repeal of the reciprocity arrangements negotiated by the last Republican administration was a national calamity, and we demand their renewal on such terms as will equalize our trade with other nations, remove the restrictions which now obstruct the sale of American products in the ports of other countries, and secure enlarged markets for the products of our farms, forests and factories. Protection and reciprocity are the measures of Republican policy and go hand in hand. Democratic rule has recklessly struck down both, and both must be reestablished. Protection for what we produce; free admission for the necessaries of life which we do not produce; reciprocal agreement of mutual interests which gain open markets for us in return for our open markets to others. Protection builds domestic industry and trade, and secures our own market for ourselves; reciprocity builds up foreign trade and finds an outlet for our surplus.

We condemn the present administration for not keeping faith with the sugar producers of this country. The Republican party favors such protection as will lead to the production on American soil of all the sugar which the American people use, and for which they pay other countries more than $100,000,000 annually.

To all our products—to those of the mine and field, as well as those of the shop and the factory—to hemp, to wool, the producers of the great industry of sheep husbandry, as well as to the finished woolens of the mills—we promise the most ample protection.

We favor restoring the early American policy of discriminating duties for the upbuilding of our merchant marine, and the protection of our shipping in the foreign carrying trade, so that American carrying ships, the product of American labor, employed in American shipyards, sailing under the stars and stripes, and manned, officered and owned by Americans—may regain the carrying of our foreign commerce.

The Republican party is unreservedly for sound money. It caused the enactment of the law providing for the resumption of specie payments in 1879; since then every dollar has been as good as gold. We are unalterably opposed to every measure calculated to debase our currency or impair the credit of our country. We are therefore opposed to the free coinage of silver, except by international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world, which we pledge ourselves to promote, and until such agreement can be obtained, the existing gold standard must be maintained at parity with gold, and we favor measures designed to maintain inviolably the obligations of the United States and all our money, whether coin or paper, at the present standard, the standard of the most enlightened nations of the earth.

The veterans of the Union army deserve and should receive fair treatment and generous recognition. Whenever practicable, they should be given the preference in the matter of employment, and they are entitled to the enactment of such laws as are best calculated to secure the fulfillment of the pledges made to them in the dark days of the country's peril. We denounce the practice in the pension bureau, so recklessly and unjustly carried on by the present administration, of reducing pensions arbitrarily, dropping names from the rolls, as deserving the severest condemnation of the American people.

Our foreign policy should be at all times firm, generous and dignified, and all our interests in the Western hemisphere carefully watched and guarded. The Hawaiian islands should be controlled by the United States and no foreign power should be permitted to interfere with them; the Nicaraguan canal should be built, owned and operated by the United States; and by the purchase of the Danish islands we should secure a proper and much-needed naval station in the West Indies.

The massacres in Armenia have aroused the deep sympathy and just indignation of the American people and we believe that the United States should exercise all the influence it can properly exert to bring these atrocities to an end. In Turkey, American residents have been exposed to the gravest dangers and American property destroyed. There and everywhere, American citizens and American property must be absolutely protected at all hazards and at any cost.

We reassert the Monroe doctrine in its full extent and we reaffirm the right of the United States to give the doctrine effect by responding to the appeals of any American state for friendly intervention in case of European encroachment. We have not interfered and shall not interfere with the existing possessions of any European power in this hemisphere, but those possessions must not, on any pretext, be extended. We hopefully look forward to the eventual withdrawal of the European powers from this hemisphere, and to the ultimate union of all the English-speaking part of the continent by the free consent of its inhabitants.

From the hour of achieving their own independence, the people of the United States have regarded with sympathy the struggles of other American peoples to free themselves from European domination. We watch with deep and abiding interest the heroic battle of the Cuban patriots against cruelty and oppression, and our best hopes go out for the full success of their determined contest for liberty. The government of Spain, having lost control of Cuba and being unable to protect the property or lives of resident American citizens, or to comply with its treaty obligations, we believe that the government of the United States should actively use its influence to restore peace and give independence to the island.

The peace and security of the republic and the maintenance of its rightful influence among the nations of the earth, demand a naval power commensurate with its position and responsibility. We, therefore, favor the continued enlargement of the navy and a complete system of harbor and sea coast defenses.

For the protection of the quality of our American citizenship and the wages of our workingmen against the fatal competition of low-priced labor, we demand that the immigration laws be thoroughly enforced and so extended as to exclude from entrance to the United States those who can neither read nor write.

The civil service law was placed on the statute book by the Republican party, which has always sustained it, and we renew our repeated declarations that it shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced and extended wherever practicable.

We demand that every citizen of the United States shall be allowed to cast one free and unrestricted ballot, and that such ballot shall be counted and returned as cast.

We proclaim our unqualified condemnation of the uncivilized and barbarous practice, well known as lynching or killing human beings, suspected or charged with crime, without process of law.

We favor the creation of a national board of arbitration to settle and adjust differences which may arise between employers and employed engaged in interstate commerce.

We believe in an immediate return to the free homestead policy of the Republican party, and urge the passage by congress of the satisfactory free homestead measure which has already passed the house and is now pending in the senate.

We favor the admission of the remaining territories at the earliest practicable date, having due regard to the interests of the people of the territories and of the United States. All the federal officers appointed for the territories should be elected from bona fide residents thereof, and the right of self-government should be accorded as far as practicable.

We believe the citizens of Alaska should have representation in the congress of the United States to the end that needful legislation may be intelligently enacted.

We sympathize with all wise and legitimate efforts to lessen and prevent the evils of intemperance and promote morality.

The Republican party is mindful of the rights and interests of women. Protection of American industries includes equal opportunities, equal pay for equal work and protection to the home. We favor the admission of women to wider spheres of usefulness, and welcome their co-operation in rescuing the country from Democratic and Populist mismanagement and misrule.

Such are the principles and policies of the Republican party. By these principles we will abide and these policies we will put into execution. We ask for them the considerate judgment of the American people. Confident alike in the history of our great party and in the justice of our cause, we present our platform and our candidates in the full assurance that the election will bring victory to the Republican party and prosperity to the people of the United States.

A PLEASANT DUTY.

Committees Are Appointed to Notify the Nominees.

St. Louis, June 18.—The following committees to notify the nominees have been notified:

Alabama—President, C. D. Alexander; vice president, R. Pettiford.
Arkansas—Henry M. Cooper, John Hadls.
California—Frank A. Miller, Eli Denison.
Connecticut—George Sykes, Edwin O. Keeler.
Delaware—Henry G. Morse, Henry A. Dupont.
Florida—Dennis Egan.
Georgia—M. B. Morton, M. J. Doyle.
Illinois—Charles H. Deere, Isaac L. Edward.
Indiana—Hiram Brownlee, Jesse Welck.
Iowa—Calvin Manning, C. W. Jenkin.
Kansas—Nathaniel Barnes, Frank Vincent.
Kentucky—John McCartney, John G. White.
Maine—George P. Westcott, Stanley Cueman.
Maryland—W. F. Airey, W. G. Tuck.
Massachusetts—M. V. B. Jefferson, Willard J. Hale.
Michigan—Thomas J. O'Brien, R. A. Alger.
Minnesota—Monroe Nichols, A. D. Davidson.
Mississippi—W. D. Frazee, J. S. Ousley.
Missouri—J. B. Hawwaughawaut, B. F. Leonard.
Nebraska—John T. Bressler, John T. Bressler.
New Hampshire—William D. Sawyer, James A. Wood.
New Jersey—Ferd W. Roebeling, W. Barbour.
New York—Frank Hiscock, Lispenard Stewart.
North Carolina—Claude W. Benard, J. H. Hannon.
North Dakota—C. M. Johnson, J. M. Devine.
Ohio—M. A. Hanna, George Ketchum.
Oregon—Charles Hilton, Charles W. Parrish.
Pennsylvania—T. L. Flood, H. S. Denny.
South Carolina—E. H. Deeos, C. J. Pride.
South Dakota—Walter E. Smead, H. T. Meacham.
Tennessee—Ernest H. Caldwell, H. C. Jarvis.
Texas—J. W. Butler, J. O. Luby.
Utah—L. R. Rodgers, J. A. Smith.
Vermont—James W. Brock, Edward C. Smith.
Virginia—J. S. Browning, R. T. Hubbard.
Washington—Henry E. Wilson, James M. Gilbert.
West Virginia—W. L. Lynch, P. E. Houston.
Wisconsin—M. E. Ring, Julius Roberer.

NORTHWEST AND ST. LOUIS.

Bolt of Towne, of Minnesota and Pettigrew, of South Dakota.

Duluth, Special, June 18.—L. C. Harris, law partner of Congressman Towne, received the following telegram from him dated at St. Louis this afternoon: "Teller and the rest have left the convention. I have joined them."

Yankton, S. D., Special, June 18.—The bolt of Senator Pettigrew is no surprise here. His action was predicted long ago, even before the Huron state convention, which turned him down. Republicans generally are glad that he has finally taken this course, as they now know where to find him.

Moorhead, Minn., Special, June 18.—The news of McKinley's nomination was received with much satisfaction here, especially among Republicans, and there is a good demand for McKinley buttons.

Nothing Serious.

London, June 18.—In the house of commons to-day the secretary of state for the colonies, Joseph Chamberlain, confirmed the report that Venezuelan troops had entered the territory in dispute between Venezuela and British Guiana and had interfered with a party of British surveyors who asked for support of the colonial authorities. The colonial office does not view the Venezuelan incident seriously.

For Postoffice Robbery.

Huron, S. D., Special, June 18.—Thomas J. Wallace, Ed Baxter, Frank Lang and James Riley were jailed here this evening, charged with robbing the postoffice at Highmore's week ago.

And Giving Marcus Aurelius Hanna Trouble.

St. Louis, Special—There is one class of McKinley men here bound to cause trouble to Mr. Hanna and his lieutenants. They want promises and pledges of the strongest kind for future appointments, and, unless they are appeased threaten to pull off in the support of the Canton major. Mark Hanna did some plain talking to some of his men who were making demands. This disaffection has not extended very far yet, but the leaders in the movement are awaiting the arrival of T. C. Platt with feverish impatience. The Dispatch has also learned that communications have been opened up with Reed at Washington, Mr. Manley, since his surrender not being the man with whom the half and half McKinley men wish to deal.

The Indiana men here are talking of raising some objections to the selection of C. W. Fairbanks for temporary chairman. He is a candidate for United States senator to succeed Voorhees and they have threatened to cause trouble unless there is a change of programme. Anything that savors of a fight or disagreement among the McKinley following is largely seized by the antis, who are loading up with bombs of all sorts to spring on the convention.

Belated Pensions.

Washington, Special—Toward the close of the session today Col. Kiefer succeeded in passing a bill granting a pension to John Beresford, late private, company B, Third Minnesota infantry. Mr. Tawney secured the passage of a bill to pension Mrs. Anna [illegible] widow of Dr. [illegible] Minnesota infantry [illegible]

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant,

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

The Next Century.

"Wasn't your new office-boy satisfactory?"

"Well, he was neat, respectful and industrious; he didn't swear, chew tobacco, use slang or smoke cigarettes; but he had one bad fault, so I had to discharge him."

"What was it?"

"He played with dolls."—Chicago Record.

DR. J. G. GRANT, Specialist.
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.
Syndicate Block, Minneapolis.
(Spectacles fitted.)

Fair Warning.

Passenger (to the train boy)—You probably did not know when you put this book in my lap that I was the author?

Train Boy—Did you write that book?

Passenger—I did.

Train Boy—Then you had better keep mighty quiet about it. I just sold a copy to the man back of you.—Boston Herald.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

In Germany patents may be taken out for improvements of inventions already patented.

For Lung and Chest diseases, Piso's Cure is the best medicine we have used.—Mrs. J. L. Northcott, Windsor, Ont., Canada.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is taken internally. Price, 75c.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine.

Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

Quoits, as a game, are said to have originated with the Greeks, and to have been first played at the Olympic games 1453 years B. C.

A caveat may be filed in Canada just as in the United States, the entire expense being $20.

Hospital nursing is becoming a fashionable craze in Paris.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

Theodore Grutting, St. Paul, Minn., electrical connection; Henry J. Kuriger, Minneapolis, Minn., log skidding device; Edwin L. Morey, Portland, Or., register for telephones; Magnus Ortenblad, Sandstone, Minn., nailing hatchet; Edward Sjskron, Minneapolis, Minn., convertible cover and pot for plants; John H. Suthoff, Seattle, Wash., tea infuser.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul, Minn.

Artichokes for Swine.

There is no crop probably regarding which there is so wide a difference of opinion as artichokes. Some farmers are emphatic in condemning them as a nuisance and others are just as pronounced in the opinion that it will pay well to grow them for swine. In some parts of Michigan, for instance, artichokes are not only grown regularly by swine breeders, but they go to the trouble of digging and storing them for winter use. Where the winters are short they will most unquestionably be more useful than where the ground is frozen during nearly half the year, for as long as the ground is open the swine can dig them for themselves. Their food value is considerable. Pound for pound they are probably worth as much as potatoes; of course when pigs are being fattened grain must be added to the artichokes. They are more valuable for store pigs and brood sows than for pigs that are being fattened, since the latter should not have to labor for their food when they are being finished for the market. If planted in a damp, mucky soil they produce very large crops, and it is claimed that there is no difficulty in getting rid of them if they are allowed to grow up to the height of ten or twelve inches, and are then plowed under.

FITS—All Fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No Fits after the first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle free to Fit cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Phila., Pa.

Gramme's magnetico-electric machine was brought to perfection in '75.

Smouldering fires of old disease

lurk in the blood of many a man, who fancies himself in good health. Let a slight sickness seize him, and the old enemy breaks out anew. The fault is the taking of medicines that suppress, instead of curing disease. You can eradicate disease and purify your blood, if you use the standard remedy of the world,

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa.

Makes marvelous cures. Purely vegetable and absolutely harmless.

The Great Blood Purifier.

FREE HOMES From Uncle Sam.

Nearly 2,000,000 Acres of Government Lands Now Open to Settlement

IN NORTHERN ARKANSAS.

They are fertile, well-watered, heavily-timbered, and produce grains, grasses, fruits and vegetables in abundance. North Arkansas apples are noted. The climate is delightful, winters mild and short. These lands are subject to homestead entry of 160 acres each. NOW IS THE TIME TO GET A HOME. For further information address ☞ Inclose 10 cents in Silver. E. V. M. POWELL, Immigration Agent, Harrison, Ark.

☞ Refers to Bank of Harrison and Boone County Bank, Harrison, Ark.

The Governor of North Carolina said to the Governor of South Carolina

Battle Ax PLUG

"BATTLE AX" is the most tobacco, of the best quality, for the least money. Large quantities reduce the cost of manufacture, the result going to the consumer in the shape of a larger piece, for less money, than was ever before possible.

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XV. ST.HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY JULY 1, 1896. NUMBER 48.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

The government forestry commission, organized to make an investigation of various forestry problems and outline an administrative policy on the subject, will devote the summer to its work.

Practically all of the field work of the United States geological survey is now under way, about forty or fifty geological and almost as many topographical parties have resumed operations throughout the country, and will continue until the close of the season in September and October.

People in Print.

Prof. John S. Copp of the theological department of Hillsdale, Mich., is dead.

A nursing exhibition is being held in London. It is of the appliances used by hospital nurses.

Lord Rosebery's eldest daughter has been much seen in London this season, and will probably be brought out next year and presented at court.

Prof. P. C. Trandberg, instructor of theology at the Danish Theological seminary, Chicago, died in Minneapolis.

Mrs. Marie de la Chappele died at Ottawa, Ill., at the age of 25 years. She was the daughter of the present Marquis d'Ivery, the head of one of the oldest families in France.

Capt. J. D. Marks, who has served Jackson, Tenn., as city marshal and chief of police for twenty years, was stricken by paralysis six days ago and died, aged 48 years.

David Starr Jordan, president of Stanford university, who has arrived in Seattle, Wash., will sail for Alaska with the two other members of the seal commission and British commissioners.

Casualties.

Walter Stephens, a young shovel polisher at a factory in Anderson, Ind., was killed by the bursting of an emery wheel.

Miss Emma Krauss has died at New Baden, Ill., from injuries received in the tornado there. Her death increases the death roll in the village to fifteen.

An explosion at the powder works near Marquette, Mich., wrecked the glycerine house and destroyed property worth $2,000.

The boiler of a steam yacht exploded at the Taylor Cycle park, one mile west of Little Falls, N. Y., killing ten persons instantly and severely injuring many others.

Two men were probably fatally injured and several others were hurt by a train colliding with a stone at Hog's Bridge, Roxbury District, near Boston.

There was a fatal wreck at Friend, Neb. Wind had blown empty stock cars on the main track, the fast express ran into them, and half a dozen cars were piled in the ditch. A tramp stealing a ride was killed.

A cyclone struck Creston, Iowa. The high school building was damaged to the extent of $10,000 and the Methodist church and other buildings suffered. Property losses amount to about $10,000 and the streets are blocked with debris.

Ex-Gov. Luce of Michigan had a narrow escape from being killed. He was at work at his barn in Gilead township, near Coldwater, when a heavy door fell upon him, crushing him to the ground. Fortunately help was near, and he was rescued from his perilous position with a dislocated shoulder and painful bruises on the chest.

An excursion train containing eighteen coaches of passengers, all of whom were employes of the Pennsylvania railroad shops at Fort Wayne, broke in two while running at a high rate of speed five miles south of Kendallville, Ind. Before the alarm could be given two men were thrown from the platform, one being cut in two and the other literally ground to pieces.

On the trolley line running from Frankford, a suburb of Philadelphia, to a pleasure park some distance out, two overloaded open cars in passing each other at a rapid rate, caused a jam among the passengers hanging on the sides. Nine of the passengers received internal injuries and eleven others received injuries more or less serious.

Mrs. Simon Paulson was killed by lightning during a thunder storm at Sioux City, Ia. Her husband and 3-year-old child were standing near by, but escaped without serious injury. The government towboat, Josie, anchored some distance above the city, was considerably damaged by a bolt, and several of her crew more or less burned. Many houses were struck and the business streets flooded by the heavy rain

Evil Doings.

Bill Westmoreland, colored, fired from ambush and murdered James Gilchrist, a farmer of Lowndes county, Ala., and was lynched by a mob.

The trial of Alonzo P. Walling, jointly indicted with Scott Jackson for the murder of Pearl Bryan, ended with conviction and penalty fixed at death.

John C. Donaldson, a farmer near Warsaw, Ind., has been arrested on a charge of counterfeiting. There is a large number of bogus $2 bills in circulation in the vicinity.

At Hoxie, Kan., the court house of Sheridan county was robbed, the treasurer's safe being blown open and plundered and the building burned. All the records were destroyed.

Martin Cilhal, the old keeper of the Chicago Outing club house at Forsyth, Ind., was shot in the head by some unknown person. Several arrests have been made.

Noble Shepard, who was in jail at St. Louis awaiting execution for the murder of Thomas Morton and Lizzie Leahey, escaped from prison during the night.

City Marshal Scott of North Baltimore, Ohio, was killed while attempting to arrest three robbers whom he caught in the act of endeavoring to effect an entrance into the village postoffice.

An unknown man and woman were found dead in a bed in a house of questionable character at Wilkesbarre, Pa. It is believed to be a case of double suicide. The coroner has begun an investigation.

Rev. A. Cornish, pastor of the United Brethren church, one of the largest churches in Fort Scott, Kan., was walking by the fence at the house where he rooms, when some one suddenly sprang out from the weeds about twelve feet away and shot a bullet through his hat, just missing his head.

Prof. E. T. Jordan of Morristown, Ind., engaged in a heated argument over the financial situation and routed his opponents. While on his way home he was waylaid by several men, who assailed him with eggs. He pursued them and was knocked senseless with a stone. Jordon was formerly state gas inspector and is well known all over the state. The men who assailed him have not been apprehended.

Henry Elroth, once the owner of large cabinet ware factories in Peoria, Ill., and Mexico, Mo., was found dead in his lodgings at Kansas City, Mo., having committed suicide with morphine. Elroth was 55 years old. He was one time wealthy, but lost his wealth about ten years ago. Soon after that his wife left him, and is now living in Chicago. Elroth had been despondent for several weeks, and last night told some of his friends that he would not be alive next day.

From Foreign Shores.

The Natal contingent has defeated with heavy loss a force of 2,000 Mashonas.

Consul General Lee, in a private letter, says the Cubans are actually in control of their island.

Dr. Jameson, the Transvaals raider, has been indicted in London for violating the neutrality laws.

The Conservative government was badly defeated in the Canadian elections, the Liberals winning on account of the separate school proposition.

The opposition has decided to request the Spanish government to introduce a bill providing sufficient resources to prosecute the campaign in Cuba.

Gen. P. D. Roddey, formerly in the service of the Confederate states and for eight years a company promoter in in London, Eng., is in the bankruptcy court.

Hugh Sproston, Jr., the leading figure in business circles of British Guiana, drowned himself by jumping from a steamer into the Demarara river. He was short in his accounts $[illegible],000.

The Berliner Nachrichten has learned that Emperor William has had a collection of English pamphlets on the monetary question sent to him. This news will inspire the German bimetallists with renewed hope.

The Persian promoters of the revolt at Van have made their escape. Six thousand Kurds who were advancing on Van, have retired on receiving orders to do so from the Turkish authorities. The Druses in revolt are awed by the presence of Turkish troops.

Miscellaneous.

The National Derby at St. Louis was won by Prince Lief.

Corbett was nearly knocked out by Sharkey, the Marine, at San Francisco.

An actress challenges Jim Corbett to a sparring match.

A hot water motor which is expected to revolutionize railway traffic is being tested by the New York Central.

The Democrats of the Twentieth district, Illinois, have nominated James P. Campbell of Hamilton county for congress.

All the European steamship lines sailing to continental ports had entered into an agreement to increase the minimum rates for first and second-class passage.

It is announced that Yale is to receive $750,000 in cash as the bequest of a wealthy widow. She made her will and the sum is to become available at her death. The name is kept secret.

According to a schedule filed by L. D. Phelps, assignee of Abbey, Schoeffel & Grau, theater and opera managers, the unsecured debts of the firm amount to $388,549, and the secured debts to $114,201.

A. Cuneo, a Wall street broker, reported to be worth $3,000,000 to $4,000,000, has been sent to the receiving hospital at New York to await an examination by the commissioners of insanity.

Jennie E. Flynn recently sued Frank J. Flynn at Cleveland for divorce and alimony on the ground of desertion. Since then Flynn has fallen heir to $40,000. The common pleas court has now given Mrs. Flynn her divorce and awarded her $10,000 alimony.

Mrs. Thomas Curtin of Valparaiso, Ind., was found dead in the rear of her residence, where she had gone to put up a rain barrel. She was in constant fear of lightning. As the lightning was heavy, it is thought she was frightened to death. She was 55 years old.

The supreme court of Indiana has decided in favor of the Nicholson law; which provides that liquor selling shall not be carried on in the same room as other business, and gives the county commissioners the right to inquire into circumstances when passing on applications for license.

Considerable excitement was created on the coast of Mendocino county, Cal., by the appearance of an immense tidal wave. The swell was seven feet higher than ordinarily and rushed up Big river with great force, but no damage was done. The great wall of water is attributed to a Japanese earthquake.

Through the instrumentality of the Bureau county court an organization of farmers was formed at Princeton, Ill., to construct an extensive farm drainage canal in a special district, to be known as the Union special canal. The channel will have an average width of twenty-five feet, and will extend along the Green river valley for a distance of twenty-five miles.

PERISH IN A MINE

ABOUT A HUNDRED MEN IN PITTSTON, PA., ARE KILLED.

While the Men Are Engaged in Putting in Props the Roof Caves in Without Warning and All but Three Men in the Mine Are Thought to Have Been Killed, Either by Being Crushed to Death or by Suffocation—Many Touching Scenes at the Mouth of the Shaft.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 30. — While about a hundred miners were at work in the Red Ash vein of the Twin shaft at Pittston about 3 o'clock this morning, the roof caved in and it is believed all of the men perished. About forty of the imprisoned men were English-speaking miners, the others were foreigners. The names of the former are: M. J. Laugan, inside superintendent; J. H. Linott, inside foreman; Alex McCormick, fire boss; Robert Haston, machinist; Thomas Murphy, driver boss; Michael Costello, J. H. Kelley, Michael Gaudhan, John Hart, James Dalley, Michael Connell, Daniel Ward, Frank Kehoe, James Cleary, Edward Buckley, John Casey, Edward Rogers, James Kehoe, James McDonald, Edward Delaney, Cornelius McGuire, James Gordon, M. O'Brien, Michael Hughes, Edward Kilday, James Burk, Patrick Ruane, Thomas Tenpenny, M. R. Gaffney, Thomas Doing, Anthony Kane, J. W. Murphy; Owen Lee, Anthony Gordon, James Wall, — Wall, Dominick O'Malley, Peter Martin, M. Ford, Timothy Durbrick, Thomas Dempsey, Thomas Carlin, Patrick Gibbons, John O'Boyle, Peter Joyce.

Many Leave Families.

Aside from these, there may be other English-speaking miners among the unfortunates. Thirty Polanders and Hungarians were entombed, and it is thought the total number of bodies in the mine will reach 100. The men were at work propping up the roof when the fall occurred. The alarm was immediately given by the ringing of the fire bells, and rescuers were put to work without delay. It was several hours before the first bodies were found in the slope, some distance from the plane where the men had been working. More than two-thirds of the victims were married men and leave families. Among them were Acting Mayor Langan, who was inside superintendent of the mine, and J. H. Linott, a ward councilman.

About two weeks ago the surveyors reported to General Superintendent Law that the mine was "squeezing," and that unless steps were immediately taken to timber it a cave-in or fall might be looked for. Supt. Law lost no time but at once put a number of men at work to brace the falling roof. The "squeeze" continued, however, and yesterday the situation became alarming. In the afternoon a slight fall occurred, and the men who were at work had to retreat before it. A consultation of mine officials was then held and it was decided that heroic measures would have to be resorted to to prevent heavy damage to the mine.

Inside Superintendent Langan gave instructions that the most experienced miners should be secured. Expert timber men put in an appearance at that hour and were soon lowered into the workings. They made their way to Red Ash vein, 1,500 feet down the slope. The work of propping proceeded rapidly until 11 o'clock when another fall occurred. It made a low, rumbling noise, and the flying coal and debris drove the men back. Then the "squeeze" ceased again, and the men thought it was safe to resume work. They labored on until 2:20 o'clock when, so it is presumed, the roof fell in without warning.

Making a Tremendous Crash.

It is supposed, however, that the men were not all together, but some near the slope, and these probably ran up the incline when the fall occurred. This is the only way the finding of Mayor Langan's body in the slope can be accounted for. If the men received any warning they had to run up the slope, but not to any great distance. The falling rock and coal filled up the slope and the adjoining gangways, completely shutting off all avenues of escape.

It was at first supposed that the men might have escaped being caught in the fall and that they were imprisoned behind the debris, but the finding of the two bodies would go to disprove this. It is still possible, however, that living men may still be behind the fall, although it is extremely improbable. Even if they escaped being crushed by the falling roof, the possibility of their being alive for any length of time in a gaseous mine is remote. The alarm was first given by Water Carrier John Sheridan, who, with William Rechard and Thomas Gill, were the only ones to escape of the whole party who entered the mine last night. Crowds of people gathered about the mouth of the shaft and numbered thousands by daybreak. Stalwart men stood appalled and frantic women, who had husbands or sons in the doomed mine, waited in despair. One mother cried out that she had two sons below. Another was the wife of one of the unfortunates, and had nine helpless children at home. Many knelt on the ground and in voices broken with sobs implored Divine Providence to restore their loved ones alive. When it was given out that there was little or no hope of rescuing the men alive, women and girls fainted and were borne away senseless.

The report that two bodies had been found in the mine was proved to have been premature. No bodies have yet been found, and all hope of finding any person alive has been abandoned. Supt. Lathrop, of the Lehigh Valley Coal company, who is an authority, says it will be ten days before the bodies are reached.

Prominent Cuban Captured.

Tampa, Fla., June 30. — Among the prisoners captured on the Three Friends Friday night by the Winona, was Dr. Joaquin Castillo, of the Cuban junta. When the Three Friends left Jacksonville last she took a large contingent of the Bermuda expedition that had failed to land. There were many conflicting stories, some to the effect that they were unable to land on account of the proximity of the Spanish warships, and other versions were that the leaders were not overzealous to land.

YOUNG MEN FIGHT.

An Occurrence at Eau Claire Which Causes a Sensation.

Eau Claire, Wis., June 30.—Ernest French, twenty years old, and Bill Hoeppner, about the same age, met in a ring just over the line in Wheaton township, Chippewa county, early this morning and fought nine rounds, after which the fight was declared a draw. Both had been severely punished and were exhausted and bleeding freely. The fight was witnessed by about sixty sports of this city and a few traveling men who happened to be in town. The ring had been staked out in professional style, and referee, seconds and timekeepers had been appointed. The fighters wore only their under garments and shoes and six-ounce gloves. French is the son of a prominent dentist of this city, and Hoeppner the son of a local business man. It is claimed by some that the fight was for $25 a side. Dr. French said to-day: "The Hoeppner boy had been abusing my boy constantly and the two finally decided they would fight it out, Marquis of Queensberry rules. My boy had the other one licked in the first few rounds but was in no physical condition to fight and could not follow up his advantage." The two fighters had been in training about two weeks. Young French was trained in a back yard by a negro known as Fighting Bob. Much excitement was caused by the affair, but it is not likely there will be any arrests.

SIX PEOPLE DROWN.

Distressing Accident on Lake Shawano, in Wisconsin.

Shawano, Wis., June 30.—Word was received here late last night of the drowning of six persons at Shawano lake, during a gale at 6:50 last evening. A party consisting of O. A. Risum and wife, Herman Drackrey and wife, Louis Gokey and wife and child of Pulcivor; Miss Emma Garbrecht of Shawano and Miss Margaret Crowe of St. Nazianz started from Cecil at about 5 o'clock in O. A. Risum's yacht, en route for a few days' outing on the north shore of the lake. When about three miles from shore the boat was capsized by a sudden squall and the party precipitated into the water. Mr. Risum and Mr. Drackrey clung to the capsized boat for almost five hours, the latter holding the child in his arms, when they were rescued by parties from Cecil, who were attracted by their cries for help. The bodies of the other six have not been recovered, owing to the high wind, it being impossible for the boats to leave the shores. Searching parties are being organized and the search will be resumed as soon as the wind abates.

MARKET REPORTS.

Latest Quotations from Grain and Live Stock Centers.

Chicago, June 30.—Wheat — June, 54 3-8c; July, 54 1-2c; September, 56c. Corn—June, 26 7-8c; July, 26 7-8c; September, 28c. Oats—June, 15 3-4c; July, 15 1-2c; September, 16c. Pork—June, $6.92; July, $6.92; September, $7.10. Lard—June, $3.87; July, $3.87; September, $4. Ribs—June, $3.65; July, $3.65; September, $3.80. Flax—Cash, N. W., 78 1-2c; July, 78c; September, 79 3-4c; December, 81 3-4c. Timothy — Cash, $2.90; August, $2.90; September, $2.80. Rye—Cash, 30c; July, 30c; August, $30 3-4c; September, 31 1-2c. Barley—Nothing doing.

Minneapolis, June 30.—Wheat—June closed at 52 5-8c; July opened at 52 1-2c and closed at 51 7-8c; September opened at 53 3-8c and closed at 52 5-8c. On track—No. 1 hard, 54 1-8c; No. 1 Northern, 53 1-8c; No. 2 Northern, 52 3-8c.

Milwaukee, June 30. — Flour quiet and steady. Wheat quiet and steady; No. 2 spring, 54 3-4c; No. 1 Northern, 58 1-4c; September, 56 3-4c. Corn steady; No. 3, 27c. Oats steady; No. 2 white, 18 1-2c; No. 3 white 18a18 1-4c. Barley steady; No. 2, 29c; sample 24a 29c. Rye dull; No. 1, 31 1-2c. Provisions weak; pork, $6.05; lard, $3.90.

South St. Paul, June 30.—Hogs firm and active; quality only fair; sales at $2.70a3.15. Cattle—Fat cattle strong; not enough to supply the demand; thin grassy cows slow and weak; sales at $2.15a4.

Chicago, June 30.—Hogs active and steady; light, $3.25a3.42 1-2; mixed, $3.05a3.40; rough, $2.80a2.95. Cattle quiet and unchanged.

TRAGEDY IN MONTANA.

Two Half-Breeds and a Full Blooded Indian Are Now Dead.

Helena, Mont., June 30.—Two men and one woman dead and one man under arrest for accessory to a murder is the result of a woman's unfaithfulness and a man's perfidy. The dead are Paul Vinette, a half-breed, his wife and Took-a-Fine-Gun, a full-blooded Indian. The man under arrest is Makes-the-Fire, a brother of the dead Indian. The scene was at the Blackfoot reservation. Took-a-Fine-Gun had been paying attention to Vinette's wife in spite of Vinette's protests. Wednesday he caught the couple alone and took a shot at the Indian, who escaped uninjured, vowing vengeance. Next day Vinette mounted his horse to hunt for missing cattle. He had not proceeded far when two shots were heard and his horse came back riderless. Took-a-Fine-Gun and Makes-the-Fire rode up, saying they had killed Vinette. Then, with Mrs. Vinette, the trio rode away. Mounted police followed, and in the morning two shots were heard in a clump of bushes. An investigation revealed the bodies of Mrs. Vinette and Took-a-Fine-Gun. He had killed her by shooting her through the head and himself in a like manner. Makes-the-Fire was captured later and locked up on the charge of murder. The bodies were buried at once to keep the Indians from attempting to take the life of the man under arrest.

Convicted of Murder.

Muncie, Ind., June 30.—During the strike last winter Frank Gallagher was assaulted by two non-union strikers and in self-defense killed them. The jury to-day rendered a verdict of guilty of murder against Gallagher.

Nominee Dead.

Cincinnati, June 30. — Patrick McKeown, who was nominated at the Democratic state convention last Wednesday for state food and dairy commissioner, died at his home here last night of cholera morbus.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

The two murderers of Sheriff Rogers of Glencoe have been captured.

A district encampment of the G. A. R. was held at Northfield.

Sheep and other stock around Adrian are dying of rabies.

A storm caused a panic at a circus in Austin.

Four young people—three from Minneapolis and one from St. Paul—were drowned at Annondale.

Ex-City Treasurer Stapf of South St. Paul has been fined $100 for embezzlement.

Sheriff John Rogers of McLeod county was murdered at Glencoe by two tramps.

Mrs. Alex. Smart, one of the best known ladies of St. Cloud, died of Bright's disease.

A young man named Christopherson, residing near Rothsay, was drowned in Long Lake while bathing.

The Goodhue County Sunday School convention was held at Trout Brook, near Red Wing, recently.

W. H. S. Wright of St. Paul was elected high priest of the Mystic Shriners, whose imperial council was held at Cleveland.

Charles Meinzer, an old and well-known citizen of Hokah, died from injuries received by being struck by the sweep of a stump-puller.

Frank Martin, a contractor of Stillwater, fell from a scaffold about twenty feet to the ground, breaking several ribs and injuring his spine.

Ole Estensen, who runs a sawmill at Henning, was seriously, if not fatally, injured by getting caught in the drive belt in his mill.

Ida, twelve-year-old daughter of D. A. Blakeney, agent at the union depot at Stillwater, died of peritonitis. She had been ill only a few days.

The Sixth district immigration convention was held at Grand Rapids. There was a large attendance and much enthusiasm was displayed.

L. Bronski, a laborer in Sheeran & Filler's bottling works at Faribault, was badly hurt by the explosion of a gas drum.

I. Grettum, the land attorney accused of defrauding the government by illegal practice, was found guilty in the United States court at Duluth.

Ambrose Diedrick, the 13-year-old son of Leonard Diedrick of Delano, was drowned while bathing in the river with companions.

The supreme court has decided that the House of the Good Shepherd at St. Paul cannot be used as a public workhouse for the retention of female prisoners.

A heavy electric storm, with a flood of rain, driven by high wind, passed over Faribault recently, and caused considerable damage to trees and outbuildings.

During a severe storm lightning struck the residence of Judge Stark at Rochester, setting it on fire. The fire was soon extinguished, with but little damage.

The annual conclave of the grand commandery of the Knights Templar was held at Stillwater. J. H. Randall of Minneapolis was elected grand commander.

A young son of Anton Hassing of Delavan was shot and instantly killed with a small target rifle in the hands of a younger brother, who did not know the gun was loaded. The boy's mother is nearly prostrate with grief.

Emil Obeg, sawyer of the mill at Smith Lake, was painfully injured by falling on the saw. The saw cut a long gash from the center of the shoulder down the back, cutting the shoulder blade in two.

William Koehler, aged twenty-two, was drowned while bathing in Twin Lakes, near Anoka. His companions tried to rescue him, but failed. His body was recovered. He was the son of a prominent farmer.

The Norwegian Lutheran church at Glencoe was burned recently. It is suspected it was set on fire to cover the stealing of silverware. Insurance on building, $800; furniture, $250. The building was worth $1,800; furniture, $600.

Olaf H. Ingborg, a young farmer residing near Hendrum, committed suicide by sending a bullet through his brain. Ingborg was twenty-five years of age and was respected by all. The cause of his taking his life is said to have been disappointment in love.

The largest hail ever known in this section fell at Worthington recently, accompanied by torrents of rain. Some stones were picked up which by actual measurement were seven inches in circumference. The fall was light, however, and not much damage was done.

The Weekly Crop Bulletin.

Minneapolis, June 26.—The week has been hot, averaging daily 5 or 6 degrees warmer than usual. The rainfall has been deficient, except over limited areas where local rains occurred. The general condition of wheat is not so good as it was a week ago, the deterioration being mainly from rust, although some report the fields lodged badly where showers occurred. In some of the central counties that on high and sandy lands has a thin stand, while on the low lands it is most everywhere too rank. The week has been a grand one for the corn, and it has made a wonderful advance since the last report. The bulk of the crop is, however, still backward, but the prospects now are much better, and the fields have generally been cleaned of weeds. Rye is turning yellow and has filled well. Early sown oats and wheat are beginning to head and barley is well along in this respect. Flax is in blossom. A great deal of clover has been cut for hay and the tame hay harvest will be general this week. Old timothy fields are not nearly as good as the new, but the crop as a whole shows good improvement and is thick and tall. There is considerable water in the sloughs, and in consequence grass there will not be cut. Peas and new potatoes are in the market. The strawberry crop continues getting poorer, caused, some say, by the hot weather in May. Apples are dropping quite badly in places.

ONE FOURTH OF JULY
-BY-
S. PRITCHARD
MASON.

The captain knocked the ashes from his pipe and tilted his chair backward, that he might put his feet on the desk. It was after midnight and the steady throb of the presses came up from the basement as their gaping maws took in the long rolls of white paper and delivered the first edition, ready for the mail, a moment later. In the composing room the machines clicked steadily away as the operators put the later news of the night into shining lines of type; and in the editorial department a few belated writers were grinding out their last copy.

"The Fourth of July is half an hour old," said the captain, as the last ashes fell from the pipe, "and if Patterson, here," (turning toward the police reporter, who had just come in) "has got time to listen awhile, I'll spin you the yarn of one Independence Day that we spent in Guatemala."

Having refilled and lighted the pipe to his liking, while the boys gathered around, he continued: "It was in July, '84, and we were camped on the Rio Gracios a Dios. Our company was mostly Americans, and we hadn't seen Old Glory since we left Cuba, over two months before, and the boys felt blue about it. The Guatemalan flag is a pretty one, for it has all the colors of the rainbow in it, and some that are not in the bow, but it isn't one to tie to. Well, we'd been talking about the Fourth, and wishing that we had a flag that we could run up and salute, but it had got around to the third, and we seemed no nearer to our desire than we were two weeks before.

"On the morning of the third I took Paterson and five other men, and went on a scout on the south side of the river. It was hotter than blazes and we had fourteen hours in the saddle, so it was after dark when we came in. The sun had just set when we 'spied a fire gleaming through the trees. I sent Pat to look it up, and he crawled off through the bushes. Pretty soon he came back with the word that it was only a beach-comber, as they call tramps down there, so we went up and surrounded him. A more dirty, ragged specimen of the genus tramp I have rarely seen. He told us his story. He had tramped all over the United States, and at Mobile had joined a fruiter trading to Bocas del Toro. He had deserted there and was beach-combing it back to civilization.

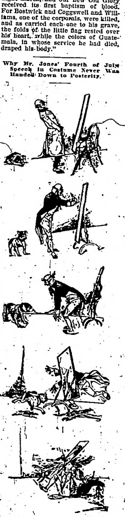
"Take a Pull, and Pull Hearty."

We proposed that he go with us to camp, and he was only too delighted to accept the proposition.

"We took him with us to camp, and after Burleigh had questioned him a bit we fed him up. We were not living on Delmonico fare ourselves, but it would have done you good to see that fellow eat. After he got through he pulled a handkerchief out of his pocket, and the next thing I heard was a howl from Pat, and in a minute he was waving the handkerchief over his head and half the boys in camp were yelling like mad. It was neither more nor less than a little American flag. I reckon the tramp thought we had all gone crazy, for we shouted and sang and laughed and cried, and ragged and dirty as that old handkerchief was, there were many of the boys that kissed it. As for the owner, he was right in clover—there was nothing in camp that was too good for him, and one of the boys, that had never been known to share anything with any one, astonished the crowd by producing a bottle from some secret place and inviting his trampship to 'take a pull, and pull hearty.' Before he slept our new comrade had had a bath in the river, and was rigged out in the company uniform.

"The next morning the handkerchief was carefully washed, and the whole company appointed itself a committee to see that it was properly done. Then after cutting out a corner of our company flag, I carefully sewed in our new treasure, and Bostwick, the color sergeant, nailed it to the staff. When this was done Burleigh formed the company on three sides of a square, and Bostwick and Coggswell, the tramp, advanced to the center with the flag. Three volleys were fired in its honor, and then three times three cheers and a tiger were given for the home in the northland that most of the boys were never to see again. They were a gallant company, but I know they never before fought as they did that same night, when we were attacked as we were making a night march, and our new Old Glory received its first baptism of blood. For Bostwick and Coggswell and Williams, one of the corporals, were killed, and as carried each one to his grave, the folds of the little flag rested over his heart, while the colors of Guatemala, in whose service he had died, draped his body."

Why Mr. Jones' Fourth of July Speech in Costume Never Was Handed Down to Posterity.



SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE—HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST
—DEALERS IN—
HARDWARE, FURNITURE
—AND—
Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.
PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP
—AND—
BATH ROOMS.
—0—
Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing
Razors honed and put in first-class order.
J. H. PENNO, Prop.
ST. HILAIRE - - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,
DEALER IN
Wines and Liquors
IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.
FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.
West side Broadway.
ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

THE FAMOUS
SAMARITAN
Rye Whisky
Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.

FOR SALE BY
BRINK BROS.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.
—RUNS—
THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To HELENA
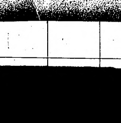
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT
DINING CARS
TOURIST
SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.
For information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write
CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
CHAS. S. FEE, Crookston, Minn.
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.



Scientific American
Agency for PATENTS
CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to
MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.
Oldest bureau for securing patents in America.
Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the
Scientific American
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 1, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.

2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.

3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.

4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

COUNTY TICKET.

For Auditor—JOHN GLEASON
For Treasurer—JOHN T. BEAUDRY
For Sheriff—THOS. LAWRENCE
For Register of Deeds—ALBERT WICKSTROM
For Judge of Probate—OLE HAGEN
For County Attorney—L. E. GOSSMAN
For Surveyor—O. L. HAMERY
For Coroner—DR. STEBBINS
For Court Commissioner—EDWARD GEORGE
For Superintendent of Schools—I. I. KAASA
For Commissioner—1st District—CHAS. McCARTY
For Commissioner—3rd District—REMI FORTIER
For Commissioner—5th District—ROBERT CASEMY.

FREE SILVER MEN.

The best and most natural thing for the gentlemen who propose to place a new party in the field is to join the Populists. Now, don't run away. But it seems rediculous, dosn't it. It is because you have been in the habit of seeing the Populists ridiculed, and without studying very much about it, have stood by and perhaps enjoyed the joke even if you have not participated in it.

But did you ever stop to think how it came about that the Populists are held up as a laughing stock on every available opportunity? It is a story soon told. In the first place there is a peculiarity about Americans, in that, if you wish to kill any new effort, hold it up to ridicule and the people will drop it like a hot potato. The Plutocrats knew this, and when the Populist party was first established the Plutocratic papers were instructed to ridicule the waif, and the carricaturist at once pictured Populists as a fool-looking farmer, with long hair and patched clothing.

Just what there is about the farmer to laugh at we never could see, since without him we would soon go hungry in the city; and as to his patched clothing, there are many more men in the cities whose clothes are worn and soiled, and are not even patched. This much for the farmer's thrifty wife. But we say this of the Populists, in spite of the ridicule:

Their platform embodies the free silver question as soundly as any platform you may adopt. The whole platform commends itself to you as an honest paper. The Populists are not your political enemies, but your friends, and they are glad to know that you had the courage of your convictions, and walked out and away from the late convention and cannot be held responsible as having had any part in the shameful sale to Wall street.

As an Independent silver party what can you possibly hope to gain—a chance to vote your convictions? Very good, but the Populist party offers you that chance. Will you wait the action of the Chicago Convention; and if (?) a free silver and a moderate tariff plan are indorsed, join in with the Democrats? Can you do that? Can you join hands with the party that has been your political enemy for years? With its history fresh in your memory, and a knowledge of its pledges broken, its promises unkept, can you go over to their camp because they are shrewd enough to insert those planks on purpose to bait you?

Besides, there is hardly a likelihood that they will insert the required planks, though there may be a contingent which will "walk out" the same as you have done, that would prove their honesty, and you could reasonably join forces with them. But what then? You would still lack the necessary votes to elect. No use for you to beckon the Populists over to you. You can not expect them to desert all but one of their avowed principles merely to help you carry one of their main planks.

We admonish free silver men of whatever party, to study the Omaha platform and see if there is one thing necessary to good American Government that is lacking therein. If it is as we claim, for the present, as near perfect as possible, is there any reason why you could not vote with the Populists? Beneath your dignity? Why? You have just left a band of wealthy but dishonest men. The men you would meet in the ranks of Populism might not be quite as wealthy, but they are honest. Why should not honest men join together for honest government?

Closing, we wish to say. If the free silver men of both old parties will join forces with the Populists they can elect the entire National ticket this fall and at least a small majority of the Congressmen.

Mr. Teller might not be the nominee for President, but we can not believe that all he wants is the nomination. We believe he would even be willing to work as a privrte in the rear rank if he could see an honest party win. We offer the above for the careful consideration of silver men.—The St. Louis Evening Journal.

JAMES G. BLAINE.

I believe the struggle now going on in this country and in other countries for a single gold standard, would if successful produce widespread disaster in and throughout the commercial world.

The destruction of silver as money and establishing GOLD AS THE SOLE UNIT OF VALUE MUST HAVE A RUINOUS EFFECT ON ALL FORMS OF PROPERTY EXCEPT THOSE INVESTMENTS WHICH YIELD A FIXED RETURN IN MONEY. These would be enormously enhanced in value, and would gain a disproportionate and unfair advantage over every other species of property. If, as the most reliable statistics affirm, there are nearly $7,000,000,000 of coin or bullion in the world, not very unequally divided between gold and silver IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO STRIKE SILVER OUT OF EXISTENCE AS MONEY WITHOUT RESULTS WHICH WILL PROVE DISTRESSING TO MILLIONS AND UTTERLY DISASTROUS TO TENS OF THOUSANDS.

I believe gold and silver coin to be the money of the constitution; indeed, the money of the American people, anterior to the constitution which the great organic law recognized as quite independant of its existence.

Mr. Hobart? Hobart? Oh! He is president and director of 47 corporations, and has a barrel down in New Jersey. He is therefore reliably "sound" on all G. O. P. principles.—Penny Press.

The leaders of the two old parties have so long pulled the wool over the eyes of the laboring class by agitating that old old chestnut, the tariff question, that they think that laboring men are now so full of predjudice they could not be induced to revolt against their old parties, but some day before a great while the old moss backs are going to be fooled. Laboring men are getting tired of seeing their wives and children suffering for want of all the comforts and many of the necessaries of life.—Sixteen to One.

A thousand representatives of the great Republican party, assembled in convention at St. Louis could not make a plank in their platform upon the money question without first submitting its wording to the money centres for endorsement. What a spectacle of subserviency to the money power! What an ignoble admission of incompetency and debased manhood is this for free American citizens to witness! Shades of political degradation behold thy shadow out shadowed.—Roseau Times.

The Duluth News Tribune has a new gold editor. His golden thoughts are written upon gold-edged paper with a gold pen, as he peers through gold rimmed spectacles. He came from the gold bugs of New York and expects to convert the omnivorous west to the gold standard. He will insist that all the members of his staff take the gold cure and will draw his salary in gold—when the "ghost" walks. When his work on earth is done, some golden day—his faithful spirit will soar up through golden clouds into the new Jerusalem where the streets are paved with gold, and where the poor people who starved on earth eat from off golden platters and make music on golden harps.—The Duluth Citizen.

Detroit News; It will be a grave error, however, for the creditor class, and the timid, conservative banker, to imagine that a defeat of the silver cause this year, if, indeed, they are able to defeat it, will close the controversy or end the agitation. There will be no peace for this generation, nor possibly the next, until the free coinage of silver has at least been fairly tried. The banking class, therefore, who profess to dread an agitation for cheaper money as much as the thing itself, will have little to gain by the election of Mr. McKinley. The committal of one of the great parties of the country to silver will alone be sufficient glory for the silver cause this year. It is more than the most sanguine silver man dreamt of twelve months ago. That result is now practically assured. It will put new life into the cause of bimetallism, and, whether the Chicago candidate be defeated or victorious, the only issue from this time forth in American politics will be the issue of the standards. Capital will cry "Peace! Peace!" but there will be no more peace while the gold standard is maintained.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

WYLIE ITEMS.

Crops are looking well at present.

Strawberries are getting quite plentiful at present.

The last day of school in this district for 1896 will be Friday.

James G. Brady called on friends in the town of Bray Saturday.

Andrew Litvig will raffle a fine three year old colt at this place the 4th of July.

Miss Hattie Davidson's term of school in the M. Hansen district expires to-day.

The Misses Kate Powers and Sadie Powers were the guests of Mrs. Jake Thill last week.

Mr. Chas. Lindquist and wife were some of the spectators who took in the base ball game Sunday.

Miss Wilson who has been the guest to Miss Annie Sandberg left for her home in Crookston Monday.

The towns Polk Center and Bray had a base ball contest Sunday in which the the former came out victorious.

Mr. Nick Eckstein is getting his platform ready to entertain many dancers the 4th of July, he also has a large supply of oranges, lemons, candies, nuts, and fire-works.

ROBIN HOOD'S GOOD NIGHT.

Good night, good night, heart's dearest!
The hunter holds the sky—
There wakes no soul in Sherwood
Save Little John and I.
Twixt thee and me the grasses
Grow thick and soft and green,
And falls a drift of hawthorn
O'er Sherwood's buried queen.
Twixt thee and me, heart's dearest,
The grass is green.

Shall I not soon, heart's dearest,
Good morrow to thee say,
And kiss thy lips, of kisses
Forlorn for many a day?
Shall I bid thee good morrow,
Good night to Little John,
And lay me down beside thee
To slumber sweetly on,
Nor dream of lonely Sherwood
Nor Little John?

Shall we go seek, heart's dearest,
That land of afternoon
Where shepherds to their lasses
Pipe out a sleepy tune;
Where kings nor cares may enter,
And love grows never cold;
Where Allan walks, a-harping
A tune we know of old?
Shall we not journey thither,
O heart of gold?
—Nora Hopper in Black and White.

His Maiden Speech.

The rising young politician had prepared an elaborate speech for the occasion. He rose in response to loud calls for him and felt in his inside pocket for the manuscript. It was gone. It had slipped through a hole in the bottom.

The situation was a terrible one, but the self possession of the rising young politician did not forsake him. Letting his hand remain in the breast of his coat he looked fearlessly out over the assembly.

"My fellow citizens," he said, "I have no—no words in which to express my thanks for the honor you have done me in selecting me as one of your standard bearers in this campaign, and I will simply ask you to join me"—

He was interrupted by deafening cheers, in which the other orators on the platform heartily joined.

The situation was still more terrible. He had intended merely to propose three cheers for the ticket, but the audience had jumped hastily to the conclusion that he was extending an invitation of another kind.

Still he did not lose his head.

"I see, fellow citizens," he resumed with a smile as soon as he could make himself heard again, "you understand me. Come on!"

He seized his hat, and the meeting adjourned at once to the saloon on the floor below. He had made the hit of the evening.—Chicago Tribune.

A Sartorial Mystery.

"I believe in a woman keeping away from her husband's place of business," said Mr. Bilson emphatically. "Let her exercise all the authority over a man she wants to in her own home, but let her at the same time keep away from his office."

"You speak as one who has had sad experience."

"I have had. My wife used to come to the office two or three times a week. Now I don't have any peace of mind."

"Is she of a jealous disposition?"

"Jealous? No. It's her affectionate interest in me that makes the trouble. She keeps me awake nights trying to explain to her why my clothes can't be made to look as well and fit as neatly and last as long as those of my smallest salaried clerk. It's making me positively gray headed. If I didn't know that it was the nature of my smallest salaried clerk to be well dressed I'd dismissed him long ago. But of course it would be wrong to punish a man for something he can't help. So I'm worrying along and living in the hope that if I keep my wife away from the office awhile she will forget all about how much better my smallest salaried clerk dresses than I do."—Detroit Free Press.

The silver movement is growing as no movement has grown of late years. Its advance is seemingly inexplicable considering that the machinery of both parties is against it. Men of national reputation, who have been for years in the public service, have been carried off their feet as though their opposition was nothing at all. The advocacy of international agreement of finance has aroused the people as few things could have done. They will not have it. They will not have the kings and emperors of Europe making any part of our laws.—Cedar Rapids Gazette.

RICH DISCOVERIES OF GOLD.
At Cripple Creek, Colo., and elsewhere, are being made daily, and the production for 1896 will be the largest ever known, estimated at Two Hundred Million Dollars. Cripple Creek alone is producing over One Million Dollars a month, and steadily inceasing. Mining Stocks are advancing in price more rapidly than any other Stocks, and many pay dividends of 25 to 50 per cent. They offer the best opportunity to make a large profit on a small investment.
JOHN I. TALLMAN & CO., 14 Pacific Ave. Chicago, Ill. are financial agents for the Prudential Gold Mining Co., and others in the famous Cripple Creek district. They will send you free, interesting particulars of the Mining Companies they represent also their book on speculation in Stocks, Grain and Cotton, containing many new and important features.
Send for these books at once if you are interested in any form of speculation or investments. They may prove profitable to you. 37-5

FLAX SEED.
First-class flax seed for sale, absolutely clean, price reasonable at 28-tf E. J. HOLMES.

DO YOU NEED
WOOLEN GOODS!
OF COURSE YOU DO,
and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.
We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.
We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.
Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41-52

LANDS!
Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $8 per acre.
Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SE SE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	6.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	500
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 28	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
6 " 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	3.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 34 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	3.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to
H. F. IVES
St. Hilaire, Minn.

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE
PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.
Dray in Connection.
First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.
☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.
ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY
THE ST. LOUIS
DAILY JOURNAL
SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.
EVENING AND SUNDAY.
PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE
Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday $4.00
Sunday Journal, alone $1.00
The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.
Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.
The Sunday Journal
Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.
CLUBBING RATES:
Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year $4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year $1 75
☞ Sample copies sent free on application.
Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

U. S. LAND OFFICE.
Crookston, Minn., May 28, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on July 8th 1896 viz:

HANS J. BJORGE.

H. E. No. 13450, for the lot 6, sec. 14, tp. 152 N range 42 west.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

O. J. Johnson, Julius Holtz, B. O. Linstad and Halvor T. Aamot, all of Wyandotte post office, Minnesota.

44-49 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact, anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

FRED EIKHOFF
DEALER IN
ALL KINDS OF Hardware
HEADQUARTERS FOR
Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.
ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

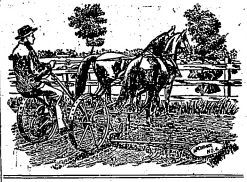
Cigars.
BRINK BROTHERS
DEALERS IN
Wines & Liquors
Minneapolis Beer.
Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

Harness:—
☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.
C. A. SKEIE.
ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA

Blacksmith!
Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.
J. C. DAHL.
ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA

Boot and Shoe Store!
L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.
DEALER IN
Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.
St. Hilaire, - - - - Minnesota

O. W. BRINK
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Agricultural Implements



M. Z. EPPERSON
Proprietor of the
St. Hilaire
Saw Mill.
Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,
North Side Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily
Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞ Warehouse on railroad track.
W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St. Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞ Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

M. E. BJERK

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP.............President
J. L. JOHNSON.............Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN, W. A. SORSOLEIL, M. Z. EPPERSON.............Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES.............Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	44c	Butter	7@8c
Oats	9c	Eggs	6c
Barley	11c	Beans... (pr bu)	$1.50
Flax	53c	Potatoes "	12½

LOCAL NEWS.

July 1st to-day.

Valhall will celebrate.

Free mill sites given away.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

Celebrate July 4th at St. Hilaire.

Wild strawberries are nice and ripe.

H. E. Ives went to Red Lake Falls to-day.

The St. Hilaire witnesses returned Monday.

Fire crackers and rockets at the post office store.

Pete Paradis returned Monday from his recent trip.

M. Z. Epperson was doing custom sawing last week.

Sprague, the cigar man called on his customers Monday.

Talk about your busy towns—St. Hilaire is strictly in it.

The Wallace Bros. circus will show at Crookston July 11th.

The alley between Broadway and Water street has been graded.

Ladies—get one of them nice Fourth of July hats at Miss Quandy's.

All sorts of games will be going on July 4th. Come in and see them.

Capt. Rhinehart after getting through with commissioners duties here left for St. Paul.

The National Democratic convention will be held at Chicago next Tueseay July 7th.

Postmaster Hoff, P. G. Paradis and C. G. Rapp drove to Thief River Falls yesterday.

The Christian Endeavor Society met at Mrs. R. H. Aimer's last Thursday afternoon.

Our draymen were kept busy all day Monday, delivering goods to the different merchants.

M. Z. Epperson has plenty of good slabs for sale, suitable for building sheds, fences, etc.

The Great Northern was several hours late Friday on account of distributing ties along the line.

Dan Patterson's new residence is being pushed very rapidly. Mac is an early and late hustler.

L. J. Stranahan found it necessary to put three boats in use Monday ferrying people across the river.

Dr. Henault, the dentist will be at the American house all next week. Teeth extracted without pain.

O. W. Brink, who has been serving as a grand juryman the past ten days at the county seat returned to-day.

A. L. Plummer, president of the First National Bank of Hillsboro, N. Dak., was looking over the village last week.

Miss Millie Stranahan left Monday for Thief River Falls where she will remain visiting relatives until after the 4th.

W. A. Arthur, Will Olson and Emil Brink drove to Thief River Falls early Sunday morning returning in the evening.

Don't forget, if you want any dental work performed, that Dr. Henault will be at the American house all next week.

P. G. Paradis, the only Frenchman at St. Hilaire, got lonesome on St. John's Day and drove over to Terrebonne.—Gazette.

A barking dog was the cause of the run-a way the first of the week. They kept the road and very little damage was done.

J. H. Paradis of Red Lake Falls was present at the council meeting Saturday evening and after being granted a license returned home.

The dark, heavy, silver lined clouds which passed over the village early Saturday morning dropped a few hailstones which furnished plenty of noise on the west end windows. Something unusual to have hail in the morning.

Rev. Theodore Seashore, the new pastor of the Swedish Lutheran Church, arrived to-day from Rock Island.

Miss Zarracher, of Crookston, a former teacher of the St. Hilaire primary department, is visiting with Mrs. R. H. Aimer.

The Scandinavian Mission church held a series of meeting at Brink's hall Monday and Tuesday afternoon with good attendance.

FOR SALE:—Any amount of slabs suitable for barns and sheds at low figures. Call on M. Z. Epperson at the St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

Dr. Henault, the dentist who has been here the past week will make regular trips to St. Hilaire after this. Due notice will be given.

Judging from the amount of lumber being hauled away from this point there must be a great deal of building going on out in the country.

The ball game that was to come off last Sunday failed to materialize owing to the nine south of here being crippled to the extent of a player or two.

J. L. Johnson, Fred Eikhoff, August Peterson, W. Barragy and H. Jackson were subpœnaed last Friday to appear before the grand jury as witnesses.

W. H. Lee, attorney and editor of Thief River Falls passed through here Monday on his way to the county seat where he will look after the interests of his clients.

A few more hot days like yesterday would guarantee a ready sale for "anti-fat." St. Hilaire can knock the spots off of any town on earth—for its size—for fat men.

Tom Oldne, who has had charge of the surfacing crew between here and Red Lake Falls since the wash-out, reports the work about finished and will be "at home" soon.

Charley Rapp returned Friday from the county seat, where he had been as a delegate to the republican county convention, but immediately took the first train and went to Red Lake Falls.

If this party causing all this disturbance seven days a week doesn't let up, the law should be enforced, and it will be enforced. Down with this loud talking machine, and let us have peace.

He was a country man, and he walked along a thoroughfare and read a sign over a manufacturing establishment: "Cast Iron Sinks." It made him mad. He said any fool ought to know that.—Ex.

Chas. Tedford and A. E. Kribs of Thief River Falls stopped off here a few hours Monday while on their way to Crookston where business matters awaited them. They returned home to-day.

License were granted to the four applicants at the council meeting Saturday evening upon payment of the five hundred and some odd dollars. It is understood only three will take out license.

Wm. Marin and Henry Nolan of Crookston came up with the commissioners Monday to look over the old bridge with a view of putting in a bid for moving the same to certain points on the Clearwater river.

Joe Johnson, along with about a dozen more from Thief River Falls, who were subpoened to appear before the grand jury passed through here Monday on their way to Crookston where they appear as witnesses.

Some of the St. Hilaire people who went down to see Eddie Foy at the Crookston Opera House said it was not interesting enough to keep awake. Not being there we are in no position to verify the statement.

N. N. Nelson, who is running a cattle ranch south-east of here on the Clearwater was in the village last Friday, and purchased the car load of western horses which were shipped in here a few days previous to that.

"Our country has been stirred up," said a regular reader. The editor seized his pen. "Tell me all about it," said he. What is the news? What is stirred up." "Plowing," said the farmer, as he dodged the inkstand and made his exit.—Ex.

Mike Williams struck another fine flowing well, this time at the farm of Wash Adams at the depth of ninety-one feet. If there is any one thing that doubles the price of a farm, its a fine flowing well with good water that does it.

W. H. Jack, representing the Wrought Iron Bridge company of Canton, Ohio, was here Monday with an eye to business. Among other things Mr. Jack said it would crowd them pretty close if they should get the bridge in proper condition inside of sixty days.

County commissioners Norland, Oppegard and Rhinehart were here Monday with representatives of several bridge companies looking over the proposed site for a county bridge. No doubt the work will be pushed as they see the necessity for having the bridge completed soon as possible to accommodate the people of four different townships.

Never put your signature to any paper presented to you by a stranger, says an exchange, no matter what it purports to be. A southern Michigan farmer signed a recommendation for the bible as being a good book, on the urgent solicitation of a smooth bible agent, and last week it cost him $140 to buy a note, which was afterward filled in over his signature.

Senator Dubois of Idaho pays his respects to the gold-bug at the St. Louis convention as follows: "Its a bankers' convention, its a rich mans' convention—gold-bug and monopolists. Its a bondholders' convention—a Rothschilds convention—and therefore its perfectly appropriate to select a rabbi for chaplain and two railway attorneys for chairmen."

Republican Convention.

The republican county convention gathered at Crookston last Thursday and after the preliminaries had been settled they got down to the business of nominating a county ticket.

The first ballot for the office of sheriff was, Dainard 77, Hays 48, Morrow 37.

Second ballot resulted in S. M. Dainard's nomination by a vote of 99.

For register of deeds, C. Ecklund, A. Sture and A. Monson were nominated. A. Sture received 73, to Hanson's 39 and Monson 23.

For judge of probate, W. A. Lanctot and A. O. Twedten were nominated. W. A. Lanctot received 87 to A. Twedten's 82.

County attorney, no nominations and was left blank.

For surveyor, W. G. Arnold was nominated by acclamation; also G. S. Chesterman for coroner and G. H. Palmer were nominated in the same manner.

For superintendent of schools, M. A. Campion and P. V. Malm were named. M. A. Campion received 119 against 48 for P. V. Malm.

For auditor, A. Hanson was nominated by acclamation.

The county committee was authorized to fill all vacancies on the ticket, and a committee of five was chosen to appoint delegates to the legislative convention. The chair was empowered to appoint a county central committee to consist of seven members. The convention then resolved itself into three bodies, representing the first, third and fifth commissioner districts and proceeded to choose candidates to represent the districts upon the county board. S. S. Stadsvold was selected in the first district, M. E. Kirsch in the third and Hugh Thompson in the fifth.

All business being finished the convention adjourned.

New Steele Bridge.

The contract for building a new steel bridge was awarded to the Wrought Iron Bridge company of Canton, Ohio. The bridge is to be located about 300 feet below the old one. The cost of the bridge is $5,495 which is a span of 190 feet with a 16 feet clear roadway and warranted to hold all the traction engines that could be run on at one time, which, by the way, is a good guarantee from the company. Commissioners Norland and Rhinehart voting for the new steele bridge and Commissioner Oppegard for repairing the one. Bridge to be completed by the 1st of September, 1896.

Mr. Bayne, representing the Gillette, Herzog Bridge company of Minneapolis, was present Monday with the county commissioners looking over the sight where the proposed iron bridge is to be built, thereby being in a position to make close figures if necessary.

The Roseau Times and Region each have been sued for $7,500 by one Dr. Parker. We have followed it up pretty closely and judging from the evidence of both papers the newspaper boys will have easy sailing. The doctor—well Roseau county will be a hot place for him.

If the poor country editor would just snap up all the great inducements that is thrown out he would soon become a millionaire. If he runs a paper to suit some of his subscribers he would soon be in the poor house. If he published all the news sent him he would be in jail in ten days.—Ex.

If the state, in its paternalism, establishes a grasshopper and chinch bug bureau, why not add a department on mosquitoes? Where is the economy of expending thousands of dollars on Lester park and then allowing the swarms of voracious mosquitoes to drive everyone out except a tough and calloused night watchman? Is not the sauce for the hopper, sauce for the mosquito, also?—Duluth Citizen.

Dr. Henault extracted seventeen teeth from one patient yesterday at one sitting. Talk about nerve! well in fact it requires no nerve as the doctor understands his business and extracts teeth without causing pain. Dr. Henault will return again Friday or Monday and remain one week. Parties wishing dental work performed will do well by calling on him any day next week at the American hotel, St. Hilaire.

Mention has been made at times of a scheme to kill weeds by electricity along a railroad right of way. From a statement in the Stockman is seems that Prof. Woodworth of the Michigan Agricultural College operates this theory in this way: A wheelbarrow or wagon is loaded with storage batteries from which long wires trail over the ground. The wagon is then taken over the land to be cleared and wherever the wires touch a weed it is at once killed to the roots. The professor is said to regard it as the thing to destroy Russian and Canada thistles. Experiments will be renewed at some of the stations this year to find what can be done with electricity to promote plant growth.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

Legislative Convention.

The Peoples party legislative convention for the fifty-first legislative district is hereby called to meet at the court house in Crookston, Minn., on Friday July 17th, A. D. 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of placing in nomination three candidates for the offices of representatives for said district. The basis of representation in said convention will be one delegate at large for each county and one additional for every two hundred and fifty (250) votes or major fraction thereof cast for S. M. Owen at the last general election. Upon this basis Polk county gets 17 delegates Norman 6 and Beltrami 1.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., June 4th, 1896.

P. M. RINGDAL, Chm.
B. M. CHESLEY, Sec.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

Council Proceedings.

Special meeting of the village council June 26, 1896, 8:15 o'clock p. m.

Meeting called to order by President Rapp.

All members present except Recorder Johnson.

On motion H. J. Freeman was appointed recorder pro-tem.

On motion J. H. Paradis was granted a license to sell intoxicating liquors for a period of one year, from July 1st 1896. Said J. H. Paradis to pay for publishing application for license.

J. A. Dainard, the same.

O. W. Brink, the same.

Engebert M. Hoff, the same.

On motion meeting adjourned.

[SEAL] C. G. RAPP,
H. J. FREEMAN, President.
Recorder pro-tem.

Special meeting of the village council Tuesday June 30, 1896.

All members present except Freeman.

Meeting called to order by President Rapp.

On motion H. O. Jackson was appointed dog inspector for the ensuing year.

On motion the following bills were allowed.

C. W. Peters 1 day clerk of election $2.00
O. H. Peters assessing the village 40.00
Ed. Whaley street work.......... 3.75
Andrew Berg street work.......... 3.12

On motion the dray license was fixed at $10.00 for the ensuing year.

On motion Daniel Patterson was granted a dray license.

On motion meeting adjourned.

[SEAL] C. G. RAPP,
J. L. JOHNSON, President.
Village Recorder.

The following from the Warren Sheaf by L. Loughbridge, seems to us very sensible and is worth trying: "To show how profitable some farmers find the raising of hogs to be, I will cite you the experience of A. Fish, who resides on section 33, town of Foldahl. Last fall he packed about 1,800 pounds of pork, and he is now selling ham at 10 cents a pound, shoulders at for 9, sides for 8 and lard for 10 cents a pound. Last fall he sold sausage, lard and other by-products about $100 worth. Two years ago I sold him $36 worth of pigs, and he has since sold in pork and hogs, counting what bacon he has on hand, $300 worth of pork, and he has on hand in the pen now 16 brood sows and 9 fat hogs. Mr. Fish came here from Waukee, Iowa, where diversified farming is understood, and he is showing to the people here that diversified farming can be successfully carried on in the Red River Valley."

St. Cloud Times: It is a strange coincidence that the republican leader, who is likened to Napoleon by his ardent admirers, should have received the highest endorsement in the gift of his party upon the anniversary of the battle of Waterloo, where his great military prototype met his crushing defeat. To the minds of the free silver enthusiasts it is an ill omen, and they see in the gold plank of the republican party the sunken road of that historic field. Congressman C. A. Towne who is helping to organize the free silver bolters at St. Louis, thinks that he sees the handwriting of fate in the day's work, and inspired by fickle fortune he sends the following message to his faithful lieutenant in St. Cloud, James R. Bennett, J.:

"This is the anniversary of the battle of Waterloo. We strike for liberty."

Mr. Bennett has been showing the telegram to a large number of prominent republicans of this city.

"And you have bolted to," asked the Times reporter of Mr. Bennett.

"No. I have not left the republican party. The republican party has left me. It has deserted its principles."

Call For The People's Party County Convention.

A convention of the People's Party of the County of Polk, State of Minnesota, will be held at the court house, in the city of Crookston, on the 9th day of July, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of electing seventeen (17) delegates to attend the legislative convention to be held in the City of Crookston, Polk County, on the 17th day of July, 1896; to elect forty-two (42) delegates to attend the congregational convention to be held in the City of Fergus Falls, Otter Tail County, on the 15th day of July, 1896; and to elect forty-one (41) delegates to attend the State Convention.

The basis of representation, as determined by the County Central Committee, shall be one delegate at large for each voting precinct, and one delegate for every forty votes or major fraction thereof, cast for S. M. Owen for Governor at the general election in 1894.

Conformity to foregoing apportionment, the voting precincts of Polk County will be entitled to delegates in the convention as follows:

Andover,	2	Kertsonville,	2
Angus,	2	King,	4
Black River,	3	Knute,	4
Bray,	2	Lake Pleasant,	2
Badger,	2	Lambert,	3
Brandsvold,	3	Liberty,	3
Belgium,	1	Lessor,	2
Brislet,	1	Lowell,	3
Bygland,	2	Louisville,	2
Crookston,	2	McIntosh,	2
" City 1 ward	3	Nesbit,	2
" " 2 ward	3	Norden,	2
" " 3 ward	2	North,	3
" " 4 ward	4	Northland,	1
" " 5 ward	1	Numedal,	2
Columbia,	3	Onstad,	2
Chester,	2	Parnell,	1
Emardville,	1	Poplar River,	3
Euclid,	1	Polk Center,	1
Eden,	2	Queen,	3
Esther,	2	R. L. Falls Village	4
Fairfax,	1	Red Lake Falls,	2
Farley,	1	Reis,	1
Fanny,	1	River Falls,	2
Fisher,	3	Rocksbury	3
Fosston Village,	2	Roome,	2
Fertile "	2	Rosebud,	3
Grand Forks,	3	Russia,	2
E. G. F. 1 ward	1	Rhinehart,	1
" 2 ward	1	Sanders,	2
" 3 ward	1	Sandsville,	2
" 4 ward	3	St. Hilaire Village	2
Garfield,	3	Sletten,	4
Garden,	4	Sullivan,	1
Gentilly,	3	Tabor,	2
Gervias,	2	Terrebonne,	2
Grove Park,	3	Tilden,	1
Godfrey,	2	Tynsid,	2
Hammond,	1	Thief River Falls	3
Higdem,	2	Vineland,	3
Hill River,	3	Wieger,	5
Huntsville,	3	Woodside,	3
Hubbard,	2	Wyandotte,	2
Keystone,	2

The primaries for the election of delegates shall be held on the 6th day of July, 1896, and the polls shall be opened at 7 o'clock and remain open for one hour.

By order of the County Central Committee.

ARNY GRUNDYSEN, Chairman.
JOHN GLEASON, Secretary.

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

For Sale! — The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞ Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞ SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry. : : : : : : : :

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

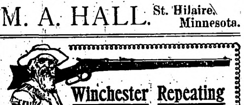
Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

This is Easy Enough!

Any of my customers will be presented with a life like portrait free of charge by presenting their picture at my store. : : : : : : : : : :

M. A. HALL. St. Hilaire, Minnesota.



Winchester Repeating

Rifles
Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞ Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Economy—just think—every bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses. This is true only of

Hood's

Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills cure biliousness, headache.

"Are you afraid, Lily, when you go driving with Mr. Phillips, that the horse will run away?"

"No, indeed. Mr. Phillips has trained his horse to drive without lines."—Exchange.

Irrigated Farms in the Milk River Valley.

Room for many farmers on ditches already constructed in the Milk River Valley of Montana and plenty of chances for colonies to locate on free land and build ditches of their own. Ditches can be made at little expense other than labor with plows and scrapers, and there is no stony ground, just pure soil. Groves along the river and coal in the adjoining pasture bench lands. Finest opening for irrigation farmers in the Northwest. All the staple crops produced. Markets in the mines and good shipping facilities East and West, via the Great Northern railway. Write to Thomas O'Hanlon, Chinook, Montana, for further information.

They Keep Step.

"Ah," she said, enthusiastically, "how I do love to watch the cyclists! See that sweet man on the maroon wheel. How beautifully his bloomers match his saddle. And—O, look at those two people on the tandem. How well they keep step."

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

The Latest in Insanity.

"This bicycle fever is a monomania, isn't it, doctor?"

"In some case it seems to be."

"And monomania is closely allied to insanity, is it not?"

"It is."

"Well, then, would you call a bicycle crank a victim of temporary insanity, recurrent insanity, or—or—what?"

"I think it would be more appropriate to call him a victim of circular insanity; don't you?"—Chicago Evening Post.

Gauged His Standing.

"You say he's a nobleman of high rank?"

"Yes."

"Very high?"

"Very."

"What's the total number of his scandals?"—Chicago Post.

In several European countries butter is sold by the yard. The rolls are a yard in length, and are sold in sections to suit purchasers.

Coe's Cough Balsam

Is the oldest and best. It will break up a Cold quicker than anything else. It is always reliable. Try it.

Absurdly Absent-Minded.

"Professor, here's a letter that contains a money-order."

"Ah! it must be from my nephew, who is in college."

A baby boy, weighing seven pounds, and having a heavy head of hair and two rows of teeth, was born a few days ago in London.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

Painfully Frank.

"Arthur, dear, suppose I had refused your hand—what would you have done?"

"Gone into bankruptcy."

Syrup of Figs

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

A STORY OF GOLD

And Description of Cripple Creek.

Every Page Illustrated. Price 50 Cents.

☞ Cut out this ad and send with 25 cents (stamps or silver) and book will be mailed postpaid.

O. W. CRAWFORD,
1312 Masonic Temple, Chicago, Ill.

When you come in hot and thirsty,—HIRES Rootbeer.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

OPIUM Habit Cured. Est. in 1871. Thousands cured. Cheapest and best cure. FREE TRIAL. State case. DR. MARSH, Quincy, Mich.

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION 25 CTS

SONGS OF THE REVOLUTION.

What Our Forefathers Sang in the Stormy Days Which Preceded Our Freedom.

In these comfortable times when the celebration of Independence day comes as a matter of course with its outburst of national loyalty, one is at a loss to realize how differently the Fourth of July was celebrated by the heroes of the revolution. For them there were no grand parades with brilliant uniforms. If the truth must be told they were a sadly bedraggled lot, with their old matchlock guns and go-as-you-please apparel; for them there was no joyous booming of cannon; there was little joy in the sound of artillery then and no powder to be wasted in mere noise; there were no toy pistols to delight the youngsters of the land and worry the mothers; there were no fireworks displays at night nor money to buy fireworks; in a word, the contrast between their Fourth of July and ours was as complete as possible.

Perhaps the strangest thought of all is that the heroes of the Revolution had neither our national flag—for the various flags of the various states were waved instead—nor our national songs. It was for succeeding generations to enjoy the inspiring strains of the "Star Spangled Banner," "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean." Quite different and very much inferior from a poetic standpoint were the songs which they sang in celebrating their successes or consoling themselves in defeat. The Revolutionary songs, however, bad or good, grave or gay, have a special interest, from the fact that they were composed in the main by the soldier boys themselves, often on the battlefield, where they were sung in lusty chorus by hundreds of brave fellows who fought under Washington.

Following are specimens of the songs and ballads of the American Revolution.

In 1776 a war song containing the following verses gained a wide popularity:

Hark, hark, the sound of war is heard,
And we must all attend;
Take up our arms and go with speed,
Our country to defend.

There's Carleton, Howe, and Clinton, too,
And many thousand more,
May cross the sea, but all in vain,
Our rights we'll ne'er give o'er.

Husbands must leave their loving wives,
And sprightly youths attend,
Leave their sweethearts and risk their lives
Their country to defend.

May they be heroes in the field,
Have heroes' fame in store;
We pray the Lord to be their shield,
Where thundering cannons roar.

A Famous Victory.

During the same year a number of songs came in vogue upon the battle of Trenton. One of the best of these, the author unfortunately being unknown, is the following, which was sung to stirring music:

On Christmas day, in seventy-six,
Our ragged troops, with bayonets fix'd,
For Trenton marched away.
The Delaware see! the boats below!
The light obscured by hail and snow!
But no signs of dismay.

Our object was the Hessian band,
That dared invade fair freedom's land,
And quarter in that place.
George Washington led us on,
Whose streaming flag, in storm or sun,
Had never known disgrace.

In silent march we passed the night,
Each soldier panting for the fight,
Though quite benumb'd with frost.
Greene, on the left, at six began,
The right was led by Sullivan,
Who ne'er a moment lost.

And so on for several verses more.

Gen. Sullivan's song, as it was called, because as the record goes it "was sung before Gen. Sullivan and a few respectable gentlemen at Portsmouth" in 1777, was another rallying anthem for the soldiers. The first stanza ran thus:

"Hark, the loud drums, hark the shrill trumpet call to arms,
Come Americans, come, prepare for war's alarms.
Whilst in array we stand,
What soldier dare to land.
Sure in the attempt to meet his doom,
A leaden death or a watery tomb;
We, Americans, so brave, o'er the land or the waves,
All invaders defy; we'll repulse them or die;
We scorn to live as slaves.

One of the best known ballads of this period was the one which has been attributed to a private of Col. Brook's regiment, and which has been variously called "A Song for the Red Coats," "Gates' Song" and the "North Campaign." Here is a specimen stanza:

Six hours the battle lasted,
Each heart was true as gold,
The British fought like lions,
And we like Yankees bold;
The leaves with blood were crimson,
And then brave Gates did cry—
"'Tis diamond now cut diamond!
We'll beat them, boys, or die!"

The Battle of the Kegs.

The song entitled "The Battle of the Kegs," one of the most successful of the Revolution ditties, was composed by Francis Hopkinson, and enabled the men of Washington's army to pass many a merry hour around the evening camp fires. It contains no less than twenty-two stanzas, all of which were roared forth with great gusto, the idea of the song being that some of the American soldiers had been packed in kegs and floated down the Delaware to attack the British ships. The troops on board, seeing this remarkable fleet of kegs, are supposed to have become alarmed and turned a broadside of guns and cannon upon the suspected object. The swing of the song may be judged by these verses:

Gallants attend, and hear a friend
Trill forth harmonious ditty,
Strange things I'll tell, which late befell,
In Philadelphia city.

The motley crew, in vessels new,
With Satan for their guide, sir,
Packed up in bags, or wooden kegs,
Come driving down the tide, sir.

The cannons roar from shore to shore,
The small arms make a rattle,
Since wars began, I'm sure no man
E'er saw so strange a battle.

The fish below swam to and fro,
Attack'd from every quarter:
Why, sure, thought they, the devil's to pay
'Mongst folks above the water.

A good song was the "Siege of Savannah," telling how the Americans and their French allies under Count D'Estaing were repulsed off the coast of Georgia. The lines were full of irony, as a feeling of bitterness was general over the unfortunate result. There is a good snap to the lines, however, as may be seen from two stanzas picked from a dozen:

Then muskets did rattle,
Fierce raged the battle,
Grape shot, it flew thicker than hail, sir.
The ditch fill'd with slain,
Blood dyed all the plain,
When rebels and French turned tail, sir!

See! see! how they run!
Lord! what glorious fun!
How they tumble, by cannon mow'd down, sir!
Brains fly all around,
Dying screeches resound,
And mangled limbs cover the ground, sir.

The same battle was ridiculed in a song which appeared in Rivington's Gazette as "A new song to an old tune, written by a Yankee and sung to the music of Doodle Doo." This amusing ditty began:

The Frenchman came upon the coast,
Our great allies, and they did boast
They would soon bang the British host,
Doodle doodle do, pa, pa, pa, pa, pa.

But soon we found ourselves mistaken,
And were glad to save our bacon,
Rather than be killed or taken,
Doodle doodle do, pa, pa, pa, pa, pa.

Great popularity was gained by a "Dutch Song," published in the Pennsylvania Packet in 1790, the writer being a lady at the Hague, who dedicated her efforts to the sailors of five American vessels then lying at Amsterdam. Two of the ten stanzas read thus:

God save the Thirteen States!
Long rule th' United States!
God save our States!
Make us victorious;
Happy and glorious;
No tyrants over us;
God save our States!

Now the proud British foe
We've made, by vict'ries, know,
Our sacred right.
Witness at Bunker Hill,
Where Godlike Warren fell,
Happy his blood to spill,
In gallant fight.

Gallants and Gentlemen.

Rough though they may have been in manner and unpolished in speech yet it is evident that the soldiers of the Revolution were as loyal to American women as their descendants are today. The popular song, "Volunteer Boys," which has been attributed to Henry Archer, begins with this advice to lovesick soldiers which was probably not followed:

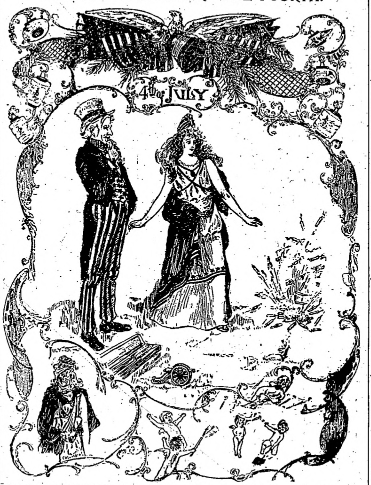
Hence with the lover who sighs o'er his wine,
Chloes and Phyllises toasting.
Hence with the slave who will whimper and whine,
Of ardor and constancy boasting.
Hence with love's joys,
Follies and noise;
The toast that I give is the Volunteer boys.

Much more in accord with the general feeling were the following lines addressed to an unknown author in a stirring song "Our Women" to the ladies of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, who illustrated the nobility of their sentiment and virtue of their patriotism by generous subscriptions to the suffering soldiers of the American army. The first stanza, which is a type of a dozen, reads:

All hail! superior sex, exalted fair,
Mirrors of virtue, heaven's peculiar care;
Form'd to enspirit and ennoble man,
The immortal finish of Creation's plan!

In those lines is revealed the real spirit of the American gentleman, for these grimy-handed, powder-stained veterans of the Revolution were gentlemen every inch of them, brave in battle, loyal to duty, chivalrous to women. The gentlemen of to-day who celebrate the Fourth of July with such lavish display can do no more than that.

BEFORE---AND AFTER---THE FOURTH.



The Discipline of Children.

About the worst thing parents can do is to discuss the failings of children before them. The next worst thing is for one parent to punish a child and the other parent protest against it. Either action will damage the respect of the child for one or the other of its parents, and if there is one thing more than another that parents want to preserve it is their dignity before their children. A child who gets the idea that one parent is at variance with the other on the question of discipline will make both unhappy and render itself decidedly objectionable by playing off one parent against the other. If you want to have any harmony in the family get together on the question of disciplining the children—at least in their presence—and if you want to quarrel on methods do it in the privacy of your own apartments, where you can have it out without lowering yourselves in the eyes of the children.

Solved at Last.

Benedict—See here; I've solved the problem.

Arnold—What problem?

Benedict—This thing about marriage. I married money and have found that it's a failure. That is to say, her father failed the day after the wedding. —Philadelphia North American.

WARDED OFF PARALYSIS.

JOHN McLEAN'S REMARKABLE EXPERIENCE.

For Years Feels the Approach of Paralysis and Suffers All Torments That Mind Can Endure Without Hope.

From the Free Press, Beloit, Wis.

Having heard of the most remarkable benefits derived by Mr. John McLean, 1136 Sixth street, Beloit, Wis., stage carpenter at Wilson's Opera House, from the use of Pink Pills for Pale People, a Free Press reporter called on Mr. McLean to learn from his own lips what his experience had been.

"Yes, I have used those wonderful Pink Pills," he said, "and have received beneficial results from them."

"In what way?"

"In many ways. Where I was almost a hopeless invalid now I am permitted to enjoy something of life. No! I cannot say I am yet a well man, but when you compare my condition with that before I began taking Pink Pills, you will see there is nothing for me to complain about now.

"I am an old soldier and ever since I came out of the army my health has been impaired, and I grew steadily worse, until finally my left arm, or in fact my entire left side, began to show evidence of paralysis—creeping paralysis. I tell you, sir, no one will ever know the mental agony of those years that I watched the advance of that enemy, paralysis.

"I am not a boaster, but I have seen a column of infantry advance at a charge, and watched a battery unlimber and begin to pour its deadly fusillade into the ranks of my command; but the experience of those hours was nothing like as terrible to endure as to feel the advance of the palsy. At war we found encouragement in fighting and were cheered on by the chances of victory, but there is no such combating paralysis, at least so I thought three years ago. I went to physicians and begged relief, and they prescribed for me without avail. Day by day I felt my arm growing more useless and a numbness coming upon the left side of my body. I tried every remedy I could hear of. As a drowning man grasps at a straw, I clutched at the possibility of receiving help from Pink Pills. I can't say I ever expected help, and joy came into my heart when, on using the wonderful medicine, I found that I began to feel better.

"A stomach trouble of long standing was less distressing than usual, my appetite improved, my spirits were better. I thought my diseased side was improving. I was happier than I had been before in years. I continued to take Pink Pills and I am as you see me, better than for years, and able to perform considerable work, and am getting better all the time.

"Yes, I attribute my improved condition to Pink Pills. My wife and children have also been benefited from their use."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

The Perfection of Ability.

"What!" cried the small man with yellow shoes and complexion. "He holds a government position? Why, I understood that he was a man of great ability?"

The man with light mustache and overcoat nodded affirmation.

"He is a man of immense ability. He has had the same place for ten years."

"But that proves——" began the small man.

"That he has ability enough to conceal his ability."

The two volcanoes in Iceland are advertised for sale in a Copenhagen paper. The price asked is about 150 pounds.

BIG MAIL IF YOU WANT TO RECEIVE Lots of Letters, Papers, Cards, 14-Page Story Book, Novelties, etc., send us 10c and we will put your name in our Directory, which we send to publishers and supply houses. You also get 14-Page Book containing illustrations, all for 10c. Postage paid. FREE Don't miss this chance. Address at once HOME ASSOCIATION, P. O. Box 576, Minneapolis, Minn.

Horrible Prospect.

"It is fearful to think," he said slowly, with a shudder.

"Yes?" she said inquiringly, as he paused.

"It is fearful to think of the suffering that may be in store for Corny Vanderbilt if he persists in marrying that girl in opposition to his father's wishes."

"What do you think his father will do?" she asked.

"I don't know," he replied. "No one can say positively. He has the reputation of being a man of great determination, and if really angry, he might cut the boy off with two million dollars."

Getting Up in the World.

"What a heap of style Jimmie Watson's wife throws on?"

"Oh, yes; Jimmie started a bicycle repair shop last week."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

If Remote from Medical Help

Doubly essential is it that you should be provided with some reliable family medicine. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the best of its class, remedying thoroughly as it does such common ailments as indigestion, constipation and biliousness, and affording safe and speedy help in malarial cases, rheumatism and inactivity of the kidneys.

Didn't Eat the Seed.

Little Mamie is sick in bed, but refuses persistently to take the prescribed pill. Her mother, however, resorts to strategy, concealing the pile in some preserved pear and giving it to the child to eat. After awhile mamma asks: "Has my little dear eaten her pear?" "All except the seed, mamma, dear."—Chicago News.

Piso's Cure for Consumption has saved me large doctor bills.—C. L. Baker, 4228 Regent Sq., Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 8, '95.

It is estimated that there are 10,000 Chinese living in New York and adjacent places.

Indigestion has often been cured by drinking a glass of hot water every morning half an hour before breakfast.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Marvelous cures. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The Rev. John C. Campbell, of Lexington Baptist church, Eleventh street and Lexington avenue, preached a sermon on Sunday night to bicyclists.

The German emperor has 850 carriages in his stables in Berlin. Of these 100 are for the use of his suite.

The potato crop of West Cork has been greatly damaged by early frosts.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

HIS CONSCIENTIOUS SCRUPLES.

Why the African Methodist Objected to Serving on Two-Masters.

A colored man, past middle age, but active and polite of manner, approached the captain of one of the lake boats.

"I un'stan," he said, "dat you allus is lookin' foh er man ter he'p out on you all's boat."

"Yes. Have you ever had any experience on the water?"

"No, sah. I dist come ter dis paht er de country, an' I ain't much on navigatin'. But I's a pow'ful good cook, an' I reckon I kin cook dist ez good on watah ez I kin on land, ef I gets de chance."

"Well, I guess we can give you a place, if that's the case. We'll have your abilities tested to-morrow, and if you suit you can come along."

"Thanky, sah. Thanky berry much, indeed. But dah is dist one question dat I'd like fur ter ask yer."

"What is it?"

"Hab yo boat got two masts or three masts?"

"It has three masts; but I don't see how that can concern you."

"Ht doan seem ter concern me none, sah. But ef yoh boat wus er two-master, sah, I couldn't go wif yer, much ez I needs de sitivation."

"Why not?"

"Case de Good Book done pervent it, sah. I'se done heard de minister read it over an' over agin, dat no man kin serve two masters, an' ef yoh ship wus er two master, sah, I'd er hatter han' in my resignation befoh I done got hired."—Detroit Free Press.

Not a Yonkers Man.

Johnnie—Ma, I didn't know pa was so awful strong, did you?

Ma—No, indeed!

Johnnie—Well, he must be, 'cause I heard him say that he threw the board of aldermen last night for the drinks. —Yonkers Gazette.

Longford is the smallest county in Ireland.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

Henry A. Baxter, Seattle, Wash., wagon brake; John H. Blum, Butte, Mont., steady-rest; John Burns, Minneapolis, Minn., storm window fastener; Erick H. Erickson, Minneapolis, Minn., artificial limb; Andrew Malm, Two Harbors, Minn., railway switch; Lucas Siverson, Rothsay, Minn., rotary engine; Maria A. Stevens, Waseca, Minn., composition matter for coloring fabrics; Rion G. Stingely, Franklin, Ore., gate.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

WHY SOME ANIMALS LAP.

A Curious Provision of Nature to Prevent Over-Indulgence.

The reason that certain animals lap instead of drink seems to be an arrangement of nature to prevent carnivorous animals, whose stomachs are comparatively small, from over-distending themselves with water. Most of the animals that suck when drinking are herbivorous and have large stomachs, or more than one, with a paunch or receptacle for unchewed food, and with them digestion is a slow process and there is little, if any danger of over-distension, although such a thing is not unknown with some domestic herbivorous animals. Digestion is a much more rapid process with the carnivora, and it is important that it should not be delayed by the ingestion of large quantities of cold water. By lapping the mouth and throat are thoroughly moistened, while the water is supplied to the stomach in small quantities, properly warmed and mixed with saliva. It may be fairly assumed that the carnivora are of more recent creation, for the herbivorous animals are their food, and that therefore lapping may be considered a more highly developed way of drinking than sucking.

"Mend it or End it," has been the rallying cry of reform, directed against abuses municipal or social.

For the man who lets himself be abused by a cough the cry should be modified to: Mend it, or it'll end you. You can mend any cough with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Kickapoo Indian Oil

QUICK CURE FOR ALL PAIN.

FREE HOMES From Uncle Sam.

Nearly 2,000,000 Acres of Government Lands Now Open to Settlement

IN NORTHERN ARKANSAS.

They are fertile, well-watered, heavily-timbered, and produce grains, grasses, fruits and vegetables in abundance. North Arkansas apples are noted. The climate is delightful, winters mild and short. These lands are subject to homestead entry of 160 acres each. NOW IS THE TIME TO GET A HOME. For further information address

☞ Enclose 10 cents in silver.

E. V. M. POWELL, Immigration Agent, Harrison, Ark.

☞ Refers to Bank of Harrison and Boone County Bank, Harrison, Ark.

"A Scorcher."

Battle Ax PLUG

A GREAT BIG PIECE FOR 10 CENTS

Tobacco Dealers say, that "BATTLE AX" is a "scorcher" because it sells so fast. Tobacco Chewers say, it is a "scorcher" because 5 cents' worth goes so far. It's as good as can be made regardless of cost. The 5 cent piece is almost as large as the other fellows' 10 cent piece.

BINDING TWINE Over 75 cars of Binding Twine. No. 87 S. Sisal Standard Mixed, 500 feet to the pound, per lb., 5¼c; No. 87 M., Standard Mixed Manilla, 550 ft. to the lb., per lb., 5¾c; No. 97, Manilla Binder Twine, 600 to 650 ft. to the lb., per lb., 6¼c. Please bear in mind, all our Binder Twine has been bought this year, and is made by the best twine factories and is thoroughly tested as to quality and strength. We recommend No. 97 Manilla Twine as the best value and cheapest to buy and use, as it runs farther, 600 and 650 feet to the pound, has long fiber and is very smooth and strong. Terms CASH with order. No discount.

T. M. ROBERTS, 508-510, 717-719-721 NICOLLET AVE., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

N. B.—Have arranged to make prompt shipments of twine. Let us hear from you and your friends, as we expect to fill all orders THE DAY received.

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XV. ST.HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY JULY 8, 1896. NUMBER 49.

THE NEWS RESUME.

DIGEST OF THE NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

A Comprehensive Review of the Important Happenings of the Past Week Called From the Telegraph Reports—The Notable Events at Home and Abroad That Have Attracted Attention.

People Talked About.

Dr. Loran Hazen, a veteran of the Sixteenth Wisconsin and a member of the famous Hazen band, is dead at Fond du Lac, Wis., aged sixty-seven.

At Columbia, Mo., Mrs. J. W. Carlisle, wife of the city collector, is dead. She was related to Hon. John G. Carlisle, secretary of the treasury.

Baron Fritz Harding is dead. He was born in 1820, and was a member of parliament for Cheltenham from 1850 to 1865.

Capt. Charles W. Batchelor, prominent in business and Masonic circles, died at his home in Pittsburg, aged seventy-three.

Robert Richardson, aged sixty-nine, a distinguished lawyer and author of Kentucky and cousin to the late Carter Harrison of Chicago, died at Covington, Ky.

Accidental Happenings.

Mrs. W. A. Summers of Kalamazoo, Mich., while working about a gasoline stove, was fatally burned.

Five men were killed and fourteen injured by an explosion in the arsenal near Fort Moselle, Germany, last night.

Misses Jessie Kelso and Sadie and John Samson were drowned in the Missouri river at Tekemah. The boat they occupied was swamped.

The Ryan Packing company's plant at Dubuque, Ia., was destroyed by fire. Total loss, $50,000; insurance, $40,000. Origin of the fire unknown.

Maj. E. W. Halford, who was President Harrison's private secretary, and is now paymaster of the United States army, stationed at enver, has sustained a compound fracture of his right leg by falling from a bicycle.

An explosion of gas in the Washington coal mine at Fayette City, Pa., killed Mike Barbaras and Louis de Risti, two Italians. Three others who went into the mine at the same time are missing and are believed to be buried.

John Foucher, aged 10 years, while using a piece of gas pipe as a cannon at Sedalia, Mo., was fatally injured. The top weapon exploded, a portion of the pipe penetrating Foucher's right lung. He only lived twenty minutes.

The British steamer Santarense, bound to Para, Brazil, from Lisbon, has been sunk in collision with the four-masted British ship Dundonald, Capt. Gervan, from San Francisco, on March 10 for Hull, Eng. The Dundonald was damaged and is leaking, but no lives were lost.

Hermban Cole, an aeronaut, was killed at North Park, Grand Rapids, Mich., and a crowd of several thousand witnessed his death. As his balloon ascended the wind dashed it against a building. Cole tried to retain his grasp, but was again thrown heavily against the building. He fell fifty feet, landing on his head, and died an hour later. His home was at Manistee.

As Henry Kinder, near Kokomo, Ind., was sitting in his doorway during the storm, lightning struck the house, demolishing theroof. The shaft ran down to the lower floor, struck Mr. Kinder at the hips, tore his pantaloons off, split both shoes and passed on into the ground. Mr. Kinder was not injured, neither was anyone else in the house hurt, though it contained three families, twenty persons in all.

Crimes and Criminals.

Shots were exchanged between deputy sheriffs and strikers at Westview, Ohio.

S. R. Dawson, the man who murdered Walter Scott in Des Moines, Ia., last December, was sentenced to the penitentiary for ten years.

Irving L. Ford, the negro who brutally murdered Elsie Kreglo on May 4 last, was hanged in the jail yard in Washington, D. C.

At Portland, Ore., John McGinnes and John O'Brien, both notorious bank robbers, were captured and lodged in jail.

Rufus Buck, Louie Davis, Lucky Davis, Naomi July and Sam Sampson, comprising what is known as the Buck gang, were executed at Little Rock, Ark.

James Ross, a leading attorney of Winnipeg, brother of A. W. Ross, one of the most prominent members of the Canadian Parliament, committed suicide.

Frank Bruce, formerly one of the most expert cracksmen of the country, is dying of consumption in the prison at Jeffersonville, Ind. His home is in Missouri.

William Holt, Albert Noble and Doncio Romero suffered the death penalty in the Colorado penitentiary for the murder of John Solomon in Trinidad, in November last.

The jury in the case of James B. Gentry of Philadelphia, who, on Feb. 17, 1895, murdered Actress Madge York, have declared a verdict of guilty in the first degree.

Thomas Quinlan of Mexico, Mo., the section boss who shot and killed Gottfried Kloppenstein, the young man from Chicago, has been adjudged insane for the second time and sent to the Fulton asylum.

Mrs. Bear, a Christian scientist, and David Goodson and his wife of Toronto have been found guilty of criminal neglect in failing to call a physician for Adelaide Goodson, a daughter, who died of diptheria.

The federal grand jury in Dallas, Tex., returned an indictment against City Judge Hershall T. Smith of Fort Worth, charging him with forging the names of pensioners to documents on which he collected the money.

William Milligan, a farmer of Lawrence county, Indiana, was called to the door of his house at an early hour in the morning and assassinated. The murderer shot him three times in the breast and fled. Milligan died instantly.

Mme. Zulych, operating under many aliases, is under arrest at Joplin, Mo., charged with using the mails to defraud. The prisoner is said to have caught people in all pats of the country by a shrewd scheme to dispos of fictitious lead mines.

Joseph Cocking of Hilltop, Charles county, Maryland, who was awaiting trial on the charge of murdering his wife and sister, Miss Daisy Miller, on the night of April 23, was taken from the old jail at Port Tobacco and lynched by a crowd of about twenty-five men.

At Batavia, N. Y., Jerome Rowan, a rich banker, and father of Lansing Rowan, the California actress who has challenged Corbett to meet her in a scientific sparring contest, hearing of his daughter's serious action, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart.

In a quarrel over the admission of colored children into the white district school ten miles east of Guthrie, O. T., A. H. Swain, a negro school teacher, was shot and killed by W. H. Arnold, a white school director. Arnold gave himself up. He claimed self-defense and shows several knife cuts inflicted by Swain.

Masked men forced an entrance to the house of Joseph Hallenmager in Starke county, Ind., and fatally tortured him with red-hot irons. It was believed Hallenmager had a large sum of money hidden in the house. Heated irons were applied to the body until he was unconscious The house was pillaged, but only $5 was found. The robbery is believed to have been the work of tramps.

Foreign Gossip.

The agricultural rating bill passed the British house of commons.

its third reading in the British house of commons by a vote of 292 to 140.

Jennie Hill, the variety actress, died at her home at Brixton, Eng.

Denmark is willing to sell the Danish West Indies to the United States.

In an encyclical the pope argues in favor of a union of all Christian churches.

Arton, convicted of Panama Canal frauds, is sentenced in Paris to six years in prison.

Two Turkish battalions at Yeddah, who have received no pay since 1894, refuse to leave for Crete, and have barricaded themselves in the mosque.

Baron von Berlepsel, Prussian minister of commerce, has resigned, and his resignation will probably be accepted. Under Secretary Brefeld will succeed him.

The wool season will open at Sydney, N. S. W., Sept. 15, and it is estimated that the New South Wales crop of 1895-6 will show a decrease of 100,000 bales.

A special from Cairo says the Egyptian government packet Rahmanish, from Suakim for Suez, has broken her shaft and been wrecked on a reef. The dispatch adds that it is feared sixty people were drowned.

The chambers of mines and commerce are organizing a mass meeting at Buluwayo to petition the British South Africa company to reinstate Cecil Rhodes, whose resignation was accepted.

It is stated that Lord Marcus Beresford, who bought Comatose at auction for 1,41 Oguineas ($7,402) after the horse won the maiden race, made the purchase for Barney Baranto, the South African mining and banking magnate.

Senor Andrade, Jr., son of the Venezuelan minister, has returned from a month in Venezuela. He says the spirit of friendship for the United States is very marked. The American colony at Caracas has grown of late to large proportions and United States capital is being extensively invested.

Otherwise.

The value of mineral products of this country in 1895 was $611,795,290.

A treasury statement for the fiscal year just ended shows a deficit of $26,042,244.

The Keystone Rolling Mill company of Pittsburg has signed the amalgamated scale. It was the first firm in the country to sign.

Don M. Dickinson has been asked to act as chief counsel for the United States in the arbitration with Great Britain on the Bering sea awards.

All the cotton factories in the United States will shut down for four weeks, either consecutively or alternately, during July and August, for the purpose of curtailing production.

Farmers living nea r Buchanan, Mich., complain of grasshoppers, which they claim have almost totally destroyed their crops. Too much rain is supposed to have been the cause of the large number of these pests.

The members of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston left that city for England to visit the parent organization, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of England.

Dr. David Jacobson, a well known New York physician, was divorced at Oklahoma, O. T., from Nora Jacobson, on the ground of abandonment. The complainant claimed, among other things, that his wife loved poodle dogs better than herself.

Father John J. Glennon has been consecrated coadjutor bishop by Rt. Rev. J. J. Hogan of the Kansas City diocese. The ceremonies attendant upon the consecration took place in the cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, which was crowded to the doors.

Mrs. Florence Blythe-Hinckley is in need of ready money with which to liquidate many outstanding claims incurred by her and her attorneys during the twelve years of harassing litigation through which they have passed in order to establish Florence as the sole heir to eccentric Thomas Blythe's estate.

A petition has been filed with the attorney general of New York State asking for permission to begin an action in the supreme court to annul the charters of the various Brooklyn gas companies known as the Brooklyn Union Gas company, on the grounds that they are violating their charters and the laws of the state, which forbid trusts.

ONLY ONE BALLOT

GOV. DAVID M. CLOUGH RECEIVES THE NOMINATION.

He Receives 872 Votes to 174 for Van Sant, 70 for Gibbs and 30 for Clapp—John L. Gibbs for Lieutenant Governor—Attorney General Childs, Treasurer Koerner and Secretary Berg Renominated.

St. Paul, July 3. — The Republican convention nominated the following ticket:

Governor—David M. Clough of Hennepin.

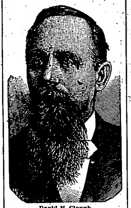
Lieutenant Governor—John L. Gibbs of Freeborn.

Secretary of State—Albert Berg of Chisago.

Treasurer — August T. Koerner of Meeker.

Attorney General—Henry W. Childs of Ramsey.

The convention was harmonious throughout. Hon. Ellsworth Benham of Duluth was elected temporary chairman, and later the temporary organization was made permanent. When the nomination speeches were declared in order Hon. William Henry Eustis made a speech withdrawing his name. After the nominating speeches a roll call by counties was called for and the first ballot showed Gov. Clough's overwhelming majority. When the Hennepin delegation was called a ripple of laughter swept over the convention which broke into wild cheers when E. M. Johnson announced 116 votes for Clough.



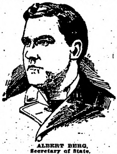
David M. Clough.

At 4:35 o'clock Gov. Clough entered the hall. The band played "Hail to the Chief." The governor addressed the throng, and as he stepped forward the Hennepin delegation went wild.

Gov. Clough's Speech.

Gentlemen of the Convention: With a full heart I come before you to return to you my sincere thanks for the honor that you have conferred upon me. I cannot and do not wish to say that this nomination has come to me unexpected or unsought. It does come instead as the culminating event of a long and ardent campaign, in which honorable men, men worthy of any antagonist, men of high character and possessed of a liberal share of the people's confidence, have contended with me for the honor of representing the Republican party in the coming campaign, and acting as the executive of Minnesota during the next two years. For those adversaries who have met me in fair and honorable battle, I have only the kindliest words, because they are inspired by the kindliest feelings. Every man has, in my opinion, the right to aspire to become the standard bearer of his party. But in this hour when the great contest has been decided, it is time to lay aside all the personal feelings that may have possessed us in the struggle for a nomination and to remember only the future and the needs of the great Republican party and of the great state of Minnesota, which commands the undying allegiance of us all.

If I have coveted the honor, gentlemen, and I make no secret of my desire to deserve your confidence and to receive this signal proof of it, I may at least, in all sincerity and honesty, say that I have not been inspired by any unworthy motive. I have wished, who would not wish, that the act of the people which made me governor a year and a half ago, by the election to the senate of that stalwart Republican and patriotic son of the republic, Knute Nelson, might be confirmed and ratified by their direct choice. I have done my best to discharge that trust faithfully and honestly. I can say in all sincerity that I have desired and striven to serve the best interest of the state. I confess, therefore, to a natural desire that the people in passing a verdict upon this my term of office, should find it worthy of their approval. I have felt that to be upheld by them, to have this seal of their approval upon my work in the executive office, would present to me the highest tribute that I can ever hope to receive and bring to me the proudest moment of my life.



ALBERT BERG,
Secretary of State.

For this reason, gentlemen, because your nomination comes to me as the approving voice of the Republicans of the state of Minnesota in judgment upon my record, I am filled with gratitude and inspired by a new and stronger desire to be worthy of the confidence that my fellow citizens have reposed in me so abundantly.

He Wants to Lead the Battle.

There is another reason why a man in whom there dwells a spark of patriotism should rejoice to be your candidate this year. It is to be a fateful year, a year of destiny. It is in the air, in the thoughts of the people, in the hearts and voices of men. It is a time of change, an era of unrest, a period of trial and of peril. We are about to emerge from the long night of gloom and depression that has settled on our fair land. And just as it is darkest before dawn, so do we see all the foes of prosperity, of national honor, of financial stability, of industrial supremacy and of the maintenance of law and order, massing thein forces for the final onset. It is not carpet knights of whom we have need this year, but men of war, who are not afraid to take their stand and maintain it against all the wild and frenzied hosts that will be led against them. This year, more than at any time for a generation, there is need of the Republican party, as the defender of the nation's credit, the nation's industries and the nation's homes. All the false doctrines, all the crude notions, all the dangerous heresies that have been fostered by little sects and grown into parties are threatening to combine against us.

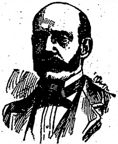
They have laid aside whatever of principle they have that might keep them asunder, and are preparing to descend, like an army, upon the prosperity and the security of the republic. If it be a post of danger, it is also one of exceeding honor to represent the Republican party in a time and in a cause like this. Our adversaries are making the same mistake that was made in 1860. They underestimate the honesty, the patriotism, the deep devotion to the cause of right and to a great moral idea that are characteristics of the American people. No more surely did the firing of the first gun upon Sumter stir to leaping flame the fire of loyalty in millions of Northern hearts than will this contemplated assault upon the honor and integrity of the nation bring to the Republican party millions of volunteers. The issues are already made and the leaders chosen. Standing upon the platform given to us at St. Louis, and under the leadership of the man who was there chosen to bring us to this batttle, the great champion of protection and Americanism, William McKinley, what need have we to feel a doubt of the result?

The Party of Safety.

I am not here, gentlemen of the convention, to make a platform for you or to discuss in detail the issues of national and state policy upon which we shall wage our campaign. Nor is there any need. This is a year when every man, without reading a platform or listening to a speech, may know what it is that the Republican party stands for. It is as when an alarm bell rings in the night, the deep signal booming out a people's danger. There is no need, then, to tell any man where to range himself, whom to follow or where to aim his blows. For hearth and home and native land has never been a more appropriate motto for the Republican party than in this year of the last despairing attempt of a desperate enemy to break through the defenses of the republic.

Gentlemen, for the future the only promise that I have to make to you, the only one that you would ask, is that I shall endeavor, as I have done, to so discharge the duties of this office as to serve the best interests of the State of Minnesota and so reflect honor upon the party that has so liberally honored me. To that, in all sincerity, and with no thought that is not true to the party whose representatives you are and to the great commonwealth in whose service we are all enlisted, I pledge you my faith and my most sacred word. For the great honor that you have done me I thank you. Not in words, but in deeds, from this time forth, shall I endeavor to express my gratitude, my loyalty and my determination to be worthy of your esteem and your trust.

The nomination of candidates for lieutenant governor was resumed as soon as the governor concluded just as if nothing had happened. Hon. J. F. Jacobson of Lac qui Parle, seconded the nomination of Mr. Staples with whom he had served through two sessions of the legislature. Mr. Jacobson said he had often differed with Mr. Staples on matters of legislative importance, but he usually found that Mr. Staples was right. If he were elected to preside over the senate he would teach the senators something new, and make that body do more effective work.



H. W. CHILDS,
Attorney General.

The Vote for Governor.

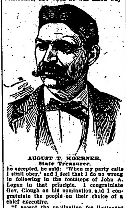
Following is the detailed vote on governor:

Counties—	Clough.	Gibbs.	Van Sant.	Clapp.
Aitkin		8
Anoka	11
Becker	11
Beltrami	5
Benton	9
Big Stone			9
Blue Earth	21
Brown	12
Carlton			9
Carver	14
Cass	6
Chippewa	10
Chisago	14
Clay	7	1	8
Cook	5
Cottonwood			9
Crow Wing	11
Dakota			18
Dodge		8	10
Douglas	13
Faribault	13	2	1
Fillmore			20
Freeborn		17
Goodhue	25
Grant	4		3
Hennepin	116
Houston		14
Hubbard	6
Isanti	10
Itasca	8
Jackson		11
Kanabec	5
Kandiyohi	13
Kittson	8
Lac qui Parle	11
Lake	3		4
Le Sueur	14
Lincoln	7
Lyon	11
McLeod	3	6	3
Marshall	9
Martin	10	1
Meeker	14
Mille Lacs	9
Morrison	14
Mower	17
Murray	9
Nicollet	12
Nobles	11
Norman	9
Olmsted	1		17
Otter Tail				14
Pine	8
Pipestone	5
Polk	15
Pope	12
Ramsey	71
Redwood			4
Renville	14
Rice	16
Rock	3	6	2
Roseau	6
St. Louis	43
Scott	10
Sherburne	9
Sibley	10		3
Stearns	15
Steele		14
Stevens	9
Swift	10
Todd			12
Traverse				7
Wabasha			14
Wadena	5
Waseca		12
Washington	18
Watonwan	10		1
Wilkin	2			6
Winona			22
Wright	19
Yellow Medicine	11
Totals	560	95	158	30

John L. Gibbs, C. F. Staples and Andrew Grindeland were nominated for lieutenant governor. The vote was taken, and resulted as follows: Gibbs 773; Staples, 148; Grindeland, 123.

Mr. Gibbs Accepts.

Hon. John L. Gibbs was greeted with a storm of applause as he ascended the platform which demonstrates that he is a very popular man in the state. "I was a candidate for the nomination for governor," Mr. Gibbs began, "and I endeavored to make an honest canvass. I was unsuccessful and I cheerfully bow to the wish of the people. You have now nominated me for lieutenant governor. The honor came unsought and I thank you for it. There may be some men in the state who will criticise my action in accepting a nomination for a lesser office, but if they do I wish to call their attention to the fact that John A. Logan, when a candidate for president, accepted the second place on the ticket after being defeated for the first, despite the requests of his friends who wished him to decline the nomination, and when he was asked why he accepted, he said: 'When my party calls I shall obey,' and I feel that I do no wrong in following in the footsteps of John A. Logan in that principle. I congratulate Gov. Clough on his nomination and I congratulate the people on their choice of a chief executive.



AUGUST T. KOERNER,
State Treasurer.

"I accept the nomination for lieutenant governor and consider it not so much a compliment to me as it is a compliment to the farmers and working people of the state generally, of which great class I am one. And if the Republican party succeeds at the polls next November, as I hope and trust it will, it will be because of the loyalty and support of the working men and farmers."

The Platform.

The following platform was adopted:

"We, the Republicans of Minnesota, in convention assembled, renew our pledges of loyalty to the party of liberty and progress, and rejoice that the hour is near at hand for the deliverance of our country from the evils of Democratic misrule.

"We endorse most heartily the platform adopted by the late national Republican convention at St. Louis, and pronounce it to be our line of action and our political creed, and to the principles which it so fitly declares we pledge our unqualified support.

"It is our pleasure and pride that the greatest apostle of the Republican faith since Abraham Lincoln, William McKinley, has been selected as our leader in the coming contest, and we gladly promise to McKinley and Hobart the electoral vote of Minnesota.

"We recognize the claims of the laboring people of the state, and their equal right to the benefit and protection of laws.

"We believe in the construction and maintenance of good roads throughout our state, and we will promote the enactment of suitable legislation to that end.

"We favor the taxation of unused railroad land in accordance with the provisions of the Anderson bill now before the people.

"We indorse the good, practical, business-like administration of Gov. D. M. Clough, and commend him for his manliness and integrity in his office, his fidelity to all the interests of the state, and his prompt measures for the suppression of crime.

"We call upon all citizens of this commonwealth to unite with us in restoring to our country the blessings of prosperity which we enjoyed under Republican rule, and to the upholding of the credit of our state and nation at home and abroad by the wise, patriotic and vigorous measures and principles by which the Republican party has ever been guided."

GARRET A. HOBART CALLS.

Mr. Hobart Looks in on His Old Friend McKinley.

Canton, Ohio, July 3.—Gov. McKinley drove to the Fort Wayne station this morning to personally meet and greet his invited guest, Garret A. Hobart, who wired yesterday from his home in Paterson, N. J., that he would call on the governor to-day. There was a large crowd of people at the station to witness the meeting of the two distinguished men, although the affair was informal in every respect. Gov. McKinley waited in his carriage while the big crowd at the station divided at the train yard, leaving an open space for him to pass through, which he did, unescorted, as a private citizen, reaching the train just as the car carrying Mr. Hobart stopped in front of him. Mr. McKinley quickly extended his hand and stepped briskly to the car step, and the recognition was equally prompt on Mr. Hobart's part. Gov. McKinley took him by the arm and they walked side by side to the carriage amidst the applause of the big crowd. As the meeting was entirely informal there was no public demonstration, and the time of Mr. Hobart's coming had not been made public until this morning. Gov. McKinley and his guest were driven quickly to the former's home. Mr. Hobart was presented to a number of Mr. McKinley's neighbors as the pair alighted from the carriage, after which they immediately retired to the library in the major's home. It is not probable that either Gov. McKinley or Mr. Hobart will make any stumping campaign. Later Mr. Hobart left for Cleveland.

Disorders in China.

St. Petersburg, July 3.—Advices received here from Shanghai show that disorders are rampant in different parts of China. The Mussulman rebellion in the Northwestern district at Kan-Su has reached the greatest proportions. The secret societies in the country are again exciting the natives against the Europeans. Famine and plague are also reported to be raging in the Southern provinces of China.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Rust is ruining the wheat crop in and around Frazee.

The Monarch elevator at Battle Lake caught fire and was burned.

Three men were killed and two dangerously hurt in a mine at Ely.

The state Prohibition convention was held at Minneapolis.

The Minnesota Epworth League convention was held at Waseca.

S. M. Owen was nominated for congress in the Fifth district Populist convention.

Three thousand people attended the funeral of Sheriff Rogers, murdered at Glencoe.

The board of directors of the Minnesota state fair have arranged an attractive programme.

James Brannot was caught in a belt in McCarthy's saw mill at Kilkenny and had his right arm torn off.

John S. Koch committed suicide at St. Paul by throwing himself under the cars of a moving train.

James E. Granger, secretary of the Stone-Ordean company, met with a mysterious and painful accident while horseback riding at Duluth.

Two tramps who had assaulted a farmer near Hutchinson, are soaking in oil there in an effort to rid themselves of coats of tar and feathers administered by citizens.

Willie, the 17-year-old sond of Valentine Salonek, was found dead in an old well on his father's farm near Melrose. Foul play is suspected. There will probably be an investigation.

George Stewart, the well known livery man of Stillwater, was badly injured recently. His horse ran away, throwing him out on his head. His condition is very serious.

The barn, machinery sheds and granary of James Cashman, a farmer living near Carnelian lake, near Stillwater, were burned, evidently set on fire by a revengeful tramp who had been refused shelter. Loss about $1,200, with an insurance of $700.

The nine-year-old son of Henry Rischmiller, a prominent farmer living three miles from Arlington, was killed by lightning. He was loading hay on a wagon with another boy when struck. The other boy was not hurt.

The Le Sueur summer school opened with a large attendance. Prof. Edgar L Porter, superintendent of the Worthington high school, is in charge, with Miss Kate Kenealey of St. Paul as assistant.

M. C. Carten, a stranger, and probably a tramp, was killed north of Fergus Falls by the Great Northern freight. He was struck on a bridge. He had a union cigarmaker's memorandum book in his pocket, and was about fifty years old.

Burt Hillman, the man who assaulted and robbed the 11-year-old son of Sheriff Jensvold at Granite Falls, was taken to St. Paul to prevent a lynching. He narrowly escaped being killed, his life being saved only by the prompt action of the sheriff. It is now believed the boy will die.

Roy Phelps was drowned in the St. Louis river at Duluth from a sail boat, and his three companions had a narrow escape. In some way the boat filled and in the darkness it was not noticed until just before it sank. Phelps was 25 years old, an electrician and unmarried.

Two forged checks of $50 each upon the Imperial Mill company of Duluth have turned up which were uttered by Herbert Coates, a young man lately employed by the company, and who is now missing. Both were cashed by clothing stores. Coates is 20 years old and has been traveling with swift companions.

Henry Bornt, the young man shot by Clarence Crook at Amboy, June 8, died after an operation to probe for the bullet. Crook was keeping company with Bornt's niece and the latter objected, which resulted in the above tragedy. Both parties were wealthy and respected citizens of Amboy. Crook is in jail at Mankato. His hearing is set for July 7.

The Mankato city council granted a fifteen-year franchise to the North Central Telephone company and the Blue Earth Valley Telephone company. The former intends to commence work next week. Its rates are limited to $24 and $18 per year for residence and business houses. A telephone war is likely to ensue, as the Northwestern already occupies the field.

Bernard Nellis was shot and killed by John Adler at St. Paul. Adler seems to be crazy, having a notion that everybody is trying to insult him. The men had some trouble last winter and words passed before the shooting. Adler was arrested. He had tried to do some promiscuous shooting before killing Nellis, saying everybody that passed was jeering at him and insulting him.

Conductor W. A. Bartlett, on the C., M. & St. Paul road, was killed three miles east of Wells. He left Wells with his train at 10:45 p. m. After starting the train run to Albert Lea, where he was missed. Running back slowly with engine and caboose, his mangled remains were found. It appears he either fell from the top of the train or was thrown off by tramps. His home was in Austin, where he leaves a wife who is an invalid.

Fire destroyed two warehouses belonging to J. A. and K. G. Ramberg situated on the railway reservation just opposite the depot at Rush City. Two freight cars standing on the track in front of the warehouses were burned and the depot was saved only by hard work. It was on fire a number of times. The buildings were to have been moved soon, as the railway company have ordered everything move from its reservation on the east side of the track. The loss is not estimated yet.

Resented.

"I suppose," said the man, trying to be chummy, "it doesn't hurt your glass eye when you get anything in it?"

"Does it look as if it would ever be likely to have a pane in it?" responded the other, frigidly.

And he gave the glassy stare.—Indianapolis Journal.

WORD FROM CLEVELAND.

He Again Takes Occasion to Discuss the Financial Question.

New York, July 7. — At Tammany's celebration of Independence day the following letter of regret from President Cleveland was read:

"I regret that I am unable to accept the courteous invitation I have received to attend the celebration by the Tammany society, of the 120th anniversary of American independence. The situation that confronts the country and the Democratic party at this time invests with unusual impressiveness this commemoration of our beginning as a nation. When, as appropriate to the occasion, our stupendous advancement is recalled, the facts should not be overlooked that our progress has not been by chance, but is the result of a wise observance of the monetary laws that control national health and vigor; and while we contemplate with pride the commanding place we occupy among the nations of the earth, we should not forget that this has been gained only through a jealous preservation of financial soundness, and a careful maintenance of unsuspected public credit. The high and firm financial ground which we have thus far been able to hold should not be abandoned, in the pursuit of a policy never attempted without national injury, and whose bright promise of individual benefit has never been fulfilled.

"If there is anything in present conditions that impeaches experience and indicates that we can safely change our present high financial standard for the free, unlimited and independent coinage of silver, this should be made plainly apparent before such a radical departure finds a place in party creed. The tremendous consequences of a mistake, in dealing with the financial question now pressed upon us as Democrats, should constantly make us thoughtful and solicitous. I am confident, therefore, that the voice of the Tammany society, always potent in party council, will not fail to be heard in warning and protest, on an occasion which especially inspires patriotism and at a time when the felicitations of our people appropriate to Independence day are mingled with apprehension."

WISCONSIN WINS.

Defeats Minnesota in the Eight-Oared Race at Minnetonka.

Minnetonka, July 7. — Wisconsin wins. Time, 10:42. Distance two miles. The Wisconsin eight won a hard fought race over the Lafayette course at Lake Minnetonka from the Minnesota Boat club crew. The race was stubbornly contested from start to finish. The winning crew crossed the line fifteen feet ahead of the Minnesotas. Both crews mistook the explosion of a huge firecracker for the pistol shot at the finish and floated across the line. The Minnesotas were handicapped by the wash from one of the small steam launches that was following the race. There were two keeping pace with the oarsmen at the left side of the course, on which side the Minnesotas were rowing. They were the Mabel Lane and the Victor. About an eighth of a mile from the finish one of the launches mentioned steered ahead and so close to the Minnesotas that they experienced the full effect of the swells. The crew was obliged to change its course in order to escape the worst of the wash. It was just when the Minnesotas were preparing to make the final spurt, and the crew decares that they would have beaten the Wisconsins handily had not the steam launch interfered. As it was Bohland at No. 3 was pulling in waves that were washing over his outrigger and the shell shipped several gallons of water. Despite the handicap the Minnesotas in the short distance left gained more than half a boat length in the spurt and finished so close to the Wisconsins that it was almost impossible to at once decide which crew had won the race. The judges on the line, however, decided that the Wisconsins finished first by quarter of a boat length, which would be fifteen feet.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors:

William Banwarth, Zell, S. D., grain drill; Henry A. Baxter, Seattle, Wash., car-mover; Frederick J. Burrucker, St. Paul, Minn., windmill; Elisha B. Cleaveland, Wash., bow-facing oar; Andrew E. Groden and T. Christensen, Minneapolis, Minn., saw-set; Anton Knoblauch, Minneapolis, Minn., street car fender; Peter A. Larson, Ida, Minn., rotary engine; Frank W. Merritt, Duluth, Minn., air compressor; Gordon & Ferguson, St. Paul, Minn., (trade mark) hats and caps; Washburn-Crosby Company, Minneapolis, Minn., (trade mark) wheat-flour.

T. D. Merwin, patent lawyer, 910, 911 and 912 Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

Sentenced to Death.

Havana, July 7. — The band of Lacret, separated from the other Cuban forces, has been encamped near Alfonso Doce, in Mantanzas province. They were carrying many wounded. The insurgent leaders Tapanes, Paclao, Joseph Jesus and Roderigues have been imprisoned in the Sagua jail and sentenced to death.

Henley Regatta.

Henley-on-the-Thames, July 7.—This has been a quiet day among the oarsmen, and has been spent in somewhat weary expectancy and waiting for the time to pass. The Yale men, as well as all the other crews, took a complete rest.

Tramp Killed by a Train.

Eau Claire, Wis., July 7.—A tramp was run over by a freight on the Omaha last night and died at midnight. He gave his name as Albert Smalby, and said his home was in Hayward, Wis.

Done by Firebugs.

Aitkin, Minn., July 7. — Early this morning fire was discovered in the rear of the Foley hotel, that was partly burned on the Fourth, and completely ruined the kitchen and upper story where the help roomed. The fire was certainly the work of fire bugs. It occurred at the same hour as did the fire of Saturday night.

Hotel Destroyed.

Grantsburg, Wis., July 7.—The City hotel at this place was burned to-day. Loss, $3,500; insurance, $1,800.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE—HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP

—AND—

BATH ROOMS.

—0—

Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing

Razors honed and put in first-class order.

J. H. PENNO, Prop.

ST. HILAIRE - - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

THE FAMOUS

SAMARITAN

Rye Whisky

Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.

FOR SALE BY

BRINK BROS.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO

ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST
SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

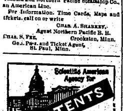
Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.



Scientific American Agency for

PATENTS

CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 8, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.
2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.
3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.
4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

COUNTY TICKET.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON

For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY

For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE

For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM

For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN

For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN

For Surveyor—
O. L. HAMERY

For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS

For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE

For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA

For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY

For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER

For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

A FEW FIGURES.

It has never been the intention of the gold-bug politician to approach the financial situation with logical arguments. Their whole stock of ammunition upon which they depend to defeat the ends of justice and frighten the timid silverite consists of bare-faced lies, shrewdly worded prophecies and bold threats that in any other country but ours would be considered the rankest kind of treason and would be punished accordingly. Of all the objections they howl so loudly about, none is more senseless, none so illegal and more easily met and refuted than the senseless claim that no one is interested in the remonetization of silver but the Silver Baron and the miner. Take a plain statement of the facts and apply your own arithmetic and logic and see what becomes of their much warranted claim. The United States for the last twenty years have produced an average of about 500,000,000 bushels of wheat yearly which when silver was at its par value, 1.29¼ per oz. was worth $1.25 per bushel in Chicago and other great markets amounting to the sum of $625,000,000. During the same years the United States have produced not far from sixty million of ounces of silver each year, which at the par value was worth about $77,000,000. Deduct them 77,000,000 the worth of silver produced from 625,000,000 the worth of wheat and we have left 548,000,000 as the excess of the value of wheat alone over the silver. Now add to the wheat 1,000,000,000 bushels of corn, the surplus of our yearly crop which is offered for sale, worth $500,000,000 when silver was at par and 6,000,000 bales of cotton worth $450,000,000, and we have a total of one billion five hundred seventy-five million dollars worth of farm products to offset against the ENORMOUS income of the silver baron and the miner $77,000,000.00. Let the reader apply his common sense and he will at once expunge this frail and dishonest argument or excuse for the list of the ills that the country will have to bear if silver is reinstated. A little common sense, used when we undertake the examination of obstruse questions will go far toward its solution. All other claims of the goldites are as easily exploded as the above.

The demonetization of silver bringing our products in competition with the products of India has reduced the values of our wheat, corn, cotton and silver, has practically halved their former values so that the farmers loss is 750 millions annually and the silver baron's loss is thirty-eight and one half millions.

JOHN LIND.

People should pay no attention to the announcements of the gold press that John Lind will not accept the nomination of the people of this state for governor. He is not a candidate That is true. That is all the better. That is one reason why the people want him. Office seekers are not wanted this year. The Lord knows there are enough of them in the field. It is the man whom the people seek, who should be nominated. John Lind is that man. He says he is through with office and politics. But John Lind is not through with patriotism and good government. He is as keenly alive to the economic battle now confronting this nation as any man in America. His signature to the recent protest against McKinleyism and European gold monometalism proves that. John Lind is a soldier in this battle. He will go where duty calls. He is no office seeker. He is not a perpetual candidate, as some too-much-in-evidence demagogues are, but if the people of Minnesota call him to the front as their standard bearer, he will stand with them, and where they command. In principle and patriotism John Lind can be depended upon in this conflict.—Penny Press.

The following is the way the vote stood yesterday at the National Democratic convention at Chicago: J. W. Daniel, free silver, 556; David B. Hill, temporary chairman, for gold, 349.

Satterlee, the small man of Red Lake Falls, who was named after the Journal, was elected a delegate to the Republican State convention. He has been up in this county about forty or fifty days and quite a number of Republicans who have lived here for the past ten years seem to think that he was entirely too new for that honor, and are feeling rather sore about it. They are also saying hard things about the county convention, insinuating gag rule and several other unpleasant things. The truth of the matter is Satterlee was sent up here to work for his uncouthness—the governor, so had to have his reward, while the boys up here had not declared themselves, so could not be trusted to stand by the gang. It was only a few moons ago that the Republicans were talking strong of carrying Polk county, but the late convention seems to have made a good many rather sick.

The Legislative Convention.

From our Crookston Correspondent.

Attention of all good populists should be called to the coming legislative convention. It is to be feared that too many of us will feel that the county nominating convention is the only one worthy of careful consideration and the legislative convention will as a result be neglected. As a matter of fact the legislative convention is of far more importance to the maternal welfare of the people. County officers have only to perform a prescribed duty but our legislators strike at the root and have to do with the making or unmaking of the law itself.

There is no question but that in this district to a great extent in the past nomination to the lower house of the legislature have been considered as merely prefunctory and have been in some instances bestowed on men no more fitted to hold that responsible position than a school boy would be fitted to occupy a seat in the United States senate. For some reason or other the people seem to have lost sight of the importance of the position and have slapped names on the ticket that lomed up like a splotele of mud on a white-washed wall.

As a result of this indifference with but slight exception we have been worse off than if not represented at all in the lower house. It will not do to say that these men were in the minority for in marked contrast to their work is that of our senators who have been as equally in the minority yet their work has been to a great measure successful and they have at all times had the respect of the senate.

The coming convention must be cautious in their matter an incapable man on the ticket for any place hurts the whole ticket. Select men who can reason and think and that has the executive ability to act out their thoughts and if you find that any man is seeking to break in through a trade made at the last county convention, turn him down, and if you find a man that Brown or other republican ringsters are working for throw him out and if a man asks for the office because he is a Swede or a Norwegian or a Frenchman or an Irishman kill him on the spot. Give us a clean intelligent populist, the woods are full and the prairies are cov- with just the kind of men we want. Select the best among them.

JOHNSTON.

JAMES G. BLAINE.

I believe the struggle now going on in this country and in other countries for a single gold standard, would if successful produce widespread disaster in and throughout the commercial world.

The destruction of silver as money and establishing GOLD AS THE SOLE UNIT OF VALUE MUST HAVE A RUINOUS EFFECT ON ALL FORMS OF PROPERTY EXCEPT THOSE INVESTMENTS WHICH YIELD A FIXED RETURN IN MONEY. These would be enormously enhanced in value, and would gain a disproportionate and unfair advantage over every other species of property. If, as the most reliable statistics affirm, there are nearly $7,000,000,000 of coin or bullion in the world, not very unequally divided between gold and silver IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO STRIKE SILVER OUT OF EXISTENCE AS MONEY WITHOUT RESULTS WHICH WILL PROVE DISTRESSING TO MILLIONS AND UTTERLY DISASTROUS TO TENS OF THOUSANDS.

I believe gold and silver coin to be the money of the constitution; indeed, the money of the American people, anterior to the constitution which the great organic law recognized as quite independant of its existence.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

A drive through the country at this time is a pleasure. Nature is clothed in its loveliest tints. The fields of grain, green and verdant and waving in the breezes, present an ever pleasing panorama. The hedges and sides of ditches and banks, railroad and other, are radiant with the fragrant and beautiful wild rose, and everywhere on the prairie which has not been disturbed by the plow or harrow during the spring, will be seen the tiger lily, the blue bell and other early summer flowers. The birds sing in the branches and everything smiles as only God can make it. It is a lovely world, and "man alone is vile."—Moorhead News.

Hungry indeed must be the man who will eat soap, yet it is a fact that soap eating is common among the regular army soldiers stationed at Governors island and Forts Wadsworth and Hamilton. The same peculiar habit is said to be prevalent among the boys in blue in Uncle Sam's service at other army posts in the United States. The soap these warriors eat is not the delicately scented, perfumed kind, but the rankest, strongest, cheapest and perhaps the worst soap made. It costs the government about a cent a bar.

Soap eating has been a feature of army life for so long that the oldest veteran cannot recall the time when it was not the practice on certain occasions to eat soap. It is said to have been a common habit with the soldiers in the British army during the American Revolution. The soldiers eat the soap not from choice, but for a reason no one would guess.

It is not a pleasant thing to say, but it is true, nevertheless, that the regular army of the United States contains an element that the officers in command find at times most difficult to control. In Castle William on Governors island are built some of the darkest and most dismal dungeons it is possible to conceive of. They are deep down, and a prisoner confined in one of them is so far removed from the outside world that he cannot hear a sound or see his hand before his face at midday with the sun shining brightly. These cells or dungeons are used as places of confinement for soldiers who have defied the rules or broken away from the restraints of discipline. The offenders are mostly of the lowest class. All of them dread the punishment of confinement in one of Castle William's dungeons, and the utmost ingenuity is exercised in devising excuses that will stay the hand of discipline.

"New" soldiers who haven't been initiated often pretend to be ill. This never works. Keen post physicians soon discover the deception. The old veterans in the business, men who have records of 15 and 20 day drunks and have time and again told their superiors to go to Jericho or some other place, follow the never failing system of soap eating.

The scheme is to take a piece of soap—ordinary washing soap is used at all the posts—cut off a piece about as large as a quarter and twice as thick, chew it up and wash it down with water. It takes but a few moments for the vile stuff to work. There is a most violent wrenching at the stomach, a deadly sickness seizes the prisoner, and he froths at the mouth. Of course he is hustled off to the hospital, where an emetic is administered, and there he remains in a clean, comfortable cot, with the best of eat and drink, until the extreme weakness which his unusual meal has caused leaves him.

The soap eater invariably wins. Although the physician may strongly suspect the cause of the prisoner's illness, he is under orders not to make any experiments, and a soldier in confinement suffering from any ailment of whatever nature must be removed to the post hospital at once.—New York Journal.

An old lady of Fife, noted for possessing a sharp tongue and a tendency toward taking down conceited people, was entertaining a number of young folk at an evening party. The guest of honor was a young man who had obtained an appointment in China, and he was so much elated over his prospects that he talked throughout the evening of himself. As he stood up to go the old lady, who had been rather silent, said to him, "Tak' gude care o' yoursel' when you're awa', for, mind ye, they eat puppies in Cheena."

U. S. LAND OFFICE.

Crookston, Minn., May 28, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the following named settler has filed notice of his intention to make final proof in support of his claim and that said proof will be made before the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, Minn., on July 8th 1896 viz:

HANS J. BJORGE.

H. E. No. 12450, for the lot 2, sec. 14, tp. 152 N range 42 west.

He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon and cultivation of said land, viz:

O. J. Johnson, Julius Holtz, B. O. Linstad and Halvor T. Aamot, all of Wyandotte post office, Minnesota.

44-49 T. A. DUNLAVA, Register.

Legislative Convention.

The Peoples party legislative convention for the fifty-first legislative district is hereby called to meet at the court house in Crookston, Minn., on Friday July 17th, A. D. 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of placing in nomination three candidates for the offices of representatives for said district. The basis of representation in said convention will be one delegate at large for each county and one additional for every two hundred and fifty (250) votes or major fraction thereof cast for S. M. Owen at the last general election. Upon this basis Polk county gets 17 delegates Norman 6 and Beltrami 1.

Dated at Crookston, Minn. June 4th, 1896.

P. M. RINGDAL, Chm.
B. M. CHESLEY, Sec.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

RICH DISCOVERIES OF GOLD.

At Cripple Creek, Colo., and elsewhere, are being made daily, and the production for 1896 will be the largest ever known, estimated at Two Hundred Million Dollars. Cripple Creek alone is producing over One Million Dollars a month, and steadily increasing. Mining Stocks are advancing in price more rapidly than any other Stocks, and many pay dividends of 25 to 50 per cent. They offer the best opportunity to make a large profit on a small investment.

JOHN I. TALLMAN & CO., 13 Pacific Ave. Chicago, Ill. are financial agents for the Prudential Gold Mining Co., and others in the famous Cripple Creek district. They will send you free, interesting particulars of the Mining Companies they represent also their book on speculation in Stocks, Grain and Cotton, containing many new and important features.

Send for these books at once if you are interested in any form of speculation or investments. They may prove profitable to you. 37-5

DO YOU NEED

WOOLEN GOODS!

OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41-52

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 19	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 26	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.00
Lots 2 and 4 3	4.75 5.00
NE NE and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
8 " 15	5.50 to 6.00
NW NE of 22	6.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	500
NE SE of 28	6.00
2 forties in 33	5.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 5	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	3.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
8 " 29	3.00 to 5.00
4 " 33	4.00 to 6.00
5 " 34	3.00 to 4.50
13 " 35	4.50 to 5.00
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
3 " 3	3.00 to 3.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.00
3 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
3 " 22	6.00
1 " 20	3.00 to 6.00

☞ For further information apply to

H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire Minn.

Harnessmaker!

☞ If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

—o—

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday..$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone..........$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year........$4.00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year........$1.75

☞ Sample copies sent free on application.

Address:

THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, - - MINNESOTA

FRED EIKHOFF

DEALER IN

ALL KINDS OF Hardware

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

Cigars.

BRINK BROTHERS

DEALERS IN

Wines & Liquors

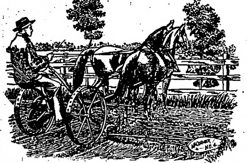
Minneapolis Beer.

Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

O. W. BRINK

DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF

Agricultural Implements



M. Z. EPPERSON

Proprietor of the

St. Hilaire Saw Mill.

Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,

North Side Roller Mills

RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.

Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily

Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain.
Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
☞ Warehouse on railroad track.

W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada.

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP	President
J. L. JOHNSON	Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN	Councilmen
W. A. SORSOLEIL
M. Z. EPPERSON
LEONARD HOLMES	Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	44c	Butter	7@8c
Oats	9c	Eggs	6c
Barley	12c	Beans (pr bu)	$1.50
Flax	60c	Potatoes "	12½

LOCAL NEWS.

Dentist Henault is in town.

Charley Rapp celebrated the 4th at Red Lake Falls.

The post office building is being painted by "Cleveland."

Miss Cora Harris' term of school expires in three weeks.

Dr. Henault, the dentist can be found at the American hotel.

Dr. Watson of Red Lake Falls drove up here Monday afternoon.

C. E. Bjerk, of Marshall county is visiting friends in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eickhoff spent Sunday at the farm of Wash Adams.

Mike Willmas has moved his well drilling apparatus to Red Lake Falls.

Col. Stranahan had his hands full ferrying people across the river the Fourth.

—Now is the time to subscribe for the SPECTATOR. $1.00 per year if paid in advance.

S. M. Dainard did the starting act in all the races July 4th to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The farmer boys did the town people plenty in the tug-of-war pull and walked off with the prize.

Swan Anderson, formerly of this place, but now of Wylie, greeted his many friends here last Saturday.

Looking down Broadway presented a fine appearance with all the shade trees that lined both sides of the streets.

Miss Minnie Olson will leave Friday for Crookston, where she will remain two or three weeks visiting friends.

Messrs. Hoff, Ives, Bjerk, Freeman, W. and L. J. Stranahan took in the ball game at Thief River Falls Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Kolstad and two children spent a few days visiting friends northwest of Thief River Falls.

The river can be forded now down at the Sorsoleil farm, at the old crossing. The water scarcely touching the wagon box.

O. W. Brink is making quite a few sales in the machinery line since he returned from Crookston as grand juryman.

The cracker-chewing contest was a sight to behold. They all avow of never entering a like cracker deal again.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olson went to Thief River Falls last Friday to be present at the marriage of their son Henry.

Commissioner Harris has a force of men at work building a bridge over the ravine between Red Lake and Minnesota avenues.

Messrs. Mc Dougall, Thomas and Parker, and ladies, of Thief River Falls drove down here Sunday afternoon, returning in the evening.

John Shjerya and Gilbert Anfinson returned Friday from Crookston. The former proving on his homestead and the latter as a witness.

R. H. Aimer who has been on a collecting tour the past two weeks in Marshall and Kittson counties came home Saturday to celebrate.

Dr. Henault, the dentist will be at the American hotel all this week. If you want any work done in the dental line be sure and call this week.

Don't fail to call at C. A. Skeie's harness shop and see them new patent safety neck yokes. They are a little the smoothest thing of this kind on the market.

Robt. Baxter, who is in the employ of Mike Willmas, the well driller, drove up from Red Lake Falls yesterday after casings which have been stored here for some time.

P. G Paradis has had the interior of his sample rooms painted, sides, floor and ceiling, making a vast improvement, "Cleveland" doing the work, and also a few sketches of natural drawing may be seen from the outside.

A. R. Jones is the proud possessor of a fine thoroughbred Hamiltonian colt, and from the looks of the little fellow, he will make a good record.

Al. and Fred Kribbs were in the village Monday. The boys just came down from the Red Lake Agency, putting in twenty straight hours in a canoe.

Some of the shade trees in the village need a slight trimming up—especially so on Water street. This will do no harm to the trees, in fact it will do them good.

—The St. Louis Sunday Journal and this paper for only $1.75 per year. The Sunday Journal is an eight page paper, filled with the very best of reading matter. Subscribe now.

M. E. Bjerk, who has been tied up attending strictly to business for a number of years, but now a man of leisure, left Monday for Crookston where he will spend a few days.

The party that took M. E. Bjerk's Irish Setter pup last Sunday night, is evidently in small business. George says it will take the price of several pups to jump accounts, if the right party is found.

The county bridge that spans the river at Mallory took a tumble at 10 o'clock a. m., July Fourth and fell in the river. The bridge was condemned for some time past. Outside of the bridge going down no accident occurred.

Mike Fricker, a former resident of this place, but lately of Larimore, N.D., stopped off here a short time last Wednesday while on his way to Thief River Falls, where he has accepted a position as head miller in the Kretzschmar flour mills.

A letter from T. O. Moe, formerly of this place, but lately of Breese, Marshall county, writes us they have a new post office in the Thief Lake country by the name of Ware, of which he is postmaster, and commended business July 1st.

New potatoes are only 25c a bushel. (This in keeping with 13c oats, 20c corn, 45c wheat and 2¾ hogs, but farmers are expected to find relief in reading the doctrine advocated by the gold bug party at St. Louis last week.—Lansing Journal.

H. C. Taylor, who was around here a short time ago, who claimed he was getting out a magazine with a write-up on the country, was last heard of in Fosston where he "tanked up so freely and regularly."

Fosston will have a complete system of water works and electric lights before another winter's snows settle over the land, so the majority of the voters decided last week at the special election. 99 votes in favor and 40 against.

A letter from T. C. Crenshaw representing the Standard Oil Company, says he will have the buildings completed this month, and ready for business. St. Hilaire is centrally located and bound to have other enterprises of this kind in the near future.

The celebration of Independace Day, July Fourth, at the Village of St. Hilaire, was not of the boisterous style, like that of years ago, but everything passed off very pleasantly—no fights—no accidents. The program was carried out in manner which is a credit to the village.

Twenty-two creameries in Freeborn county, Minn., have earned during the year $750,000 or over $34,000 each on an average. One of them, the Glenville creamery, earned $65,244. This was all cash business. It is no wonder they have no delinquent tax lists in Freeborn county.—Brainard Journal.

Messrs. Post, Patterson Sorsoleil, Hoff and Dainard went to Thief River Falls yesterday afternoon to be present at the I. O. O. F. lodge in the evening, where installation of officers were to take place. On account of a large number of members being away at the Firemen's Tournament at Hallock it was decided to postpone the matter for one week.

O. W. Brink, the machine man was doing business out in the vicinity of Lost post office, and claims he was lost after getting there. A short ways from the post office the road branches off in all directions, but in order to get to the office there is only one road, very little used, and must go through a pasture in order to reach it. Ole says its a very appropriate name to say the least.

H. E. Ives and Peter Hall were elected delegates from this village to represent the Peoples Party at the county convention which will be held in Crookston to-morrow for the purpose of electing 17 delegates to attend the Legislative convention which is to be held the 17th of July, also to elect 42 delegates to attend the congressional convention to be held at Fergus Falls on the 15th inst. and to elect 41 delegates to attend the State convention.

We have not seen or heard of a potato bug this season. This is a very agreeable condition, but the critter is not extinct. If any one finds a bug on his potatoes he should take a day off and kill him. The potato bug propagates faster than pigeon grass, and a few bugs this season will cover the whole country next year. Now that they are down is the time to keep them down. Don't let them get started again.—Hubbard County Enterprise.

Ferry Boat Doing Business.

The village ferry boat commenced doing business yesterday. Farmers from the east side of the river, can, by striking the point at K. O. Gigstad's residence, be accomodated by L. J. Stranahan, who has charge of the ferry, and will draw teams over and back free of charge, until the new county bridge is completed, which will be about the first of September.

Ephriam and Comrade Jim Avery in Politics.

BUSHY CREK, Jull 1st, 1896.

MISTUR EDATUR:—Since I rite you last weak, I have ganed slim, but the old woman wont let me set up, even in bed; she says the doctor told her I must keep mi lage tide to the bed sted for two weaks at least, and I've laed here now goin on too weaks doin nothin but redin and thinkin most of the time, thinkin about the bad condeshun our country is in. This mornin afthur we'd hed brekfust a spel, Jim Avery cum over to see me, (Jim and I was in the army togethur, in the same company) and hev alus been putty good frens, only for the last six yere. I've been a poperlis and Jim's been a durned fool republercan, (I can't help usin cuss words John when I see a man who can think and wont.) Wal, Jim sot down in the big arm-chare whare I set when out of bed and looked at me quite a spel afore he spoke. Wal sez Jim, to me sez he, I don't think youre much seck Efrum, fur if you was you cudn't rite such sily nuse for the papers as yu rit last weak. I red it and was ashamed to say that I fit in the army with such a blamed old fule as to rite such rot and send it to a rotten poperlis paper to be printed. I'm ashamed of yu Efrum, that yure left the good old republerkin party that took care of the country when we fit the Jonnies and take care of us now when we're old and hev gone to the anurkists. I'm goin to stay with my old party, I'm goin to vote as I shot and if yued enny feelin about you, yued be in the old party with me and not with them klamity houlers and Free Silver Hiresees. I'm ashamed of yu Efrum and I cum over morn twenty miles thru the mud to save you. I lade still all the while Jim was tellin me this—askin him whare he got his infurmation, but then I thot he mite got the SPECTATOR and I turned toward him and sed, Jim, what papers do yu rede? What me? sed Jim, yes yu. Why Efrum I rede lots of papers, I have the New York Tribune same as yu do, then I take the Pioneer Press, the Chicago Tribune and the Warren Register and the Northwestern Agriculturalist, all good Sound republercan papers. I sed yes, Jim, is that all? Yes, Jim sed, thats all, aint that enuft. Yes, plenty I sed of that kind.

Then, Jim, yure goin to vote as yu shot, ar yu? I am too, but you aint if yu vote the old rotten blud-staned republercan tickit. Did you shute to hev forty cent whete, ten cent pertaters, ten cent otes and fifteen cents barley? Did you shute to have a morgige on yure farm, yu cant pay even the interest and taxes, let alone the prensepul? Did you shute to hev the slick drest feller who never works stand behind the bank counter and count out to you their bills callin them munny and when yure morgige cums du say, Yure note cols fur gold; if yu havent got gold yu must git it or we will foreclose the morgige? Did yu shute to hev everything yu cant raze so hi that yu cant offord to bi it and everything yu raze so low that it dont PAY to raze it? Did you shute to hev the grand old republerkin party entirely managed by these slick banker fellers and all we farmers was to do was to vote to kepe the slick ones in office? Did you shute to make slaves of yure boys and gurls and a wuss than hel for yur wife who has stood by yure side, yure best frend since yu was a grene gauky boy and node nothin but how to hold the plow and drive the exens? I sed a hepe more to him in the same line, but Jim was effected with the situration and askt me to let up. Putty soon the old woman hed dinner reddy and Jim sot up and et a good harty meal and then went out and tocked with the boys a spel and I slept. Along about three o'clock Jim cum in and sed, Efrum, I'm going hum. I've thot the thing alover and I'm going to vote as I shot, but sence you have shode me the differunce betwene shutin rite and shiten rong, and votin rite and votin rong, I am going to vote as yu do for better times and plenty of munny, and I'm goin to git all mi nabors to do it. Yure rite Efrum, yu alus was, and I can see I'm rong, I wont stay in a perlitical party what makes so menny poor men and so few rich ones. Good by Efrum til lecshun, when I'll see yu again.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

Through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoff, ye editor and wife were invited out for a drive Sunday afternoon. The first point in view was to visit the fine flowing well on the Sorsoleil farm, which is a pretty sight an the water is just as good as it looks. Mrs. Sorsoliel not being home, Mr. S. escorted the party, by boat, down the river to where Mrs. S. was visiting at Mr. and Mrs. Cliffgard. The visitors were escorted through the apple and plum orchards, the vineyard, also large patches of blackberries and raspberries which were heavily loaded with fruit, California prune trees, pear trees, in fact all kinds of trees and shrubbery bearing fruit were explained to us in detail by the obliging nursery man. Last, but not least, Mr. Cliffgard is cultivating a garden of coffee, the seed being imported from Germany, and from the looks of the plant, we should judge, would yield a good crop. The hour getting late the party concluded to start on their homeward journey. We are under obligations to Mr. Sorsoleil for doing all the rowing in the swift current and shooting the rapids, as this is considered hard work, which we luckily escaped. Taking it all around it was an afternoon of pleasure and was enjoyed by all.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

Wanted—An Idea [illegible]

Married.

OLSON-SORUM.—At the residence of the brides parents at Thief River Falls, Friday July 3rd, 1896, Henry Olson to Miss Amelia Sorum. The groom is a son of Carl Olson, the blacksmith, and is a straight forward young man well spoken of in this community. The bride who has been employed in the News office at Thief River Falls for the past two years is highly spoken of by those who have the pleasure of her acquaintance, and all join in wishing the new married couple much joy in their married life. They have settled dowd to house-keeping in the Olson residence.

First and Second Winners.

The following is a list of the winners in some of the different races which came off the afternoon of the Fourth of July.

Boys foot race under 10 years.—Paul Swan 1st, Paul Paulson 2nd.

Boys foot race under 12 years.—John Oldhe 1st, Paul Paulson 2nd.

Boys foot race under 15 years.—Albert Fellman 1st, John Johnson 2nd.

Free for all foot race.—Felix Anderson 1st, Will Bramsness 2nd.

Wheelbarrow race.—Ole Branum 1st, Will Bramsness 2nd.

Blindfolded wheelbarrow race.—Fred Rux 1st, August Swenson 2nd.

Potato race.—Felix Anderson 1st, Ole Loberg 2nd.

Pony race, ½ mile.—Martin Hoff 1st, Geo. Olson 2nd.

Horse race ½ mile.—P. Dainard 1st.

Free for all horse race.—Martin Hoff 1st, Peter Dainard 2nd.

Cracker race.—Chas. Julin 1st, Fred Rux 2nd.

Tug of war.—Town vs. farmers, the latter walked off with the honors.

L. T. Bergh, who resides at this place and who went to Dakota a short time ago on a collecting trip, is the victim, who was bitten by a mad dog. The following clipping is from the Grand Forks Plaindealer:

"A few days ago Albert berg, a collector for the McCormick Harvester company, was bitten by a dog, while walking along Minnesota avenue near the bridge. A small wound was made in the right leg above the knee and it being so slight no attention was paid to it for several days. Then the limb commenced to swell and Mr. Bergh went to St. Luke's hospital for treatment. Dr. Taylor was called and he expects to have his patient out in a few days. Several large abscesses formed near the wound made by the dog, making the injury very painful."

A Fraud.

The villages of Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire and Red Lake Falls, have been worked by a fellow giving the name of H. C. Taylor, who said he was getting up a sort of a magazine to advertize this section of the country, and each one putting in an advertisement was to receive twenty copies of the magazine free of charge.

The Tribune received word Wednesday morning from Red Lake Falls, saying that Taylor had represented there that he was employed by The Tribune. The only thing this paper knows about Taylor is that he came in the office several weeks ago and made an unsuccessful attempt to borrow half a dollar. He said he was going to Thief River Falls—and he has not been heard of here since.

The business man—as well as the farmer—is too ready to do business with strangers. A horde of fellows are always going around with some fake advertising scheme and they find lots of victims. The merchants would kick like a steer if the newspaper man in his town would send away for $3 worth of goods, but if a traveling fakir comes around with an advertising scheme, and a glib tongue he will get some business from the business man. The safest and only proper way is for the people to patronize their local business men, and let the business man patronize the local printer.—Crookston Tribune.

Council Proceedings.

Regular meeting of the village council Monday July 6th, 1896.

All members present.

Meeting called to order by the president.

On motion minutes of previous meetings were read and approved.

On motion the following bills were allowed.

Johnson & Marshall, Lumber as per bill	$20.50
M. Z. Epperson, lumber as per bill	5.06
Spectator, printing as per bill	8.75
L. J. Stranahan, ferrying people across river	32.00
S. Harris, street work as per bill	21.37

On motion meeting adjourned.

[SEAL.] C. G. RAPP,
President.
J. L. JOHNSON,
Village Recorder.

Beware of This Man.

A man by the name of W. G. McKay has been in this city and vicinity for a couple of weeks past selling to farmers cloth and clothing, taking their notes for the same payable this fall, and then selling said notes to some bank. Mr. McKay has been working the same thing down around Crookston and had sold the notes at the bank. Several of our best farmers in this vicinity have been caught in this same trap. He left here last Monday and on arriving in Crookston he was met by some of his customers whom had been notified by the banks that their notes were due and payable and they demanded an explanation of him but got no satisfactory reply and following him to the hotel, he turned and held his pursuers at bay, and ordering them to leave the place, which they did. Shortly afterwards a livery team drove up and Mr. McKay and his wife drove away. It is said that a warrant has been sworn out for his arrest in Crookston and every endeavor will be made to bring him back.—McIntosh Times.

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

For Sale! —The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES,
REAL ESTATE BROKER.
SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

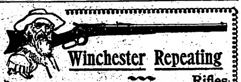
Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - - Minnesota



Winchester Repeating Rifles Shot-Guns Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the—

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

You

Will realize the greatest amount of good in the shortest time and at the least expense by taking

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate.

A Grain Decision.

A case of general and local interest in the grain trade has just been decided in the Ramsey county court. The plaintiff was the Farmers' Warehouse association of Medelia, Minn., and Woodward & Co., of Minneapolis were the defendants. The plaintiff company incurred losses in future trading in both Chicago and Minneapolis markets. The plaintiff claims the manager had no authority to make such trades, that even if he did they were gambling transactions, and losses so incurred could not be set off against the proceeds received from the sale of grain. It appeared the manager had sole charge of the business for years, and in all transactions made on the floor of the Chamber of Commerce of Minneapolis that the actual delivery of the grain was contemplated, and that the purchase and sale of grain for future delivery, either there or in Chicago, was a contract which could be enforced the same as any other. The public is apt to confuse the trading with bucket shops (which do not handle any actual grain) with reputable houses which do business on the various exchanges, and the result is frequently expensive litigation and heavy losses to the outside trade in addition to those made on the board of trade. This case lasted seven days, with able attorneys on both sides. It resulted in a verdict for defendant in every point in controversy.

A Time for Discretion.

The girls were on a shopping tour.

"You didn't speak very courteously to the clerk," said one of them.

"I'm sure I didn't mean to be inconsiderate," was the reply. "I don't see that there was any occasion to be elaborately deferential."

"Well, it's just as well to be very careful indeed at this time of year. There isn't any telling who is going to be the only man at the summer resort your father insists on visiting."—Washington Star.

Li Hung Chang leaves magnificent presents of gold and jewels at all stopping places along his route. It is really a pity that Li cannot spend more time in the United States on his way home.

A Child Enjoys

The pleasant flavor, gentle action, and soothing effect of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be costive or bilious, the most gratifying results follow its use; so that it is the best family remedy known and every family should have a bottle.

Any Old Heiress.

Melud—Is it true that you are going to marry an American?

'Is Grace—Quite true; quite true.

"What is her name?"

"Haven't the least idea, me boy."—Indianapolis Journal.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 306-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

The first spelling book printed in this country was entitled "The American Spelling Book," by Noah Webster. It was issued in 1783.

I shall recommend Piso's Cure for Consumption far and wide.—Mrs. Mulligan, Plumstead, Kent, England, Nov. 8, 1895.

In the month of June, 1658, a whale 58 feet long, 12 feet high and 14 feet broad was captured in the Thames inside the corporation of London.

The longest underground thoroughfare in Great Britain is in Central Derbyshire, where you can walk seven miles upon a road connecting several coal mines.

A STORY OF GOLD
And Description of Cripple Creek.
Every Page Illustrated with New and Original Designs, which tell the story so you will remember it. Price 50 Cents.
Cut out this ad and send with 25 cents (stamps or silver) and book will be mailed postpaid.
O. W. CRAWFORD,
1312 Masonic Temple, Chicago, Ill.

Sparkling with life—rich with delicious flavor, HIRES Rootbeer stands first as nature's purest and most refreshing drink. Best by any test.
Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

$1250: BUILDS THIS Seven Room House. SEND 15 Cts. for 30 New Designs of Low Cost Homes, showing exteriors, floor plans, sizes and reliable estimates of cost. Sketches of churches, school houses, etc., on application.
W. J. KEITH, Architect,
505 Lumber Exchange, Minneapolis, Minn.

ALLEN'S IRON TONIC BITTERS
The most elegant Blood Purifier, Liver Invigorator, Tonic and Appetizer known. It builds up and fortifies the whole system, invigorates the liver, aids digestion and cures dyspepsia. The first Iron Tonic Bitters ever advertised in America. Get the genuine.
J. P. ALLEN, Druggist and Chemist, ST. PAUL, MINN.

WE RECEIVE WHEAT ON CONSIGNMENT.
We make liberal advances and prompt returns.
OSBORN, CROSBY & CO.
Flour Exchange, Minneapolis.

WE PAY cash WEEKLY and want men EVERYWHERE to sell GOLD (25,000.00) PLUM and ALL other STARK Trees. Outfit FREE. No Money to Invest. No Risk. STARK BROTHERS, Louisiana, Mo., Rockport, Mo.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Washington, D.C. Successfully Prosecutes Claims. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.

OPIUM and WHISKY habits cured. Book sent FREE. Dr. B. M. WOOLLEY, ATLANTA, GA.

If afflicted with sore eyes, use Thompson's Eye Water.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS. Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists. CONSUMPTION

WAITING FOR A BANG.

We had been staying in Wales for ever so long—weeks and weeks—an awful time it seemed to me, drifting aimlessly about. Maud and her husband—Maud is my sister, by the way, and newly-married—professing to be almost as much "gone on" the scenery as they really were on each other. So you can easily guess what that meant for poor me until George joined us.

The chief, nay, the only difficulty, was George. He did not quite "catch on." He was very agreeable and very nice, but apparently quite satisfied to enjoy himself with us, and then go back to work, as he playfully phrased it, "a giant refreshed," and could not be got to see that there was anything more serious in life than aimlessly frivoling about.

We had done Snowden, and really what with the electric light and the crowd, and all that, he was not half bad. Quite cheerful, you know, and civilized. Indeed, I never should have gone without

After that, I think——yes, it was George suggested our going to Bethesda. Not that any of us were at all interested in slates or quarries, only it was somewhere to go and an excuse for a drive.

George ordered the carriage and made all the arrangements. He had been there before, so knew all about the "show," as he said, and we left everything to him.

Altogether it was so stupid and so dull that, but for what Maud called the "off chance" of George, I never could have stood it as long as I did; though even that began to look desperate. Even Maud began to lose heart.

"And yet, I don't know how it is. You are looking your best," and she eyed me critically, "and he seems quite fond of you in his way."

But there was the hitch. His way was not ours. Apparently he was no fonder of me than of any other girl, or of Maud herself.

We saw the men lay down their tools, and, as though they had been so many rabbits, disappear into their holes, and after a few minutes of suspense, there were several loud explosions, and we were told that the dynamite had done its level best, or its best, to level the place, and we were warned most solemnly that once we were inside the works—we had only been on the outer edge then—whenever the whistle sounded we must get into the nearest shelter and not come out on any account until after we had heard the "bang"

It was highly exciting at the first, but by repetition even danger grew monotonous and began to pall, and we strolled on, George and I, and left the foreman to look after the others as best he could.

"Maud and Fred seem very much attached, don't you think?" said George, as we looked back just before passing round a curve and caught sight of them with their arms around each other's waists, ostensibly listening to the foreman's improving discourse, but, really, as we knew from experience, far, far away.

"They are, indeed," I answered, with a sigh, that might have meant anything from envy to despair, I realized with a blush, according to the interpreter and the interpretation.

And we strolled on again to a part of the workings rather screened by that pyramid left standing in the middle.

"I suppose it is not possible to get lost ourselves?" I began, presently.

"Bless me, no—you mean with this Jack-in-the-box arrangement—oh, dear, no. One has only to pop out, and you can see all over the show, but stop in and—but there's that infer—I mean that blessed thing again. I suppose we had better—"

"Oh, yes, we must really go in. All the men are off already, and if they do it, who are used to it and know, we should be very foolish to risk—see, there's a refuge here!" And we went inside.

"After all, it's rather jolly in here out of the sun. Beastly hot outside, don't you think? Sightseeing and all that, it gets to be rather—rather—"

"A bore, you mean?" I interposed. "Doesn't that depend?"

"Oh, of course, and I don't think I meant—you see, it's this way." And he lit a cigar. "Its the having to see things that's the bore. Take you and me, for instance. We could have been just as jolly and far more comfortable over there in the inn, or, in fact, anywhere."

"Are you dreadfully uncomfortable here?" I asked, dismally.

"By no means. Quite otherwise, I assure you—you don't mind my smoking, I know—but I've often thought that by far the best way to go sightseeing would be to leave the sights alone."

"But does not much depend upon one's—er—companion?" I asked, not more doubtfully than I felt. "We—that is, you—"

"I see what you mean. Certainly, we should be thrown back very much on each other, but that's all right, you know, with people who are properly chummy."

"Do you mean—'

"No, not Maud and Fred. They are almost too much so. They miss nearly all that's going on, and so dont get the best out of it; whereas, you and I understand each other, and can get along splendidly without—without— Confoundedly long time the bang this time, isn't it? Wonder if it ever misses fire? How would you care for a flat like this?"

I must have looked puzzled, for he went on, hurriedly:

"No, I don't mean the 'flat' you mean, so you need not look severe. I mean one room, and all that sort of thing," he finished, vaguely.

"Why,' I began, nervously, "I should think it would be rather nice—but—'

"Cramped!" he interposed, quickly. "Yes, I knew you would say that."

I said I supposed he was only chaffing and did not mean anything.

"Oh, dear, no. It's only my way! But it is curious—that whats 'er name must certainly have missed fire."

"You know the man said we were not on any account to stir until after the explosion."

"Oh, just as you like. I'm all right, only I thought—Maud and Fred, you know—but, no doubt they will be waiting, too, though I suppose they would say they were only one, and it was we who were the two.'

"Don't he think I'm trying to keep him here on purpose? I wondered.

"You quite understand,' I explained, "It is not that I want to stop—"

'Oh, I quite understand, and I could hardly expect that,' he assented, pleasantly.

"But you know we cannot possibly go until after—after—'

"No, I daresay you are right. It would be rather awkward, I dare say, to go out and find the center of a small eruption. What a 'slating' we should get!"

"Oh, there it is, confound it!" we exclaimed together, as a tremendous explosion announced the possibility of our release, and forthwith we stepped on to the terrace outside.

"You seem awfully delighted to get out," said George, rather pointedly, and I suppose he meant it for sarcasm; but I could not resent it or say I was not.

"One can breathe more freely now that the—explosion has come off!" was all I could say.

Just then came Maud.

"Oh, there you are! Where on earth or under it, have you been?" And seeing our confusion, she was misled into adding: "We began to think you had run off with her." This, with would-be archness, was to George. But this was too much.

"No, by Jove! I wish I had! Fact is, Maud, I—I'm an awful fool! To think of wasting such a chance! We've been shut up there two blessed hours, and I told you I'd something very particular to ask Edith."

"Well? she replied, looking dubiously at me.

"It isn't well. I haven't been able to say a word. You will just have to ask her for me, and that's a fact. Whenever I try to come to the point, she either crushes me or freezes me, and I've been talking the most awful drivel you ever heard."

"Then why didn't you come out?"

"We were waiting for the explosion, dont you know, and I—couldn't explode.'

Whereupon Maud burst out laughing, and I could not, for my life, think why.

"But for me there would have been no explosion. When the last whistle sounded the men finished work for the day. They all went home. We thought you must have gone, too, at first, while as to finding you—well it would have taken weeks. But I guessed how you were occupied,"—here George groaned aloud—"so by way of rousing you I got the foreman to make another bang, just as I shall have to—'

She looked wickedly at George, then ran away.

And at that he exploded, and out it came, with a rush—how he had been dying for days to ask me just what I had been dying for days to hear, only I would not have him know it for the world.—Answers.

NOVEL MOTIVE POWER FOR BOAT.

How an Ingenious Fisherman Utilizes Turtles in His Business.

"There are ingenious contrivances that do not find their way into the patent office," remarked a clerk in that department to a Star reporter. "I might also say, in the same connection, that there are men who seem to be able to turn almost anything to good account. I was thinking of a fisherman I know down on the Florida coast. A casual observer would see nothing remarkable about him, and a visit to his rude hut would give the impression that he was poor and shiftless. The principal thing that interested me when I happened to call at his house for a drink of water while hunting one day was the presence of two monster sea turtles, both alive.

"We started a conversation, the result of which was that I employed him to take me in a boat on a fishing expedition the following day.

"In the morning I called at his house and he was ready. He held two stout leather thongs in his hand, one end of each being attached to a turtle. I was somewhat astonished when he started driving the sea reptiles ahead of us, but in reply to my question, he said, 'You'll see.'

"And I did. We entered the boat, and the turtles began to swim, drawing the boat through the water at a good rate of speed. The thongs were fastened to their necks, and he could guide them by simply turning their heads, exactly as he would horses.

"In about an hour we reached the fishing place, and, tying his turtles to a tree on land, my companion proceeded to the business of the day. We went back drawn by the turtles in the same way."—Washington Star.

ODD FACTS ABOUT THE SUN.

Big Figures Must Be Used in Discussing the Fiery Orb.

Sun spots were first observed in the year 1611.

Sun spots always travel from east to west across the sun's disk.

The largest sun spot on record was seen in 1858. It was 143,000 miles across.

A writer in Nature says that the temperature of the sun's surface cannot be less than 18,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

In order that the reader may make a comparison, I will say that a Bessemer converter is never heated above about 8,000 degrees.

It is claimed that the sun's rays put out fire by rarefying the air, causing it to flow more slowly toward the burning article.

Should the earth be accidentally moved to within a distance of 240,000 miles of the sun it would wholly dissolve and pass away like vapor in less than an hour.

The sun is over 860,000 miles in diameter. The earth could be placed on the inside of it, and the moon, 240,000 miles away, could still revolve around the world, both the earth and the moon being on the inside of the great light giver.

Some astronomers, those who believe in the "annular" or "ring" theory of creation, believe that the earth and all the planets were once a part of the sun, that the earth is one of the rings thrown off by the great luminary, and that the earth, in turn, threw off a ring which became the moon.—St. Louis Republic.

BRAGGING ABOUT THEIR SONS

Finally a Retort Ended the Lengthy Windy Contests.

Between trains at the railway station the other day two fond young fathers bragged about their respective three-year-olds.

One father said that his son walked as well as most children of six. The other father said that his son walked better than most children of six. "His sister's teaching him the two-step now," he added. And the first father said that his boy was a great talker. "Talks just as well as you or I do, you know; says everything he wants to."

"Sho, that's nothing," retorted the other; "why, my little Bobby uses words that we grown-ups have to look up in the dictionary. I never heard such a vocabulary as that youngster's."

Then the first man remarked that his son loved to be read to. "Read to!" cried the other. "Do you mean to say that your boy can't read yet? Why, Bobby's read for me more than a year. Reads everything, too—books, magazines, newspapers—whatever he can lay his hands on. He——"

"Look here," interrupted the first man, "does your boy shave himself or go to a barber?"—Cleveland World.

DAIRY COWS.

Improvements in Dairy Cows That Would Benefit the Farmer.

Assuming that the different products of the average dairy cow in America do not exceed much, if at all, the foregoing estimates, it is evident that the average cow of the country is far below a standard which is desirable and entirely practicable. The tables show that there has been a gradual improvement in the average cow product, especially during the last two or three decades. But the progress is by far too slow.

A very good animal average yield of milk is 5,000 pounds, instead of 3,000, and 200 to 225 pounds of butter per cow, instead of 125 pounds. Many herds kept in a plain, practical farm fashion attain still better results. There are manifestly many cows in the country, probably some millions, that do not produce the value of their annual cost, however cheap and wastefully poor their keeping may be. It is apparent that if but two cows were kept, of the suggested standard of production, in place of every three of the existing average quality, the aggregate products of the dairy industry of the country would be increased more than 10 per cent, while the aggregate cost to their owners ought to be less, and probably would be.

Every possible influence should be exerted to induce dairy farmers to weed out his herds and keep fewer cows and better ones. At least the average quality of cows kept for dairy purposes should be brought up to a respectable and profitable standard. For the present the cow owner may reasonably require something over two gallons of milk per day for four months, then two gallons a day for the next four, and at least two months more in milk during the year, with constantly decreasing yield. This provides for an annual average yield of 5,000 pounds of milk, or about 575 gallons, which is a fair ideal standard for the dairy cow in the United States.—Maj. Henry E. Alvord in "Statistics of the dairy."

Butter-Making in a Minute.

We submit for what it may be worth the following account of a new butter making machine sent out from Washington: "The interesting performances of a new butter making machine are described in a letter just received at the state department from United States Consul O'Neill at Stockholm, Sweden. This churn makes butter in one minute from milk as it comes from the cow. Consul O'Neill says a demonstration of its merits created a sensation among dairy farmers at a recent exhibition in London. The machine is the invention of a Swedish engineer. It has been in use several months in the dairy districts of Sweden and Finland. The milk is first heated to 160 degrees and runs into a cream-skimming chamber. The cream then runs to the churn through tubes cooled to a temperature of 60 degrees and passes through a churn making 6,000 revolutions a minute. The churn forces the cream into small holes in a tube, so that it strikes the fresh cream as it rises from the milk chamber, converting it into butter by concussion. The butter emerges in granules with the buttermilk into a tub. It then passes to a butter-worker, where it is converted into a mass, is placed on ice for two hours, and is then worked and made up into cakes for the market. It is claimed that the heating of the milk destroys any disease germs that it may contain, besides killing the microbes which cause putrefaction. The process of butter making by this machine is so rapid that there is little chance of contact with germs in the surrounding atmosphere, particularly because the air is forced out of the machine by the extreme rapidity of the movement inside. It is said that when butter from this churn is one pressed the danger of germ impregnation is removed. Another advantage of the machine is that it takes the milk as it comes from the cow, thus preventing the loss of time and the danger of germ impregnation while the cream is rising."

A Few Words on Spongy Curd.

All cheese makers are troubled with spongy curd, and there is no definite knowledge as to how it can be prevented. According to some recent experiments by F. J. Lloyd, of the Bath and West of England agricultural society, it appears that he has been able to define at least five different organisms which will bring about this condition in cheese. One of them produces the faecal taint so often found in curd, and three have been found in water polluted with sewerage from dwelling-houses, or by the droppings of cows. As no ordinary amount of care on the part of milkers can prevent such organisms from coming into the milk when they have become lodged on the bodies of the cows, it is evident that one step to be taken is to prevent animals from drinking from streams in which they walk and the water of which becomes contaminated. Another very important point to be remembered with reference to the organisms which produce spongy curd is that they can be conveyed through the medium of poultry, as they have been found in the droppings of both cattle and fowls. In view of this, Mr. Lloyd considers it desirable to prevent poultry coming nearer the dairy than is inevitable, nor should they be permitted to run about in close proximity to the milking utensils which, after cleaning, have been put out to dry. These organisms, as a rule, prevent the development of acidity of the curd, so that whenever they are present in the milk, the cheese takes much longer to make than it would otherwise. A common belief among cheese makers that the salting of the curd checks the formation of acidity, is described as being entirely erroneous.

Butter Making on the Farm.

Many of those who make this indispensable product of the farm little realize how much benefit a little labor expended in the right direction will help toward producing butter that is far superior to the average. The following article by Mrs. A. C. Gidden is from the Memphis Avalanch:

Many neat housewives are not first-class butter makers, not necessarily because of neglect on their part, but because of poorly-fed, illy-bred cows, unkept stables and carelessness on the part of the milker.

If the farmer wishes his wife to excel in butter making, he must do his share in the selection and breeding of good cows, give butter-producing feed, provide comfortable and wholesome stables, and take care in the milking—as milk is very susceptible to odors and may become unfit for use simply as the result of a filthy floor or a dirty cow with an uncleaned udder.

Then if the wife is supplied with conveniences essential, is thorough in the care of utensils, keeps the surroundings of the milk clean and sweet, and is punctual and discreet in her duties, we see no reason why every farmer's wife should not be a successful butter maker.

Milk should be strained and set as soon as possible after it comes from the cow. It is well to place a cloth in the common strainer, through which the milk may filter, thus removing all possible dirt. This cloth may be a square cheese cloth doubled, which is handy and easily cleansed.

Overcoming Rank Flavor.

Messrs. Goodrich Bros., creamery men in Woodbury county, Iowa, have weeds, coarse grasses and like causes. Last year they tried Pasteurizing, and while it was found helpful, it did not wholly meet the case. This year the milk is carefully examined as it arrives at the creamery, and any that has strong flavor is set aside and run through the separator as a lot by itself. Hot water is then added to the cream, at the rate of two gallons of water to one of cream. In the water has previously been dissolved in a teaspoonful of saltpeter to three gallons of water, and the latter, when added to the cream, is hot enough to raise the temperature of the cream diluted by it to 100 degrees. The diluted cream is then run through the separator again just as though it were whole milk, and when it comes out the cream is found to have entirely lost its weedy flavor, to make perfectly sweet butter without foreign flavor. The trouble here referred to is one almost certain to occur every year. A creamery that receives milk from a large number of farms is almost sure to have weedy milk from some of them. The principle involved in the process suggested practically amounts to washing out the undesirable flavor with water faintly tinged with saltpeter. It will cost nothing to try it, and if the results are as good as represented, it will be a boon to all buttermakers who use a separator.—The Homestead.

Frozen Milk for England.

Milk and cream are now thus shipped from Denmark and Sweden to England in considerable quantities and sold as fresh milk in London a fortnight after the fluid has been drawn from the cow. This is handled mostly in winter months, the business at one time exceeding 45,000 gallons monthly. The process of freezing the milk consists in placing it in suitable receptacles, and refrigerating it until a floating layer of frozen milk has formed on the surface. Thus transported it is delivered from ship at London and taken to an interior point for distribution. Each day in the week a seventh of the number of barrels are emptied, over each barrel is placed a melting apparatus into which the frozen milk, then about one-sixth of the whole bulk, is packed and melted by means of hot water, so that the milk when thawed runs down into the barrel. It is then well stirred before the tapping takes place. The empty packages are returned to Gothenburg, where they are cleaned by hot lime water and also with steam. During the past winter the business fell away materially and it remains to be seen whether it will amount to much another season.

Effect On Ripeness or Yield and Flavor.

Experiments in churning cream at different stages of ripeness, made at the Canada experimental farm, and including seventeen trials, in which cream was churned sweet or ripened for twelve or twenty hours, were governed by the following conditions: The ripening of the cream was commenced at a temperature of 90 deg. As soon as the desired conditions of ripeness were secured, that is, when it became thick and slightly sour, it was cooled to the churning temperature of 57 deg. One-half of it was churned at once, after twelve hours' ripening, and the other half was left for eight hours longer before it was churned. The sweet cream is kept in ice water up to churning time. The facts developed by these trials were the creams ripened the longer time gave a slightly greater yield of butter, with a slightly richer flavor, but of no higher commercial value than was produced from that ripened for the shorter time. The yield of butter from the sweet cream was slightly less in quantity than that from the ripened lots, and was two points lower in flavor.

Dairying in Russia.

Following is a description of the manner of dairying in Russia. Our readers will doubtless prefer the home method: "Those who reside near cities produce some poor butter and some milk for sale, but those living remote from market produce no more than they can consume. The cows are fed in winter on coarse food, such as oat, barley and rye straw. In summer they give but little milk, twelve to fourteen pounds per day, at most. The milking is done by stripping with thumb and finger. The milk is set in cellars in earthern crocks, which are so porous that they are very hard to clean, and the milk sours very quickly. To avoid this difficulty some of the peasants keep a number of small frogs in their cellars for the purpose of putting in their milk, their idea being that these cold creatures take the heat out of the milk, and they put them in to keep it sweet longer. The cream is dipped off with wooden spoons and churned in an earthern pot by stirring with a stick, and the butter is worked with the hands.'

Dairy Notes.

The cow, to make good milk, needs good blood.

Good feeding is the foundation of all profitable dairying.

It is less trouble to wean the calf at the start and feed it than to allow it to suck and wean it in the end.

Generally the more docile the calf the better milker will be the cow.

The dairy farm should grow continually richer and it will do so very readily if proper management is given.

The milking organs must be developed the first time that the heifer is in milk, if she is to prove a good milker afterward.

In making butter for the best market it is essential to secure uniformity in color, in texture, in salting and in packing, leaving no salt in the butter.

If the cow is not free from disease care of the utensils will not prevent the germs of disease from entering through the milk.

It is by no means a question of thorough-breds, as all fairly good cows will make good cream, from which good butter can be made when the care and conditions are right.

Awarded Highest Honors—World's Fair.
DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER
MOST PERFECT MADE.
A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.
40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

A Cultivated Taste.

Mr. Moth—What a horrible flavor of moth balls this sacque has!

Mrs. Moth—Dear me, Algernon, you are positively disgusting. Don't you know that a liking for carbolic acid and tar is the best evidence that one has moved in good society and acquired a cultivated taste?—Cincinnati Enquirer.

An Appeal for Assistance.

The man who is charitable to himself will listen to the mute appeal for assistance made by his stomach, or his liver, in the shape of diverse dyspeptic qualms and uneasy sensations in the regions of the glands that secretes his bile. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, my dear sir, or madam—as the case may be—is what you require. Hasten to use, if you are troubled with heartburn, wind in the stomach, or note that your skin or the whites of your eyes are taking a sallow hue.

Not Guilty.

Superior Officer—You are accused of sleeping on your watch.

Sentinel—Impossible, sir.

"Impossible? What do you mean?"

"My watch has been at the pawnbroker's for six months."—Washington Times.

Daniel Lamber, the British "Mountain of Flesh," weighed 712 pounds. He died suddenly in London on July 21, 1809.

Natural Phenomenon.

"This is the littlest fifty pounds of ice I ever see," said the kitchen lady.

"Permit me to inform you, madam," said the high-browed iceman, "that the apparent smallness is due to the intense cold to which we subject our ice in the process of manufacture, and thereby producing contraction."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

By the Boarders.

"Oh, dear," groaned the hired girl, as she washed off the boarding house stairs, "I'm awfully tired."

"Yes," sympathized the stairs, in a creaky voice, "it's a hard spring; I'm a good deal run down myself."—World.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Marvelous cures. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St. Philadelphia, Pa.

The greatest length of England and Scotland, north to South, is about 608 miles.

The question often asked—"Why are pupils of the New England Conservatory so uniformly successful as teachers or performers?"—is readily answered by those who have been fortunate enough to become acquainted with the institution. With an equipment superior to that of any other school, with both American and foreign teachers of the highest rank, with Boston, the art centre of America, to furnish the best operas and concerts, it is easy to see why one year of study there is better than two elsewhere. Its prospectus is sent free.

It Doesn't Always Work.

"Wot nonsense growed-up people talk," ruminated little Willie." Pa told me t'other day that knowledge is power. It may be so w'en you're growed up, but it don't work with us fellers. W'y, only the other day Ragsy, the bootblack, came to our school for the first time in his life, an' he hadn't been there two hours 'fore he'd licked every boy in school."—West Medford Windmill.

If the Baby is Cutting Teeth.
Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

John Scott, Earl of Eldon (1751-1838) was popularly called the "Stormy Petrel of Politics," because he was in the habit of hastening to London when any rumor of a dissolution of the cabinet came to him, with the expectation of being summoned by the king to form a ministry.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine.
The original and only genuine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Cold Sores, &c. C. G. Clark Co., N. Haven, Ct.

Another County Heard From.

Catchings—I suppose, doctor, the bicycle is also hurting your business.

Doctor—Yes: the surgeons are securing most of the patients now.—Philadelphia North American.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.
Is taken internally. Price, 75c.

In some parts of England when you haul a drowning man out of the water you get nothing; but if you let him drown and then haul him out you get 5s.

A radish eighteen inches in length has been grown near Widan, Germany, which is said to be in the exact form of a baby, even to the fingers and toes.

The Bane of Beauty.
Beauty's bane is the fading or falling of the hair. Luxuriant tresses are far more to the matron than to the maid whose casket of charms is yet unrifled by time. Beautiful women will be glad to be reminded that falling or fading hair is unknown to those who use
Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Kickapoo Indian Worm Killer
Is what you should give the children. Half their sickness is CAUSED BY WORMS.

FREE HOMES From Uncle Sam.
Nearly 2,000,000 Acres of Government Lands Now Open to Settlement
IN NORTHERN ARKANSAS.
They are fertile, well-watered, heavily-timbered, and produce grains, grasses, fruits and vegetables in abundance. North Arkansas apples are noted. The climate is delightful, winters mild and short. These lands are subject to homestead entry of 160 acres each. NOW IS THE TIME TO GET A HOME. For further information address
Enclose 10 cents in Silver. E. V. M. POWELL, Immigration Agent, Harrison, Ark.
Refers to Bank of Harrison and Boone County Bank, Harrison, Ark.

A.T.Co.
BATTLE AX
Battle Ax

STOP! You have run up against a Good Thing.
Battle Ax PLUG
The best reason in the world why some things sell so well is because they are good. That is one reason for the great sales of "BATTLE AX."
But good quality is only half the story. The other half is the size of a 5 cent piece. It is as big almost as a 10 cent piece of other and poorer kinds.
Facts are facts. You can buy and see for yourself. Five cents isn't much to invest.

Minn. Hist. Society
MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XV. ST. HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY JULY 15, 1896. NUMBER 50.

BRYAN AND SEWALL

THEY ARE THE NOMINEES OF THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

After an Exciting Session Lasting Five Days, the Democratic Convention Concludes its Business and Adjourns—William J. Bryan of Nebraska, Nominated for President and Arthur Sewall of Maine, for Vice-President—Platform Adopted Favoring Free Coinage of Silver.

In the magnificent and capacious Coliseum in Jackson Park, Chicago, the national Democratic convention was called to order Tuesday by Chairman Harrity of the national committee. After prayer by Rev. Edward M. Stires, Chairman Harrity announced the selection by the national committee of David B. Hill of New York for temporary chairman, Senator Sheerin of Indiana for secretary and John Martin for sergeant-at-arms.

Mr. Clayton, the member of the national committee from Arkansas, presented a report signed by the minority of the committee, recommending that the name of Hon. John W. Daniel of Virginia be substituted for that of Hon. David B. Hill of New York, and that Hon. John W. Daniel be chosen chairman of the convention.

Considerable discussion followed the reading of the report, and the roll call was demanded on its adoption. The vote resulted as follows: Daniel, 556; Hill, 340.

Senator Daniel was escorted to the platform and introduced to the convention by Chairman Harrity. A great demonstration followed, and when order was restored Senator Daniel addressed the convention. His speech sounded the keynote for the silver men, who frequently interrupted him with cheers and applause.

The roll of states was then called, and the selections for membership on the various committees were announced, after which the convention adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow.

At exactly 10:50 Wednesday morning Senator Daniel rapped for order. The minions of the sergeant-at-arms had some difficulty in clearing the aisles. Rev. Francis Edward Green, an Episcopalian minister of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who has the distinction of having prayed for peace and harmony at two previous Democratic conventions, was introduced and delivered the invocation.

Mr. Atwood of Kansas then presented a partial report of the committee on credentials, as follows:

"Your committee on credentials beg leave to report as follows:

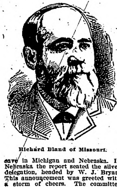
"First—It is respectfully recommended that the national Democratic convention take action to the effect of granting to each of the territories and District of Columbia six votes as representation in this convention. (Applause.) This conclusion was arrived at after considerable discussion, but the great majority of your committee deem it proper to embody this recommendation in this, their partial report.

"Second—After a careful and painstaking comparison of the original and official credentials with the list of delegates and alternates, as prepared by the secretary of the national executive committee, your committee beg leave to report that it finds its roster or roll of names correct, with the exception of those names appearing thereon as delegates and alternates from the States of Nebraska and Michigan. (Great applause and cheering.) Relative to the contest from Nebraska, your committee begs leave to report that after a careful examination of the testimony presented to your committee, and after a full hearing from the respective parties and a careful consideration of their several arguments, your committee finds and begs leave to report that the delegates and alternates headed by Hon. William J. Bryan of Nebraska (great applause) are entitled to seats in this convention as delegates and alternates. (Applause.) In regard to the contest from the State of Michigan, your committee is not ready to report, and asks further time for the consideration of the same."

Mr. Atwood moved the adoption of this partial report, and it was declared agreed to.

A recess was then taken pending the final report of the committee on credentials, during which addresses were made by Gov. Hogg of Texas, Senator Blackburn of Kentucky, Gov. Altgeld of Illinois and George Fred Williams of Massachusetts.

The committee on credentials having at last agreed on a partial report, the chairman, Mr. Atwood of Kansas was introduced and presented the report. It found the temporary roll correct, save in Michigan and Nebraska. In Nebraska the report seated the silver delegation, headed by W. J. Bryan. This announcement was greeted with a storm of cheers. The committee asked for further time to decide the Michigan contest, and after a sharp contest in the committee they reported in favor of seating the silver delegates, giving the silverites a majority on the delegation, thus permitting them to swing Michigan's vote for silver. It incited a warm debate which lasted two hours, and then the vote was taken and resulted in the adoption of the report by a vote of 558 to 368.



Richard Bland of Missouri.

The report of the committee on permanent organization was called for and Delegate Finley of Ohio, its chairman, made his way to the stage and read the list of permanent officers selected, which was headed by Senator White of California for chairman and Thomas J. Cogan of Ohio for secretary. The report was adopted.

Senator White, on taking the chair, thanked the convention for the honor conferred upon him in a few well chosen words. The convention then adjourned until to-morrow at 10 o'clock.

Senator White called the convention to order Thursday morning and then handed the gavel to Congressman Richardson of Tennessee, a tall, slender man, with a black moustache, and a scholarly stoop of the shoulders, who announced the committee on resolutions and called to the platform Senator J. K. Jones of Arkansas to make the committee's report.

It declares briefly for the free and independent coinage of silver without the co-operation of any nation; for a tariff for revenue only sufficient to pay the expenses of the government economically administered; for a constitutional amendment for an income tax; against federal interference in local affairs; against a third term; for simplicity and economy in national affairs; against a Pacific railroad funding bill; condemns the issue of bonds in time of peace and gives a mild endorsement to the civil service law.

As the delegates could not hear much of the platform, most of its points fell uncheered, but the denunciation of government injunction, which is taken as an indirect approval of Gov. Altgeld's course during the Chicago strike, met with recognition.

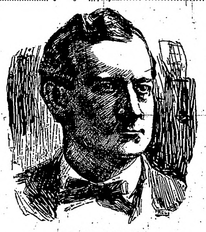
The report for the minority was read by J. H. Wade of Ohio, a former reading clerk of the house of representatives.

Senator Ben Tillman of South Carolina mounted the stage to open the great debate in behalf of free coinage. He was followed by Senator Jones, chairman of the committee on resolutions; Senator Hill of New York, Senator Vilas of Wisconsin, Gov. Russell of Massachusetts and W. J. Bryan of Nebraska.

The vote was then taken by states on the adoption of the minority report of the committee and resulted as follows:

State.	Vote.	Yes Silver.	No Gold.
Alabama	22	22	...
Arkansas	16	16	...
California	18	18	...
Colorado	8	8	...
Connecticut	12	...	12
Delaware	6	1	5
Florida	8	5	3
Georgia	26	26	...
Idaho	6	6	...
Illinois	48	48	...1
Indiana	30	30	...
Iowa	26	26	...
Kansas	20	20	...
Kentucky	26	26	...
Louisiana	16	16	...
Maine	12	2	10
Maryland	16	4	12
Massachusetts	30	3	27
Michigan	28	28	...
Minnesota	18	6	11
Mississippi	18	18	...
Missouri	34	34	...
Montana	6	6	...
Nebraska	16	16	...
Nevada	6	6	...
New Hampshire	8	...	8
New Jersey	20	...	20
New York	72	...	72
North Carolina	22	22	...
North Dakota	6	6	...
Ohio	46	46	...
Oregon	8	8	...
Pennsylvania	64	...	64
Rhode Island	8	...	8
South Carolina	18	18	...
South Dakota	8	...	8
Tennessee	24	24	...
Texas	30	30	...
Utah	6	6	...
Vermont	8	...	8
Virginia	24	24	...
Washington	8	5	3
West Virginia	8	5	3
Wisconsin	24	...	24
Wyoming	6	6	...
Alaska	6	...	6
Arizona	6	6	...
District of Columbia	6	6	...
New Mexico	6	6	...
Oklahoma	6	6	...
Indian Territory	6	6	...
Total	930	628	301

1, Minnesota, not voting.



W. J. Bryan of Nebraska.

The night session furnished all the preliminary incidents of the most dramatic act of the convention. It was by long odds the most spectacular, for as the hands of the clock were creeping on toward the appointed hour of eight and the president-making delegates began to fill the great banks of seats, the largest crowd so far of the convention was in attendance, and for the first time filled the galleries and attaining the Chicago standard of bigness.

Senator Jones of Arkansas gained recognition and moved that the convention proceed to the nomination of a candidate for president of the United States. It was carried with a roar, the galleries adding a round of applause in recognition of the actual opening of the contest.

Chairman Richardson announced that by agreement the roll of the states would be called for the presentation of candidates.

Senator Vest of Missouri presented the name of R. P. Bland of Missouri.

Gov. Obermeyer of Kansas seconded the nomination of Bland, as did John R. Williams of Illinois.

The name of W. J. Bryan of Nebraska, was presented by ex-Gov. Patrick Walsh of Georgia, and seconded by W. C. Clutz of North Carolina, George Fred Williams of Massachusetts and Thomas J. Kernan of Louisiana.

Gov. Claude Matthews of Indiana, was placed in nomination by Senator Turpie, seconded by Oscar A. Trippett of California.

Frederick White of Iowa nominated Horace Boles, and A. D. Smith of Minnesota seconded him.

John S. Rhea of Kentucky nominated J. S. Blackburn.

John R. McLean of Ohio was spoken of by A. W. Patrick.

The roll of states being furnished, the convention adjourned until 10 a. m. to-morrow.

The convention was called to order at 10:30 Friday morning, by Chairman White, who had recovered the use of his voice. Rev. Green, the chaplain, invoked the divine blessing.

Chairman White announced that the convention was still on the call of states for nomination. Thereupon, Mr. Harrity of Pennsylvania mounted his chair and placed in nomination ex-Gov. Robert Pattison.

There were no other nominations, and Chairman White announced that the roll-call of states for the nomination of president would proceed. A rustle of excitement swept over the hall, preceded by an intently eager quiet. The first test was to be made.

Before the roll was begun, Delegate Smith of Ohio rose to announce, on behalf of the Democrats of Ohio, the death of that eloquent and fearless Democrat, Frank Hurd, and said: "We sorrow for the loss of our associate."

The Balloting.

The roll-call was then proceeded with, and the result of the first ballot announced as follows:

Bland	235
Boles	67
Bryan	130
Matthews	37
Blackburn	82
Pattison	97
McLean	54
Stevenson	5
Scattering	37
Not voting	185

Second Ballot.

Bland	281
Boles	37
Bryan	197
Matthews	34
Blackburn	41
Pattison	100
McLean	53
Stevenson	10
Scattering	125
Not Voting	160

Third Ballot.

Bland	291
Boles	36
Bryan	210
Matthews	39
Blackburn	27
Pattison	97
McLean	54
Stevenson	9
Scattering	1
Not voting	162

Fourth Ballot.

Bland	241
Boise	38
Bryan	276
Matthews	35
Blackburn	27
Pattison	97
McLean	46
Stevenson	8
Scattering	1
Not voting	162

The demonstration that followed the announcement of this ballot has never been equalled in the history of political conventions. Frenzied men fought for the standards of other delegations, hundreds of newspapers and umbrellas were furiously hurled through the air and men and women went frantic with excitement. Throughout it all, Mrs. Bryan sat to the right of the platform. Although a bright look of pleasure lighted her features, she did not appear at all excited by this wonderful demonstration in honor of her distinguished husband.

Fifth Ballot.

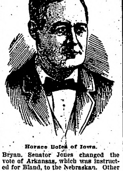
The fifth ballot was begun and Foote of California declared: "California for the first time is solid and casts 18 votes for Bryan." Florida carried eight votes for Bryan from Matthews and Boles. Kentucky withdrew Blackburn and cast her 28 votes for Bryan.

The 24 votes of Tennessee stepped into Bryan's camp and almost immediately Virginia followed her with the same number, both of them deserting Bland. Three territories, Arizona, New Mexico and Indian Territory, marched after them from the Bland standard to Bryan, each one six strong. The enthusiasm was aroused again when big "Buck" Hinrichsen called out the 48 of Illinois for Bryan, the most important desertion from Bland.

The nomination of Bryan seemed imminent. There were cries: "Ohio can do it," and John R. McLean appeared in a chair holding a cane aloft, while under him the other leaders seemed to be squabbling. "Ohio withdraws the name of McLean," said that gentleman, "and casts 46 votes for Bryan." His voice failed to carry many feet, so the dramatic stroke was lost upon the galleries. There was a commotion afterward in the Texas ranks next door to Ohio. Bryan had 492 votes. Montana with 6 and Oklahoma with the same number swelled it to 504, two-thirds of all the votes cast.

Gov. Stone of Missouri mounted the platform and read a letter from Mr. Bland, in which he stated that he did not want the nomination unless it was the judgment of the delegates that he was the strongest man, and urged putting the cause of silver above the man. Gov. Stone then cast the forty-six votes of Missouri for Bryan.

Confusion reigned throughout the building, with delegates on their chairs clamoring to change their votes, and a fierce hum of surprise and speculation. Then Delegate Von Wagenan of Iowa crowded to the platform. In impressive tones he said that Gov. Boies also placed the cause above the man, and he, too, cast the vote of his state for Bryan. Senator Jones changed the vote of Arkansas, which was instructed for Bland, to the Nebraskan. Other states tumbled into the foaming wake. Montana and West Virginia changed their votes, amid great enthusiasm. Senator Turpie of Indiana withdrew the name of Matthews and moved that the nomination be made unanimous. Delegate McDermott of New Jersey demanded a call of the states. There was no second to Mr. McDermott's demand, however, and then Chairman White declared the motion carried. Another wild scene followed. Again the gudons were torn from their sockets and paraded about. Boles and Bland banners and flags of all descriptions joined in the rally about the standard of Nebraska. The standards of New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey and all the New England states were left standing.



Horace Boles of Iowa.

In the midst of the confusion, on Senator Jones' motion, at 3:30 o'clock, the convention adjourned until 8 o'clock.

The evening session was called to order at 8:55 by Chairman White. A motion was made to adjourn until 10 o'clock to-morrow. A roll-call was demanded, which resulted favorably to the motion, and the convention adjourned at 9:30.

Saturday ended the most remarkable national convention since the Democratic party, in 1860, was rent asunder on the slavery issue. The convention completed the work which split the party in twain on the financial issue Arthur Sewall of Maine, a Bath shipbuilder, and an ardent free coinage man, was named for the vice-presidency on a ticket headed by William J. Bryan, the eloquent young orator from the prairies beyond the Missouri.

On the first ballot fifteen candidates were voted for, Sibley receiving 163, the highest number of votes. The other votes were divided as follows: McLean, 110; Sewall, 100; Harrity, 21; Judge Clarke of North Carolina, 50; Daniel of Virginia, 11; Bland, 62; Blackburn, 20; ex-Congressman Williams of Massachusetts, 16; Boies, 10; Pattison, 1; White of California, 1; Fithian of Illinois, and Senator Teller of Colorado, 1 each. On the second ballot there was an attempt to stampede the convention to Bland, who on this ballot received 294 votes; McLean moved up to 158, Sibley fell back to 113 and Sewall dropped to 37. It looked as if the latter was disastrously beaten. Senator Jones, with his 16 Arkansas votes, stood firm. He rallied the followers of the Maine man, and on the next ballot Sewall secured ninety-seven votes. Meantime there appeared to be a general movement in favor of McLean. Some of the Bland men deserted him and went to McLean, who led on the ballot with 210.

After the announcement of this vote Bland's name was withdrawn by Gov. Stone of Missouri, who read a message from the Missourian, positively declining to allow the use of his name for the vice presidential nomination. The Bland votes, on the next ballot, went to Sewall in large blocks, but McLean captured enough to give him seemingly a lead of 284, against 201 for Sewall. During this roll call there was trouble in the Ohio delegation, which was polling 14 anti-McLean votes, locked up by the unit rule. There was also a big revolt against Gov. Altgeld's domination in the Illinois delegation. Ex-Congressman Fithian made a fiery protest against the nomination of the Ohio editor. It was at this critical juncture that McLean's telegram was read by one of the Ohio delegates. The telegram stated that it was Mr. McLean's wish that he should not be balloted for. Delegate Sloan, however, after reading the telegram, distinctly stated that while the telegram expressed Mr. McLean's wish, it did not express the sentiment of Ohio, which on the fifth ballot continued to cast 46 votes for McLean. The telegram, however, shattered the McLean forces, and Indiana, Iowa and other states flocked into the camp of the Maine man. Sewall's nomination was unanimous before the conclusion of the roll call, and scenes of jubilation and rejoicing, in which the state standards were paraded about the Coliseum in the wake of the colors of Nebraska and Maine.

Mr. Sewall was born in Bath, Me., Nov. 25, 1835. The estate on which he was born and where he now resides, has been in possession of the Sewall family since 1760. His grandfather fought in the War of the Revolution. By occupation Mr. Sewall was originally a shipbuilder, and he is now largely interested in shipping, railways and banking. For years he was the president of the Maine Central railway, from which position he retired two years ago. He is now president of a bank at Bath, is interested in the Bath Iron works and a number of other commercial enterprises. Although he has for years employed large numbers of men, he has never had any serious labor trouble. Mr. Sewall was married in 1859 to Miss Emma D. Crooker of Bath. He has two children living, both of them sons, Harold M. and William D. Sewall by name.

WHERE THEY STAND.

Majority Report on Platform as Presented to the Convention.

Chicago, July 9.—Following is the platform prepared by the committee on resolutions and presented to the convention:

We, the Democrats of the United States in national convention assembled, do reaffirm our allegiance to those great essential principles of justice and liberty upon which our institutions are founded, and which the Democratic party has advocated from Jefferson's time to our own—freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of conscience, the preservation of personal rights, the equality of all citizens before the laws, and the faithful observance of constitutional limitations.

During all these years the Democratic party has resisted the tendency of selfish interest to the centralization of governmental power and steadfastly maintained the integrity of the dual scheme of government established by the founders of this republic of republics. Under its guidance and teachings the great principle of local self government has found its best expression in the maintenance of the rights of state and in its assertion of necessity of confining the general government to the exercise of powers granted by the constitution of the United States.

Recognizing that the money system is paramount to all others at this time, we invite attention to the fact that the federal constitution names silver and gold together as the money metals of the United States, and that the first coinage law passed by congress under the constitution made the silver dollar the monetary unit and admitted gold to free coinage at a ratio based upon the silver dollar unit.

We declare that the act of 1873 demonetizing silver without the knowledge or approval of the American people has resulted in the appreciation of gold and a corresponding fall in the prices of commodities produced by the people; a heavy increase in the burden of taxation and of all debts, public and private; the enrichment of the money-lending class at home and abroad; prostration of industry and impoverishment of the people.

We are unalterably opposed to monometallism, which has locked fast the prosperity of an industrial people in the paralysis of hard times. Gold monometallism is a British policy and its adoption has brought other nations into financial servitude to London. It is not only unamerican, but anti-American, and it can be fastened on the United States only by the stifling of that spirit and love of liberty which proclaimed our political independence in 1776, and won it in the War of the Revolution.

We demand the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation. We demand that the standard silver dollar shall be a full legal tender, equally with gold for all debts, public and private, and we favor such legislation as will prevent for the future the demonetization of any kind of legal tender money by private contract.

We are opposed to the policy and practice of surrendering to the holders of the obligations of the United States the option secured by law to the government of redeeming such obligations in either silver coin or gold coin. We are opposed to the issuing of interest-bearing bonds of the United States in time of peace, and condemn the trafficking with banking syndicates, which, in exchange for bonds, and at an enormous profit to themselves, supply the federal treasury with gold to maintain their gold monometallism. Congress alone has the power to coin the issue money, and President Jackson declared that this power could not be delegated to corporations or individuals. We therefore demand that the power to issue notes to circulate as money be taken from the national banks, and that all paper money shall be issued directly by the treasury department, redeemable in coin and receivable for all debts, public and private.

We hold that tariff duties should be levied for purposes of revenue, such duties to be so adjusted as to operate equally throughout the country, and not discriminate between class or section, and that taxation should be limited by the needs of the government, honestly and economically administered. We denounce as disturbing to business the Republican threat to restore the McKinley law, which has been twice condemned by the people in national elections, and which, enacted under the false plea of protection to home industry, proved a prolific breeder of trusts and monopolies, enriched the few at the expense of the many, restricted trade and deprived the producers of the great American staples of access to their natural markets. Until the money question is settled, we are opposed to any agitation for further changes in our tariff laws, except such as are necessary to meet the deficit in revenue caused by the adverse decision of the supreme court on the income tax. But for this decision of the supreme court there would be no deficit in the revenue under the law passed by a Democratic congress, in strict pursuance of the uniform decisions of that court for nearly 100 years, that court having, under that decision, sustained constitutional objections to its enactment, which have been overruled by the ablest judges who have ever sat on that bench.

We declare that it is the duty of congress to use all the constitutional power which remains after that decision, or which may come from the reversal by the court as it may hereafter be constituted, so that the burdens of taxation may be equally and impartially laid to the end that wealth may bear its due proportional expenses of the government.

We hold that the most efficient way of protecting American labor is to prevent the importation of foreign pauper labor to compete with it in the home market, and that the value of the market to American farmers and artisans is greatly reduced by a vicious monetary system which depresses the prices of their products below the cost of production and thus deprives them of the means of purchasing the products of our home manufacturers.

"The absorption of wealth by the few, the consolidation of our leading railroad systems and the formation of trusts and pools require a stricter control by the federal government of these arteries of commerce. We demand the enlargement of the powers of the interstate commerce commission and such restrictions and guarantees in the control of railroads as will protect the people from robbery and oppression. We denounce the profligate waste of the money wrung from the people by oppressive taxation and the lavish appropriations of recent Republican congresses which have kept taxes high while the labor that pays them is unemployed and the products of the people's toil are depressed in price till they no longer pay the cost of production. We demand a return to that simplicity and economy which benefits a Democratic government and a reduction in the number of useless offices, the salaries of which drain the substance of the people.

We denounce arbitrary interference by federal authorities in local affairs as a violation of the constitution of the United States and a crime against institutions, and we especially object to government by injunctions, as a new and highly dangerous form of oppression, by which federal judges, in contempt of the laws of the states and rights of citizens, become at once legislators, judges and executioners; and we approve the bill passed at the last session of the United States senate and now pending in the house relative to contempts in federal courts, and providing for trials by jury in certain cases of contempt.

No discrimination should be indulged in by the government of the United States in favor of any of its debtors. We approve of the refusal of the Fifty-third congress to pass the Pacific railroad funding bill, and denounce the effort of the present Republican congress to enact a similar measure.

Recognizing the just claims of deserving Union soldiers, we heartily endorse the rule of the present commissioner of pensions that no names shall be arbitrarily dropped from the pension roll, and the fact of enlistment and service should be deemed conclusive evidence against disease and disability before enlistment.

We favor the admission of the territories of New Mexico and Arizona into the Union as states, and we favor the early admission of all the territories having the necessary population and resources to entitle them to statehood, and where they remain territories we hold that the officials appointed to administer the government of any territory, together with the District of Columbia and Alaska, should be bona fide residents of the territory of the district in which their duties are to be performed. The Democratic party believes in home rule and that all public lands of the United States should be appropriated to the establishment of free homes for American citizens. We recommend that the Territory of Alaska be granted a delegate in congress and that the general land and timber laws of the United States be extended to said territory.

We extend our sympathy to the people of Cuba in their heroic struggle for liberty and independence.

We are opposed to life tenure in the public service. We favor appointments based upon merit, fixed terms of office, and such an administration of the civil service laws as will afford equal opportunity to all citizens of ascertained fitness.

We declare it to be the unwritten law of this republic, established by the custom and usage of one hundred years and sanctioned by the examples of the greatest and wisest of those who founded and have maintained our government, that no man should be eligible for a third term of the presidential office.

The federal government should care for and improve the Mississippi river and other great waterways of the republic, so as to secure for the interior states easy and cheap transportation to tidewater. When any waterway of the republic is of sufficient importance to demand aid of the government, such aid should be extended upon a definite plan of continuous work, until permanent improvement is secured.

Confiding in the justice of our cause and the necessity of its success at the polls, we submit the foregoing declaration of principles and purposes to the considerate judgment of the American people. We invite the support of all citizens who approve them and who desire to have them made effective through legislation for the relief of the people and the restoration of the country's prosperity.

A TENT BLEW DOWN.

Storm Afflicts the Christian Endeavor People in Washington.

Washington, July 11.—A serious mishap that will interfere somewhat with the plans of the programme of the Christian Endeavorers took place this morning. During a rain storm, accompanied by a high wind, Tent Williston, one of the largest stretches of canvas on the white lot, was blown down and appears to be a wreck. It is feared that it will be impossible to raise it again, as it is water soaked and torn, though an effort may yet be made to do so. This tent was calculated to hold about 10,000 people. A mass of telegraph and electric wires were torn down when the tent fell. Tents Washington and Endeavor also suffered from the storm, but the contractors were aroused in time to save them from destruction.

Notwithstanding the discouraging weather conditions the Christian Endeavorers gathered by thousands in Washington, were early astir making their way to the many churches set apart for the morning services, which began the exercises of the day. The topic at these sunrise services was "Prayer for the Convention," and in each case the meetings were led by members of the visiting organizations. These special services lasted from 6:30 to 7 o'clock. A short adjournment for breakfast and a walk about town, and many of the delegates were gathered again at the big Presbyterian church to participate in a Bible book study conducted by President G. S. Burroughs, D. D., of Crawfordsville, Ind. The big meetings in the tent were fixed at 10:30 a. m.

IRREGULARITY SUSPECTED.

Report of the Savings Building Society Are Examined.

St. Paul, July 11. — Considerable excitement has been caused among the stockholders of the Savings Bank society, all the deposit books being called in for examination. The society was incorporated in 1882, and for fourteen years there has never been the slightest suspicion of any irregularity in the management of the concern. The calling in of the books naturally caused some alarm among the stockholders, who were at a loss to know the reason for the unusual procedure. Much comment was indulged in by some of the stockholders, who were unable to give any definite information on the matter, except to hint that something was wrong.

E. F. Berrisford, president of the society, said last night that shortly after the death of Andrew N. Nelson, who committed suicide May 24 last, it was discovered that there were some irregularities in the accounts of Mr. Nelson, who had been secretary of the society since it was organized. The books were found not to have been posted regularly; and other things, that have been neglected caused the officers of the society to institute an investigation. At the regular meeting of the society last month an expert accountant was employed, and he is now engaged in making an examination of the books of the late secretary.

Mr. Berrisford said that he was unable to state what the shortage was, or if there was a deficit at all in Mr. Nelson's accounts, as the auditor had not completed his investigation.

A Well Known Character Dead.

Bayfield, Wis., July 11.—By the death of Capt. John Stewart, who was buried here to-day by the G. A. R. post, Bayfield loses one of its best citizens and North Wisconsin one of its landmarks and most eccentric characters. "Jack" was born in Ireland in 1831 and served in the English navy in his younger days. He came to this section in the early fifties and was one of the first lake captains in this vicinity. He owned and commanded the schooner Algonquin on Lake Superior for years. At the breaking out of the rebellion he enlisted in the Twenty-sixth Michigan, and later was transferred to the navy, where he remained until the close of the war. He was well known by every mariner and prominent man who ever visited this section of the country.

Horse Dropped Dead.

Minneapolis, July 11.—A horse belonging to C. H. Osgood, an expressman, dropped dead from fright this morning when he saw the heard of elephants belonging to the circus. He was hauling a load of furniture along Grant street, between Nicollet avenue and Vine Place, just as the elephants came along. The horse did not see them until they were alongside of him, and then turning his head he saw the giant animals towering above him. He took one look, began to quiver and then dropped. His legs stiffened out and he never moved. It was undoubtedly a case of heart failure.

Losses by Fire.

Redwood Falls, Minn., July 11.—G. W. Van Duren & Co.'s elevator was discovered on fire early this morning and within two hours was burned to the ground. This is the third elevator the Van Duren people have lost here in the last four years. They rebuilt upon their old site after the first fire, and when the new elevator burned the company purchased the C. W. George house, and this went last night. Over 20,000 bushels of wheat and some flax were in the elevator. Loss, $15,000.

BRYAN AT SALEM

THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE VISITS HIS NATIVE TOWN.

At Every City and Village Along the Route From Chicago to Salem Crowds Gather at the Depots and Give Mr. Bryan an Ovation, and He Is Given a Warm Welcome Home.

Salem, Ill., July 15. — William J. Bryan, the Democratic nominee for president, arrived here to-day to visit old friends in the town in which he was born and where the immortal Lincoln made his home for several years. At every point along the line from Chicago to Salem crowds gathered at the depots and Mr. Bryan was given an ovation. He appeared on the platform of the coach at every town, and many people shook his hand. At Champaign a platform had been built near the depot and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan were conducted there. Mr. Bryan made a speech, in which he said:

"I am glad to have an occasion to talk to you for a while and I am gratified to see that so many people by their presence here have shown their interest in this campaign. In my judgment it is the most important campaign through which this country has passed in time of peace during our existence as a nation. (Applause.) A campaign in which great issues are to be settled, issues which affect every man, woman and child in the nation. And I beg of you that you shall realize and appreciate the important part which you bear in this campaign. This is the greatest nation on the earth. It is in advance, in my humble judgment, in all that makes a nation great, in advance of all nations that live or have lived in those great things and the opportunities which people find here have their highest and best developments. We have the best form of government and we have the most perfect form of government because it is a government which can be just as good as people desire it to be. No government can be better than the people desire. If our government is good, if our laws are just, it is because we make them ourselves. I have confidence in the intelligence, in the patriotism of the great common people of this country. The money question is not a complicated question, and it is presented in this campaign in the simplest form it has ever taken before the people. When this campaign is on, before the election arrives, there will be just one great question in this country, and that is, is this nation great enough to attend to its own business? Is this nation great enough to legislate for its own people? If so, then the people will demand a financial policy based upon the American interest and for the caring of American rights regardless of aid and consent of any other nation on the earth."

Another Speech.

At Mattoon the crowd was almost as large as that which assembled at Champaign. The streets were blockaded with vehicles and men and women, and all the buildings in the vicinity were decorated with flags. In a speech Mr. Bryan said:

"In this campaign you will find that those men who are peculiarly benefitted in the rise in the value of a dollar will favor that policy that will raise the value of that dollar, but the poor people will not be in favor of such a policy. When these people tell you that they want good money, you tell them that money may be too good; it may be so good that you cannot get hold of it. We want a dollar that will be just, and not the dollar which will only reward the men who own money."

As the train moved south there were small bodies of citizens at unimportant stations who had assembled to see the train drawing the presidential nominee go through on the fly. The enthusiastic citizens at these places were gratified in their desire, for Mr. and Mrs. Bryan at each place walked out on the rear platform where Mr. Bryan took off his hat and waved at the assembled people as the train rushed through. At Effingham there were at least 1,000 people, many of whom were women, assembled to see the Democratic presidential candidate. As the train came to a standstill there were loud cries for Bryan, free silver and Altgeld, and after the mention of each the crowd gave vent to enthusiastic cheers. When quiet was at length restored Mr. Bryan was introduced from the rear platform of the train and said:

"Fellow Citizens: I remember that less than a year ago I stopped off here for a few hours and spoke at the court house. All that time we wished the Democratic party would adopt a platform that was democratic. Since that time a great struggle has been going on and last week that struggle ended in a national convention and that convention adopted a platform which is, in my humble opinion, democratic in every line and every word, and the Democratic party comes before the country now appealing to those who believe in that platform."

At His Old Home.

When the train pulled up to the depot at Salem there were people on hand ready to welcome Mr. Bryan from all over Marion county. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan were escorted to a carriage by a committee and taken to the home of Mr. Bryan's sister, Mrs. James Baird. Awaiting them at the house were Mrs. Mary Van Antwerp, Mrs. Davenport, Mrs. Zadock Jennings, all relatives of the honored guest, and his sisters, Misses Nannie and Mamie Bryan. It was not the wish of Mr. Bryan to have a celebration here at this time. But two short weeks ago he was called here to attend the death bed of his mother. She was buried here by the side of Judge Bryan, who passed away sixteen years ago. But the people in their enthusiasm and desire to honor the man who went away from here scarcely a score of years ago unknown to fame gave vent to their feelings. When the carriage reached the home of his sister his former fellow townsmen were there by hundreds. They cheered and shouted while bands played and the anvils boomed. They demanded a speech and Mr. Bryan acquiesced.

As soon as he could control his voice he made a short speech, in which he expressed plasure at being greeted by his old friends and former playmates.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE—HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST
—DEALERS IN—
HARDWARE, FURNITURE
—AND—
Burial Supplies!

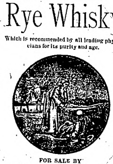
Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware, Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture. Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing, Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc. Will compete with T. M. Roberts or others on Wire and Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

BARBER-SHOP
—AND—
BATH ROOMS.
—0—
Hair Cutting, Shaving and Shampooing
Razors honed and put in first-class order.
J. H. PENNO, Prop.
ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

P. G. PARADIS,
DEALER IN
Wines and Liquors
IMPORTED AND DOMESTIC CIGARS.
FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.
West side Broadway.
ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

THE FAMOUS
SAMARITAN
Rye Whisky
Which is recommended by all leading physicians for its purity and age.



FOR SALE BY
BRINK BROS.
ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.
—RUNS—
THROUGH CARS
TO
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To—
HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKANE
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST SLEEPING CARS

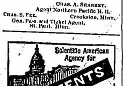
TIME SCEDULE.

Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information, Time Cards, Maps and tickets, call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.
CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.



Scientific American Agency for
CAVEATS, TRADE MARKS, DESIGN PATENTS, COPYRIGHTS, etc.
For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the
Scientific American
Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.
IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.
Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire, Minn., as second-class mail matter.
Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.
TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.
WEDNESDAY, JULY 15, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.
2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.
3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.
4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

COUNTY TICKET.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON
For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY
For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE
For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM
For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN
For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN
For Surveyor—
O. L. HAMERY
For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS
For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE
For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA
For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY
For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER
For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

History of the Omaha Platform.

The idea that the Omaha platform is opposed to co-operation and favors competiton is an error. In reality it is not a platform at all, but an agreement, a compact, and it was made, not at Omaha, but at St. Louis. On February 22, 1892, there met at St. Louis delegates from twenty-three labor organizations, each having a representation according to its membership. These labor organizations were all fraternal, co-operative societies, every one of them. They formed this agreement, or compact, not to destroy but to fulfill the law of their being. It was formulated, signed and sealed by these co-operative societies with co-operation in every line and socialism in every plank, and then a convention was called at Omaha, the representation being based on the population of the States. An attempt was made at Omaha to change the platform, but the convention wisely decided that no change should be made, that the delegates were there simply to nominate a ticket—the platform was already made. We relate these facts for the benefit of newcomers into the party. They are well known to older Populists.—Dakota Ruralist.

THE BANKS' PLAN

How They Propose to Discourage Free Silver Sentiment.

Washington, July 6.—Those who desire to have the United States try the experiment of free coinage may be afforded an early opportunity of becoming martyrs to the faith they have espoused. A movement is on foot which will probably result in a discrimination being made by banking institutions against those business men who openly and avowedly favor legislation looking to the free and unlimited coinage of silver. The plan is to refuse such men all the usual accommodations given by a bank to its patrons. Above all things else they will not be permitted to negotiate loans.

If a reason is demanded for this refusal, these business men will be politely informed that the banks will take no chances in loaning good money and run the risk of having it repaid in silver, which may at the time of repayment not be worth more than a half or two-thirds of the original loan. Money will not be advanced under these circumstances, even where the clause might be inserted making the amount returnable in gold, as the present business outlook does not warrant the tying up of money which may only be recovered after protracted litigation.

In the main this is a plan devised for the purpose of teaching a simple, plain, unmistakable object lesson. The bankers hold that those who persistently, and without sufficient consideration, antagonize their interests and indirectly seek to ruin their business, should not expect any favors, and no point will be strained in granting them when asked.

We sincerely hope the bankers of the country will attempt the selfish brutal scheme marked out in the above threat. It will be strictly in keeping with the course outlined to be pursued by Harry Clews, the Wall Street plutocrat in his letter of May 23rd 1896. "It was always thus." Human greed has rode triumphant over struggling bleeding humanity since the world began and has only been checked in its ghoulish work when its victims have turned, like the venomous reptile and struck back, sometimes bringing death and destruction to its oppressor. We have no doubt but it would be pleasantry for the ordinary greedy banker to torture the business man, his former customer, the threat shows what the object is, but we predict not one in a hundred of the banks in the country will dare attempt it. It will perhaps be attempted by a few whose principal business is of a solely an international or interstate character; the city or country banker cannot afford to place himself or his bank in a position where his former friends and customers will become his enemies and customers of somebody else—he will not permit the Wall Street freebooter to lead him on to ruin; for besides losing his old customers he knows the power of the hated populist and that such a thoughtless course would bring down upon the heads of the innocent (?) banks of the nation fully four thousand reform papers asking and advising their readers to withdraw their deposits and cease to do business with such banks. The threat is but an exhibition of their greed, goaded to exhibition by the fact that the people are soon to be in the saddle and the bankers must abdicate.

Legislative Convention.

The Peoples party legislative convention for the fifty-first legislative district is hereby called to meet at the court house in Crookston, Minn., on Friday July 17th, A. D. 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of placing in nomination three candidates for the offices of representatives for said district. The basis of representation in said convention will be one delegate at large for each county and one additional for every two hundred and fifty (250) votes or major fraction thereof cast for S. M. Owen at the last general election. Upon this basis Polk county gets 17 delegates Norman 6 and Beltrami 1.

Dated at Crookston, Minn., June 4th, 1896.

P. M. RINGDAL, Chm.
B. M. CHESLEY, Sec.

—Job printing of all kinds done at the SPECTATOR office.

FLOWER RAISING AT HOME.

Persistence, Patience and Perseverance Necessary.

Ah, what a happy thing it is to be a person of resources, says a writer in the St. Louis Republic. A friend of mine who lives in a country district where money does not grow on trees became dissatisfied with the income she derived from her hens and cows and decided, as she had always been successful in raising plants, to see if she could not arrange with a city florist to supply him with a portion of the cut flowers he used.

The florist to whom she applied was glad to enter into the arrangement, and she began early last spring sending him violets, following a little later with jonquils, hyacinths, then roses and in the fall chrysanthemums. She always had given some time to her plants and felt that she was amply repaid in the pleasure and the mental and physical recreation she got from the work. Now she gives a little more time, and in addition to the pleasure and recreation has a solid financial remuneration that is to help send her two daughters to school without mortgaging the farm.

I have often wondered why women who live in or within easy reach of large cities do not give more attention to raising plants, the blooms of which would find a place in the markets. Take violets, for instance. They always command a good price, and they are easy of culture. Much of the time many women waste in bemoaning the "hard times" could be profitably spent in attending to a home flower garden.

Persistence, patience and perseverance are the three p's that spell success in the home culture of flowers. If you have never tried flower raising you may expect to meet many failures. Professional florists do not always succeed, and we hear enough about poor crops from our friends the farmers. Why, then, should we expect every seed we put in the ground to grow? Of course we must expect failures, and it is in overcoming them, in studying the nature, the habits and the requirements of different plants, that half the pleasure of floriculture lies. The wise beginner will read the floriculture page of a good magazine, will talk to her friends and will confine her efforts at first to some of the standard plants whose habits are well known and easily learned.

In growing plants for the home do not neglect to supply liberally such as will provide blossoms for decoration of the table. A few flowers do wonders in brightening not only the appearance of the table, but the spirits of every one around the board as well. Every lover of nature rejoices that those stiff, artificial set pieces that we were used to seeing in the center of the dining table have entirely gone out of fashion, and now the most natural arrangement possible is sought after. Only one or at most two kinds of flowers are used at a time in table decorations, and as far as possible foliage of the plants is used with the flowers. Nature doesn't make many mistakes, and the artist has not yet been born who can improve upon her arrangement of bud and leaf.

HORSES SHIPPED TO EUROPE.

Great Numbers Sent Over For Army, Farm and Other Purposes.

"Something near 100,000 horses are shipped from this port every year," declared a prominent horse dealer in this city recently.

"They go to all parts of the world and are used for all manner of purposes. Some of them go to drag artillery in the German army, some to carry cuirassiers in the French; others go to draw the lumbering London bus, and others again to serve the purposes of draft horses on the farms of all the countries of Europe."

While the 100,000 figure at which this dealer set the export business was considered too high by several other men in the trade who were visited by the reporter, they all said that from 2,000 to 3,000 a month was certainly not too high, and that some months when business was unusually brisk the number might well reach 4,000.

"The trade has been wonderfully lively since the trolley cars began to come in," said another man who is up to date in the horse world. "When the horse cars were superseded by trolleys and cable lines, the market was flooded with horses of that sort. They were very cheap, and the demand for them in this country was not very large. As a consequence hundreds of them were shipped abroad. I believe that fully 2,000 horses have been shipped from this port within the last month. The majority are draft horses, but there are also numerous roadsters and saddle horses.

"Many of the London bus and cab horses come from here. They are bought up by dealers in big batches and sent over. While a good many of these horses probably find their way into the German army, I am not aware that there is any special trade in that direction, or that there are any dealers who make it a separate branch of their business to purchase horses for that purpose.

"I know horse dealers who are always on the lookout for animals which will serve as heavy draft horses for London brewery wagons and furniture removal trucks, but don't know of any demand just now for the German army.

"Besides these horses," continued the speaker, "we get hundreds from Canada. There is a great demand in some quarters for Canadian horses, and they help very materially to swell the numbers exported annually."

Sometimes as many as 700 horses will go in one cargo, and from the point of arrival in the old world will be scattered throughout all the countries of Europe and used for every purpose conceivable.—New York Times.

Hidden Treasure.

There is a popular notion that underneath Largo Law in Fife there is a very rich mine of gold which up to the present time has never been properly searched for. So convinced are, or were, the peasantry of the truth of this story that wherever the wool of a sheep's side happens to be tinged with yellow they maintain that it has acquired this color from having lain above the gold of the mine. There is also a legendary belief that there is concealed at Tamleuchar Cross, in Selkirkshire, a highly valuable treasure the situation of which is thus described by a popular rhyme:

Atween the wat grund and the dry
The gawd o' Tamleuchar doth lie.

For many ages past a pot of gold is reported to have lain at the bottom of a pool beneath a fall of the rivulet underneath Craufurdland bridge, about three miles from Kilmarnock. The last attempt made to recover this treasure was by the laird of Craufurdland himself, who, at the head of a party of his domestics, emptied the pool of its contents by damming up the water and had heard their instruments click on the kettle when a voice was heard saying:

"Craufurdland tower's in a low.
Pow, pow!"

Whereupon the party left the scene, but the fire was only a scare, and on returning to renew their operations they found the water falling over the linn in full force.—Chambers' Journal.

Manners.

Manners are of more importance than laws. Upon them, in a great measure, the laws depend. The law touches them but here and there, now and then. Manners are what vex or soothe, corrupt or purify, exalt or debase, barbarize or refine us, by a constant, steady, uniform, insensible operation like that of the air we breathe in. They give their whole form and color to our lives. According to their quality, they aid morals, they supply them or they totally destroy them.—Burke.

Building Character.

"My leading woman is a heartless thing," explained the author.

"I know," answered the artist. "I have made her just as narrow chested as possible."

There was, however, a limit to the power of the pencil to delineate the invisible.—Detroit Tribune.

The innocent looking fat man stood in the middle of the block alongside the car track and held aloft two cigars that looked to be 15 centers.

The conductor, in order to be "in with the play," signaled to the motorman, who was already grinding down the brake.

The fat man swung himself aboard and put the cigars in his pocket.

The car rolled on.—Indianapolis

RICH DISCOVERIES OF GOLD.

At Cripple Creek, Colo., and elsewhere, are being made daily, and the production for 1896 will be the largest ever known, estimated at Two Hundred Million Dollars. Cripple Creek alone is producing over One Million Dollars a month, and steadily incresing. Mining Stocks are advancing in price more rapidly than any other Stocks, and many pay dividends of 35 to 50 per cent. They offer the best opportunity to make a large profit on a small investment.

JOHN I. TALLMAN & CO., 14 Pacific Ave. Chicago, Ill. are financial agents for the Prudential Gold Mining Co., and others in the famous Cripple Creek district. They will send you free interesting particulars of the Mining Companies they represent also their book on speculation in Stocks, Grain and Cotton, containing many new and important features.

Send for these books at once if you are interested in any form of speculation or investments. They may prove profitable to you. 37-5

DO YOU NEED
WOOLEN GOODS!
OF COURSE YOU DO,

and we can furnish you with Blankets, Cassimeres, Flannels and Yarns, of our own manufacture in exchange for wool. Send for samples and prices.

We pay 12 to 15 cents per pound for unwashed and 20 to 25 cents for washed wool in exchange for goods.

We also do custom work—roll carding, spinning and weaving.

Litchfield Woolen Mills,
H. KLAUSER, Prop.
Litchfield, Minn. 41-52

LANDS!

Fertile sheltered and well watered lands in improved neighborhoods for sale at from $2 to $6 per acre.

Ten percent cash payment and balance on long time at low rate of interest.

	Price per Acre.
WYANDOTTE TOWNSHIP.
Lot 3 of 10	$4.75
SW ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec. 21	5.00
SESE of 21	4.50
NE NE of 28	3.75
Lot 1 of 30	5.00
RIVER FALLS TOWNSHIP.
9 forties in sec. 1 at from	$5.00 to 5.50
4 " " 2 "	4.50 to 5.0
Lots 3 and 4 3	4.75 5.0
NE NF and SW NW of 4	5.50 6.00
8 forties in 11 at	5.00
7 " 12	5.00
2 " 14	5.00
3 " 15	5.00
NW NE of 22	5.50 to 6.00
NE NE and SE NE of 23	5.00 4.50
4 forties in 24 at from	5.00 to 6.00
10 " 25 "	5.00 to 6.00
5 " 26	5.00
9 " 27	5.00
NE SE of 28	5.0
2 forties in 33	6.00
11 " 34 at from	4.75 to 5.00
5 " 35	5.00
SANDERS TOWNSHIP.
NW ¼ of the NW ¼ of Sec 2	4.00
3 forties in 3	4.00 to 4.25
7 " 6	2.00 to 3.75
1 " 7	5.00
4 " 8	2.00 to 4.70
NE of SE 19	5.00
7 forties in 20	2.00 to 4.50
10 " 21	3.00 to 5.00
5 " 22	3.0 to 5.00
4 " 23	3.0 to 5.00
5 " 24	4.00 to 6.00
13 " 25	3.0 to 4.50
BLACK RIVER TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 1 at from	3.75 to 6.00
2 " 3	3.00 to 5.50
NE NE of 5	5.00
ROCKSBURY TOWNSHIP.
2 forties in 13	3.50 4.00
SE ¼ of SE ¼ of Sec 28	5.00
NE SE of 33	4.00
8 forties in 31 at from	4.50 to 5.50
SW SW of 35	5.00
BRAY TOWNSHIP.
5 forties in Sec. 10 at from	5.00 to 6.00
7 " 15	6.0
2 " 17	4.50
4 " 20	3.00 to 5.00
2 " 22	6.00
4 " 29	3.00 to 6.00

For further information apply to
H. E. IVES
St. Hilaire, Minn.

Harnessmaker!

If you want anything in the harness line from a set of new harness down to repairing of all kinds, call on the first-class harness maker.

C. A. SKEIE.
ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY
THE ST. LOUIS
DAILY JOURNAL
SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.
EVENING AND SUNDAY.
—0—
PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE
Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday $4.00
Sunday Journal, alone $1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:
Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year $4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator one year $1 75

Sample copies sent free on application.
Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

Blacksmith!

Horse-shoeing, repairing of all kinds of Farm Implements, Machinery, etc. All work promptly attended to and done in a satisfactory manner.

J. C. DAHL.
ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE
PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.
Dray in Connection.

First-class rigs with safe drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates.

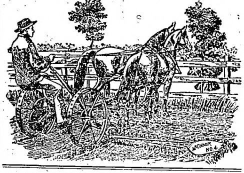
Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA

FRED EIKHOFF
DEALER IN
ALL KINDS OF Hardware
HEADQUARTERS FOR
Hunters Supplies, Machine Oils, Extras, Etc.
ST. HILAIRE, MINNESOTA.

Cigars.
BRINK BROTHERS
DEALERS IN
Wines & Liquors
Minneapolis Beer.
Corner Broadway and 3rd St. St. Hilaire, Minnesota

O. W. BRINK
DEALER IN ALL KINDS OF
Agricultural Implements



M. Z. EPPERSON
Proprietor of the
St. Hilaire
Saw Mill.
Lumber at Reasonable Prices.

Three Opinions:

"The CHICAGO RECORD is a model newspaper in every sense of the word."—Harrisburg (Pa.) Call.

"There is no paper published in America that so nearly approaches the true journalistic ideal as The CHICAGO RECORD."—From "Newspaperdom" (New York).

"I have come to the firm conclusion, after a long test and after a wide comparison with the journals of many cities and countries, that The CHICAGO RECORD comes as near being the ideal daily journal as we are for some time likely to find on these mortal shores."—Prof. J. T. Hatfield in The Evanston (Ill.) Index.

Sold by newsdealers everywhere and subscriptions received by all postmasters. Address THE CHICAGO RECORD, 181 Madison-st.

JOHNSON & MARSHAL,
North Side Roller Mills
RED LAKE FALLS, MINN.
Capacity 500 barrels of Flour Daily
Highest market price paid for all kinds of grain. Constant supply of flour and feed to exchange for grain, or for sale at lowest market prices.
Warehouse on railroad track.
W. A. SORSOLEIL, Agt. ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

FLOUR MILL SITES GO AT THE SAME FIGURE. DON'T MISS THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY.

E. M. HOFF

DEALER IN

DRY GOODS,
GROCERIES,
CLOTHING,
HATS, CAPS,
BOOTS, SHOES,
ETC., ETC.

Business in these lines is constantly on the increase, a busy day only means a busier one tomorrow. There's always accommodating clerks at the store. This stores untarnished record of honest selling of good articles at fair prices, of being a store which a child can buy goods is well known.

E. M. HOFF.

MISS C. S. HOFF,

DEALER IN

Fruits, Confectionery

AND CIGARS.

Post Office Building. St Hilaire, Minn.

ST. HILAIRE

Collection Agency.

Improved Farms for sale. Chattel and real estate loans made on short notice. I have a large lot of improved farms I will sell on easy terms. DAN PATTERSON.

N. M. WATSON, M. D.

Physician & Surgeon.

Graduate of the McGill University, Montreal Canada,

Office in Bank Block.

RED LAKE FALLS, MINNESOTA.

J. HOGQUIST,

Merchant - Tailor.

I have a full assortment of sample of goods for the spring and summer trade, at prices lower than can be had anywhere in the northwest for the same quality of goods.

ALL WORK GUARANTEED.

☞Give me a call and be convinced.

Respectfully yours,
J. HOGQUIST.

St. Hilaire, Minn.

J. A. DAINARD

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

MINNEAPOLIS
BEER
ALWAYS ON TAP.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

DAN PATERSON, Prop.

Dray in Connection.

The finest equipped turnouts in the northwest. ☞ Safe drivers and furnished at a moments notice at reasonable rates. Don't forget the place

BIG RED BARN.

Located on the east side of Broadway nearly opposite Rapp & Post's Store.

ST. HILAIRE - - - MINNESOTA

Red - River - Kennels.

☞ English Setters, Irish Setters and St. Bernards for sale at right prices.
Address:—RED RIVER KENNELS,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

WHAT YOU INVEST.

=$ $=

The
St. Hilaire Townsite Co.
will sell
For the Next Sixty Days desirable
LOTS
From $25 to $100.

Apply to H. E. IVES.

WHAT YOU MAKE.

$ $ $ $

VILLAGE COUNCIL.

CHAS. G. RAPP..............President
J. L. JOHNSON..............Recorder
H. J. FREEMAN, W. A. SORSOLEIL, M. Z. EPPERSON..........Councilmen
LEONARD HOLMES..........Treasurer

MARKET REPORT.

Wheat	45c	Butter	6@8c
Oats	10c	Eggs	6c
Barley	12c	Beans... (pr bu)	$1.00
Flax	47c	Potatoes "	15

LOCAL NEWS.

C. G. Rapp is doing business at Crookston this week.

M. E. Bjerk left on to-days train for a business trip to Crookston.

D. Aberle, of St. Paul, was doing business in town to-day.

S. Harris is spending this week in the putting up a large barn for Henrick Cuno.

Sheep-heads are the gamiest fish caught these days, and craw-fish is the bait.

Miss Katie Berglund closed her term of school in the Erickson district last Friday.

G. Arneson, of West Superior, was transacting business in the village last Monday.

Mrs. S. M. Dainard left on to-day's train for a few days visit to friends at Crookston.

Harry Swenson returned last Sunday from a trip through the Rainy Lake country.

The new ferry boat has been in operation about a week and is proving a success.

—Now is the time to subscribe for the SPECTATOR. $1.00 per year if paid in advance.

Peter Anderson, of Minneapolis, was in town on Monday on his way back from Red Lake agency.

Miss Phena Dainard returned home last Sunday from a week's visit to friends at Thief River Falls.

H. E. Ives and O. F. Post are at the county seat this week hustling in the interest of the village.

Joseph Loe, Jr., who resides a few miles west of here died last Wednesday from the effects of a sunstroke.

Dr. Watson, of Red Lake Falls, went north of here on a professional call last Friday returning the following day.

James Meehan, of Thief River Falls, was in town on Monday on his way to Crookston to attend the pine sale.

Miss Carrie Hoff, who has been visiting relatives at Park River, N. D. the past month returned home on Monday.

Leonard Holmes, the Deering machine man, reports a rushing business in mowers he having sold three yesterday.

Col. Stranahan has a crew of men at work this week putting up a barn on the rear end of his lots on Water Street.

J. E. Burkee and wife and O. P. Johnson and wife of Thief River Falls, visited friends in the village last Monday.

Miss Millie Stranahan, who has been visiting relatives at Thief River Falls the past week returned home last Monday.

Although the crop prospects are poor and times in general are hard, St. Hilaire has better prospects than ever before.

Mrs. Fellman, who has been visiting her sister Mrs. Sandmoen several days returned to her home at Croookston last Monday.

J. W. Swanstrom, of Thief River Falls, drove down last Monday afternoon to visit friends in the village a short time.

Mrs. M. Williams and two children of Wadena, Minn., arrived Friday, and will visit relatives and friends in this vicinity for a few weeks.

Swan Anderson, the Black River farmer, was in town last Monday. He reports that the crop psospects are not very brilliant out that way.

Peter Hall left Monday for Fergus Falls where he will attend the People's Party Congressional Convention which meets there to-day.

—If you want anything in the line of letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, envelopes, business cards, hand bills, in fact anything in the printing line, call at the SPECTATOR office. We guarantee satisfaction.

The sale of the Red Lake pine will occur to-day at Crookston. It is more than probable that it will mean much for the future of St. Hilaire.

Rev. Aastad, of Thief River Falls, held Confirmation services in the Norwegian Lutheran Church last Sunday, A class of ten were confirmed.

Dr. Henault, the dentist, will be at St. Hilaire the 20th of this month, and remain three days, and perhaps longer. Govern yourselves accordingly.

Pine cruisers were as thick as bees in a clover patch here last Monday. They were returning from the pineries to attend the pine sale at Crookston.

Painter Cleveland is decorating the interior of Chelin's restaurant and also giving the front a coat of paint this week, thereby greatly improving its appearance.

Mr. A. L. Arpin was in town last Monday for a short time. He has been looking over the pine at Red Lake and was headed for the Crookston sale.

If the People's Party and the free silver men unite on Bryan, the Democratic nominee, McKinley and his little gold lined tin pail will never come back.

Mr. J. Mead accompanied by Misses Carrie Pirath and Rachel Taylor drove up from Red Lake Falls last Sunday and visited with friends in the village a short time.

A game of ball was played here last Sunday afternoon between the "kid" nine and the Rocksbury nine. Five innings were played, the score standing 12 to 13 in favor of the Rocksbury boys.

Andrew L. Soll, of Park River N. D., and Frank Handy, of Grafton, N. D., brother and brother-in-law of Editor J. J. Soll, drove up from Crookston last Monday night and will remain here several days.

Dr. Henault, the dentist, left to-day for Thief River Falls, where he will remain three days at the expiration of that time he will again return to St. Hilaire and remain three days at least, if not longer.

Dr. Henault, the man who pulls teeth without causing any pain, will be here next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Be sure and call on him at the American house if you want anything done in this line.

Charley Rapp, accompanied Messrs. Kelley and Patrick, the pine land inspectors, to Red Lake Falls last Friday. The trip was made by boat and several dangerous rapids were passed over without meeting an accident.

L. T. Bergh who has been in the hospital at Grand Forks the past month owing to having been bit by a mad dog, returned home last Monday. He reports that his leg is about healed and that he expects to be at work again next week.

S. D. Patrick and M. Kelly, of Minneapolis, representing Shevlin, Carpenter & Co., were in town last Thursday. They have been at Red Lake for six weeks and made the trip from Thief River Falls here in a boat with W. A. Sorsoleil and O. F. Post. They went to Red Lake Falls from here with C. G. Rapp with a boat.

When the Populists four years ago declared that the money question was a more important issue than the tariff a cry of derision went up from one end of the country to the other and all the plutocrats joined in calling them calamity howlers. Now the calamity predicted by the Populists is here and the very fellows who called Populists calamity howlers admit that the money question is the most important.—Milwaukee Advance.

Wall street indorses McKinley, and it is safe to say that any presidential candidate Wall street indorses would be a good candidate for the people to defeat. The interests of Wall street and those of the toilers and producers are much different, and if Wall street is to be benefited by the election of McKinley, the toilers and producers are to be skinned.—Ridgway (Col.) Populist.

It makes an honest man's blood boil these days to read that rotten corrupt sheet, the St. Paul Pioneer Press. According to that paper all persons who advocate the free coinage of silver are "Tools, idiots, scoundrels, traitors, paid servants of the silver lords," and many other similar expressions. When it is known that the Pioneer Press is owned, newspaper, editors and all by a couple of Jew bankers of New York, their frenzy becomes plain. We take pleasure in informing the Pioneer Press that there exists more patriotism, integrity and honor in the meanest free silver man in the country than exists in all the dirty traitorous Jews in the country and their hired whelps thrown in on the bargain.

P. H. McPherson, the contractor and builder, who has the Patterson residence nearly completed, left Friday for Winnipeg, Manitoba, where he will take in the July 12th celebration and visit a few days with his family. Mac will return to his labors in a day or two.

Oscar Post and W. Sorsoleil left early last Thursday morning for Thief River Falls in response to a telegram from Messrs. Kelly and Patrick, who had just returned from a two months trip up in the Red Lake country inspecting pine for a large lumber company of Minneapolis. The boys took a boat from here and the party made the return trip down the river for the purpose of sounding and examining the stream in regard to driving logs. Everything looks favorable for St. Hilaire having a large saw mill.

Subscribe for the SPECTATOR.

Now is the time to get the SPECTATOR.

Wanted—An Idea Who can think of some simple thing to patent? Protect your ideas; they may bring you wealth. Write JOHN WEDDERBURN & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,800 prize offer and list of two hundred inventions wanted.

DIED On July 12th, 1896, Mrs. Lena Soll, wife of John J. Soll, from accidental drowning.

Mrs Soll was formerly Miss Lena Burkee, daughter of Simon Burkee, of Park River N. D. She was born in Norway January 31st 1868, and was married at Park River in November 1890. She leaves a husband, father, mother, two sisters and three brothers to mourn her loss.

It is with sorrow that we pen the above. Mrs. Soll has only been a resident of this village for a few weeks but during this short time she has by her excellence of character won the love and respect of every person who became acquainted with her. All who knew her praise her kindness, loving disposition and upright character. Loving hands have prepared her for her last resting place and she will be with us henceforth in memory alone. May she rest in peace.

To the sorrowing husband in his affliction we can speak for all in the village: "Your sorrow is ours. We sympathize with you and hope that the passage of time will at least partially heal the wound of to-day."

The saddest accident that has ever occurred in St. Hilaire happened last Sunday evening in the accidental drowning of Mrs Lena Soll wife of Editor John J. Soll of the Spectator.
After supper last Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Soll, Miss Mary Quande and W. C. Stranahan went down to the river for a boat ride. They got into the boat near the county bridge and started to cross the swift current at the foot of the race when the boat capsized throwing them all into the swift water. All three came up near the boat but Mrs. Soll who was sitting in the stern of the boat was thrown out so that she came up about twenty feet from the boat. Mr. Soll, Miss Quande and Will Stranahan caught hold of the boat but before help could reach Mrs. Soll she had sunk for the last time. The river there is about ten feet deep and the water very swift. O. F. Post who was on the bridge started with a boat and Christ Bjerk started to swim but the current hindred them from reaching her in time. Drag hooks were made and several boats full of men immediately started to search for the body. Work was continued until eleven o'clock but without avail. On Monday morning as soon as it was light work was resumed and Messrs. Patterson and Hall succeeded in finding the body about six o'clock. She was brought up town and prepared for burial at the residence of R. H. Aimer.
The funeral was held yesterday at one o'clock at the Lutheran Church, Rev. Aastad of Thief River Falls officiating, assisted by the village choir. E. M. Hoff, D. Patterson, S. M. Dainard, R. H. Aimer, W. A. Sorsoleil and J. C. Dahl acted as pall bearers.

All the business houses of the village were closed during the afternoon. The interment was at the Lutheran Cemetery east of town. All of our citizens and a large number from the surrounding country followed the remains to the last resting place.

A CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. John J. Soll wishes to extend his heart-felt thanks to the many kind friends in St. Hilaire and vicinity who so kindly extended aid and sympathy at the death and funeral of his beloved wife.

St. Hilaire July 14th, 1896.

It is said that a novelty in books is to be issued under the title of the Invalids' library. Each volume is "to be printed on a long strip of paper covered muslin, so that a patient can comfortably unroll it and read in bed, thus dispensing with the attendant fatigue of holding a heavy book." Why go to all this trouble and expense? Why not buy from the publisher a copy of a book before it is stitched for binding? In this way a handful of pages can be taken up at a time, and they are so light that it would be no effort for the weakest invalid to hold them. Another advantage of these unstitched sheets is that all the family can read the book at the some time. Let one get the start and the others can follow on. I gave some of these unstitched pages to a friend once, and she was delighted with the arrangement. The pages open out readily and have little or no weight, and then, she said, "it is so amusing for all of us to be reading the same book at the same time." The suggested invalids' library would be expensive, and I do not think that it would be as practical as the plan that I propose.—Critic.

Mr. Chamberlain has a weakness for quoting poetry in his speeches which he probably learned from his early master, Mr. John Bright, who was always quoting second and third rate stuff from American versifiers. Quotation should be very sparingly resorted to in rhetoric, though its happy use is of course one of the most successful tricks of the trade. It is remarkable how seldom men of literary training like Mr. John Morley, whose mind must be full of tags, ever employ the device. Lord Salisbury and Mr. Arthur Balfour never quote, the former probably because he is rather a lover of science than of letters, the latter perhaps because, as he says of himself, he is not a classical scholar. Mr. Gladstone used to quote a good deal, Latin and English, but Lord Beaconsfield more rarely, though he once recited a long passage from Cicero, a most hazardous experiment. Sir William Harcourt is fond of an occasional quotation, which is always apt, but his familiarity with the literature of the last century is rather woven into his speeches than exhibited between inverted commas.—

Communicated.

Valhall July 13 1896.

Editor Spectator:

Some one hath said: "If we do not hang together, we shall all hang seperately." Another one: "United we stand divided we fall." And a third: "In unity there is strength."

Considering these propositions we are more than justified in the undertaking we have commenced; i. e. the organization of a society (Valhall) in which we unite our efforts for the development of the higher faculties of the mind, and to suppress the low and the base; in short a society for the development of the mental and moral faculties. A society where such harmless amusements which youth delights in, are encouraged. Such amusements help to uphold the society and tends to keep our young men away from the baneful bar.

A society where no nationality is looked down upon; where all are regarded as brothers and sisters; where no partiality is shown on account of religious beliefs; but a hearty welcome is extended to all whenever we meet for business or amusement.

We believe that the real power of government in such a society does not lie so much in enforced rule as in appeals to native magnanimity, and sense of justice.

As a matter of course, we have met with oppositions and embarrassments from parties having pretended religious scruples against anything in the line of progression; but mostly from persons who must vent their spleen somewhere; probably they were overlooked when the society was organized, or were not allowed to be the ruling spirits.

However we will do as the people in the Old Country did when it rained. They let it rain till it was over, and so will we.
There is a saying that kites rise highest against and not with the wind.

We have been very successful in all our undertaking so far, and soon we will have plain sailing.

Yours for progression
Olefingerson.

PEOPLES PARTY
Delegate Convention.

The Peoples Party convention held at Crookston last Thursday to elect delegates to the State Congressional and Legislative conventions was called to order by Chairman Christ Houston of the County Central Committee. Martin O'Brien was chosen chairman and J. D. Knutson, K. O. Rollog secretaries. Hon. E. E. Lommen was authorized by the Convention to select 41 delegates to the Fergus Falls Congressional convention and the delegates selected were elected and instructed to use all honorable efforts to secure the nomination of Hon. E. E. Lommen for congress. Forty two delegates were elected to attend the State convention and they go without instructions.

For delegates to the legislative convention the following delegates were elected:

First district—Tucker Johnson, L. E. Nelson, Thos. J. Haugen.

Second—Ole Christianson, James Cummings, E. M. Bivins.

Third—K. J. Sandvig, S. Quarberg, Ole Siverson.

Fourth—H. E. Ives, Peter Hall, Henry Norland.

Fifth—John S. Dwyer, W. Lemen, Robt. Casemy.

At large—Christ Houston, A. Boule. They are also uninstructed.

THEN AND NOW.

The marked absense of spontaneous national enthusiasm over the action at St. Louis is but another evidence that there is a strong, determined realization of the existence of some sinister purpose in the effort so desperately forced by the single gold standard people. There is good reason for this distrust when any Republican who has his party's record in mind can not but help see the direct departure of the St. Louis platform from the financial declaration as announced in the conventions of 1888 and 1892. Read them:

Plank of 1888. "The Republican party is in favor of BOTH GOLD AND SILVER AS MONEY, and condemns the policy of the Democratic party in its efforts to DEMONETIZE SILVER."

Who reported this platform? Wm. McKinley of Ohio.

Minneapolis platform of 1892. "The American people from tradition and interest FAVOR BIMETALISM, and the Republican party demands the use of BOTH GOLD AND SILVER AS STANDARD MONEY!"

Who reported this platform? J. B. Foraker of Ohio.

St. Louis platform of 1896. " * * * We are therefore opposed to the free coinage of silver except by international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world, which we pledge ourselves to promote, and until such an agreement can be obtained THE EXISTING GOLD STANDARD MUST BE PRESERVED."

Who reported this platform? J. B. Foraker of Ohio. The same Foraker who, a few months ago made a speech favoring free coinage of silver.—Steele (N. D.) Ozone.

Subscribe for the Spectator.

Illinois' Nicknames.

Illinois has two nicknames. It was early called Prairie State, from the character of its land, which in most quarters is a rolling prairie. It was nicknamed the Sucker State, from the fact that early travelers on the prairies often suffered great straits for lack of water. They soon learned from the Indians how to satisfy their thirst, for proceeding to a low place in the prairie they would search for crawfish holes, into which they inserted a long straw and sucked up the water beneath. Such at least is the story told and explanation given of the nickname.

Something

RAPP & POST
General Merchants.
ST. HILAIRE, MINN.

For Nothing is what some people promise you, but everyone knows this is impossible.

We have one of the largest and very best assorted stocks of General Merchandise in the Northwest, and we can, and will sell our goods cheaper than they can be bought elsewhere.

We want you to give us a call and look at our goods and prices on everything and compare with others, and we are sure you will appreciate and patronize us.

Yours truly,
Rapp & Post.

For Sale! —The Earth

IN CHUNKS TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

IMPROVED FARMS. BUSINESS LOTS.
WILD LANDS. RESIDENCE LOTS.
HAY LANDS. MILL SITES.

☞Easy payments, long time low rate of interest. Call on H. E. IVES, REAL ESTATE BROKER.

☞SPECTATOR OFFICE, St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

JUSTUS L. JOHNSON,

DEALER IN

Drugs and Stationery

St. Hilaire, Minnesota.

ST. HILAIRE MEAT MARKET

ALL KINDS OF

Fresh and Salt Meats.

FRESH FISH AND GAME IN SEASON.

Highest Price paid for Hides, Wool, Veal, Mutton and Poultry.

S. M. DAINARD, PROPRIETOR.

American Hotel

W. A. ARTHUR, PROPRIETOR.

Newly Furnished and First-Class in every respect.

Special attention given to Traveling men, hunting parties and also fishing parties.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - - - - MINNESOTA

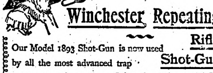
Boot and Shoe Store!

L. K. KOLSTAD, PROP.

DEALER IN

Boots and Shoes. Hand made Shoes a specialty.

St. Hilaire, - - - - - Minnesota



Winchester Repeating

Rifles
Shot-Guns
Single Shot-Rifles

Our Model 1893 Shot-Gun is now used by all the most advanced trap and game shooters.

ASK YOUR DEALER TO SHOW YOU THIS GUN.

Everything that is Newest and Best in Repeating Arms as well as all kinds of Ammunition are made by the

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO., Winchester Ave., New Haven, Conn.

☞Send a Postal Card with your address for our 112-page Illustrated Catalogue.

Eat

Saturally, have a good appetite, keep your blood pure and your nerves strong by taking

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills cure biliousness, headache. 25c.

Transporting Perishable Food.

In no more emphatic manner are modern facilities of transportation emphasized than in the safety with which perishable food is conveyed from a great distance. In this particular Australia, South America and the United States are no further removed from Europe than a single province formerly was from the capital of the country of which it formed a part. Algeria is now supplying Paris with camel meat. An extensive plant has been created in that French colony for the killing and refrigerating of those animals, and daily shipments are made to Paris. The meat of the camel is described as not unlike beef, with the tenderness of veal. The hump is the choicest portion. Eggs that formerly were gathered near the localities where they were sold now come from distant points. Four million daily are received in London from foreign countries. Most of them come from Russia. They command in England twice the price they bring in the home market. The export of eggs from Russia in 1885 amounted to 235,000,000 and increased in 1895 to 1,250,000,000. These are official figures. The larger proportion of this product goes to England. In addition, great quantities of dressed fowl are annually exported from Russia to all European countries.—New York Sun.

Agents Wanted.

The Home Life Insurance company of New York issues the most attractive policies of any old line company. The cash value and loaning privileges each year are plainly guaranteed in the policy. An energetic, live man, well acquainted, is desired as a local agent. Special territory and liberal contract will be given. References required. Address or call on Fred F. Loomis, general manager, 306-9 Pioneer Press building, St. Paul.

Confining if You Are Caught.

"Isn't that sort of work very confining?" asked the visitor who had been permitted to go into the room where the bank note engravers were at work.

"Sometimes it is, ma'am," answered the pale-faced artist whom she had addressed. "I am personally acquainted with a man who did a job of this kind once without orders, and he was confined seven years for it, ma'am."—Chicago Tribune.

Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Is a constitutional cure. Price, 75c.

Doesn't Look It.

Wheeler—I understand that you said I was nothing but a fiend in human shape when I took a notion to scorch a little.

Walker—I believe I did; but since you seem so cut up about it, I'll take the "human shape" part of it out.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Double Failure.

Thirsty Customer—Seems to me this mint julip is mighty weak.

Bartender—Yes, sir. Mint crop in Michigan is a total failure this year, sir.

Thirsty Customer (tasting it again)—Been a failure in the julip crop, too, hasn't there?—Chicago Tribune.

FITS stopped free and permanently cured. No fits after first day's use of Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. Free $2 trial bottle and treatise. Marvelous cures. Dr. Kline, 931 Arch St. Philadelphia, Pa.

A Base Hit.

"I found a good bargain in men's shoes to-day," said Jorkins, after he had picked everything on the supper table to pieces.

"You have had better luck than I ever had," retorted his wife.—Detroit Free Press.

Some Hope for Her.

The Lady—It runs right into something the minute you let go. Oh, I'm sure I can never learn to ride it.

Instructor—Stick to it, ma'am; you'll learn soon. Why, I taught an idiot to ride last week.—Answers.

Something Nature Forgot to Do for Her.

"If he comes," she said to the servant, "show him right into the refrigerator. I know it is informal, but I don't propose to be curling my hair every fifteen minutes if I know myself."—Detroit Tribune.

Socialism in Brief.

A.—Now, if I understand correctly, the first principle of socialism is to divide with your brother man.

B.—Then you don't understand it correctly. The first principle of socialism is to make your brother man divide with you.—Birmingham Post.

A Rift in the Cloud.

"I guess country board will be some cheaper this summer than usual," said Mr. Meekton.

"Why?"

"The price of canned goods has gone down considerably."—Washington Star.

The issue of shares in the exhibition to be held in Paris in 1900 will take place this month.

Scientists predict that 100 years hence there will be no such thing as an incurable disease.

WE RECEIVE WHEAT ON CONSIGNMENT.

We make liberal advances and prompt returns.

OSBORN, CROSBY & CO.
Flour Exchange, Minneapolis.

Don't take substitutes to save a few pennies. It won't pay you. Always insist on HIRES Rootbeer.

Made only by The Charles E. Hires Co., Philadelphia. A 25c. package makes 5 gallons. Sold everywhere.

STEADY WORK WE PAY CASH WEEKLY and want men everywhere to SELL STARK TREES millions tested, proven "absolutely best." Superb outfits, new system. STARK BROTHERS, Louisiana, Mo., Rockport, Ill.

OPIUM Habit Cured. Est. in 1871. Thousands cured. Cheapest and best cure. FREE TRIAL. State case. Dr. Marsh, Quincy, Mich.

PISO'S CURE FOR
CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.
Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use in time. Sold by druggists.
CONSUMPTION

GOLD AND SILVER

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE GREAT BRITAIN BIMETALLIC LEAGUE.

The Annual Report Shows That There Has Been Great Progress During the Past Year—Review of the Silver Question in the United States Is Given by Gen. Walker.

London, July 15. — The Bimetallic League of Great Britain held its annual meeting to-day in the Canon Street hotel. The annual report declares that the cause of international bimetallism has made substantially great progress during the year, both in Great Britain and abroad. It mentions the resolutions adopted by the chamber of deputies in France and the Prussian diet, declaring for bimetallism, and continues:

"In the United States all parties and classes would welcome international bimetallism. A large section of the people there, however, are strongly convinced of the urgent necessity for the remonetization of silver, and they are indisposed to wait for international agreement. No party of any importance in the United States favors gold monometallism."

The report concludes as follows:

"The responsibility for the present and growing dangers to the industrial life of the nation rests upon those who oppose that monetary system under which our property advanced by leaps and bounds."

A letter was read from Lord Aldenham (Henry Hucks Gibbs), president of the league, in which he congratulates the members upon the great progress which has been made in the United States.

"It is, indeed, a striking fact," he writes, "that this question, which some here affect to treat with contempt, should be, apparently, the main political question before a nation of 70,000,000 people."

He then alludes to what he terms the ignorance of the London press upon this subject.

"They joined," he said, "the chorus for 'honest money,' believing that these words are applied in America to gold monometallism, and not, as they really are, to international bimetallism. Whatever may be the result of the presidential election," Lord Aldenham added, "we may be sure that our cause generally is prospering."

The meeting was largely attended. Robert Barclay of Manchester presided. A letter of regret was read from A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, who said that only sickness prevented him from being present. Gen. F. A. Walker of Boston, Mass., made a speech which was greeted with great enthusiasm. Gen. Walker gave a review of the silver question from the American standpoint. He said that the all-engrossing topic with the Republican national convention in St. Louis was the currency question. Gen. McKinley, he said, was never a gold monometallist and could not be if he tried. Gen. Walker read the Kohlsaat-St. Louis resolution on the currency issue and the Boston resolution regarding the gold standard, both of which were heartily cheered. Gen. Walker continued:

"It is simply to be deeply regretted that millions of our best citizens, as represented at the Chicago convention last week, declared for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 without waiting for the action of the countries. This was done passionately, but the effect will be to maintain the gold standard unimpaired."

Among the distinguished gentlemen present were Lord Lidderdale, Sir Thomas Sutherland, William E. Tomlinson, J. W. D. Scott-Montague, H. S. Forster, Mr. Frewen, Lord Sherbourne and Prof. Foxwell and L. D. Price and others.

INTO THE DITCH.

A Passenger Train Is Wrecked by a Cow.

Hazelton, Pa., July 15.—A passenger train on the Lehigh Valley, between White Haven and this city, ran into a cow to-day and the engine and three cars toppled over the ridge of a high embankmen. Engineer William Doucher received injuries from which he died shortly afterward; Barney Money (the fireman), was seriously injured, and more than a score of passengers were badly hurt. Several of these will die. The most seriously injured are: Mrs. R. L. Clark, Ashley; Mrs. John Broduhn, Wilkesbarre, both of whom will probably die. Patrick McCloskey of Philadelphia was badly crushed about body and legs; may die. Mary S. Bahr of Towanda, fact and body badly cut and bruised; condition critical. Samuel Gayle, New York, leg and right side badly bruised. J. T. Hoyt, Binghamton, N. Y., legs and arms badly bruised. E. E. Richards, Boston, bruised about body. Charles Gulder, Baltimore, scalp wounds. S. Galowaski, New York, chest and legs hurt.

Many other persons were severely scalded by escaping steam. A relief train was sent from here with physicians to attend the wounded.

Lightning on the Wires.

Black River Falls, Wis., July 15.—Lightning ran into the American Express office on the wires, destroying the Wisconsin Telephone company's central station and cutting off all communication on the lines. The building was nearly ruined. No insurance.

Proposals Rejected.

Alton, Ill., July 15.—The American Flin Glass workers' convention to-day rejected all propositions for the establishment of co-operative plants. The committees reporting to-day showed little change in the wage schedules.

George Gray Bolts.

Wilmington, July 15.—Senator Geo. Gray said to-day in reference to the Chicago platform. "The financial plank of the platform is contrary to all my beliefs and to what I consider sound currency. I shall not change these beliefs; even at the bidding of a Democratic national convention. Convictions cannot be compromised."

Isaac N. Camp, a pioneer in the music trade in Chicago, a world's fair director and member of several clubs, died suddenly at Geneva Lake, Wis.

Shot and Lay in the Brush.

Sioux City, Iowa, Special.—Fishermen on the Sioux river, four miles north of this city, discovered on the bank of the stream near the Riverside club boat house, the body of F. J. Kahn, a traveling representative of Cohn & Neisser, Milwaukee jewelry manufacturers. He had been shot through the head, and it is supposed he has been lying in the brush nearly two days. He was able to say he thought he had been shot, but the police maintain that he attempted suicide. He will die.

A TERRIBLE RIDE

From the Times, Buffalo, N. Y.

Along one of the dismal roads in Western New York, a man and wife were driving as rapidly as the darkness and inclement weather would permit.

The rain beat down upon the rubber covering and found its way into every crack and opening. The occupants of the buggy were Dean Jones and his wife, of Springville, N. Y. Everybody is familiar with the name. He is the well-known starting judge, who has become famous for his impartial and fair treatment of jockeys at the post.

It was about ten years ago when Mr. and Mrs. Jones took that fateful ride that came near costing her her life. Mrs. Jones' clothes were thoroughly soaked before town was reached. There was no fire in their hotel room and she became chilled to the bone before the little blaze the attendant started warmed the atmosphere. From that time on Mrs. Jones was an ill woman. Her trouble—well, it was about everything with which human flesh can be afflicted. She had a strange, queer feeling in her head, that felt as if several shot were rolling around loose on her brain. Pen cannot describe the torture she suffered. Local doctors told her she had water on the brain. A Times reporter called upon Mrs. Jones, who said:

"Ever since that terrible wetting I received, up to a year ago, I was an invalid. I had terrible neuralgia pains in the head which often went to my feet and limbs. I was often in such a terrible state that I had to use a crutch to get around or else slide a chair before me to move about the house. I was very ill for five years, in spells, and never expected to get well. It was a blood disease, I guess. One of the doctors I consulted said I had clotted blood in my head, and perhaps I did. He could not cure me, neither could several other doctors I tried. I also used many patent medicines, but they did me no good. My complexion was a perfect white, and my ears so transparent you could look through them. My blood was turning to water.

"Look at me now; do I look sick?"

The reporter was forced to admit that he had seldom seen a more perfect embodiment of health.

With pardonable pride Mrs. Jones said: "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People did it. I can go anywhere now, while before I commenced using Dr. Williams' remedy I could not move out of the house. For three years, would you believe it, I did not even go to church. I was not always confined to my bed, but could not leave the house. Wherever I go, people say: 'Why, Mrs. Jones, how well you are looking. How did it happen?' and I always tell them 'Pink Pills did it.' I have not had the slightest touch of my old illness for the last six months, and feel as if I never had been ill in my life."

Mr. Jones said: "You can readily imagine how highly we regard the remedy in this house, where we have had a wife and mother restored to perfect health."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price (50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50—they are never sold in bulk, or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Corn Culture.

Within the last twenty years methods of corn culture have changed very materially. Close study and observation of the habits of the plant has finally taught us that the best results are obtained by disturbing the roots as little as possible; and to-day, instead of using instruments that prune the roots, we are using those that disturb them as little as possible. Shallow-working implements have given by far the best results in late years. Experimental stations by comprehensive tests extending over several years, have demonstrated that by shallow cultivation the yield has been increased considerably. Surface cultivation, when land has previously been well plowed and thoroughtly barrowed, enables the plant to obtain the necessary food from the soil without further stirring except that necessary to exterminate weeds and conserve moisture.

Mistaken Identity.

A man was wanted for deserting his wife. A policeman found a person answering the description, showed him a photograph and said: "Is that you?" The man said "Yes," and was arrested. He protested that he had not deserted his wife, but the woman came forward and positively identified him. A little later she took another good look at his side face and said as positively that he was not her husband. Now it turns out that he and the true culprit are both thirty-seven years old, are both potmen, are both married and both have three children.—London Letter.

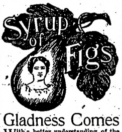
Valuable Franchise Secured.

The franchise of easy digestion—one of the most valuable in the gift of medical science—can be secured by any person wise enough to use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, either to suppress growing dyspepsia, or to uproot it at maturity. Bilious, rheumatic and fever and ague sufferers, persons troubled with nervousness, and the constipated, should also secure the health franchise by the same means.

No; Abolish the Fools.

Jeems—A man's a fool to marry when he can't afford it.

Deems—Then your theory is to abolish marriage altogether?—Kansas City World.



Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

AN OPEN REVOLT.

Gold Democrats of Illinois Want Another Ticket.

Chicago, July 15. — The executive committee of the gold standard Democrats of Illinois met in a protracted session and prepared an address to the Democracy of the other states of the Union. It was the unanimous opinion of the committee that a second Democratic national convention should be called to nominate candidates for president and vice president. The address is as follows:

To Our Fellow Democrats of Other States: A national convention convened under the constituted authority of our party has just closed its session in the city of Chicago.

It entered upon its work by violating all party precedents in the rejection of a distinguished Democrat as its temporary chairman; it deprived a sovereign state of a voice in its deliberations by unseating without cause or legal justification delegates elected with all the regularity known to party organizations; it refused to endorse the honesty and fidelity of the present Democratic national administration; it adopted a platform which favors the free and unlimited coinage of silver by this country alone at the ratio of 16 to 1, and thereby it repudiated a time-honored Democratic principle which demands the strict maintenance of a sound and stable national currency.

Finally, to make it still more plainer that, although in name, it was not in fact a Democratic convention, it nominated for president one who is not in his political convictions and has not always been, even in his professions, a Democrat.

Want a New Ticket.

This has made such a crisis, both for the nation and the Democratic party, that sound money Democrats must at once decide what political action they will take for the protection of the honor of the nation, the prosperity of the people and the life and usefulness of the party. The sound money Democrats of Illinois have fully made up their minds that a new Democratic national convention should be called for the earliest feasible day to nominate Democratic candidates for president and vice president, and to adopt a platform of Democratic principles and they desire to state to their fellow Democrats of the other states their reasons, as follows:

First—Sound money Democrats owe it to the country to make it certain at once that their revolt against free silver is determined and will be organized. It is unfair to oblige the credit of the nation and the business and industrial interests of the people to merely guess what the sound money Democrats will do in November, and to wait until November to find out.

Second—The nomination of a new ticket is the logical course. Without it and a sound money Democratic campaign the whole educational force of sound money Democratic sentiment would be paralyzed from the beginning. Republicans cannot argue the sound money question to Democratic voters. Republican sincerity on that question is doubted by the mass of Democrats. The tariff question will be put to the front and insisted upon by the Republican speakers and the Republican press as it has persistently been by Mr. McKinley himself. Democrats will not listen to lessons on finance when accompanied by abuse of the Democratic party. The most effective force at this time for a campaign is the force residing in the sound money Democrats; for they are profoundly in earnest and can get a hearing from Democrats that the Republicans cannot possibly get.

Demand a Separation.

Third—A new convention would also preserve for the future the opportunities of the Democratic party. Unless a clear cut separation is made between the genuine Democrats and Democrats who are drifting into Populism, or are already in Populism; and unless that clear cut separation is supported by organization and a reorganized Democratic party is the result, the party has no chance of regaining public confidence for years to come. The sound money Democrats in the different states must either make it clear that they have no association with the Bryan party, or they must accept association and entanglement with it; and all state organizations will in the public mind be for it that do not make it absolutely clear that they are against it.

Communications should be addressed to Charles A. Ewing, chairman, Palmer house, Chicago.

(Signed) —John M. Palmer,
—Charles A. Ewing,
—James H. Eckels,
—Franklin MacVeagh,
—Ben T. Cable,
—William S. Forman,
—Thomas A. Moran,
—John P. Hopkins,
—Henry S. Robbins,
—A. A. Goodrich,
—James T. Hoblitt,
—Adolph Kraus,
—James M. Sheehan,
—Charles H. Williamson,
—Lynden Evans,
—R. E. Spangler,
Executive Committee of the Honest Money Democracy of Illinois.

Conspiracy Unearthed.

London, July 15.—A dispatch to the Times from Lima, Peru, says a conspiracy organized by Gen. Caceres against the government has been discovered and that many officers and civilians have been arrested.

Fire at Oshkosh.

Oshkosh, Wis., July 15. — A large warehouse and eleven lumber piles belonging to Stanhilber, Amos & Co. were destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $7,000, fully insured.

An Editor's Wife Drowned.

St. Hilaire, Minn., July 15.—Mrs. J. J. Soll, wife of the editor of the St. Hilaire Spectator, was drowned while boating here last night. The boat was overturned by the swift current, throwing out Mr. and Mrs. Soll, Miss Mary Krande and William Stranahan. All were saved except Mrs. Soll. The body was recovered this morning.

At St. George's church, Hanover Square, London, Mrs. A. S. Kip of New York was married to J. Baker, also of New York.

Fire in Nashville.

Nashville, Special.—Fire broke out in the Rosenheim Dry Goods company's building, located in one of the central blocks of the city, to-day. Nearly the whole of the block fronting on Dederick street was destroyed. The loss is estimated at $300,000. The stock of several stores adjoining the Rosenheim building were badly damaged by smoke and water.

The yield of wheat in France, owing to the careful cultivation of the soil, and the large quantities of guano and other fertilizers employed, is seventeen bushels per acre.

Awarded
Highest Honors—World's Fair,

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

MOST PERFECT MADE.

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

CLEVER LOUISIANA MICE.

Easily Outwitted Both a Man and His Big Tom Cat.

B. C. Willis, living in the country below here, says that for some time past he has been greatly annoyed by rats in his smoke house. About a month ago he purchased a big wire and tin rat trap, and has since succeeded in catching some twenty-five of the big rodents. This seemed to settle matters so far as rats were concerned, but no sooner were they disposed of than the mice became equally as obnoxious, the rats having left them a fair field.

As he had no mouse trap on the place, Willis borrowed a big cat from one of his neighbors, and last night put Tom in the smoke house to make a raid on the mice. This morning he visited the scene of battle, hoping to find the cat master of the situation, with the mice nowhere in evidence. Instead he found the cat sitting on his haunches the picture of misery, having been outwitted by the designs of the overastute mice.

It seems that Willis had left the big rat trap sitting behind a barrel in the smoke house, and into this the mice had betaken themselves as soon as they found they were being closely chased by poor Tom, who had not been able to make an entrance into the barricade of tin and wire. When Willis found the trap there were eleven scared little mice safely housed therein. Thinking, of course, that he had them captured he fastened Tom in the smoke house again, and carried the trap outside, setting it down by the door while he went for a kettle of boiling water to demolish the catch at one fell swoop.

But those mice had not lived in vain. Finding themselves safely outside and beyond the reach of the cat's paws, they lost no time in improving their opportunity for escape afforded by Willis' absence, and made their exit from the big rat trap as easily as they had entered it, and scampered off into safe hiding places before another and swifter danger overtook them.—Alexandria (La.) Times.

No More Wedding Rings.

Wedding rings are doomed and a fashion 2,000 years old is doomed with them. The coming woman will have nothing to do with symbols and intends to be married in as short order as possible, without any of the folderol that her very feminine predecessors delighted in. Moreover, there is a significance in the marriage ring that does not please the modern woman. When the Roman put a tiny iron band about his new wife's finger it was understood to be the outward and visible sign of his absolute authority. She was bound to him by an indissoluble band, and was his to own and command. Therefore she wore her ring upon her left or inferior hand, while her husband arrogantly placed his upon the right or superior hand; so what justification could the modern woman have for accepting the sign of an authority which she would refuse to recognize? She will have nothing to do with a gift fraught with so obsolete a significance as the wedding ring.

For the sake of consistency, it is only proper that the engagement ring should go at the same time, since, if a woman is not bound after marriage, she surely is not before. Princess May has shown her approval of the abolition of this custom by substituting an engagement bracelet for the conventional ring of betrothal. Among those who regard royal precedent as authoritative Princess May's action should dispose of the engagement ring conclusively.—New York World.

I believe Piso's Cure is the only medicine that will cure consumption.—Anna M. Ross, Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 12, '95.

Veils for Summer Wear.

A veil protects the face from dust, gives a stylish finish to the headgear, and improves the looks of the wearer if the right kind is worn. A dotted veil is usually more becoming than a plain one, but the dots should be far apart so as not to come within the line of the eyes. Black veils are the first choice, then black with white figures and border. A bordered veil must be worn with the border below the chin. A double-width veil, having loose, easy folds under the chin, is the most becoming to a slender face. Black veils are worn with any color of hat, but brown and blue ones only look well with hat or trimming of the same color. Gray is worn with any hat, and gray chiffon veiling is very stylish this season for traveling wear. Cream-white veils are becoming to young fresh faces even up to middle life, but clear white nets are trying to any woman over twenty-five. Veils are not properly worn to evening entertainments.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Flexibility of the Electric Motor.

As showing the diversity of uses in which the electric motor is now being put, there were received in the power department of a large electrical company, during the first two weeks of last month, orders for motors to operate printing presses, saws and planers in a box factory, mining machinery in a coal mine, machinery in a large bakery, blowers in a stove works, a fire pump, a mine pump, large arc-lighting dynamos, a jig crane, traveling cranes, machinery in an oil-cloth works and an inclined railway, besides several other appliances.

In modern days Moltke made his reputation partly in 1864 and 1866, but chiefly in the Franco-German war of 1870 and 1871, when he was seventy years old.

Patents Issued.

List of patents issued last week to Northwestern inventors

Charles A. Donaldson, Minneapolis, Minn, lock hinge; Peter Norsberg, Minneapolis, Minn., spring and air cushion; Jacob Heilbron, St. Paul, Minn., hydrocarbon vaporizer and burner; Iver Iverson, Minneapolis, Minn., combination lock; Fletcher W. Penhall, Morton, Minn., speculum; Edward C. and G. R. Shaw, Rushmore, Minn., band cutter and feeder; Herbert I. Walton, Minneapolis, Minn., automatic switch lock for railways; Allan C. Weston, Minneapolis, Minn., toy musical wheel; Geo. A. and F. C. Gregerson, Rochester, Minn., harness eye; North Dakota Milling company, Grand Forks, N. D., (trade-mark) breakfast food, flour, cracked wheat, grits, farina and purified middlings; Washburn-Crosby company, Minneapolis, Minn., (trade-mark) wheat flour.

T. D. Merwin, Patent Lawyer, 910, 911 and 912, Pioneer Press Building, St. Paul, Minn.

KILLED BY AN ANT'S BITE.

Georgian Dies in Agony From the Sting of an Insect.

News of a remarkable death, near Pond Springs, Ga., a few miles from this city, was received here this afternoon. Ben Harris, the eighteen-year-old son of a farmer, was hoeing cotton in a large field. A laborer working near him heard the boy give a wild scream. The young man then ran a few feet and sunk to the ground writhing and screaming in agony. In ten minutes the boy was dead. Examination showed that Harris had been stung by a "bull-ant," as the insect is called in that country. The ant was found clinging to the swollen, purple ankle of the unfortunate lad, and was secured and preserved by David Hall, a Chattanoogan, who was in the vicinity. Mr. Hall said that bull-ants are numerous in the Pigeon mountains, the scene of the occurrence. They are about an inch in length, and have a stinger which is fully half an inch long. One other case is on record where the bite of the insect proved fatal.—St. Louis Constitution.

Hegeman's Camphor Ice with Glycerine. Cures Chapped Hands and Face, Tender or Sore Feet, Chilblains, Piles, &c. C. G. Clark Co., New Haven, Ct.

Keeping It to Himself

Diggs—What makes you wear your coat buttoned up to the chin that way, old man? It isn't cold to-day.

Griggs—I know it, but my wife made me a present yesterday of a new necktie that she had bought for herself.—Sommerville Journal.

Centrally Located.

"Did you go to see that room just one minute from the station?"

"Yes."

"How was it?"

"Back room over the freight office."—Chicago Record.

Thin Bread and Butter.

Many physicians, according to a lecturer on dietetics, are ordering thin bread and butter for delicate patients, especially those suffering from dyspepsia, consumption and anaemia, or any who need to take on flesh. This thin bread and butter insensibly induces persons to eat much more butter than they have any idea of. It is extraordinary, says the lecturer, how short a way a pat of fresh butter will go if spread on a number of thin slices of bread. This is one advantage, and a great one, in the feeding of invalids, for they are thereby provided with an excellent form of the fat which is so essential for their nutrition in a way that lures them to take it without rebellion. But the thin bread and butter has another advantage equally as great—it is very digestible and easily assimilated. Fresh butter made from cream is very much more digestible when spread upon thin slices of bread than the same amount of cream eaten as cream, per se, would be.—Troy Times.

If the Baby Is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething.

Much Worse.

She—Do you know anything worse than a man taking a kiss without asking for it?

He—I do.

She—What, for instance?

He—Asking for it without taking it.—Life.

Not Built That Way.

Justice—You are charged with stealing Col. Julep's chickens. Have you any witnesses?

Uncle Moses—I heb not. I don't steal chickens befo, witnesses.—Amusing Journal.

The towpaths of all the New York canals are now open to bicyclists.

Naked Pills

are fit only, for naked savages. Clothes are the marks of civilization—in pills as well as people. A good coat does not make a good pill, any more than good clothes make a good man. But as sure as you'd look on a clothesless man as a mad one, you may look on a coatless pill as a bad one. After fifty years of test no pills stand higher than

AYER'S
Cathartic Pills
SUGAR COATED.

Kickapoo Indian Sagwa.

Makes marvelous cures. Purely vegetable and absolutely harmless.

The Great Blood Purifier.

FREE HOMES From Uncle Sam.

Nearly 2,000,000 Acres of Government Lands Now Open to Settlement

IN NORTHERN ARKANSAS.

They are fertile, well-watered, heavily-timbered, and produce grains, grasses, fruits and vegetables in abundance. North Arkansas apples are noted. The climate is delightful, winters mild and short. These lands are subject to homestead entry of 160 acres each. NOW IS THE TIME TO GET A HOME. For further information address

Enclose 10 cents in Silver. E. V. M. POWELL, Immigration Agent, Harrison, Ark.

Refers to Bank of Harrison and Boone County Bank, Harrison, Ark.

Battle Ax PLUG
NORTH POLE

"The North Pole made use of at last."

Battle Ax PLUG

Always at the front and wherever "BATTLE AX" goes it is the biggest thing in sight. It is as remarkable for its fine flavor and quality as for its low price. A 5 cent piece of "BATTLE AX" is almost as large as a 10 cent piece of any other equally good tobacco.

OVER FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS WORTH OF BINDING TWINE IN OUR WAREHOUSE IN MINNEAPOLIS TO-DAY OF THE NO. 97 MANILLA (notwithstanding some unscrupulous dealers are reporting that we are out of Twine), which runs 600 to 650 feet to the pound. This Twine we consider to be the cheapest in the market to-day to buy. We are selling it at 6¼ cents per pound. We have to-day some of the No. 87 S. Sisal Standard Mixed, 500 feet to the pound, at 5½ cents per pound; also have some No. 87 M. Standard Mixed Manilla, 550 feet to the pound, at 5¾ cents per pound; but as the quantity of the No. 87 S. and the No. 87 M. is getting low, when your order is received, if out of the No. 87, unless you state not to, we will send you the value of the No. 97 Twine.
T. M. ROBERT'S SUPPLY HOUSE, NOS. 509, 515, 717, 719 and 721 NICOLLET AVE., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
N. B.—We have, in addition to the above, bought Ten Thousand Dollars worth of the No. 107 pure Manilla, which runs from 700 to 750 feet to the pound. Price 7¼ cents per pound. This Twine we have not a large stock of, and in ordering it, please make first and second choice.

MISSING ISSUE

Date: Jul 22, 1896

Minn Hist Society

MINNESOTA
HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR.

VOLUME XV. ST.HILAIRE, POLK COUNTY, MINNESOTA, WEDNESDAY JULY 29, 1896. NUMBER 52.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

EVENTS OF THE PAST WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

A General Resume of the Most Important News of the Week, From all Parts of the Globe, Boiled Down and Arranged in Convenient Form for Rapid Perusal by Busy People.

Washington Talk.

The president has commuted to imprisonment for life the death sentences imposed upon the three Texans, John C. Hall, Tom Davis and Taylor Hickman. They were to be hanged Sept. 4 next.

Edward B. Webster, the young navy paymaster who was recently court-martialed at Mare Island and found guilty of a charge of embezzlement, does not intend to abide by the judgment of the court. He will appeal to President Cleveland.

People in Print.

Rev. D. Halsey W. Knapp, well known Baptist, died at his home in Brooklyn, aged 77 years.

Gen. Joshua Siegfried, aged 64, died at Pottsville, Pa. He was prominent among the veterans, the capitalists, and the philanthropists in his state.

Ex-Gov. J. H. Williams died at his home in Augusta, Me., at the age of 84. For nearly fifty years Mr. Williams had held various positions of public trust, having been United States senator, president of the senate and governor of the State of Maine.

Prof. Bernard Moses, who occupies the chair of political science at the University of California, has been offered a similar chair at the University of Chicago. Prof. Moses has been connected with the University of California since 1875.

Adolphe Ebeling, the German writer, is dead in Cologne. He was born in 1827 at Hamburg. After graduating at Heidelberg he made a voyage to Brazil and returned to France. He taught the German language in Paris until the war of 1870, when he lived in Dusseldorf, in Cologne, and after the peace, in Metz, where he was intrusted with the direction of press affairs.

Casualties.

Frederick McNicholas of Marinesco was run over and killed by an ore train near Marinesco, Mich. He leaves a wife and family

Southern Kansas and Southern and Western Missouri have experienced the heaviest rains for years, and considerable damage will result.

Fred. C. Harnsen of Warsaw, Ind., while assisting in a barn-raising, was killed by a falling rafter. His brother met a similar death four years ago.

Joseph Gorman, forty-nine years of age, of Barberton, Ohio, swallowed several tacks. They could not be dislodged, dysentery set in, and Gorman died in terrible agony.

While driving a horserake near Edinburg, Ind., Fenten Wright fell upon the farm implement, when the horse bolted, and both of his eyes were gouged out.

To quell a riot in one of the corridors Jailer Richardson of Geneva, Ill., fired a shot at the ceiling, which is made of heavy metal plates. The ball glanced and struck Joseph Allen, a prisoner from Elgin, killing him instantly.

The body of the man drowned at Allegan, Mich., while trying to escape arrest for assaulting a girl, has been identified as that of M. M. Stevens of Grand Rapids, Mich. A verdict of suicide was rendered.

A disastrous railroad wreck occurred on the Chicago & Texas railroad, one mile south of Murphysboro, Ill. A trestle over Big Muddy creek gave way, and one passenger coach was ditched. Twelve persons were injured, two of whom may die.

James Cranston, proprietor of Cranston's mills at English, Ind., was killed by a boiler explosion. He had run his mill all night, in the absence of the engineer, who declared that Mr. Cranston should act as engineer one night while the engineer should enjoy a holiday.

Two children of Ira Reese were buried alive near Fowler, Kas. They were playing under a sand bank, when it suddenly gave way. The accident was witnessed by their father, but they were dead when he dug the sand away from them. The girl was twelve years old and the boy six.

Lawrence Murphy, aged twenty-seven, a featherweight boxer of Saginaw, Mich., boarded a moving freight car on the Lake Shore road at Toledo. While standing on the car he was struck by the Fassett street bridge and knocked under the wheels and his head completely severed from his body.

The medical examination of the body of William Metcalf, the farmer killed by lightning near Kokomo, Ind., revealed a curious state of facts. It was found that nearly every bone in his body was burst, all of them being shattered and reduced to small splinters without burning or lacerating the flesh.

Naylor's opera house at Terre Haute, Ind., built at a cost of $300,000, about thirty years ago, was destroyed by fire. The opera house was occupied by Espenheim & Albrecht, dry goods. The Cincinnati house, recently built at a cost of $50,000, and two buildings adjoining were also destroyed. The loss is $400,000.

Evil Doings.

George Grant and David Cook, farmers of Columbia, Mo., quarreled over religion, and the latter was shot in the abdomen. Missouri university professors will search for the bullet with X rays.

Bob Heth, the outlaw, who, when pursued by a posse of farmers, shot one of them. Charles Ford, whose house he had just robbed, and seriously injured several others by blows from the butt end of a gun, was captured at Joplin, Mo.

James French, an Italian of Rockford, Ill., murdered his wife by shooting her eight times and then escaping from the crowd that had gathered to seize him, shot himself in the head and sprang into the river. He was rescued by the police and still lives.

Near Huntington, W. Va., A. J. Call and Nettie, his daughter, living on a shanty boat, were murdered by Etta Robins. The woman was in a fury and attacked her victims with an ax, with which weapon she also wounded several children on the boat, some of whom may die of their injuries.

President Cleveland has commuted to imprisonment for life the death sentence imposed upon three Texas boys—John C. Ball, Tom Davis and Taylor Hickman. Davis and Hickman are Indians. Leniency is granted because of their youth.

In the United States supreme court of Santa Fe, N. M., Judge Laughlin sentenced J. A. Peralta Reavis, convicted of conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the Peralta land grant case, to two years' imprisonment and a fine of $5,000.

Mrs. Louise Foltz, wife of Richard D. Foltz, committed suicide at Newcastle, Pa., by taking laudanum. Mr. Foltz then made a desperate attempt to kill himself, but was prevented. Mrs. Foltz was a sister of James J. Davidson, Republican candidate for congress. Her brother married a daughter of Senator Quay.

Charles Miller of Floyd county, thirteen miles from New Albany, Ind., who had quarreled with his wife for several years, owing to differences on religious topics, killed her with a rifle, after which he shot himself dead. He was forty-eight years old and she was five years his junior. They left several children.

H. D. Smith, a coal operator, killed himself at Rockville, Ind., with a revolver, the ball passing entirely through his head. Death ensued in less than an hour. Mr. Smith was at one time a wealthy coal operator in Clay county, and later a resident of Terre Haute. He was about 70 years old. Suffering induced by an attack of grippe is assigned as the cause of the suicide.

From Foreign Shores.

It is rumored that M. James Tissot, the English painter, when he has quite completed his plan of illustrating the gospel by water colors, will enter a Trappist monastery.

A set of large drawings by Thackeray, made for the album of his friend, Mrs. Robert Bell, and described by her in Harper's Magazine five years ago, will be sold in London shortly.

Ladies in London and the South are now decorating their bicycles with flowers. The idea really comes from Italy, where the front part of the little victorias on the Pincian or in the Cascine are crammed with gay blooms.

Mme. Bernhardt, after playing a fortnight's engagement in London, will go to Belle Isle for six weeks of rest. Then, after a round of performances at watering places, she will return to Paris for the opening of the season.

The German empress possesses a unique tea service. The tea tray has been beaten out of an old Prussian halfpenny, the teapot is made out of a German farthing, and the tiny cups are made from coins of different German principalities.

It is computed by a statistician of the curious that Queen Victoria's hand, which is said to be a handsome one, has signed more important papers and been kissed by more important men than the hand of any other queen that ever lived.

Dr. Frederick B. Power, the distinguished American chemist, formerly in charge of the department of pharmacy at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, was given a banquet in London, on his appointment as director of the Wellcome Research laboratories.

Dr. W. Walsham How, bishop of Wakefield, Eng., announced recently that he had burned one of Thomas Hardy's novels, in order to mark his disapproval of it, and now numerous good church people in his diocese are reading the novel in question to see how bad it is.

J. Israel Tarte, the new minister of public works, whose exposure of the fraudulent way in which government contracts were manipulated in Canada led to the retirement of Sir Hector Langevin from the Dominion cabinet and the imprisonment of Thomas McGreevy, is now making a thorough investigation of the evidence Sir Charles Tupper and his late ministers left behind them when they vacated the treasury benches. He believes startling disclosures will result.

Miscellaneous.

Mr. Wishard's American horse, Wishard, three years old, had a walk-over in the race for the Apethorpe welter plate at Huntingdon, Eng.

The celebration of the 100th anniversary of the city of Cleveland began with chimes of bells and religious services.

Pittsburg's Civic club, which planted the potato patches near that city for the poor, on the Pingree plan, has created a sensation by filing a bill against the city for the work.

The cricket team from Haverford college, Pa., played the Charter House pupils' eleven near London. At the conclusion of the first innings of the Charter House players eighty-two runs had been scored.

The body of John Linderman, at one time a prosperous farmer of Decatur, Mich., was found by the roadside in a badly decomposed condition. His death is supposed to have resulted from exposure.

After several months of agitation a strike of the various organizations constituting the Brotherhood of Tailors was declared in New York. It will involve about 12,000 workmen in New York, Brooklyn and Brownsville.

The first part of the brief prepared by James J. Storrow, of counsel of Venezuela, in connection with Mr. Schruggs, the legal advisor of that government, has just been completed and submitted.

Charles H. Warren, after a continuous service of fifteen years with the Great Northern railroad, the last two of which was as its general manager, has laid down the harness and for a time at least will retire from active service with the company.

Prof. William R. Brooks, director of the Smith observatory at Geneva, Ill., while observing the moon, saw a dark round object pass across the moon in a horizontal direction. Prof. Brooks believes it to have been a meteor, too far removed from the earth's atmosphere to become ignited. The observation is entirely new in astronomical annals.

BRYAN IS CHOSEN

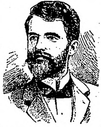
DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE IS NOMINATED BY THE POPULISTS.

He Receives Over a Thousand Votes on the First Ballot to 331 for Mr. Norton—Ignatius Donnelly Secures One Vote, Coxey One and Debs Eight—Complete Report of the Proceedings.

St. Louis, July 22.—The national convention of the People's party was called to order by Chairman Taubeneck, of the executive committee, shortly after 12 o'clock to-day.

Rev. W. L. Smith of St. Louis opened proceedings by invoking the divine blessing.

Chairman Taubeneck introduced Gov. Stone of Missouri, who made a short address of welcome.



SENATOR MARION BUTLER.
The Temporary Chairman.

Ignatius Donnelly of Minnesota responded to Gov. Stone's speech. Mr. Donnelly spoke gracefully, paying a high compliment to St. Louis and eloquently describing the majestic Mississippi and the vast country tributary to it.

In introducing Senator Butler, as temporary chairman, Mr. Taubeneck said that Mr. Butler had been selected by the national committee without a dissenting vote.

Senator Butler was received with hearty applause, and delivered a speech, thanking the convention for the honor conferred on him. He also reviewed the work of the party since its organization and spoke in defense of the principles it professed.

After Chairman Butler had finished his remarks he said that the next business before the convention would be to call the roll of states, and the chairman of each delegation should bring forward the name of his committeeman on credentials. This was done, and the convention adjourned until 8 p. m.

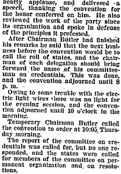
Owing to some trouble with the electric light wires there was no light for the evening session, and the convention adjourned until 10 o'clock in the morning.

Temporary Chairman Butler called the convention to order at 10:05 Thursday morning.

The report of the committee on credentials was called for, but no one responded, and the states were called for members of the committee on permanent organization and on resolutions.

At 12:42 a motion to take a recess until 3 o'clock was made and carried.

At 3:30 Temporary Chairman Butler rapped the convention to order and announced that the committee on credentials would submit a report. Delegate Wardell of California, chairman of the credentials committee, read the report.



H. E. TAUBENECK.
Chairman National Executive Committee of the Populist Party.

Considerable discussion was aroused over the disposition of contesting delegations. A minority report of the credentials committee was also submitted and roll call demanded, which resulted in the adoption of the majority report by a vote of 665 to 642.

The majority report of the committee on permanent organization presented the name of Senator Allen of Nebraska for permanent chairman. The minority presented James E. Campion of Maine.

The roll call of states was ordered on the adoption of the majority or minority report. The majority report was adopted by a vote of 758 to 564. On motion the election of Senator Allen as chairman was made unanimous. On Mr. Pence's motion a committee, consisting of himself, "Cyclone" Davis and Ignatius Donnelly, were appointed to escort Senator Allen to the platform.

"Cyclone" Davis introduced Senator Allen to the convention in a short speech.

Senator Allen began his address by thanking the convention for the honor and regretting that he had not had time to prepare a speech. He spoke at some length, being listened to with a great deal of interest. He has a reputation as a speaker. During the debate on the repeal of the Sherman law he talked fifteen hours against time. He is a large man, smooth shaven face and of commanding presence. He always begins speaking in a low, well modulated tone, which, for a moment, subjected him to the usual cries of "louder." As he progresses he warms up and speaks loud, clearly and in an impassioned tone.

When Senator Allen had concluded several attempts were made to secure an adjournment, but Senator Butler, acting as a delegate, made a motion for the appointment of a committee to confer with the committee from the silver men. There were many loud cries of "No," and Mr. Branch of Georgia moved to table the motion. The noes seemed to be in a large majority, and the motion to table was declared lost. Senator Butler's motion was carried with a loud chorus of ayes and great cheering.

A Tennessee delegate offered a resolution declaring that free and unlimited coinage was paramount, and directing the conference committee to take steps to bring it about. The resolution went to the conference committee. The committee on rules then made its report. Little interest was manifested in it, and before the convention had acted upon it Lafe Pence moved an adjournment until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The first regular order of business at the morning session Friday was the reading of the minority report of the committee on rules. It recommended a change in the order of making nominations, so as to make the nomination of vice president. There was some parliamentary squabbling, Eltweed Pomeroy of Newark, N. J., chairman of the committee on rules, took the stage and explained at length the conflict between the majority and minority of the committee.

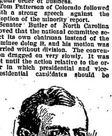
Ignatius Donnelly of Minnesota protested against the proposition reported from the committee on rules to allow the candidate to select the national chairman.

E. Gerry Brown of Massachusetts defended the minority. He pleaded with the majority in pathetic tones to concede this much to the Southern states and the minority of the convention.

George Abbott of Nebraska appealed to the convention not to change the regular order of business.

Tom Patterson of Colorado followed with a strong speech against the adoption of the minority report.

Senator Butler of North Carolina moved that the national committee select its own chairman instead of the nominee doing it, and his motion was carried without division. The convention dragged on very slowly. It was not until the action relative to the order in which presidential and vice-presidential candidates should be nominated that the convention woke up. The floodgates of oratory were opened again.



WILLIAM J. BRYAN.

Delegate Dean of New York advocated the adoption of the minority report. Cyclone Davis attempted to pour oil on the troubled waters.

With some difficulty the speechmaking was cut off, and the vote was taken by states on the adoption of the minority report, recommending the nomination of vice president first.

The announcement of the vote was 785 to 615 in favor of the minority report.

The report as amended was then adopted. A California delegate moved a recess until 5 o'clock, but the motion was vociferously voted down.

The committee to confer with a similar committee from the silver convention was then appointed, one from each state.

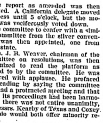
Gen. J. B. Weaver, chairman of the committee on resolutions, was then recognized to read the platform as agreed to by the committee. He was received with applause. He prefaced the reading by saying the committee had had a protracted meeting and that while its proceedings had been harmonious there was not entire unanimity, as Messrs. Kearby of Texas and Coxey of Ohio would both offer minority reports.

At the conclusion of the reading of the majority report Mr. Hearly of Texas was recognized to read his minority report.

Mr. Coxey of Ohio also offered a minority report proposing the following as a substitute for the plank in regard to the employment of the idle labor in time of depression: "We demand the passage of the non-interest bearing bond and good roads measures."

Mr. Valette of Rhode Island also came forward with a third minority report.

On motion of Mr. Kelly of Kansas the previous question was ordered. All the amendments were laid on the table and the platform as reported by a majority of the committee was adopted.



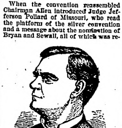
IGNATIUS DONNELLY

A motion to take a recess until 8 o'clock in the evening was voted down.

Henry D. Lloyd of Illinois moved to proceed to the nomination of a vice president. The chair said that the motion was unnecessary, as that was the next business in order. The states were called.

When Alabama was called Col. P. G. Bowman mounted the platform and placed in nomination Barney Gibbs of Texas. Before he entered upon his speech, however, the convention decided to take a recess of an hour and a half.

When the convention reassembled Chairman Allen introduced Judge Jefferson Pollard of Missouri, who read the platform of the silver convention and a message about the nomination of Bryan and Sewall, all of which was referred to the committee on resolutions.



Senator William Vincent Allen of Nebraska.

Nominations were then called for, but the convention experienced a good deal of difficulty in getting under way, owing to the ruling made by the chair. When the parliamentary situation had been straightened out, Col. Bowman, who was taken off the floor by the adjournment of the convention in the afternoon, again took the stage and placed in nomination Congressman Harry Skinner of North Carolina.

Congressman Howard of Alabama placed Hon. Thomas E. Watson in nomination.

J. R. Sovereign of Arkansas seconded Watson's nomination, as did also Donnelly of Minnesota, Johnson of California and several others.

Lafe Penn of New York nominated Sewall.

Gore of Mississippi nominated Burkitt.

A. L. Mimms of Tennessee was nominated by Capt. Burnham.

Marion Page of Virginia was nominated by Ballman of Maine.

Watson Nominated.

At midnight, just as the roll was about to begin, Gen. Weaver of Iowa appeared at the front of the platform. He called attention to the lateness of the hour and advised a night's mediation. He proposed that the convention take one ballot and then adjourn. The middle-of-the-road men howled him down. Chairman Allen severely rebuked the convention. He severely reprimanded the delegates, who, he said, had howled down some of the most distinguished men in the party, and ordered the roll call to proceed.

Arkansas started off with twenty-five votes for Watson. Indiana gave her thirty votes to Watson. Kansas gave Sewall sixty-two of her ninety-five votes. Louisiana gave the bulk of her vote to Watson. Maryland divided her vote between Sewall and Watson. It looked as if Watson might be nominated on the first ballot until North Carolina cast her ninety-five votes for Skinner, Tennessee for Mimms and Texas for Burkitt. This split up the large delegations. Later when the roll call was completed, however, Texas changed her vote to Watson and there were other changes in favor of the Georgian. Then Col. Burkitt of Mississippi went to the stand and withdrew his name.

Then Mimms withdrew in Watson's favor. The Georgian already had votes enough to nominate, but the vote of Tennessee was finally transferred to his column. Some one made a motion to make the nomination unanimous, and it was carried with a whoop. The convention then adjourned until 9 o'clock in the morning.

Senator Allen called the convention to order at 9:35 Saturday morning.

Ignatius Donnelly got on a chair and announced that his private land plank did not appear in the printed platform. He wanted the convention to understand that it had been adopted.

The chairman called for nominations for president, and Gen. Weaver of Iowa presented Mr. Bryan's name in a laudatory speech.

Mr. Call of New York placed Col. S. M. Morton of Illinois in nomination.

Ignatius Donnelly seconded Bryan in behalf of Minnesota.

Delegate Livingston, chairman of the Missouri delegation, nominated Ignatius Donnelly, but when Donnelly declined the use of his name, he placed in nomination Gen. Jacob S. Coxey of Ohio and the industrial army.

Judge Plowman of South Dakota also seconded Bryan. "Cyclone" Davis of Texas made a strong plea for a middle-of-the-road course, and closed by seconding the nomination of Mr. Norton.

The nominations were then declared closed. George H. Abbott of Nebraska moved that the national committee be given plenary powers in all things connected with the party after the adjournment of the convention. The nominating speeches had occupied exactly six hours.

Chairman Allen then announced the official vote as: Bryan, 1,402; Norton, 321; Donnelly, 1.

It was then 4:22. Bedlam was, of course, loosened, and pandemonium reigned for fifteen or twenty minutes. The Texas, Arkansas and Maine middle-of-the-road men, with their guidons together, took no part in the demonstration. The middle-of-the-road men finally massed about their standard on the left of the hall, about 300 in number, and made a counter demonstration. They cheered and yelled and fought for ten minutes. The sergeants-at-arms were powerless to restore order, and, after rapping for five minutes, Chairman Allen declared Mr. Bryan the nominee of the convention. Some one made a motion to adjourn. The chairman put the motion and declared the convention adjourned sine die.

Future Assured.

"But, Herbert," she said, "think of the future. You are poor, and you cannot surround me with the luxuries to which I have been accustomed."

"But, your father—"

"He would do nothing for us."

"Does he play poker?"

"No."

"Then I'll teach him. Trust in me, darling, and have no fear of the future."—Texas Sifter.

BRYAN BOLTS IT

HE WILL NOT SUPPORT THE POPULIST PLATFORM.

The Democratic Nominee Declares That He Will Discuss Only the Issues Outlined in the Chicago Platform—The Populist Convention Leaves the Situation a Littel Uncertain.

St. Louis, July 28.—The rejection by the Populists of the Democratic nominee for vice president, the nomination of Mr. Watson for that position and the nomination of Mr. Bryan after the Democratic nominee had stated that he did not want the nomination without Sewall, have made a peculiar situation.

None of the wiseacres pretend to predict what the result will be. Whether a fusion can be arranged or upon what basis, is, of course, speculated upon. The shrewdest of the political observers, and those who are most anxious for a union of the silver forces, can see this result only in the withdrawal of one of the vice presidential candidates. There is, as there has been for some days, talk of Sewall's voluntary withdrawal, but after the stand Mr. Bryan and Senator Jones have taken this is not considered probable. It is strongly intimated that Watson may be induced to withdraw in the interest of such a union. It should be said, however, that this is intimated by those who wish it most. By conferring upon the national Populist committee plenary powers, those who are so earnestly striving for an actual consolidation of the strength of the silver forces created the machinery by which any sort of terms can be arranged. But what will happen the future alone can tell.

A man who read the telegram from Mr. Bryan to Senator Jones gives the following as the substance of the document about which there was so much talk and excitement during the last day of the Populist convention. What is subjoined may be relied upon as being substantially correct:

"Considering all the circumstances and conditions," wired Mr. Bryan, "I have concluded that the Populist convention should not consider my name for the presidency, but if it determines to nominate me notwithstanding this declaration, that there may be no misunderstanding, I desire in advance to say that I shall not during the campaign discuss any other issues than those outlined in the Chicago platform. I desire, above everything else, to be instrumental in having enacted into the laws of the United States the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present ratio of 16 to 1 without awaiting the consent of any other country."

Mr. Bryan Talks.

Lincoln, Neb., July 27.—Mr. Bryan said to-day:

"I appreciate the desire manifested at St. Louis to consolidate all the free silver forces and regret that they did not nominate Mr. Sewall also. He stands squarely upon the Chicago platform, and has defended our cause against greater opposition than we have had to meet in the West and South. The Populist platform is on many questions substantially identical with the Chicago platform, however, and indorses some policies which I do not approve of. All I can say now is that my action will depend entirely upon the conditions attached to the nomination. I shall do nothing which shall endanger the success of bimetallism nor shall I do anything unfair to Mr. Sewall."

"Assuming that the acceptance of the nomination by you would be unfair to Mr. Sewall," was asked him, "how could conditions shape themselves so as to permit you to accept?"

The question was adroitly evaded by the jocular remark that if all things now perplexing were made plain it would be an infringement upon the field of journalistic conjecture. When the complications that seem imminent because of the seeming necessity of putting up two sets of Bryan electors in the case he remained the candidate of the Populist party were referred to Mr. Bryan replied that this was one of the difficulties which time must be trusted to remove. Mr. Bryan was seemingly as cheerful over the situation as he was when he received information of his first nomination at Chicago.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

Senator Butler of North Carolina Made Chairman.

St. Louis, July 28.—The Populist national committee held its first meeting. After quite a spirited contest Senator Butler of North Carolina was elected chairman, receiving 65 votes on the second ballot. The other men who were placed in nomination were Senator Allen of Nebraska and Gen. Weaver of Iowa. J. E. Edgerton of Nebraska was elected secretary and M. C. Rankin of Indiana treasurer. The following, with the chairman, secretary and treasurer, were elected members of the executive committee: J. R. Sovereign, Arkansas; G. F. Washburn, Massachusetts; E. F. Taylor, Pennsylvania; H. W. Reed, Georgia; J. W. Breidenthal, Kansas; John S. Dore, California. It is probable that the headquarters will be in Washington.

A Feminine Bolter.

Fargo, N. D., July 28. — Emma F. Bates, present state superintendent of public instruction, who was turned down by the Briggs combination at the Grand Forks convention, came down this morning, and has made the unexpected announcement that she intends being an independent candidate for state superintendent this fall.

Saengerfest Ended.

Dubuque, Iowa, July 28.—The seventeenth biennial saengerfest of the Northwestern Saengerbund closed to-day. At the morning business meeting Moritz Herring of Milwaukee was elected president; Arthur Josetti, Chicago, vice president, and John Wunder of Davenport, secretary. The other officers will be elected at the next meeting of the bund. Davenport was selected for the next 'fest in 1898.

Frederis Errazuris has been elected president of Chile.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Interesting Happenings in the North Star State.

Charles Gustafson attempted to commit suicide at St. Paul by hanging.

Mrs. A. R. Dalrymple and Mrs. Blanche Dalrymple were injured in a runaway accident at St. Paul.

Fast horses and an Indian village will be attractions at the Minnesota state fair.

The socialist sections of Minnesota have completed their consolidation and made plans for the state campaign.

The convention of the National Real Estate association may be held in St. Paul during encampment week.

A son of August Strait, a Nicollet county farmer, was drowned in the Minnesota river at Mankato, while bathing.

Mrs. Abraham Shingeldecker of Denmark, Washington county, died from tumor, aged forty-three years. She leaves a husband.

Lumber has been ordered for a new independent 10,000-bushel elevator to be built at Glenwood by J. F. Dougherty and W. J. Wilson.

C. T. Booth's woolen mills at Chatfield were burned. Loss, $6,000; insurance, $2,000. The fire started from the picker. Nothing except the goods was saved.

Ami Cutter, one of Anoka's oldest settlers, has been committed to the insane asylum at Fergus Falls. In pioneer days he was active in business and politics. He was a remarkable

During a recent storm lightning struck a farm barn about two miles from Henning, belonging to John Halvorson, killing three horses and burning the structure.

The corner stone of the new school building at Heron Lake was laid by the Masonic fraternity. Grand Master Lawless of St. Paul conducted the ceremonies, assisted by Grand Secretary Montgomery.

Richard Munroe, thought to be a counterfeiter, has been arrested by the St. Paul police, and his alleged assistants have been arrested in Minneapolis.

J. I. Vermilye has issued a call for a conference of silver men of the First congressional district, to be held at Austin Friday, Aug. 11. He asks that a candidate be named at this conference.

man, and helped greatly to build up the city. He owns considerable property in Anoka. Of late years he has made a name and a fortune as a magnetic healer, having a large practice in St. Paul, Chicago and other cities.

Lewis Sumner, aged twenty-four years, living on a farm near Dundas, was drowned while bathing in the Cannon river, above that village. Deceased was the only son of Joel Sumner.

Two boys named Gustav Zeiss and Peter C. Hathaway, sentenced to the state training school at Red Wing, some two months ago, were released upon a writ of habeas corpus by Judge W. C. Williston of Hastings.

An order was granted at Hastings wherein Deputy Sheriff D. T. Quealy received $150 and Policemen John Casey and P. E. Murnane of St. Paul, $25 each, the state reward for the capture and conviction of Albert Patchie, the horse thief.

The state training school for the teachers of Freeborn county opened at Albert Lea with a large enrollment. The meetings are held in the assembly hall of the city schools, and it is expected that over one hundred will be enrolled before the session closes.

John Gatz, a mason employed in the building of the new school of St. Joseph's society at Winona, fell from a scaffold to the ground, forty feet. He alighted on his feet and suffered no broken bones, but it is feared he suffered internal injuries which will prove serious.

A stabbing affray occurred at New Paynesville. Two tramps got into an altercation, and one drew a knife and stabbed the other. A long, deep cut down the side of the face and neck was inflicted, severing the temporal artery. It is thought that the wounded man will live. The fellow who did the cutting fled.

A very severe wind and rain storm struck Barnesville recently, and blew down the large frame addition just out up for the Columbia hotel. A large wind mill belonging to Editor Snell was overturned, two stables lifted from their foundations and several windows on Front street blown in, one of them badly cutting Mr. Robinson. Reports of lodged grain are expected.

The Mankato council passed an ordinance to deal with the tramp nuisance. It provides that the vagrants may be set at work on the streets or stone piles and in case they refuse to work, shall be given a diet of bread and water until they do. The city has been greatly troubled with tramps this summer, and the citizens have been demanding protection.

While the boat Robert Harris was returning to Winona with an excursion from La Crosse, Adolph Franks, forty years of age, leaped from the barge which the boat had in tow. He is said to have been under the influence of liquor at the time. He was a farm hand and well known in Winona. He had a brother living at Moline, Ill., and a brother at Lewiston, Minn.

August Griefendorf is locked up at St. Paul on a charge of arson. The police received a tip that he was going to burn his dwelling, which was insured for $2,800 and watched it for two nights, but the second night they were driven away by a thunderstorm. They notified the fire department to be on the watch and when a little later the front of the house was blown out by a terrific explosion Griefendorf was arrested.

The Brainerd & Northern Minnesota Railroad company has completed arrangements to ship freight over their road to Walker, and then by team and steamboat to Bemidji, a new town thirty-five miles north of Walker. This town has heretofore shipped all freight through Park Rapids. This move means for Walker a heavy increase in business, as Bemidji has a farming population of several thousand, and all their produce must find an outlet through Walker by this arrangement.

SAW MILL SITES GIVEN AWAY FREE--HERE IS A CHANCE TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE.

RAPP & POST

—DEALERS IN—

HARDWARE, FURNITURE

—AND—

Burial Supplies!

Shelf and Heavy Hardware, Stoves, Ranges, Tinware,
Dining Room, Parlor and Bedroom Furniture.
Barb Wire and Nails, Picture Framing,
Paints, Oils, Varnish, Coffins, Etc.
Will compete with T. M.
Roberts or others
on Wire and
Nails.

PRICES RIGHT. St. Hilaire, Minn.

AN ADVANCED REFORM DAILY

THE ST. LOUIS

DAILY JOURNAL

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

EVENING AND SUNDAY.

—o—

PRICE PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

Daily Journal, Evening & Sunday....$4.00
Sunday Journal, alone..............$1.00

The Daily Journal is owned by its working force and other members of organized labor in St. Louis. Its news columns tell the truth—something rare in modern daily newspapers. It advocates the political union of labor and all reform forces in opposition to the corrupt old parties.

Subscribe for the JOURNAL. It will do you good, and it will do the People's Party good. Published here, at the center of the fight, it will print news of the movement in advance of any other paper.

The Sunday Journal

Will make a special feature of the Populist news of the whole week. If you do not care for the daily, the SUNDAY JOURNAL you will find one of the best weeklies in the country.

CLUBBING RATES:

Daily and Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year.......... $4 00
Sunday Journal and the St. Hilaire Spectator, one year.......... $1 75

☞Sample copies sent free on application.

Address:
THE JOURNAL, 515 Elm St.—St. Louis, Mo.

P. G. PARADIS,

DEALER IN

Wines and Liquors

IMPORTED AND
DOMESTIC CIGARS.

FINE COOL BEER ALWAYS ON TAP.

West side Broadway.

ST. HILAIRE, - - - MINNESOTA

LIVERY SALE AND FEED STABLE

PETERSON & JOHNSON
Proprietors.

Dray in Connection.

First-class Rigs with Safe Drivers furnished at a moments notice, at hard time rates. : : : : : : :

☞ Special attention given to those looking up homes on the Red Lake Reservation. Give us a call.

ST. HILAIRE. - - - MINNESOTA

NORTHERN PACIFIC R. R.

—RUNS—

THROUGH CARS

TO☞
ST. PAUL
MINNEAPOLIS
DULUTH
FARGO
GRAND FORKS
AND WINNIPEG

To HELENA
BUTTE
SPOKAND
TACOMA
SEATTLE
PORTLAND

PULLMAN
SLEEPING CARS
ELEGANT DINING CARS
TOURIST
SLEEPING CARS

TIME SCEDULE.

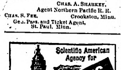
Leave	CROOKSTON	Arrive
7:10 pm	To and from St. Paul St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	6:54 am
6:54 am	To and from Winnipeg. St. Paul and Winnipeg Ex.	7:10 pm

Through tickets to Japan and China via Tacoma and Northern Pacific Steamship Co., an American Line.

For Information. Time Cards, Maps and tickets. call on or write

CHAS. A. SHARKEY,
Agent Northern Pacific R. R.
Crookston, Minn.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agent,
St. Paul, Minn.



CAVEATS,
TRADE MARKS,
DESIGN PATENTS,
COPYRIGHTS, etc.

For information and free Handbook write to MUNN & CO., 361 BROADWAY, NEW YORK. Oldest bureau for securing patents in America. Every patent taken out by us is brought before the public by a notice given free of charge in the

Scientific American

Largest circulation of any scientific paper in the world. Splendidly illustrated. No intelligent man should be without it. Weekly, $3.00 a year; $1.50 six months. Address, MUNN & CO., PUBLISHERS, 361 Broadway, New York City.

WEEKLY SPECTATOR.

IVES & SOLL, Publishers.
JOHN J. SOLL, Editor.

Entered at the postoffice at St. Hilaire Minn. as second-class mail matter.

Published every Wednesday at St. Hilaire, Polk County, Minnesota.

TERMS:—$1.50 Per Year in Advance.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 29, 1896.

PLATFORM

1. We are in favor the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independant of any other nation.

2. We favor the abolition of the national bank circulation, and insist that our circulating medium shall be issued by the government alone.

3. We are in favor of the adoption of the initiative and referendum.

4. We demand that restrictive laws forbidding combinations and trusts be passed, and we favor a rigid enforcement of all such laws now in force, and the amendment of the same when they are not sufficient to prevent such acts.

PEOPLE'S PARTY TICKET.

For Congressman—7th District—
E. E. LOMMEN

County Ticket.

For Auditor—
JOHN GLEASON

For Treasurer—
JOHN T. BEAUDRY

For Sheriff—
THOS. LAWRENCE

For Register of Deeds—
ALBERT WICKSTROM

For Judge of Probate—
OLE HAGEN

For County Attorney—
L. E. GOSSMAN

For Surveyor—
O. L. HAMERY

For Coroner—
DR. STEBBINS

For Court Commissioner—
EDWARD GEORGE

For Superintendent of Schools—
I. I. KAASA

For Commissioner—1st District—
CHAS. McCARTY

For Commissioner—3rd District—
REMI FORTIER

For Commissioner—5th District—
ROBERT CASEMY.

Legislative Ticket.

For Representatives { S. J. LEE Norman Co.
N. S. NELSON, "
W. A. MARIN, Polk Co

FARMERS AND SILVER.

How Wealth Changed Hands.—Dwellers in Cities, Within Thirty Years, Have Accumulated 50 Per Cent of The Wealth Once in The Hands of The Farmers.—Tracing Causes.

INDIA GETS ONLY SILVER.

"Whatever work is done, or whatever goods are purchased in India, must be paid for in silver money.

"Since 1873 Great Britain has built railroads canals and wagon roads to get at the cheap wheat and cotton fields of India, and last year there was landed in Liverpool 60,000,000 bushels of wheat raised on the tablelands of India, and Great Britain paid for it with silver money. She paid for building and operating these railroads and canals with silver money—in 1895 she built in India about 6,000 miles of railroad—and to pay for that wheat and to build and operate these railroads we furnished her with silver at about 50 cents on the dollar of its purchasing and debt-paying power in India. And all these facts apply in the same manner to the enormous quantities of cotton and other produce purchased by Great Britain in the east.

At the same time she tells us: Oh, yes, we will buy what you have to spare—all of it—but we can't give you any higher prices than it costs us from India." Germany, France and other European countries do the same, and now the enormous debt which we owe in all these countries—to England alone five or six thousand millions of dollars—they expect us to pay, principal and interest, in gold, or in goods in competition with the silver-using countries, where the silver dollar has the same purchasing power as before our surrender of its value. Gold we have not got of our own production, and, perforce, we must give goods. Of manufactured goods our principal creditor has more than she needs. Your breadstuff, cotton, bacon and beef are really the only goods we can send abroad in payment of that debt. Were we now under the same money standard as existed prior to 1873 every bushel of wheat you produced and sent to England to-day would, when landed in Liverpool, pay $1.40 of our debt. Now it only pays about 70 cents of indebtedness, and at about the same ratio or even less is the debt-paying power of the cotton you raise, and the price obtained abroad for your surplus produce fixes the price here of all you raise.

REMEDY LIES WITH THE FARMER.

"No, Mr. Farmer, I don't think that your prospects for the future are very bright. But you, yourself, can change all this; you can brighten and improve the prospect of the future. Lay aside your old political leanings to this party or to that; just insist upon going back to the constitutional money which your fathers demanded should be the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1, and that all gold and silver coins, as well as their representative certificates, shall be a legal tender at their nominal value, for all debts, public or private. And don't let us wait for the action or approval of any other nation. When we get back to the situation of 1873 the result will be that silver metal will get back toward its old value, and cannot be used, as now, to hammer down the prices of any of your great products.

"As a reason for the faith which is in me on this question, and in answer to the scarecrow raised by the gold men that if we go back to free and unlimited coinage of silver at the 16 to 1 ratio this country will be made the dumping ground for all the silver in the world, let me give you some idea of the enormous quantities of silver metal needed by European countries to carry on their trade with the nations of the east. The peoples of the orient number more than two-thirds of the population of this earth.

